This past week a crushing blow was struck at the vitals of the Villanovan. Francis J. McBride, erstwhile columnist, was transferred to Dartmouth College with no explanations given as to the reason of his transfer. It is believed by many, however, that the main reason for this shift is that last week's edition of this column was accidently read by one of the higher-ups of ship's company . . . well, Frank, you can't fight the front office.

LADIES . . .

"We've Learned Our Lesson" was the theme song of some fifty bleary-eyed trainees as they embarked for home after a three hour class in Bear Catching 50N or "Essentials of Navy Trainee Trapping." The Junior Class of Glassboro New Jersey State Teachers' College feted the fortunate fifty on Animal Crackers, Pink Lemonade and lollipops, in keeping with the decorations that were part of the circus theme of the dance. Standing out during the Grand March like a combination of Arthur Murray, Dale Carnegie and Mr. Anthony were Orville Anderson, John Haarhaus, Dick Balmert, John D'Erasmo, and Horace Bernton. Don't take this too seriously, fellas, things are never as bad as they sound in this column. General Opinion: nice formal, novel circus motif and we learned a lot about teaching kindergarten.

AND . . .

At Chestnut Hill College another formal was being held and was attended by some of the boys who got left out on the New Jersey trip for some reason or another, mostly because nobody signed their name to the list. Mendel Hall dominated this affair as is usual with almost all the dances at the Hill. Prominent among the Engineers there with "beeeyootiful" dates were; Tony Cocco, Bob Lawlor, Jim Shoemaker, John Cockroft, Andy Murphy, and Joe "Citrus Fruit" Keating. Fellows who knew their dates beforehand were Frank O'Connor, Dave Ward and Joe Gerngross. Everyone seemed to have a good time especially Bob Cramer who grabbed off the "cutest lil girl" and made like a toothpaste ad all evening.

GENTLEMEN . . .

Pre-meds in Fedigan!!! Many of the decks have been decked by this shift. Between the flying scalpels your reporter has found time to sweep the establishment on Spring Mill Road of much dirt. Jim Mackey was too busy cutting hair Saturday (his own!) to even remember that the Alumni's favorite chief was due to make an inspection. He did a good hair-cutting job, though, he wore his collar turned up on liberty because it was cold. Mike Krak can't figure

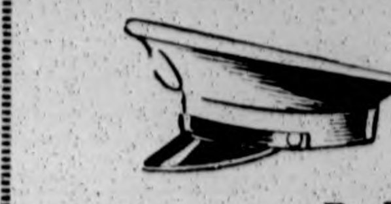
Camp To Campus



By MICHAEL N. FLYNN, A.S.

THE last few weeks saw many former Villanova students returning for a brief visit Pfc. George "Teddy" Baehr and Pvt. Ed Hertkorn both members of the Freshman class of '42, stopped on the way home on furlough. Ted is in the Infantry at Camp Campbell, Ky., while "Herk" is a member of the Engineers. "Herk" is still managing to get into embarassing situations—one day while energetically preparing a private foxhole, Herk failed to notice a captain who stopped at his home-to-be just as he was taking a shovelfull of mud over his shoulder. . .

From Midshipman school, attired in Ensign stripes, came many of the Navy men who left us in June. Jim Higgins and Leo Noll, both of whom graduated from Columbia, are slated for Amphibs.

Jack McGowan has just been commissioned at Cornell and has also been assigned to amphibious training.

According to the latest news from Asbury Park, P. M. S., John Doherty, former Battalion Commander, is once again making use of his powers of leadership as a Company Commander. Other engineers at Asbury with "Doc" are Bob Leahy, Jack McChesney, Frank McQuinn, Gus Gillespie and Tom Shubert. Bob Forrest, former end on the football team, is also at Asbury. Bob will be remembered for his brilliant touchdown run against Muhlenberg. Bob "Red" O'Connor is another one of the many Villanova men undergoing training there.

Now serving in the Pacific is "Battling" Ben Paradee. Ens. Paradee, former Pre-med, was unbeaten in his boxing career at Villanova. No one who attended his fierce battles with Scotty Boyle will ever forget Ben's skill.

Ensign Jim Keays '43, native of Troy, N. Y., hometown of my main source of news, popular Father Burke, is now at the Naval receiving Station at Tampa, Fla.

We were very happy to hear that Pvt. Newt Ward is about to be discharged from the hospital at Camp Livingston, Louisiana. Newt suffered an attack of plurisy after returning from his recent furlough received after basic training.

Shrapnel

It Hits Everywhere

Alex Coleman, formidable right guard on the Villanova squad, had a bit of a run-in with a conductorette on the Paoli Local the other day. It seems as if she didn't get her sights fixed for she called our hero "Chubby" . . . Congratulations to Mike Berry on his recent promotion to Sergeant . . . Carl Fritz was tripping the light fantastic with his little (did I say little) bundle of joy . . . It seems as if Lem Wentling, our Sports Editor, got a sudden attack of amnesia when he couldn't remember the last name of Nancy from Rosemont College.

Behind The Eight Ball

By TOM HANRATTY and DICK RANDOLPH

WITH the appearance of "Saturday Night" McNamara "behind the eight ball," last week this periodical reached an all time low. As a result of this misdemeanor, the Villanovan has overnight been converted into a scandal sheet and holds every possibility of outselling the "Police Gazette." Thus, with due respect to the letters of protest obtained from such noted personages as the third chorus girl from the left in the nightly floor show down at Louie's Pie Shop, we shall give our firm promise that only the most sterling characters shall make their appearances in this column. (This statement should cost us a fifty percent decrease in the circulation).

Despite the fact that we are all well past the middle of autumn, a spring fever continues to flourish among the students at Villanova. "Hughie" Hart, a promising young socialite, is one of the more serious cases. Every weekend has seen Hugh escorted to the local football games by no less than two girls. (Wow, what the manpower shortage has done for him!)

Another victim of the fever is "Jitterbug" McLaughlin, the wizard of the Pre-Med school. Joe was seen entertaining 180 pounds of personality at one of the more recent Villanova games.

With headquarters at 15th and Market Streets Jerry Gleeson conducts a one man escort bureau for the girls of Hallahan High School. The aftermath of each football game also sees Market Street patrolled by "Bill" Schmidt, "Jimmy" Plunkett, and "Shorty" Homan. However, the only fruits of their labors were sore feet. Why not try "Lifebuoy" fellows?

J. J. Foster must appear to be an authority on music. On the way to school last week fifteen girls were trying to outsing each other in order to gain Jack's attention. Possibilities have arisen of a big romance between Donald Jordan and a certain pretty miss. We would like to give a word of advice to this fair maiden. . .watch out, pretty damsel, Donald's merely a Marine in civilian clothing!

A recent masquerade saw one of our students go to the extreme by dressing himself as Frank Perotti. This student was none other than Frank himself. It would have been a big help if he would have at least worn a mask. Besides being handsome, Frank is also quite a singer, having performed on the stage on various occasions at Southeast Catholic High School.

The lost and found department reports that the prize possession of the accounting class has twice vanished from their possession. On the day after the first disappearance of their thermometer, Mr. Schaeffer gave a talk on the traits of an honest man. The very next morning the missing article was found in its rightful position, only to disappear again that very afternoon. Some of Mr. Schaeffer's students would do better if they took a criminology course.

Before closing this week's column, we wish to say that we are quite flattered by the remarks made by some of our interested readers from a nearby college for girls. Already, we have attained one of the traits necessary for great literary genius. Yes these people have affixed to us the title of "morons." With due consideration of the fact that O. Henry and Edgar Allan Poe were dope fiends and Jack London a pirate, and Christopher Columbus crazy for believing the world to be round, we shall try to live up to the nomenclature bestowed upon us by our severest critics.

Specialist Weigle New Swimming Instructor Here

Arrives Here From Bainbridge After Completing Physical Instructors' School

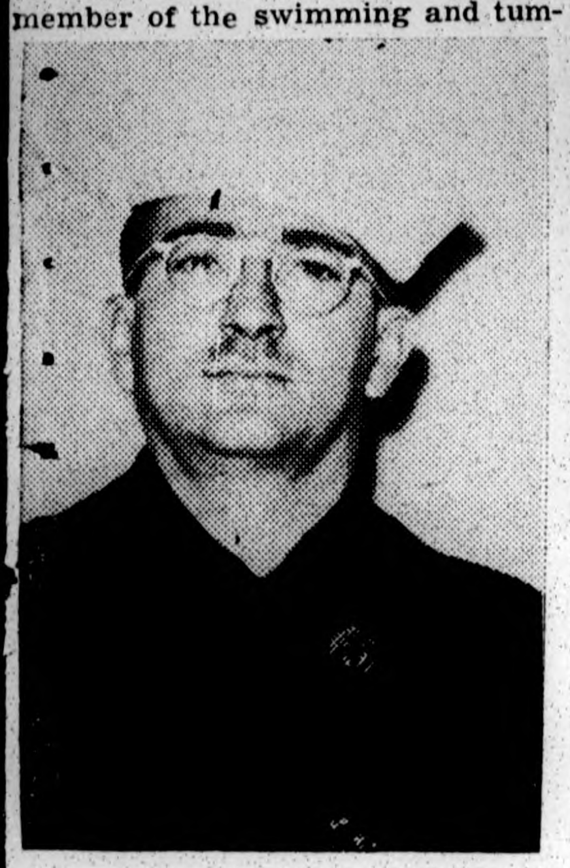
The new physical training instructor now on duty here to replace Specialist Brunt is Athletic Specialist 3/c Peck Weigle. The new instructor reported on board November first in the capacity of swimming instructor and will assist Sergeant Bastedo down at the pool.

Weigle comes originally from Carlisle, Pa., the home of the famous Carlisle Indians and possibly even more famous for the greatest football player of all time, Indian Jim Thorpe. Peck happens to be an acquaintance of Thorpe; in fact, he even played basketball with him.

Scholastic Tumbler

Specialist Weigle attended Carlisle grade and high schools and participated in all sports with swimming and tumbling heading the list. He carried these two mainstays with him when he left his native Carlisle and set out for new goals of scholastic and gymnastic achievement.

In 1928 he entered West Chester State Teachers, where he was a member of the swimming and tumbling teams of that institution. He graduated in 1932 with a B. S. in Physical Education and was married shortly afterwards.



PECK WEIGLE, Sp 3/C

Enters Navy

In May of 1944 he took on a new life, that of an apprentice seaman in the United States Navy. After his boot training at Bainbridge, Md., he drew his first assignment, that being the Physical Instructor's school at the same base. Following the completion of the prescribed course he received a third class rating and was sent to Villanova.

Phi Kappa Pi Bowling League To Open Sat.

The fraternity bowling league of the Phi Kappa Pi will begin its regular season on Saturday, Nov. 25th at the Bryn Mawr bowling alleys. There will be approximately ten teams listed in the league and as many weeks of contests.

To those not in the frat and who wish to bowl there will be an entrance fee of fifty cents per person. These men will be alllowed to bowl with teams comprising members. Arrangements are being made to set up cash awards for the successful teams which will surpass those of last year.

Ollie's Comments—

— "it takes something more to win football games"

Bucknell's 27-6 victory over our football team last Friday gave us a season's log of four wins and four losses. Statistically this is one of Villanova's worst seasons in many years. But actually as we look back, we find much to be thankful for. The stellar play of individuals such as Bob David and Duke Severson made it possible for us to eke out those early season victories. Any one of those games could have been lost if we had not had such fine line backing as they provided us.

Friday's game readily shows what could have happened. We had no one able to stop Bonk, Bucknell's fine line smasher, for anything less than five yards. Although he only scored one touchdown, he put the ball in position for all the other Bucknell scores.

Loss of Colman

Our line weakened by the loss of Alex Colman, who had a shoulder injury, was unable to cope with the trap and double team plays called so well by Mears. Nevertheless fellows such as Sam Brown, Mason Robertson, Jim Gallagher and Ed Cunningham carried out their defensive assignments well. Hank Straus was particularly outstanding as he made tackles all over the field.

Al Sondheimer and Carl Ungaro had loads of fire and on occasion looked as if they might get away for long runs. The team as a whole was really trying hard but though "The spirit was willing . . ." it takes something more to win football games.

Forrest Outstanding

Looking back we find that probably the most outstanding play was Bob Forrest's hip pocket catch of a Dick Hoot forward pass in the F. & M. game. It was a muddy day and a slick ball but old "Gluefingers" held on. This led to our second and winning touchdown.

Bob Forrest also figured on another stand-out play when he brought in another slippery pigskin from the same passer in the Muhlenberg game. No one will ever know how Bob got away from the Mule's Devlin who had Bob's ankles but could not hold on. This was the pay-off play in that 7-0 victory.

Only thirteen of the players we took to Scranton were with us at the Bucknell game after injuries, transfers and the ineligibility lists took their tolls. Among them were Dick Tierney, Ray Wille, Don Peterson, Bill Ryan, Bill Kuzman, Bernie Nappen, Dick Evans, Tom Baxter, Sam Brown, George Banning, Roger McRae, Bob Griffiths and Marc Abribat. Ray Wille was the only man able to start in all eight of the contests.

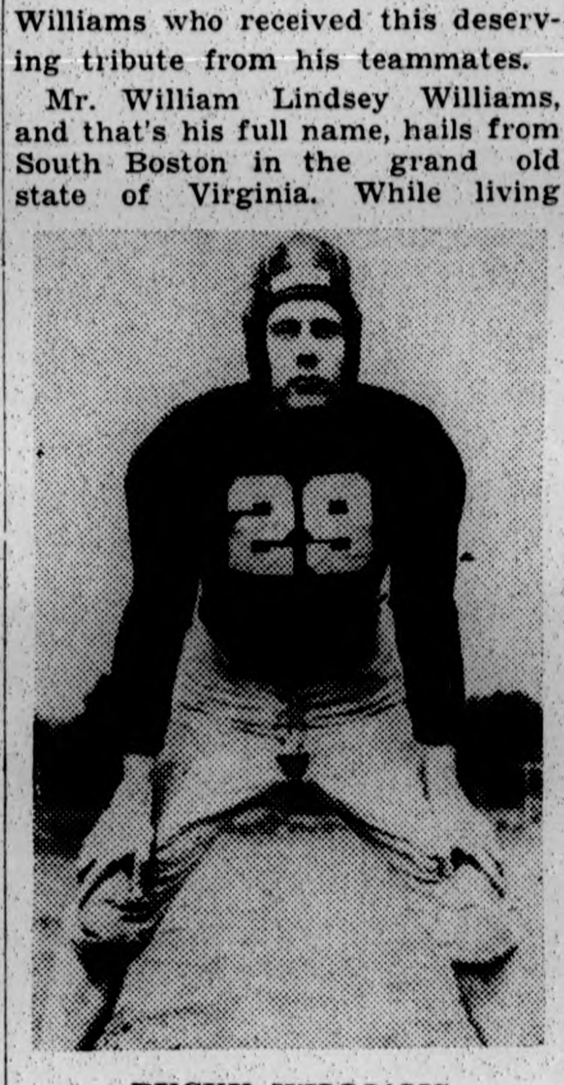
In closing for the year I want to thank the student body for its unsurpassed support throughout the year and the administration for its fine cooperation. We also owe a lot to the boys who came out to practice nightly and never got into any of the games. Thanks a lot and may you all be first string on some football team next year.

Bucky Williams Chosen Captain For The Season

Mates Choose Injured Halfback in Recognition of Outstanding Performance

Along with the election of game captain last week, the football team also nominated one of its members as the captain for the year. It is none other than Bucky Williams who received this deserving tribute from his teammates.

Mr. William Lindsey Williams, and that's his full name, hails from South Boston in the grand old state of Virginia. While living there, he attended grammar school and then South Boston High, where his athletic prowess was first recognized and thus his colorful career began to unfold.



BUCKY WILLIAMS

While at the aforementioned high school, Bucky made quite a name for himself by playing on the football team for four years, in addition to three years of varsity basketball.

College Star

However, his abilities were just beginning to show themselves, for upon graduation from South Boston High, he enrolled at the Virginia Military Institute where he played a year of brilliant football and was also a member of the V. M. I. wrestling team.

But Bucky wasn't having a long stay at V. M. I. for the Navy sent him to Villanova last July 1, where he became a student of Electrical Engineering in the Naval V-12 program. Immediately upon coming here he reported to Coach Olivar to seek a berth on the team. Due to the wealth of material, however, Bucky didn't have too much success. This did not daunt his spirit and he returned this season and promptly took over the left halfback position.

Leading Point Maker

Prior to his thigh injury received in the Holy Cross game Seaman Williams was doing more than his share for the Wildcats. He crossed Scranton's goal line in the first game, accounted for both touchdowns against F. & M., and provided the only six pointer against Sampson. Consequently, we figure Bucky is quite instrumental in our first three victories.

In the fourth game of the season, Bucky was given the honor of leading the team in the role of game captain against one of our conquerors, Holy Cross.

This was the last time Bucky wore the Blue and White for his injury cost us his services for the remainder of the season. Since then he has made all the trips and has been of considerable help in aiding Ollie with the team.

Wildcats Close Season With 27-6 Loss to Bisons

Main Liners Close Season With .500 Average As They Lose Eleventh To Lewisburg In Nineteen Game Series

The Thundering Herd from Bucknell lived up to pregame predictions as they quietly slipped the curtain of defeat over the final Villanova game with a 27-6 victory. In this, the nineteenth game of an ancient series between the two schools, the Bisons brought along surplus power and speed to insure a win.

Taking advantage of the newly revamped Villanova team and turning to their advancement all the little breaks of the game, the Lewisburg team ran across four touchdowns to continue their supremacy in the rivalry. Four different men scored for Bucknell, going over by land and by air. Three of the touchdowns owed their inspiration to miscues committed by Villanova.

Netski, Leader

As soon as the Bisons took hold of the ball, they commenced a march which ended in the Villanova end zone. Sweeps and plunges put them on the Wildcat 20 and after three unsuccessful attempts at the line Netski fired a long, looping pass to end Killeen for the score.

In the same quarter, Netski again led the attack as he ran the team deep into Villanova territory and then engineered a pass to end Spriggs who lateralled to Williams who dashed over for the score. The second quarter found the former Dartmouth back, Harry Bonk, intercepting a stray Wildcat pass to run it back to the Villanova 15. The same Bonk then plunged to the 4 and from there he tallied to make the half-time score 20-0.

'Cat Opportunities

The second half was a repetition of the first as Bucknell continued to pile up yardage by consistently running fast plays through a spread Villanova line. The only Villanova chances of the evening were gambled away. In the end of the second quarter, the 'Cats advanced to the Bison 30 but as the clock rushed to close the half a flurry of Ryan propelled aerials failed to achieve their objective.

Catholic League Dedicates Game To Bill Howlett

As a fitting tribute to Lieut. William Howlett, U.S.M.C.R., who died sometime in August as a result of wounds received during the closing days of battle for Guam, his Alma Mater, Roman Catholic High, dedicated their game with St. James of Chester in his honor.

Bill Howlett played varsity football for one year and varsity basketball for two years for Roman Catholic and was an All-Catholic halfback in his senior year. He was also given honorable mention on the All-Scholastic team that year.

President of Class

He graduated from Roman in 1938 and came to Villanova the following fall. While at Villanova he played varsity football for four years and varsity basketball for three years. He was president of his class in his junior year and was a member of the Student Council the same year. He graduated with a B. S. in Economics in 1942.

At yesterday's game which resulted in a 7-7 tie his parents were the guests of Rev. Joseph Dougherty, moderator of athletics at Roman Catholic. Father Dougherty proclaims Bill, "one of the greatest fellows he ever knew, both on the gridiron and in the classroom."

NOTICE

The Intramural Basketball League will not open until next week due to the fact that the Alumni Gym is being used as a Navy storeroom.

Hugh O'Reilly Completes Year As Sports Editor

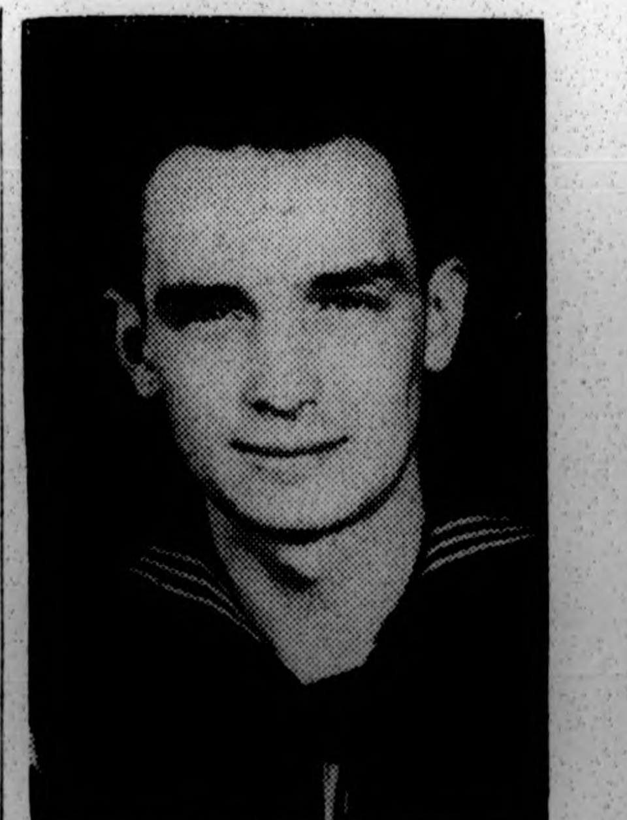
The retirement of Hugh O'Reilly as Sports Editor became effective with last week's issue. O'Reilly, who had held the post for the past two semesters succeeded his roommate, Dave Ward, last March. He had been a member of the sports staff since July 1943 when he became a member of the Navy V-12 unit here.

The former sports editor first gave vent to his journalistic talents while attending St. Joseph's Prep where he was a member of the year book staff. Besides writing for the school annual he was chosen as general manager of athletics at St. Joe's which later proved to be of inestimable help to him as a sports writer.

Entered Villanova in 1942

Hughie first came to Villanova in September 1942 and enrolled in the electrical engineering curriculum. Giving his books undivided attention, he did not join the Villanovan until his sophomore year. Having roomed with Editor Tom Welsh and then Sports Editor Dave Ward at that time, his environment forced him on the staff.

A native of nearby Overbrook, O'Reilly has been following Villanova teams for many years. As a student he takes an active part in the intramurals, representing his hall on most of the teams. His early assignments were to cover the intramurals and he later took over the job of covering varsity basketball before ascending to the well deserved postion of sports editor.



HUGH O'REILLY, A. S.

In addition to writing for the paper, O'Reilly takes an active part in college life. In conjunction with his engineering studies, he is a member of the A. I. E. E. and the Phi Kappa Pi fraternity. He also belongs to the Sanctuary Society and is on the Belle Air staff. During football season he may be found up in the press box, spotting for the radio.

Bucknell

last quarter, the Blue and White on a long Ryan to Sondheimer pass advanced to the Bucknell 18. From here they made a first on the Bison seven. A plunge netted two yards but on the next play, McPeak was thrown for a loss while looking for a pass receiver. Then on the next attempted pass Bonk intercepted to choke the threat.

Fumble Scores

The final Bucknell tally and the only 'Cat score came in this final stanza as a series of plunges finally landed the ball on the Villanova 3 where Netski took it over. With but 45 seconds left in the game and Bucknell deep in their own territory, they fumbled and end Dick Evans snatched it up and raced it over for a Main Line score. The attempt for extra point was no good.

At halftime, the V-12 Unit passed in review before the governor of the state, General Edward Martin and the commandant of the Fourth Naval District, Rear Admiral Milo F. Draemel. Present also in the reviewing stand were the President of the college, Rev. F. X. N. McGuire, O.S.A. and Lt. Comdr. Edward Hannah, commander of the unit.

was general manager of athletics in his senior year there.

Former Copy Editor

Although most of his time was taken up with studies and the work on the school paper, Welch found time to be Chairman of the Decorations Committee for the Blue and White Hop, staff writer for the Villanova Engineer, Representative of the Villanovan on the Student Council, member of the Sanctuary Society, the A.I.E.E., and Mendel Hall's swimming champs. He was Copy Editor before becoming Editor of the paper.

The Villanovan lost a faithful supporter when Thomas M. Schubert, A.S., was transferred at the close of last semester for Pre-Midshipmen's School at Asbury Park, N. J., to await assignment to Mid-Shipmen's School. He had been a member of the editorial staff of the paper, on and off, for the last six semesters, and was a staff writer for the weekly since his Freshman year.

Phi Kap Officer

Coming to Villanova on a scholarship from Roman Catholic High School in Philadelphia, Schubert enrolled in the Liberal Arts School. He remained in this curriculum for only one year, and then switched to Mechanical Engineering. He had just completed his Junior year in this school when he was transferred, but had completed eight terms in college.

Schubert was also active in many other college functions. He was Treasurer of Phi Kappa Pi, engineering fraternity, in his last year; was a member of the A.S.M.E., and the Sanctuary Society, and was staff-writer for the Villanova Engineer and the Belle Air.

All Deserve Credit

Others, whose names appeared in the mast-head of the Villanovan, for the last time in the issue of October 17, are John M. Millet, A. S., and Frank Perna, Photography Editor and Business Manager respectively, both graduates of West Philadelphia Catholic High School, Perna has followed Business School curriculum at Villanova, while Millet needs one more semester for a degree in Mechanical Engineering.

Millet squeezed his photography work into a maze of other campus activities, including, above all, a consistent honor roll standing; he was formerly secretary and is now Chairman of the A.S.M.E., Editor of the Villanova Engineer, and a Phi Kappa Pi member. He filled several posts on the editorial staff and writing staff of the paper prior to his recent post.

All of these members of the Editorial staff deserve congratulations for their fine services rendered in behalf of Villanova. They succeeded in upholding the high standards of the Villanovan set in past years during a time when college activities and news were at a minimum.

ATTENTION SERVICEMEN

PURPOSE—The G. I. Veteran is entitled to any level of education for which he can qualify including undergraduate or graduate studies at a college, university, high school or vocational institution. The Veteran may make his own choice of the school, etc., anywhere in the United States.

EXTENT—90 days of active service entitles the Veteran to education or training, or a refresher or retraining course at an approved institution for a period of one year. If he completes the first year satisfactorily, he is entitled in addition to as many years or months of training as he served altogether in active service from September 16, 1940, to the end of the war. If the Veteran's length of service is sufficient and he qualifies otherwise he may have a total of four years of education.

EXPENSES—The Veteran's expense for tuition, fees, books and equipment, up to $500 for each ordinary academic year, will be paid by the government. In addition he will receive $50 a month for subsistence or $75 if he has one or more dependents.

HOW TO APPLY—Application should be made on Veterans Administration Form 1950, which can be obtained, after the Veteran is discharged, from regional offices of the Veterans Administration or from any educational institution.

SPECIAL NOTE—Disabled Veterans are eligible for additional educational services under another Bill.

Chaplains From Villanova Receive Awards Of Merit

The Revs. John Handran, O.S.A., Michael J. O'Donnell, O.S.A., and Daniel Rankin, S.M., Cited by Secretary of Navy Forrestal

Word has been received from the Navy Department that three Chaplains, all former Villanova teachers, have received special citations in the form of Certificates of Merit and Appreciation. The priests receiving the awards were Rev. Ralph Handran, O.S.A., Rev. Michael J. O'Donnell, O.S.A., and Rev. Daniel Stanislaus Rankin, S.M.

Signed by Chaplain Chief

The Certificates of Merit, just framed, express warmly the thanks of the Navy Chaplain Corps for the efforts of the priests. They are signed by R. D. Workman, Chief of Chaplains, U. S. N.

Accompaning each document was a sincerely written letter of gratitude to the priest, for his work and for the work of the entire Chaplain Corps. The letter was signed in person by the Secretary of the Navy, James Forrestal.

Letter from Forrestal

Below is a reproduction of one:

Villanova College
Villanova, Pennsylvania

The United States Navy is most grateful to you for providing a spiritual leader to serve our country as a Navy Chaplain during the present world crisis.

In recognition of this patriotic sacrifice on your part the Navy Department presents this Certificate of Service as permanent evidence of your contribution in behalf of the religious life of the men and women of our armed forces.

We are all justly proud of the courageous, faithful and noble record being established by our Chaplains as they serve all over the world in ships and on shore.

It is a matter of deep personal satisfaction to me to be able thus to express the appreciation and thanks of the Navy Department and myself.

Sincerely yours,
James Forrestal.

Music Director

Father Handran was probably Villanova's foremost proponent of the aesthetic in the related fields of music and literature, and while here headed the Symphonic Band and Choral Society. He was instructor in Music and Fine Arts. Father received his B.A. in 1934 from Villanova and a Master degree in Music in 1938 from Catholic University. He is a recognized artist at the piano and organ and other musical instruments, whose articles in national magazines have endeavored to destroy the illusion that classical music is for the enjoyment of intellectual giants only.

All members of the various engineering organizations are eligible to attend this smoker. All engineering seniors are also invited. The members of the Faculty and Navy Staff are cordially welcomed to attend.

Members of V-12 Unit Plan Radio Broadcast Soon

Plans Formulated For Variety Program Slated To Appear In Near Future

A series of radio broadcasts will be given in the very near future by members of the Navy V-12 Unit at Villanova College. The Reverend Joseph I. Boyle, O.S.A., school registrar, will contact the local radio stations in order to secure fifteen minutes of broadcasting time each week. The time and the station on which the program will make its appearance, will be announced just as soon as arrangements have been completed.

Mr. Robert Whelan, Athletic Association Secretary, is scheduled to appear with the program every week to lend assistance in the musical vein. Mr. Whelan is noted for his versatility at the keyboard.

First Program Planned

Dick Hensen, Jim Winner, and "Chuck" Cummings are slated to appear on the first program. Bob Horowitz, who has been getting the program together, has informed his co-workers that talent is in great demand. Although the subject matter to be presented in the first few program has been well planned, future broadcasts still must be taken care of.

Anyone who has talent in any field whatsoever which would benefit the program, is asked to leave his name, address and particular talent in room 313 Fedigan Hall as soon as possible.

New Navy Doctor Was At Villanova

Lt. Carl E. Lorenz is the new Navy doctor sent to relieve Lt. Graham. He will be in charge of the V-12 unit's medical division.

Former Villanovan

He returns to Villanova with a wealth of experience, both as a doctor and as a navy officer. A graduate of the Hahnemann Medical School, he previously had attended ton and Lee, and Villanova College. He practiced in Hahnemann Hospital and the Sacred Heart Hospital of Norristown. Lt. Lorenz is a member of the Rotary Club of Ambler and the County Medical Society; he received his commission in the Navy in November of 1942.

LT. CARL LORENZ

Served in Aleutians

Since then he served for three months at Dutch Harbor with the Seventh Spec. N.C.B. and for seventeen months at Adak in the Aleutians.

The doctor, in civilian life, is a resident of Plymouth Meeting, Pennsylvania where he lived with his wife, formerly of Strafford, and two daughters. The Villanovan welcomes Lt. Lorenz back to Villanova and hopes his stay will be pleasant and profitable.

College Authorities Attend Thanksgiving Dinner

A. S. M. E. To Attend Engineers Convention In New York City

Twenty members of the Villanova Student Branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, seventeen Seniors, and three second semester Juniors, accompanied by Professor George H. Auth, will attend the annual student luncheon at the National Convention of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers tomorrow, Wednesday, November 29, at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York City.

Leave Wednesday

The group, mostly servicemen, will leave for New York early Wednesday morning in order to arrive at the convention in time to attend the morning technical sessions, where items of engineering interest will be discussed by men prominent in the engineering world.

Villanova Attends Main Line Forum

Under the sponsorship of Haverford College, a series of weekly lectures has been inaugurated for the purpose of providing the students of the Main Line institutions an opportunity to study the problems of peace.

The series of lectures of the Main Line Forum was opened by Justice Curtis Bok of the Circuit Court of Philadelphia. Judge Bok spoke on the "Problems of Youth". Besides this address there were lectures by Robert J. Watt, Advisor of the Department of State on Labor Problems on "Labor in a Free Democracy;" the Rev. Robert Gannon S. J., President of Fordham University on "Our Christian Heritage;" Guy Greer of the Editorial Staff of Fortune Magazine on "Community Planning." Last week the Honorable Christian A. Herter, Republican member of Congress from Boston, Massachusetts, and the Honorable Howard J. McMurray, Democrat Member of Congress from Milwaukee, Wisconsin, spoke on "Modern Democracy at Work."

Villanova Represented

At the invitation of Haverford College, Villanova is represented at the Main Line Forum. William F. Barrett, Jasper G. Chen See, and Robert Conway have participated. After the general meeting the representatives of each institution participating in the Forum have an opportunity of meeting the speakers at a seminar which immediately follows the lecture.

Other Series

This first series of lectures on American problems will close in mid - December. The remaining speakers include the Honorable Thurman Arnold, Joseph N. Pew Jr., and Senator Wheeler of Montana. Early in 1945 a series of lectures on European problems will open. This will be followed by third series on the problems of Asia.

Dr. Drenick Leaves College To Enter Armed Service

The arrival of a new semester has brought with it the departure of one of Villanova's professors, Doctor Rudolf Dresnick. While at Villanova College, Dr. Drenick was assistant professor of mathematics and physics. Dr. Drenick has left in order to join the armed forces, so that he might help to finish the job he began a few years ago in Austria, his job of putting an end to the thwarted philosophics forced upon his people by the German madman.

Dr. Drenick was born in Vienna Austria, and his experiences in this country read like an action-packed adventure novel. His education was begun in primary school in Vienna. After four years of training in this elementary school he entered the Real Gymnasium for his secondary school education. After graduation "with distinction" which is similar to the title of "Cum Laude" which is bestowed upon American graduates, he entered the University of Vienna. Here he majored in the field of Physics, and obtained his degree of Ph. D., and also received permission to teach mathematics. Dr. Drenick remained at the University of Vienna, in order to complete his studies, for five and one-half years, and here again he graduated "with distinction."

Joins Anti-Nazis

However, it can readily be surmised that Dr. Drenick's life to date is not one of a succession of studies in various sciences. At the age of thirteen years he joined the Youth Movement, which later became the Anti-Nazi movement in Austria. While attending the University of Vienna, he devoted most of his spare time to this movement, and shortly became the leader of a group of fifteen hundred youths, waging their own private war on Nazism. In 1938 when the Nazis came into power in Austria, the group continued their existence in secrecy.

While still attending the University of Vienna, Dr. Drenick was inducted into the German army, but was deferred in order that he might continue his studies. After receiving his degree, he and his brother decided to attempt to escape from service in the German Wehrmacht. Since they were both proficient skiers, they chose this as a means of escape from the country. Obtaining American visas, they chose Yugoslavia as their route.

Escape Country

They started at 7:00 P. M. one evening near the end of March, and skied the entire night, moving all the time in order to keep from freezing. After entering Yugoslavia, they proceeded towards Switzerland. Crossing through Italy they reached the Swiss border on March 31. On this same day their leave from the army had

Executive Group Enjoys Dinner

Rev. F. X. McGuire, O.S.A., and Commanders Lamb and Hannah Present at Thanksgiving Dinner

To vary the famous quotation, "All roads led to the cafeteria"; and all present at 1:00 P. M. on Thanksgiving Day were well satisfied with the annual turkey dinner. To heighten the affair the Marines, V-12 unit and residence students were honored by the presence of Father McGuire, president of the College; Father Dwyer, Lt. Commander Hannah, Captain Morgan and other officers of the military units. Also invited to the banquet, as a special guest, was Commander Scott Lamb, U. S. N. The Commander is the director of training of the fourth Naval District in Philadelphia. Comments on all sides indicate that the feast was excellently prepared and served, and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Additional Yearbook Copies Available

The Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O.S.A., has announced that students may still be able to purchase additional copies of the yearbook, in the Belle Air office, on the second floor of Mendel Hall. The copies will be distributed daily between 12:30 and 1:30 P.M. The charge for each additional copy will be five dollars. If the students who wish to purchase the yearbook cannot possibly appear at the Belle Air office during the appointed time, they are requested to see John Fitzgibbons at the Commerce and Finance building, at their convenience.

Meeting

A meeting of all those who are interested in becoming members of the Belle Air Staff for 1945, are requested to attend a meeting next Wednesday at 1:00 P. M. in the Belle Air office. If students cannot appear at that time, they may leave their names at the office. The meeting is being held in order to determine whether or not there will be another issue of the yearbook this coming year. All students who have had experience in writing or taking photographs are invited to attend this meeting.

NOTICE

Mass Serving classes will begin this Tuesday evening after Chapel. They will be held in the Sacristy. Students who would like to become servers should see Father Klekotka at this meeting.

Unconditional Surrender

WHEN the United States was first dragged into this war, all America's avowed intention concerning its outcome was voiced by President Roosevelt in his war message to the Congress. In that message the President unequivocally stated that nothing short of "unconditional surrender" would constitute our total victory.

Numerous times since then the Commander-in-Chief has reiterated this stand. And, until recently, the American people have whole-heartedly adopted this as their first and foremost national aim.

But now that the "race across France" is over and the Wehrmacht is fighting every inch of the way, dissenting voices are heard. Many, who at the outset clamored for absolute victory, now claim that by relenting from our original terms of surrender to Germany the war could be brought to a speedier conclusion.

It is this very spirit that the Nazis would have fostered from Maine to California. It is mainly because this feeling took hold of the American people towards the conclusion of the last war that all the death and misery and suffering and destruction of the present conflict ensued. Germany's surrender to the Allied nations merely provided her with a breathing spell to carry on diabolical plans.

The "home front commandos" contend that the blood of our fathers, brothers, and friends is being spilled uselessly at this point because Germany is beaten—and she knows it; that Hitler has no other alternative but to continue the fight to the end; and that it amounts to nothing less than absolute barbarism on our part not to accept the German flag of truce and signature of surrender. Baseless arguments, all!

History recorded just within the last twenty six years proves how null and void these contentions are, which are daily gaining space and time in the press and over the radio.

In 1918, Marshal Foch wanted to drive on to Berlin, instead of being contented, as too many of the Allied leaders of the day were, to come to terms with an apparently broken and beaten Germany at its borders. He made it clear that the war was not over and that Germany would rise again unless the power and might of the victorious armies was brought before her people.

Perhaps more than Foch ever conjured, his prophetic words have been all too realistically borne out in the last five years.

The second act of World War I is drawing to a close. Its scenes—Lidice, Maidanek, Tremblinka, Warsaw, Rotterdam—have far surpassed anything ever presented before for barbaric cruelty and inhumanity.

We know that a peace based on the word of the German leaders would crumble like castles in Spain before many years. We know the Prussians are ready and willing to enact more of their bloody and gory scenes in a third conquest act. We know how to prevent this.

Three years ago we made our decision. Let's not weary and waiver now. We're on the offense, and it's Berlin to go for an "UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER."

MIDWEEK MARAUDERS . . .

Seen doing the "turkey trot" this past Thursday eve at the local (where else?) Stage Door Canteen was Bill Callaghan, whose date had everyone wondering where she had checked her broom. Also encountered at this favorite dispensary of cheer and chow were Dick Wright, and Joseph "Warren" McFadden, who spent all evening trying to convince his date that he learned to dance using a mop for a partner. It looks it, Joe. Jerry Marks, Henry Stofman, Vince McPeak and Tom Ferry, who came back with tales of delicious turkey dinners, reminisced all evening (at least thirty minutes) of the days when you could get cigarettes and Hershey bars at almost any corner drugstore, and there was a plentiful supply of sheared beaver mucquettes, especially on Chestnut S.

There are at least twenty men here on the campus who will stack Philadelphia hospitality against the well-known Southern brand, after their delicious turkey dinners on Thanksgiving, tendered especially for them by some very generous families of this locality. On behalf of all the boys who were feted, thanks again.

Bob McKibbon, Hugh O'Reilly and Alan Schneider made the retreat with "destroyer escorts". Many of the retreating didn't stop at Chestnut St. but advanced backwards and finally took up quarters at Joe Dwyer's home, where a five-hour festival took place. T'S a small world," writes Ens. Fred Gerngross, M. E., from the Pacific. Fred received his commission at Annapolis in September, and was assigned to a heavy cruiser. When his ship sailed into Pearl Harbor, Ens. Gerngross was amazed and happy to see a familiar face soon after coming ashore. It was Marine Lt. Jake Mauch, Jake, President of the Student Council in his Senior Year, was called up from the reserve immediately upon graduation from the education school in June, '43.

Another reunion took place at the Fleet Replacement Center at Miami Florida, between Ensigns Moe Quinn, M. E. '44, and Skip White. Ens. Quinn went to Midshipmen's school in February while Skip transferred to Bucknell before being assigned to Midshipmens' school. Ens. White graduated from Northwestern in September, and has about five more weeks of training at Miami.

As if to further bear out Ens. Gerngross' aforementioned statement, word has come from Pensacola, N.A.T.C., in Florida, that there were several former Villanova students down there undergoing final training. Almost ready to receive their wings are Aviation Cadets Paul Gallagher and Jim Miller. Paul is flying a torpedo bomber while Jim is taking twin-engine training. Also at Pensacola is Alumni Hall's gift to the Air Corps, big George Veling. George was called up in June, '43, after his Freshman year and was assigned to the V-5 Unit at the University of Pennsylvania. While at Penn George found time to take over the first string fullback spot even though he hadn't played football since his high schooldays, but this wasn't too strange for in those High school days George made the New York City All-Scholastic team.

Ens. John Allen, who graduated in February of this year, is now seeing duty in the Atlantic on a Destroyer Escort.

Frank Breslin, S 2/c, member of the Freshman Class of '42, is now taking Radar training at Virginia Beach, Va.

Bill Rooney, F 2/c, is recuperating in a West Coast hospital from injuries received when his ship was torpedoed.

Meet the Boys

By HUGH FALLON

A visit to Alumni Hall serves to introduce to you two of the three gentlemen interviewed this week. The first of these is Armando Alvarez, a son of Havana, Cuba. Born October 19, 1924, he lived in Peru for ten years. Here he attended the Lima, Peru grammar school, and started High School, but his family moved to Havana. He graduated from Belen High School, in Cuba. In October, 1941, he came to Villanova, entering the School of Civil Engineering. Setting a high standard for himself, he has been on the honor roll every term, twice with a 4.00 average.

ARMANDO ALVAREZ

Likes Music

A lover of books and good music, Armando realized the necessity of sports in developing a healthy body and mind, and consequently, developed a liking for horse-back riding. He is also a member of the Spanish Club, the Mathematics Club, and the A. S. C. E.

The other resident of Alumni Hall is a student in the Commerce and Finance school, Frank Perna. Frank attended the Blessed Virgin Mary Grade School, in Darby, which is close to his home on Serrill Ave., Yeadon. After finishing there, he matriculated at West Catholic High School, Philadelphia, where he had the highest average in his section in his Freshman and Sophomore years. Due to illness, Frank was not able to maintain his high standings. . .but graduated in June, 1942.

Many Activities

He entered Villanova in the term which began that June, and immediately fostered a great interest in college life. He became the assistant manager of all intramural sports in his Freshman and Sophomore years, and in his Freshman and Junior years he was assistant manager of varsity basketball.

FRANK PERNA

For the two terms just passed, Frank was Business Manager of the Villanovan, but resigned this position after the traditional two terms. He was also an Associate Editor of "Belle Air" and a member of the Delta Pi Epsilon. Frank expects to receive a B. S. in Economics next February, but his plans for the future are indefinite.

A native of Philadelphia, John Belletti, occupies the last place among today's interviews. John first saw daylight on August 20, 1923.

Enters Navy

He attended the Cassidy Grade school, Dimner Beeber Junior High School and graduated from Overbrook High School in January, 1941. After graduation, he worked for a year and a half for his fath-

Behind The Eight Ball

By TOM HANRATTY and DICK RANDOLPH

Having broken only twenty hearts, flunked the whole accounting class, caused three boys to run away from home, and having garnered as the result of our efforts not even a raise in salary or a broken bone, we begin this third column with somewhat of a disappointment in the results of our previous attempts. Nothing short of a rebellion can now bring to us the full satisfaction of having reached the pinnacle of success. However, a few drastic changes around the school, as a change in Bill Horcell's socks or a haircut for "Reds" Hohenwater might bring to us somewhat of a consolation for our efforts in the field of social reform.

While we are at the task of making apologies for this week's column, we wish to acknowledge a misprint in last week's edition. This mistake was the representing of J. P. McLaughlin's girl friend as 180 pounds. To our dismay, she only tips the scales at 176 pounds four ounces. By the way Joe, when is her next wrestling bout?

Daniel Murphy, the most recent arrival in the Swiss Navy, sends regards to his prison mates. As for boot camp, we hear no remark, as "I can't get enough of it"; and, as for the C.P.O.'s, he says that they're all nuts (about him). "Those darn parentheses!" . . . While on the task of giving a salute to our servicemen, we wish to express our dismay at the breaking up of the two man task force that invaded the 69th St. Terminal every evening. This duet consisted of "Flash" Goldberger and Jimmy Squadrito, who is now in the Army. Due to the activities of these evening marauders, no girl between the ages of ten and fourteen was allowed to ride the El between the hours of 5:30 P. M. & 6:00 P. M. without a collar, leash and escort. By the way Goldie, do you still meet your big moment on the 8:25 P&W train? . . . Speaking of famous pairs, our attentions are focused upon Jerry Mellon and Jack Glancy. In honor of this companionship we wish to dedicate the following poem:

The wonderful love of a beautiful maid,
The love of a staunch, true man.
And the love of a baby, unafraid
Have existed since life began.
But the greatest love—the love of loves,
Even greater than that of a mother,
Is the tender, passionate, infinite love
Of one drunken bum for another.

Anti-climax:—He gave up liquor, wine and food; he never went to bed; he swore off smokes and women; he had to—he was dead.

(If at the present moment any of our dear readers happen to be in the pie shop tell J. Applegate to remove himself from the pin ball machine and do something constructive.)

Now to get on to the more interesting things in life; namely, Saturday night. First of all, we shall discuss in as few words as possible the activities of the editor on the night in question. (Editor's Note:—The following paragraph have been cut out due to the shortage of paper.) . . . Another news item which we doubt will pass the censor concerns the whereabouts of Simon Stock over the weekend. However, we can say that his attentions were centered in the vicinity of Brunswick and that the object of these attentions is a combination of a nurse, school teacher, and dog catcher.

A sigh of relief may now be felt

VILLANOVAN SPORTS

Probable Starters In Season Opener

Severance Runs Squad Through Daily Workouts

Walters, Schanberger, Carter Only Men with Previous College Experience

By JOE SULOCK, A.S.

Faced with the problem of an inexperienced team with which to work, Coach Al Severance has spent many weary hours of practice whipping the Villanova Wildcat basketball squad into shape. Only one veteran of last year's campaign has returned, while the other members of the squad have had very little college experience.

Another handicap is the lack of height, for only a few men stand over six feet. However, mentor Severance hopes that the speed, aggressiveness and trickery that the squad possesses will go far in overcoming these adverse factors.

One Veteran

Looming as a probable starting quint are Joe Walters, Bill Schanberger, Chuck Froelicher, Lee Carter, and Ken Reeher. Of these five, only three previously played college ball, Walters for Villanova, Schanberger for Loyola of Baltimore, and Carter for the Colorado College freshman team. Froelicher and Reeher have only high school experience behind them. Behind Coach Severances' careful tutelage, these five have developed rapidly and figure to give their opponents plenty of trouble.

Strong Contenders

Pressing hard for a position on the first five is Dave Ward, formerly of West Catholic High. Tall Johnny Sankey, Navy discharge from Holy Spirit High in Atlantic City, along with two Joes, Costello and Dwyer, both from Philadelphia, are also strong contenders for first string posts.

Lanky Dick Madigan, another West Catholic boy, has shown good in the practice drills and is sure to see plenty of action. Bob Moffett, formerly a member of the C.A.P., learned his basketball at Lower Merion High, famed for the quality of its court aggregations, has caught Severance's eye with

Army's Stanowicz Leads All Opponent Selections

Four Cadets Make First Team Choice Of Wildcat Gridmen; Holy Cross, Bucknell Place Two

Joe Stanowicz, Army's stellar guard, led the nominations for Villanova's all-opponent team picked by the Wildcat players in a poll conducted by the Villanovan last week. Three teammates of the West Point star also made the all-foe eleven. St. Onge nosed out Bill Heater at center, George Poole at end, and Glenn Davis took over one of the halfback slots.

Bucknell and Holy Cross took two places each with Harry Bonk and right tackle Kochins for the Bisons and Morasky and Jim Reilly aiding the Crusaders victory. Sampson Naval Training Station lead the second team with five of their men gaining berths. Atlantic City placed only one man on either team, that being Veteri at halfback on the second squad.

Scranton University was the only foe who did not place a man on either the first or second team. Their halfback, Tom Flanagan received the only vote for the Tomcats. Conquered F. & M. and Muhlenberg received one spot each with Iannecelli at end for the Diplomats, and Bob Lange at quarterback for the Mules on the second team.

FIRST TEAM

End—Iannecelli, F. & M.
Tackle—Schmeelk, Sampson.
Guard—Stanowicz, Army.
Center—St. Onge, Army.
Guard—Reilly, Holy Cross.
Tackle—Kochins, Bucknell.

Center-Heater, Sampson.
Guard—Strang, Bucknell.
Tackle—Belinskas, Sampson.
End—Troy, Holy Cross.
Quarterback—Lombardo, Army.
Halfback—Kenna, Army
Halfback—Veteri, Atlantic City.
Fullback—Manning, Sampson.

Intramurals Get Under Way After Two Week Delay

The Intramural Basketball League finally got under way last night with the previously announced schedule starting two weeks late as the Alumni Gym was not available until this time. Two games will be played on Monday and Tuesday nights with the first game commencing at 6:00 o'clock.

Five Teams

This year the league will contain five teams. One team each will represent the Austin Sailors, Austin Marines, Fedigan Sailors, Mendel Sailors, and the Alumni Students. Alumni Hall will be the defending champions, having annexed the championship last year.

The co-moderators of the league, Rev. Dante L. Giorlami, O.S.A., and Rev. Joseph Kemme, O.S.A, have arranged the schedule for the first half to run up until the Christmas vacation The second half will be played after Christmas with the possibility of a team from the Day Hops being added.

David For Lejeune

Bone-Crushing Bob David, who performed for the Wildcats in the first five games this season, is now playing for the Camp Lejeune eleven. David was transferred on November 1 to that base and immediately joined their squad. A teammate of his there is Vinnie Carlesimo, another former Villanova guard, who has been playing with the New River team since the start of the season.

Courtmen Open Season Against Loyola Monday

Cammarata And Cohen To Pace Greyhound Attack; First Of Ten Games At Home

The 1944-45 edition of the Villanova basketball team will get under way this coming Monday night against Loyola College, of Baltimore, in the Field House. The schedule was released last week by Rev. E. B. McKee, O.S.A., Director of Athletics. Loyola will be the first of eleven opponents to be met this season. A 19-game card has been arranged with ten of the contests to be played at home.

Highlight on the schedule will be Valley Forge General Hospital, a new opponent who is expected to have one of the finest teams in the country. To date, the Veterans have defeated Indiantown Gap for their initial victory. Other service teams to be met will be the Naval Academy, the Phila. Coast Guard, and the Navy Yard Marines.

Tough Schedule

The initial meeting will open one of the toughest schedules the Wildcats have faced in years. In addition to Loyola, other traditional rivals appearing on the card will be Swarthmore, Bucknell, Muhlenberg, Franklin & Marshall, Rider, and Princeton. Pre-season indications promise that all will give the Main Liners plenty of competition this winter.

The Villanova-Loyola series dates way back in which Villanova has the edge. Last year the Blue and White took both games of the home-and-home series 51-35 and 55-48. In former years the Greyhounds were coached by Emil "Lefty" Reitz, who performed for Villanova back in 1927. This will be the first year since he took over the reins at Loyola that he hasn't brought a team back to his Alma Mater. Reitz in now is the Navy and succumbed his job to Albert Warner who is also Athletic Director of that institution.

Opener For Loyola

Not unlike Villanova, Loyola will open her season Monday night. This will be her only game before opening competition in the Mason-Dixon Conference. The Greyhounds will be composed of an all civilian team since their school does not have a V-12 unit.

Coach Al Warner has two holdovers from last year's team in the persons of Sal Cammarata and Jerry Cohen. The nucleus of his team will be formed around these two men who are expected to spearhead their mates against the Cats. To supplement the holdovers, they have four men up from the Junior Varsity fighting for the three remaining berths. They are Don Biblin, Frank Cashin, Tim Parr, and Ed. Fleixhman.

The tap-off will be at 8:30 and there will be no preliminary game.

As we put another season's records down in the books and look back we find that it wasn't such a bad season considering some of our earlier games. When we opened up against Scranton we didn't know what to expect but received a rather pleasant surprise when our boys uncovered their latent talents to defeat our new adversaries, 13-7.

Riding the crest of our win, we next went on to overpower a strong F. & M. team 14-6 gathering assurance of a winning ball club along the way. In round number three, it was shown what we really could do as we blocked that all important kick that cost Sampson a 7-6 loss. It was beginning to look as though we had a team that couldn't be stopped until we faced Holy Cross.

It seems the Crusaders weren't very much impressed by our three-game streak and took advantage of our off day to trim us 26-0. This didn't daunt us, though, as we retaliated to down Muhlenberg 7-0. This game was followed by a week's layover and those fatal change-of-semester transfers.

The following week we went out of our class and took on Army which resulted in probably the worst humiliation any team took this year. There were reasons, however, which we explained two weeks ago. This loss seems to take the very heart out of the team as two quick losses to not-too-highly favored Atlantic City and Bucknell to close a season which had started out so well.

Many of the players deserve mention for their work but this was taken good care of by Ollie in his column last week. Speaking of Jordan Olivar, our coach has faced a lot of problems this seaosn. He worked under conditions in which many a coach would have given up in despair. Most of us are familiar with what Ollie was up against. He merely coped with the situation as best he could without complaint and is certainly deserving of a lot of praise for what he has done for the team this season.

With the closing of football season we find the advent of basketball. In recent years basketball has always been Villanova's most successful sport. This year should not alter this situation. A rather tough schedule has been arranged and Al Severance has been putting the boys through the paces in order to cope with it but he still does not have the necessary manpower.

We are aware of the fact that there are boys here at school with previous basketball experience who are not out for the team. Al needs you out there. Not for his sake, but for yours. This is your team, not his. Some time ago, during football season an editorial appeared in the Villanovan on supporting the football team. This also applies to basketball.

Unless we have the wholehearted support of the student body we cannot have a good basketball team. It's your team so we're depending on you to give it your support.

John is an active sportsman, participating in intramural basketball, baseball, and football. One proof of his ability to assume responsibilities is the fact that he is Commander of C Company. He is a member of the Honorary Mathematics Society, of the Mu Alpha Theta, and the Phi Kappa Pi. John has been on the Honor Roll at various times. He expects to receive a degree in Mechanical Engineering in February. He has not formulated any post-war plans because of the uncertainty of present day life.

by everyone in the school as our eager young chemists finish their study of nitrogen. Lead by Jimmy Doriety they do everything from loading cigarettes with magnesium ribbons to generating laughing gas in some unfortunate's room. However, despite their untiring efforts, they were unable to manufacture any T.N.T. Better luck to next semester's class.

In the past we have been accused of not being any great boost to the field of literature. In order to remedy this situation and to please all of our readers, we present the following masterpiece written by our eminent "man of letters," William J. Schmitt:

Dear Mabel,

"I sat myself down, pen in hand, to type you a letter. Pardon this old pencil. I don't live where I lived before because I moved to where I live now. When you come to see me, you can ask someone where I live, because no one knows. I am sorry that we are so far together, I wish we were closer apart. We are having more weather this year than last. My aunt Nellie died and is doing fine. I hope you are the same. My cousin has the mumps and is having a swell time. I started to come to Trenton to see you and I saw a sign that said 'This takes you to Trenton'; so I got on the sign and sat there for three hours and the darn thing wouldn't move. I am sending you a coat by express. I cut off the buttons to make it lighter in weight. They are hidden in the pockets. If you do not get this letter, let me know and I will mail it to you. Our neighbors' baby swallowed some pins, but they fed it pin cushins and everything is okay with the baby now. I could have sent you the $6.00 I owe you but I didn't think of it till after I sealed the envelope."

The lunch bell just rang and the editor has tossed us our chunk of raw meat; so we'll leave you now with high hopes of seeing you again next week.

At the conclusion of these discussions the student members will attend the annual A.S.M.E. student luncheon. At this luncheon the student engineers will have the opportunity of meeting and talking with outstanding practicing engineers.

Attend Lectures

The technical sessions will be resumed after the luncheon is concluded. Several papers on applications of the gas turbine will be featured at these afternoon meetings. There is a possibility that some plant inspection trips may be made, but as yet nothing definite has been planned. The group will return to the campus late Wednesday evening.

Last Tuesday evening, November 21, approximately ten members of the A.S.M.E. attended a meeting of the Engineers Club of Philadelphia in order to hear a talk by General Reynolds, chief of the U.W.S. Army Engineers. General Reyonlds discussed some of the engineering aspects of the modern weapons used in this war.

expired. Having almost two weeks to wait for their boat to enter port, Dr. Drenick and his brother remained in Switzerland fearing capture and arrest for desertion. On April 15, 1939, they embarked from France for America, and sailed into New York harbor the next week.

It was in the fall of 1939 that Dr. Drenick came to Villanova as Associate Professor of Physics and Mathematics. Since the V-12 unit entered Villanova he has also taught navigation.

Lectures

Very recently Dr. Drenick gave a series of lectures on the Theory of Superconductivity at a seminar on Theoretical Physics at the University of Princeton.

Although Dr. Drenick had been very busy all the time that he remained at Villanova, he found time to devote to his two hobbies of skiing and photography. He made many friends at Villanova, and he will be missed by both the students and the faculty.

the speed and aggressiveness of his play.

Capable Replacements

Rounding out the squad are Fred Goetz, Len Autrey, Jim Dillon and Jim Gallagher. Goetz, former Lehigh University basketeer, has played well in the practice skirmishes and looms as a capable replacement. Autrey, an Arkansas boy, is a late starter but has been slowly rounding into shape. Both stumpy Jim Gallagher and rangy Jim Dillon will not be eligible to play until after the Christmas Holidays.

Their temporary loss will hinder the team's success somewhat, because both are able replacements. Dillon, a product of Atlantic City High, and Camp Lejeune, is the tallest man on the squad, and is invaluable under the boards. Gallagher, erstwhile La Salle college performer, has proven himself a smart and clever ball handler.

Gorman Receives Purple Heart At Special Ceremony

Marine Was Wounded on Guadalcanal; Lieutenant Commander Hanna Makes Presentation at Review

By DAVID I. RYAN

At a spcial ceremony held Saturday, November 25, on Austin Hall Parade Field, Private James Gorman, a Marine V-12 trainee here at Villanova, received the Purple Heart award for wounds received during the early stages of the Guadalcanal campaign, in August 1942. Lieutenant Commander Edward Hannah, USNR, Commanding Officer of the Villanova V-12 unit, made the presentation.

PVT. JAMES GORMAN USMCR

Born in Philadelphia

Born and raised in West Philadelphia, Gorman graduated from Saint Thomas More High School, in June of 1941, and immediately following, enlisted in the Marine Corps. He was sent to Parris Island, N. C., for his "boot training," then on to New River for Fleet Marine training. At the latter training camp, he was made a scout in a Browning Automatic Rifle Squad.

In June of 1942, Gorman shipped out from New River to San Francisco, and from there shoved off for Guadalcanal, where he participated in the first landing, on August 7, 1942. Just two weeks after the invasion of the island, there ensued one of the major 'Canal battles, in which Gorman was wounded. Working with an advanced patrol of three, Gorman and the other two men were caught in a hail of Jap fire. His two buddies were killed and Gorman was wounded. It was for this wound that he received his decoration.

Leaves 'Canal

On the 7th of September, Gorman left Guadalcanal and went to Australia for convalescence. After spending time at several hospitals in Australia, he was shipped back to the "States" for further treatment. He went on several War Bond tours under the auspices of the United States Treasury when he fully recovered from his injuries.

Upon completion of the tours, Gorman was stationed at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, and from there proceeded to New River again.

Comes to Villanova

Only July 1 of this year he became a Marine V-12 trainee, being stationed at Franklin and Marshall College, in Lancaster. On November 1, he was transferred to Villanova for his second semester in the program.

BELLE AIR PICTURES

On Tuesday evening, December 5th, pictures will be taken for the Belle Aire of all the intramural teams. It is expected that everybody on each squad will appear. Action shots will also be taken that night.

Engineers Hold Joint Smoker At C & F Auditorium

C. H. Van Hartesvelt Speaks On Post-War Aviation; War and Football Movies Shown

Approximately one hundred engineering students, Navy, Marine and civilians, attended the joint Engineering Smoker held in the auditorium of the Commerce and Finance building last Friday evening.

Speaks on Aviation

Mr. C. H. Van Hartesvelt, Senior Chemical Engineer for the Atlantic Refining Company delivered the principal address on the Engineering Aspects of Present and Future Aviation. He commented on the enormous amount of money necessary for the development of aircraft engines. Mr. Van Hartesvelt, outlined six steps necessary in the design and development of an engine. The speaker spoke pessimistically about the immediate post war future of aviation. He also discussed the future of the Helicopter and the light plane. The speaker was secured through the cooperation of Dr. E. L. Haenisch.

Refreshments were served after the talk in the locker room adjoining the auditorium. Cigarettes and cigars were distributed at the door to all members. After all the refreshments had been exhausted, the group witnessed the screen version of Football Thrills of 1943, and Camera Highlights of war.

Committee Heads

The joint committee was under the chairmanship of John J. Bradley, A.S., and was composed of three representatives from the Phi Kappa Pi, the A.I.E.E. and the A.S.M.E. Representing the P.K.P. were Robert Cramer, A.S., Robert McKibbon, A.S., and Charles Harrington, A.S. Representing the A.I.E.E. were Allen Schnieder, Kenneth Dollinger, A.S., and Edward Grostas. The A.S.M.E. was represented by John Bradley, A.S., Pvt. Harley Kelchner and Al Dumsa.

P. G. Hoffman Speaks At Forum Tomorrow

The meeting of the Main Line Forum which is to be held this Wednesday evening, December 6, will have as guest speaker speaker Paul G. Hoffman. Mr. Hoffman is the president of the Studebaker Corporation, South Bend, Indiana and Chairman of the Committee for Economic Development. He was educated at the University of Chicago and worked himself up on the Studebaker firm. He has written several books on economics and the selling of automobiles, a subject with which he is thoroughly acquainted. The subject for his lecture is going to be "Maximum Employment in a Free Economy." His lecture was to be preceeded by a lecture on "Free Economy" but this has been postponed until January 17th, so Mr. Hoffman will have to do his own defining in regards to a "Free Economy."

The meeting is going to be held at Robert Hall on the campus of Haverford College. Tickets for these lectures are available to all inter-

Dr. Drenick To Talk At A.I.E.E. Meeting

Doctor Rudolf Drenick, a former member of the faculty at Villanova College, who is now awaiting call into the armed forces, will appear before the student members of the American Society of Electrical Engineers, to deliver an address on the subject of Atom Smashing. The meeting will be held December 8, in room 215 Mendel Hall, and will begin at 6:30 P. M.

Discuss Trip

At this meeting the students will also discuss a trip to the Engineer's Club, and a dinner to be held afterwards, on December 11. The executive committee of the A.I.E.E. is making plans for a trip to the National Convention of the A.I.E.E. which is to be held in New York some time late next January.

Villanovans at the Front

Nick Basca and George Balmore Both Killed on Western Front

Corporal Michael Martin Basca, of the class of 1941, has been reported as killed in action on the western front. "Nick," as he was called by his classmates, was serving with the Fourth Armored Division under the command of General George Patton, when he made the supreme sacrifice.

CPL. MICHAEL BASCA

While at Villanova College, Nick became the triple threat of the Villanova eleven. Starting on the first team when he was only a Sophomore, Basca quickly made a name for himself in the national sport. Nick was an accomplished athlete. Not only was he a stellar halfback, but he also doubled at the positions of outfielder and pitcher on the baseball team. Nick was also a member of the Holy Name Society.

His home town was Phoenixville, Pa., where he attended Phoenixville High School. He received his degree of Bachelor of Science in Education from Villanova in 1941.

Balmore Killed

Word has also been received that Staff Sergeant George Martin Balmore, also a member of the class of 1941 has been killed in action on the same front as Corporal Basca. George Balmore came from the Bronx in New York. He went to Peekskill Military Academy before entering Villanova College. While here he was a member of the varsity baseball squad, the Holy Name Society, the Delta Pi Epsilon and the History Seminar.

Staff For 1945 Belle Air Chosen; Fitzgibbons Named Editor-In-Chief

Thomas Welch A. S., and George Hoberg A. S., Former Editors-in-Chief of VILLANOVAN Assume Responsible Positions; Underclassmen Invited to Write for College Publication

Tentative plans have already been formed for the presentation of the 1945 Belle Air at the termination of the next school year. At a meeting held in the Belle Air office Wednesday, Nov. 29, the Revs. Daniel Falvey, O. S. A., and Robert Sullivan, O.S A., co-moderators of the Belle Air, chose a new staff for the future publication. There were twenty-five students at the meetings, and all possessed interest and initiative required to produce a fine yearbook.

Staff Chosen

All those who hold major positions on the Belle Air Staff, with the exception of one member, are all members of the class of 1945. The Editor-in-Chief of the publication is John Fitzgibbons, who was an active member of the Belle Air staff in 1944. Thomas Welch, A.S., former Editor-in-Chief of the Villanovan, was appointed Editor of Military Affairs. John Millet, A.S., President of the A.S.M.E., and formerly Photography Editor of the Villanovan, was appointed Business Manager. William Barrett holds the position of College Editor, while the position of Copy Editor is held by George Hoberg, A.S., Chairman of the A.I.E.E., and former Editor-in-Chief of the Villanovan. The position of Sports Editor is held by Dave Ward, A.S., former Sports Editor of the Villanovan.

George Seibert, A.S., was made Circulation Manager, and Harry Edwards. the only Freshman member of the staff, holds the position of Photography Editor.

Raise Funds

In order that the Belle Air may secure sufficient funds for publication, the staff will try various means of raising this necessary revenue. Christmas cards are now being printed upon which appears the Chapel Snow Scene, and Calendars are being printed upon which a four color scene of the campus view in front of Austin Hall, will appear. All students wishing to purchase these calendars and cards may call for them at the Belle Air Office any time.

All underclassmen who wish to become members of the Belle Air are invited to submit their names to the Editor or to Father Falvey in room 235 Mendel Hall, any day between 12:30 and 1:30 P. M.

ASME Attends Annual Engineers' Convention Held In New York City

By LAWRENCE LYONS

Twenty members of the Villanova Student Branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers attended the 65th Annual Meeting of the society on Wednesday, November 29, at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York City.

The group, accompanied by Professor George H. Auth attended the first morning session where there was a symposium on Extended Surface Heat Exchangers. The speakers at this session were A. W. Lemmon Jr., Resident Assistant, W. H. McAdams of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Karl A. Gardner of the Griscom-Russel Company of New York.

ASME Luncheon

At the conclusion of this discussion the student engineers attended the annual A.S.M.E. Student-General Luncheon, where they met and talked with the speakers, and with practicing engineers.

The afternoon session began at 2:30. While some of the students attended the discussion on Railroad-Oil and Gas Powers, others attended the Applied, Mechanics-Vibration session. The speakers at the former session were Ralph P. Johnson, Chief Engineer at the Baldwin Locomotive Works and J. T. Rettaliata of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, Wisconsin. The speaker at the Applied Mechanics session was F. M. Lewis, Professor of Marine Engineering at M.I.T.

Awards Presented

At 6:30 the student engineers attended the dinner after which there was conferring of honors and awards. The toastmaster was William L. Bait, Past President of the Society. After the presentation of the awards, one of which was given to Edw. G. Budd of Philadelphia for the development of stainless steel railway passenger cars, there was conferring of honorable membership.

The final address, given by the President, Robert M. Gates, was entitled "The Engineer of Tomorrow."

"Villanovans", New College Swing Band, To Be On Radio Show

Anticipating the arrival of the winter social season, comes the announcement of the formation of a swing band. The "Villanovans," as the new thirteen-piece orchestra will be known, has already several important engagements.

The band is under the leadership of Pvt. Paul H. Hathaway, USMCR, who also spots with the clarinet. It is about half civilian, half servicemen divided as follows: five saxophones, three trumpets, two trombones, tuba, piano, and drums.

The organization holds three practices a week and to date its greatest needs have been members and arrangments. Pianists and drummers are particularly needed.

The band will play at basketball games and at the Christmas Variety show. Later it will appear on Villanova's weekly radio program and play for college dances. All talent should give full support to the activity. The Villanovan offers its congratulations to Pvt. Hathaway and his orchestra for their efforts.

Nine Villanovans Named In Collegiate "Who's Who" For '45

By PAUL CIAMAICHELA

Nine members of Villanova's senior class have had their names entered in the book "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" for the school year of 1944-45. "Who's Who is published in order that honor students from every college in the United States may have their names entered in a publication that will be a witness to posterity of their college achievements.

The purpose of publishing this project has been two-fold: First, to serve as an outstanding honor in which a deserving student, after displaying merit in college and accomplishing his goals, would be given recognition. Second, to establish a reference volume of authoritative information on the great body of America's leading college students.

Those men from Villanova College who have had their names entered in the annals of 'Who's Who,' are: Frederick J. Gerngross, Senior Engineer, John S. McManus, Senior Engineer, Gerald E. Walsh, Senior Engineer, Thomas J. Calpin, Senior Engineer, Michael T. Rockett, Senior Engineer, Thomas F. Hitchell, Senior Education, Paul V. Simpson, Senior Engineer, James E. Lamb, Senior Science, and Robert J. Casey, Senior Engineer. These boys have received this singular honor in reward for the fine record they accomplished throughout their scholastic careers.

Peacetime Conscription

TWO bills have recently been presented to the Congress of the United States. These two bills contain measures for imposing a peacetime conscription upon the people of the country. Need there be such a thing as peacetime conscription?

We, in America, are fighting against the system of Fascism which we believe threatens the very life of any country which follows the Democratic way of life. How many of us realize that Fascism, yes, that very Fascism we hate and despise, was built upon a militaristic system. You say it cannot happen here? Ah, but it can. No matter how good the intentions of the people may be, we would be training men in the spartan way of life, and there is no need to point to the repercussions that this type of training has caused in Europe.

If we build up a peacetime army by peacetime conscription, we are admitting defeat. Yes, we would be admitting defeat, because we would be conceding the fact that we had lost the peace. We would admit that we did not trust the peace we had prayed for, and suffered for, for such a long time.

If we build up a great peacetime army and navy, as is the intention of the men who are proposing this bill, what is there to prevent other nations following suit? We can't deny them the privilege that we seek, for we believe in international equality, when and if this is possible. Of course, some will say that our allies have a right to build and maintain large military forces, for they are helping us to defeat our enemies. However, may we have the liberty to ask, since we have freedom of speech . . . "How long will these nations remain our allies? Is it possible that political relations will remain static for the estimated century that it will take to rebuild Germany, politically, economically, and morally?" This is improbable. Large peacetime armies will only throw a shroud of suspicion over the nation which adopts them, and will create friction among the various nations for military superiority.

Who are these people who want peacetime conscription? Certainly not the mothers who, during this war, have experienced untold hours of misery and suffering, worrying over the safety and comfort of their flesh and blood. It is not hard to see that those who propose such a plan have no intimate contact with the situation and its immediate consequences.

If this measure of peacetime conscription is passed, we will be sacrificing all our ideals, the valuable time of our ambitious youth, and the psychological stability of the entire nation. We need no large army and navy in which to train our youth for war. The American College is the greatest institution for training American youth that we have. It has proven to be so throughout the years. It seems we have done pretty well drafting men for service during two major conflicts, we need not continue this practice in peace time. We must give American youth a chance to build their lives in order that they may mold a nation of peace, and certainly we cannot realize this goal if we allow peacetime conscription.

P. CIAMAICHELA.

THOUGHT OF THE WEEK

It seems to be the prevalent idea among the majority of Villanova servicemen, that the use of profanity denotes the thought, "Here stands a man, and if you don't believe it—just listen." Whereupon a string of lurid oaths streams faurth. A poor specimen of manhood indeed is the serviceman who must use profanity to express himself forcefully.

We all hope to be officers and gentlemen in the near future, but it takes more than that of Act of Congress to make you a gentleman. A true gentleman commands the respect and admiration of his fellow-man by his actions, speech, and manner. As a potential future officer do you expect to obtain the respect of your subordinates by swearing at them, with them, or in their presence. You're all in this program because of your ability and its not your ability to use words that aren't in the dictionary.

What do you say ,men, let's make a beginning to deserve that admiration and respect by knocking off the profanity. You know how it sounds. You can be a gentleman, and a serviceman, without turning the air blue with rotten languge.

After years of careful rsearch, your columnists submit the following chemical analysis of man's Nemesis—The Female.

Element: Woman.
Chemical Symbol: Woo.
Accepted Atomic Weight: 125.

OCCURENCE: It is found whatever man exists. It is seldom in a free state. With the exceptions the combined form is preferred.

Physical Properties: All sizes, colors, and forms. Usually in distinguished conditions. Boils at nothing and may freeze at any minute. However, melts when properly treated. Very bitter when not used.

Chemical Properties: Very active. Possesses a great affinity for gold, platinum, silver, and all precious stones. Gives a violent reaction when left alone. Has the ability to absorb great quantities of expensive food. Sometimes yields to pressure. Turns green when placed along side a better specimen. Ages rapidly.

Uses: High ornamental. Has wide application in the arts of the domestic sciences. Useful in times of sickness, low spirits, etc. Greatly eequalizes the distribution, of wealth. Is probably the most powerful (income) reducing agent that is known.

CAUTION: Highly explosive when placed in inexperienced hands.

P. S. Above experiment not performed in labortory.

Varsity Mentor Opens Ninth Year As Head Coach

Former Student Compiles Impressive Record Tutoring for Alma Mater

A better than good record against the best of competition over a period of eight years is the boast of Al Severance, Villanova's varsity basketball coach. An old Villanova boy himself, Al, in his undergraduate days from 1925-29 played varsity basketball as a 140-pound stripling, under Mike Saxe and Rube Cashman when the game rules allowed a more rugged type of play than characterizes the present day style.

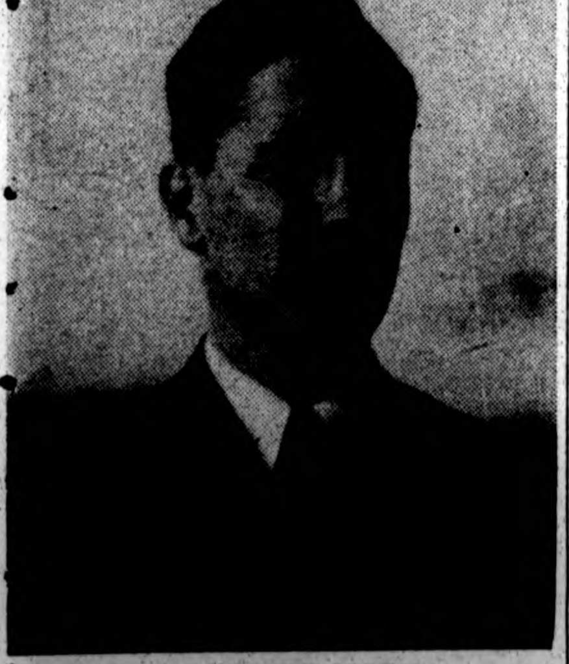
Aggressiveness was his chief asset as a player and it payed off in those times when playing space cramped any kind of a running game.

An alert aggressiveness is still the basketball ideal which Severance tries to inculcate. Most of the gray hairs in his head today result from the nervous shock of seeing some of his players fail to react during a game to set situations faithfully and also strenuously gone over in practice session.

Pick And Cut System

The pick and cut system—the famous Eastern style—taught by him, demands speed and more speed, but a mental speed rather than a muscular one, a quickness of perception that makes it fatal for an opponent to allow himself to be trapped, rather than a wearing leg speed which merely tries to outrun the opposition.

From 1938 to 1943 his teams won 80 and lost 20, his best years being '38-'39 when Villanova won 19 and lost 4; and 1942-43 when they won 19 and lost 2. One of Al's worst seasons came in 1941-42 when he won only 12 and lost 9. Last year's record when manpower first became a crucial problem in collegiate ranks, was nightmarishly weak; 9 won and 11 lost.



AL SEVERANCE

Manpower Problem

What this season will bring to Villanova's now very gray haired coach, only time will tell. The manpower problem remains no better (to say the least) than it was last year. There are no veterans returning, graduation and service transfers having completely devastated the ranks.

Severance called an early Fall practice session this year and gave unstintingly of all scant leisure time so that he might develop a very willing group of inexperienced candidates for the '44 season. A change in Navy orders transferred all but two of this eager squad and left Al with the problem of starting all over again, with a new

Austin Scores First Goal

Dan Redmond, Austin forward, swishes the cords for the first score of the Intramural League this year while Fedigan's Jake Halverson watches from behind.

Mendel Takes Two Straight To Lead Intramural Loop

O'Neil Stars As Engineers Defeat Fedigan and Alumni; Austin Sailors and Fedigan Tie for Second Place

By JIM DAY

Taking two games in the course of two nights Mendel Hall's sailors slipped into first place in the Intramural Basketball League. In their first appearance they downed the Alumni Civilians by the slim margin of 35-31. The following night they defeated the Fedigan sailors 28-22 in a thriller.

Fedigan previously had nosed out Austin Hall in what turned out to be the closest contest of the week. Fedigan turned in 21 points in the last half to forge a 40-39 triumph. The keen shooting of Halverson and Gallagher, who scored 24 points between them, proved the margin of victory.

O'Neil Scores Ten

The finale of the twin bill proved another exciting game with Mendel finally emerging the victor. Bud O'Neil, rangy center, racked up 10 points for the boys from Mendel. Teammates Charlie Lamb and Al Shoemaker had 8 and 6 points respectively.

The next evening found the residents of Austin Hall hooked up in a virtual civil war as the Navy bombarded the Marines with basketballs to sink them with a 41-21 advantage. At no time was the contest in doubt for the sailors, who jumped to a early lead, and had a 12 point margin at the half.

Scanlin Paces Marines

Sonner and Simth led the Sailors 12 and 10 points each. Ed Scanlin lead the boys in green with four points for high scoring honors for the losers.

The final game of the week gave a second victory and a league lead to Mendel Hall. Again with O'Neil contributing 8 points, Mendel held a three point edge at half and went on to a 28-22 conquest. Connors, a fast forward, threw in seven points for the Engineers to help the cause of victory. The Fedigan Pre-Meds were greatly aided by Hinkamp's six points which went for naught.

Day Hops Lose

A practice game Wednesday evening gave onlookers a preview of the Day Hop team which will enter the league next half. They were unfortunate in meeting a strong Alumni team who defeated them

Phi Kap Bowling League Results In Two-Way Tie

By BILL FARRELL, A. S.
Guest Writer

The Phi Kappa Pi Bowling league got under way a week ago last Saturday at the Main Line Bowling Center in Rosemont. The league this year consists of eight teams. Starting from scratch, the two most powerful teams in the league seemed to be the Alley Cats and the Holy Rollers.

These two teams took four games each from the Wash Bowlers and Flakers, respectively. Don Reinhardt of the Alley Cats burned up the boards with a sizzling 220 opener. Thereafter he bowled games of 151 and 161 to end up with a 177 high average for the day. Al Sondheimer was the mainstay in the Holy Rollers victory over the Flakers. Al rolled a 201 game and ended the day in second place with 172 average.

The other games in the league resulted in a 2-2 split between Bucky's Boys and the 300 Club whereas the Sack Hounds managed to overpower the Lost Cause outfit for a 3-1 win. The Holy Rollers appear to be the team to beat this year, placing four of their men in the first five high averages.

Last week's games will be played this coming Saturday, if possible.

Standings:

Team	W	L
Alley Cats	4	0
Holy Rollers	4	0
Sack Hounds	3	1
Bucky'e Boys	2	2
300 Club	2	2
Lost Cause	1	3
Flakers	0	4
Wash Bowlers	0	4

Severancemen Face Four Opponents In Six Days

Swarthmore To Play Here Wednesday; Marines On Friday; Team Will Journey To F. & M. And Rider

By JOE SULOCK, A.S.

In keeping with these fast-stepping times, the Villanova basketball team will play four games within the space of six days. The Wildcat's first opponent during these hectic days will be the Little Quakers from Swarthmore, the game being scheduled for Wednesday night, December 6, in the Field House.

This will be the fourth time that the Main Liners and the Quakers have met. Villanova emerged the victor in the three prevous meetings. Swarthmore has two returning lettermen from last year's squad. They are Ray Winch, center from Rutgers and Jake Earley, a guard who played with Lehigh before transferring to Swarthmore.

Scholastic Stars

Teaming off with Earley in the backcourt will be Dick Unger, product of Phoenixville High while Dave Birch, from Roosevelt High in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Cloyde Fausnaugh will man the forward positions.

The next foe on the Wildcat schedule is the Philadelphia Navy Yard Marines, already three time victors this season, who will also be met on the 'Cats home court, Friday night December 8. Led by two sharpshooting forwards, Bob Wood and Moon Mullins, the Marines have successfully topped Fort Mufflin, Brookline, and R. C. A., all by top-heavy scores.

Powerful Five

Center Stanny and guards Polinsky and Parkinson complete a powerful five that will give the Villanova courtmen plenty of trouble. In last year's game with the Leathernecks. the Wildcats prevailed by a 43-32 margin.

On the following night the Main Liners will engage the Franklin & Marshall basketeers at Lancaster. Relations were resumed with the Diplomats last year for the first time since 1930. F. and M. with Beach and Hood at forwards, Middleman at center, and guards Lang and Doyle, has a team comprised of mainly untried V-12 trainees.

Lose to Indiantown

In their only game of the current campaign, the Diplomats fell easy pray to a fast-stepping Indiantown Gap quint 55-35. The two games played with the Lancaster cagemen last season ended in two victories for the Blue and White by scores of 48-29 and 41-36.

Rider College will furnish the Wildcats plenty of opposition in their sortie on Monday night, December 11, at Trenton. The Roughrider's have a formidable quint led by Captain Don Pugliese, Rider's high scorer during last year's campaign. Pugliese will be at forward with Paul Roedel, who was All-State mention at Millville High School last season.

Former Coast Guardsmen

Filling the center position for the Trenton boys will be Tom Patterson, former Coast Guardsman who received the Purple Heart citation. Teaming off at guard will be Al Rossi, eighteen year old all-around athlete from Trenton High School, and Kenny Kunsch, a dependable man who has been a varsity letterman for three years.

Coach Frank Donlon will be gunning for his first victory over the Wildcats after losing all of the five between the two schools. In last years contest the Severancemen won out by a 48-41 score.

NOTICE

Season tickets to all home basketball games are available to all trainees. They may be obtained at the Business Office, Mendel Hall at a cost of $2.00 including tax.

Wildcats Annex Initial Victory Over Loyola 49-28

Captain Joe Walters Plays Brilliant Game, Netting 19 Points; Carter Follows With 11

The Villanova College Wildcats got off to a brilliant start for the 1944-45 basketball season, by defeating Loyola University by a score of 49-28. Notable throughout the entire game for his brilliant playing was Captain Joe Walters, former St. Joseph's High School basketball star, who started his cage career as a member of the famous "Mighty Mites" of St. Joe's Prep. All in all, Joe netted 19 points for the Villanova five.

Cammarata Outstanding

The Hounds of Loyola started the game with a record of one loss to the United States Coast Guard Academy to the tune of 48 to 40. Captained by Roche of Loyola, the Hounds gave the Wildcats plenty of competition throughout the entire struggle.

Outstanding among the Loyola five, was Cammarata, who played brilliant ball both defensively and offensively. Cammarata was also high scorer for the Greyhounds, netting three field goals and seven fouls for a total of 13 points.

Runners-up for scoring honors on the Loyola quintet were Sybert and Bardelman. Sybert netted two field goals and Bardelman one field goal and two fouls for a total of four points each.

Evenly Matched

The quintet were evenly matched, despite the fact that the score pointed to an inequality which did not really exist. Both teams were composed of inexperienced men, with the exception of Joe Walters, whose experience was definitely showing.

Dave Ward, former Sports Editor of the Villanovan, showed plenty of deception and good defensive ball playing throughout the entire contest. Joe Dwyer, Mendel Hall's pride and joy, gave the Hounds quite a run for their money, playing a hard and fast game all the way.

Carter Shines

Lee Carter was second highest scorer for the 'Cats, netting a total of 11 points, through the grace of five field goals and one foul. Lee ran the Hounds dizzy throughout the entire game, as is evident from his record. Schanberger netted four points by reason of two field goals, with Joe Dwyer topping Schanberger's record with six points received by virtue of three field goals.

Walters Scores First

Captain Joe Walters started things popping in the first three minutes of the game by sinking a field goal on a set shot, thus sparkplugging the Villanova offensiv for the night. Roberts was the first to score for the Hounds, by virtue of a foul shot.

Joe Walters then started the slashing of the opposition's defense by beautifully manipulating the ball within short range of the basket, and swishing the net for two points. Things hummed from then on, and it was plain to see that the 'Cats had the game well in hand all the way.

Peacetime Conscription

TWO bills have recently been presented to the Congress of the United States. These two bills contain measures for imposing a peacetime conscription upon the people of the country. Need there be such a thing as peacetime conscription?

We, in America, are fighting against the system of Fascism which we believe threatens the very life of any country which follows the Democratic way of life. How many of us realize that Fascism, yes, that very Fascism we hate and despise, was built upon a militaristic system. You say it cannot happen here? Ah, but it can. No matter how good the intentions of the people may be, we would be training men in the spartan way of life, and there is no need to point to the repercussions that this type of training has caused in Europe.

If we build up a peacetime army by peacetime conscription, we are admitting defeat. Yes, we would be admitting defeat, because we would be conceding the fact that we had lost the peace. We would admit that we did not trust the peace we had prayed for, and suffered for, for such a long time.

If we build up a great peacetime army and navy, as is the intention of the men who are proposing this bill, what is there to prevent other nations following suit? We can't deny them the privilege that we seek, for we believe in international equality, when and if this is possible. Of course, some will say that our allies have a right to build and maintain large military forces, for they are helping us to defeat our enemies. However, may we have the liberty to ask, since we have freedom of speech . . . "How long will these nations remain our allies? Is it possible that political relations will remain static for the estimated century that it will take to rebuild Germany, politically, economically, and morally?" This is improbable. Large peacetime armies will only throw a shroud of suspicion over the nation which adopts them, and will create friction among the various nations for military superiority.

Who are these people who want peacetime conscription? Certainly not the mothers who, during this war, have experienced untold hours of misery and suffering, worrying over the safety and comfort of their flesh and blood. It is not hard to see that those who propose such a plan have no intimate contact with the situation and its immediate consequences.

If this measure of peacetime conscription is passed, we will be sacrificing all our ideals, the valuable time of our ambitious youth, and the psychological stability of the entire nation. We need no large army and navy in which to train our youth for war. The American College is the greatest institution for training American youth that we have. It has proven to be so throughout the years. It seems we have done pretty well drafting men for service during two major conflicts, we need not continue this practice in peace time. We must give American youth a chance to build their lives in order that they may mold a nation of peace, and certainly we cannot realize this goal if we allow peacetime conscription.

THOUGHT OF THE WEEK

It seems to be the prevalent idea among the majority of Villanova servicemen, that the use of profanity denotes the thought, "Here stands a man, and if you don't believe it—just listen." Whereupon a string of lurid oaths streams faurth. A poor specimen of manhood indeed is the serviceman who must use profanity to express himself forcefully.

We all hope to be officers and gentlemen in the near future, but it takes more than that of Act of Congress to make you a gentleman. A true gentleman commands the respect and admiration of his fellow-man by his actions, speech, and manner. As a potential future officer do you expect to obtain the respect of your subordinates by swearing at them, with them, or in their presence. You're all in this program because of your ability and its not your ability to use words that aren't in the dictionary.

What do you say ,men, let's make a beginning to deserve that admiration and respect by knocking off the profanity. You know how it sounds. You can be a gentleman, and a serviceman, without turning the air blue with rotten languge.

After years of careful rsearch, your columnists submit the following chemical analysis of man's Nemesis—The Female.

Element: Woman.
Accepted Atomic Weight: 125.

OCCURENCE: It is found whatever man exists. It is seldom in a free state. With the exceptions the combined form is preferred.

Physical Properties: All sizes, colors, and forms. Usually in distinguished conditions. Boils at nothing and may freeze at any minute. However, melts when properly treated. Very bitter when not used.

Chemical Properties: Very active. Possesses a great affinity for gold, platinum, silver, and all precious stones. Gives a violent reaction when left alone. Has the ability to absorb great quantities of expensive food. Sometimes yields to pressure. Turns green when placed along side a better specimen. Ages rapidly.

Uses: High ornamental. Has wide application in the arts of the domestic sciences. Useful in times of sickness, low spirits, etc. Greatly eequalizes the distribution, of wealth. Is probably the most powerful (income) reducing agent that is known.

CAUTION: Highly explosive when placed in inexperienced hands.

Former Student Compiles Impressive Record Tutoring for Alma Mater

A better than good record against the best of competition over a period of eight years is the boast of Al Severance, Villanova's varsity basketball coach. An old Villanova boy himself, Al, in his undergraduate days from 1925-29 played varsity basketball as a 140-pound stripling, under Mike Saxe and Rube Cashman when the game rules allowed a more rugged type of play than characterizes the present day style.

Aggressiveness was his chief asset as a player and it payed off in those times when playing space cramped any kind of a running game.

An alert aggressiveness is still the basketball ideal which Severance tries to inculcate. Most of the gray hairs in his head today result from the nervous shock of seeing some of his players fail to react during a game to set situations faithfully and also strenuously gone over in practice session.

Pick And Cut System

The pick and cut system—the famous Eastern style—taught by him, demands speed and more speed, but a mental speed rather than a muscular one, a quickness of perception that makes it fatal for an opponent to allow himself to be trapped, rather than a wearing leg speed which merely tries to outrun the opposition.

From 1938 to 1943 his teams won 80 and lost 20, his best years being '38-'39 when Villanova won 19 and lost 4; and 1942-43 when they won 19 and lost 2. One of Al's worst seasons came in 1941-42 when he won only 12 and lost 9. Last year's record when manpower first became a crucial problem in collegiate ranks, was nightmarishly weak; 9 won and 11 lost.

AL SEVERANCE

Manpower Problem

What this season will bring to Villanova's now very gray haired coach, only time will tell. The manpower problem remains no better (to say the least) than it was last year. There are no veterans returning, graduation and service transfers having completely devastated the ranks.

Severance called an early Fall practice session this year and gave unstintingly of all scant leisure time so that he might develop a very willing group of inexperienced candidates for the '44 season. A change in Navy orders transferred all but two of this eager squad and left Al with the problem of starting all over again, with a new

Dan Redmond, Austin forward, swishes the cords for the first score of the Intramural League this year while Fedigan's Jake Halverson watches from behind.

Mendel Takes Two Straight To Lead Intramural Loop

O'Neil Stars As Engineers Defeat Fedigan and Alumni; Austin Sailors and Fedigan Tie for Second Place

By JIM DAY

Taking two games in the course of two nights Mendel Hall's sailors slipped into first place in the Intramural Basketball League. In their first appearance they downed the Alumni Civilians by the slim margin of 35-31. The following night they defeated the Fedigan sailors 28-22 in a thriller.

Fedigan previously had nosed out Austin Hall in what turned out to be the closest contest of the week. Fedigan turned in 21 points in the last half to forge a 40-39 triumph. The keen shooting of Halverson and Gallagher, who scored 24 points between them, proved the margin of victory.

O'Neil Scores Ten

The finale of the twin bill proved another exciting game with Mendel finally emerging the victor. Bud O'Neil, rangy center, racked up 10 points for the boys from Mendel. Teammates Charlie Lamp and Al Shoemaker had 8 and 6 points respectively.

The next evening found the residents of Austin Hall hooked up in a virtual civil war as the Navy bombarded the Marines with basketballs to sink them with a 41-21 advantage. At no time was the contest in doubt for the sailors, who jumped to a early lead, and had a 12 point margin at the half.

Scanlin Paces Marines

Sonner and Simth led the Sailors 12 and 10 points each. Ed Scanlin lead the boys in green with four points for high scoring honors for the losers.

The final game of the week gave a second victory and a league lead to Mendel Hall. Again with O'Neil contributing 8 points, Mendel held a three point edge at half and went on to a 28-22 conquest. Connors, a fast forward, threw in seven points for the Engineers to help the cause of victory. The Fedigan Pre-Meds were greatly aided by Hinkamp's six points which went for naught.

Day Hops Lose

A practice game Wednesday evening gave onlookers a preview of the Day Hop team which will enter the league next half. They were unfortunate in meeting a strong Alumni team who defeated them

Phi Kap Bowling League Results In Two-Way Tie

By BILL FARRELL, A. S.
Guest Writer

The Phi Kappa Pi Bowling league got under way a week ago last Saturday at the Main Line Bowling Center in Rosemont. The league this year consists of eight teams. Starting from scratch, the two most powerful teams in the league seemed to be the Alley Cats and the Holy Rollers.

These two teams took four games each from the Wash Bowlers and Flakers, respectively. Don Reinhardt of the Alley Cats burned up the boards with a sizzling 220 opener. Thereafter he bowled games of 151 and 161 to end up with a 177 high average for the day. Al Sondheimer was the mainstay in the Holy Rollers victory over the Flakers. Al rolled a 201 game and ended the day in second place with 172 average.

The other games in the league resulted in a 2-2 split between Bucky's Boys and the 300 Club whereas the Sack Hounds managed to overpower the Lost Cause outfit for a 3-1 win. The Holy Rollers appear to be the team to beat this year, placing four of their men in the first five high averages.

Last week's games will be played this coming Saturday, if possible.

Standings:

Team	W	L
Alley Cats	4	0
Holy Rollers	4	0
Sack Hounds	3	1
Bucky'e Boys	2	2
300 Club	2	2

Severancemen Face Four Opponents In Six Days

Swarthmore To Play Here Wednesday; Marines On Friday; Team Will Journey To F. & M. And Rider

By JOE SULOCK, A.S.

In keeping with these fast-stepping times, the Villanova basketball team will play four games within the space of six days. The Wildcat's first opponent during these hectic days will be the Little Quakers from Swarthmore, the game being scheduled for Wednesday night, December 6, in the Field House.

This will be the fourth time that the Main Liners and the Quakers have met. Villanova emerged the victor in the three prevous meetings. Swarthmore has two returning lettermen from last year's squad. They are Ray Winch, center from Rutgers and Jake Earley, a guard who played with Lehigh before transferring to Swarthmore.

Scholastic Stars

Teaming off with Earley in the backcourt will be Dick Unger, product of Phoenixville High while Dave Birch, from Roosevelt High in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Cloyde Fausnaugh will man the forward positions.

The next foe on the Wildcat schedule is the Philadelphia Navy Yard Marines, already three time victors this season, who will also be met on the 'Cats home court, Friday night December 8. Led by two sharpshooting forwards, Bob Wood and Moon Mullins, the Marines have successfully topped Fort Mufflin, Brookline, and R. C. A., all by top-heavy scores.

Powerful Five

Center Stanny and guards Polinsky and Parkinson complete a powerful five that will give the Villanova courtmen plenty of trouble. In last year's game with the Leathernecks, the Wildcats prevailed by a 43-32 margin.

On the following night the Main Liners will engage the Franklin & Marshall basketeers at Lancaster. Relations were resumed with the Diplomats last year for the first time since 1930. F. and M. with Beach and Hood at forwards, Middleman at center, and guards Lang and Doyle, has a team comprised of mainly untried V-12 trainees.

Lose to Indiantown

In their only game of the current campaign, the Diplomats fell easy pray to a fast-stepping Indiantown Gap quint 55-35. The two games played with the Lancaster cagemen last season ended in two victories for the Blue and White by scores of 48-29 and 41-36.

Rider College will furnish the Wildcats plenty of opposition in their sortie on Monday night, December 11, at Trenton. The Roughrider's have a formidable quint led by Captain Don Pugliese, Rider's high scorer during last year's campaign. Pugliese will be at forward with Paul Roedel, who was All-State mention at Millville High School last season.

Former Coast Guardsmen

Filling the center position for the Trenton boys will be Tom Patterson, former Coast Guardsman who received the Purple Heart citation. Teaming off at guard will be Al Rossi, eighteen year old all-around athlete from Trenton High School, and Kenny Kunsch, a dependable man who has been a varsity letterman for three years.

Coach Frank Donlon will be gunning for his first victory over the Wildcats after losing all of the five between the two schools. In last years contest the Severancemen won out by a 48-41 score.

Captain Joe Walters Plays Brilliant Game, Netting 19 Points; Carter Follows With 11

The Villanova College Wildcats got off to a brilliant start for the 1944-45 basketball season, by defeating Loyola University by a score of 49-28. Notable throughout the entire game for his brilliant playing was Captain Joe Walters, former St. Joseph's High School basketball star, who started his cage career as a member of the famous "Mighty Mites" of St. Joe's Prep. All in all, Joe netted 19 points for the Villanova five.

Cammarata Outstanding

The Hounds of Loyola started the game with a record of one loss to the United States Coast Guard Academy to the tune of 48 to 40. Captained by Roche of Loyola, the Hounds gave the Wildcats plenty of competition throughout the entire struggle.

Outstanding among the Loyola five, was Cammarata, who played brilliant ball both defensively and offensively. Cammarata was also high scorer for the Greyhounds, netting three field goals and seven fouls for a total of 13 points.

Runners-up for scoring honors on the Loyola quintet were Sybert and Bardelman. Sybert netted two field goals and Bardelman one field goal and two fouls for a total of four points each.

Evenly Matched

The quintet were evenly matched, despite the fact that the score pointed to an inequality which did not really exist. Both teams were composed of inexperienced men, with the exception of Joe Walters, whose experience was definitely showing.

Dave Ward, former Sports Editor of the Villanovan, showed plenty of deception and good defensive ball playing throughout the entire contest. Joe Dwyer, Mendel Hall's pride and joy, gave the Hounds quite a run for their money, playing a hard and fast game all the way.

Carter Shines

Lee Carter was second highest scorer for the 'Cats, netting a total of 11 points, through the grace of five field goals and one foul. Lee ran the Hounds dizzy throughout the entire game, as is evident from his record. Schanberger netted four points by reason of two field goals, with Joe Dwyer topping Schanberger's record with six points received by virtue of three field goals.

Walters Scores First

Captain Joe Walters started things popping in the first three minutes of the game by sinking a field goal on a set shot, thus sparkplugging the Villanova offensiv for the night. Roberts was the first to score for the Hounds, by virtue of a foul shot.

Joe Walters then started the slashing of the opposition's defense by beautifully manipulating the ball within short range of the basket, and swishing the net for two points. Things hummed from then on, and it was plain to see that the 'Cats had the game well in hand all the way.

NOTICE

Season tickets to all home basketball games are available to all trainees. They may be obtained at the Business Office, Mendel Hall at a cost of $2.00 including tax.

By TOM HANRATTY and DICK RANDOLPH

Vitamin Flintheart has lost his intended wife, the freshmen have received the results of their first physics test, and we make our appearance as the one faint ray of sunshine left upon the campus. Despite this veil of gloom, the spirit of Christmas (C2 H5 OH) continues to burn bright. Already much of this spirit has been poured into us—in the form of cards and gifts, of course. Among these presents are many fine neckties made of the strongest rope that can be obtained. However, due to the fact that we have no use for them, we exchanged them for a Shirley Temple doll and three worn out asymtotes.

In order to get our readers in a receptive mood, we will repeat the following conversation between a slightly inebriated gentleman and a portly lady. The lady: "If you were a gentleman, you wouldn't appear in public in that condition.

The gentleman: "If you were a lady, you wouldn't talk to strange men."

The lady: "If you were my husband, I'd give you poison."

The gentleman: "If you were my wife, I'd take poison."

I don't know why we tell tales like that when there is so much dirt around the school to be cleaned up. Speaking of dirt, John Coyne, king of the mudpies—a civil engineer to you—claims that his labors around the school are not merely confined to playing in the mud in the highway construction lab. John also claims to be a master of technique of welding and has already applied his abilities in this field to the rehabilitation of one of the photography department's tripods. Results: The price of one new tripod charged to the department's expense account. Maybe, you had better stick to your mudpies, John. The other day Dave Ryan learned that not all the cavaliers are to be found in English history. The basis for this conviction was a lecture on the goodness and graciousness of Pat Colletta's noble heart given to Dave by the mother of one of Pat's many girl friends. From our view of the situation, it looks as if Pat is making a bigger hit with the mother than he is with the daughter. Joe Borsellino, your friend and my friend, recently transacted a lend-lease deal with Chief Stukas. It seems that Joe kindly consented to lend the chief his bicycle so that he could ride around the track while one of his navy P.T. class trailed along beside him. When the fellows recover from this bit of exercise we would suggest that Joe finds a nice comfortable gopher hole. Our gain will soon be the armed forces' loss; for Hank Franzoni has joined the navy and Joe Heck is expecting to hear from his local any day now. Don't worry about Marie being lonesome after you leave, Joe. We'll take care of her for you. By "we" is meant Dick Dalrymple, Hugh Fallon, also "Horse" and "Pixie". We're sure that Hugh Fallon's "firehouse" haircut would make a big hit with Marie. If the 69th St. Terminal happens to be your whereabouts around five-thirty, you will see Harry Wilkins eagerly awaiting the arrival of the object of his affections, the one and only Beverly. When she does come, the glow that appears on his face is a sight to behold. The other day we learned that "Reds" Willis, a former "Cat," has been put under the yoke. People usually say that a man who works like a horse usually draws a girl with a beautiful carriage. From the looks of things, it appears as if "Reds" was a hard worker. News comes to us that Convery is now making use of the many things that he learned in his short stay at Villanova. John has been sleeping his way through every class in the I. R. T. C. in one of the Southern states. A six man invasion of Rosemont College was recently led by "Washout" Waschler and Roland Myers. The results of this trip was an acquaintance with the Mother Superior of the school. When asked if they would like to have the girls come down to Villanova, they say "no." Why not let the school speak for itself, fellows? Whether the studies are going too hard on some of the fellows, we don't know. However, what we do know is that some of our more distinguished first semester men, are going around the school putting out fires that don't exist. Why Bill Peace, "Babs" Reilly and two other colleagues have even been taken away from the traditional pastime of poker in order that they might discuss the more intellectual side of life over a cup of tea and a game of bridge. We know just what our readers are thinking of by now: "If you give a person an inch he'll take a whole column." So, we'll close this week's expose by saying that the local girls are finally seeing things our way. They think the column is good, too.

Mr. Hoffman's lecture is one in a series. "The American Series," which began in October and is going to end in January.

These forums are presented to offer the students of the schools in the neighborhood of Haverford College an opportunity to study the problems of peace. A committee of sponsors composed of prominent citizens or groups of friends in the neighborhood is assisting in the planning with helpful advice. The idea behind these forums is that our contribution to the future depends upon our ability to solve the problems of our domestic economy, notably those of maximum employment, and the maintenance of a decent standard of living for all regardless of color, race, or creed. Youth must carry this plan thru after they leave their parents and teachers. Such a program can only be conducted by a tolerant and opened minded person with a liberal spirit of good will. These meetings give youth a chance to see such major problems thru the eyes of leaders actually responsible for dealing with them.

Time has become the biggest factor in producing the answer to this season's schedule, time to acquire the fundamentals of this very exacting game and the coordination necessary for victory. Time is what players and coach have least of, for the boys are busy with the accelerated V-12 schedule of classes and labs, and the coach is heavily engaged in front line war work on the night shift at Baldwin's, and in conducting regular college classes in physical education.

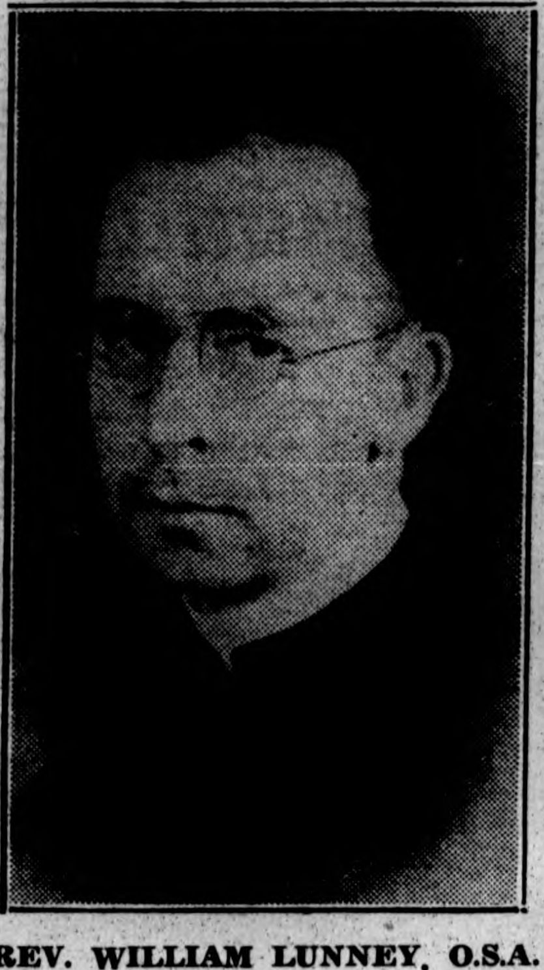
German Students Attend Chest. Hill Christmas Frolic

On Monday night, December 4, the members of the German classes of Villanova were entertained at a dance and play given by the German Club of Chestnut Hill College.

The play given by the girls was centered about the Nativity. The songs used in the performance are written in the Medieval German language and have never been translated into English.



REV. WILLIAM LUNNEY, O.S.A.

Following the play, mimeographed sheets of modern German Christmas carols were distributed to the audience, and all entered more deeply into the true Christmas spirit with the singing of "Stille Nacht, Heilige Nacht," "Ihr Kinderlein, Kommet," and the like.

After the carolling, a dance was held which enabled the students of the two colleges to become acquainted. Refreshments were also served.

The Rev. William E. Lunney, O.S.A., Professor of German at Villanova, has announced that a similar affair will be held on this campus sometime in the near future for the Chestnut Hill College girls. It will, in all probability, be a combined affair held by all German students here who have completed one semester of work.

Dr. Drenick Talks On Atom Smashing To Members of AIEE

A meeting of the A.I.E.E. was held on Friday, December 8, at 6:30 in room 215 Mendel Hall. There was a short discussion of A.I.E.E. business, and plans for the forthcoming trip to New York to attend the National Convention, some time in January, were discussed.

At the Friday night meeting, Doctor Rudolf Drenick, a former member of the faculty at Villanova College, who is now awaiting call into the armed forces, delivered an address on the subject of "Atom Smashing." He outlined the construction of the "cyclotron," the machine used for atom-smashing purposes. Dr. Drenick also described the troubles encountered during the process.

On Monday night, December 11, the student engineers attended a meeting at the Engineers Club of Philadelphia, where an address was given on the subject, "Broader Aspects of Training for Engineering." The address was delivered by M. J. Kane, Assistant Director of the War Manpower Commission, Washington, D. C.

Pfc. Harry Bell, ex '43, Killed in Action on Holland Front

Pfc. Harry Bell was killed in action somewhere in Holland on November twentieth, according to word received by the Alumni Office. Following his graduation from Northeast Catholic High School in June, 1942, he entered Villanova as a chemical student the following September. He was inducted into the Army in July, 1943, and placed in the A.S.T.P. training unit at Fort Benning, Georgia, and was later assigned to Lafayette College at Easton, Pennsylvania.

Arrives in Holland

Upon the discontinuance of the A.S.T.P., he was sent to Fort Claibourne, La., as a member of the infantry. In September of the present year, he arrived in England and a short while later his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bell, of 257 W. Chelten Ave., received word that he was somewhere in Holland, and it is believed that his death occurred in that area.

A Requiem Mass was celebrated in the College Chapel for the happy repose of his soul on Thursday morning, December the seventh.

Dr. Kite Honorary Degree Recipient

First Woman to Receive Honor From College Celebrates Eightieth Birthday

Dr. Elizabeth S. Kite, who from 1932 to 1940 was a lecturer at Villanova Summer School, celebrated her eightieth birthday last week. Miss Kite was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Literature by Villanova College. She is the first woman to be so honored by the college.

Doctor Kite, a member of an old Quaker refugee family which settled in the United States in 1760, was educated in Philadelphia. She has traveled extensively and studied at the University of Gottingen, Germany, the University of London, and the Sorbonne, in Paris, where she received her teacher's certificate.

Visits India

While on a tour of the world, Dr. Kite visited India and had three interviews with Mohandis Ghandi. During this tour she visited Rome where she was permitted an audience with Popes Benedict XV and Pius XI.

The whole of Miss Kite's life has been devoted to research, writing and lecturing on Franco-American relations during the American Revolutionary era. At the present time she is engaged in completing the biography of Silas Deane whom she refers to as the "Scapegoat of the Revolution." For more than twenty years since her return to the United States, Doctor Kite has been engaged in research work at the Congressional Library at Washington, D. C. In recognition of her research, the French Government conferred upon her the title of "Chevalier of the Legion of Honor," in 1933.

Doctor Kite is a charter member of the Institute Francaise of Washington, D. C., an organization which has published three of her books. She was awarded by the French a medal for aid to the French Red Cross during World War I. She was formerly the archivist of the American Catholic Historical Society of Philadelphia.

Enters Catholic Church

Miss Kite was received into the Catholic Church of St. Mary's of Angels in London in 1906. It was while attending the lectures on history by the famous Jewish scholar, Dr. Emil Rich, that she became interested in Catholicism.

Miss Kite is the aunt of Lieutenant Peter L. Kite, ex '45, U.S.M.C.R., who is stationed with a fighter-bomber squadron in Texas. Peter entered the Engineering school at Villanova in 1941 where he remained until he enlisted.

ASCE Nominates New Executives

Association Returns to Campus Activities After a Short Period of Inactivity

One Wednesday, December 6, the American Society of Civil Engineers of Villanova College assembled for the first time since last season to elect officers and to discuss future plans. Since the final meeting last year, there has been relatively little activity on the part of the organization, due to a small enrollment in the Civil Engineering school.

Professor Oakey officiated at the gathering and commenced the activities of the short reunion by giving a brief discourse concerning the advantages of the society and also commented on the purpose of the organization. Following the talk by Professor Oakey, a nomination of future officers was begun by the members present at the meeting.

Officers Nominated

Only one officer remained from last year's members who held an executive post, namely former Vice President Thomas Baxter, A.S. All the remaining officers have either left the school or entered the armed forces. The offices op to nomination were president, vice president, and secretary-treasurer. The members nominated for these offices were, William E. Farrell, A.S., George Seibert, A.S., and Pvt. Lester Peterson, U.S.M.C.R., for the presidency. Francis McEntee, A.S., Joseph Morgan, A.S., and Berny Dillon, A.S., were nominated for vice president, and Richard Madigan, A.S., Pvt. Burton Cox, U.S. M.C.R., and John Coyne for secretary-treasurer.

Future Plans

During the ensuing weeks the names of the future officers will be made known. A formal election will not be held. Members will simply cast their ballots and from this source the officers will be chosen.

In the near future Professor Oakey will present to the members moving pictures concerning engineering, dealing with such topics as Highway Construction and Sewage Disposal syestems.

Student Council Outlines Plans For Semester

John Fitzgibbons, President, Calls First Meeting of Reorganized Body

The first meeting of the current semester of the Student Council, was held in room 214, Monday, December 11, at 1:00 P. M. President John Fitzgibbons, who presided at the meeting, raised the issue of the manner in which the Student Council might acquire funds to donate to the Scholarship fund. In former years money was donated to the Scholarship fund by each graduating class.

At the meeting officers were nominated for this semester. John Fitzgibbons succeeded Frank O'Connor as President. William Barrett and Tom Welch, A.S., fought a close contest, in which Barrett, College Editor of Belle Air, emerged victor for the office of Vice-President. Frank Ronan and Joseph Gerngross, A.S., were nominated for the position of Secretarly-Treasurer. Ronan was elected.

The next meeting of the Student Council will be held next Monday afternoon at 12:55 in room 214. Plans will then be discussed to arrange for the revival of the Belle Masque, if conditions permit.

Present at the meeting were Frank Facciolo, former Circulation Manager of the Villanovan; Harry Edwards, Photography Editor of the Belle Air; Frank O'Connor, A.S., President of the Phi Kappa Pi, and past president of the Council; Thomas Welch, A.S., former Editor-in-Chief of the Villanovan and John Millet, A.S., former Photography Editor of the Villanovan; J. M. McLaughlin, and Paul Ciamaichela, Editor-in-Chief of the Villanovan.

"Fightinest" Marines Saw Action In Pacific Theater

By C. P. LAFERTY

This is the start of a series of a series of articles on the past experiences of individual members of the Marine V-12 Unit stationed at Villanova. The first one to step into the limelight is Private Daniel Arnold, U.S.M.C., who last Saturday received the Purple Heart Award for wounds received while in action on Guam. Pvt. Arnold is from Reedsville, Pennsylvania where he attended the township high school.

He enlisted in the Marines in February of 1943 and was sent for basic training to Parris Island. Following further training at New River, North Carolina he was stationed successively at Oahu, and other islands in the Hawiian group, Ellice Island, Solomon Islands, Marshall Islands, Marianias and several others. Dan returned to the States to Treasure Island, California, from where he was forwarded to Villanova. Quite a trip in less than two year time.

Next comes Private Robert Austin, U.S.M.C., former Staff Sergeant, who comes from Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania. He graduated from Meyers High school in Wilkes-Barre and enlisted in the Marines in December of 1942. His two year itineration started at Parris Island; special classification duty followed and then to New River. Before going overseas brief stations were held at Camp Elliot and Camp Pendelton, California. There followed Hawaii, Saipan, Tinian, and the return to Treasure Island. After a short stay at New River he was sent to Villanova.

Our third candidate is Leonard Autrey, Private, U.S.M.C. Enlisting in March, 1942 his almost three years of service have been divided as follows: San Diego, California; Pearl Harbor, Midway Island, Camp Lejeune, Franklin and Marshall in Lancaster, Pa., and Villanova. Len, a native of Pine Bluff, Arkansas, went to Troy High School in Stevens, Arkansas. Before entering the service he attended the Draughons Business College in Little Rock. He attained the rank of an acting First Sergeant while at Pearl Harbor.

Educators Hold Informal Dinner

Problems on Catholic Education Discussed at Meeting

Word has been received from the office of the President that a special dinner meeting of the Catholic Educators of Philadelphia was held last Thursday, December 7th. The gathering was an informal affair held in the President's office.

During the meeting's progress various problems pertaining to Catholic education in Pennsylvania were reviewed. Much discussion centered around a more active participation on the part of Catholic colleges in the Catholic Educators Association of Pennsylvania.

Villanova faculty members present were: Very Reverend Francis X. N. McGuire, President, Edward B. McKee, O.S.A., Vice-president; Reverend Edward Dwyer, O.S.A., Dean; Reverend Joseph Boyle, O.S.A., Registrar.

The list of distinguished guests included: Very Reverend Joseph A. Hickey, O.S.A., J.C.D., Assistant-General of the Augustinians; Right Reverend Monsignor Carrol J. McCormick, Chancellor of the Archdiocese of Philadelphia; Very Reverend Joseph M. Dougherty, O.S.A., Prior of the Villanova Monastery; Right Reverend Monsignor Vincent Burns, Rector of the Saint Charles Theological Seminary; Very Reverend John J. Long, S.J., President of Saint Joseph College; Reverend Francis J. Furey, President of Immaculate College and Brother Denis Edward, F.S. C., Inspector of the Christian Brother Schools.

Employment Topic Of Forum Discussion

"Maximum Employment in a Free Economy," was the topic under discussion at the Main Line Forum held December 6 at Haverford College. The main speaker of the occasion was Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker Corporation, and the chairman of the Committee for Economic Development.

The speaker refused to approximate the number of jobs necessary to provide maximum employment in peace time. Saying that each statistician had his own number.

In spite of the fact that the government might provide some six million jobs the brunt of the load would be placed in the hands of private enterprise. During the war there is naturally a very small employment problem in order to prevent the recurrance of a depression. However, steps would have to be taken when things returned to normal.

The W.P.A. was considered as a good plan since it prevented unemployment, but Mr. Hoffman suggested that in such a plan new jobs should not be created but business should expand and take in more workers. One of the plans that was considered highly was that business should expand and thus create more employment and prevent waste which was so prevelent in the W.P.A.

The lecture was followed by an informal discussion where representatives from all participating schools had a chance to ask questions pertaining to the topic and get answers from a man who is responsible for the formulation of policies of employment.

The next forum is going to be held this Thursday night, December 14th. The featured speaker on this occasion will be Hon. Burton K. Wheeler, United States Senator from Montana. The title of his lecture is "Our Liberal Heritage." Anyone interested in attending these forums can obtain tickets from Father Grimes.

CORRECTION

We would like to call to the attention of our readers an error in last week's Villanovan. The picture of George Balmore was not printed, due to an error. Instead the picture of a former student by name of Alsina was entered. The Villanovan staff sincerely regrets and apologizes for this error.

Yuletide Thoughts

THE advent of the Yuletide season brings with it another year of war. Although, today the situation has become much better than it was last year, the fog of heartache hangs heavy over the American home. This year, as never before we are closer to victory in the battle for liberty, but how much closer are we to victory in the battle for a just peace?

When we examine the daily reports from the battlefronts we pay silent tribute to the men who have died in order to make the mile advance, or the one yard advance, against the enemy. These men will never enjoy another Christmas on earth, but in their hearts when they died was a prayer that their families and future generations of Americans might live to see hundreds of Yuletide seasons come and go without the threat of war hanging like Democles' sword over their heads.

However, when we examine the news which reaches us from the political front, the tendency of every loyal American is to become disheartened and dissatisfied at the manner in which progress toward peace is being made. This tendency is justified in every respect. When we read of the English nation forming a bloc of Western powers, and of the Russians preparing to do the same in the East, we leap with fright at the giant spectre of power politics looming again in the minds of political leaders. It seems as if all efforts toward peace are being annulled in order that nations may again extend spheres of influence throughout the world. We have seen only too well, the catastrophe of two wars brought about by playing with such dangerous policies. The memory is still fresh in our minds of the destruction which two conflicts have wrought upon humanity.

We have seen the much heralded Atlantic Charter repudiated before our very eyes with the British interference in Greek national policies. The Atlantic Charter guaranteed to all nations the right to choose their own governments without intervention from foreign powers, whether conquering or conquered, and yet we can immediately see its rejection in present day affairs. If we cannot even possibly hope that the Atlantic Charter, symbol of American democratic policy, can be upheld in our own lifetime, how can we hope that a just peace will ever be formulated?

There is no doubt that we must pursue some policy of international cooperation, in order that we may more sensibly regard actions of various nations. The aim of every service men is to see that his country and his loved ones may live under a just peace in the future. This man who has done so much for his country, and has received so little praise, harbors in his heart the silent hope that all he has fought for has not been in vain. He has made us victorious in war by his gallant actions. We must make positive that he will be victorious in peace, so that he may look forward to a more joyous and fuller life than his predecessors. Christ came to earth twenty centuries ago with the message "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men," let us hope this year that Christ's message will make an impression upon political statesmen throughout the world, so that the world He created will again be at peace.

By TOM HANRATTY and DICK RANDOLPH

This week has seen womanhood face one of its most trying tests. This situation was brought about by Villanova's answer to a party invitation from the girls of Chestnut Hill College. In reply to this bit of hospitality were sent several members of the German classes—all of whom are left-overs from the age of "shieks and flappers". However, once the girls recovered from th shock, they went on with the affair despite the condition of the equipment. Among the more prominent reasons for this disappointment were Vince Pica, Don Longo and Si Stock.

One of the more successful of our German scholars was Villanova's stumpy romeo Frank Costa. Frank's magnetic personality caused him to be prounced on by a rather persistent little miss as soon as he made his appearance. This very romantic beginning culminated in a quiet evening chat on the reducing courses each has had . . . Frank was not the only one to spend a busy evening. John Burns went to the affair with the full intention of improving his dancing: only to receive an extensive course on the womanly art of wrestling.

Last week Villanova was honored by a visit from Dom DeSanto a former student. Dom has just finished the battle of boot camp and is now a full fledged marine with a chest full of sharpshooter metals. (He was the only man in camp who could hit the cuspidor ten out of every ten tries). . . . Tom Mantini, the gentleman who wears his great grandfather's collars, is playing Santa Claus to some lucky girl. The bracelet that he is giving her represents the greater part of his lunch money during the past two months. . . . Christmas seems to have affected Charley Hanlon in another way. Not long ago Charley broke off all relations with the fairer sex (namely Kitty) in order that he might spend more time on his studies and less time in buying Christmas presents . . . News comes to us that John Bauman and Al Capuzzi are being picked up every day on their way home from school. John has told us to inform these girls to leave him alone since he can be picked up by better girls in City Hall court yard.

In order to get to the more erious side of life we shall relate the following episode from our own master scout Albert Derr: This drama may be traced back to a cool Summer night of this year when the moon was shining forth with all her glory. Al was sitting on a river bank enjoying all the beauties of nautre. However he was not alone. He was accomplished by a female. Hours passed and neither said a word. Then as Al turned around to give his friend an admiring glance, she kissed him with all the affection o fa movie star. Yes, Al's huge collie dog actually pounced upon him and smeared her tongue all over his face.

This is a very appropriate time for the following poem:

The davenport held the twain
Fair damsel and her ardent swain,
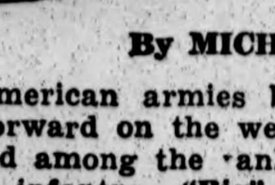
He and she
But then a step upon the stair,
And afther finds them sitting
there
He and she.

Flashes here and there around the campus shows us . . . that Frank Hudson's girl friend has sent a friend down to Philadelphia to keep an eye on Frank . . . That "Moon" Mullin and his mobsters prevetned the Sandman from doing business in Alumni Hall after the last game between the day-hops and residents . . . That Bob Brennan seems to be quite popular with a number of girls from South Jersey . . . That Tex Garritano is thinking of buying himself a new hat . . . That Larry Fallon and Jim McCarry put on the disappearing whenever any of the local girls come within a block distance.

At the present moment many of our readers are waiting outside to escort us to the nearest night club. (For your information a night club is merely a fancy name for a rolling pin). Thus, being in no rush to finish the column, we will say a few words o nwhat each of us might include in our New Year resolutions.

A kiss is a peculiar proposition: Of no use to one, yet absolute bliss to two. The small boy gets it for nothing, the young man has to lie for it, and the old man has to buy it . . . The baby's right, the lover's privilege, and the hypocrites mask . . . To a young girl, faith; to a married woman, hope; and to an old man, charity.

Camp To Campus



By MICHAEL N. FLYNN, A.S.

As the American armies battle their way forward on the western front we find among the ranks of the tough infantry "Big" Bill Lillienthal ex '45. Sgt. Lillienthal has seen action in various sections of France and has been awarded the infantry combat badge for his exploits. Bill's athletic career was cut short in his sophomore year, but not before he had gained one of the varsity tackle positions and had shown promise of becoming an outstanding lineman.

Swinging over to the Pacific, we find that Lt. (S.G.) "Toby" Greco, USNR, '39 has been seeing quite a bit of action in recent engagements. Lt. Greco, who was captain of the 1938 swimming team, is now in the Medical Corps and has participated in the invasion of Guam, Saipan and Palau.

As the basketball season gets under way, we find ourselves wondering what has happened to some of the members of the '43 squad. The Captain of last year's team, Frank Franscella, is now a member of the Baimbridge five. Jack Ramsey has been performing on the Columbia Midshipman team which last week defeated the varsity quintet. Phil Jakeway, the boy from Kalamazoo, former Mendel Company Commander, is also attending Midshipman School at Columbia. Pvt. Joe Barret, ex '45 paid a visit last week. Joe is a machine gunner and is stationed at Fort Meade.

Pvt. George Fleo ex '46 is now undergoing basic training in Texas. Edward McGettigan ex '45 received his commission in the Army Air Corps recently. At Syracuse University, Pvt Jim Ackroyd is taking a specialized training course. Ensign Philip J. Wendel is training for PT duty at Melville, Rhode Island. He was married in October to Miss Eileen Banzkof in Lancaster. Lieutenant Francis J. Haggerty, Jr., was promoted to the rank of First Lieutenant and General's Aide somewhere in France with the Third Army.

In July 1943, Marc came to Villanova, and continued his studies in Mechanical Engineering. He is now a member of the A.S.M.E. Last fall Marc played halfback for Villanova, seeing action in every game.

Thomas Crocker was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., on Oct. 21, 1924, but has lived most of his life in Johnstown, Pa.

Here he attended the Westmont Upper-Yoder High School. He was president of the class in his sophomore year, and president of the school branch of the Hi-Y, a national society for high school students. An active member of the Varsity Club, he devoted much of his time to the school paper and yearbook as photography editor of each.

PVT. THOMAS CROCKER

Honor Student

Upon graduation in June, 1942, he became a member of the National Scholastic Society, a society open to only those students who were in the first tenth of their class.

After graduation he matriculated for three terms at Penn State, where he studied Mining Engineering. His education at Penn State was interrupted by his enlistment in the V-12, but he was sent to Villanova, and began the study of Mechancal Engineering.

Tom is also a member of the A.S.M.E., but after the war he hopes to continue his studies in Mining Engineering, so that he can enter the field of mining operations.

It would hardly be fair to pass over the death of Nick Basca without a few lines of tribute. Nick was, without a doubt, one of Villanova's football greats and will long be remembered by Wildcat fans.

Entering college in 1937 when Jordan Olivar, Johnny Wysocki Andy Stopper, and others were making Villanova football history, Nick played an important role on the Freshman football team that year. His outstanding work on the yearling eleven earned him a position on the varsity.

Although it is a common thing today, for a sophomore to make the varsity, that was not the case then. Coaches were in a position to school their men for two and even three years before sending them out on the field. Therefore it was quite a feat which Nick attained by joining the squad which was, at that time, one of the top teams in the country.

Nick proved worthy of his coach's choice and gained prominence as a passer for the Wildcats during the 1938, '39, and '40 football seasons. His ability caught the eye of professional scouts and he received numerous offers.

Turning in his number "60" jersey which he had made so famous, Basca signed with the Eagles and saw appreciable action as an understudy during the 1941 season. Like many other football careers, Nick's was interrupted when war broke out. Unfortunately, it will never be resumed.

With the basketball schedule under way the attendance at the games has been utterly disappointing. There is a decided lack of interest of the student body in their team. This cannot be attributed to the fact that it is a losing team since they have proven worthy of your support in the showing thus far this season.

The team needs your support in order to continue its winning ways. Lets show them in the future that we are behind them.

Mendel Retains Intramural Lead; Three-Way Tie

Engineers Still Hold Edge Despite 28-24 Lloss to Marines; Champ to be Decided This Week

Without so much as a backward glance, the Marines from Austin Hall threw three intramural teams into a tie for second place by defeating the league-leading Mendel Hall.

The final score of 28-24 makes the game look closer than it actually was for Chuck Boteler's boys held a 15-3 lead at half time over the Mendalians.

The game started with McGuigan tossing in a long shot for two points to start him off on his rampage which netted him 11 ponts for game honors. Habernicht followed up with one of his two twin pointers and the Marines held a 4-0 lead which was never relinquished. These two men had all the points that the Marines scored during the first half while that tight zone defense of the Marines didn't give up one goal during the first stanza.

With the second team taking over for the second half the Mendel team started to show the play that had won two games for them before, as they brought the score closer, but the boys in green were not to be denied as they pulled the game out of the fire with Cardell's fast break and lay-up shot for the clinching points.

Lamb Leads

Bill Lamb again lead the scoring parade with his 7 markers, but Al Shoemaker was the only teammate who gave him any type of offensive support with his 5 points which were scored against the reserves during the second half.

In the final game of the evening the Alumni Hall Civilians dented the win column for its first victory when they beat the Sailors from Fedigan Hall 25-19. In this fast and furious game height played a predominate part as the two tallest men on the floor, Dom Longo and Al Dumsa, lead Alumni's high speed attack with 8 and 7 points respectively.

Again a strong defense held the opposition's scoring to a minimum for the Civvies allowed the Sailors only 7 points while they hit the

Steve Pritko Honored on Pro Team Selections

Steve Pritko, former Wildcat end on the football team, was given Honorable Mention on the All-Pro team. Pritko has been a starting pass receiver for the Cleveland Rams throughout the past football season. Steve became the property of the Rams after playing for the New York Giants during the 1943 season.

While playing with the Giants, Steve had a hot season accounting for a few touchdowns for the New York Pros. His defensive play stood out thereby enabling him to see much action as a reserve end. This year he has risen to even greater success for the Rams, standing out both offensively and defensively.

The stellar end was a varsity performer for the Blue and White for three seasons and climaxed his career in 1942 during his senior year as a key man in the Villanova offensive drives. Standing at 6 foot, two inches and weighing 200 lbs., Pritko teamed off with Billy Sullivan that year in snatching many a Postus-thrown pass.

After graduation, he received offers from a host of pro scouts and signed with the Giants during the 43 season. He was a teammate of his old college friend, Paul Stenn, who was an outstanding tackle for the Giants that year and who is now a Lieutenant in the Marine Corps.

Varsity Five Undefeated In First Four Contests

Victories Over Swarthmore, Marines, And F. & M. Give 'Cats Clean Slate; Walters Outstanding

By JOE SULOCK, A.S.

Paced by their sharpshooting captain, Joe Walters, Villanova College's spirited courtmen scored their second victory of the young season by defeating a plucky Swarthmore College five, 38-32, at the Field House, Wednesday, Dec. 6.

After a hectic first period in which the lead changed hands four times, Walters spliced the cords with a set shot to place the Severancemen at an 8-7 advantage. From then on the Main Liners held the upper hand and subdued the Garnet threats throughout the remainder of the contest.

O'Neill Paced

The Little Quakers, paced by veterans Ray Winch and Jake Early, who tallied 13 and 7 points respectively, were never far behind in the ball game and made a serious bid for the lead late in the third period. The Wildcats, however, rose to the occasion, and paced by tall Bud O'Neill, rang up a 30-22 count at the start of the final game.

Swarthmore, trying desperately to overcome their early game deficit, outscored the Blue and White 10-9 in the fourth quarter, but wound up seven points shy of the Cats.

Walters High

Scoring honors for the game went to Walters, who notched 9 field goals and 3 fouls for a total of 21 points. O'Neill tallied four two-pointers, while Bill Schanberger and Lee Carter had five and four points respectively.

In a hard-fought contest with the Philadelphia Navy Yard Marines, the Wildcats eked out their third consecutive victory on a last minute foul by range Bill Callahan and a field goal by Joe Walters, three points which enabled the Severancemen to carry off a 37-36 triumph at the Field House, Friday night, Dec. 8.

Walters Again

Again Walters was the spearhead of the Main Liners' attack, Joe personally accounting for eighteen points. His deadly shots from the outside kept the Cats in the ball game all the way until finally he tallied another basket to put the

Swarthmore And Bucknell Close Pre-Holiday Card

By DAVID I. RYAN

Villanova's high geared quintet will engage the Bucknell and Swarthmore basketball teams within three days during this coming week. The Bisons are scheduled to be played on Wednesday night in the Field House and the Little Quakers are carded for their own floor on Saturday night.

These games will mark the sixth and seventh games for the Wildcat courtmen this season, and will be the last played before the Christmas holidays. To date, the Main Liners have a record of four victories, as against no defeats.

Home And Home Series

The Bucknell contest will be the first of a home and home series, the second game being scheduled for January 7th, at Lewisburg. Since 1927, the year the series started, Villanova and Bucknell played eleven games, the Main Liners having copped six of these and the Bisons the remaining five.

Two games in the series have been decided by a single point—the 1932 contest, a 28-27 affair was taken by Bucknell, while the Wildcats came off the floor victorious, 43-32, in the first of the home games last season. In the second of last winter's games, Bucknell won by ten points, 49-39.

Second Game

In the Saturday night contest, Swarthmore's Little Quakers will be out of avenge the 39-32, defeat the Wildcat courtmen handed them in their opening game. This coming contest will mark the sec-

Rev. V. A. McQuade to Coach New Indoor Track Squad

Coming into shape and looking well under the careful guidance and coaching of Rev. V. A. McQuade, O.S.A., is this year's Varsity Track team. Returning from last year's squad are five men of which four are runners in the quarter-mile event and the mile relay.

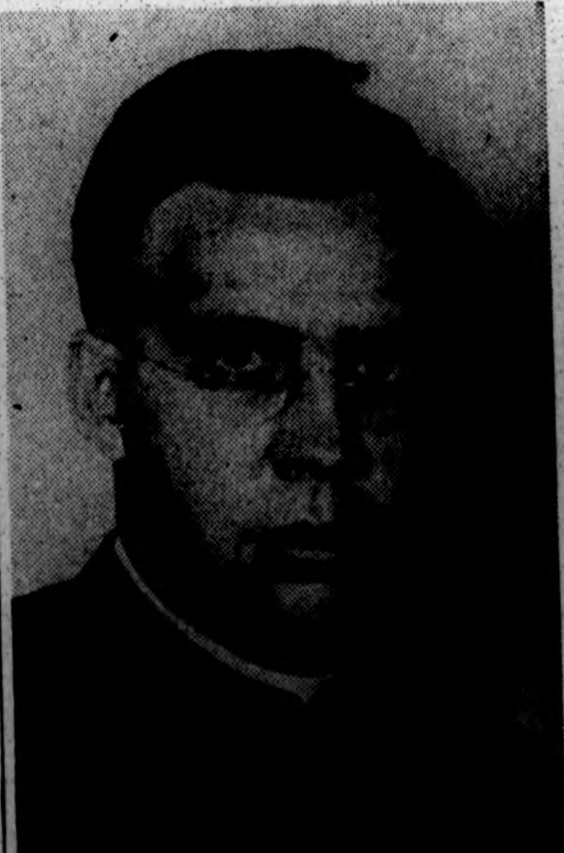
Harrington Veteran

The returning veterans are Chuck Harrington, who is showing up very well in practice after a successful season last year. The others are Jim Morris, who also runs the sixty-yard dash and is the only candidate for this event. The remaining members are Burt Cox and Larry Bradley. Bradley also runs the half-mile.

The only other member of last year's team is Don Schmidt, a very fast miler who boasts a wealth of experience and who has won quite a few events for Villanova in past meets.

New Men

The new men out for the team are Roger Bean, quarter-mile, Tom Short, another quarter-miler, Bill Schmidt, who has had some experience in the sixty-yard dash. Other aspirants include John Cockcroft and Bab McKibbin who are out for the quarter-mile and half-mile respectively.



REV. V. A. McQUADE, O.S.A.

Meets are scheduled for the Melrose Games, Knights of Columbus meet, the Philadelphia meet, and the I. C. A A. meet.

THE advent of the Yuletide season brings with it another year of war. Although, today the situation has become much better than it was last year, the fog of heartache hangs heavy over the American home. This year, as never before we are closer to victory in the battle for liberty, but how much closer are we to victory in the battle for a just peace?

When we examine the daily reports from the battlefronts we pay silent tribute to the men who have died in order to make the mile advance, or the one yard advance, against the enemy. These men will never enjoy another Christmas on earth, but in their hearts when they died was a prayer that their families and future generations of Americans might live to see hundreds of Yuletide seasons come and go without the threat of war hanging like Democles' sword over their heads.

However, when we examine the news which reaches us from the political front, the tendency of every loyal American is to become disheartened and dissatisfied at the manner in which progress toward peace is being made. This tendency is justified in every respect. When we read of the English nation forming a bloc of Western powers, and of the Russians preparing to do the same in the East, we leap with fright at the giant spectre of power politics looming again in the minds of political leaders. It seems as if all efforts toward peace are being annulled in order that nations may again extend spheres of influence throughout the world. We have seen only too well, the catastrophe of two wars brought about by playing with such dangerous policies. The memory is still fresh in our minds of the destruction which two conflicts have wrought upon humanity.

We have seen the much heralded Atlantic Charter repudiated before our very eyes with the British interference in Greek national policies. The Atlantic Charter guaranteed to all nations the right to choose their own governments without intervention from foreign powers, whether conquering or conquered, and yet we can immediately see its rejection in present day affairs. If we cannot even possibly hope that the Atlantic Charter, symbol of American democratic policy, can be upheld in our own lifetime, how can we hope that a just peace will ever be formulated?

There is no doubt that we must pursue some policy of international cooperation, in order that we may more sensibly regard actions of various nations. The aim of every service men is to see that his country and his loved ones may live under a just peace in the future. This man who has done so much for his country, and has received so little praise, harbors in his heart the silent hope that all he has fought for has not been in vain. He has made us victorious in war by his gallant actions. We must make positive that he will be victorious in peace, so that he may look forward to a more joyous and fuller life than his predecessors. Christ came to earth twenty centuries ago with the message "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men," let us hope this year that Christ's message will make an impression upon political statesmen throughout the world, so that the world He created will again be at peace.

By TOM HANRATTY and DICK RANDOLPH

This week has seen womanhood face one of its most trying tests. This situation was brought about by Villanova's answer to a party invitation from the girls of Chestnut Hill College. In reply to this bit of hospitality were sent several members of the German classes—all of whom are left-overs from the age of "shieks and flappers". However, once the girls recovered from th shock, they went on with the affair despite the condition of the equipment. Among the more prominent reasons for this disappointment were Vince Pica, Don Longo and Si Stock.

One of the more successful of our German scholars was Villanova's stumpy romeo Frank Costa. Frank's magnetic personality caused him to be prounced on by a rather persistent little miss as soon as he made his appearance. This very romantic beginning culminated in a quiet evening chat on the reducing courses each has had . . . Frank was not the only one to spend a busy evening. John Burns went to the affair with the full intention of improving his dancing; only to receive an extensive course on the womanly art of wrestling.

Last week Villanova was honored by a visit from Dom DeSanto a former student. Dom has just finished the battle of boot camp and is now a full fledged marine with a chest full of sharpshooter metals. (He was the only man in camp who could hit the cuspidor ten out of every ten tries). . . . Tom Mantini, the gentleman who wears his great grandfather's collars, is playing Santa Claus to some lucky girl. The bracelet that he is giving her represents the greater part of his lunch money during the past two months. . . . Christmas seems to have affected Charley Hanlon in another way. Not long ago Charley broke off all relations with the fairer sex (namely Kitty) in order that he might spend more time on his studies and less time in buying Christmas presents . . . News comes to us that John Bauman and Al Capuzzi are being picked up every day on their way home from school. John has told us to inform these girls to leave him alone since he can be picked up by better girls in City Hall court yard.

In order to get to the more eriout side of life we shall relate the following episode from our own master scout Albert Derr: This drama may be traced back to a cool Summer night of this year when the moon was shining forth with all her glory. Al was sitting on a river bank enjoying all the beauties of nautre. However he was not alone. He was accomplished by a female. Hours passed and neither said a word. Then as Al turned around to give his friend an admiring glance, she kissed him with all the affection o fa movie star. Yes, Al's huge collie dog actually pounced upon him and smeared her tongue all over his face.

This is a very appropriate time for the following poem:

The davenport held the twain
Fair damsel and her ardent
swain,
He and she
But then a step upon the stair,
And afther finds them sitting
there
He and she.

Flashes here and there around the campus shows us . . . that Frank Hudson's girl friend has sent a friend down to Philadelphia to keep an eye on Frank . . . That "Moon" Mullin and his mobsters prevetned the Sandman from doing business in Alumni Hall after the last game between the day-hops and residents . . . That Bob Brennan seems to be quite popular with a number of girls from South Jersey . . . That Tex Garritano is thinking of buying himself a new hat . . . That Larry Fallon and Jim McCarry put on the disappearing whenever any of the local girls come within a block distance.

At the present moment many of our readers are waiting outside to escort us to the nearest night club. (For your information a night club is merely a fancy name for a rolling pin). Thus, being in no rush to finish the column, we will say a few words o nwhat each of us might include in our New Year resolutions.

A kiss is a peculiar proposition: Of no use to one, yet absolute bliss to two. The small boy gets it for nothing, the young man has to lie for it, and the old man has to buy it . . . The baby's right, the lover's privilege, and the hypocrites mask . . . To a young girl, faith; to a married woman, hope; and to an old man, charity.

Camp To Campus

By MICHAEL N. FLYNN, A.S.

As the American armies battle their way forward on the western front we find among the ranks of the tough infantry "Big" Bill Lillienthal ex '45. Sgt. Lillienthal has seen action in various sections of France and has been awarded the infantry combat badge for his exploits. Bill's athletic career was cut short in his sophomore year, but not before he had gained one of the varsity tackle positions and had shown promise of becoming an outstanding lineman.

Swinging over to the Pacific, we find that Lt. (S.G.) "Toby" Greco, USNR, '39 has been seeing quite a bit of action in recent engagements. Lt. Greco, who was captain of the 1938 swimming team, is now in the Medical Corps and has participated in the invasion of Guam, Saipan and Palau.

As the basketball season gets under way, we find ourselves wondering what has happened to some of the members of the '43 squad. The Captain of last year's team, Frank Franscella, is now a member of the Baimbridge five. Jack Ramsey has been performing on the Columbia Midshipman team which last week defeated the varsity quintet. Phil Jakeway, the boy from Kalamazoo, former Mendel Company Commander, is also attending Midshipman School at Columbia. Pvt. Joe Barret, ex '45 paid a visit last week. Joe is a machine gunner and is stationed at Fort Meade.

Pvt. George Fieo ex '46 is now undergoing basic training in Texas. Edward McGettigan ex '45 received his commission in the Army Air Corps recently. At Syracuse University, Pvt Jim Ackroyd is taking a specialized training course. Ensign Philip J. Wendel is training for PT duty at Melville, Rhode Island. He was married in October to Miss Eileen Banzkof in Lancaster. Lieutenant Francis J. Haggerty, Jr., was promoted to the rank of First Lieutenant and General's Aide somewhere in France with the Third Army.

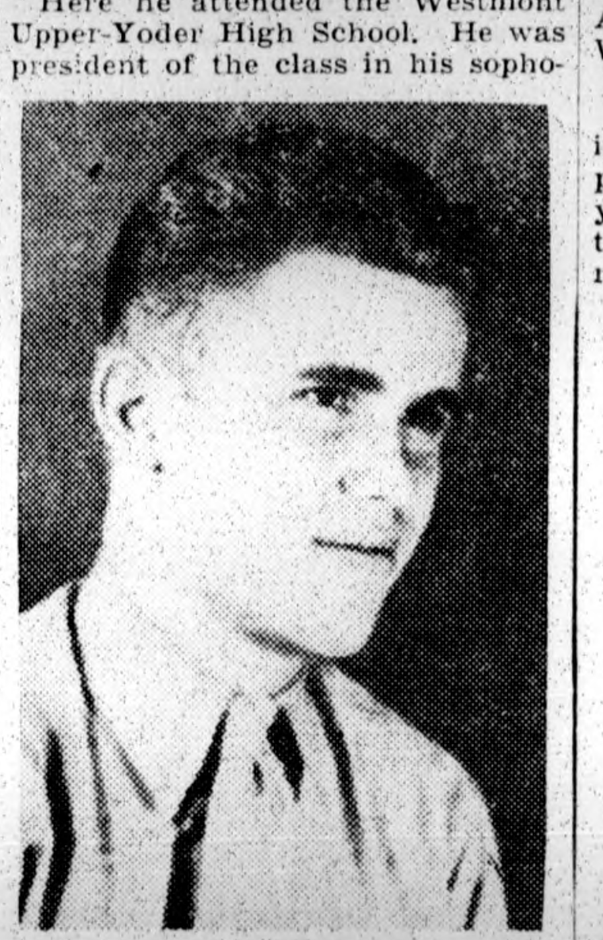
In July 1943, Marc came to Villanova, and continued his studies in Mechanical Engineering. He is now a member of the A.S.M.E. Last fall Marc played halfback for Villanova, seeing action in every game.

Thomas Crocker was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., on Oct. 21, 1924, but has lived most of his life in Johnstown, Pa.

Here he attended the Westmont Upper-Yoder High School. He was president of the class in his sophomore year, and president of the school branch of the Hi-Y, a national society for high school students. An active member of the Varsity Club, he devoted much of his time to the school paper and yearbook as photography editor of each.



PVT. THOMAS CROCKER

Honor Student

Upon graduation in June, 1942, he became a member of the National Scholastic Society, a society open to only those students who were in the first tenth of their class.

After graduation he matriculated for three terms at Penn State, where he studied Mining Engineering. His education at Penn State was interrupted by his enlistment in the V-12, but he was sent to Villanova, and began the study of Mechancal Engineering.

Tom is also a member of the A.S.M.E., but after the war he hopes to continue his studies in Mining Engineering, so that he can enter the field of mining operations.

It would hardly be fair to pass over the death of Nick Basca without a few lines of tribute. Nick was, without a doubt, one of Villanova's football greats and will long be remembered by Wildcat fans.

Entering college in 1937 when Jordan Olivar, Johnny Wysocki Andy Stopper, and others were making Villanova football history, Nick played an important role on the Freshman football team that year. His outstanding work on the yearling eleven earned him a position on the varsity.

Although it is a common thing today, for a sophomore to make the varsity, that was not the case then. Coaches were in a position to school their men for two and even three years before sending them out on the field. Therefore it was quite a feat which Nick attained by joining the squad which was, at that time, one of the top teams in the country.

Nick proved worthy of his coach's choice and gained prominence as a passer for the Wildcats during the 1938, '39, and '40 football seasons. His ability caught the eye of professional scouts and he received numerous offers.

Turning in his number "60" jersey which he had made so famous, Basca signed with the Eagles and saw appreciable action as an understudy during the 1941 season. Like many other football careers, Nick's was interrupted when war broke out. Unfortunately, it will never be resumed.

With the basketball schedule under way the attendance at the games has been utterly disappointing. There is a decided lack of interest of the student body in their team. This cannot be attributed to the fact that it is a losing team since they have proven worthy of your support in the showing thus far this season.

The team needs your support in order to continue its winning ways. Lets show them in the future that we are behind them.

Mendel Retains Intramural Lead; Three-Way Tie

Engineers Still Hold Edge Despite 28 - 24 Lloss to Marines; Champ to be Decided This Week

Without so much as a backward glance, the Marines from Austin Hall threw three intramural teams into a tie for second place by defeating the league-leading Mendel Hall.

The final score of 28-24 makes the game look closer than it actually was for Chuck Boteler's boys held a 15-3 lead at half time over the Mendalians.

The game started with McGuigan tossing in a long shot for two points to start him off on his rampage which netted him 11 ponts for game honors. Habernicht followed up with one of his two twin pointers and the Marines held a 4-0 lead which was never relinquished. These two men had all the points that the Marines scored during the first half while that tight zone defense of the Marines didn't give up one goal during the first stanza.

With the second team taking over for the second half the Mendel team started to show the play that had won two games for them before, as they brought the score closer, but the boys in green were not to be denied as they pulled the game out of the fire with Cardell's fast break and lay-up shot for the clinching points.

Lamb Leads

Bill Lamb again lead the scoring parade with his 7 markers, but Al Shoemaker was the only teammate who gave him any type of offensive support with his 5 points which were scored against the reserves during the second half.

In the final game of the evening the Alumni Hall Civilians dented the win column for its first victory when they beat the Sailors from Fedigan Hall 25-19. In this fast and furious game height played a predominate part as the two tallest men on the floor, Dom Longo and Al Dumsa, lead Alumni's high speed attack with 8 and 7 points respectively.

Again a strong defense held the opposition's scoring to a minimum for the Civvies allowed the Sailors only 7 points while they hit the

Steve Pritko, former Wildcat end on the football team, was given Honorable Mention on the All-Pro team. Pritko has been a starting pass receiver for the Cleveland Rams throughout the past football season. Steve became the property of the Rams after playing for the New York Giants during the 1943 season.

While playing with the Giants, Steve had a hot season accounting for a few touchdowns for the New York Pros. His defensive play stood out thereby enabling him to see much action as a reserve end. This year he has risen to even greater success for the Rams, standing out both offensively and defensively.

The stellar end was a varsity performer for the Blue and White for three seasons and climaxed his career in 1942 during his senior year as a key man in the Villanova offensive drives. Standing at 6 foot, two inches and weighing 200 lbs., Pritko teamed off with Billy Sullivan that year in snatching many a Postus-thrown pass.

After graduation, he received offers from a host of pro scouts and signed with the Giants during the 43 season. He was a teammate of his old college friend, Paul Stenn, who was an outstanding tackle for the Giants that year and who is now a Lieutenant in the Marine Corps.

Varsity Five Undefeated In First Four Contests

Victories Over Swarthmore, Marines, And F. & M. Give 'Cats Clean Slate; Walters Outstanding

By JOE SULOCK, A.S.

Paced by their sharpshooting captain, Joe Walters, Villanova College's spirited courtmen scored their second victory of the young season by defeating a plucky Swarthmore College five, 38-32, at the Field House, Wednesday, Dec. 6.

After a hectic first period in which the lead changed hands four times, Walters spliced the cords with a set shot to place the Severancemen at an 8-7 advantage. From then on the Main Liners held the upper hand and subdued the Garnet threats throughout the remainder of the contest.

O'Neill Paced

The Little Quakers, paced by veterans Ray Winch and Jake Early, who tallied 13 and 7 points respectively, were never far behind in the ball game and made a serious bid for the lead late in the third period. The Wildcats, however, rose to the occasion, and paced by tall Bud O'Neill, rang up a 30-22 count at the start of the final game.

Swarthmore, trying desperately to overcome their early game deficit, outscored the Blue and White 10-9 in the fourth quarter, but wound up seven points shy of the Cats.

Walters High

Scoring honors for the game went to Walters, who notched 9 field goals and 3 fouls for a total of 21 points. O'Neill tallied four two-pointers, while Bill Schanberger and Lee Carter had five and four points respectively.

In a hard-fought contest with the Philadelphia Navy Yard Marines, the Wildcats eked out their third consecutive victory on a last minute foul by range Bill Callahan and a field goal by Joe Walters, three points which enabled the Severancemen to carry off a 37-36 triumph at the Field House, Friday night, Dec. 8.

Walters Again

Again Walters was the spearhead of the Main Liners' attack, Joe personally accounting for eighteen points. His deadly shots from the outside kept the Cats in the ball game all the way until finally he tallied another basket to put the

Swarthmore And Bucknell Close Pre-Holiday Card

By DAVID I. RYAN

Villanova's high geared quintet will engage the Bucknell and Swarthmore basketball teams within three days during this coming week. The Bisons are scheduled to be played on Wednesday night in the Field House and the Little Quakers are carded for their own floor on Saturday night.

These games will mark the sixth and seventh games for the Wildcat courtmen this season, and will be the last played before the Christmas holidays. To date, the Main Liners have a record of four victories, as against no defeats.

Home And Home Series

The Bucknell contest will be the first of a home and home series, the second game being scheduled for January 7th, at Lewisburg. Since 1927, the year the series started, Villanova and Bucknell played eleven games, the Main Liners having copped six of these and the Bisons the remaining five.

Two games in the series have been decided by a single point—the 1932 contest, a 28-27 affair was taken by Bucknell, while the Wildcats came off the floor victorious, 43-32, in the first of the home games last season. In the second of last winter's games, Bucknell won by ten points, 49-39.

Second Game

In the Saturday night contest, Swarthmore's Little Quakers will be out of avenge the 39-32, defeat the Wildcat courtmen handed them in their opening game. This coming contest will mark the sec-

Rev. V. A. McQuade to Coach New Indoor Track Squad

Coming into shape and looking well under the careful guidance and coaching of Rev. V. A. McQuade, O.S.A., is this year's Varsity Track team. Returning from last year's squad are five men of which four are runners in the quarter-mile event and the mile relay.

Harrington Veteran

The returning veterans are Chuck Harrington, who is showing up very well in practice after a successful season last year. The others are Jim Morris, who also runs the sixty-yard dash and is the only candidate for this event. The remaining members are Burt Cox and Larry Bradley. Bradley also runs the half-mile.

The only other member of last year's team is Don Schmidt, a very fast miler who boasts a wealth of experience and who has won quite a few events for Villanova in past meets.

New Men

The new men out for the team are Roger Bean, quarter-mile, Tom Short, another quarter-miler, Bill Schmidt, who has had some experience in the sixty-yard dash. Other aspirants include John Cockcroft and Bab McKibbin who are out for the quarter-mile and half-mile respectively.

Including this opening game, Villanova and Swarthmore have played four games since 1924, the Wildcats heading the record with three wins as over one defeat. Last season, the Severancemen split even with the Little Quakers, winning the first game 58-33, while losing the second 41-38.

Blue and White ahead 27-26 as the third period closed.

With Walters and Carter hitting the net as the final quarter progressed, the Main Liners upped their advantage to 34-31. However, rival center Moon Mullin registered three free throws to knot the ballgame at 34-34, with three minutes remaining.

Callahan Snaps Deadlock

Then Callahan snapped the deadlock with his toss from the fifteen foot line, only to have Al Polinsky sink one from the outside to give the Marines a 36-35 lead. With the clock ticking away, Captain Walters calmly bounced a set shot off the backboard for the two points which resulted in the Blue and White win.

Continuing in their winning ways, the Wildcat basketeers notched their fourth straight victory by downing the Franklin and Marshall Diplomats 39-34, at Lancaster Saturday, Dec. 9.

Schanberger Hot

With their ace scorer, Joe Walters, bottled up by the close guarding Diplomats, the Main Liners unveiled a new sharpshooter in Bill Schanberger. The Baltimore forward's deadly set shots gave the Blue and White an 8-7 lead at the conclusion of the opening period.

Field goals by Walters, Ward and Madigan enabled the Cats to increase their margin to 15-10, but the dogged F & M courtmen closed the gap to 19-16. In the closing seconds of the half, Schanberger again found the range to put the Severancemen ahead 21-16.

Late Rally Staved

Two goals by lanky Chuck Froelicher and baskets by Lee Carter and Walters put Villanova in front 31-24 at the three-quarter mark. The Cats then staved off a late rally by the Diplomats, mainly through the brilliant floor play of Froelicher and Madigan.

High scorer for the Blue and White was Schanberger with five field goals and four free tosses. Charlie Fullerton led the Lancaster courtmen with nine points.

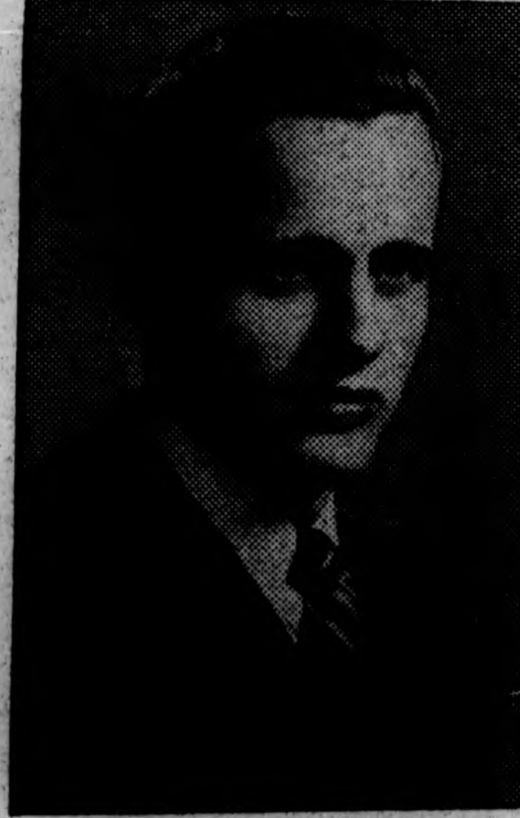
Student Council Organizes Classes For Future Events
Fitzgibbons Announces Plans for a Social Weekend To Be Held Sometime Next June

The members of the Student Council of Villanova College convened last Tuesday afternoon at 12:45 P. M. to discuss future plans. The president of the Council, John Fitzgibbons outlined to the members his ideas for sponsoring a dance after the Princeton Basketball game on Saturday, January 13, which will last until 1 o'clock that same evening. The price of admission will be the regular admission at the gate. The music for the dance will be supplied by recordings.



JOHN FITZGIBBONS

Organize Classes

Another herculean task to be undertaken by the council will be trying to organize the various classes in the school. The purpose for the reorganization will be to instill once more at Villanova various class activities and social events which were so prominent on the campus before the outbreak of the war. The organization will undoubtedly promote greater cooperation among the students of the various classes.

However, the task of organization will be a very hard one. At the present time there is such a conglomeration of courses that it is hard to distinguish between senior and junior classes. The council wishes to group together the upper classes only, since most of the members of these classes have had contact with one another for some time, and can rely on one another for cooperation.

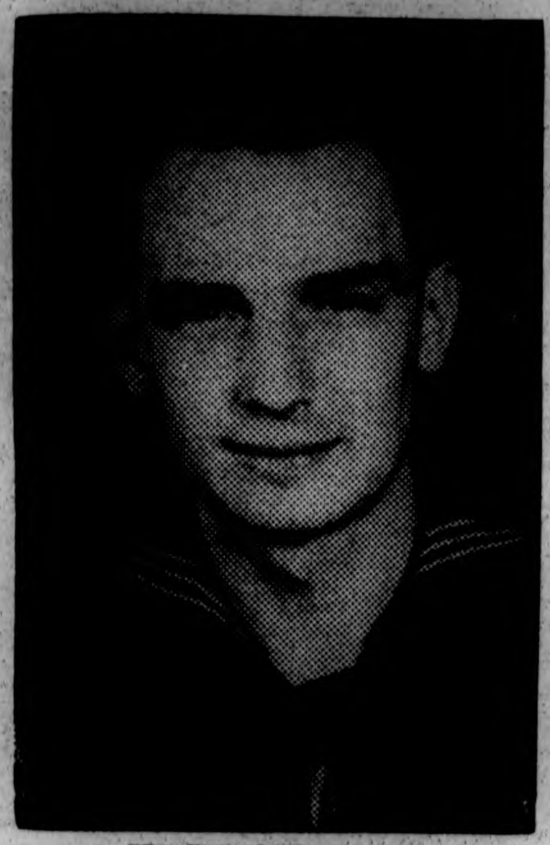
Social Events ....

The organization of the classes will lead to a greater number of social events at Villanova. The dance after the Princeton game will be an experimentation to decide whether or not it will be possible to organize bigger and better activities with the assurance that all students in the various classes will cooperate with the council in their undertakings.

NOTICE TO ALL SENIORS!

Due to a slight change in plans, the senior class, under the direction of Father Edwin T. Grimes, moderator, will hold new nominations of class officers this Wednesday in room 215 Mendel Hall. It is requested that all members of the class attend the meeting in order that they might cast ballots for their choices and insure election of good organizers. It is very imperative that all should attend, for the organization of social functions to be sponsored by the class sometime in the future depend upon the presence of all upper-classmen.

Dance Chairman



HUGH O'REILLY

Phi Kappa Pi To Hold Dance Feb. 3

The Phi Kappa Pi, Villanova's Engineering Fraternity has formed plans for a dance which will be held Saturday, February 3, 1945 at the Field House. Committees have been chosen to arrange for the dance. The band committee is under the direction of Bob Cramer, A.S., and Joe Keating, A.S. The ticket committee is headed by Don Reinhardt, A.S. Plans for the refreshments to be served at the dance will be taken care of by Al Dumsa, A.S. The social committee is headed by Frank Solis, A.S. Decorations will be under the supervision of William Koness, A.S., and Michael Flynn, A.S. As soon as tickets are available, the band committee will select an orchestra for the occasion.

Membership Drive ....

President Frank O'Connor announced that initiations and a membership drive will be held during the latter part of this month. The fraternity will be open to all except Naval trainees who have not yet completed two semesters at Villanova.

Rosemont Choir Visits Villanova; Marines Reciprocate
By C. P. FAFERTY

At the invitation of Father Grimes, the College Chaplain, the Choir of Rosemont College, on Monday evening December the eighth starting at 6:45 P. M., participated in a Christmas program in the Villanova College Chapel.

The program, consisting of seven chorus numbers and two solos, was presented as follows: Maunder's "Christians Awake," "Angels We Have Heard," "Our Lady's Lullaby" (a solo sung by Miss Helen Ford), the Coventry Carol, "Dully Du," "The First Noel," "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen," "Cantique de Noel" (a solo rendered by Miss Claire Menter), "O Little Town" and "We Three Kings."

President Speaks

The Reverend Francis X. McGuire O.S.A., President of the College, delivered a short address during which he wished all the students a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. He said that the Child Jesus came upon Earth for a definite purpose—the redemption of man. Christ, he showed, was not merely a continuation of the old Testament prophets but the fulfillment of their predictions—He was the promised Saviour, truly God and the second person of the Blessed Trinity. He also recomended to our prayers the spiritual comfort of a classmate recently passed away—John Flynn.

Senator Wheeler Speaks at Forum On 'Our Heritage'
Senator From Montana Lectures at Haverford College on American Progress

At the Main Line Forum held on December 14, the guest speaker was the Hon. Burton K. Wheeler. The topic for Mr. Wheeler's talk was "Our Liberal Heritage." This lecture was the last to be held at Haverford College before the new year.

The senior senator from Montana started his speech by showing the difference between the true liberals and the liberals of today. Present day "liberals," Wheeler stated, are using methods opposite to those supported by Paine, Franklin and Jefferson. The speaker regarded the Declaration of Independence as the epitome of liberalism.

America has come from a great liberal heritage, however, we were slow to accept this great legacy. Wheeler pointer to the intolerance of the Ku Klux Klan, the No Nothings and the Prohibitionists. Today's chief example of intolerance is the anti-semitism and race hatred.

The solution for intolerance is education. Senator Wheeler suggested that the standards of education be revaluated. Things should be taught as they should be, not as they are; a younger generation should be produced which will stand only for truth and reason. Senator Wheeler proposed that a course of Jeffersonian philosophy which is to say a course in the golden rule be inserted into the curriculum of every college.

During the discussion which followed the speech, Senator Wheeler definitely opposed an international organization since he felt that Russia, Great Brtiain and the United States had not yet reached agreements on their own plans.

At the seminar which was held after the lecture Villanova was represented by Bob Conway. Here Senator Wheeler was questioned concerning the high tariff with reference to free trade. Wheeler believed lowering our tariff would lower our standard of living.

The next meeting of the forum will be held on January 17. The topic will be "A Free Economy." The speakers will be The Honorable Thurman Arnold, Judge of the United States Court of Appeals, Washington, D. C., former United States Assistant Attorney General in charge of Anti-Trust Division. Joseph N. Pew Jr., vice president of the Sun Oil Co., will also speak. All students who are interested in obtaining tickets for these forums should see Father Grimes.

A. I. E. E. To Attend Convention In N. Y.

The senior members of the Villanova branch of the American Institute fo Electrical Engineers attended a meeting at the Engineers Club in Philadelphia, Monday Evening. A dinner was held at 6:15, and the meeting was held immediately afterwards.

The topic for discussion was on the "Control of Sound." An expert from the Johns Manville Acoustical Department, with research laboratories in New Jersey was on hand to speak on this subject to the members of the association.

ATTEND CONVENTION

The members of the association plan to attend the annual convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers which will be held in New York, between January 22 and 27. The Villanova members will attend the meetings and the exhibits. At the same time the IRA will hold their meeting in New York also, so the society plans to attend some of the meetings of the IRA also. The plans for the trip are under the direction of Professor Beauche, moderator of the association.

Lt. Com. Hannah Receives Rank of Full Commander
Head of Navy and Marine V-12 Detachment at Villanova Promoted to New Rank Retroactive to August, 1944

Commander Edward Hannah, U.S.N.R., commanding officer of Villanova's V-12 unit, was promoted to the rank of a full Commander, from a Lieutenant Commander, on the ninth of December, 1944, retroactive to August 28th, 1943.

Born in Dunkirk, New York, on November 6th, 1897, Commander Hannah lived in that town for fourteen years. The family then made their residence in several west coast cities. At the age of 18 he matriculated at the University of California.

After completing two years of Electrical Engineering the war broke out and he enlisted in the Navy. He was sent to the service school at Mare Island, from which he graduated with the rating of Radioman 2/c. He then shipped out in the U.S.S. Oregon.

Advancement came quickly for the young specialist during the next two years. Following assignments with the Pacific Coast Communications Superintendent at San Francisco and the District Communications Office in Honolulu, he was mustered out in 1919 with the rating Chief Radioman.

With this honorable discharge from the Navy numbered among his prized possessions, the Commander returned to his studies at the University of California. Here he continued to specialize in radio and graduated in 1921 as an electrical engineer.

In that same year he became associated with the Federal Telegraph Company at San Francisco now known as the Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company. He remained here in the capacity of Commercial Superintendent until he reenlisted in the Naval Communications Reserve, as a Chief Radioman, in 1924.

In 1926 he was commissioned an Ensign in that reserve. On September 16, 1940, he was recalled to active duty as executive officer of the U.S. Naval Reserve School, U.S.S. Boston, Receiving Ship San Francisco. In May 1942 the Navy Department ordered Commander Hannah to Harvard University to assist in the construction of the Naval Officers Communications School. He remained as executive officer of the newly conceived and established school until February, 1943.

At that time Commander Hannah was assigned to a post which he is only permitted to describe as "duty outside the continental limits of the United States."

On March 1st, 1944, he reported to this campus as commanding officer of the V-12 unit.

The commander's comment on his promotion was that he wished to reiterate again the superb cooperation the school and its faculty have given to the V-12 Unit stationed here. He said that he looked forward with pleasure and confidence to working in close harmony with the President, Rev. Francis X. McGuire, O.S.A., and with the other officials of the college.

John Flynn, New Student Here, Dies
Entered Villanova in November; Was in Chemical Engineering Department

On Monday morning, December 18, John Flynn, a student at Villanova College, in the Chemical Engineering Department, died from a sudden illness in his Trenton, New Jersey home. He had been ill for only a day, having been taken sick sometime Sunday evening.

According to his mother, John Flynn had recovered from his attack of illness early Monday morning, and had asked his mother's permission to attend school that day. Mrs. Flynn left the house to attend to some shopping tasks, and when she returned John was sitting motionless on the chair in which she had left him before she went out. She immediately discerned that her son had died, although a hospital ambulance was called for him.

Russia and Communism

THE problem of relations between the Soviet Union and the democracies has come to the point where a definite decision must be made. Russia's policies of aggression and territorial acquisition are in direct conflict with the policies proposed in the Atlantic Charter and at the Dumbarton Oaks Conference.

In all parts of the world, Russia is showing her hand. In Italy, Russian Agents are spreading Communistic literature in localities so close to the front that the AMG has not even been able to organize. Although the Communist forces in France have met stiff resistance from de Gaulle, entire provinces are said to be in the grip of Communist juntas ruling on the Soviet pattern.

The drive to impose Communistic rule in eastern and southern Europe has been hidden as much as possible by censorship. In the Baltic states, Poland, Latvia, Lithuania, and Estonia, Russia is deporting the civilians for military service in the Red Army, or in labor battalions, and is colonizing these states with Russians.

Men are being executed as "traitors" — commanders of the Polish underground army who had fought the Germans for years — citizens of Baltic countries who had never recognized their "union" with Russia during the first Russian occupation.

Now Russia has asked us to endorse her crimes by granting her territory which belongs to Poland. Churchill did this in his speech of Sept. 28 in which he said, "Territorial changes in the frontiers of Poland will have to be. Russia has the right to our support in this matter because it is the Russian Armies that can alone deliver Poland from the German talons and because, as I said before, after all the Russian people have suffered at the hands of Germany, they are entitled to safe frontiers and to have friendly neighbors on their western flank."

Thus, the loss of half of her territory, and the other half ruled by a Soviet-controlled puppet government is the reward Poland receives as the first Ally in this war — because she is not one of the "major" powers. Mr. Churchill seems to forget that Russia's delivering of Poland from German aggression does not justify her becoming an aggressor herself. He seems to forget that Poland has suffered at the hands of both Germany and Russia since September 3, 1939, whereas Russia was attacked in June, 1940. Following Mr. Churchill's rationalizations, Poland has more of a right to safe frontiers than Russia, and hence should be given some Russian territory!

It must be remembered at this crucial time that an unjust peace cannot succeed. The God of justice cannot approve an injustice, and nothing can succeed without God's approval.

Poland is the test case; without justice to her, any Dumbarton Oaks or other conference is a waste of time and a dangerous deception of public hopes, as were the various conferences following World War I.

The problem is not solved, as some suggest, by giving German land to Poland, for that adds one more grave injustice to the list. The only hope of a better world remains with the U. S. Senate, the only body constitutionally em-

Camp To Campus

By MICHAEL N. FLYNN, A.S.

The advent of a new year saw many of our former "mates" proudly displaying a gold stripe. Those who graduated from the various midshipman schools in the earlier part of the year are now, for the most part, serving with the fleet in the Pacific, while those who have but recently received their commissions are in training, preparing to take their places with the fleet.

Among the first mentioned group we find Ensigns Fred Cerngross, Billy Sullivan, Dick Ryan, Ben Paradu, Howard Jacobson, Jack McManus, and Bill Powers. Ensigns Jake Allen, Jim Carter, George Mihalek, and Charley La Belle are now in the Atlantic.

Ens. Sam Ciriaco is now on duty in the Pacific, as also is Ens. Tom Kongsgoard.

Many of the men who were commissioned recently are now undergoing training at Miami, Fla. Ens. Jake Williams is down there, along with Ens. Paul Smith and Petrolia.

Ens. "Andy" Anderson, stellar varsity end for two seasons, has also been assigned to Miami. Andy tells us that his close friend and former roommate Eddie Kolnoski is now an Ensign. Eddie just graduated from Northwestern and is heading for the Pacific. Ens. Kolnoski also played two years as varsity end at Villanova.

We received a most pleasant surprise one night last week when John Quinn and John Burk dropped in on us. Both of these men are attached to the American Field Service and are about to go overseas to serve at the fighting front. They left school in October to enlist in this invaluable service.

Tom Hitchell, who graduated from the Arts School in October, also came back to pay a visit last week. Tom just got through Boottraining at Sampson Naval Training Station in New York.

TAKE THE SMUT FROM THE LEGITIMATE STAGE

By DAVID I. RYAN

Some fifteen years ago the National Legion of Decency put the pressure on Hollywood to wipe out from the movies the smut and filth which the country in general, but the Catholic Church in particular, recognized as a subversive element to the morality of the nation. This crusade was not accomplished in one fell swoop nor by mere threats and gestures but by censoring the movies and boycotting the cimema houses which persisted in showing lewd productions. It didn't take the studio executives and directors too long to learn that immoral shows and scenes, whether they glossed over suggestive situations, emphasized double-meaning jokes, or glamorized scantily clothed dancing girls and bathing beauties, would not in the least be tolerated. In fact, so effective was the Legion of Decency's campaign that Hollywood, in behalf of its own defense, set up its censorship office which complied with all of the demands of the Legion.

Today, by dint of constant vigil, the work of the Legion of Decency still goes on . . . censoring movies, classifying the acceptable ones and condemning those which fail to come up to standard.

But in the field of entertainment, there is still "another world to conquer." The legitimate stage! Save for a few scattered reviewers and writers, mostly of the Catholic press, the theater is free from any sort of intelligent and organized critics who have an eye to the moral health of the nation.

As the situation now stands, and has for some time, too many of the plays presented are, in a word, fit only for deaf-blind audiences. For the person who possess in full all of his God-given faculties and a true, decent sense of morality, the legitimate stage productions are, to state it midely, nothing short of nauseating.

The situation has reached a point where one now enters the theater with nothing more than a hope that he will see a production that is not an insult to his common decency.

The theater-goer cannot take the critics' write-ups as true criterions of the plays. Far too often, the reviewers dedicate their columns to the excellent acting, the elaborate scenery, and the like, without giving one whit of either thought or space to the moral . . . rather, for the most part, immoral . . . effect which the production has made and will make an audiences. It is not at all uncommon for reviewers to state, in the case of "garbage pail" plays, fraught with lurid, suggestive scenes and filthy, blasphemous language, that "last night's show was another smash hit, slightly risque but uproariously hilarious.

The critics and theater-goers look down with disdain upon the cheap burlesque houses. As a matter of fact they fail to realize, or what is probably more true won't admit, that the well known theaters cater to the gentry, while the burlesques depend upon the hoi polloi for patronage, but transcending this difference in class and price of admission is the common bond of filth which exists between the two.

None of us would ever think of taking our mother, sisters, and anyone else to whom we held respect, let alone ourselves, to a burlesque, but we stick out our neck for the upper class smut and dirt of Broadway. After all, isn't it rather fashionable to be able to casually mention that "I saw 'Good Night Ladies' and 'The Voice of the Turtle,'" . . . two of the better known trash productions of the last year.

In truth, if we would not frequent burlesque and must necessarily admit that there exists a common basis of evil between the burlesques and the theater in general, then it follows that we should rebel against the theater. But do we?

No! For far too many of us are squeamish in this matter, and bypass it with a "let well enough alone" attitude. We fear that if we voice our honest appraisals of the situation in general and the various plays in particular that we will be branded as prudes.

Let's face this situation squarely.

The theater is not 100% entangled in the mire of the sordid realism today. Not one of us will deny, I trust, that the legitimate stage is capable of giving to its public good, clean, and really enjoyable shows . . . "Central Park," which is currently running in Philadelphia will attend to that. Coincidentally, the affirmation can be made that the stage brings its audience in much closer contact with the plot and acting of the shows than do the movies.

In view of these facts but to reap the fullest of entertainment values from the legitimate theater, and to safeguard the morality of all concerned then, it is necessary for us to see that a more careful scrutiny of legitimate stage productions be made. This must be done on a nation wide scale, or at very least for the benefit of the residents of the areas which are particularly affected by the influence of the theater. That is to say the metropolitan areas of the larger cities.

The censoring of theater productions is a challenge to the courage and intelligence of one and all who are cognizant of the true fact of the situation. The time to snap the public from its apathetic state is long past due.

Organize For Peace

Philadelphia has 536,000 Catholics; the United States has 19,000,000 Catholics; Europe has 204,000,000; the earth holds over 400,000,000 Catholics. Now, although it is true, these (some of them) are being represented as nationals many of them do not belong to a democratic country and collectively as Catholics they receive no voice in political and economic affairs, internationally.

Though everyone refers to the Pope as a learned man, he has not yet been invited to a major political party. The role of Pope Pius XII as a relief organizer, dispenser of justice, and spiritual leader is one unequaled in the twentieth century. Yet the common consensus of opinion is that he should remain out of politics.

Yet, 1) as the spiritual leader of one-fourth of the world's population, who else can know more of her greatest need — fraternity. 2) He, admittedly, retains the most efficient information bureau in Europe; 3) His ruling of the Vatican City, and guidance of the Catholic Church's foreign missions gives him inestimable knowledge of finance, economics, politics, diplomacy and even war.

Pius' firm stand against the oppression of conquered nations and peoples, his directives against the spread of fearful communistic doctrines, and his unexcelled works of mercy in war-torn lands preclude ignoring him at the peace table.

Catholic themselves must organize—American Catholics especially—against the slow oppression against religions of all kinds. Wars grow longer and geographically bigger; the period in between wars shortens with each succeeding one.

Pope Pius has already voiced his

Meet the Boys:

For our boy George, Sports are fun; in baseball Tom is excelled by none.

By HUGH FALLON

The first of the "boys" to be introduced to you in 1945 is George Rossiter, a Marine in the school of Mechanical Engineering.

Born September 9, 1923, in Glen Ridge, N. J., he had the wanderlust very early in life, and moved to Abington even before he had learned the fine art of walking. His first excursion settled him for a few years, but by the time he was in the seventh grade, the urge overcame him, and he moved to nearby Jenkintown.

From Jenkintown he traveled every day to his old hometown to Abington Jr. High School. Here he was a member of the wrestling team, and played guard on the basket ball team.

On Track Team . . .

After graduating from Abington, George attended Jenkintown High School. Here he played quarterback on the football team, was a low hurdler and high jumper on the track team. He continued to play guard on the basketball team, and was selected for the All-Buxmont Basketball team.

George was elected vice-president of the class, and was appointed editor of the yearbook. His wrestling also helped him as a member of the gym team.

After graduation in January, 1942, he worked for six months at the Standard Press Steel Co., Philadelphia. He left there to matriculate in the University of Delaware, in school of Mechanical Engineering.

Joins Marines . . . . . .

At Delaware, George continued his basketball and track, and became a member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity. In Sept., 1942, he joined the Marine Corps Reserve, and in July, 1943, after completing three terms at the University of Delaware, he entered the V-12, and came to Villanova.

Here, he played fullback on the football team, seeing action in the Army game. He has been on the honor roll every term since he came, and was the Company Commander of the Marines for a semester. He is also a member of the A.S.M.E.

After the war, George hopes to enter the field of engineering, preferably, some work outside. At present he is considering railroad work.

Habenicht from Bronx . . . .

Thomas Habenicht, another Marine and a Civil Engineering student, was born March 16, 1924, in the Bronx, N. Y. City. While attending the Theodore Roosevelt High School, in that city, he received letters for swimming, and participated in various intramural sports.

After graduation in January, 1942, he matriculated in Bergen Jr. College, Teaneck, N. J., in the school of Civil Engineering. He played basketball for the three terms in which he attended Bergen.

PRIVATE TOM HABENICHT

In Nov., 1942, he enlisted in the V-12, and came ot Villanova in July, 1943, where he continued his studies in Civil Engineering. Here he participated in intramural sports, notably softball, in which he was selected for the all-star team as shortstop.

While his plans are necessarily indefinite at present, he hopes to work along some line of C. E. after the war.

Washington Boy . . . .

A Washingtonian completes this week's group of seniors preparing to leave Villanova in less than two months. Bernard Dillon, a sailor and resident of Mendel Hall, was born June 1, 1923, in the nation's capitol city, where he attended St. Anthony's High School. While at St. Anthony's, Bern kept a well balanced life of sports and studies, by playing tackle on the football team.

He graduated in June, 1942, and enlisted in the Navy V-12 in November of the same year. While waiting to enter the Navy, he attended the Catholic University for three terms as a Civil Engineering student. In July, 1943, he came to Villanova, and continued his studies, still in the school of Civil Engineering.

A true sailor and lover of the Navy, Bern hopes to be able to stay in the Navy after the war. He is wisely not asking too much of the future if this course is not open to him, but he will probably enter the field of Civil Engineering if that is the case.

By LARRY LYONS and RICHARD RANDOLPH

Perhaps you have heard rumors floating around the campus that the team of "Horse" and "Pixie" has been broken up. Well, dear readers, it is true! The "Horse" has decided to pull his average up to 4.0 as he was not satisfied with his 3.98. Maybe the threatening notes and letters had something to do with his retiring; at any rate the familiar name of "Horse" will no longer appear at the top of this column. Incidentally, Tom takes his physical soon: Nice knowing the old boy, wasn't it?

With the coming of the Xmas vacation the "Cats" scattered far and wide.

New York City was honored by the presence of "Bob "Airy" McNamara, Bob was seen taking in the town with a luscious blond. Boy, we wish we were popular. Pedre Bonnin also took in the night-spots of N. Y. C. however, the Stork Club proved to be his downfall.

Bob Brennan and Jim Plunkett went back to their farms in native Connecticut, while Sy Stock spent most of his time and money on the "honies" of Harrisburg.

New Jersey's capital really rocked over the holidays when Vince Pica, Dom Longo and Jim Dorkety made up for lost time.

While Harry Wilkins was having his usual good time with a certain miss, Maurice Wilhere was giving his drawing board a work-out.

"Where is this Hogan's alley" that a certain C & F class has been discussing? John Purcell found time to sleep as well as fix the flats (plural) on his jalopy.

Pete Saraceni finally managed to perform a chem experiment without demolishing the basement of his home. Pete McManus and Don Jordan have been giving the skates a diligent workout on the nearby pond. What's the attraction boys?

One of the funniest sights was to be seen on New Year's Day, for the majority of fellows looked as if they had spent all of two hours in bed on the previous night. Ed White was wandering sleepily about the campus mumbling, "there ain't no justice."

Joe Mullen took time out during the vacation to enlist in the Navy, and Mike Nolan also enlisted in the Coast Guard. Shorty Homan and Bill Hohenwarter have been blown away by the draft—things must have taken a turn for the worse.

By popular demand the hallowed name of John W. Coyne once more appears in this column. While attending a recent tea-dance, said character put on an exhibition for the awe-struck crowd. He not only demonstrated the proper way to carry Pepsi Cola cases but be also showed how the "Conshohocken Shuffle" should be performed. Any one interested in learning this maneuver kindly apply in person at Arthur Murray Coyne's spacious ball room in the back of the Pie Shop.

Charlie Hanlon and Bob Moffit looked a wee bit down in the mouth the other day. The reports weren't that bad, were they fellows?

Perhaps the following poem expresses the feeling of quite a few of the boys:

I think that I shall never see
A "D" as lovely as a "B"
A "B" whose rounded form is pressed
Upon the records of the blessed.
"D's" come very easy and yet
They're not so easy to forget
For "D's" are made by fools like me
And how this fool could use a
"B."

In closing we like to advise the

Yanelli Graduates Specialist School; Greeley In Red Cross

Among the graduates of the Information and Education course at the School for Personnel Services, Lexington, Va., this week was Pvt. Sylvio J. Yannelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Yannelli, 6522 Harlan St., Philadelphia, Pa.

As an Information and Education enlisted man, Pvt. Yannelli will aid in bringing the War Department's Information program to American troops all over the world. The objective of the program is to aid the individual soldier in becoming better adjusted to Army life and to equip him mentally as well as physically, to be a more efficient fighting man and citizen.

The working program includes increasing the soldier's understanding as to why we are fighting by developing his knowledge of the background of the war and the nature of our enemies. It aims to keep him informed as to the course of the war and the news of the world, to strengthen his knowledge of his personal contribution to the defeat of the enemy. Its scope aims, too, to give the soldier an opportunity to add to his effectiveness both as a soldier and citizen, through individual and group study.

Pvt. Yannelli will work in Information and Education for the 490th AAA (AW) Bn. at Camp Polk, La. Before going into the service, he was a student at Villanova.

John J. Greeley, ex '25, Central St., Hallowell, Maine, an American Red Cross field director, is a firm believer that an American hotdog or hamburger served to a fighting soldier overseas can do more to lift the morale of a man than any one thing. And he should know, for he has served for the Red Cross with the armed forces on the Solomon Islands, in Australia, and is now directing a club canteen in the China-Burma-India theater.

Real Hamburgers

The most gratifying part of his job, Greeley declares, is to see the amazed looks on the faces of the men as they find real American food put before them. He spent five months in Australia setting up Red Cross snack bar canteens, then was ordered to report to India to continue his work in that theater.

Greely received his A.B. degree from Villanova College and Catholic University; his M.A. from the University of Notre Dame, and his Ph.D. from New York University.

"I'm bombarding the Japs from all sides with hamburgers!" remarked Greeley, "and pretty soon we should be serving them in Tokyo!"

The Chief's Own Men

Rumor has it that among the big timers seen on the Jersey Coast was the esteemed John (I Won the War) Coyle. The blond Amazon allowed the privilege of accompanying Big John was addressed as Ida —lucky girl, eh John? (Peterson, Shields, Cassiano, etc., please note and remember).

Another celebrity and lucky friends of I.W.T.W. Coyle gains the limelight in the person of Joe (Oh How I Miss Those Headlines) Walters, who is currently promoting an accelerated attack upon Quan. Here is to academic success, Little Joe, friend of Big John—and may future headlines restore your good nature.

Jim (Bullet Head) Mackey, faster than the speed of light and technical wizard of the Lab, has again been reported lost on the 4th deck Mendel. Remember Jim that if you spill any of your "Unknown" wipe it up only if no one sees you.

Memo to Carlson and Stanley: Don't miss the new stage show "Over Twenty One." It has tremendous advantages; or have you seen it?

Among the weekend Romeos passing in review were Leon Luke, Gabe Lizak, and unexpectedly, Henry (Turn the radio off Jerry) Stofmann. Gabe (I am set in Anatomy, so here I come you lucky woman) Lizak is currently taking lessons from I.W.T.W. Coyle in the art of self-offense.

The cream of Fedigan Hall announced that they are having their first "annual weekly" banquet at the Covered Wagon on the twentieth.

Stiffly speaking: Robert Latimer is becoming a man-about-town (Philly) as he is trying to give the brush off to Mary Lou.

Your future "Corpus Delecti" enjoying one of the hit plays in town also eyed George (Who's the prettiest boy on the campus, and why am I) Banning, Tom (Doc) Burger, Ray (the Hook) Hooker, and Dick (P.M. 3/c) Halm. None were intent on their own girls.

Mendel Memos

Andrew Murphy of Larchmont, N. Y. was observed engineering around Mendel's Home—Chez Vous Sat. night. Quite a good construction job too, Andy.

(Good things come in small packages) Cramer was making his survey of the week for that less than 5'2" and eyes of blue Miss.

Certain people are wondering why "Beazy" Palley deserted Bryn Mawr College in favor of Chez Vous Saturday night. Our curiosity was aroused—Was she?

Didn't know Joe Costello was one of the elite but he made quite an appearance at the symphony this weekend. He seemed to particularly enjoy the harps, etc. Attractive, too.

If the present occupants of Mendel follow the example of one of their former members they will be O.K. We saw Jim Redditt with that single gold stripe over the weekend.

The question of the week is which fraternity won out at the quarter. For the booby prize of the week Carl "Punch" Ohralik is asking his stooges "Did your mother ever have any children?"

Austin Echoes

Frank Kempf had quite a decision to make the other night but it was too late—Norristown was far away—and she wasn't so attractive anyhow—so he retired to the peaceful quiet of Villanova at 4 A. M.

R. O. Evans had dinner for two —with one fork—in the cafeteria Tuesday. He exhibited good discretion in that his dinner-date was Gamp — and their conversation was pretty intelligent because it was from one wolf to another. It must have been Tierney's inspiration because Trostle made the Honor Roll this time.

Gabe "All Eastern" Lizak doesn't have to worry about planning his weekends anymore . . . the next six are all planned. And just when Gabe had a few bones to pick over! We have it on good authority (although we seriously doubt it) that Bob "Little Man" Wilson is indebted to John "The All-American Boy" Brandt for his shiner. The age of miracles has not passed. Bill Elliott, better known to his Philadelphia girl as "Bugs Bunny", had better get a little smoother as Joan "Miss Up-State" Couch wasn't born yesterday. (N.B. John Brandt please forward to N.B.) Merry Christmas William ! ! !

Speaking of School Spirit . . . We're sorry we saw some of the members of this unit openly opposing Villanova and rooting for the other team at a recent game. We realize of course that if it were a question of Marine Corps honor that all those in question would be eager to step forward, however, every opponent looks the same on the court and the only familiar faces are those of the boys with whom we live, work and play. They deserve our entire support and certainly not such moral-shaking actions.

MISCELLANEOUS MEMO:

It's very possible that "Beazy" Palley is settling down. His little redhead should be warned. Hartwell and Cummings came a wandering in at 0600 Sunday morning after "traveling" around Philly. They should follow the example of George "Sir" Bacsika and play faithful to the gal in Joisey. He even talks in his sleep about her. Sergeants John Muir And Charles Dalrymple Succeed Sergeants McGrath And Maharg At Naval Office

Sgt. John Muir

Many people may say that this war is in its final stages on both fronts. People have seen many young men from the United States entering the service of their country at various times, but this is the first time, to your reporters knowledge, at least, that he has interviewed anyone who has "grown up with the war" from the beginning of the hostilities until the present day.

Sergeant John Muir, formerly retainer of the rank of technical Sergeant while overseas, is one of our good neighbors from southern North America. Sergeant John was born in Sun, West Virginia, and possesses a disposition adhering to the name of his birthplace.

Enlists in Marines

High School at Mount Hope, found Johnny a member of many extra-curricula activities, among them being the band, public speaking society, and dramatics. Despite the fact that much of his time was taken up by participation in these activities, John managed to remain an honor student during his stay at Mount Hope.

Sergeant Muir began his career in the United States Marine Corps, when he enlisted at Baltimore in 1939. Upon his enlistment, as is usual with all good Marines, John was sent to Parris Island, South Carolina, for his preliminary ("boot" to you) training. At Parris Island he was a member of the Post Troops.

Some Career

Tracing John's career in the Marine Corps, we find that he received his Pfc. stripe in August 1940, his two for Corporal in April 1941, and his rise to the all-high non-com hard-boiled post of sergeant in August of 1942.

As is usual when interviewing service men, it is more or less a routine to ask just exactly what the said soldier has done in his travels throughout the world. Popping this question to Sergeant Muir, your reporter received such confusing answers, all chronologically uncertain, that it was finally suggested that the Sergeant take a peek at his own service record to prompt him on his adventures throughout the past three or four years.

Five Service Ratings

After a bit of verbal abuse, your scribe finally wriggled from the Sergeant the fact that he possesses five service ratings all from action in the Pacific theater of operations. It all seems to have started in June 1942 when John participated in the battle of Tenaru at Guadalcanal. John received two service ratings for his participations in Guadalcanal operations. The next two ratings were received for action in the New Guinea and New Britain operations. Finally the battle of Peleleu Island netted him the final rating.

Replace Sgt. Maharg and

Replaces Sergeant Maharg

Sergeant Muir, prior to his mission in the South Pacific, went along on Fleet Maneuvers to Cuba in 1941, where the Marines (so says Sergeant Muir) practically built single handedly the Guantanamo Naval Base.

Sergeant Muir replaces Sergeant Maharg (read it backwards "it spells Graham"), who helped both report and interview the entire story, with "helpful" (hmmmm) hints, as only he can give. Sergeant Maharg leaves for New River with Sergeant McGrath very shortly.

Sergeant Dalrymple

Born at an early age (the editor says this can't be printed because it's not logical), February 22, 1924, to be exact, Charles Dalrymple invaded the the province of West Orange New Jersey. Here he attended West Orange High School where he played on the basketball team. High school lasted three and one-half years for Charles, when he enlisted in the Marine Corps on January 27 1942.

Charles received his Sergeant stripes in July of '44. Naturally, the "Sarge" went to Parris Island for "orientation" in the Corps. From P. I. he went to New River North Carolina, and from thence to the Pacific theater, where he participated in the battles of Guadalcanal and Cape Gloucester.

Comes to Villanova

The entire unit of which Sergeant Dalrymple was a part received the Presidential Citation for meritorious service. On November 3, 1944, Charles was sent back to San Diego Naval Base and from thence proceeded to take up residence at Villanova College, where he replaces Sergeant McGrath as Company Clerk.

Sgt. McGrath

The Villanovan, in combination with the entire Naval and Marine Unit at Villanova College, would like to wish to Sergeants Maharg and McGrath happy hunting in the Corps after their transfer. Both are old troopers and have known Marine Corps tactics since they could read a book. Everyone wished them success on their new ventures.

The Test

ALTHOUGH many people are incognizant of the fact, the truth still remains, and will be proven by history, that America today faces the greatest crisis she has ever encountered in her brief but glorious history as a free nation. During this very lifetime America will be able to show whether or not she is capable of upholding the principles of freedom which our forefathers and fathers, sons and brothers today, have fought and died for. America is being put to the greatest task she will ever face as a nation.

". . . That they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness . . ." Thus read the very words of the Declaration of Independence, dear to the heart of every American. We cannot forget these words, for they are the very foundation stone of the freedom we enjoy today.

We, as a nation of promise, of hope, of ideals, of leadership in upholding the rights of men, must face the issue confronting us, and put to task our teachings and utilize them in our dealings with other nations. Yes, our nation believes in ideals, for without them our country would not exist today. This nation is so far ahead of the various other countries of the world in political policies, and government for the people, of the people, and by the people, that these nations cannot understand our political system, and we in turn find it hard to understand theirs.

For quite a number of years, in fact since the very conception of our government, the United States of America has been existing in a world filled to the brim with imperialistic attitudes, with mercantilism, and other policies which our leaders saw harmful to the peace of the world. In fact, this nation of ours even went so far as to isolate herself from the other nations of the world after the last war, in order that international political entanglements would not affect our nation again.

Yes, America had an idealist in those days, President Wilson, who, fortified by his fourteen points for concluding a just peace among European nations, traveled to Europe to place before the leaders of nations the ideals that America had so long upheld. These scheming politicians did not understand our democratic principles, and they regarded them as so much trash, as a history book will plainly reveal.

America had her idealists even in our own day. The people of our nation were trying to grasp for an ideal or a set of ideals which they could positively state that they were fighting for. Our people found those ideals imbedded in the words of the Atlantic Charter. However, today we hear that the Atlantic Charter never existed, that as a document it had never been signed, nor attested to. It was merely a few points drawn up and mutually agreed to verbally. The American people today cannot help but feel that they have been duped, that they have been deluded on the most super-colossal scale ever attempted by man . . . that of tearing away principles from a people of principle.

Can one help but clamor for isolationism in our day and age? Of course we know that this is impossible. Modern inventions have made it so. However, when the average citizen sees that the nations that are supposed to be fighting for his ideals are going about the cold, ruthless business of dividing territories, subjugating peoples, constructing spheres of influence, and conducting other imperialistic activities, he wants to have nothing to do with them, to forget about those people with whom he cannot now agree nor ever hope to agree on principles.

If America allows these nations to continue to reenact the crimes of the country we call the aggressor nation, then there certainly is no use in fighting this war at all. Today, the very foundation stones of our government are being shaken. In our very lifetime we shall know once and for all whether or not we as a nation can continue to exist among other nations with different ideals, and yet be able to remain free as we are today. The test is now at hand. At the conclusion of this conflict we shall know certainly. May our Lord God help America in the greatest test of her principles that she will ever face.

Many appeals have already been made to the President and to the State Department to protest the rights of Poland to independence and territorial integrity. A similar appeal has been sent to all the senators by the Coordinating Committee of American Polish Associations in the East.

It is time for American senators to speak out and speak very loud. Otherwise it may be too late, and America will find the world preparing for another war, more destructive, more lethal than ever imagined.

Wildcats Meet Undefeated Valley Forge Vets Monday

Hospital Five Out To Extend Long Streak; Victorious F. & M. Here Tomorrow, Princeton Saturday

By JOE SULOCK, A. S.

Hampered by the loss of several key players, Villanova College's courtmen resume their fast pace by playing three games within six days. Lost to the team for the remainder of the season are Captain Joe Walters, leading scorer in the Philadelphia district, Bud O'Neill, stellar center, and substitutes Joe Costello, Jim Gallagher and Len Autrey. The team will be bolstered somewhat by the return of Jim Dillon, rangy pivotman, who was ineligible during the first part of the season.

The Main Liners' first opponent in these six days will be the Franklin and Marshall Diplomats, the same to be played at the Wildcat's home court, Wednesday, Jan. 10. This will be the second meeting of the two clubs during the present season. In the initial encounter, a late Diplomat rally fell short, enabling the Blue and White to walk off a 39-34 victory.

Disappointing Season

To date, the Lancastermen have had a disappointing season, but have shown considerable improvement in their latest games. They hope to avenge their early season setback.

On the following Saturday, the Cats will engage Princeton's Tigers at the Field House. Princeton will be seeking its first triumph over a Villanova court combination, for in two previous contests with the Tigers, the Blue and White prevailed by scores of 54-46 and 42-40.

Tigers Good

During the present campaign Princeton has met such top-flight court aggregations as Rider, Temple, Muhlenberg and Ellis Island C. G. While not managing to win these ball games, the Tigers did give a good account of themselves.

Key men on the Tiger quint are Ray Kurowski, brother of the World Champions St. Louis infielder, and Dave Taylor, six foot five inch center. Rounding out a tentative starting line-up are Phil Fehl, Jim Carman and Neil Zundel, all Navy V-12 trainees.

On Monday, Jan. 15, the Wildcats face their sternest test of the

Varsity Loses To Mules For Fourth Straight Defeat

Loss of Walters and O'Neill Proves Costly to Hapless 'Cats

The Villanova College basketball team suffered its fourth straight defeat Saturday night by virtue of their loss to Muhlenberg College, of Allentown. The locals dropped a 32-20 decision to the Mules in an uneventful game in Rockne Hall.

Opening the game in the successful style with which she opened the season, Villanova took a 4-1 lead early in the fracas. Later the Mules found their bearings to forge ahead 11-10 after the first period had gone by.

Turned on Heat

Al Julian's passers proceeded to turn on the heat in the second stanza while holding the Wildcats scoreless. Due to the efforts of Jim Doran, their big center, the boys from Allentown led 17-10 at intermission.

In the third quarter the Mules put on a repetition of the previous period by adding five more points while the Main Liners went scoreless for the entire ten minutes. Going into the final chapter, Villanova found the cords but too late to be of any avail as the trailing Cats were behind 32-20 when the final whistle was blown.

Loss of Walters

A big factor in Villanova's loss was the absence of Joe Walters who had sparked the Cats to their first four wins with his rapid fire scoring. Walters, along with Bud O'Neill left the squad after the Christmas vacation. Dick Madigan took Walters' place at guard while Chuck Froelicher replaced O'Neill as the number one reserve.

Muhlenberg was also handicapped by the loss of Ray Baldwin, former Union College forward who has been a consistent regular all season. Baldwin had been nursing an injury received in a previous game. This didn't dampen the spirits of the Cardinal and Grey, however, as they romped to their eleventh consecutive win and lengethened their undefeated streak.

Doran High

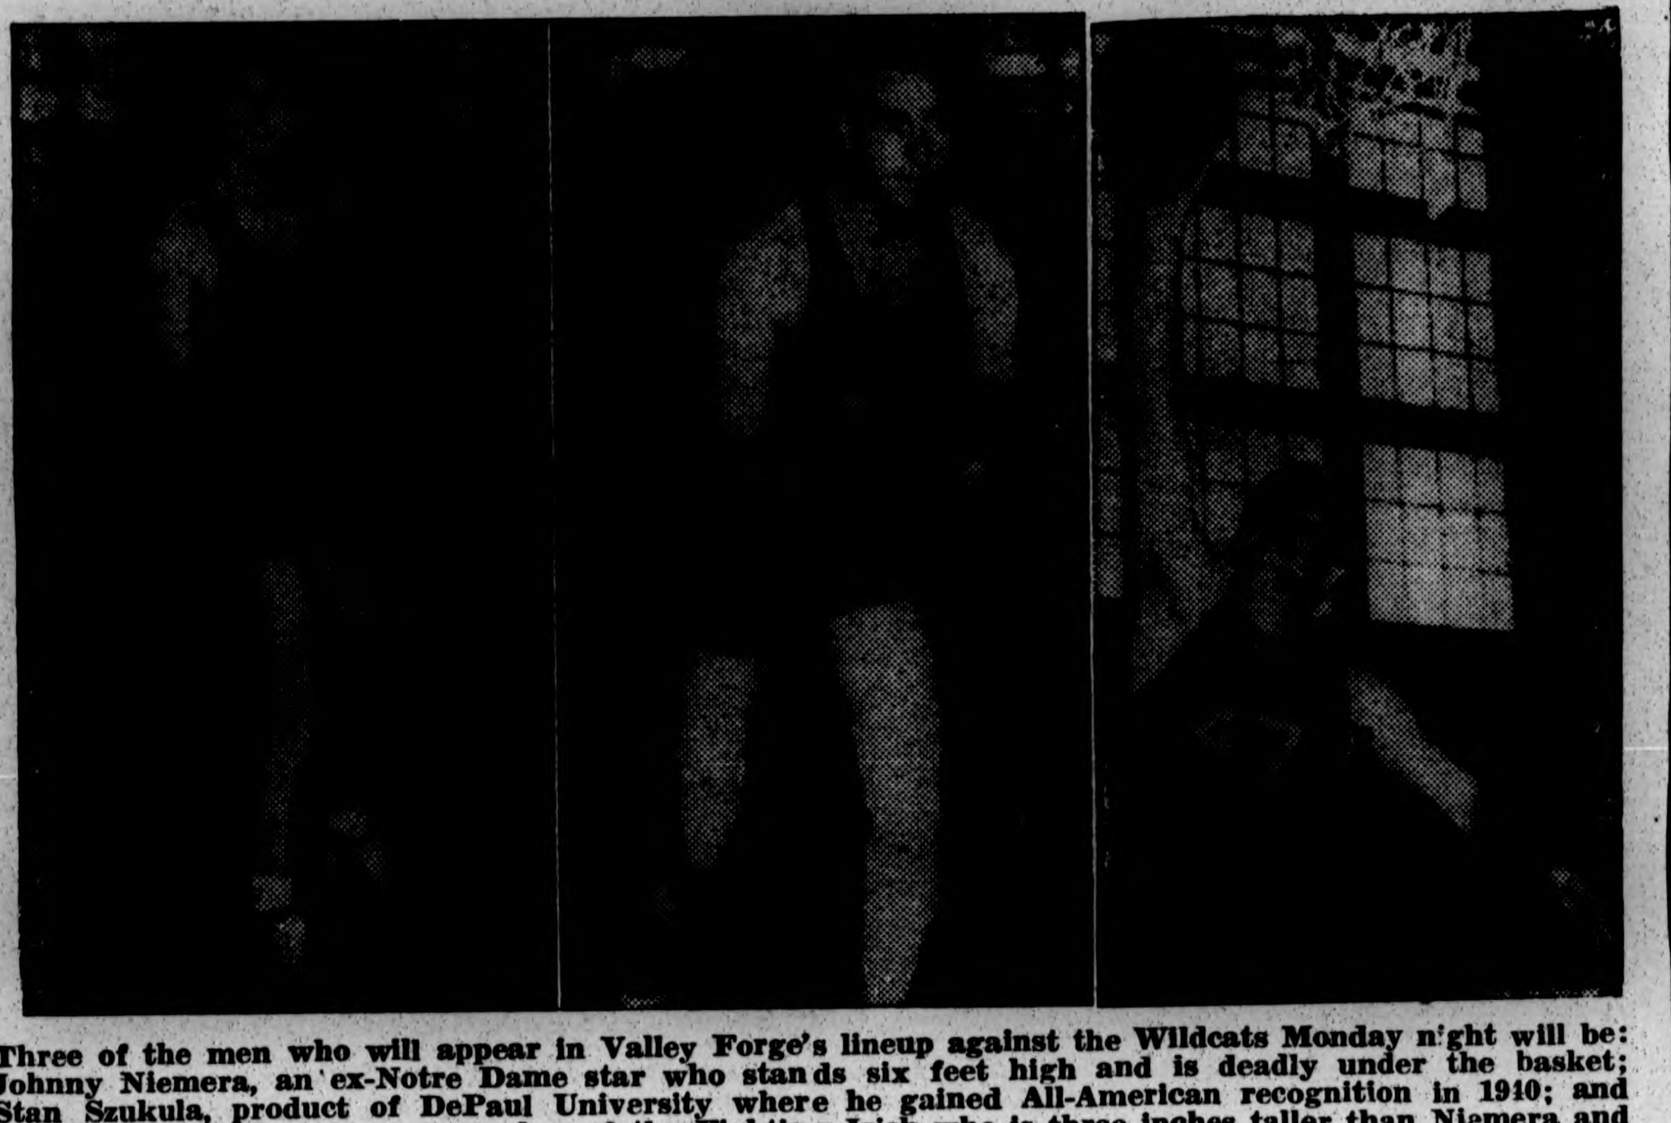
Taking scoring honors for the game in which Coach Julian used practically all of his players was big Jim Doran, former Ridgefield High (N. J.) performer. The discharged Marine veteran sank four field goals and converted two free throws for a total of ten points.

For the Blue and White, dependable Lee Carter, who has been playing steady ball in all games to date, scored eight of the total twenty points by way of four field goals. Bill Schanberger and Dick Madigan were runner-ups with five apiece.

First Game

This was the first of a home and home series between Muhlenberg and Villanova. The second game between the two colleges will be played in the Field House on January 24.

To Face 'Cats



Three of the men who will appear in Valley Forge's lineup against the Wildcats Monday night will be: Johnny Niemera, an ex-Notre Dame star who stands six feet high and is deadly under the basket; Stan Szukula, product of DePaul University where he gained All-American recognition in 1940; and Billy Davis, another former member of the Fighting Irish who is three inches taller than Niemera and will fill the center slot.

Alumni Wins First Half Intramural Title; Sonner Leads Scoring Race

By JIM DAY

With the spotlight swinging to the opening of the second half of the Intramural League last evening, the past first half is all but forgotten, but before it is all just a memory a quick resume is in order.

The first half ended with Alumni Hall's Civilians at the top of the league with four wins and one loss but the Austin Sailors were close on their heels with a record of three and two. The Marines after a poor start, came up fast and broke even with two wins and two losses. Mendel and Fedigan brought up the rear with two and three, and one and four respectively.

Fedigan Surprises

The way things shaped up after the first week of play these final standings were quite a surprise for the boys from Fedigan Hall took a one point thriller from the Austin team and the Mendel Hallers subdued Alumni leaving everyone with the impression that the final league battle would be between Fedigan and Mendel. The next night Austin beat the Marines by twenty points but the Marines were thought to have a very big but slow aggregation.

Sensing disaster ahead unless this condition was remedied. Chuck Boteler and Dick Merlino, respective managers of the Marines and Civilians, put their teams through extensive drills to find the proper combination which would work together. These practices put more speed into the boys and taught them the fundamentals of team play.

Holds Practice

In the meantime Austin Hall was not wasting any time either, and with the return of Bill Smith and Dick Tierney from football, both over six foot, added much needed height. The long hours of steady drill and practice brought results as can be attested by the final standings.

These practices also helped the shooting eyes of the boys too for the total scores of the leaders in the scoring parade to show the first five high scores were made by the boys from these top teams.

Sooner High

The leader in the scoring was Ken Sonner from Austin Hall. Sonners 78 points weren't even contested as he ran off with the first half scoring honors. These points included a near record of 31 points against Mendel Hall and 16 against Fedigan. The only one to stop him was Pat Coletta, from Alumni who held him to four points after he had scored an average of 14 points per game.

The next three positions in the scoring race were held by members of the Alumni championship team. Dom Longo's 45 points took second place with Al Dumsa coming close behind with 43 points.

National authorities are in a dither over the future of organized sports with respect to the manpower situation. Many college, amateur, semi-pro, and professional teams are affected by a lack of material in order to maintain their peacetime standards. One of the few leagues to escape this condition of war is the Intramural league here at Villanova.

Intramural athletics have always played a leading role in the once vast extra-curricular setup here. With the rest of the activities practically defunct, the intramurals have burst forth with an added fervor.

Sports teams within the college was started 13 years ago by Rev. E. B. McKee, O.S.A., now moderator of Varsity Athletics and Rev. John A. Vrana, O.S.A., in the basketball season of 1932. This developed from an inter-fraternity league which operated on the campus prior to that time. Later Father Vrana resigned his post and was succeeded by Rev. John R. Dunne, O.S.A., now a chaplain in the Army.

The students accepted the new league with vivid enthusiasm and that interest has been increasing every year. Sponsoring teams in touch football, basketball, baseball, softball, boxing, swimming and diving, tennis, and golf, the league contained six teams; Mendel, Alumni, Austin, Fedigan, Mendal Day Hops, and C. & F. Day Hops.

Residents of Simpson and O'Dwyer were eligible to play with Fedigan Hall. Hall prefects acted as coaches and produced teams of high calibre. Varsity athletes were declared ineligible thereby keeping the competition closer. Games were played four nights a week in addition to a few afternoon games. An All-star team was chosen at the end of the season and engaged in outside competition.

The league gave many a player a chance to play who could not see much action with the college team. It also produced some varsity material during the season.

The Test

ALTHOUGH many people are incognizant of the fact, the truth still remains, and will be proven by history, that America today faces the greatest crisis she has ever encountered in her brief but glorious history as a free nation. During this very lifetime America will be able to show whether or not she is capable of upholding the principles of freedom which our forefathers and fathers, sons and brothers today, have fought and died for. America is being put to the greatest task she will ever face as a nation.

". . . That they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness . . ." Thus read the very words of the Declaration of Independence, dear to the heart of every American. We cannot forget these words, for they are the very foundation stone of the freedom we enjoy today.

We, as a nation of promise, of hope, of ideals, of leadership in upholding the rights of men, must face the issue confronting us, and put to task our teachings and utilize them in our dealings with other nations. Yes, our nation believes in ideals, for without them our country would not exist today. This nation is so far ahead of the various other countries of the world in political policies, and government for the people, of the people, and by the people, that these nations cannot understand our political system, and we in turn find it hard to understand theirs.

For quite a number of years, in fact since the very conception of our government, the United States of America has been existing in a world filled to the brim with imperialistic attitudes, with mercantilism, and other policies which our leaders saw harmful to the peace of the world. In fact, this nation of ours even went so far as to isolate herself from the other nations of the world after the last war, in order that international political entanglements would not affect our nation again.

Yes, America had an idealist in those days, President Wilson, who, fortified by his fourteen points for concluding a just peace among European nations, traveled to Europe to place before the leaders of nations the ideals that America had so long upheld. These scheming politicians did not understand our democratic principles, and they regarded them as so much trash, as a history book will plainly reveal.

America had her idealists even in our own day. The people of our nation were trying to grasp for an ideal or a set of ideals which they could positively state that they were fighting for. Our people found those ideals imbedded in the words of the Atlantic Charter. However, today we hear that the Atlantic Charter never existed, that as a document it had never been signed, nor attested to. It was merely a few points drawn up and mutually agreed to verbally. The American people today cannot help but feel that they have been duped, that they have been deluded on the most super-colossal scale ever attempted by man . . . that of tearing away principles from a people of principle.

Can one help but clamor for isolationism in our day and age? Of course we know that this is impossible. Modern inventions have made it so. However, when the average citizen sees that the nations that are supposed to be fighting for his ideals are going about the cold, ruthless business of dividing territories, subjugating peoples, constructing spheres of influence, and conducting other imperialistic activities, he wants to have nothing to do with them, to forget about those people with whom he cannot now agree nor ever hope to agree on principles.

If America allows these nations to continue to reenact the crimes of the country we call the aggressor nation, then there certainly is no use in fighting this war at all. Today, the very foundation stones of our government are being shaken. In our very lifetime we shall know once and for all whether or not we as a nation can continue to exist among other nations with different ideals, and yet be able to remain free as we are today. The test is now at hand. At the conclusion of this conflict we shall know certainly. May our Lord God help America in the greatest test of her principles that she will ever face.

powered to reject or accept international commitments made by the American Government, that it will never endorse a peace plan constructed on crime.

Many appeals have already been made to the President and to the State Department to protest the rights of Poland to independence and territorial integrity. A similar appeal has been sent to all the senators by the Coordinating Committee of American Polish Associations in the East.

It is time for American senators to speak out and speak very loud. Otherwise it may be too late, and America will find the world preparing for another war, more destructive, more lethal than ever imagined.

Three of the men who will appear in Valley Forge's lineup against the Wildcats Monday night will be: Johnny Niemera, an ex-Notre Dame star who stands six feet high and is deadly under the basket; Stan Szukula, product of DePaul University where he gained All-American recognition in 1910; and Billy Davis, another former member of the Fighting Irish who is three inches taller than Niemera and will fill the center slot.

Alumni Wins First Half Intramural Title; Sonner Leads Scoring Race

By JIM DAY

With the spotlight swinging to the opening of the second half of the Intramural League last evening, the past first half is all but forgotten, but before it is all just a memory a quick resume is in order.

The first half ended with Alumni Hall's Civilians at the top of the league with four wins and one loss but the Austin Sailors were close on their heels with a record of three and two. The Marines after a poor start, came up fast and broke even with two wins and two losses. Mendel and Fedigan brought up the rear with two and three, and one and four respectively.

Fedigan Surprises

The way things shaped up after the first week of play these final standings were quite a surprise for the boys from Fedigan Hall took a one point thriller from the Austin team and the Mendel Hallers subdued Alumni leaving everyone with the impression that the final league battle would be between Fedigan and Mendel. The next night Austin beat the Marines by twenty points but the Marines were thought to have a very big but slow aggregation.

Sensing disaster ahead unless this condition was remedied. Chuck Boteler and Dick Merlino, respective managers of the Marines and Civilians, put their teams through extensive drills to find the proper combination which would work together. These practices put more speed into the boys and taught them the fundamentals of team play.

Holds Practice

In the meantime Austin Hall was not wasting any time either, and with the return of Bill Smith and Dick Tierney from football, both over six foot, added much needed height. The long hours of steady drill and practice brought results as can be attested by the final standings.

These practices also helped the shooting eyes of the boys too for the total scores of the leaders in the scoring parade to show the first five high scores were made by the boys from these top teams.

Sooner High

The leader in the scoring was Ken Sonner from Austin Hall. Sonners 78 points weren't even contested as he ran off with the first half scoring honors. These points included a near record of 31 points against Mendel Hall and 16 against Fedigan. The only one to stop him was Pat Coletta, from Alumni who held him to four points after he had scored an average of 14 points per game.

The next three positions in the scoring race were held by members of the Alumni championship team. Dom Longo's 45 points took second place with Al Dumsa coming close behind with 43 points.

National authorities are in a dither over the future of organized sports with respect to the manpower situation. Many college, amateur, semi-pro, and professional teams are affected by a lack of material in order to maintain their peacetime standards. One of the few leagues to escape this condition of war is the Intramural league here at Villanova.

Intramural athletics have always played a leading role in the once vast extra-curricular setup here. With the rest of the activities practically defunct, the intramurals have burst forth with an added fervor.

Sports teams within the college was started 13 years ago by Rev. E. B. McKee, O.S.A., now moderator of Varsity Athletics and Rev. John A. Vrana, O.S.A., in the basketball season of 1932. This developed from an inter-fraternity league which operated on the campus prior to that time. Later Father Vrana resigned his post and was succeeded by Rev. John R. Dunne, O.S.A., now a chaplain in the Army.

The students accepted the new league with vivid enthusiasm and that interest has been increasing every year. Sponsoring teams in touch football, basketball, baseball, softball, boxing, swimming and diving, tennis, and golf, the league contained six teams; Mendel, Alumni, Austin, Fedigan, Mendal Day Hops, and C. & F. Day Hops.

Residents of Simpson and O'Dwyer were eligible to play with Fedigan Hall. Hall prefects acted as coaches and produced teams of high calibre. Varsity athletes were declared ineligible thereby keeping the competition closer. Games were played four nights a week in addition to a few afternoon games. An All-star team was chosen at the end of the season and engaged in outside competition.

The league gave many a player a chance to play who could not see much action with the college team. It also produced some varsity material during the season.

Wildcats Meet Undefeated Valley Forge Vets Monday

Hospital Five Out To Extend Long Streak; Victorious F. & M. Here Tomorrow, Princeton Saturday

By JOE SULOCK, A. S.

Hampered by the loss of several key players, Villanova College's courtmen resume their fast pace by playing three games within six days. Lost to the team for the remainder of the season are Captain Joe Walters, leading scorer in the Philadelphia district, Bud O'Neill, stellar center, and substitutes Joe Costello, Jim Gallagher and Len Autrey. The team will be bolstered somewhat by the return of Jim Dillon, rangy pivotman, who was ineligible during the first part of the season.

The Main Liners' first opponent in these six days will be the Franklin and Marshall Diplomats, the same to be played at the Wildcat's home court, Wednesday, Jan. 10. This will be the second meeting of the two clubs during the present season. In the initial encounter, a late Diplomat rally fell short, enabling the Blue and White to walk off a 39-34 victory.

Disappointing Season

To date, the Lancastermen have had a disappointing season, but have shown considerable improvement in their latest games. They hope to avenge their early season setback.

On the following Saturday, the Cats will engage Princeton's Tigers at the Field House. Princeton will be seeking its first triumph over a Villanova court combination, for in two previous contests with the Tigers, the Blue and White prevailed by scores of 54-46 and 42-40.

Tigers Good

During the present campaign Princeton has met such top-flight court aggregations as Rider, Temple, Muhlenberg and Ellis Island C. G. While not managing to win these ball games, the Tigers did give a good account of themselves.

Key men on the Tiger quint are Ray Kurowski, brother of the World Champions St. Louis infielder, and Dave Taylor, six foot five inch center. Rounding out a tentative starting line-up are Phil Fehl, Jim Carman and Neil Zundel, all Navy V-12 trainees.

On Monday, Jan. 15, the Wildcats face their sternest test of the

Varsity Loses To Mules For Fourth Straight Defeat

Loss of Walters and O'Neill Proves Costly to Hapless 'Cats

The Villanova College basketball team suffered its fourth straight defeat Saturday night by virtue of their loss to Muhlenberg College, of Allentown. The locals dropped a 32-20 decision to the Mules in an uneventful game in Rockne Hall.

Opening the game in the successful style with which she opened the season, Villanova took a 4-1 lead early in the fracas. Later the Mules found their bearings to forge ahead 11-10 after the first period had gone by.

Al Julian's passers proceeded to turn on the heat in the second stanza while holding the Wildcats scoreless. Due to the efforts of Jim Doran, their big center; the boys from Allentown led 17-10 at intermission.

In the third quarter the Mules put on a repetition of the previous period by adding five more points while the Main Liners went scoreless for the entire ten minutes. Going into the final chapter, Villanova found the cords but too late to be of any avail as the trailing Cats were behind 32-20 when the final whistle was blown.

Loss of Walters

A big factor in Villanova's loss was the absence of Joe Walters who had sparked the Cats to their first four wins with his rapid fire scoring. Walters, along with Bud O'Neill left the squad after the Christmas vacation. Dick Madigan took Walters' place at guard while Chuck Froelicher replaced O'Neill as the number one reserve.

Muhlenberg was also handicapped by the loss of Ray Baldwin, former Union College forward who has been a consistent regular all season. Baldwin had been nursing an injury received in a previous game. This didn't dampen the spirits of the Cardinal and Grey, however, as they romped to their eleventh consecutive win and lengthened their undefeated streak.

Doran High

Taking scoring honors for the game in which Coach Julian used practically all of his players was big Jim Doran, former Ridgefield High (N. J.) performer. The discharged Marine veteran sank four field goals and converted two free throws for a total of ten points.

For the Blue and White, dependable Lee Carter, who has been playing steady ball in all games to date, scored eight of the total twenty points by way of four field goals. Bill Schanberger and Dick Madigan were runner-ups with five apiece.

First Game

This was the first of a home and home series between Muhlenberg and Villanova. The second game between the two colleges will be played in the Field House on January 24.

In The Sportlight

By DAVID I. RYAN

Playing varsity basketball on the Blue and White quintet is only one of the many extracurricular activities which Dave Ward has found around this campus to while away dull moments between classes and studies. He is, in addition, secretary of the Sanctuary Society, a member of the Phi Kappa Pi and the AIEE. Digging for a little background of his college activities, the record books further tell us that he played with the varsity baseball team last season, doing duty out in left field, and that he was a member of the varsity football squad this past season.

However, the more pertinent data informs us that "Versitile Dave" has been a basketball player from "away back." His first taste of organized basketball was had while he was still a student at West Catholic High School, in Philadelphia. Here under the tutelage of Coach Bob Dougherty, one of the best coaches in Philadelphia's Catholic League, Dave learned his fundamentals well, and in recognition of his ability, "Doc" made Dave a varsity squad member during his junior and senior years.

After entering Villanova in November, 1942, Dave was made a member of the All-Star Intramural team. He repeated with this team again last season.

From the word "go", Dave is known as a fighter on the court. To use a rather trite expression, this rugged forward "is ready, willing and able" to do both the team and the school proud whenever the going gets tough . . . and it's been a tough season.

On the literary side, our Electrical Engineering basketeer is present sports editor of the Belle Air, and was sports editor of the Villanovan, being on the staff for three years.

Tall, rangy William "The Curl, Jr." Schanberger, second highest scorer among Al Severence's charges has been a varsity player from the very beginning of the season. But this has come about through no mere accident.

As a high school player at Loyola High School in Baltimore, Bill was a two year varsity player and gained local fame by being the top scorer on this squad. He was also known as a better than average floor player.

His team won the Maryland State Championship in his senior year. In addition to playing basketball, Bill was a class officer for four years, a member of the Sodality and a member of the Freshmen baseball nine.

After high school Bill entered Loyola College and was made a first string varsity player when he was first eligible for intercollegiate competition. In the Villanova-Loyola court tussle last season Bill played with the Greyhounds in both of their defeats.

In college Schanberger was also a class officer and Sodality member. It is well to note that he made the varsity basketball team in his freshman year. Besides his basketball prowess, Bill also played squash for an independent team and was a swimmer on an amateur team in Baltimore.

Born on December 23 in Baltimore, Bill was raised in his native city.

At present he is a Junior here and in studies as in basketball, he is a top-flight man.

Breen, Bastedo Transferred To Camp Lejeune

One of the two physical instructors who were transferred last Friday is Sgt. Joseph A. Bastedo, USMC. Bastedo was a member of the original ship's company when the V-12 first came to Villanova and was sent to New River for overseas training.

The Sergeant was born in New York City on October 25, 1917. At the age of sixteen, urged by a desire to travel, he obtained employment on a passenger liner.

Bastedo entered the service of the United States Marine Corps on July 24, 1936. Following his three months of basic training at Parris Island, he was transferred to San Diego where he remained for the next eleven months.

Sent to Shanghai

In 1937, as a member of a United States Expeditionary Force, Bastedo was sent to Shanghai, China. Here he spent six months, until the time of his transfer to the Philippine Islands. A two year period of service there was followed by three months of active duty on Mare Island.

Later, upon his return to the United States, Bastedo was stationed at the Brooklyn Navy Yard for eight months. In 1940 he was given an honorable discharge from the Marine Corps, but after a very brief interval, was recalled to active duty to train a Seabee Unit at Norfolk, Va.

Became Sergeant in 1942

During his fulfillment of the latter position, Bastedo was promoted to corporal's rank. On October 26,

Three Way Tie In Phi Kappa Pi Bowling League

By BILL FARRELL, A. S.
Guest Writer

Highlighting last week's matches was the struggle between the Holy Rollers and the 300 Club for first place. Moving a step closer to the P. K. P. trophy which is awarded to the winner of the league by squeezing out a three to one victory over their opponents. While they lacked the services of one of their star bowlers, Al Sondheimer, the Holy Rollers did not appear too perturbed as shown by the results.

Thompson High

Bill Thompson of the Holy Rollers put in a bid for the high 200 game but fell short by 7 pins. He rolled a 213, which was high for the day. Don Reinhardt still holds the high 200 honors by virtue of his 220 on opening day. Other 200 games rolled Saturday were Shoemaker's 209 and Belletti's 201.

The Flakers swept their match with the Sack Hounds by taking the entire four matches. This throws them into a three way tie for second place with Lost Cause and 300 Club. The Lost Cause team squeezed out the first game, lost the next, then came back strong to swamp the Wash Bowlers in the last game for a three to one win.

Wash Bowlers Last

The Wash Bowlers are still supporting the league by holding down last place. In the other game for the day, the Alley Cats took two and lost two for a split with Bucky's Boys.

Standings:

Holy Rollers	11	1
Flakers	7	5
Lost Cause	7	5
Alley Cats	6	6
Bucky's Boys	5	7
Sack Hounds	3	9

Intramural Loop Starts Second Half Of Season

Thirty Game Schedule Gets Under Way Monday Night

The second half of the Intramural Basketball League got under way last night with the Marines facing Austin in a twin bill in which Mendel encountered Fedigan in the nightcap. The winner of this second half will meet Alumni Hall in the playoffs at the end of the schedule.

The second half calls for thirty games for the five teams and will draw to a close on February 19. With the exception of four Friday night games all of the contests will be wagered on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Contrary to previous plans a team representing the Day Hops was not added in the second half. This was due to the lack of players to participiate on the Day Students aggregation.

DAVID, KUZMAN HONORED

Among the post season football selections made by the sportswriters all over the nation included the All-Catholic team in which two Villanovans made the first team. Bob David, plunging fullback, who performed in the first five games was chosen as first string fullback, and Bill Kuzman came through with left end berth.

Kuzman, although injured in mid-season, was outstanding in the games he played while David was transferred to New River after the Muhlenberg game. Both players served as co-captains during the past campaign.

Noteworthy is the fact that the competition was keen with such schools as Notre Dame, Holy Cross, Boston College, and others figuring in the race. Jim Reilly, Holy Cross guard, who placed on the Villanova all-opponent team also made this mythical eleven.

Here and There

By JOE McLAUGHLIN

Returning to the campus after a nine day vacation we find that Al Severance's basketeers have 13 games left to play in the present season. Of these 13 the Villanova squad has already met five and of these five the team has defeated three, Loyola College of Baltimore, U.S. Marines (Phila. Navy Yard), and Franklin and Marshall.

Last Saturday's game with Muhlenberg was the first of two to be played this season. The next game with Muhlenberg will be played Jan. 24, at the Field House.

—V—

The basketball team's stellar guard, Joe Walters, has left the court behind in order to devote more time to his Pre-Medical studies. Bud O'Neill, forward on the team, will not be able to play until sometime in the early part of February.

Both Walters and O'Neill will play intramural basketball with Fedigan and Mendel Halls, respectively.

This ought to put Fedigan and Mendel out in front for the coming second half of the tournament.

—V—

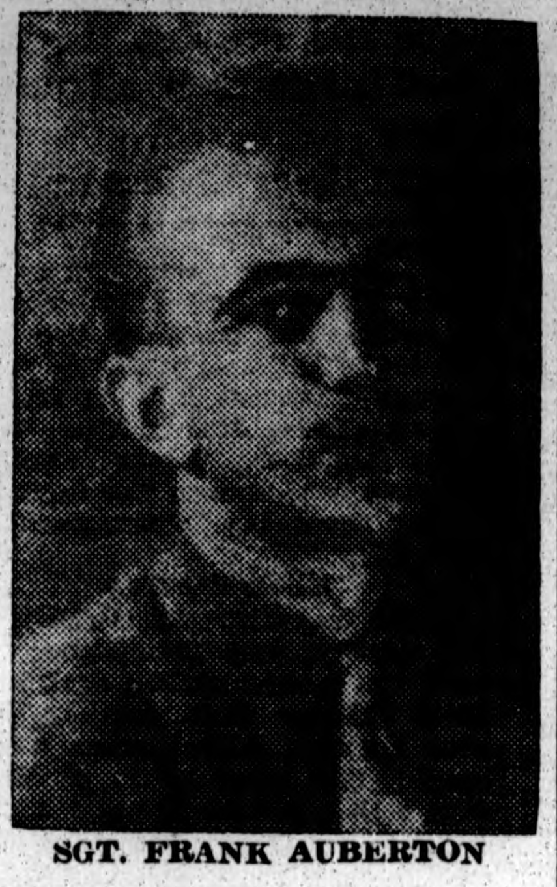
The first half of the Intramural tournament was completed and the victor sparked by the outstanding performance of Dom. Longo of Alumni Hall after losing their first game they came back to win the rest and take the chaplonship. It is however more likely in the second half of the tournament that Fedigan or Mendel take the "Championship" with the civilians as runners up.

The Sports staff of this organ wish to extend a warm welcome to Sgts. Auberton and Christein and say farewell to Sgts. Breen and Bastedo who while they were here extended every courtesy to the Sports Editors and their staffs.

Two First Marine Division Veterans Arrive Here

Marine Corps Sergeant Frank Auberton is one of the two new physical instructors assigned to the Ship's Company here at the college. Sergeant Auberton is a native of Atlantic City, the "playground of the world." He attended St. Nicholas grammar school in that city and graduated from Holy Spirit High School in 1940.

Two years later, in January 1942, Frank entered the Marine Corps and was immediately sent to Parris Island, S. C. for boot training. Following P. I. he was sent to Camp Lejeune, N. C. for advanced training and from there assigned to the famous Marine First Division.



SGT. FRANK AUBERTON

Starts Long Tour

He shipped out with the First Division from San Francisco to South Pacific to start a long and hazardous tour of duty. Sgt. Auberton took part in the historic landing on Guadalcanal and later landed on New Britain, Peleliu, and the Russell Islands. Later he was sent to New Guinea.

After New Guinea, his outfit went to New Zealand and from there to Australia. All in all, Frank spent 29 months on the other side and returned to the states last autumn. In recognition of his work, he received the Presidential Unit Citation and was also awarded the Purple Heart for wounds received in action against the enemy.

Replaces Bastedo

Auberton reported here January 1, after his 30 day overseas furlough expired. His duties here will be to replace Sergeant Bastedo and assist Specialist Weigle in swimming classes.

The other half of the duet is Sergeant Lewis Christein who comes to Villanova as Sergeant Breen's replacement. Sergeant Christein hails from nearby Bethlehem where he was born September 29, 1919. He attended grammar and high school in the place of his birth. While at Bethlehem High he was a member of the soccer, baseball, and track teams.

Played Softball

He also played football and upon leaving Bethlehem High played with a semi-pro softball team. After completing his education he went to work at the Bethlehem Steel Co. where he worked until 1940. In October of the same year, he enlisted in the Marine Corps.

After eight weeks at Parris Island, Lew was shipped directly to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba and from there transferred to Puerto Rica. The following year he returned to the states and was sent to New River to join the First Division. While at New River he received both his Pfc. and Corporal's stripes.

In June, 1942, Christein again left the states, this time with the First Division which was soon to make world history. On Aug. 7, 1942 he landed on Guadalcanal and remained there several weeks during which time he was promoted to sergeant.

SGT. LEWIS CHRISTEIN

From "the Island" Sgt. Christein went on to Cape Gloucester, New Britain, New Guinea, and Peleliu. On Peleliu he received a letter of meritorious promotion and was made an acting platoon sergeant of his rifle platoon. Other stops included Fiji Islands, New Hebrides, New Zealand, and Australia to wind up a long trip that lasted thirty months.

Added to Staff

In November, 1944, he sailed through the Golden Gate, this time in the coveted direction sporting the Presidential Unit Citation which he had so well earned. After the usual thirty-day furlough the Sgt. was ordered to Villanova and arrived here January 1. He will be added to Lt. Kuffel's staff and will work with Chiefs Zukas and Rogala.

Major Tom Carbine, '43, Relates Story of Crash Landing; Lt. Al Eahart, Ex-'45, Killed in Action in France; William Kokes, '39, Wounded in East Indies

By HUGH FALLON

From a Ninth Air Force Fighter-Bomber Base, in Belgium, came this picture of Major Thomas J. Carbine, Hildale Road, Villanova, Pa., being decorated with the Air Medal by Major General E. R. Quesada at recent ceremonies in Belgium, for "meritorious achievement for participating in missions over enemy territory."

LT. ALBERT EAHART JR.

Major Carbine, commander of a P-47 Thunderbolt squadron which flies in support of the U. S. First Army in Germany, recently crash landed his plane at 220 miles an hour without injury. Over Euskirchen, enemy anti-aircraft shells had exploded in the wing of his plane blowing the gun bay doors open and long belts of .50 calibre ammunition flopped out over the wing. The turbulance threw his plane into a stall and he found he could maintain flight and avoid spins only by keeping his air speed above 215 miles an hour. Back over his base, Major Carbine found he had no alternative but to crash land—literally fly his plane into the ground on its belly—at 220 miles an hour.

MAJ. THOMAS CARBINE

Crash Landing

Coming down on the runway his plane scraped the concrete, threw up a shower of sparks and then rose twenty feet into the air again before settling down and sliding to a stop. It was the fastest landing in a fighter plane that pilots at his base had witnessed.

Major Carbine, previous to participating in operations in the European theater, was stationed in Iceland.

Carbine, who graduated from St. Joseph's Prep School, received his B. A. from Villanova in 1939. While at Villanova, he was a member of the Belle Air Staff for three years and college editor in his Senior year. He played on the 150 lb. football team for two years, and was captain in his Junior year.

Member of Many Societies

He joined the Epsilon Phi Theta in his Sophomore year, was vice president in the Junior year and president as a Senior. He was a member of the Beta Gamma Fraternity and the Belle Masque for a year each, and the Choral Society and Sancutary Society for two years each.

He was a member of the Orientation Committee in his Sophomore year, the Summer Hop Committee, the Contennial Ball Committee, and the Sophomore Cotillion. He was also a member of the Villanovan staff for four years.

According to word received by Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Ehart, of Midland Avenue, Wayne, Pa., their son, First Lieutenant Albert M., Jr., was killed in action in Germany on November 20. He was 22 years old.

Graduate of Waldron

A graduate of Waldron Academy and the Valley Forge Military Academy, class of 1941, Lieutenant Ehart had completed his first year in the pre-medical school at Villanova College, when he enlisted in April, 1942.

After serving in various posts in this country, he was assigned for several months to Camp Hood, Texas, where he was an instructor in infantry tactics.

He left for overseas duty late in September of this year, and went immediately into front line action with the First Army.

Besides his parents, Lieutenant Ehart is survived by two brothers, Pfc. Daniel N., in the Air Corps at Lowery Field, Colo., and Pfc. William J., now hospitalized in England, after being wounded in France. Pfc. Daniel had completed his second year in the School of Arts and Sciences at Villanova at the time of his induction in February, 1943. Assigned to the Air Corps, he was stationed at St. Petersburg, Fla., and later served at Lincoln, Neb. He was then transfered to the Quartermaster Corps, attached to aviation, at Sheppard Field, Texas, where he learned the intricacies of ration points and menus for many hundreds of soldiers.

PFC. DANIEL EAHART

Flaherty Wounded Again

Pfc. Thomas Flaherty, Jr., graduate of the C. & F. School, Class of 1937, was wounded for the second time on October 11, 1944, somewhere in France when the jeep in which he was riding drove over a mine. He sustained cuts about the face and was removed to a hospital in Paris where he remained for six weeks, rejoining his outfit on December 5. Pvt. Flaherty was previously wounded in July in the Normandy campaign. He entered the Army 14 months ago, and went overseas four months later. A native of Bryn Mawr, his wife resides at 931 Lancaster Ave.

Word has also been received that William B. Kokes, T/4, has been wounded in the Dutch East Indies. Prior to his injury, he was awarded the Infantry Merit Badge. Bill is a graduate of the Arts School, 1939. He entered the Army in 1941.

More than a few of the men playing in inter-collegiate sports graduated from the intramural ranks.

Today the league has been somewat modified, being cut down to five teams. The teams, however, are still up to their pre-war standards and competition and interest on the part of the student body is still as keen as in the past. Rev. J. W. Kemme, O.S.A. and Rev D L Girolami, OS.A. have since been appointed co-moderators and have been doing as well as their successful predecessors.

WALTERS HIGH SCORER

Joe Walters, Villanova's high scoring sharpshooter, leads the scoring race in the Philadelphia district with 102 points in seven games. His game average is exceeded only by his brother, Bob, who is high scorer for the La Salle quintet. Joe has been a consistent scoring threat all season and held this post during the entire season.

Senior Class Organizes For Senior Weekend

Officers Nominated for Posts Will Be Elected by Ballot by Class Members Shortly

A meeting of all the students of the Senior class was held last Friday afternoon. A representative from the Student Council attended to organize the meeting, for President John Fitzgibbons of the Student Council who was not present. The idea for the organization of the Senior Class had been discussed for quite some time among members of the Council. Plans for organization were finally realized at this recent meeting.

Social Weekend

Plans for a big social weekend for the entire class was the motivating force behind the reorganization. The weekend will probably consist of a Dinner Dance which will be held off-campus on Friday evening, then a class dance will be held the following evening at the Field House. The plans for the weekend are, of course, still tentative, and the future will decide whether or not the plans will be realized.

Nominations Held

In order that better cooperation may be had among the Senior Class, officers were nominated for the following positions: President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, and Student Council Representative. To date, there are six men nominated for each position. A vote will be taken later on this week, which will eliminate all but three men from each position. The class will then vote on the three men from each position, and the victors will be chosen by a majority vote.

Yearbook Plans

John Fitzgibbons, President of the Student Council, and Editor-in-Chief of the Belle Air, talked to the members of the Senior Class about their duty in supporting the publication. He emphasized the fact that ads for the yearbook must be obtained by the class members in order that a good publication may appear next season.

Marine Trainees Fought In Pacific Theater Of War

By C. P. LAFERTY

The fourth Marine to be viewed in our overseas spotlight is Percival 'Chuck' Butler. This twenty-year-old V-12 'er hails from Jenkintown, Pennsylvania and attended the Penn Charter High school between 1939-1943. Percy though don't say that to his face entered the Marine Corps on December 14, 1942 and entered basic training in Parris Island. Further assignments were at New River, N. C., San Diego, American Samoa, The Solomon Islands, Hawaii, San Francisco, and Villanova. 'Chuck' took a summer course at the University of Hawaii last summer and holds a certificate of work from it.

Fourteen Assignments

For the second time in a month J. J. Gorman breaks into Villanovan print. He holds the Purple Heart and his unit received a Presidential Citation. A local West Philadelphia boy, Jim attended St. Thomas More High School between 1937-1941 and entered the Marine Corps on January 7th, 1942. His fourteen assignments include Parris Island, New River, N. C., San Francisco, Wellington, New Zealand, Fiji Islands, Guadalcanal, New Hebrides, New Caledonia, San Diego, the Philadelphia Naval Hospital, the Philadelphia Navy Yard, a return to New River, Franklin and Marshall and Villanova. While abroad he held the rank of a Corporal.

Richard W. McCalla, 21, native of Jenkintown, Pennsylvania attended the local high school between 138-1942. He entered the Marine Corps on October 10th, 1942 and held the rank of Sergeant overseas. His unit also received the Presidential Unit Citation. His assignments include Parris Island, New River, San Diego, American Samoa, New Zealand, Tarawa, Hawaii, San Francisco, and Villanova.

Catholic Educators Meet In Atlantic City

The thirty-fourth annual meeting of the Council of Church Boards of Education and the eleventh annual meeting of the National Commission on Christian Higher Education is being conducted at the Hotel Claridge in Atlantic City, N. J., this week from January 8 to 12 inclusive.

Two Villanova representatives, Father McGuire, O.S.A., the College President, and Father Dwyer, O.S.A., Dean of the College, will attend the meetings as members of the American Association of Colleges and Universities, which will hold sessions on Jan. 11 and Jan. 12. Also holding discussions will be the Executive Committee, College Department, National Catholic Education Association. The general theme of all the discussions will center around the topic: "The Implications of War Experiences for Christian Higher Education."

Breen, Bastedo

1942, Bastedo was again rewarded for outstandnig military merit by being made a sergeant.

In July 1943, Sgt. Bastedo was assigned to Villanova as a member of Captain Morgan's staff and made a non-commissioned officer in charge of Marine drills and instruction. Later, however, he was made a physical instructor in charge of the swimming pool, a job which he had held up to the present time.

Replaces Dorfler

The other member of the Navy Athletic Dept., who left Friday is Sergeant Eugene "Mike" Breen. Breen came to Villanova last May replacing Sgt. Ben Dorfler and went to New River along with Bastedo.

Sgt. Breen was born in North Andover, Mass., on July 9, 1914. He attended Lawrence High School where he took a pre-college course. Following graduation he went to Hampton Beach where, for a period of eleven years, he was manager of a restaurant.

Enters Army

Soon after the year of 1943 had been acclaimed as the New Year, Mike went into the United States Army. He was sent to Fort McClelland, Alabama and assigned duty as a drill instructor. The same year on May 31, he was discharged from the army in order to enlist in the Marine Corps.

As is the fate of all who wish to be Marines, Mike was sent to Parris Island to take his boot training. After his basic training was finished he was shipped to Newport, Rhode Island, and attached to a guard unit there.

Civilian Physical Training Led By Olivar, Severance

Along with his job as Dean of the College, Rev. Edward M. Dwyer, O.S.A., has taken over the position as head of Civilian Physical Training with Jordan Olivar and Al Severance as as his aides. Ollie is taking over the morning classes and Al the afternoon classes.

The P. T. classes are held twice a week for two periods or the equivalent of an hour workout. During this time the Civvies will engage in setting up exercises with games following. Such games as Softball, Volleyball, and Pushball are on the list. Along with the active games, the boys learn the art of Boxing from the capable Al Severance.

Father Dwyer is endeavoring to help the Civvies take to the P. T. "as a duck takes to water." He wants them to enjoy themselves at the varied sport program and to build their bodies for the days ahead.

So when you hear the familiar 1-2-3-4, 1-2-3-4; you'll know that the civilians are none-the-less equal to the Navy and Marine trainees who are separate from them in the P. T. course.

season when they play the highly touted Valley Forge General Hospital five, at Valley Forge.

The Medics, undefeated to date, feature a line-up composed of former college stars, led by captain Stan Szukala, former All-American from De Paul University. Szukala also played with the service champions of the United States at Camp Grant, Illinois, last season.

Other former court luminaries on the V.F.G.H. roster are John Niemiera, John Craddock and Billy Davis, all from Notre Dame. These four, along with Harley Graf, ex-Wisconson ace, comprise the starting team. Graf played with the Medics last season and led the team in scoring.

The Medics feature two capable replacements in Jack Porter, formerly of Texas Teacher's College and Aaron Tanitsky, who was one of the standouts on last year's crack Pennsylvania five.

In rolling up their undefeated record, the Medics have downed such teams as Indiantown Gap, New Castle AAB, Juniata College, Penn, Willow Grove NAS, Philadelphia C. G., Ursinus College, Ft. Hamilton and Olmsted Field. In all these contests, the Medics were never pressed for their victory.

"When you gonna make some War Bonds, Pop?"

In The Sportlight

By DAVID I. RYAN

Playing varsity basketball on the Blue and White quintet is only one of the many extracurricular activities which Dave Ward has found around this campus to while away dull moments between classes and studies. He is, in addition, secretary of the Sanctuary Society, a member of the Phi Kappa Pi and the AIEE. Digging for a little background of his college activities, the record books further tell us that he played with the varsity baseball team last season, doing duty out in left field, and that he was a member of the varsity football squad this past season.

However, the more pertinent data informs us that "Versitile Dave" has been a basketball player from "away back." His first taste of organized basketball was had while he was still a student at West Catholic High School, in Philadelphia. Here under the tutelage of Coach Bob Dougherty, one of the best coaches in Philadelphia's Catholic League, Dave learned his fundamentals well, and in recognition of his ability, "Doc" made Dave a varsity squad member during his junior and senior years.

After entering Villanova in November, 1942, Dave was made a member of the All-Star Intramural team. He repeated with this team again last season.

From the word "go" Dave is known as a fighter on the court. To use a rather trite expression, this rugged forward "is ready, willing and able" to do both the team and the school proud whenever the going gets tough . . . and it's been a tough season.

On the literary side, our Electrical Engineering basketeer is present sports editor of the Belle Air, and was sports editor of the Villanovan, being on the staff for three years.

Tall, rangy William "The Curl, Jr." Schanberger, second highest scorer among Al Severence's charges has been a varsity player from the very beginning of the season. But this has come about through no mere accident.

As a high school player at Loyola High School in Baltimore, Bill was a two year varsity player and gained local fame by being the top scorer on this squad. He was also known as a better than average floor player.

His team won the Maryland State Championship in his senior year. In addition to playing basketball, Bill was a class officer for four years, a member of the Sodality and a member of the Freshmen baseball nine.

After high school Bill entered Loyola College and was made a first string varsity player when he was first eligible for intercollegiate competition. In the Villanova-Loyola court tussle last season Bill played with the Greyhounds in both of their defeats.

In college Schanberger was also a class officer and Sodality member. It is well to note that he made the varsity basketball team in his freshman year. Besides his basketball prowess, Bill also played squash for an independent team and was a swimmer on an amateur team in Baltimore.

Born on December 23 in Baltimore, Bill was raised in his native city.

At present he is a Junior here and in studies as in basketball, he is a top-flight man.

Breen, Bastedo Transferred To Camp Lejeune

One of the two physical instructors who were transferred last Friday is Sgt. Joseph A. Bastedo, USMC. Bastedo was a member of the original ship's company when the V-12 first came to Villanova and was sent to New River for overseas training.

The Sergeant was born in New York City on October 25, 1917. At the age of sixteen, urged by a desire to travel, he obtained employment on a passenger liner.

Bastedo entered the service of the United States Marine Corps on July 24, 1936. Following his three months of basic training at Parris Island, he was transferred to San Diego where he remained for the next eleven months.

Sent to Shanghai

In 1937, as a member of a United States Expeditionary Force, Bastedo was sent to Shanghai, China. Here he spent six months, until the time of his transfer to the Philippine Islands. A two year period of service there was followed by three months of active duty on Mare Island.

Later, upon his return to the United States, Bastedo was stationed at the Brooklyn Navy Yard for eight months. In 1919 he was given an honorable discharge from the Marine Corps, but after a very brief interval, was recalled to active duty to train a Seabee Unit at Norfolk, Va.

During his fulfillment of the latter position, Bastedo was promoted to corporal's rank. On October 26,

Three Way Tie In Phi Kappa Pi Bowling League

By BILL FARRELL, A. S.
Guest Writer

Highlighting last week's matches was the struggle between the Holy Rollers and the 300 Club for first place. Moving a step closer to the P. K. P. trophy which is awarded to the winner of the league by squeezing out a three to one victory over their opponents. While they lacked the services of one of their star bowlers, Al Sondheimer, the Holy Rollers did not appear too perturbed as shown by the results.

Thompson High

Bill Thompson of the Holy Rollers put in a bid for the high 200 game but fell short by 7 pins. He rolled a 213, which was high for the day. Don Reinhardt still holds the high 200 honors by virtue of his 220 on opening day. Other 200 games rolled Saturday were Shoemaker's 209 and Belletti's 201.

The Flakers swept their match with the Sack Hounds by taking the entire four matches. This throws them into a three way tie for second place with Lost Cause and 300 Club. The Lost Cause team squeezed out the first game, lost the next, then came back strong to swamp the Wash Bowlers in the last game for a three to one win.

Wash Bowlers Last

The Wash Bowlers are still supporting the league by holding down last place. In the other game for the day, the Alley Cats took two and lost two for a split with Bucky's Boys.

Standings:

Holy Rollers	11	1
Flakers	7	5
Lost Cause	7	5
Alley Cats	6	6
Bucky's Boys	5	7
Sack Hounds	3	9

Intramural Loop Starts Second Half Of Season

Thirty Game Schedule Gets Under Way Monday Night

The second half of the Intramural Basketball League got under way last night with the Marines facing Austin in a twin bill in which Mendel encountered Fedigan in the nightcap. The winner of this second half will meet Alumni Hall in the playoffs at the end of the schedule.

The second half calls for thirty games for the five teams and will draw to a close on February 19. With the exception of four Friday night games all of the contests will be wagered on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Contrary to previous plans a team representing the Day Hops was not added in the second half. This was due to the lack of players to participate on the Day Students aggregation.

DAVID, KUZMAN HONORED

Among the post season football selections made by the sportswriters all over the nation included the All-Catholic team in which two Villanovans made the first team. Bob David, plunging fullback, who performed in the first five games was chosen as first string fullback, and Bill Kuzman came through with left end berth.

Kuzman, although injured in mid-season, was outstanding in the games he played while David was transferred to New River after the Muhlenberg game. Both players served as co-captains during the past campaign.

Noteworthy is the fact that the competition was keen with such schools as Notre Dame, Holy Cross, Boston College, and others figuring in the race. Jim Reilly, Holy Cross guard, who placed on the Villanova all-opponent team also made this mythical eleven.

The Sports staff of this organ wish to extend a warm welcome to Sgts. Auberton and Christein and say farewell to Sgts. Breen and Bastedo who while they were here extended every courtesy to the Sports Editors and their staffs.

By JOE McLAUGHLIN

Returning to the campus after a nine day vacation we find that Al Severance's basketeers have 13 games left to play in the present season. Of these 13 the Villanova squad has already met five and of these five the team has defeated three, Loyola College of Baltimore, U.S. Marines (Phila. Navy Yard), and Franklin and Marshall.

Last Saturday's game with Muhlenberg was the first of two to be played this season. The next game with Muhlenberg will be played Jan. 24, at the Field House.

—V—

The basketball team's stellar guard, Joe Walters, has left the court behind in order to devote more time to his Pre-Medical studies. Bud O'Neill, forward on the team, will not be able to play until sometime in the early part of February.

Both Walters and O'Neill will play intramural basketball with Fedigan and Mendel Halls, respectively.

This ought to put Fedigan and Mendel out in front for the coming second half of the tournament.

—V—

The first half of the Intramural tournament was completed and the victor sparked by the outstanding performance of Dom. Longo of Alumni Hall after losing their first game they came back to win the rest and take the chapionship. It is however more likely in the second half of the tournament that Fedigan or Mendel take the "Championship" with the civilians as runners up.

Two First Marine Division Veterans Arrive Here

Marine Corps Sergeant Frank Auberton is one of the two new physical instructors assigned to the Ship's Company here at the college. Sergeant Auberton is a native of Atlantic City, the "playground of the world." He attended St. Nicholas grammar school in that city and graduated from Holy Spirit High School in 1940.

Two years later, in January 1942, Frank entered the Marine Corps and was immediately sent to Parris Island, S. C. for boot training. Following P. I. he was sent to

SGT. FRANK AUBERTON

Camp Lejeune, N. C. for advanced training and from there assigned to the famous Marine First Division.

Starts Long Tour

He shipped out with the First Division from San Francisco to South Pacific to start a long and hazardous tour of duty. Sgt. Auberton took part in the historic landing on Guadalcanal and later landed on New Britain, Peleliu, and the Russell Islands. Later he was sent to New Guinea.

After New Guinea, his outfit went to New Zealand and from there to Australia. All in all, Frank spent 29 months on the other side and returned to the states last autumn. In recognition of his work, he received the Presidential Unit Citation and was also awarded the Purple Heart for wounds received in action against the enemy.

Replaces Bastedo

Auberton reported here January 1, after his 30 day overseas furlough expired. His duties here will be to replace Sergeant Bastedo and assist Specialist Weigle in swimming classes.

The other half of the duet is Sergeant Lewis Christein who comes to Villanova as Sergeant Breen's replacement. Sergeant Christein hails from nearby Bethlehem where he was born September 29, 1919. He attended grammar and high school in the place of his birth. While at Bethlehem High he was a member of the soccer, baseball, and track teams.

Played Softball

He also played football and upon leaving Bethlehem High played with a semi-pro softball team. After completing his education he went to work at the Bethlehem Steel Co. where he worked until 1940. In October of the same year, he enlisted in the Marine Corps.

After eight weeks at Parris Island, Lew was shipped directly to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba and from there transferred to Puerto Rica. The following year he returned to the states and was sent to New River to join the First Division. While at New River he received both his Pfc. and Corporal's stripes.

In June, 1942, Christein again left the states, this time with the First Division which was soon to make world history. On Aug. 7, 1942 he landed on Guadalcanal and remained there several weeks during which time he was promoted to sergeant.

From "the Island" Sgt. Christein went on to Cape Gloucester, New Britain, New Guinea, and Peleliu. On Peleliu he received a letter of meritorious promotion and was made an acting platoon sergeant of his rifle platoon. Other stops included Fiji Islands, New Hebrides, New Zealand, and Australia to wind up a long trip that lasted thirty months.

Added to Staff

In November, 1944, he sailed through the Golden Gate, this time in the coveted direction sporting the Presidential Unit Citation which he had so well earned. After the usual thirty-day furlough the Sgt. was ordered to Villanova and arrived here January 1. He will be added to Lt. Kuffel's staff and will work with Chiefs Zukas and Rogala.

Major Tom Carbine, '43, Relates Story of Crash Landing; Lt. Al Eahart, Ex-'45, Killed in Action in France; William Kokes, '39, Wounded in East Indies

By HUGH FALLON

From a Ninth Air Force Fighter-Bomber Base, in Belgium, came this picture of Major Thomas J. Carbine, Hildale Road, Villanova, Pa., being decorated with the Air Medal by Major General E. R.

LT. ALBERT EAHART JR.

Quesada at recent ceremonies in Belgium, for "meritorious achievement for participating in missions over enemy territory."

Major Carbine, commander of a P-47 Thunderbolt squadron which flies in support of the U. S. First Army in Germany, recently crash landed his plane at 220 miles an hour without injury. Over Euskirchen, enemy anti-aircraft shells had exploded in the wing of his plane blowing the gun bay doors open and long belts of .50 calibre ammunition flopped out over the wing. The turbulance threw his plane into a stall and he found he could maintain flight and avoid spins only by keeping his air speed above 215 miles an hour. Back over his base, Major Carbine found he had no alternative but to crash land—literally fly his plane into the ground on its belly—at 220 miles an hour.

Crash Landing

Coming down on the runway his plane scraped the concrete, threw up a shower of sparks and then rose twenty feet into the air again before settling down and sliding to a stop. It was the fastest landing in a fighter plane that pilots at his base had witnessed.

Major Carbine, previous to participating in operations in the European theater, was stationed in Iceland.

Carbine, who graduated from St. Joseph's Prep School, received his B. A. from Villanova in 1939. While at Villanova, he was a member of the Belle Air Staff for three years and college editor in his Senior year. He played on the 150 lb. football team for two years, and was captain in his Junior year.

Member of Many Societies

He joined the Epsilon Phi Theta in his Sophomore year, was vice president in the Junior year and president as a Senior. He was a member of the Beta Gamma Fraternity and the Belle Masque for a year each, and the Choral Society and Sancutary Society for two years each.

He was a member of the Orientation Committee in his Sophomore year, the Summer Hop Committee, the Contennial Ball Committee, and the Sophomore Cotillion. He was also a member of the Villanovan staff for four years.

According to word received by Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Ehart, of Midland Avenue, Wayne, Pa., their son, First Lieutenant Albert M., Jr., was killed in action in Germany on November 20. He was 22 years old.

Graduate of Waldron

A graduate of Waldron Academy and the Valley Forge Military Academy, class of 1941, Lieutenant Ehart had completed his first year in the pre-medical school at Villanova College, when he enlisted in April, 1942.

After serving in various posts in this country, he was assigned for several months to Camp Hood, Texas, where he was an instructor in infantry tactics.

He left for overseas duty late in September of this year, and went immediately into front line action with the First Army.

Besides his parents, Lieutenant Ehart is survived by two brothers, Pfc. Daniel N., in the Air Corps at Lowery Field, Colo., and Pfc. William J., now hospitalized in England, after being wounded in France. Pfc. Daniel had completed his second year in the School of Arts and Sciences at Villanova at the time of his induction in February, 1943. Assigned to the Air Corps, he was stationed at St. Petersburg, Fla., and later served at Lincoln, Neb. He was then transfered to the Quartermaster Corps, attached to aviation, at Sheppard Field, Texas, where he learned the intricacies of ration points and menus for many hundreds of soldiers.

Flaherty Wounded Again

Pfc. Thomas Flaherty, Jr., graduate of the C. & F. School, Class of 1937, was wounded for the second time on October 11, 1944, somewhere in France when the jeep in which he was riding drove over a mine. He sustained cuts about the face and was removed to a hospital in Paris where he remained for six weeks, rejoining his outfit on December 5. Pvt. Flaherty was previously wounded in July in the Normandy campaign. He entered the Army 14 months ago, and went overseas four months later. A native of Bryn Mawr, his wife resides at 931 Lancaster Ave.

Word has also been received that William B. Kokes, T/4, has been wounded in the Dutch East Indies. Prior to his injury, he was awarded the Infantry Merit Badge. Bill is a graduate of the Arts School, 1939. He entered the Army in 1941.

More than a few of the men playing in inter-collegiate sports graduated from the intramural ranks.

Today the league has been somewat modified, being cut down to five teams. The teams, however, are still up to their pre-war standards and competition and interest on the part of the student body is still as keen as in the past. Rev. J. W. Kemme, O.S.A. and Rev D L Girolami, OS.A. have since been appointed co-moderators and have been doing as well as their successful predecessors.

WALTERS HIGH SCORER

Joe Walters, Villanova's high scoring sharpshooter, leads the scoring race in the Philadelphia district with 102 points in seven games. His game average is exceeded only by his brother, Bob, who is high scorer for the La Salle quintet. Joe has been a consistent scoring threat all season and held this post during the entire season.

Senior Class Organizes For Senior Weekend

A meeting of all the students of the Senior class was held last Friday afternoon. A representative from the Student Council attended to organize the meeting, for President John Fitzgibbons of the Student Council who was not present. The idea for the organization of the Senior Class had been discussed for quite some time among members of the Council. Plans for organization were finally realized at this recent meeting.

Social Weekend

Plans for a big social weekend for the entire class was the motivating force behind the reorganization. The weekend will probably consist of a Dinner Dance which will be held off-campus on Friday evening, then a class dance will be held the following evening at the Field House. The plans for the weekend are, of course, still tentative, and the future will decide whether or not the plans will be realized.

Nominations Held

In order that better cooperation may be had among the Senior Class, officers were nominated for the following positions: President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, and Student Council Representative. To date, there are six men nominated for each position. A vote will be taken later on this week, which will eliminate all but three men from each position. The class will then vote on the three men from each position, and the victors will be chosen by a majority vote.

Yearbook Plans

John Fitzgibbons, President of the Student Council, and Editor-in-Chief of the Belle Air, talked to the members of the Senior Class about their duty in supporting the publication. He emphasized the fact that ads for the yearbook must be obtained by the class members in order that a good publication may appear next season.

Marine Trainees Fought In Pacific Theater Of War

By C. P. LAFERTY

The fourth Marine to be viewed in our overseas spotlight is Percival 'Chuck' Butler. This twenty-year-old V-12 'er hails from Jenkintown, Pennsylvania and attended the Penn Charter High school between 1939-1943. Percy though don't say that to his face entered the Marine Corps on December 14, 1942 and entered basic training in Parris Island. Further assignments were at New River, N. C., San Diego, American Samoa, The Solomon Islands, Hawaii, San Francisco, and Villanova. 'Chuck' took a summer course at the University of Hawaii last summer and holds a certificate of work from it.

Fourteen Assignments

For the second time in a month J. J. Gorman breaks into Villanovan print. He holds the Purple Heart and his unit received a Presidential Citation. A local West Philadelphia boy, Jim attended St. Thomas More High School between 1937-1941 and entered the Marine Corps on January 7th, 1942. His fourteen assignments include Parris Island, New River, N. C., San Francisco, Wellington, New Zealand, Fiji Islands, Guadalcanal, New Hebrides, New Caledonia, San Diego, the Philadelphia Naval Hospital, the Philadelphia Navy Yard, a return to New River, Franklin and Marshall and Villanova. While abroad he held the rank of a Corporal.

Richard W. McCalla, 21, native of Jenkintown, Pennsylvania attended the local high school between 138-1942. He entered the Marine Corps on October 10th, 1942 and held the rank of Sergeant overseas. His unit also received the Presidential Unit Citation. His assignments include Parris Island, New River, San Diego, American Samoa, New Zealand, Tarawa, Hawaii, San Francisco, and Villanova.

Catholic Educators Meet In Atlantic City

The thirty-fourth annual meeting of the Council of Church Boards of Education and the eleventh annual meeting of the National Commission on Christian Higher Education is being conducted at the Hotel Claridge in Atlantic City, N. J., this week from January 8 to 12 inclusive.

Two Villanova representatives, Father McGuire, O.S.A., the College President, and Father Dwyer, O.S.A., Dean of the College, will attend the meetings as members of the American Association of Colleges and Universities, which will hold sessions on Jan. 11 and Jan. 12. Also holding discussions will be the Executive Committee, College Department, National Catholic Education Association. The general theme of all the discussions will center around the topic: "The Implications of War Experiences for Christian Higher Education."

The other member of the Navy Athletic Dept., who left Friday is Sergeant Eugene "Mike" Breen. Breen came to Villanova last May replacing Sgt. Ben Dorfler and went to New River along with Bastedo.

Sgt. Breen was born in North Andover, Mass., on July 9, 1914. He attended Lawrence High School where he took a pre-college course. Following graduation he went to Hampton Beach where, for a period of eleven years, he was manager of a restaurant.

Enters Army

Soon after the year of 1943 had been acclaimed as the New Year, Mike went into the United States Army. He was sent to Fort McClelland, Alabama and assigned duty as a drill instructor. The same year on May 31, he was discharged from the army in order to enlist in the Marine Corps.

As is the fate of all who wish to be Marines, Mike was sent to Parris Island to take his boot training. After his basic training was finished he was shipped to Newport, Rhode Island, and attached to a guard unit there.

Civilian Physical Training Led By Olivar, Severance

Along with his job as Dean of the College, Rev. Edward M. Dwyer, O.S.A., has taken over the position as head of Civilian Physical Training with Jordan Olivar and Al Severance as as his aides. Ollie is taking over the morning classes and Al the afternoon classes.

The P. T. classes are held twice a week for two periods or the equivalent of an hour workout. During this time the Civvies will engage in setting up exercises with games following. Such games as Softball, Volleyball, and Pushball are on the list. Along with the active games, the boys learn the art of Boxing from the capable Al Severance.

Father Dwyer is endeavoring to help the Civvies take to the P. T. "as a duck takes to water." He wants them to enjoy themselves at the varied sport program and to build their bodies for the days ahead.

So when you hear the familiar 1-2-3-4, 1-2-3-4; you'll know that the civilians are none-the-less equal to the Navy and Marine trainees who are separate from them in the P. T. course.

season when they play the highly touted Valley Forge General Hospital five, at Valley Forge.

The Medics, undefeated to date, feature a line-up composed of former college stars, led by captain Stan Szukala, former All-American from De Paul University. Szukala also played with the service champions of the United States at Camp Grant, Illinois, last season.

Other former court luminaries on the V.F.G.H. roster are John Niemiera, John Craddock and Billy Davis, all from Notre Dame. These four, along with Harley Graf, ex-Wisconson ace, comprise the starting team. Graf played with the Medics last season and led the team in scoring.

The Medics feature two capable replacements in Jack Porter, formerly of Texas Teacher's College and Aaron Tanitsky, who was one of the standouts on last year's crack Pennsylvania five.

In rolling up their undefeated record, the Medics have downed such teams as Indiantown Gap, New Castle AAB, Juniata College, Penn, Willow Grove NAS, Philadelphia C. G., Ursinus College, Ft. Hamilton and Olmsted Field. In all these contests, the Medics were never pressed for their victory.

Civil Engineers Hold Monthly Meeting

The Civil Engineers of Villanova will attend their monthly meeting tomorrow night at the headquarters of the American Society of Civil Engineers, in Philadelphia. This will be one of the regular meetings held on the second Tuesday of each month in which the members of the Villanova branch are invited to attend.

Dinner and Lectures

The meeting will get under way at six o'clock with a dinner which will be followed by lectures given by several speakers who will talk on topics of interest to today's civil engineer. Their talks will be augmented by movies and a social will wind up the affairs of the evening.

On November first of last year John enrolled at Villanova College where he remained as a student for only seven weeks before his death.

During his short stay at Villanova College however, John Flynn made many friends, and his character was admired by all. He was a generous, retiring lad and was respected by all his classmates.

John Flynn is survived by his brother, Joseph Flynn, who is a student at Villanova College at present, now in his Freshman year, and by his parents, John and Florence Flynn. The Villanovan wishes to express its condolences to his family and relatives.

peace plans in his peace points which he recently announced. His points were immediately taken up by the allied nations and incorporated into their own peace plans. Of course the strongest reason for this is the fact that the Pope of the Roman Catholic Church, the spiritual leader of many millions, is a non-partial onlooker. The Catholic Church has its members spread over the entire earth, in every imaginable country on the globe, and the Pope is the spiritual advisor of these millions. Pope Pius wishes to see that every nation in which his flock resides is treated justly and fairly.

The Pope has never yet been invited to a peace conference, and we have seen the results of these conferences in our lifetime. The scheming politicians, well versed in their policies of nationalism and grab-first have ruined every peace conference thus far.

Of course, many will object that the leader of a religious sect should attend a peace conference. Religion has no place at a peace table, it is said. Maybe if some religious principles were tried out at a peace conference, we might be assured of some type of lasting peace.

The Pope of the Roman Catholic Church is not only versed in subjects of religion, but he is also an astute politician. He knows intimately the conditions that prevail today in this world, and the effects that a world war would have on a people of any nation. His character is one of unreproach, and it is one which wields an influence in itself. The Pope knows all the tricks which international politicians have at their fingertips for ready reference, for his long study of political history fits him for the job of coping with these crafty men.

The last hope of this world is a peace based on Christian principles. The allied nations themselves have attested to this fact. The Pope knows exactly just what this tired world needs in the way of a just peace. The Catholic people should unite into an armed spiritual front and demand that the Pope sit in at the next peace conference.

The fact that the Pope might sit in on a peace conference will be an advantage to all people who uphold Christian principles as a basis for the life of many people who are not Catholics. It certainly will not be a one-sided affair, no one will get any unjust advantage over another, the peace will be a fair one, a just one, and a lasting one.

When most of us arrived at Villanova, we were disappointed to discover much of the traditional college spirit had faded away. However, instead of remeding the situation, we complacently accepted the abuse as an uncurable disease brought about by the war. As civilians we represent a small percentage of the student body. However, we are the small per cent who freely chose this school as our guide for future years; we are the small percent with whom lies the bulk of the responsibility of carrying out the traditions of the school; we are the small percent who are true Villanovans and who should be proud to call this school our almamater.

However it is very rarely that we hear anyone address it in this manner. In fact, from some of us, it receives little more than a snicker and a scorn. It is bad enough that we refuse to support athletic contests; it is bad enough that we have let slip much of the spirit that Villanova once possessed. However, to let the school be the object of our scorn, is neither possessing of faith in its merits nor hope for its future, and by no means is it charitable. This coming year will no doubt bring about many changes in the world in which we now live. Let us hope that this will include a revived Villanova — one of which Nick Basca and other of our heroes would be justly proud.

Before closing this week's column we will leave you with the following poem:

When you get what you want
in your struggle for gain,
And the world makes you king
for a day,
Just go to the mirror and look at yourself:
And see what that man has to say!

It isn't your father or mother or wife,
Who judgment upont you must pass.
The one whose verdict counts
most in your life:
Is the one staring back in the glass.

He's the one you must satisfy beyond all the rest,
For he's with you right up to the end. . .
And you have passed your most difficult test:
If the man in the glass is your friend.

You may be one who got a good break—
Then think you're a wonderful guy;
But the man in the glass says
you're only a fake:
If you can't look him straight in the eye.

You may fool the whole world down the pathway of years. . .
And gets pats on the back as you
pass;
But your final reward will be heartaches and tears:
If you've cheated the Man in the Glass!

A PIG is an animal whose habits are a terrible disgrace. He stuffs his belly with every bit of food in sight, leaving nothing for his next meal. He'd be an awfully sorry little pig if the farmer suddenly stopped filling his trough. You keep spending your money as fast as it comes in and, when this war's over, you'll have an "empty trough" on your hands, too . . . that is, if you'd rather be a pig.

Seniors Elect John Fitzgibbons Class President

Dumsa, Millet, Solis, and Infannon Take Over Key Positions; New Social Activities Planned

Election of officers of the Senior Class were held last Friday afternoon in Mendel Hall. Members of the senior class congregated in room 215 to vote for their choice of officers. The meeting was presided over by members of the Student Council who are organizing the classes to achieve a greater amount of cooperation among the student body as a whole.

JOHN FITZGIBBONS

Fitzgibbons Takes Presidency

Having started out last week to elect officers, the members of the class scrapped their first choices and compiled a new list of seniors capable of leadership. Under the direction of the Rev. E. T. Grimes, O.S.A., class moderator, the seniors elected their choices. John Fitzgibbons, twice editor of the Belle Air, and President of the Student Council, was top choice for the role of President of the Senoir Class. John Fitzgibbons is a good organizer, and the class, realizing this fact, has elected him to this all-important post.

MISSION

Rev. Edwin T. Grimes, O.S.A., College Chaplain, has just announced that a mission will be held for the students on the campus—both residents and day—during the week of Jan. 21. The spiritual exercises of which it will consist include an evening sermon, Benediction, and daily Mass with instructions.

For the Residents: Services will begin on Monday evening, Jan. 22 at 6:45 P. M. and will end on Friday morning the 26th. Mass will be celebrated at 7:00 A. M. Confessions will be heard after the evening exercises and during the morning Mass.

For the Day Students: The retreat will open on Tuesday, Jan. 23 with Mass and a sermon at 8:00 A. M. A mid-day service will be held at 1:00 consisting of a sermon and Benediction.

The Very Rev. William Sheedy, O.S.A., formerly Rector of the Augustinian Mission Band, and currently Prior of St. Augustine's Church, Phila., will conduct the retreat.

Pfc. John F. Miller, Ex-'46, Killed; Capt. Michael Clavin Missing in Action

According to word received by Mr. and Mrs. Carl N. Miller, of Millersville, Pa., their son, Pfc. John F. Miller, of the Class of 1946, was killed in action in France on November 11, 1944. Pfc. Miller, who was 20 years old at the time of his death, graduated from Butler Township High School in June 1942, and entered Villanova the same month as a pre-medical student.

In March, 1943, he enlisted in the Army Reserve, and in June 1943, was called to service. After receiving basic training at Camp Farnum, Texas, he was transferred to Camp Campbell, Ky., and Fort Jackson, S. C., for further training. He went overseas in September of last year.

Surviving are his parents, a brother, Capt. Charles W. Miller, Army Medical Corps, of the Class of 1936, stationed at Orlando, Fla., and two sisters, Mrs. William Carey, of Newark, and Hazel, also residing in Newark.

Clavin Missing

Capt. Michael E. Clavin, of 7222 Fourth Ave., Brooklyn, has been reported missing in action somewhere in France. Capt. Clavin graduated from St. Francis Prep School, Brooklyn, in 1931, and matriculated at Villanova the following September in the School of Commerce and Finance. While at Villanova he was a member of the Holy Name Society, the Turf and Tinsel Club, and the Brooklyn-Long Island Club.

In his last three years, he participated in intramural sports, and was chairman in his Junior year. In his Senior year, he was Chairman of the Blazer Committee, and Manager of the Football team.

Awarded D. F. C.

First Lieutenant William H. Barthmaier, 21, of Stratford, Connecticut, a bombardier with a Twelfth Air Force B-25 Billy Mitchell bombardment group operating in Corsica, was recently awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross "for extraordinary achievement in aerial flight."

The occasion for winning the award was a bombing attack upon the Todt headquarters and warehouses at Terme, Italy, during which Lieutenant Barthmaier's plane was damaged by intense anti-aircraft fire.

"In the face of the continuing barrage," the citation accompanying the award reads, "Lieutenant Barthmaier displayed superior professional skill and determination. Guiding his pilot on true course, he released his bombs with devastating effect upon the vital objective. His outstanding proficiency in combat and steadfast devotion to duty reflect great credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States."

56 Combat Missions

With 56 combat missions to his credit, Lieutenant Barthmaier also wears the Air Medal with five clusters, the Distinguished Unit Badge, and a battle star for Italy. He has been with his unit eight months.

A graduate of Stratford High School, he attended Villanova College for three years before he entered the service. His father is Mr.

Dance, Smoker Planned; Membership Open to Freshmen After January 15th

The annual elections of the Delta Pi Epsilon were held on the tenth of January. The election returns were as follows: President, William F. Barrett; Vice-president, James P. Riley; Treasurer, Tito Infanzon; Secretary, Robert J. Conway and Sergeant-at-arms, Richard Marlino. President-elect Barrett is also the Vice-President of the Student Council and College Editor of the Belle Air, Villanova's yearbook. Jim Riley is also a Belle Air staff-member. Tito Infonzon is the Senior class representative in the Student Council.

New Socials Planned

Plans are now being formulated for the annual Smoker, Initiation Night and the traditional Fraternity Dance, which last year featured Johnny Warington in a very successful affair.

New Members Invited

Applications for Membership will be received any time on or after January 15. All freshmen and social sophomores are invited. Entrance data and other information concerning membership requirements will be issued shortly. The Commerce and Finance Fraternity, indeed, is one of the most active on the campus.

Fraternity Keys

An effort is being made to increase the Key Fund to such a figure that all members will be able to obtain their traditional Fraternity Keys before the end of the Summer semester.

2 Penna. Marines, One From Ohio Share Spotlight

By C. P. LAFERTY

Before presenting this week's victims, the Managing Editor and yours truly wish to offer apologies to "Chuck" Butler; from now on it's Percy, not Percival.

Dayton S. Mullen, 23-year-old Marine trainee, is one of the few V-12er's at Villanova who has seen action only on the Atlantic Ocean side of the continent. Dayton entered the Marine Corps in July of 1939 and received basic training at Parris Island and New River. After a brief stay in Norfolk he was assigned to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. From there he returned to New River and then to Villanova. He holds the American Theatre Service Ribbon. A native of Akron, Ohio, he attended high school in Robertsdale, Pennsylvania, between 1935 and 1939. He attended for two years the Kent State University at Kent, Ohio.

A year Dayton's junior, E. W. Keith, 22, is a native of Tyrone, Pennsylvania. After attending the township high school he enlisted in the Marines on January 8, 1942. After basic training at Parris Island there followed assignments at New River, Panama Canal, New Zealand, the Solomon Islands, Australia, San Diego, Fall Brook and Villanova. He was made a corporal in Australia.

James W. Rowland, formerly a sergeant, enlisted in the Marines on November 30, 1942. After training at Parris Island and New River he shipped to Portsmouth,

Plans For Dance Complete; Tickets On Sale Tomorrow

Dance To Be Held At Field House; All Students Invited To Attend; Committees Start Work Immediately

The 1945 Winter Hop, which features Len Mayfair and his band, will be held in the Field House on February 3, from 9:00 P. M. until 1:00 A. M. The dance itself will be an informal affair due to the transportation difficulties which prevail. The tickets for the dance, which go on sale tomorrow, will cost $2.50 including tax. The Phi Kappa Pi, which is sponsoring the dance, has hit "rock bottom" on this price, in order that tickets might be available to all.

Committee Chosen

The committees in charge of running the affair have been chosen by the PKP. The general chairman of the dance is Hugh O'Reilly, A.S., former Sports Editor of the Villanovan. The dance committee is headed by Joe Keating, A.S., and Robert Cramer, A.S. Tickets will be sold by Don Reinhardt, A.S., and associates, while the social committee is under the direction of Frank Solis, A.S. Refreshments will be supervised by Al Dumsa and the Decorations will be taken care of by Michael Flynn, A.S. and William Koness, A.S.

Len Mayfair Featured

Len Mayfair, a local lad, will be featured at the dance. Mayfair is a specialist at the piano, and also doubles on the saxophone and clarinet.

Mayfair's musical organizing talents were brought to light during his high school days, at which time he received a scholarship to Wenona Military Academy, with the duties of organizing and directing the school's orchestra and band. He later graduated from West Chester State Teachers College, receiving a Bachelor Degree in Music. He then continued his graduate studies at Temple University.

Broadcasts on Radio

While in high school, Mayfair had his own orchestra and broadcasted over local stations WIP and WDEL. At State Teachers College, Mayfair again organized and conducted his own outfit. Breaking off his graduate work, he devoted all of his time to his orchestra with concrete and gratifying results. Featured on Columbia and Mutual Networks, he also appeared in the major ballrooms and hotels along the East Coast. College Proms were among his special work during this time.

In January of 1942, Mayfair enlisted in the U.S. Navy and volunteered for overseas duty. After the necessary specialized training, he was assigned to the motor torpedo boat squadron commanded by Robert B. Kelly of "They were Expendable" fame.

Returns to States

After several months of active service, Mayfair was hospitalized and returned to the United States aboard a casualty ship. After three months in a Naval Hospital on the West Coast, Mayfair was honorably discharged.

Immediately after his discharge he returned to music, and picked up where he had left off, and has been climbing the ladder of success since then. Len Mayfair is noted for his "smooth" styling, and his arrangements are "tops" as far as modern music is concerned.

Appeal to Civilians

The Phi Kappa Pi, the organization sponsoring this dance is appealing to all civilians now enrolled at Villanova College to attend the Winter Hop. The dance can become a success or a failure depending upon their efforts, since the civilian enrollment at the college is almost numerically equal to that of the service enrollment.

Arnold And Pew At Forum Wed.

Sun Oil Vice President and Court of Appeals Judge To Speak Next Week

Thurman Arnold, Judge of the United States Court of Appeals and former United States Attorney General in charge of the Anti-Trust Division, will discuss a Free Economy with Joseph N. Pew, Jr., vice president of the Sun Oil Company, at the final meeting of the Main Line Forum at Haverford College next Wednesday night.

Beginning at 8:15 P. M., the two men will discuss the question for one hour and then will answer questions from the audience. Students selected by local schools will later meet with Mr. Pew and Judge Arnold for further discussion of the topic of a Free Economy.

Criticisms Accepted

Haverford College has announced that it would like to receive criticisms and suggestions for further forum from those who have attended any of the recent meetings at the College.

Speakers of this series have been Judge Curtis Bok, Robert J. Watt of the A. F. of L., President Robert I. Gannon of Fordham University, Dr. Rufus M. Jones, Guy Greer of Fortune Magazine, Congressmen Horter and McMurray, President Paul G. Hoffman of Studebaker Corporation, and Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana.

'Engineer' Makes Appeal For New Staff Members

The Villanova Engineer has sent out a call for new, competent members. This popular publication, mouthpiece of the Department of Engineering, faces the loss of its key men when the present senior class graduates. It is desirable, therefore, to obtain a trained reserve of underclassmen to continue the high calibre of writing which the magazine maintains.

Started by Phi Kappa Pi

The Engineer was formerly the publication of the Phi Kappa Pi. Then it was known as the Owl; later it was taken over by the engineering department and given its present name. Usually published eight times a year during less severe periods, the number has been reduced to five because of the intensified course. For the past year the magazine has been edited as a picture magazine wtih copiously illustrated articles. It has presented articles of general interest to engineering students and often these articles were from the most authoritative sources.

Adult Delinquency

JUVENILE delinquency is a phrase which has borne more than its share of the burden in explaining the present moral deterioration of the country. Educators, religious leaders, and sociologists, in trying to explain the evil, have seized upon "juvenile delinquency" and have overworked it unmercifully, inflicting a grave injustice to our younger citizens.

Many explanations have been postulated as to the cause of this moral breakdown, but as yet little light has been cast upon the true roots of the problem.

In every war a general deterioration of morality seems to go hand in hand with the inevitable sufferings, destructions, and heartaches. Far from being an exception, this present conflict appears to have exceeded all others in the magnitude of the departure from the ideals of Christian civilization and adherence to God's moral laws.

But certainly we cannot attribute this breakdown unqualifiedly to our juveniles. For, until a youth reaches maturity, is it not the duty and obligation of his parents to guide and direct his activities?

It is upon the parents primarily that the brunt of the blame should fall. For they, more than religious leaders or educators, are responsible for the care of the children. The influence of the priest extends only as far as the mothers and fathers will allow. If they hold little or no respect for the Church, its Precepts, its ministers, then what example have the children to behold? Furthermore, if the parents fail to give to their children a real home life, and something more than the money which they are making in war plants, what is to prevent the youths from running the streets?

And parents are failing to give their children proper example, real home life, and true manifestation of parental love, all of which are no mere condescending gifts they may deign to give at will, but are rights which the immature have a God-given right to demand.

Rightfully, then, the problem is not one of "juvenile delinquency", but one of "adult delinquency". The heart and soul of the morality breakdown lies with those mothers and fathers, who, using the exigencies of the war as excuses, flout their parental duties.

Far too many parents, who are working different shifts at the various war factories, give little or no consideration to the home during leisure time, but more especially while away at work. It is well enough, they feel, merely to clothe and feed the children.

In Philadelphia, it would not have been necessary for the Military Police and Shore Patrol, cooperating with the local police, to declare "out of bounds" and then to clean up the "Barbary Coast area", City Hall plaza, and sundry other sections of the city if parents had taken some interest in their children, and had given proper example themselves.

In all, if we correct this evil of adult delinquency, at least as far as is humanly possible, then the problem of juvenile delinquency will, of itself, disappear from our national scene. And it is only the parents themselves, who, under the leadership and guidance of the priests, can right the evils which they have allowed to befall this country.

Camp To Campus

By MICHAEL N. FLYNN, A.S.

We were both happy and relieved to learn that the majority of the men who shipped out from here in October 1944 are now either in Midshipman's School or have already been commissioned.

Many of the first mentioned men are well on their way to receiving the coveted gold stripe. These are the ones who were sent directly to Midshipman School in October. At the U. S. Prairie State we find, Phil Jakeway, still making good use of his basketball talents, J. Joyce, B. Regil and R. Paska.

"Sparky" Winters and Frank Dorley are finishing up at Columbia Midshipman School.

Joe Helm has practically completed his course at Northwestern University.

Most of the Civil Engineers who left at the end of lase semester just recently received their commissions at Camp Endicott.

Among this group we find Jim Redditt, Jim De Salvo, Larry Pilot and Jerry Reigger.

We were rather surprised to find that Marty Rody and Mark Manning also were commissioned at Endicott. The last we heard of them, Marty, and Mark were at Columbia, but we now discover that they transferred into the C.B's.

The men who were assigned to Asbury Park at the end of the last semester are now, for the most part, undergoing the indoctrination courses in various Midshipman Schools.

Bob Leaky is now at Cornell University, and informs us that George Matson is also "up above Cayuga's Waters."

At Annapolis we find several of our former "punchy" engineers: Tom Shubert, John Dougherty, Gus Gillespie, Ott McGuinn and Gene Weinert.

Jack McChesney writes from Columbia that most of the "deck" candidates from here have arrived there via Asbury Park. Among them are Bob Forrest and Bob "Red" O'Connor.

To finish up with a contrast—we find that Pvt. Eddie Murphy U.S.M.C.R. is now serving somewhere in the Pacific.

Meet the Boys

By HUGH FALLON

From across the Alleghenies comes William Henkel, an Electrical Engineering student from Austin Hall. Born in Pittsburgh on Sept. 28, 1924, he attended Brentwood High School, where he was very active in sports. Halfback on the football team, he was also a member of the golf and track teams.

PVT. WILLIAM HENKEL

In his Junior year, he was elected President of the class, and in his senior year, was president of the Student Forum. He also had literary inclinations and wrote for the yearbook. When he graduated in June, 1942, he was sixth in a class of 145, and was the recipient of the Senior award, an award given on the basis of his many activities in the school.

Enlists in Marines

He matriculated at Penn State for three terms in the field of Metallurgy. Here he was a member of the Beta Theta Pi Fraternity. In April 1943 he enlisted in the Marine Corps Reserve, and was called to service in the V-12 in July 1943. He was sent to Villanova, where he is studying electrical engineering.

Bill, who has been on the honor roll consistently, was catcher on the Marines' softball team. After the war he hopes to continue his studies in metallurgy, and enter the field of engineering.

Springfield, Mass., Boy

William Jones, another Marine from Austin Hall, and a student of Mechanical Engineering, was born Oct. 15, 1924, in Springfield, Mass. While attending the Technical High School in Springfield, he played in the band, and was a member of the debating team. In his Senior year he was Vice-President of Audubon Society.

HOW TO LOSE FRIENDS AND ALIENATE PEOPLE

We thought "B's" would do, but some of the "abnormal" boys think "A's" are the only thing. Yost and Dalbora made a 35 minute application for theirs the other morning. Were their applications accepted Doc?

Hear Ye, Hear ye—We hear that Don, (WOW, STATE SIDE DUTY) Peterson's romance with Ann K. is still the talk of Bryn Mawr. It even got back to us, Don!

Chick Gregory attended the after-game dance and "met" his "long planned" date. He was later observed to be enjoying himself at the Greek's and still LATER just enjoying himself. (Doc McClain please note.) (Thanks Lizak.)

We believe that Carey U.S.M.C. would be the first to offer Fr. Leary his apologies if he could have seen the so called "Blind Dates" that were obtained for Fr. 'Leary's proteges last Sat. Night. Jim Shea, John Miller, Jack Kern, and George Farrell were more than amply rewarded for their confidence bestowed and all indications point towards return engagements. (Fr. Burke please note.)

PROBLEM FOR MENDEL ENGINEERS:

Find by double integration the area bounded by curves 52 equals x plus 4 and 32 equals 4 minus 2x. The answer divulges the approximate age of Johnny Kennedy's girl. Give up 'cause you'd never guess it. (See you next week about O'Neill and/or McEntee, John.)

It seems that George Bacsik has all the virtues and no vices because a major part of Sunday evening was spent trying to produce a skeleton from his closet. Congratulations George. You are the first one yet but we'll keep trying . . . who knows we might succeed.

Like others we offer just these few words of advice to John (I'm innocent) Freytag. . . . namely that he should restrict his activities to the Philly side of the river and stay far removed from Miss F."B."I. or perhaps he'll have trouble with the bureau of the same name.

Our congratulations are extended to Charlie Cummings for his "engaging" powers of persuasion. There's only one thing . . . What

By DICK RANDOLPH and LARRY LYONS

Last Saturday night was one of those nights that is loved by copy hungry columnists, for the socialites of Villanova were really in their glory. The gay young men washed their faces, put on their other shirt, took a luscious hunk of female pulchritude into their arms and ventured onto the dance floor. Much to our surprise there were only a few sharp cries of pain during the evening indicating that the boys managed to stand on their own two feet. We thought that Dolly Dimple's Dancing School lessons had been lost in the maze of Physics, Chemistry, and Math which crowds our young character's minds.

While waltzing Matilda over the spacious floor of the Field House we saw many familiar faces—they couldn't get out of our way quick enough. Harry Edwards was the first one that we saw, he was there with Mrs. E. keeping all of "his boys" under control. Sam Geller was there with a girl from Upper Darby, the home of beautiful women, nice going, Sam. Irvin Goldberger gave everyone a treat by jitterbugging with Dan Flisher's date. Irv is without a doubt a "solid sender." Martin Binder gave everyone a scare, for they thought that he was trying to strangle his date, Martin, however, was merely trying to teach her a new dip that he had learned in his travels. Upon seeing this rather unique maneuver Dick Carli yelled out, "look at the drip dipping."

The stag line, i. e., J. P. McLaughlin, Frank Costa, Sy Stock, who was on crutches; and The John Coyne, has decided that John Burns ought to get into the armored division. They thought that he handled his M-3 wonderfully. Perhaps the funniest sight of the evening was Bob McNamara, swooning over "the Voice." It's a good thing that his

Well Wednesday night finally found us on the winning side once again after four unsuccessful starts. Although the game was rather close throughout the first three periods it was not exciting to say the least. However, the final chapter we were able to witness the fine brand of basketball that was typical of Villanova up until four games ago.

It looks as though Lee Carter is going to replace Joe Walters as our chief scoring threat. Carter scored 21 points for better than half the total and has been high scorer in every game since Walters' departure. Although not quite as accurate as Joe on the set shots, Lee is deadly under the basket. This was proven Wednesday night when he sank them from all angles.

For the first time in many a day Villanova fans saw a Severance-coached team using the pivot. Al, who is noted for being a confirmed advocate of the pick system, was forced to change his style after he lost some of his key men. The team first used the pivot during the Muhlenberg game Saturday a week ago and used it throughout the F. & M. game.

Spectators at the Main Line Field House have seen good refereeing all season but the whistle-toting for the F. & M. game was superb. Harry Barfoot and Abe Abrams have been around for quite a while and know well how to call them. Neither coach had any complaint to make against them.

Alvin Julian, Muhlenberg's coach, has been appointed as an assistant to Ox De Grosa as football coach of Holy Cross. Doggie has been associated with, or rather against Villanova for many years. As an all-around athlete at Bucknell two decades ago, later as a coach at Albright College and still later at Muhlenberg, he is well known to followers of the Cats.

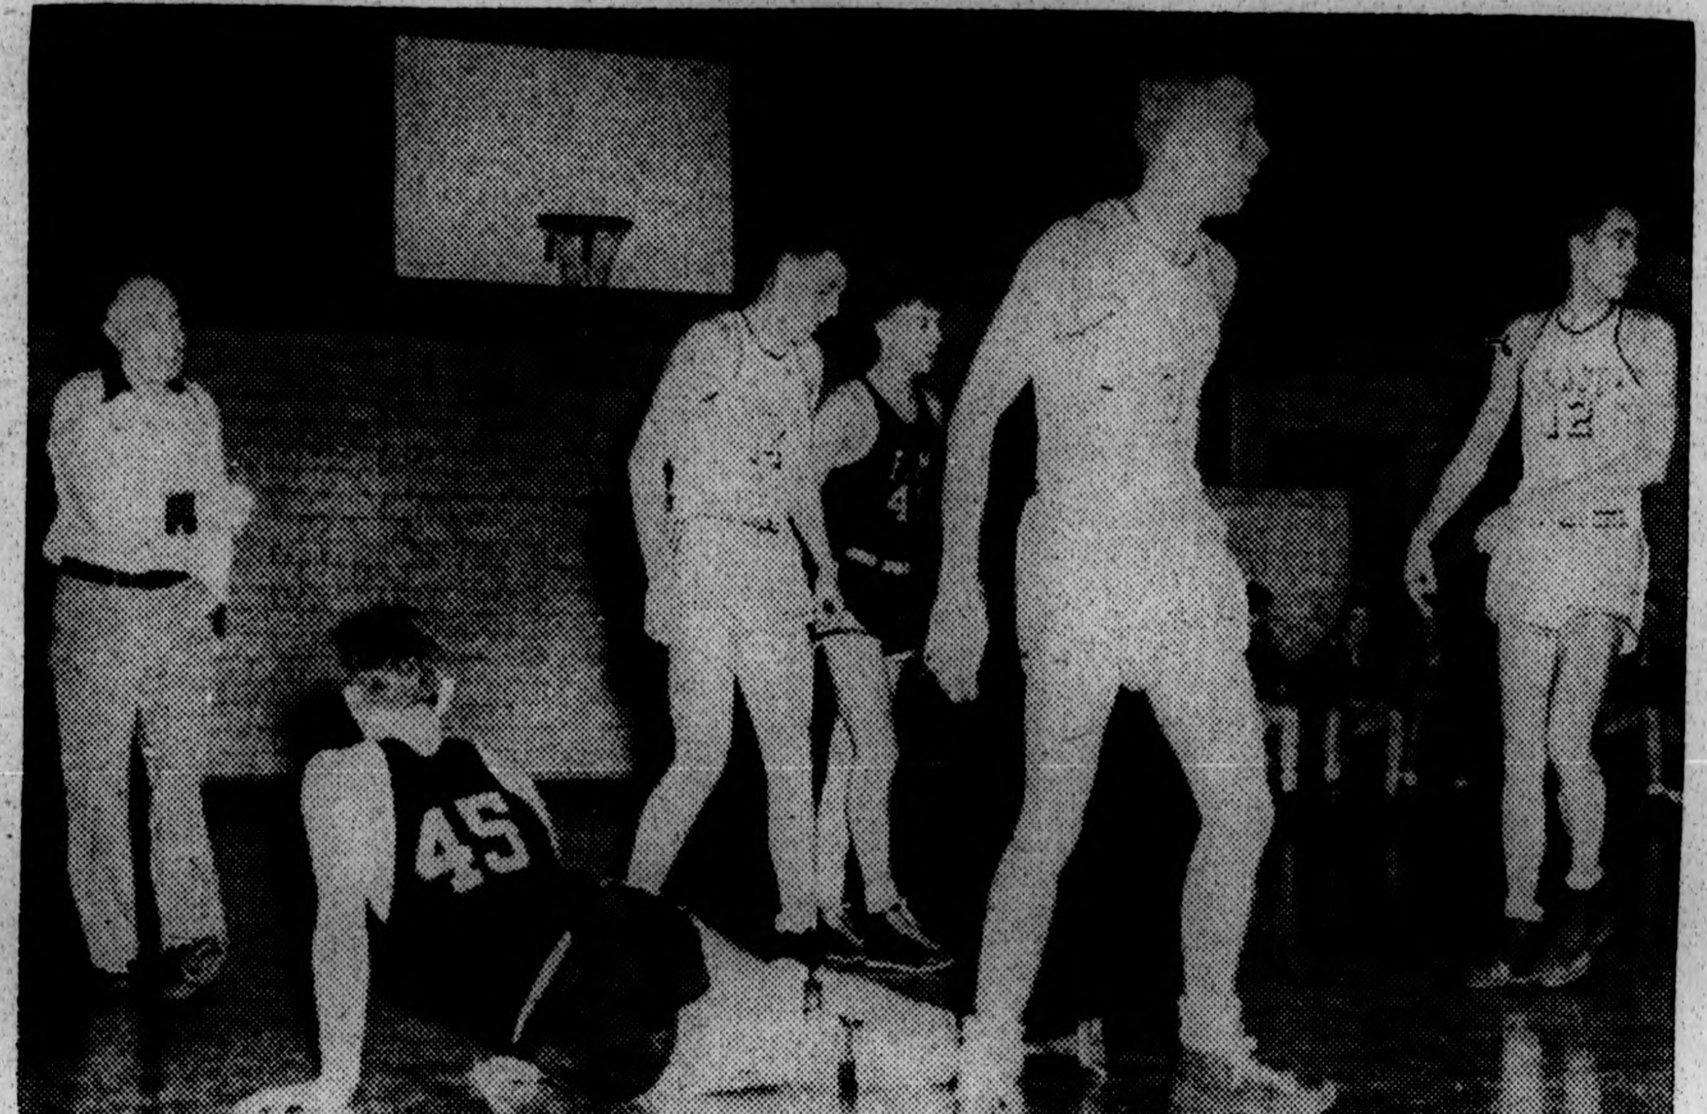
Julian will probably be named head mentor of the Crusaders basketball aggregation in recognition of his success at the Allentown school. Mel Hein, New York Giants center, is being mentioned to fill his shoes as grid coach, but the identity of the man who will replace him tutoring the Mule cagers remains to be seen.

Al Severance has discovered some latent material on the campus and has issued a few more suits. Making his initial appearance in the F. & M. game was Dan Fleisher, Sophomore Science student, who with a little experience, might make a capable replacement. Tom Baxter, quarterback on last season's football eleven, also made his appearance. The former Lancaster Catholic cager looked promising in his debut.

Mendel's Intramural squad donated their star member, Bill Connor, to the Varsity team. Bill is in good shape, having played with the Engineers since the beginning of the season. He saw a few minutes of action against the Dips on Wednesday.

The Cats apparently don't like to end an opponent's streak. They added to Muhlenberg's string of wins and didn't disappoint F.&M. by letting them snap their losing streak. Incidentally, the Dips have yet to win on the road. Being consistent, the locals did not stand in the way of Valley Forge's maintaining their undefeated record. Next Saturday they will meet undefeated Navy. Let's hope they stop being consistent this time and topple the Middies.

Diplomat Floored



Bob Lang (45), F. & M. forward, bites the dust (sawdust) after missing a frantic attempt to gain possession of the ball in the final period of the game last Wednesday night. Lee Carter (3) has just thrown the ball to a hidden teammate as Chuck Froelicher (12) and Dick Madigan (14) wait to set up the play. Villanova won 39-37.

Alumni And Austin Win One Each For Intramural Lead

First Half Champs Defeat Fedigan; Austin Bests Inter-Hall Brethren

With the league strengthened by the addition of several varsity players on various teams, the second half of the Intramural loop opened Monday night, Jan. 8.

The Mendel, Marine, and Fedigan quints profited by the ineligibility of Joe Walters, Bob O'Neill, Joe Costello, and Jim Gallagher to compete in varsity athletics. Walters, leading point-getter and ex-captain of the Villanova five, now leads the Fedigan team, while O'Neill and Costello loaned their talents to the Mendel Engineers. Gallagher, also a former La Salle college performer, has bolstered the Marine courtmen.

The second half of what promises to be a hot race started inauspiciously enough when the Mendel club failed to put in an appearance and consequently forfeited the game to Fedigan.

In the same night, the Austin Hall sailors easily swamped a battling Marine five, 44-26. The sailors, second place holders in the first half of the league, took an early lead and were never pressed. They held a 23-13 half-time advantage.

Sonner Continues Pace

Sonner, one of the loop's high scorers, continued his fast pace by garnering 18 points for the winners. Teammate Sam Brown contributed 12, while Habenicht led the Marines with 9 counters.

The following night saw the Marines take their second drubbing in as many days when the well-rested Mendel club toppled them, 32-16.

Mendel, spearheaded by the court-wise Joe Costello, employed an effective zone defense which limited the Marines to six field goals. While their opponents' offense was so stymied, the Engineers, led by captain Jack Murphy, Bob O'Neill, and the redoubtable Costello, scored on every opportunity and built up a 14-11 lead at half time.

Holy Roller Team Leads Phi Kap Bowling League

By BILL FARRELL
Guest Writer

Thrills were provided at Saturday's bowling matches by the game between Lost Cause and Holy Rollers. The league leaders, stunned by the unexpected showing of their opponents, could do no better than a 2-2 split. The Lost Cause team piled up an 899 handicap game which is high for the season.

Attempting to make the race for the league lead as interesting as possible, the 300 Club took 4 full games from the Wash Bowlers. This places them definitely in second place, just two full games behind the Holy Rollers.

Alley Cats almost made a clean sweep of their matches, but missed winning the last game by two pins, which gave them a 3-1 win for the day. Sack Hounds, the Alley Cats opponents, had an extremely bad day, all members of their team rolling below par. Bucky's Boys are also putting in a bid for a show in the first division by taking four points from the Flakers, who were taken back by losing four.

As to the individual honors Saturday, they go to Paul Miller, who rolled 204 in his last game. There were five games in the 180's and 190's, but Miller was the only man who could push it above 200. Individual averages were generally on the decline due to Saturday's games, but a few bowlers maintained theirs or even bettered them. Thompson, who holds a 172 average, bowled three games of 170, 154, 192 to stay at the top of the heap in high averages.

McKEE ATTENDS MEETING

Leathernecks Anxious To Break Even Tomorrow Night; Middies Strong

In the first two games this coming week, the Villanova Wildcats will face the Navy Yard Marines tomorrow night in the opponents' home court. Since the Severancemen turned back the Marines 37-36 last December 8, the Leathernecks have won most of the games on their heavy schedule.

Spearhead in the opponents' attack will be Moon Mullin, giant center, who was the big gun against Villanova in the first game. Bill Woods and Bob Fitzgerald will man the forward positions. Both men are good set shots and will give the locals plenty of trouble. They will be supplemented by Polinsky and Stanny in the backcourt.

Cats Prevailed

Last year the Marines provided the Cats with one of their nine wins, 43-32, in the Field House. This year the Blue and White decided to engage them in a home and home series.

The second game of the week will find the Main Liners journeying to Annapolis on Saturday to meet the Naval Academy five in an afternoon game in the latter's gym. This will be the third game for the Middies who opened their schedule last Wednesday against the University of Maryland.

Five Veterans

The Navy team has five returning veterans from last year which will comprise the probable starting lineup. Capt. Ernie Litty and Adgie Back were regulars at the guard positions and will be pitted against the Cats on Saturday. Dick Duden, six-foot two center from Englewood, N. J., will be at the pivot while Mac McKay, Jack Carroll, and Bob Howe, not a letterman, all had considerable experience at forward, making a combination which will be handicapped only in height.

Johnny Wilson, who has been coaching the Middies for the last 20 years has many capable reserves to throw against the locals. Last year the future ensigns defeated the Blue and White, 35-27.

Basketeers Snap Losing Streak; Then Drop Two

Victory Over F. & M. First in Five Starts; Princeton, Medicos Prevail

By MATT KEARNEY, A.S.

Staging a spirited fight for forty minutes, Villanova regained its winning stride with a 39-37 victory over Franklin and Marshall College of Lancaster, Pa. The victory was even more important due to the fact that it was the first since the loss of several key men including Joe Walters and Bud O'Neill.

From the opening whistle, Lee Carter, newly-elected captain was the sparkplug of the Villanova attack. This Cat Courtman from Colorado split the cords for no less than 19 points and when the smoke had cleared, it was his three points in the last five seconds which had tied and beaten the lads from Lancaster.

Cats Lead

At the end of the first quarter the Cats led 10-9. In the exchange of points during the second frame, Villanova lost two and at half time things stood at 20-19, Franklin and Marshall. However, the Varsity was not to be denied. Using the pivot and the weave alternately, they had built up a 34-29 lead by the end of the third canto.

The fourth was by far the most thrilling as F&M raced back to take a 37-36 lead. With twenty seconds of time remaining, Lee Carter was fouled. He calmly converted the charity toss to tie the game.

Villanova Intercepts

With time running out in what looked to be an extra period encounter, Villanova intercepted a pass. The shot was missed and there was a big scramble for the ball under the bankboard. It was Carter who emerged with the sphere and dunked it for the winning margin.

For the losers, Bob Crestani was the high scorer with 9 points. With 7 points, Chuck Froelicher was second to Carter.

Sorry Saturday for Cats

After matching point for point during the first half of the game with a good Princeton team, Villanova dropped the decision, 49-35. At the end of the first half the score read, Princeton 21, Villanova 20. However, the boys from Nassau put on a rally that made them the victors with plenty to spare.

Ray Kurowski, high scoring Princeton guard, was held to 4 points. Ray is the brother of "Whitey" Kurowski, famous third baseman for the St. Louis Cardinals. A Navy trainee, who at 19 is a war veteran, was high scorer for the Orange and Black. It was Phil Fehl who had 21 points.

Villanova Ships Company Forms Basketball Team

Led by their fleet sharpshooter, Chief Zukas, the Ship's Company is forming a basketball team to engage some of the better combines here at the college. The team is whipping into shape down at the Field House every afternoon after hours.

The NCO's expect to have a formidable lineup ready in a couple of weeks. Lt. Kuffel, who has had quite a few years of coaching high school teams back in Minnesota, will handle the club. Some of his material is Chiefs Rogalla and Zukas, Sgts. Christein and Auberton, Specialist Peck Weigle and Storekeeper O'Leary.

Most Experienced

Of these, Lew Christein boasts the most experience, having played with Bethlehem Steel in the Lehigh Valley Industrial League before entering the Marines. Sgt. Auberton played a little ball for Holy Spirit in Atlantic City while Peck Weigle performed for West Chester State Teachers.

The Villanova quintet that met Muhlenberg on Jan. 6, really gave the Mules a surprise. The fans who crowded the court to watch the game went all out for the Wildcats and although the score wasn't a winning one for us it proved Al Severance's five could do well against a team rated one of the top teams in this area. Perhaps the next time we meet them, on Jan. 24, the score 32-30 in their favor, will be reversed.

Dave Ward, guard on the basketball team, was nominated for the Student Council at the senior class meeting held last Wednesday here on the campus. He was however defeated by Tito Infanzon, a resident C. & F. student in the final balloting.

The civilians of Alumni Hall defeated Fedigan Jan. 9 by 8 points. High scorer for the evening however was Joe Walters of the losing team who scored 20 points for Fedigan.

The Day-Hop team has withdrawn from the league again although it had plenty of potential material in the person of Charley Mallon, freshman C. & F. student.

It is rumored there will be a Boxing smoker held sometime in the near future. Details will be announced later. This boxing smoker seems to be a pretty good idea. It will help to revive interest in boxing here on the campus. Boxing has been sadly neglected for the past two semesters and except for the efforts of Chief Rogalla, it would have probably been a forgotten sport at Villanova.

The Villanova Track team is getting in shape for its spring meets and for the indoor meet coming up Jan. 27. Captain Don Schmidt will pace the Wildcats in the mile run. The meet will be sponsored by the Inquirer A. A. The team will be up against stiff competition from Penn who have for the past month been working out on the indoor boards. This will present a serious handicap to our team whose practice has been confined to the Field House.

With the advent of V-E Day (Victory in the European Theatre of Operations), the War Department plans to inaugurate a vast education program designed to utilize the leisure time of U.S. personnel awaiting shipment out of the United Kingdom. First Sergeant Thomas L. Winterbottom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Winterbottom, 527 Broad St., Oxford, has been selected, along with several others, to serve as a teacher and is presently attending a refresher teaching course at a strategic air depot in England. A former student of Villanova College, where he received his B.S. degree in 1941, Sergeant Winterbottom is well qualified for this assignment.

Sergeant Winterbottom, serving as First Sergeant of the Administrative Division at an Eighth Air Force Service Command Station in England, entered the armed forces in July, 1941, and received his basic training at Camp Lee, Virginia. In September 1943 he was assigned to overseas duty, and embarked for England where he joined the Service Command.

Alumni Hall started defense of its first half title by eking out a 41-37 victory over a revamped Fedigan five. The game was close throughout, with the score being tied ten times. It wasn't until the last minute of play that the victors were able to push in the deciding goals.

The Fediganites, cellar occupants during the initial part of the campaign, battled their favored opponents vigorously, but came out on the short end of an 18-17 count at the conclusion of the half. With Joe Walter registering 20 points, the underdogs continually came from behind to knot the score, but could not forge ahead.

Chapel To Be Scene Of Annual Retreat This Week

Very Rev. William Sheedy, O.S.A., To Head Services; Day Hops Start Retreat Today

The 102nd annual Retreat for the students of Villanova College is being conducted this week by the Very Reverend William Sheedy, O.S.A., Prior of Saint Augustine's Church, 4th and Vine Sts., Philadelphia.

Due to the accelerated program and many other circumstances surrounding a war-time curriculun, it will not be possible to hold the Retreat in the manner of former years. Therefore, special arrangements have been made so as to accommodate the students to daily class schedules and to Naval regulations.

For the resident students, the spiritual exercises consist of daily Mass and sermon at 7:00 A. M., and Benediction and sermon at 6:45 P. M. Having opened last evening, the residents' Retreat will close on Friday morning with Mass and Papal Benediction.

Retreat Opens

The Retreat for the day students opened this morning, and will end on Friday at noon. The schedule of exercises consists of daily Mass and sermon at 7:45 A. M., and Benediction and sermon at 1:00 P. M. Attendance at the exercises of the Retreat for the day students is obligatory.

On printed remembrance cards, commemorating the 1945 Retreat, are stated the daily Mass intentions. This morning Mass was celebrated for the deceased members of the faculty; tomorrow, Mass for parents, both living and deceased, of the students will be said, on Thursday, the intentions of the students will be remembered at the Holy Sacrifice and on Friday, Mass will be celebrated for the Villanovans who have become casualties during this war, including thirty Gold Star Men.

Cooperation Asked

Father Edwin T. Grimes, O.S.A., College Chaplain, has asked for the cooperation of the entire student body so that the Retreat may be conducted as smoothly as possible.

In explaining both the reason and aim of the Retreat, Father Grimes, in a recent letter to the students, wrote that "by faithfully attending the spiritual exercises of the Retreat you will be coming closer to God; and union with with your Creator will bring into your life the peace and tranquality so necessary if a proper perspective is to be maintained. The interior grace and courage needed to main-

Lt. William J. Sykes, Ex-'42, Missing in Action; Lt. Hefti, Ex-'45, Flies 50 Combat Missions; Edward Milde, Ex-'44, Promoted to Lieutenant

By HUGH FALLON

Word was received from the War Department on January 17 by Mr. and Mrs. John Sykes, Jr., of 204 N. Montpelier Ave., Atlantic City, that their son, 1st Lt. William J. Sykes, has been missing since Dec. 24, when he went on a mission somewhere over Germany.

The Atlantic City ace was officially credited with downing ten enemy planes and a letter received by his parents on the same day that they received the the telegram and written three days before his last known mission, reported he had added two more.

In his letter, Lt. Sykes informed his parents that his return to this country on leave might be deferred indefinitely. He mentioned that the Luftwaffe was rising in strength again and flak opposition was mounting. It was interpreted that the big Nazi counter attack had nullified all U. S. Army Air Force leave expectancies.

Exceeds 50 Missions

Lt. Sykes exceeded the 50 missions mark long before the big German push, was offered a furlough and decided to wait a short time. Then the new crisis arose.

Lt. Sykese is married to Mrs. Constance Sykes, of Paragould, Ark., and his son, William Jr., is now four months old.

The Mustang ace has four brothers, John, 32, a lieutenant in the Navy, now stationed in California; Joseph, 20, a seaman first-class in the submarine service; Raymond, 17, a student at St. Vincent's Preparatory School in Lathrobe, Pa., and James is a sophomore at Holy Spirit High School.

He was always active and determined, belonged to the Boy Scouts when he was a boy, and played hockey, football and baseball at Holy Spirit High School. He was graduated in the Class of 1938.

He spent two and a half years at Villanova College, where he played baseball and junior varsity football. He belonged to the Beach Patrol at Atlantic City, and was in the National Guard for two years.

News Of John Hefti

While participating on a mission against the oil refineries at Vienna, Austria, on July 16, 1st Lt. John A. Hefti, 20, ex '45, of 21 Velox Street, Rochester, N. Y., navigator on a 15th Air Force Flying Fortress, managed to make it back to friendly territory with only two engines after the number one engine received a direct "flak" hit.

Immediately a fire started and the plane lost 8,000 feet altitude. With the controls still on fire, the pilot landed the Fort safely in a corn field. Later the lieutenant returned to his home base to fly successfully fifty combat missions.

He flew his "golden" mission on December 2 when the Forts attacked oil refineries at Blechhammer, Germany.

Lt. Hefti is a graduate of Aquinas High School and later attended Villanova College. He was a student at the University of Rochester when he enlisted in the Army as an aviation cadet on February 23, 1943 and won his wings and com-

Plan To Help Students Who Desire College Education But Do Not Have Means

By C. P. LAFERTY

Behind Pennsylvania's educational set-up today, unknown to the masses, much effort is being expended to make more available a college education to those who should have it and to those who desire one but find it inaccessible due to their financial position. Spearheading this drive is the Association of College Presidents of Pennsylvania.

Major Changes

The three major changes proposed at this time by the association are: "1) the reorganization and strengthening of the State Council of Education; 2) The strengthening of the Teacher Training Program of the State by consolidating the fourteen state teachers' colleges into six, which are to be developed to outstanding distinction, and releasing the facilities and buildings of the remaining eight for other public uses; 3) The equalization of educational opportunity at the college level by an expanded program of State Scholarship.

The first object provides for the expansion of the above-mentioned State Council to twelve members. Other advantages to be gained would be reduction of political influence in education, promotion of greater stability in personel, the providing of superior machinery for implementing educational plans and procedures, etc.

Better Teachers

Statistical tables show that in Pennsylvania during the past decade only three of every five newly qualified teachers seek or obtain employment teaching. The need, therefore, is for better teachers, not more teachers. The second suggestion urged above advocates the elimination of eight of the fourteen now existing teachers colleges. The remaining six are to be situated with due geographic consideration, and with increased scholastic superiority.

The third project is one closer to our interests as students, as future parents and teachers and as Catholics. The changes endorsed are fourfold: 1) Instead of the present inadequate system of State scholarships, the establishment of four-year scholarships, 1500 to be awarded each year, for undergraduate study leading to a baccalaureate degree to be obtained in any college or university in Pennsylvania approved by the State Council of Education. 2) These scholarships are to have a value of not more than $500.00 for the college year or its equivalent. Their value for the full college course will not exceed $2000.00. 3) These scholarships will cover the charges for tuition and for other fees regularly charged to students in the colleges which they attend; but the scholarships will not defray fees for board or room, for social activities, or for intercollegiate athletics. 4) The scholarships shall be awarded on a competitive basis to candidates in each county.

Increase Grants

It is important to note what the independent colleges and universities have done and are doing to help capable students who need financial assistance is far greater in its total than what the Association of College Presidents now urges that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania do. The colleges and universities will expect to maintain and to increase their own scholarship grants to students and if their generous contribution is matched by a lesser contribution from the Comonweaith toward the scholar-

Len Mayfair's Band To Be Featured at Winter Hop

"Miles of Melody" Band Specializing in "Jive and Glide" To Appear at Field House Feb. 3; P. K. P. To Sponsor Dance

Tickets for the Winter Hop, which is scheduled to be held in the Field House on Saturday night, February 3rd, from 9:00 P. M. until 1:00 A. M., went on sale last Wednesday, under the sponsorship of the Phi Kappa Pi Fraternity.

Distribution and selling of the tickets are being handled by Don Reinhardt, A.S., and his committee. The price of the tickets is $2.50, including tax. This price has been established by the organizers and members of the dance committees so that they may be available to all who wish to attend the Hop, and also to meet the various expenses which will necessarily be incurred.

LEN MAYFAIR

"Jive And Glide"

Due to the difficulties of transportation and other war-time conditions, the dance will be an informal one. Feature of the dance will be Len Mayfair and his "Miles of Melody" Orchestra.

Mayfair, who was already climbing the ladder of musical fame before the outbreak of the war is well known for his excellent styling, and his efforts, in both "jive and glide" arrangements are well known by lovers of "modern" music.

In addition to the smooth arrangements played by the Mayfair band, vocalist Gale Vincent shares in the major role of contributing to a successful evening of dancing. Gale joined Len when the leader, recently discharged from the United States Navy after active overseas duty with a motor torpedo boat squadron, returned and reorganized his present unit.

Arnold And Pew Speak At Forum On "Free Economy"

Present Series of Lectures Ends With This Topic; More Lectures Planned

With the meeting held on Wednesday January 17th, the present American Series of the Main Line Forum was brought to a close. The guest speakers of this occasion were the Honorable Thurman Arnold and Joseph Pew. The subject under discussion was "A Free Economy."

Special credit for the planning of these lectures should be given to Dr. Edmond Stinnes. Dr. Stinnes did a fine job in planning these lectures.

The speakers of the evening were introduced by Dr. Felix Morley, who is the president of Haverford College. The selection of these two speakers was a very wise choice as there were two definites sides that should be both brought out well.

The Honorable Thurman Arnold is Judge of the United States Court of Appeals, Washington, D. C. He was formerly United States Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Anti-Trust Division.

Joseph N. Pew, Jr., vice president of the Sun Oil Company, Phila. was introduced as the face that launched one thousand ships.

Mr. Arnold commenced his speech by stating that in United States we have great opportunities for each individual who looks for them. This led to the discussion of technical unemployment, which is a situation where nigh prices cause unemployment. He than defined the word "cartel" as any group having power to dominate one particular industry. This is usually done by patent pools. These cartels if improperly run cause a great deal of technical unemployment. Such combinations, the speaker thought, retarded progress. Mr. Arnold closed his speech with a few remarks about his fellow speaker Joseph Pew in which he gave him credit for his competative spirit in his business.

Mr. Pew stated that he also believed that competition was the only hope for trade, and was very much in agreement with the Sherman Anti Trust Law. He con-

On Wednesday last, at 9:00 A. The celebrant of the Mass was Rev. Robert Russel, O. S. A. The deacon and sub-deacon were respectively, Rev. Vincent Meaney, O.S.A., and Rev. John E. Bresnahan, O.S.A. The music of the Mass was sung by the seminarians of St. Mary's Hall, and present in the congregation were many of the priests of the Augustinian Order, from Villanova and elsewhere, the Sisters of the Holy Redeemer who care for the culinary needs of the seminary, and a small group representing those few but faithful friendship which Mr. Webb had cultivated and cher-

The Villanova quintet that met Muhlenberg on Jan. 6, really gave the Mules a surprise. The fans who crowded the court to watch the game went all out for the Wildcats and although the score wasn't a winning one for us it proved Al Severance's five could do well against a team rated one of the top teams in this area. Perhaps the next time we meet them, on Jan. 24, the score 32-30 in their favor, will be reversed.

—V—

Dave Ward, guard on the basketball team, was nominated for the Student Council at the senior class meeting held last Wednesday here on the campus. He was however defeated by Tito Infanzon, a resident C. & F. student in the final balloting.

—V—

The civilians of Alumni Hall defeated Fedigan Jan. 9 by 8 points. High scorer for the evening however was Joe Walters of the losing team who scored 20 points for Fedigan.

The Day-Hop team has withdrawn from the league again although it had plenty of potential material in the person of Charley Mallon, freshman C. & F. student.

It is rumored there will be a Boxing smoker held sometime in the near future. Details will be announced later. This boxing smoker seems to be a pretty good idea. It will help to revive interest in boxing here on the campus. Boxing has been sadly neglected for the past two semesters and except for the efforts of Chief Rogalla, it would have probably been a forgotten sport at Villanova.

—V—

The Villanova Track team is getting in shape for its spring meets and for the indoor meet coming up Jan. 27. Captain Don Schmidt will pace the Wildcats in the mile run. The meet will be sponsored by the Inquirer A. A. The team will be up against stiff competition from Penn who have for the past month been working out on the indoor boards. This will present a serious handicap to our team whose practice has been confined to the Field House.

William H. Barthmaier of 1168 Wells Place, Strafford.

With the advent of V-E Day (Victory in the European Theatre of Operations), the War Department plans to inaugurate a vast education program designed to utilize the leisure time of U.S., personnel awaiting shipment out of the United Kingdom. First Sergeant Thomas L. Winterbottom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Winterbottom, 527 Broad St., Oxford, has been selected, along with several others, to serve as a teacher and is presently attending a refresher teaching course at a strategic air depot in England. A former student of Villanova College, where he received his B.S. degree in 1941, Sergeant Winterbottom is well qualified for this assignment.

Sergeant Winterbottom, serving as First Sergeant of the Administrative Division at an Eighth Air Force Service Command Station in England, entered the armed forces in July, 1941, and received his basic training at Camp Lee, Virginia. In September 1943 he was assigned to overseas duty, and embarked for England where he joined the Service Command.

Sat. Night for the first time in months the basketball players got out of the locker room without Tony having to prod them. We suspect that it was because, like Conners, all had their respective "Julies" or their counter-parts eagerly waiting for them.

Perhaps Al Severance didn't know it but several players on the bench were temporarily distracted by a pair of attractive females seated in the bleachers directly opposite . . . at least that's what Carl Schneider reports. If Al is interested he might investigate "Red" Lyons as a potential "floor" man. Some individuals will testify to his worth on the court, although he IS a little "Rough."

goals. McGuigan topped the losers with five markers.

Alumni Defends

Alumni Hall started defense of its first half title by eking out a 41-37 victory over a revamped Fedigan five. The game was close throughout, with the score being tied ten times. It wasn't until the last minute of play that the victors were able to push in the deciding goals.

The Fediganites, cellar occupants during the initial part of the campaign, battled their favored opponents vigorously, but came out on the short end of an 18-17 count at the conclusion of the half. With Joe Walter registering 20 points, the underdogs continually came from behind to knot the score, but could not forge ahead.

Coletta High

The civilians, paced by Pat Coletta and rangy Al Dumsa who tallied 13 and 11 points respectively, staved off desperate last ditch attempts by the Fedigan five to carry off the win.

Chapel To Be Scene Of Annual Retreat This Week

Very Rev. William Sheedy, O.S.A., To Head Services; Day Hops Start Retreat Today

The 102nd annual Retreat for the students of Villanova College is being conducted this week by the Very Reverend William Sheedy, O.S.A., Prior of Saint Augustine's Church, 4th and Vine Sts., Philadelphia.

Due to the accelerated program and many other circumstances surrounding a war-time curriculun, it will not be possible to hold the Retreat in the manner of former years. Therefore, special arrangements have been made so as to accommodate the students to daily class schedules and to Naval regulations.

For the resident students, the spiritual exercises consist of daily Mass and sermon at 7:00 A. M., and Benediction and sermon at 6:45 P. M. Having opened last evening, the residents' Retreat will close on Friday morning with Mass and Papal Benediction.

Retreat Opens

The Retreat for the day students opened this morning, and will end on Friday at noon. The schedule of exercises consists of daily Mass and sermon at 7:45 A. M., and Benediction and sermon at 1:00 P. M. Attendance at the exercises of the Retreat for the day students is obligatory.

On printed remembrance cards, commemorating the 1945 Retreat, are stated the daily Mass intentions. This morning Mass was celebrated for the deceased members of the faculty; tomorrow, Mass for parents, both living and deceased, of the students will be said, on Thursday, the intentions of the students will be remembered at the Holy Sacrifice and on Friday, Mass will be celebrated for the Villanovans who have become casualties during this war, including thirty Gold Star Men.

Cooperation Asked

Father Edwin T. Grimes, O.S.A., College Chaplain, has asked for the cooperation of the entire student body so that the Retreat may be conducted as smoothly as possible.

In explaining both the reason and aim of the Retreat, Father Grimes, in a recent letter to the students, wrote that "by faithfully attending the spiritual exercises of the Retreat you will be coming closer to God; and union with with your Creator will bring into your life the peace and tranquality so necessary if a proper perspective is to be maintained. With the meeting held on Wednesday January 17th, the present American Series of the Main Line Forum was brought to a close. The guest speakers of this occasion were the Honorable Thurman Arnold and Joseph Pew. The subject under discussion was "A Free Economy."

Special credit for the planning of these lectures should be given to Dr. Edmond Stinnes. Dr. Stinnes did a fine job in planning these lectures.

The speakers of the evening were introduced by Dr. Felix Morley, who is the president of Haverford College. The selection of these two speakers was a very wise choice as there were two definites sides that should be both brought out well.

The Honorable Thurman Arnold is Judge of the United States Court of Appeals, Washington, D. C. He was formerly United States Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Anti-Trust Division.

Joseph N. Pew, Jr., vice president of the Sun Oil Company, Phila. was introduced as the face that launched one thousand ships.

Mr. Arnold commenced his speech by stating that in United States we have great opportunities for each individual who looks for them. This led to the discussion of technical unemployment, which is a situation where nigh prices cause unemployment. He than defined the word "cartel" as any group having power to dominate one particular industry. This is usually done by patent pools. These cartels if improperly run cause a great deal of technical unemployment. Such combinations, the speaker thought, retarded progress. Mr. Arnold closed his speech with a few remarks about his fellow speaker Joseph Pew in which he gave him credit for his competative spirit in his business.

Mr. Pew stated that he also believed that competition was the only hope for trade, and was very much in agreement with the Sherman Anti Trust Law. He con-

The Villanova branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers leaves tomorrow morning on a two-day trip to New York. They will attend the Winter Technical Meeting of the society at the Engineering Societies Building at 33 West 39th St.

Outstanding among the many sessions and conferences related to the war effort which the branch members are scheduled to attend is an address to be delivered by Captain J. B. Dow, USN, on "The Navy Electronics Program and Some of its Past, Present, and Future problems."

Mr. Webb, Figure On Campus For Over Half Century, Dies

On Wednesday last, at 9:00 A. M., a Solemn Mass of Requiem was sung in the College Chapel for the repose of the soul of Mr. Richard Webb, one who has been identified with Villanova for half a century. The celebrant of the Mass was Rev. Robert Russel, O. S. A. The deacon and sub-deacon were respectively, Rev. Vincent Meaney, O.S.A., and Rev. John E. Bresnahan, O.S.A. The music of the Mass was sung by the seminarians of St. Mary's Hall, and present in the congregation were many of the priests of the Augustinian Order, from Villanova and elsewhere, the Sisters of the Holy Redeemer who care for the a small group representing those culinary needs of the seminary, and few but faithful friendship which Mr. Webb had cultivated and cher-

Preparedness for Tomorrow

TODAY, with the world in a state of turmoil and moral upheaval, it seems hard for the ordinary man to understand just what his place in the world really is. Why was he put here? Why was he made to suffer all these miseries, these privations, these heart-rending sorrows brought upon him by war? How can he remove himself from this mad state of affairs? Where can he go to find complete peace of mind and soul? These are but a few of the thoughts experienced daily by those who give profound thought to the state of their existence.

We, as Catholics, have found a way to rid ourselves, for a while at least, of the trials and tribulations of ordinary life, to remove ourselves from the mechanical humdrum existence in which we find ourselves from day to day. This escape from the shackles and chains of society we call a Retreat.

In a sense we retreat for a while from the cares and sorrows of the world, in order to get closer to God, to examine our souls and the state of our lives to the present day. It was usual in times past to remove oneself completely from all worldly connections, and to meditate the entire day upon the Mercy, Justice, and Omnipotence of our Divine Creator. However, we cannot do this in our day. Wartime sacrifices do not permit us to withdraw entirely from the human scene into the spiritual world.

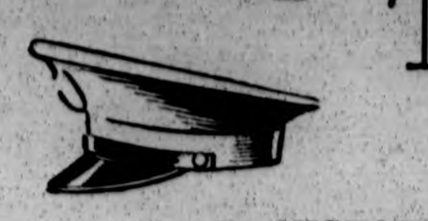
Although we must give only part of the time to our retreat, we Catholic gentlemen must see to it that we perform our religious functions to the utmost satisfaction of our God. This may be the last retreat that some of us may make. This may be the last time that we shall ever have a chance to be so close to God. Now is the time to pray for His guidance, His counsel, and His protection.

This year as never before, we have much to be thankful for, and much to pray for. We must pray for a true, just and lasting peace, for the safety of our loved ones in the armed services, and for the future security of our nation.

It is our duty, as the youth of today, to prepare ourselves to become leaders in the world of tomorrow. We must be fortified, not only scientifically, but religiously as well. We have seen too much of the tragedy that has befallen the youth of our country and those of other nations, because of the ill effects of this war. Religion in the American home has been too sadly neglected. Yes, we must face this fact. We cannot shun it now, for we can see for ourselves the consequence of loose living in our social circles. It is up to us to remedy this situation immediately by good example. We can start right at home . . . in our own hearts and souls. We must search out from the very depths of our bosoms all our failures, omissions, and trespasses of the moral laws of our Creator.

We, as Catholic youths, must restore once again the faith that existed among the human race. Today, we see people despairing of hopes in the future of this world, for they say they cannot trust their fellow man. By starting at the very bottom and building up again, we can restore this faith in the human race. It is our solemn duty to do so.

Camp To Campus



By MICHAEL N. FLYNN, A.S.

AS the tide of battle turns on the Western Front, we find many former Villanovans busily engaged in the grim task of wiping out the Belgian Bulge.

Serving with General Patton's famous Third Army are Pvt. Alex Prew and Cpl. "Major" MacDonald, former sparkplug of the '42-'43 basketball quintet. The "Major" will be well remembered for his seeming inexhaustable supply of energy and his close friendship with Billy Wood, scoring ace of that team, who received an honorable discharge from the Army last year.

Also fighting near the German border are Cpl. Bill Lillienthal and T/5 Jim A. Kivlin. Jim recently received the Bronze Star for his heroic exploits in France. Serving with a medical detachment with an Infantry Division, Jim, disregarding his own safety, rescued three wounded comrades while under heavy German fire.

While at a convalescent hospital near Verdun, Pvt. Peter Him met Pvt. Nick Albano, ex '45. Nick, a former pre-med student, is serving as a ward attendant.

Switching over to the Pacific, and to the Navy . . . Ens. Ben Paradee writes that he met two of his old buddies from Alumni Hall who are serving on L.S.T.'s, Ensigns Frank Reilly and Charley McGovern. The meeting took place when Ben was deeply engrossed in unloading beer at New Guinea.

Lt. Jake Mauch, U.S.M.C.R., informs us that he ran into some of his Villanova pals out in the Pacific. One of these was Marine Lt. George Famiglietti. Jake also renewed acquaintances with Ens. Tom Devine, Joe Elward and Tom Dolan all of whom are attached to the Amphibs.

Serving in Hawaii we find Lt. (j.g.) Bob Starr.

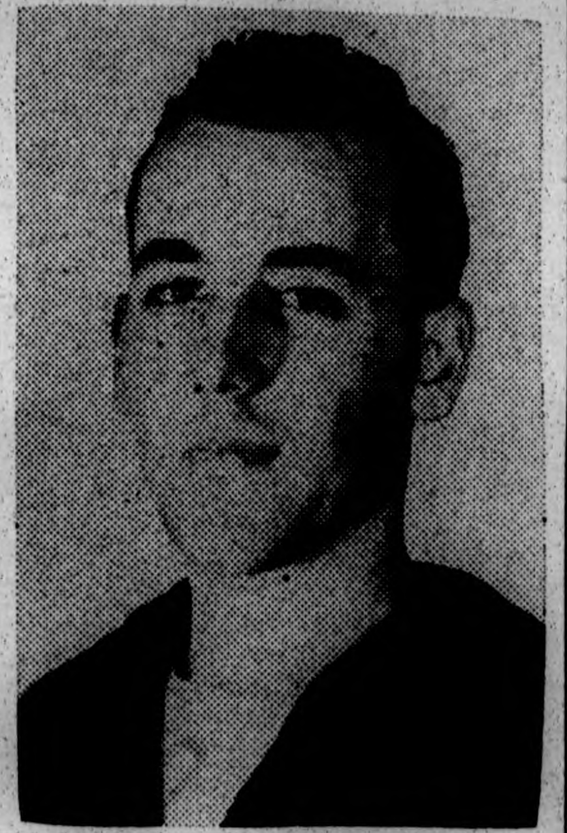
Lt. (j.g.) Jim Shedly, Chemical Engineer, '43, is doing duty on a C.V.E. "somewhere" in the Pacific.

Meet the Boys

By HUGH FALLON

From the capitol of the nation comes an Electrical Engineering student, Paul Wedding. Paul first saw the light of day on July 15, 1924, and, after enduring all the childhood diseases, including growing up, be attended St. John's High School, in the city of his birth.



PAUL WEDDING, A.S.

Here he was a clarinetist in the band and orchestra for four years, and, in his Senior year, was Captain of the band. Paul was also a member of the Cadet Corps, and writer on the yearbook staff. He was also an excellent athlete, but, due to his devotion to studies he confined himself to intramural basketball.

Catholic U. Boy

Upon graduation in June, 1942, he received a medal for his work in the band. He then matriculated at the Catholic University, where he began his studies in Electrical Engineering. While at Catholic U., again played in the band, and wrote for the paper. He was also a member of the Senator's Club, a University Fraternity.

In the Fall of 1942 he enlisted in the Navy, and came to Villanova the following July. Paul has continued his band playing while here, but gave up writing and intramural sports to be able to devote more of his time to his studies.

Although he has no definite plans for the future, he expects to work in the field of Electrical Engineering.

The words "Captain's Inspection" originally denoted a time to be more or less feared but THIS weekend they took on the added significance of good work WELL rewarded. To those tired individuals returning from a rather LONG weekend the lighted Windows of Mendel served both as a beacon and as it was a case of the Best men won. It is true that the Mendelites had added and disadvantageous cleaning to overcome but that doesn't stop us from rubbing it in, so here goes.

MENDEL REGRETS OF THE DAY:

The unruffled calmness characteristice of Frank (Red) O'Connor was definitely ruffled Sat. Night through the agent of a female. Perhaps it was the "Stop Red' dress she was wearing or perhaps it was her personality. But from all outward appearances it could have been either or both.

Kenny Robertson is really launching a "rolling" offensive these Sat. Nights at Chez Vous, and falling plenty hard too. If it were us we would get down off those skates and on a little firmer ground. By the way Ken, do you still have that standing invitation on Sundays?

As to the whereabouts of F. X. McEntee this past weekend little is known, but we still have that preceding Sat. to remind him of. Do YOU remember that Party or do You wish us to tell all, Francis?

Even poor columnists show good taste once in a while—if not in their writing then in their women. All this reminds us that there is a fellow in Mendel Hall named McKibbon who, escaping from his life of column writing, escorted HIS girl — about the campus Sunday. Better work if you can get it, Mac.

A friend held quite an interesting conversation with Andy Murphy a Sat. night ago. Andy not only held up his end of the conversation but also held on to his date besides. Giving dancing lessons soon, Andy?

FEDIGAN CONFESSIONS:

Tom (Don't stop the car) Ferry was seen breakin' all records Sat. as he even out-mouthed "Liver Lips" Marks with his "Irish" humor.

The highlight of the "annual weekly" Mucquet Banquet was that Hank Stofmann "came and went" but before he "went" he swears he

Every one was greatly affected by last week's snow storm but it affected Bob Moffette most of all. Every time Bob braved the elements, his natural(?) wavy hair would become mussed. This caused him no end of worry, so he would park himself in front of the mirror in the Pie Shop and within a few minutes the vigorous strokes of his comb were heard throughout the building. Finally after twenty minutes he was seen leaving his original position; nevertheless, he still continued running his hand through his hair 'till once again he braved the dangers of going into that hair-mussing wind. All those interested in a new hair do, please see our expert beautician at his usual place in the salon.

Maurice Wilhere, lately has been doing an awful lot of traveling to the hills of Manayunk. Maurice told us that his doctor advised the mountain air, however, we have our own ideas on the matter.

Bill Sweeney still claims to be bridge king of Alumni Hall. What's the matter Bill, no competition?

By way of the grapevine we have learned that within the next two weeks Vince Pica will be visited by a certain Miss Lucille, to be specific. Now wouldn't it be nice if she was accompanied by a few of her friends, especially one for Dom Longo. (Two for Lyons and Randolph would also be appreciated.)

There are a few girls, all of twelve years old, that are constantly bothering Frank Costa on the way to school every morning. They ride on the same bus as he does, and they think he's the cutest thing. He is just about their size, too.

Who is the lovely Maid Marian who has been causing so much excitement in the Villanovan office of late? The lucky girl is said to be a charter member of the Joe Heck Date Bureau.

Schmidt To Be in Charge During Fr. McQuade's Absence

By MATT KEARNEY, A. S.

With the Inquirer A. A. Invitation Meet less than a week away, the Villanova trackmen are bearing down during their workouts. The meet will be held on Saturday afternoon, January 27, in Museum Field at the University of Pennsylvania.

Captain Don Schmitt, who pilots the 1945 edition of the Wildcat cindermen, reports that his men are in top-notch condition. Made up for the most part of new material, the squad has come along well under the watchful eye of Father McQuade. Due to a sudden illness of this mentor, Don Schmitt assumed leadership of the group this week.

Relay Team

The relay team which will compete on Saturday will find Chuck Harrington, Burt Cox and Joe Beals starting, with the fourth a tossup between George Hooper and Al Rozensky.

Bob Bean, Tom Short, John Cockroft, and Captain Don Schmitt will run the distance medley relay. Ken Robertson, a new man, may replace Cockroft as a starter in this event. The 50-yard and 100-yard dash department are particularly bright with Jimmie Morris, Burt Cox, and Larry Bradley all making good times.

Five Vets Help

These new men have been well knitted into a smooth combination by the five returning tracksters. Don Schmitt, Larry Bradley, Charlie Harrington, Burt Cox and Jim Mor-

Holy Roller Team Retains Lead In Phi Kap Bowling

By BILL FARRELL, A.S.

The Holy Rollers, suffering their second surprise in as many weeks, were set back on their heels Satuday by Bucky's Boys, who won the match 3-1. Led by Kenny Dollinger with a 214 in the first game, Bucky's Boys pulled together to bring themselves into third place, just two games from the top. The favored league leaders could not put together enough pins to best the red hot Electricals.

Leaders Determined

In the other important contest to determine the leaders, the 300 Club virtually booted their chances for the title out the window, when they split with the Alley Cats 2-2. The teams were evenly matched as shown by the handicap, which did not exceed four pins in either direction at any time. Bill Koness was the big gun for the Alley Cats with 202 in the second game and a three game average of 170.

Sack Hounds and Wash Bowlers, battling to stay out of the cellar, finally ended up tied for seventh position by virtue of the Wash Bowlers' 3-1 win over the Sack Hounds. The first game was won by the Wash Bowlers by a single pin. In the other contest of the day, the Flakers surprised the Lost Cause team by trouncing them 3-1. This puts the two teams in a tie for fifth place.

Dollinger High

Dollinger walked off with all honors Saturday. He carried away high 200 game for the day and high three for the season with 559. This was formerly held by Bill Thompson with 547.

Austin Dethrones Alumni Civilians nl Loop Upsets

The Sailors from Austin Hall rose from second to first place in the Intramural standings by virtue of their two successive victories last week. At the same time the Alumni Civilians lost both games and toppled down to fourth place after holding the top rung last week.

In the first game Monday night Fedigan defeated the Marines 27-22. The Marines had the Sailors baffled throughout the first ten minutes as they rolled up a 16-7 margin. However, they blew up in the second half and Fedigan, seizing the situation, put on a scoring spree to win their second game in three starts. Joe Walters was highly instrumental in the Fedigan win scoring twelve points, eleven of them in the second half drive.

New Record

In the second game of the evening Austin went on to their second win by defeating the Alumni Champs 54-31 to establish a record for the highest score so far this season. The previous record was 49 points in one game, which was held by themselves. It was Frank Kempf who shattered the previous record by converting a foul shot with four minutes left to play. This was also Alumni's first loss after compiling seven consecutive wins.

Tuesday night saw the Navy of Austin Hall again take their opponents by overpowering Fedigan 44-27. Sonner again sparked his team with the high score of the evening while Fedigan's ace, Joe Walters, was held to eight points. The score at halftime stood at 13-9 with Austin ahead and in the second period leaped ahead to the lopsided victory.

Cardell High

The same night the Marines annexed their first win by outpointing Alumni 40-38. Alumni led the Leathernecks by eight points at intermission but due chiefly to the efforts of Fred Goetz, ex-varsity performer, and Lou Cardell they failed to continue their lead in the second half. Cardell cinched the game by breaking the deadlock with eleven seconds remaining. He was high for the evening with 22.

The regularly scheduled games for this week will not be played due to the retreat. A revised schedule will be announced.

N.C.A.A.— "Athletics have been an invaluable help to the military forces."

By JIM DAY

"The athletic and physical education programs of the nation's colleges are very valuable to the Armed Forces."

This was the keynote of Brigadier General William W. Welch's speech as he addressed the opening sessions of the National Collegiate Athletic Association in Columbus, Ohio last Friday. Among those present were Rev. Edward B. McKee, O.S.A., and Jordan Olivar, who represented Villanova.

The N. C. A. A. met in conjunction with the American Football Coaches Association and the College Physical Education Association to discuss the post war plans of the organization and the need for greater cooperation among colleges.

Larson Speaks

The part that the college athletics and physical education program plays in the physical fitness of an inductee was very strongly emphasized by not only General Welsh, in speaking for the Army, but by Colonel Emery E. (Swede) Larson, U.S.M.C., former football coach at Annapolis, who said:

"The Navy Department needs men in fine physical condition which has come from participation in competitive sports and team play." "Every school should have athletics. Athletics have been an invaluable help to the military forces. The game of football is just like a war. The soldiers are there for one purpose, to play the game to win."

Former Moderator

This was of particular interest to Fr. McKee, who, as former moderator of intra-mural athletics, is a great believer in the development of the intra-mural sports at Villanova.

"College sports are very good developers of those traits which are so necessary for a good leader of men, but these are only for a select few," he said. "The only way to get the other group of boys into some type of competitive athletics is through intra-mural sports.

Full Strength

"In the past Villanova has had very keen competitive intra-mural sports and only the advent of war has dulled this competition. Today, the intra-mural basketball league is going full strength giving the boys who ordinarily wouldn't get a chance in intercollegiate sports to developing themselves. Those factors which the Service requires.

Mules Invade Field House Tomorrow Night; Bisons To Entertain 'Cats Saturday At Lewisburg

By DAVID I. RYAN

Coming down the home stretch of its 1944-45 basketball season, the Villanova varsity quintet will take on two of its remaining five opponents during this coming week. The Wildcats will play Muhlenberg at home tomorrow night and will travel to Lewisburg for the Bucknell tilt on Saturday, January 27.

Each of these rivals has been met previously this season. In their initial encounter with the Mules this winter the Main Liners lost by 12 points, 32-20. In the helter-skelter Bucknell - Villanova game, the Bisons came off the floor with a one point victory—43-42.

Try to Even Record

In the coming Muhlenberg and Bucknell contests the Wildcats will be out to even up their season's record. Thus far, they have played twelve contests, taking five of them while dropping seven. This season the Mules have compiled a most impressive record, winning thirteen out of fourteen contests. In so doing, they have beaten Princeton twice, Swarthmore once, Franklin and Marshall and the United States Marines (Philadelphia) once each. These squads have been met by the Blue and White who lost to Princeton 35-49, split with Swarthmore in a home and home series, beat Franklin and Marshall 39-37, and won over the Marine squad 37-36.

The Mules are spearheaded by "Reds" Baldwin, a Navy V-12 trainee who had played one season at Union College, Kentucky, before entering the Navy, and by Dick Whitting, another V-12 trainee who prior to his assignment to Muhlenberg on July 1, was a member of the Lower Merion Basketball Team, Pennsylvania State Champions for three seasons. Whitting was chosen as a guard on the All-State third team while at Lower Merion.

Baldwin to Play

Whitting has been with the squad all season and has been an outstanding performer, while Baldwin, high-scoring forward, has not always been available. For some

Middies Display Increased Power in Winning Third Straight

The Villanova Wildcats went down for the third straight time Saturday afternoon bowing 71-28 to the United States Naval Academy. It also was the third consecutive victory for the Midshipmen in as many starts.

The Middies went out in front early in the first half and despite the fact that the Blue and White put up a grim fight the game was never in doubt for the victors. The hosts scored just about two baskets to every one of the Cats' and led 27-12 at halftime.

More Disastrous

The second half proved to be even more disastrous to the tired Cats as Annapolis poured through their defense for 44 points while the Blue and White were held to 16.

The Wildcats were hampered by the lack of capable replacements using only seven men during the entire forty minutes. On the other hand Navy used three complete teams. Adgie Back, Captain of the visitors now in his second season with them, was the big thorn in Villanova's side garnering 13 points for the high score of the day. Dave Ward, the Wildcats diminutive

By JOE SULOCK, A. S.

This week the sportlight turns to the present captain and mainstay of the Villanova basketball team, Lee Carter. Diminutive and aggressive, Carter, who hails from Denver, Colorado, has been the bulwark of a none too steady quint, and ascended to the captaincy when Joe Walters was ruled ineligible.

Lee's success on the court this season has not been spontaneously attained, but is the product of four years experience in playing for high school and college teams.

Carter started his basketeering career rather inauspiciously when he failed to make the squad of the East Denver High team while in his sophomore year. The next year, however, he became a member of the first five, a team which rated city-wide distinction. The following season saw Lee sparkplug his team to the high school championship of the state of Colorado.

For his court achievements on the East Denver High aggregations, Carter was awarded a four year scholarship to Colorado College. While at this institution, the spirited forward spearheaded the freshmen quint, and played for the varsity in his second year.

Lee's basketball activities at Colorado were cut short when he was inducted in the Navy. He continued playing ball at Bainbridge Naval Training Center, where he was stationed prior to entering Villanova.

Carter's hardwood performances here at Villanova need little recounting. His fiery ballplaying and clever ballhandling have aided the Blue and White in averting a disasterous season.

Tops in basketball, Lee is also tops in studies. He has been a consistent honor man at Villanova, and while at Bainbridge narrowly missed an appointment to Annapolis.

Al Pierce, with a Cat's Eye ring, was seen pleasing his public by GIVING HIS mailing address to Lucky Miss. These progressive women . . . .

LOOSE ENDS:

Leatherneck Dave Jones, with his Sunday school awards, was seen in the Greeks, Sunday, trying to impress "Leather ears" Bill Kuzman's attractive girl. P.S.—As usual he didn't succeed. (Maybe we're jealous Dave).

We have seen a lot of angles pulled, but here is a new one. Duilio Dalbora employed hypnotism on his companion for the evening. You should know Duilio that nurses know all about that kind of stuff.

Danny Spaeth may not be from Georgia, but he certainly was a rambling wreck last Sat. Night. It cost him enough—his watch and numerous other accessories.

Paul Zohorsky enjoyed HIS LONG week end. The girl must have some attraction to draw Paul THAT far.

Speaking of short circuits—Sondheimer ought to turn his talents to fields other than Television. The boys you burned will burn you if they get a chance, Al.

And so concludes another expose of Villanova's campus personalities.

Tom Short, Joe Beals and Al Rozensky look exceptionally promising. Cox and Morris are two peppy lads with a lot of drive in the home stretch. tinued by saying that big business was not the only one to be accused of high prices. He cited an incident which concerned a small business that was much more efficient that any large business where tht cost of the product was lower. Mr. Pew thought that a small concern was a more satisfactiry institution.

After the lecture there was a seminar, in which the representatives from all the schools in the neighborhood had a chance to meet and question the distinguished guests. Villanova was represented by Bob Conway. The questions that were asked were very pertinent to conditions today. The problem of uniform currency was discussed. Mr. Pew was asked what the place of small business after the war would be, to which he replied that a small business would have more opportunities. The question of Merchant Shipping after the war was brought up. Mr. Pew thought that Merchant Shipping would be a very small thing in the post war era. Mr. Pew was prompted to this answer as he and Mr. Arnold felt that after the war our greatest problem was to improve our country both physically and mentally.

The question of the policy towards Greece, and Poland was also brought up, but both speakers were hesitant about answering as they felt neither of them was in a position to know.

When the seminar was over Dr. Stinnes discussed future plans for a new series of lectures. It is generally thought that they will start in the latter part of March and will be on the subject of the future of Europe, but as yet no definite plans have been made.

Meanwhile the scheduled tilts with the Navy Yard Marines and Loyola College were cancelled last week by mutual agreement of both teams involved. Both were away games. The Marines were to be met last Tuesday, while the second Loyola game was scheduled for Feb. 3.

The Leathernecks first postponed their game due to the weather conditions which caused a tieup in transportation. Later the officials decided to cancel the game entirely.

Conflicting Exercises

The Greyhounds, whom the Cats repelled 49-28 in the season opener, requested permission to cancel the return game at Baltimore because of their graduation exercises the following day. The Hounds play their games in the college gym and it will be necessary to change it into an auditorium the morning of the game, thereby leaving them without a gym with which to entertain the Blue and White.

Cpl. Dick Gray, former Blue and White cager of three years ago, is continuing his basketball prowesses as key man in the Frank's Yanks team in the United Kingdom league operating in London. Dick was a guard on Villanova's team in 1942 and last year played with the Greensboro (N. C.) Army Air Base.

time he was confined to the Allentown Hospital with a badly infected ankle and was not allowed to participate in the first Villanova-Muhlenberg tussle. However, in this second encounter, he will probably be in the starting lineup.

Other high scorers and good floor men for the Mules are, Charley Gillen, 5'9", rated as the fastest man on the team, who played guard for two seasons with the John Bartram High School quintet, in Philadelphia, and was named to the second All-Public High team, and Chuck Thieson who played two years of varsity ball at Cliffside Park, New Jersey, High School, runner-up last season in the state playoffs. Included among Muhlenberg reserves is Al Julian Jr., son of the varsity coach. Al Jr., co-captain of the Reading Central Catholic High School team last year, led his team in scoring with better than 200 points in twenty-three games.

Lost Only to Penn

The Mules' only previous appearance around this area was on January 3 when they played the University of Pennsylvania at Convention Hall. This contest was the lone one dropped by the Mules all season.

Last season, coach Alvin Julian's team boasted a record of twenty victories as against five defeats, and lost to DePaul in the National Invitation Tournament at Madison Square Garden. The Mules' present record would indicate that they are headed for the Garden again this year, despite the fact that no veterans of the 1943-44 campaign are included in this year's roster.

Bucknell Tall

Fresh from its 53-43 win over Franklin and Marshall last weekend, Bucknell will be met this coming Saturday night on its home floor at Lewisburg.

In their first encounter with the Wildcats this season, at Villanova, the Bisons took a 1 point victory, 43-42, in a nip-and-tuck battle. This game was played previous to the loss of Joe Walters and Bud O'Neill before the Christmas holidays.

Boasting a record of seven wins as against only four defeats, the Bisons have used to good advantage the exceptional height of their players. Improving throughout the winter, the Bucknell quintet is expected to be at top form for this second half of the home and home series.

ished through the years. Death came to him peacefully in the early evening of Sunday, January 14th. He had been ill for the previous seven weeks, with a spell of asthma, which had made his life one of suffering for over fifty years.

Comes to Villanova

Having come to Villanova shortly before the turn of the century, Mr. Webb took up work here which was then very much a part of the place and was work at which he was an expert—the care of the college dairy. Except for a comparatively brief interval, which included a return visit to his native Ireland (1904), he maintained the principal care of the cattle of the college farm until the farm department was eliminated from the campus make-up. Mr. Webb then became a kind of general caretaker over the two seminary buildings, St. Mary's and St. Rita's Hall. In this capacity he did the firing of the boilers in winter and during the warmer months cared for the flower gardens and lawns of the seminary. In addition to the many other little ways in which he made himself useful, there was his perpetual care of the many squirrels which, because of his bounty, have found Villanova a kind of paradise.

Wrote Poety

Mr. Webb was an informed and gentlemanly character whose early education and training had been a solid one. He thus found the leisure moments of his day welcome moments, for then he could read to his heart's desire. He was one of the most consistent users of the Villanova library. Every Saturday found him renewing his week's supply of books. Being an Irishman, and an Irish patriot to the core, he was fondest of poetry and books on his homeland. He even wrote poems on the land and people he never ceased to love, and one of these poems gained quite some circulation and acclaim.

Returns to Ireland

It was in 1932, for the Eucharistic Congress in Dublin, that he last returned to Ireland. It was then that he saw for the last time his beloved brother and sister who survive him. At his death, he was seventy-three years of age. With his passing, Villanova loses one of its oldest vital connections with its past.

Mr. Webb became a convert to the faith not many years after his first coming to Villanova, and the faith itself ever remained his dearest and proudest possessions. His body was laid to rest in St. Denis' cemetery, Oakmont, Pa. It was a spot to which Mr. Webb himself would often go of a Sunday afternoon, in order to be reminded of many of his old friends and to pray for them.

we would like to mention two more fellows who are killing the opposite sex with their charm, Tom Hanratty and Carl Ungaro.

The other day on the "El" a rather nice looking girl opened her wallet and lo and behold there was a picture of one, T. H. Hanratty. Why any sane girl would want to carry such a thing is beyond us—unless it's to scare little kiddies away.

On the same day we learned that Carl Ungaro is one of the nicest boys at Villanova. These words came from the lips of a beautiful (but dumb) girl that rides on the "El" with Carl. She was impressed when he offered her a seat but she was most impressed by his neat and well groomed appearance. She said that he looked as if he had stepped out of a fashion magazine. Carl always told us that he only read the men's fashions in Esquire—guess we have to believe him now.

Did you notice a blinding flash last week? Have no fear for it was not an astronimical phenomenon (whew), it was merely John Bauman's rather loud taste for clothing. It appeared to be an outer garment but due to its brightness one could not be certain of its nature. By the way little man, did your father miss those size thirteen hip boots that you were wearing? We are wondering if the "Alaskan Kid" dressed to protect himself from the snow or to attract attention? At any rate he did both.

The meager supply of civilians at Villanova was further reduced last week for Frank Perotti left to join the Merchant Marine. Best of everything, Frank.

Yesterday during an English test we heard the fellow behind us mutter the following prayer:

Now I sit me down to write
I crammed and crammed throughout the night
If I should die before I'm through
Dear Lord, destroy my pony too.

Pat Coletta must think that he is good competition for the "Voice". Every night for the past week Pat has been heard singing his roommate, and any one else within earshot, to sleep. We think it would be better, for all parties concerned, if Pat would confine his singing to the bathtub.

Before we close we would like to thank all our loyal readers for their wonderful fanmail. We really appreciate the many fine things that you said about the column. Incidentally what does P-u-t-r-i-d mean?

Assigned To Mediterranean

Upon leaving the United States for flying duty overseas, he was assigned to the oldest heavy bombardment group in the Mediterranean Theater of Operations. This group has flown more than 400 combat missions, bombing enemy installations in almost every Axis-dominated country in Europe from bases in England, North Africa, Russia and Italy. Lt. Hefti flew his initial high altitude bombing mission on July 5 when the group bombed railroad yards at Montpelie,r France.

His flying career is made up of many long range bombing missions against targets of vital strategic importance deep within Axis-territory. Many of these missions were own through extremely adverse weather conditions, over treacherous mountains and large bodies of water He has been awarded the Air Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters.

Milde Promoted

Edward L. Milde ex '44, of 39 Plaza Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., was recently promoted to a second lieutenancy on the battle field. Edward, who is in the Medical Administrative Corps with the Seventh Army in France, left the States for overseas in September 1943 as a private.

MarinesSeeWorld In Pacific Tour For Uncle Sam

By PAT LAFERTY

Our trio this week includes representatives of the South, East and the mid-west. The first, from Baltimore, Maryland is Paul T. Geckle, twenty-two year old trainee. He attended Mount Saint Joseph High School there and entered the Marine Cors on February 6th, 1943. His two years of service have certainly seen a heap of action.

After basic training at Parris Island he became a drill-instructor there with the rank of a corporal. A few months later he became a member of the newly-formed 24th Regiment of the Fourth Marine Division at Camp Pendleton, California. He left the States in January of 1944. With the 4th Marines he was in the first invasion wave of the invasion of the Marshall Islands on the 31st of January. This, the first invasion of Japanese soil, followed the greatest advance bombardment in history. The Fourth Division under Major Generals G. Schmidt and H. Smith secured possession of the ninty islands in the group within two months. For Paul, this meant a well-earned rest in Hawaii.

Rejoins Outfit

Rejoining his outfit on June 14th he aided in the storming of the beaches of Saipan in the face of terrific fire from Jap defenses. By July 8th Saipan, largest of the Marianas Group, belonged to the Marines, and the United States, too. Without a pause on July 23rd this division invaded Tinian, three miles southwest of Saipan. In six days it was a Jap graveyard.

This ended Pacific warfare for some time for Cpl. Geckle. Paul returned to the States via Hawaii and Treasure Island. After a brief refresher course at New River he was assigned to the V-12 Unit at Villanova. He holds three ribbons: Asiatic-Pacific Theatre with three stars, American Theatre and the Presidential Unit Citation.

While with the fleet in the 24th Regiment Paul was the Rifle Squad leader. His main hobby is sports—in general. He would some day like to be an analytic chemist.

New York Marine

From upper New York is Donald C. Ball, twenty-two year old occupant of 132 Austin Hall. A native of Ithaca, N. Y., home of Cornell University, Don attended the home-town high school. He entered and a return to Guadalcanal, Don April, 1942.

After basic at Parris Island he took advanced training at Lancing, Michigan where he had aerial photographic interpretation. He left the country from San

Annual Retreat Services Ended Friday Morning

Attendance At All Services Gratifying; Very Rev. William Sheedy, O.S.A., Conducts Retreat

The annual retreat for the students of Villanova College ended last Friday morning with the celebration of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass and the reception of Holy Communion by those who attended the exercises.

Despite the sacrifices that the students had to make during the entire week, the attendance at all the services was large and gratifying. The resident students began their spiritual exercises each morning with Mass and sermon at 7:00 A. M., and closed daily with Benediction and sermon at 6:45 P. M. The retreat for the day students began each morning with Mass and sermon at 7:45 A. M. and ended with Benediction and sermon at 1:00 P. M.

Conducted by Father Sheedy

The Very Reverend William Sheedy, O.S.A., Prior of Saint Augustine's, 4th and Vine Sts., in Philadelphia, conducted the retreat. Father Sheedy in his sermons emphasized the fact that more powerful sermons for leading

D.P.E. Holds First Meeting Of Semester

William Barret, President of the Delta Pi Espison, Commerce and Finance students' fraternity, presided over the first 1945 meeting of the fraternity yesterday afternoon in Mendel Hall, and explained to all members and "pledges" the future plans of the organization, while giving to all a background history of the frat before the war.

All present at the meeting were introduced formally to the fraternity's moderator, Professor P. J. Dougherty, the newly elected officers, and some of the members who have taken a leading role in other extracurricular activities around the campus.

Membership Cards

New Membership cards were distributed both to the older members of the frat and to the accepted pledges. Applications were distributed to all those who expressed a desire to join up. At present there are twenty-five brothers in the fraternity, and after reorganization has been completed, it is expected, Barret said, that "the number will swell considerably."

At present, a campaign is being urged to raise funds for a ball and smoker, and to provide for the frat keys and pins.

Three More Villanovans Prisoners of War; Another Injured

Within the past week, the Alumni Office has been notified of the death of two more former Villanovans, together with the news that three others are Prisoners of the German Government, and another has been wounded.

Thomas O'Brien, ex'32, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. O'Brien of Montclair, N. J., and former C & F student, died a few hours after a bomb struck the small hotel in which he and some 25 others, members of an intelligence unit, were in conference, on May 29th, 1944, somewhere in England. He has been awarded the Purple Heart for "meritorious military service" and is buried in an American cemetery, just outside of London. At the same time, it has also been revealed that another member of the O'Brien family, James O'Brien, ex '43, C & F., is a prisoner of the Germans, having been listed by the U. S. Government as "missing in action" somewhere in Southern France since September 3rd. James was a member of the 117th Cavalry, which was formerly the Essex Troop of New Jersey. He has been overseas two years, serving in Africa, and Italy previous to his service in Southern France. His family is hearing from him regularly from Stalag 111 C., where he is interned.

Catanese Killed

Word has also been received, that 1st Lt. Salvatore L. Catanese, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Catanese, 1025 S. 6th St., Philadelphia, was instantly killed when two planes crashed at the Army Air Base at Dyersburg, Tenn., on Wednesday, January 24th. Lt. Catanese recently returned from England where he served with the 8th Air Force. He had 35 missions to his credit and held the Distinguished Flying Cross with three Oak

Second Lieutenant John McGrath Flies 35th Mission; Hits Ploesti and Blechhammer

Second Lieutenant John M. McGrath, 20, 31 Carpenter Lane, Philadelphia, Pa., navigator on a B-24 Liberator bomber in the 15th AAF, recently flew his 35th combat mission against the enemy.

"That 35th mission was more of a milk-run than my first," said McGrath. "We struck the Venzone viaduct up in northern Italy without running into a bit of opposition or flak. It was much the same story on the first mission I flew last August. We hit a railroad bridge at Avignon in France that day and made a good pin-pointing job with our bombing. I guess that was the longest mission I ever flew, but then your first combat mission is likely to make more of an impression on you."

Ploesti Fields on List

Since that time, Lieutenant McGrath has flown down the Flak Alley of Ploesti and felt the enemy's steel on one of his wings. Over Blechhammer he navigated through three missions and once his ship had to come back with

Marines Set Up Corps Display In Austin Hall

Members of the United States Marine Corps of the Naval V-12 Unit at Villanova College have set up a display in the Library in Austin Hall. The display features a large map showing the various places which the members of the Corps have "visited" during the course of their activities in this war. The various attires of the Marine Corps were also on display, featuring the summer uniform, the winter "Greens"" and the full battle dress, and lastly is the display of the "dress Blues" which the Marines love so well.

Ranks on Display

The stripes connotating the various ranks held by some of the Corps members before their entrance in the V-12 program were also on display, ranging from the rank of Private First Class to that of Master Sergeant. Cardboard plaques depicting in writing the duties of the members of the Marine Corps and another plaque describing the activities of the Corps and its origin was also on display. The Very Reverend F. X. N. McGuire, O.S.A., President of Villanova College, and Commander Edward Hannah, U.S.N.R., are pictured viewing the display.

Tickets For Hop Now Being Sold In Mendel Hall

Chairman Hugh O'Reilly Announces Sale at Information Booth for Convenience of Purchasers

Hugh O'Reilly, chairman of the dance committee of the Phi Kappa Pi Fraternity, which is sponsoring the Winter Hop, to be held in the Field House on Saturday night February 3rd, between 9:00 P. M. and 1 P. M., has announced that ticket sales for this affair are lagging, and has urged all students to cooperate with the committee in the distribution of tickets.

Tickets for the Hop are on sale at a table in Mendel Hall in front of the Information Booth during the noon lunch hour. Representatives among the student body who are selling tickets are, Don Reinhardt, A.S., Mendel Hall; Al Dumsa, Alumni Hall; Bill Schurr, A.S., and Ray Willie, A.S., Fedigan Hall; John Belletti, A.S., (sailors), and Pvt. Tom Schofield (Marines) Austin Hall, and John Coyne and David I. Ryan, Day Hops. The price of the tickets is $2.50, including tax.

Asks Cooperation

"This Hop is the only large social affair of the semester, and upon its turnout depends in great measure whether or not similar affairs will be staged in the future," Chairman O'Reilly stated Saturday, while reiterating that "it is an open dance—open to one and all. All students are urged to bring their friends to Villanova."

Decorations for the Hop will be in accordance with the title of the dance, with the theme of Valentine's Day prevailing.

Len Mayfair, and his "Miles of Melody" band will supply the music for the evening.

Father Deehan Leaves College For Short While

Last week Rev. Daniel J. Deehan, O.S.A., instructor in Religion, Engineering Drawing and Descriptive Geometry, was given a temporary leave of absence from Villanova College in order to assist the faculty of St. Rita High School in Chicago, Illinois.

Fr. Deehan came to Villanova College in July 1943 when the Naval V-12 program had its inception at this College. He received his A.B. degree from Villanova in 1939. The following four years he spent in Washington, studying at the Augustinian College and at Columbia Institute of Technology, New York.

No Peace Without God

The expression that "this is a war of machines" has been used so often in the past five years that it has become trite. Nonetheless, the truth of the matter is that advancements in mechanical warfare are almost superhuman, and phenomenal discoveries in medical science have taken their places alongside mechanical findings.

Hulking B-29's, elusive PT's, robot bombs, bazooka guns, the worldwide use of sulpha drugs, penicillin, and blood plasma give full testimony to the ingenuity of the laboratory and research experts. All this progress has been made through the efforts of engineers and chemists so that war can be waged better than ever before.

But world leaders are not content to rest with the progress at hand in physics and chemistry. They have now taken upon themselves the task of shaping the lives of men, of wrapping the world in a mantle of peace and prosperity through pacts and negotiations, through treaties and arbitrary agreements—without God. True, this job has been tried before—its failure is the cause of the present conflict—but, indeed, it is still the Herculean task of them all. And it can't be done.

In their flush of victory the domineering leaders at Versailles wrote their own "peace" of revenge and hate. Built not on God, their treaty tottered and fell to the ignominious disaster to which it was destined from its very inception.

At this point, it appears that we are to have a repetition of Versailles following this war. Only three months ago statesmen from the various countries of the United Nations gathered at Dumbarton Oaks to discuss proposals for post-war plans on international cooperation and coordination, and failed to arrive at satisfactory conclusions after seven weeks of deliberations. It is now coming more and more to the fore that the underlying weakness that caused the failure at Dumbarton Oaks was the same that caused the League of Nations to disintegrate.

Many of the League's lofty ideals and provisions are truly impressive, and some have been incorporated into the Dumbarton Oaks proposals. But the League failed because it was based on the utilitarian interests of the individual nations which founded it. It was not founded on justice and the moral law.

In all the Dumbarton Oaks proposals no mention of God, morality, the natural law, nor anything else credible in a peace plan is to be found, save for the International Court of Justice.

In truth, then, we are starting out on the wrong foot towards post-war planning. It is necessary that we recognize that religion, or, more specifically, the laws of God and of the Church, the infallibility and indispensability of the Pope are not merely rules and beliefs of Roman Catholics, but are guides for all men.

Peace is not a negative conception—the absence of war. It is the existence of justice, morality, charity, and the fear and love of God.

There never has been, nor can there ever be, a lasting peace without God.

Camp To Campus

By MICHAEL N. FLYNN, A.S.

BACK to pay us a visit last week were Gene McGuire, S 1/c, and Tom Corbett, Ph. M. 3/c.

Gene is a corpsman at the Base Hospital at Camp Peary. While strolling through his former haunts in Mendel Hall, Gene informed us that his brother, Ed, is going to school at Bainbridge prepping for Annapolis.

Tom is stationed at the Naval Hospital in Philadelphia and was thoroughly enjoying his first night of liberty in a long time.

Ens. Roger Lattanza, former Pre-Med student, is undergoing training in Florida. "Rog" received his commission at Northwestern in November and was one of the top men in his class.

From the Pacific comes word that Gerry McCann, Mo.M.M. 2/c, ex. '46, is doing duty on a "sweeper"—"out there."

Lt. L. Phillips, '42, was seen recently in New York, home on leave after fourteen months of duty in the Pacific. Lt. Phillips saw plenty of action while flying in a torpedo bombing squadron.

At Kennedy General Hospital in Tennessee is Cpl. Jack Robinson. Jack is undergoing treatment for a severe back injury suffered overseas.

"Somewhere on the Western Front" we find Pfc. Jim Kelly and Pvt. Dan Welsh, two members of the Alumni Hall Freshman class of '42. Jim, who was serving with a medical detachment, when last heard from was in Belgium; while Dan writes from "somewhere in Germany" that he is a member of an Anti-aircraft division.

Ens. John Engelhard is home on a short leave from Asbury Park. John, who expects to report to Harvard for Communications school early next month, was assigned to Asbury immediately after graduating from Columbia Midshipman's School early in December.

Cpl. Vincent Gammache is now training in England.

Serving "somewhere in the Pacific" are Ens. Tom Kongsgaard and Bill Hess, B.M. 2/c.

Pvt. Jack McCabe, ex. '46, is now stationed at Camp Blanding, Fla.

Pvt. Jim Ackroyd is headed for North Carolina University after four months at Syracuse University.

Meet the Boys

By HUGH FALLON

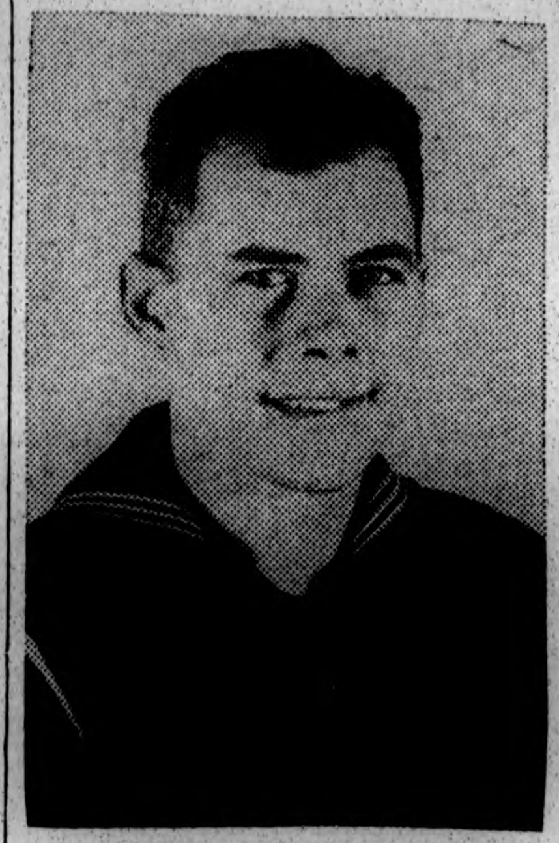
A student with a truly scientific mind is George Smith, a Chemical Engineering student from Austin Hall. George was born in April 23, 1921, in Baltimore, Md., where he attended Patterson Park High School and Baltimore City College.

While at Patterson Park, he was a member of the Math and Chemistry Clubs. He matriculated at Baltimore City College after his graduation from Patterson Park, and graduated from there in June, 1939.

Enters V-12

He then attended John Hopkins for three years in the school of Chemistry, and in 1942 he entered Loyola, where he studied chemistry for another year. While at Loyola, he was Secretary of the Math Club, and Treasurer of the Chemistry Club.

In July, 1943, he entered the V-12, and was sent to St. Mary's for a term in the Scientific Course. In the following November he requested a transfer to Villanova, and is studying Chemical Engineering. If present plans materialize, George will enter the field of Chemical Engineering when peace makes it again possible.



GEORGE SMITH, A.S.

At Catholic U.

The first important event in his life occured in August 18, 1923, when he was born. After a normal childhood, he entered Woodrow Wilson High School, where he did his first marching in the Cadet Corps. He graduated in June, 1941, and, after working for a while, attended drafting school. In June 1942 he began three term of studying Architectural Engineering at the Catholic University.

JOSEPH PERNA, A.S.

July 1943 brought another major change in Joe's life when he entered the V-12 and came to Villanova to study Civil Engineering. After the war, he hopes to remain in the Navy for a few years to gain the experience that it will give him and then return to civilian life as a Civil Engineer. He also intends to continue his hobbies of tennis playing and amateur photography.

Tall Talk" Callaghan is still trying to conceal the happenings at a certain party on the 20th, but his dear girl Anna May told us all. Bill still maintains that Norfolk is the "dream city" of the South. (At least one of us agrees on that . . . See Bud Miller for particulars.) Fred Koch was seen conversing in City Hall courtyard, but it wasn't with his Wave because we have his description of her. "She's cute, small, and O-O-O-O so nice . . . It's not love, but." Well what is it then, Fred? Freddie Gargano seems to be going into Public Speaking, but it's in the Anatomy Lab. Why such a blow-off about the haircut? (What would Irene sey?) Don Schmucker is for our money having twice as much fun as anyone in Fedigan Hall. He's playing two games at the time . . . One in the home town . . . The other at Bryn Mawr.

MENDEL MENAGERIE:

George (the great profile) Siebert and Elmer Farrell really lived up to the definition of a "buddie" by relieving Husky Nolan of his Kay for a half. Don't be bitter Husky. They spared you as long as they could but she HAD to have you. What is it Husky . . . It isn't P. T. It must be vitamins? Scene about town (but what town?):George Strapophalous and Harvey accompanied by their friends from Fedigan. Bernie Nappen and Horse Bernton. Joe (I only go out with a girl once . . . or vice-versa) Sulock thinks he is giving Marie the run-around, but again it is vice-versa as of a week ago. She broke the news to him that she just couldn't see him that night. (Courtesy of Joe Costello) We haven't enough on Schmitty, to burn him, but a reward is offered for any valuable or displeasing information.

CIMAGLIA'S AUSTIN:

To get the point and Cimaglia did, he passed out for a change on the campus this week. It isn't because he "plays" basketball but it is another rather pointed subject. Speaking of basketball and Cimaglia (We shouldn't mention both in the same sentence) the question of the week is how does Austin continue to win and still allow him to "play"? Austin has one of the finest four-man teams around here made up of Sonner, Hare, Smith, and Brown, James M. Gallagher, the camel driver, is currently taking up fisticuffs at P. T. in order to prepare for the coming female fight at home. You don't look so good to us Jim so you may as well go thru with your plans to go to Pittsburgh over the leave.

By DICK RANDOLPH and LARRY LYONS

"Br it's cold," seemed to be the favorite expression of the studes last week for old man Winter really hit us with everything he had. We hope that it warms up soon for we are having a hard time trying to convince everybody that it is only the cold weather that is making our noses red.

The icy winds which ripped across the campus had no effect on Al Capuzzi for he had his love to keep him warm. It looks as if this is the real thing too for Al has that dreamy look in his eyes that comes only from the heart. If you are unfortunate enough to get in his way he will pull you aside and bang your ear for an hour about the rare beauty of his Dorothy. Bring her around on the third, Al, and we will give you our opinion.

Due to his recent activities someone has suggested that A. Joseph Mullen change his name to A. Kenneth Mullen . . .

Pedro Bonnin is working diligently trying to find the electron that isn't there. If he is successful future generations will be working over the complications involved in Bonnin's Theory.

While looking through the files the other day, we came across a back issue of the Villanovan, dated November 23, 1937. It attracted our eye and we decided to delve into it further. Many of the names mentioned are unfamiliar to us now and it is interesting to note where the editors and staff members of 1937 are today.

Joe Toland was Editor-in-Chief then and he is now a 1st Lt. in the Medical Corps. In those days every issue was eight pages, carrying news of the many activities present on the campus then. This was a particularly important issue since it carried the news of the Temple game which was the focal point of student interest at that time.

Across the front page was the caption, "Wildcats Overwhelm Owls, 33-0"—the traditional rivals had taken a terrific beating that year. The front page picture showed Fedigan Hall's winning entry in the annual pre-Temple game display. This was an annual event which always preceded the big game of the year in which all the halls put on a display with Beat Temple as the theme.

Turning to the second page we found the usual editorials and also the regular columns. Tom O'Mahoney, now a Captain in the Marines, wrote the pillar, "Odds and Ends." Next to it was another column labeled "College Chatter" by Joe Alessandroni. Joe is a Lt. now serving with the First Marines overseas. Another regular feature was, "Introducing" which corresponded to our present "Meet the Boys." The subject for that issue was Ed Shovelin who is now an Army Lieutenant.

The sport page was alive with the thrilling news of the recent Temple victory and subheaded by a story on the 150 lb. team which had just beaten Penn 20-0. Paul Kerrigan and Don McGurk were the stars on the 150's that year. Paul is now a Cpl. in the Air Corps while Don is a Lt. in the Quartermaster Corps, probably in Alaska.

The varsity was enjoying its best season in the college's history with only one game yet to play for an unbeaten season. (They won the game.) Another story concerned the fact that many seniors will be playing their last game.

Completing their grid careers were: Johnny Mellus, a Lt. in the artillery who was All-Service at Camp Davis two seasons ago; Jordan Olivar, now Villanova's head mentor; Alex Bell, an Ensign in the Navy; Val Rizzo, an army lieutenant; Joe Missar, a Major in the Marine Corps overseas; Johnny McKenna, an Army dischargee, now head coach at Malvern Prep.; Art Raimo, a Lt. (j.g.) in the Navy; Andy Stopper, former coach at Reading High now an Ensign in the Navy; and Ray Stoviak, who when last heard from was an air cadet at Chapel Hill.

Big Art Raimo, perhaps the most well known to Navy and Marine trainees, was featured "In the Sportlight." Art became a Navy P.T. Instructor and did a tour of duty here during the early days of V-12. Another regular feature of the eight-page issue was the column, "Here and There." It's author in those days was Tom Carbine, the first of three brothers to enter Villanova and pen this feature.

Tom was probably the most successful in his class having earned a chest full of decorations to go with major's leaves on his shoulders. All the columnists were giving their version of the Temple victory. Carbine also rapped the local papers which has been a traditional topic of VILLANOVAN sport writers. (We haven't quite gotten around to it yet.)

Wildcats Lose To Muhlenberg And Bucknell

Mules Add to Streak 46-29; Bisons Better Mediocre Record 46-34

The Villanova College basketball team suffered its fourth straight defeat at the hands of the fast-stepping Muhlenberg Mules by a 46-22 score at the Field House, Wednesday, Jan. 24. It was the Allentown team's fifteenth victory against one loss.

At the start of the game the Wildcats matched their opponents field goal for field goal and the score stood at 6-6 after five minutes Then Chuck Theisen made good on a set shot and the Mules rallied to hold a 15-6 edge at the conclusion of the first quarter.

Shot By Carter

The only Blue and White offensive gesture for the remainder of the half was an outside shot by Lee Carter. Muhlenberg's tight defense and clever playmaking netted them a 25-8 advantage at intermission.

Throughout the rest of the game the Cats employed a zone defense for the first time this season. It proved only fairly effective and the best the Main Liners could do was lower their 17 point deficit at halftime to 14 at the conclusion of the game.

Doran High

High scoring honors for the game went to Doran of Muhlenburg with 13 points. Carter tabbed six field goals for Villanova.

The following Saturday, Jan. 27, saw the Cats drop a hard fought game to Bucknell's Bisons 46-34, at the Bucknell Field House.

The Bisons started fast and scored 7 points before Carter broke the ice for the Cats. Some George Guida, former Wildcat track star before donning his Navy uniform, set a new record last Saturday afternoon for the 300-yard dash in the Inquirer A. A. Invitation Meet. Guida is now a specialist at the Sampson Naval Training Station.

Track Team To Enter Millrose Mile On Sat.

In the second of a series of meets, the Varsity track team will enter the Millrose Meet in New York City this coming Saturday. Joe Beals, Chuck Harrington, Jimmy Morris ,and Burt Cox will be entered in this well known track competition. Two years ago the Wildcat team copped this event when Harry Keefrider, Johnny DiCarlo, Dutch McCarthy, and George Guida represented Villanova.

In The Sportlight

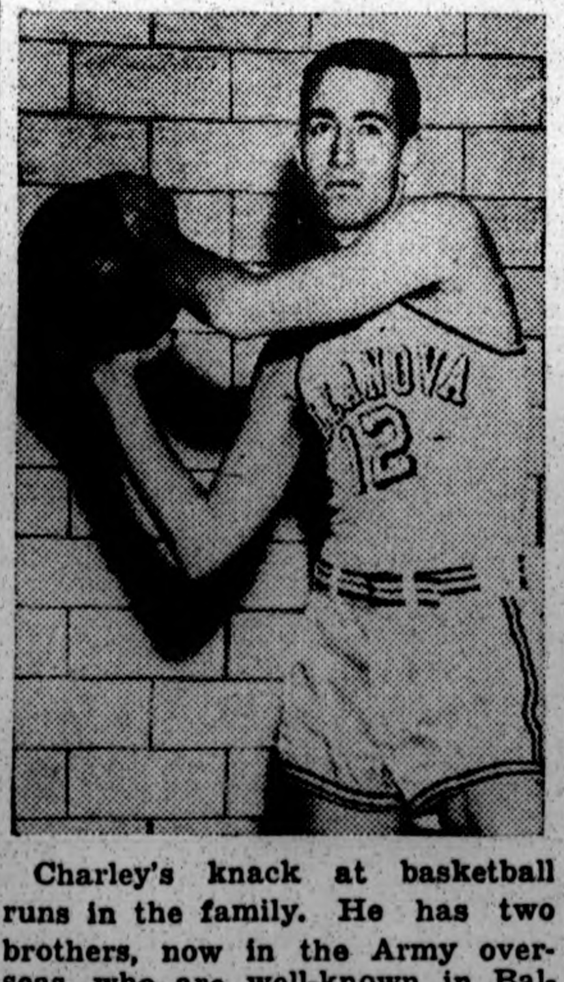
By MATT KEARNEY, A.S.

To a plugging ballplayer with plenty of fighting spirit, this week's sportlight points with pride, Throughout the season this steady basketeer has proven invaluable to coach Severance. This tall wizard of the wooden ways is Charley Froelicher of Baltimore, Md.

Starting his long career in 1939, he played varsity ball as a Freshman at Fountain Valley High School in Colorado Springs. After a year there, he transferred to Park School in Baltimore where he had the fine record of playing on the first-five for three years. While playing with this team he was chosen as center on the All-tournament team of the Baltimore "B" Conference in 1942, and after another year of fine play was elected for this same team again in 1943.

It appeared as though he was through with basketball for the duration when, on June 10, 1943, he enlisted in the Navy. It didn't take Charley long to find his way back to the hardwood, however, for in November of the same year he was assigned to the V-12 Unit at Mount Saint Mary's College. While here, though, he found time only for intramural competition.

On July 1, 1944, Charley was ordered to transfer to Villanova, and the first practices in September found him working hard after quite a layoff. Although he played well under fire he didn't earn a starting berth until after the first few games had been played. From here on in, using his six foot plus height to very good advantage, Chuck really showed his worth.



Charley's knack at basketball runs in the family. He has two brothers, now in the Army overseas, who are well-known in Baltimore basketball circles.

An interesting fact which Charley tells about himself is that he actually played basketball in High school for five straight years. He did not pass when he was a freshman, thus giving him another year of ball-playing to his credit.

When Charley leaves Villanova in March, the Wildcats will lose not only a good ballplayer but a fine fellow filled to the brim with good sportsmanship.

Blue and White Encounter Rider and Valley Forge

Roughriders Journey Here Tomorrow Night; Twice Beaten Medics Friday

By JIM DAY

Hoping to break their losing streak which now includes the last four games played, the Villanova College basketball team will engage the Rider College and Valley Forge General Hospital quintets, during the next week at the Field House.

Rider, which plays on Wednesday evening, should give the 'Cats plenty of opposition. Having a very successful season, they have won most of their games and handed Villanova its first defeat at the start of the season and stopped a four game winning streak. Led by Captain Don Pugliese, who scored 15 points against us, the final score turned out to be 42 to 27.

Pugliese played last year also and was leading point scorer on the team. Running mate of his will be Paul Roedel, who was all-state honorable mention on Millville, N. J., High School team.

Patterson at Center

At center will be Tom Patterson, a rehabilitated war veteran, who won the Purple Heart after being injured by a bomb at Salerno. The guard positions will be filled by Al Rossi, one of the greatest all around athletes ever to come out of Trenton High School, and Kenny Kunsch, who has been playing Varsity ball for the past three years.

On Friday evening, Lieutenant Thomas Baker brings his nationally rated Valley Forge team here for the second of the two game series.

Larger Margin

As in the Rider game, the opposition took the first game but this time by a larger margin, 61 to 31. At the time, Valley Forge was undefeated, but since has lost to both Temple and Bainbridge. This still leads the Medics with a record of 20 wins and 2 losses to date.

Coach Baker has a strong nucleus of College men in his team. Topping the list is the former All-American Stan Szukula, who was high scorer in the previous game. The other guard is Harley Graf, veteran of last year's Valley Forge team, who formerly played for the University of Wisconsin.

Three Former Irish

There are three former Notre Dame men on the starting team in the persons of Bill Davis, 6 foot 3 inch center; Johnny Niemera, the fastest man on the squad, and Johnny Craddock, whose under the basket play makes him deadly to all opponents

The Medics feature two capable replacements in Jack Porter, who formerly played for Texas Teacher's College, and Aaron Tanitsky, who was one of the standouts on last year's crack Pennsylvania team.

Cindermen Place In Three Events At Inquirer Meet

Mile Relay Team Takes Second Place; Cox in Semi-Finals in 60-Yard Dash

By JOE McLAUGHLIN

Last Saturday's Inquirer A.A.U. track meet saw some of the country's fastest runners compete for the coveted Inquirer awards. The meet was held at Penn's outdoor board track and the men of the spiked shoes went through their paces on a 220 yard track that was surrounded by snow and ice but that didn't stop them from putting all they had into their running so that the meet even though held under unfavorable conditions would be a success.

There were twenty-two events ranging from 60 yd. high hurdles to putting the shot and competition was keen in every one of them. The only disappointing thing about the meet was that Gunder Hagg and Gil Dodds who had been invited to the meet were not able to be present. Several other prominent runners were on hand though, Barney Ewell was one and Marine Staff Sergeant Billy Mitchell, National A. A. U. 110 meter high hurdles champion.

Competes in Dash

In the sixty yard dash three Villanova men competed, Jimmy Morris, Larry Bradley, and Burt Cox. Jimmy Morris came in second in his heat while Bradley who ran with a bad leg came in fourth. Cox competed in the semi finals of the 60 yard dash event because of his winning 6.6 second sixty, by the way, is the same time that Barney Ewell recorded in his heat, however in the semi-finals he was defeated by Ewell who ran a 6.2 sixty to nearly smash the present record which stands at 6.1 sec.

The College One-Mile Relay gave Villanova's quartet a chance to show its stuff, although they didn't win the relay they ran a very close second. Burt Cox was lead-off man and gave the Wildcats a good fifty yard lead over their nearest opponent, Dick Shouldis, of Penn. However George Hooper who was No. 2 man, got off to a bad start and fell about twenty-five yards in back of the Penn man, Chuck Harrington, gained back a few of those precious yards for us and Joe Beals, speed merchant anchor man, really poured on the steam to come in on the heels of the man from Penn.

Temple Beaten

It might be said of Temple in this event that they also ran because we beat them by about one lap. Our time on that was about a second over the winner's time which was 3 min. 36.2 sec.

In the Distance Medley Relay we again took second while the New York Pioneer Club took first place beating us by about two seconds. Their time was 11 min. 20.7 sec.

Tom Short ran the 880 yard distance for us, and even from the start the relay was a race between the New York Pioneer club and Villanova. John Cockroft took the

Bucky's Boys Vie With Holy Rollers For Bowling Lead

Bucky's Boys, the team that put it on the Holy Rollers a week ago, continued their efforts for the title by beating the Sack Hounds, 4-0. Led by Famiano, who bowled 220 in the second game to tie for high game, Bucky's Boys had little trouble with their opponents despite the 100 pin handicap which they had to give up. Fimbel also rolled a 203 game and ended up the day with a 185 average.

Holy Rollers, lacking a chance to redeem themselves for last week's beating, won by forfeit from the Wash Bowlers, 4-0. In what proved to be the closest contest of the day, the 300 Club split with Flakers, 2-2. The Flakers, taking advantage of every opportunity won only one game but collected enough pins in that game to win total pins by 21.

The two most evenly matched teams in the league, according to averages, Alley Cats and Lost Cause battled to a 3-1 win for Lost Cause. A handicap of a single pin was given to the Alley Cats, who wish it had been more for the first and last games.

Next week's games will be the seventh week of play, which constitutes the regular schedule. The following week, February 10, a knockdown week will be held, pitting first place team against second place team, etc.

Diego and on September 27th, 1942 arrived at Noumea in New Caledonia. A new assignment put him on Guadalcanal starting November 11, 1942—our first war-time celebration of Armistice Day; a very sober celebration six months after the fall of Corrigedor.

Returns to U. S.

After a third, undisclosed assignment in Auckland, New Zealand and a return to Gaudacanal, Don re-entered the United States at San Diego and was assigned first to the Southwest Louisiana Institute then to Villanova.

Pvt. Ball's chief hobbies in order of importance are sleep, bridge, sleep—so his buddies say. It seems he has taught quite a few other Austinites to play bridge. Though taking a Mechanical Engineering course his future plans are uncertain. Don holds three ribbons: Asiatic-Pacific, American Theatre and the Presidential Unit Citation.

To show that the Marine Corp is really a representation of American life, our third victim this week is Pvt. Donald H. Peterson, twenty-three year old peace-time inhabitant of Minneapolis, Minnesota. He attended the North High School and enlisted in the Marines on June 20th, 1940. After close to five years in the Marine Corps, Don is asking for more. His future occupation—U. S. Marine. His main hobby, due to Marine training, is Radio-work. Others include skiing, golf, football, or shall we say—sports in general. He has merited three ribbons: One star Asiatic-Pacific Theatre, American Theatre ,and the American Defense.

Quite different to our usual routine of basic at Parris Island, Don started out at Radio-operator school at San Diego and then went to Fleet Marine Forces at Camp Elliot, California.

Pearl Harbor

After an assignment at Fort Monroe, Virginia where he went to Radio Technical school and a stay at Quantico, Virginia, Peterson went to his P.O.E., San Francisco and then to Pearl Harbor.

Don participated in the battle of Midway from which he emerged a Technical Sergeant. He returned to the United States via Pearl Harbor, San Francisco and San Diego. He took further training at New River and was made a Master Technical Sergeant. Don is taking Electrical Engineering at Villanova.

Before we close we would like to congratulate all the fellows that made the retreat. Rolling out of bed an hour earlier into the cold grey morning was no easy matter but the fellows came through in true Villanova manner. There is an old saying, "practice what you preach," if we practice the things that were preached at the retreat, we will not only be a credit to our school and family but also an outstanding citizen of our country.

"That mission of Friday the thirteenth was one I shall not soon forget," says McGrath. "It was my second trip to Vienna and flak was flying thick and fast. At the moment we were dropping our eggs, a great chunk of flak came hurtling through the bomb-bay, and left a hole large enough for me to put my arm through. If it had landed there some four or five seconds earlier it would have struck one of the bombs."

McGrath entered the AAF Februuary 18, 1943, and received his navigator's wings at San Marcos, Tex., April 22, 1944. Prior to entering the army he was attending Villanova College, where he was a member of the freshman basketball team in 1941 and 1942, and received the extra-curricular activities medal. He was graduated from La Salle high school in 1941.

clever shooting by Bill Schanberger narrowed the gap to 17-15, but the home courtmen netted two baskets in the fading seconds of the half to give them a 21-15 margin.

In the second half, Bucknell used a zone defense. This stopped the Cats' shooting from the outside, but Chuck Froelicher tallied 12 points under the boards.

After Froelicher countered a lay-up to lower the count to 34-29 in the concluding five minutes, the Bisons, paced by Netski, began to find the range and poured in baskets from all angles to sew the game up.

Froelicher led both teams in scoring with 15 points, while Williams was high man for the victors with 12.

Jenkintown Club Visits College For Variety Show

Yankee Doodle came to Villanova for the fourth time last night, February 5, when the Yankee Doodle Service Club of Jenkintown presented its show in the College Field House.

Credit for the show goes first to Mr. George Noake, director of this club and producer of the skits, and then to Mr. Robert Whelan, Athletic Association Secretary, composer of many of the songs in the show and general arranger of details.

V-12ers Participate

The Yankee Doodle Review consisted of about fifty girls from the Jenkintown society and half that number of Villanova trainees. Prominent from the school group were Dick Henson and Bill Carter, vocalists, and Tony Mammarella and Charles Cummings in specialty acts. Also notably successful was the sailor quartet from Fedigan Hall. The girls in the cast all hail from Jenkintown and have given all of their spare time, voluntarily, to put on this show for the students of Villanova. Its whole-hearted reception by the student body was deeply appreciated.

This is the third time that the Yankee Doodlers have performed for the students here at Villanova. Entertaining servicemen by putting on similar shows is a specialty of the organization. The last show was given last October and was entitled Yankee Doodle Dandy. Many of the students who helped put over that skit were back again to help out last night.

Belle Air Photos On Display Wed.

Pictures for the 1945 edition of the Belle Air will be on display next to the Information Booth in Mendel Hall tomorrow afternoon between 12:15 P. M. and 6:00 P. M. This exposition will not include the pictures taken last Friday afternoon.

Orders for any of the pictures desired will be taken by John Fitzgibbons, Editor-in-Chief of the Belle Air, and Harry Edwards, Photography Editor. Payments for the pictures will be taken at the time orders are accepted.

Orders Taken

The Reverend Daniel P. Falvey, O.S.A., co-moderator of the yearbook, said Saturday afternoon, that "all pictures on display will be in the yearbook, and orders for the Belle Air may be placed when picture orders are given."

A one dollar deposit is to be made at the time the order is placed. Anyone leaving school before the publication is released to the student body can pay the remainder of the charge by C.O.D.

Francis Robinson Selected For Loyalty Award

Award To Be Presented Tonight at the Warwick Hotel

The recipient of the annual Loyalty Award, sponsored by the Villanova Club of Philadelphia, for "zeal for Alma Mater and outstanding loyalty to the National Alumni Association" is Francis X. Robinson of the Class of 1921, according to an announcement made by the Award Committee, during the past week.

A graduate of Roman Catholic High School, Philadelphia, Mr. Robinson entered Villanova in the Fall of 1917 as a Civil Engineering student and since his graduation in 1921, has been associated with the Bell Telephone Company of Philadelphia, acting at the present time as Field Engineer.

Baseball Star

His high school, as well as his College days, were marked by an outstanding performance on the baseball diamond. He was a member of the Philadelphia All Scholastic Team for two years, and a stalwart player on the Varsity for four years, starring as outfielder and pitcher. He captained the Varsity in his senior year.

Married in the College Chapel on June 28th, 1930, with Fr. John S. O'Leary performing the ceremony, Mr. Robinson at present resides with his wife and four children, in Merwood Park, Del. Co. The recipient has an imposing record of loyalty to his Alma Mater, having acted as Executive Director of the Alumni Centennial Fund, and a member of the Board of Governors of the National Alumni Association for the past several years.

Award Conferred Tonight

The award is to be conferred at a dinner to be held on this evening, February 27, at 6:15 P. M. at the Warwick Hotel, 17th and Locust Sts. An invitation has been extended to all Villanova alumni by the Chairman, Martin J. McLaughlin, '14. The cost of the dinner will be $3.50 per plate. Reservations can be made by contacting, Mr. McLaughlin, at 801 City Hall Annex, Philadelphia 7, Pa., or the Alumni Secretary, Villanova College.

Cary, Lyttle And Reed List Varied Overseas Duties

Dean P. Cary, twenty year old Marine trainee, hails from Buffalo, New York. He entered the U. S. Marine Corps on the thirtieth of July, 1941 and took his basic training at Parris Island. Following that, he was assigned to Iceland for gun operations and fighter control. Returning to the States, he went to Radar school at Quantico, Va. and shipped out from Norfolk in July, 1942 for Wellington, New Zealand. After a brief stay at New Caledonia he was assigned to Ellis Island in the Southern Gilbert group before these were captured by the Japs. There he set up a Radar station which existed for 15 months unknown to the Japs; he was crew chief and was made sergeant on June 3, 1943. After this he had stays in Pago Pago in American Samoa and San Diego where he took Combat Condition Instructions. Then came V-12 training at Miami University of Oxford, Ohio and Villanova. Pvt. Cary's chief ambition is to be an Electrical Engineer and Communications officer in the Marines. He contends his hobby is a blonde in Buffalo.

Next up is Walt Lyttle, 20, born in Boston, Mass., December 8, 1924. The family later moved to his present residence—North Bergen, New Jersey. He attended Union Hill high school in Union City, N. J. and had several months of Engineering Drawing at Stewart Technical School to his credit before enlisting in the Marines, November 27, 1942.

Stayed in Western Hemisphere

His first three assignments were in the United States, namely, basic at Parris Island, guard company at Norfolk, Virginia and Casual Section at Algiers, Louisiana. Then came duty in Trinidad, British West Indies, New River and as a college training applicant at Villanova. While in Trinidad he was orderly to Admral Robinson. Here at Villanova he is part of Pvt. Winter Hop Highlights Successful Social Season

Len Mayfair's "Miles of Melodies" band, vari-colored lights, clever decorations, good attendance, and a gay atmosphere all combined to make the Winter Hop a successful affair last Saturday night in the Field House.

The decorations were highlighted by a very large artificial snowman which sat in the center of the dance floor. Constructed by members of the Decoration Committee, it was surrounded with artificial snow and was fenced in from the center of the floor. Practically all who attended the dance noted this clever novelty in the way of decorations and commented most favorably on it.

On various portions of the sidewalls were spotlighted the decorations to carry out the theme of the approaching Valentine's Day. These Valentines were approximately six feet square and were fashioned by the committee. They consisted of various designs of hearts done with white silver glitter and red velvet.

A mixture of vari-colored lights gave an atmosphere of warmth and beauty. These colored lights alternately played on the dancers and the various decorations.

The crowd was more than satisfactory. It was large enough to make the Hop a financial success but not too great so as to impede enjoyable dancing.

Prominent among those who attended the dance were a great number of the Alumni who came back to their Alma Mater and enjoyed once again one of her social events.

Hugh O'Reilly, chairman of the Dance Committee, said of the Hop, "I consider the dance was a success in every way. Perhaps the best indication of this is the enjoyment shown by all. There were no dissenting notes on its presentation. Although the ticket sales were not too large before the dance, the door receipts more than guaranteed the success of the affair. The other members of the committees and myself are extremely well pleased and thankful for the support and cooperation rendered by all who helped put the Hop across."

Villanovans at the Front

From somewhere in the Central Pacific comes the delayed word that Marine Corporal Thomas C. Dunn, 22, of Atlantic Highlands, N. J., attached to the Public Relations Section of the Third Marine Division, recently was promoted from private first class.

Dunn, a combat artist, sketched scenes of the recapture of Guam while the battle raged. His sketchs appeared in "Leatherneck," official magazine of the Marine Corps. He landed with assault troops on D-Day and often was under Jap mortar and rifle fire.

Real Veteran

A veteran of Bougainville as well as Guam, Dunn has been overseas 20 months. He enlisted August 3, 1942, and after recruit training at Parris Island, S. C., attended the demolitions school at Camp Lejeune, N. C., before joining the Third Marine Division.

Dunn's mother, Mrs. William Von Glahn, lives at the New Jersey address. He is a graduate of St. James High School, Red Bank, N. J., and attended Villanova College. He was studying art at Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y., when he enlisted.

Senior Ball To Be Held In May

John Fitzgibbons, President of the Senior Class, has announced that the Class of '45 will present the Senior Ball on the second weekend of May.

The dance will be the first formal affair at Villanova since the Centennial Ball of over two years ago.

The Seniors are also formulating plans for the renewal of the annual dinner-dance.

These announcements followed quickly on the heels of the organization of the Senior Class, approximately three weeks ago. Overall chairman of all Senior social activities is William Barrett.

TEA DANCE

There will be a Tea Dance held by the girls of Rosemont College, on the College Campus Sunday afternoon, February 11 between 3:30 P. M. and 6:00 P. M. All Villanova College students who wish to attend this affair are cordially welcomed to do so.

Bucky's Boys, the team that put it on the Holy Rollers a week ago, continued their efforts for the title by beating the Sack Hounds, 4-0. Led by Famiano, who bowled 220 in the second game to tie for high game, Bucky's Boys had little trouble with their opponents despite the 100 pin handicap which they had to give up. Fimbel also rolled a 203 game and ended up the day with a 185 average.

Holy Rollers, lacking a chance to redeem themselves for last week's beating, won by forfeit from the Wash Bowlers, 4-0. In what proved to be the closest contest of the day, the 300 Club split with Flakers, 2-2. The Flakers, taking advantage of every opportunity won only one game but collected enough pins in that game to win total pins by 21.

The two most evenly matched teams in the league, according to averages, Alley Cats and Lost Cause battled to a 3-1 win for Lost Cause. A handicap of a single pin was given to the Alley Cats, who wish it had been more for the first and last games.

Next week's games will be the seventh week of play, which constitutes the regular schedule. The following week, February 10, a knockdown week will be held, pitting first place team against second place team, etc.

Two Prisoners

Two others have been listed as "Prisoners of War" all in Germany. 2nd Lt. Paul D. Guiteras, ex '44, C & F., with the 95th Bomb Group, 8th Air Force, England, was shot down in a raid on Muenster, Germany, on October 10th, 1943. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Guiteras, reside at 5345 N. 13th St., Phila., Pa. Through the World Student Service Fund, with headquarters in Geneva, the Alumni Office has been notified that John T. Lipka, 1941 graduate of the Science School, is interned at Stalag 11 B, Germany. It has also been revealed that Pvt. Lewis T. Tomasco, ex '46, C & F., was injured in Germany on November 22, 1944, and is now in a hospital in England. His parent, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Tomasco, live at 818 Morgan Ave., Drexel Hill, Pa.

This race had plenty of thrills and sent the spectators into hysteria when Don Schmidt who ran about 100 yards in back of the N.Y. Pioneer Club's man all the way up until the last lap of the race put on a sprint and raced over the finish line almost on the heels of the winner.

Diego and on September 27th, 1942 arrived at Noumea in New Caledonia. A new assignment put him on Guadalcanal starting November 11, 1942—our first war-time celebration of Armistice Day; a very sober celebration six months after the fall of Corrigedor.

Returns to U. S.

After a third, undisclosed assignment in Auckland, New Zealand and a return to Gaudacanal, Don re-entered the United States at San Diego and was assigned first to the Southwest Louisiana Institute then to Villanova.

Pvt. Ball's chief hobbies in order of importance are sleep, bridge, sleep—so his buddies say. It seems he has taught quite a few other Austinites to play bridge. Though taking a Mechanical Engineering course his future plans are uncertain. Don holds three ribbons: Asiatic-Pacific, American Theatre and the Presidential Unit Citation.

To show that the Marine Corp is really a representation of American life, our third victim this week is Pvt. Donald H. Peterson, twenty-three year old peace-time inhabitant of Minneapolis, Minnesota. He attended the North High School and enlisted in the Marines on June 20th, 1940. After close to five years in the Marine Corps, Don is asking for more. His future occupation—U. S. Marine. His main hobby, due to Marine training, is Radio-work. Others include skiing, golf, football, or shall we say—sports in general. He has merited three ribbons: One star Asiatic-Pacific Theatre, American Theatre ,and the American Defense.

Quite different to our usual routine of basic at Parris Island, Don started out at Radio-operator school at San Diego and then went to Fleet Marine Forces at Camp Elliot, California.

Pearl Harbor

After an assignment at Fort Monroe, Virginia where he went to Radio Technical school and a stay at Quantico, Virginia, Peterson went to his P.O.E., San Francisco and then to Pearl Harbor.

Don participated in the battle of Midway from which he emerged a Technical Sergeant. He returned to the United States via Pearl Harbor, San Francisco and San Diego. He took further training at New River and was made a Master Technical Sergeant. Don is taking Electrical Engineering at Villanova.

We received a letter from Frank Hudson last week, Frank is working quite hard, but he enjoys it. He is, however, slipping for he has seen Maria only four times since Christmas. When a man puts work ahead of pleasure . . . that's bad!

Before we close we would like to congratulate all the fellows that made the retreat. Rolling out of bed an hour earlier into the cold grey morning was no easy matter but the fellows came through in true Villanova manner. There is an old saying, "practice what you preach," if we practice the things that were preached at the retreat, we will not only be a credit to our school and family but also an outstanding citizen of our country.

"That mission of Friday the thirteenth was one I shall not soon forget," says McGrath. "It was my second trip to Vienna and flak was flying thick and fast. At the moment we were dropping our eggs, a great chunk of flak came hurtling through the bomb-bay, and left a hole large enough for me to put my arm through. If it had landed there some four or five seconds earlier it would have struck one of the bombs."

McGrath entered the AAF February 18, 1943, and received his navigator's wings at San Marcos, Tex., April 22, 1944. Prior to entering the army he was attending Villanova College, where he was a member of the freshman basketball team in 1941 and 1942, and received the extra-curricular activities medal. He was graduated from La Salle high school in 1941.

clever shooting by Bill Schanberger narrowed the gap to 17-15, but the home courtmen netted two baskets in the fading seconds of the half to give them a 21-15 margin.

In the second half, Bucknell used a zone defense. This stopped the Cats' shooting from the outside, but Chuck Froelicher tallied 12 points under the boards.

After Froelicher countered a layup to lower the count to 34-29 in the concluding five minutes, the Bisons, paced by Netski, began to find the range and poured in baskets from all angles to sew the game up.

Froelicher led both teams in scoring with 15 points, while Williams was high man for the victors with 12.

Jenkintown Club Visits College For Variety Show

Yankee Doodle came to Villanova for the fourth time last night, February 5, when the Yankee Doodle Service Club of Jenkintown presented its show in the College Field House.

Credit for the show goes first to Mr. George Noake, director of this club and producer of the skits, and then to Mr. Robert Whelan, Athletic Association Secretary, composer of many of the songs in the show and general arranger of details.

V-12ers Participate

The Yankee Doodle Review consisted of about fifty girls from the Jenkintown society and half that number of Villanova trainees. Prominent from the school group were Dick Henson and Bill Carter, vocalists, and Tony Mammarella and Charles Cummings in specialty acts. Also notably successful was the sailor quartet from Fedigan Hall. The girls in the cast all hail from Jenkintown and have given all of their spare time, voluntarily, to put on this show for the students of Villanova. Its whole-hearted reception by the student body was deeply appreciated.

This is the third time that the Yankee Doodlers have performed for the students here at Villanova. Entertaining servicemen by putting on similar shows is a specialty of the organization. The last show was given last October and was entitled Yankee Doodle Dandy. Many of the students who helped put over that skit were back again to help out last night.

Belle Air Photos On Display Wed.

Pictures for the 1945 edition of the Belle Air will be on display next to the Information Booth in Mendel Hall tomorrow afternoon between 12:15 P. M. and 6:00 P. M. This exposition will not include the pictures taken last Friday afternoon.

Orders for any of the pictures desired will be taken by John Fitzgibbons, Editor-in-Chief of the Belle Air, and Harry Edwards, Photography Editor. Payments for the pictures will be taken at the time orders are accepted.

Orders Taken

The Reverend Daniel P. Falvey, O.S.A., co-moderator of the yearbook, said Saturday afternoon, that "all pictures on display will be in the yearbook, and orders for the Belle Air may be placed when picture orders are given."

A one dollar deposit is to be made at the time the order is placed. Anyone leaving school before the publication is released to the student body can pay the remainder of the charge by C.O.D.

Francis Robinson Selected For Loyalty Award

Award To Be Presented Tonight at the Warwick Hotel

The recipient of the annual Loyalty Award, sponsored by the Villanova Club of Philadelphia, for "zeal for Alma Mater and outstanding loyalty to the National Alumni Association" is Francis X. Robinson of the Class of 1921, according to an announcement made by the Award Committee, during the past week.

A graduate of Roman Catholic High School, Philadelphia, Mr. Robinson entered Villanova in the Fall of 1917 as a Civil Engineering student and since his graduation in 1921, has been associated with the Bell Telephone Company of Philadelphia, acting at the present time as Field Engineer.

His high school, as well as his College days, were marked by an outstanding performance on the baseball diamond. He was a member of the Philadelphia All Scholastic Team for two years, and a stalwart player on the Varsity for four years, starring as outfielder and pitcher. He captained the Varsity in his senior year.

Married in the College Chapel on June 28th, 1930, with Fr. John S. O'Leary performing the ceremony, Mr. Robinson at present resides with his wife and four children, in Merwood Park, Del. Co. The recipient has an imposing record of loyalty to his Alma Mater, having acted as Executive Director of the Alumni Centennial Fund, and a member of the Board of Governors of the National Alumni Association for the past several years.

Catholic Action

CATHOLICISM is, in some respects, a strange religion. It has members who have suffered diabolical tortures and death in order to keep the faith — not only the ancient martyrs, but even the modern martyrs who have sacrificed their lives in Russia, Germany, Mexico, and in other countries whose atheistic creeds would not admit the existence of the Omnipresent Being, and who feared the truth and justice of the Roman Catholic Church. It has other members who are indifferent to it, called Sunday Catholics, who would give up the faith rather than allow it to inconvenience them.

We who are of this latter type are put to shame by the zeal of Jehovah's Witnesses, Communists, and "Birth Controllists." The man of the world receives their literature in his mail, finds it in trains, or has it handed to him. He rarely receives Catholic literature in this manner. If he wants some, he must get it himself.

This is one of our great failures. People make it their life work to propagate doctrines which are hostile to the Church, while the people for whom the Church was founded, the men of the world, receive no information about the faith.

Great strides have been taken in this field. From nearby Narberth (Pa.) comes word of a movement started a few years ago by a man who became blind, retired from business, and devoted his life to putting Catholic literature into the mails to combat the prejudice against the Church caused by ignorance.

In Louisville, a convert, president of a large firm that specializes in window displays, fought this prejudice by donating, at his own expense, displays to be placed in the windows of vacant stores.

These people cannot succeed if non-Catholics see us careless about the faith. People are not convinced by arguments, but by what they see. If we are lax, they conclude that Catholicism does not have what the normal person seeks in religion, and hence they search elsewhere for what they cannot find.

It is time for Catholics to more than be Catholics, we must live our religion. We must tell the world, by our actions and our literature, that it is wrong when it declares that one religion is as good as another. Truth is truth, and anything in variance with it is untruth.

Catholic literature should be read by every layman, so that he may be able to answer the questions asked by non-Catholics about contemporaneous matters. As Archbishop Murray, Episcopal Chairman of the Catholic Press Department of the N. C. W. C., remarks in his Press Month Message, our periodicals are the only device which the Church has for the education of her adult members. "In thinking on the important truth of this fact, it should be borne in mind that truth is not exclusively for children, but for adults as well, and that the lack of adult education is responsible for all the evils of the world today."

As prospective graduates of a Catholic college, we will be looked to for leadership by other Catholics. Whom will they follow if we will not lead them?

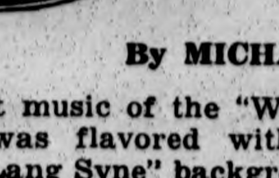
Camp To Campus



By MICHAEL N. FLYNN, A.S.

THE soft music of the "Winter Hop" was flavored with an "Auld Lang Syne" background, as numerous former Villanovans came back to enjoy the wholesome atmosphere of the Phi Kappa Pi dance.

Among those present were many of our former Navy Pre-med students who are now attending medical school. Jim and Joe Daly, both now medical students, put in an appearance.

John Atkinson was seen enjoying the familiar environment of the Field House, where many times he stepped into the ring to pound out victories in the 175 pound class.

Milt Kohler, who is furthering his medical studies at Temple University, was also there.

Numerous officers, most of them just recently commissioned, displayed their gold stripes or bars under the soft lights. Ens. Marty Roddy, commissioned in the C.B.'s last month, was also on the receiving end of congratulations for his recent marriage.

Ensigns Larry Pilot and Jim Redditt, who graduated at Camp Endicott with Marty, were also present.

Ens. Arthur Roth, M. E. '44, recently commissioned, enjoyed the settings and decorations constructed by his former Frat brothers and fellow engineers.

The Army Air Corps was represented by Lt. John DiCarlo. In his stay at Villanova, John not only developed into one of the best runners in the country, but also, during his last year, coached the track team to many victories.

Phil Jakeway came down from Columbia's Midshipman School for the dance. Phil looked very impressive with those three stripes on his sleeve, indicative of his post as Company Commander at Columbia.

Midshipman "Gus" Gillespie returned to Villanova via a weekend liberty from Annapolis.

At the track meet at Penn last week several former Villanova trackmen ran as representatives of their present Naval Bases. They were Ens. "Dutch" McCarthy, Specialist George Guida and S 1/c "Ace" Reagan.

S 1/c Gene Dart is now serving in the Pacific.

Also from the Pacific comes word of two Marine Officers, First Lieutenants Ralph Bracken, '41, and Bob Koness, '42. When last heard from, Lt. Bracken was on Saipan, while Lt. Koness was on nearby Tinian Island.

Meet the Boys

By HUGH FALLON

The three remaining members of the graduating class, presented this week, are Lester Peterson, Luis Silva, and George Stathopoulos.

Lester comes from Union City, Pa., where he was born Nov. 20, 1924. He participated in many of the school activities while attending Union City High School. He played guard on the basketball team for three years, was President of his class, and had the highest average in the class. Upon graduation in May, 1942, Lester was chosen the Valedictorian of his class.

PVT. LESTER PETERSON

After graduation he matriculated at Penn State, in the school of Chemical Engineering. He enlisted in the Marines in Dec., 1942 and in July, 1942 came to Villanova in the V-12. Those who have followed the intramural sports know Lester as a member of the Marine's softball and basketball teams.

Cuban Led

Luis Silva was born Nov. 8, 1924, in Cienfugos, Cuba. Upon the recommendation of a doctor, a personal friend of the family, who had attended Malvern Prep, Luis decided to come to Malvern Prep. While there, he was a member of the Sanctuary Society.

After graduation, Luis came to Villanova to study Chemical Engineering. He is a member of the Sanctuary Society, the Music Seminar, and the Phi Kappa Pi. Luis has one hobby—music.

Luis hopes to enter the field of Chemical Engineering after the war, both here in the States and in Cuba.

CHICK MANGER, A. S.
LES POWERS, A. S.

For a change the boys enjoyed themselves during an extra session of P.T. at the Field House Sat. Night. Although the exercises were rugged and with many individual variations most of them were able to keep in the cadence of Len Mayfair's band. The session for a change was not supervised by "The Chiefs" but conducted under the watchful eyes of the "Good Padres". For some unknown reason the participants were loath to communicate with your agents but we cannot say we blame them because we don't. According to one of the old timers, Joe (I'm gone on June the 23rd) Daly, the dance was reminiscent of civilian days. It also served as a test for future dances to come — and we hope they will keep coming—but it's all a matter of opinion — depending on with whom you work.

The most popular man at the dance appeared to be the photographer Bill Monagle with his flashing personality. Speaking for one of us he was so popular that in the future he had better watch his body and his negatives. Also in the flash-light was Al (H. P.) Dumsa who seems to have a knack of running into a certain Jan at the most peculiar places. It's odd that Sat. Night we didn't run into both of them—just "H.P." with another girl. (Courtesy of Tony Caruso).

Bill Schurr wasn't sure of his date until the last minute, but from all outward appearances she was well worth waiting for.

To quote Tom (Bryn Mawr Here I Come) Burger it seems that Ray Wille was using the same line as Walt Whitman at the Hop. A little antique but still effective—eh Ray? She's well worth the line (C.M.).

Due to the manpower shortage, Bill Halm gave the following four (4) girls the opportunity of joining him at the dance: Jean Bishop, Joan Woodside, Joan Cunney and Mary Agnes Doyle. The latter accepted—the rest refused. Lucky three!

It seems that Buzz Llewlyn and Bob Wilson were not double dating Sat. nite. They had one thing in common — at least 'til Thursday. What happened?

Incidentally, Bob—Sunday another girl inquired to see if you were really restricted. Of course the Field House is still on the campus.

One of the star performers under Tony's Big Top—majoring in jumping jack and other cannibalistic movements was Bob Armstrong who seemed to think that the dance was entitled "The Winter Jump" instead of the "Winter Hop."

Tom Baxter was seen doing a little "Work" in the gym for the first time in many months. After basketball—what then, Tom?

Al Dagit was heard whispering sweet nothings in his companion's ear. Sounded like log constant, constant to the variable derivative of the variable—at least that is what he wants Fr. 'Leary to think. Anything for a friend Al. (We'll get our

Behind The Eight Ball

By DICK RANDOLPH and LARRY LYONS

Due to many Requests (?) the pictures of the authors of this column will hereafter and henceforth be put at the top of the column. Perhaps we shouldn't have done this for we imagine that the hearts of many fair maidens will be broken when they see what their favorites really look like. Cheer up girls, we might not look like much but we have plenty of personality. . .

Speaking of personality, we saw a lot of those personality plus girls being shoved around the dance floor last Saturday night. We didn't know that most of the fellows worked as stevadores, but they were given away by the excellent way they pushed freight all over the Field House. (Lyons & Randolph can be found on pier six).

Bob McNamara was there with our girl, Marge. Bob, however was having a hard time melting the cold, but oh-so-nice shoulder of said girl. When we get through with our eardrums you can borrow our ice-pick, Bob.

Jim McCarry was gliding to the smooth rhythm with his present heart-throb, Peggy. From the look in his eyes, we think that Cupid has been up to his old tricks again. (And we always thought that the PEG on his ring meant Poor eager goon.)

Rumba time found Pedro Bonnin at the height of his glory, for Pedro had learned to Rumba before he knew how to talk.

A. K. Mullen was jitterbugging in his usual sharp manner, however, there was an addition to his makeup in the form of a cigarette. Someday we would like to see Tony inhale. (We imagine that he would like to see us in the same place.)

After the dance the Hot Shoppe seemed to be the popular place. Perhaps the reason for the popularity of this rather quiet dive was that Jerry Mellon and Jack Clancy went there with their dates. If it's good enough for them it's good enough for anybody.

The highlight of the evening was the introduction of Lyons and Randolph to Marian, spelt with an A, for Marian has become, without a doubt the most talked about girl on the campus. Our long wait for this introduction was, however, greatly rewarded, for she is really one fine girl. She does have two faults though; she doesn't like columnists, and she goes out with Frank Costa. Marian told us to ask our readers to give her a name for an all girl's band. If you have any ideas submit them to us and if her majesty approves of it you will be given the honor of gazing on her lovely pan for ten minutes.

I think we ought to feel sorry for Charlie Hanlon. He was quite downhearted because he didn't receive an offer from any girl to go to this dance. You must be losing your S.A., Charlie.

All of us were surprised when we got to the dance and saw Dan, "Can't get enough of that stuff", Murphy. Dan really looks like an old salt. The Navy has done him some good too, for he has given up smoking cigarettes. It's not that he can't get plenty, he thinks that it is undignified for a man in uniform to crawl up and down on the sidewalks.

Jimmy Mullen was also there with his starry-eyed date. He is another fellow that the Navy has improved. Jim lost ten pounds during his fourteen weeks of "boot." Of course you can't notice it but it makes him feel better so that is all that matters.

We considered the evening a success, however when we saw John Coyne enter, with a member of the opposite sex hanging on his, far from manly, arm. John had quite a time getting this date for after trying several of the date bureaus around the campus, without any luck, he was forced to use his own ability.

Some of the boys were wondering who the romeos with the sister act in tow could be. According to

Wildcats Defeat Roughriders; Lose To Valley Forge

O'Neill Stars as Cagers Repel Former Conquerors, 46-36; Drop Grim Battle to Highly-touted Medics, 61-42

Villanova College's hot and cold quintet broke a five game losing streak last Wednesday night by besting Rider College, of Trenton, 46-36. Earlier in the season the Roughriders took the first game 42-27. Al Severance started his second team in this fifteenth game of a seventeen game schedule.

The reserves took an early 7-4 lead before the Trentonians could find their bearings. However, when they did it was necessary to replace the second stringers to keep the opponent's score in check. From here on in each team exchanged baskets with the Blue and White keeping the lead most of the time and leaving the floor for intermission with a 20-17 advantage.

Repetition of First

The second half was a near repetition of the first with the gap between each team's total getting wider all the time until the closing whistle when the Cats walked off the floor with a 46-36 margin. But O'Neill, playing his first game since the Christmas holidays, staged a rousing comeback by sinking quite a few set shots for a total of nineteen points, which was high for the evening.

Two nights later the Main Liners went out of their class and took on the Valley Forge General Hospital quintet. In this second game of a home and home series the locals found themselves on the short end of a 61-42 score. Previously the Medics defeated the Cats 61-31 on their home court.

Best Played Game

This game was perhaps the best played in the Field House this season as the Varsity did better than hold their own against one of the finest teams in the country. Lee Carter opened up the scoring after several scoreless minutes of play in which possession of the ball changed hands many times.

After five minutes had gone by the score stood at 4-4 when the Cats started to pour on the heat.

From here on in the hosts led throughout the entire first half until the closing minutes of the second period when the Medics managed to eke out a one point margin at halftime.

Couldn't Keep Pace

During the second half the weary Villanovans couldn't keep up the terrific pace and were forced to surrender the lead for which they had fought so gallantly. Valley

Boxing Team To Stage Meet Friday Night

Exhibition in the manly art of self defense will be revived on the campus Friday night as the boxing team will hold a meet in the Field House that night. Under the tutoring of Chief Rogala, the boxers have been working out for the past four weeks and are ready to stage bouts among themselves this week.

Friday night's meet which will get under way at 8:30 will consist of eight three-round bouts in five different weight groups ranging from 135 up to the 175 pound class. The schedule of the bouts has not been announced as yet but the Chief promises some good fights.

Some of the men who will compete will be: Al Sondheimer, Vince McPeak, Mason Robertson, and John Brandt, all members of the football team, Bill Lamb and Duilio Dalbera, holdovers from last year's team, Fred Garnago, Carl Ungaro, Joe Casalaro, and Jim Lyons.

Big Guns And Coach

Walt Tanana, center and former Detroit Eagles star who has hit the cords for 273 points in 20 games, and Tommy McCollam, forward, with 246 points to his credit, talk things over with their coach, Lt. (j.g.) Danner, one-time Dickinson College captain. McCollam is a South Philadelphia High School alumnus playing his second season with the Coast Guardsmen. He will captain his team against the Blue and White tomorrow night.

Holy Roller Team Annexes Bowling League Title

By BILL FARRELL, A.S.

The Phi Kappa Pi Bowling League finished it's regular season with last Saturday's games. The Holy Rollers, who have been leading the pack for the past several weeks, were at the top of the rung with 21 wins and seven losses. Close on their heels was Bucky's Boys who have been a popular contender all season.

Over Optimism

The Holy Rollers, fully confident of four points, let over-optimism run away with them in the second game as they won a 3-1 victory over the last place Sack Hounds. Paced by Bill Thompson, who captured the high average title, the victors were in doubt throughout the entire match as to what the unpredictable Sack Hounds would do.

Bucky's Boys listed as a possible title contender before Saturday's matches took the other last place team, Wash Bowlers, for a 3-1 victory also. The 300 Club, falling completely apart, were swamped by the Lost Cause team, lacking the punch to win a single game. The Flakers and Alley Cats played to a 2-2 tie on Sunday afternoon, the game having been postponed from Saturday.

Individual Competition

Next week, a sweepstakes, which will consist of individual competition among the bowlers, will be held instead of the knockdown week, as originally planned. The man holding the highest average for the season will be listed as scratch and handicaps based on that average.

Final Standings:

	W.	L.
Holy Rollers	21	7
Bucky's Boys	19	9
Lost Cause	17	11
300 Club	15	13
Alley Cats	14	14
Flankers	14	14
Wash Bowlers	6	22

GAME CANCELLED

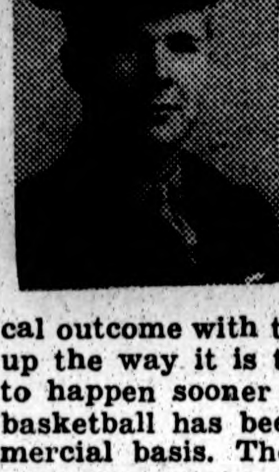
Several months ago, at the start of the present basketball season, Dr. Phog Allen, noted Kansas coach, made a statement to the press concerning the activities of the gamblers with repect to collegiate basketball. Most authorities were inclined to take him lightly. Last week they were given cause to regret this when the news of the Brooklyn College scandal broke.



This shouldn't have been a surprise since it was only a logical outcome with the basketball setup the way it is today. It was due to happen sooner or later. College basketball has been put on a commercial basis. The "do or die for Alma Mater" went out with the big doubleheaders.

These doubleheaders have turned the college players into unpaid pros. They put themselves on public exhibition for a profit for the promoter and receive no compensation for their services. The professional basketball player gets paid for the same thing for which the college player receives nothing except a varsity letter. Is it any wonder they accept bribe money?

We have nothing against Mr. Ned Irish. He has done much to make the public basketball conscious. However, we would rather see him stick to pro ball and let the colleges alone. True, he has taken steps to eliminate gamblers from the arenas but this is virtually an impossible task.

About the only solution to curb the activities of the bookies is to return the game to the college gyms. Perhaps they can't accommodate all the people, but the ones who do get seats will at least be on the up and up.

This is easy for us to say since Villanova has their own gym while some of the colleges in this area and other areas are without a place to play. In this case the only outlets would be to either have the colleges play on their opponents floor or else have the colleges themselves take over the sports arenas.

Another measure would be to appoint a basketball commission-

Cats Face Coast Guard In Final Game Tomorrow

Varsity Out For Seventh Win Against Sailors; Will Close Season Against Stiff Competition With McCollam And Smith Sparking The Visitors' Attack

By JOE SULOCK, A. S.

The Villanova College basketball team will conclude their abbreviated 1944-45 season on Wednesday night, February 7, when they engage the Philadelphia Coast Guard, champion service club of the city, at the Villanova Field House.

The original 19 - game schedule was cut to 17 when two games were cancelled. One of these, slated to be played with the Philadelphia Navy Yard Marines at Philadelphia on Tuesday, Jan. 16, was called off because the inclement weather made transportation difficult. The Loyola game, scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 3, at Baltimore, was also dropped. The inavailability of the Loyola gymnasium on that night caused the contest to be cancelled.

Wednesday night's encounter will be the first time the Cats have met the Coast Guard during the present campaign. Two years ago, however, the Main Liners downed the Guardsmen, 58-35.

The visitors will present a star-studded lineup, led by center Walt Tanana, ex-Detroit Eagles player, who is nearing the 300 mark in scoring. He is pressed for team scoring honors by Tommy McCollam, ex-Southern High ace, and Woozy Smith, another player with pro ball experience. McCollam will hold down one of the forward positions while Smith will be at a guard slot.

Ray Seelover, former John Marshall College luminary, will team with McCollam at the other forward post. Smith's running mate at guard is Pud Milkovitch, a member of Allentown High School's state championship aggregation of 1935 and more recently with Plymouth in the New York-Pennsylvania pro circuit.

The Cats no doubt will be hard pressed in attempting to gain their seventh victory. However, their tremendous improvement in recent games, coupled with the return of center Bud O'Neill, is indicative of a strongly contested ball game. The tussle shapes up as one of the best of the season.

To date, the Guardsmen have won 18 and lost 5 games of their 35 game schedule. Having beaten such teams as Camp Dix, England General Hospital, La Salle College, and others, they will be in great shape for tomorrow's battle. Tonight they will take on the highly touted Valley Forge five which has beaten Villanova in both meetings this season.

Austin Remains Undefeated In Intramural Race

After a week's layoff the intramural basketball teams got back into full swing last Monday night in the Alumni gym. At this doubleheader Fedigan Hall's smooth quintet failed to click in their bid to stop the league-leading Austin team. The game was close enough until the last few minutes when Austin went wild. For the winners, Ken Sonner was high scorer with 11 points, while Jim Shea led the losers with 7 ducats.

Longo High

In the second game, Alumni Hall's civilians finally broke the win column again with a 42-24 downing of Mendel Hall. This game was Alumni's all the way as Dom Longo racked up on less than 20 points. His running mate, Al Dumsa had a good evening himself with 14. Joe Costello, ex-varsity player, did most of the scoring with 10 points to his credit. This win gave Alumni a .500 average to date with two wins and two setbacks.

On Tuesday night Austin Hall continued on its winning ways with a decisive victory over the Marines. The Marines, led by "Tex" Autrey, held Austin's high scorer, Ken Sonner, to but one field goal. At the half-time the score stood at 17-11 in favor of Austin.

Marines Cut Lead

During the second half the Maries cut this lead to 4 points. However, Austin, paced by Bill Smith, ran wild again for the last five minutes and ended up on the top side of a 40-28 score. Smith had 14 to his credit and Autrey of the Marines did a good job in collecting 10 points through a tight Austin defense.

The second game of the same evening saw Fedigan Hall regain its win stride as it eked out a win over the Mendel Engineers.

Trailing at half-time, 3-12, Fedigan came back to take the ball game, 26-22. Gabe Lizak's 9 points

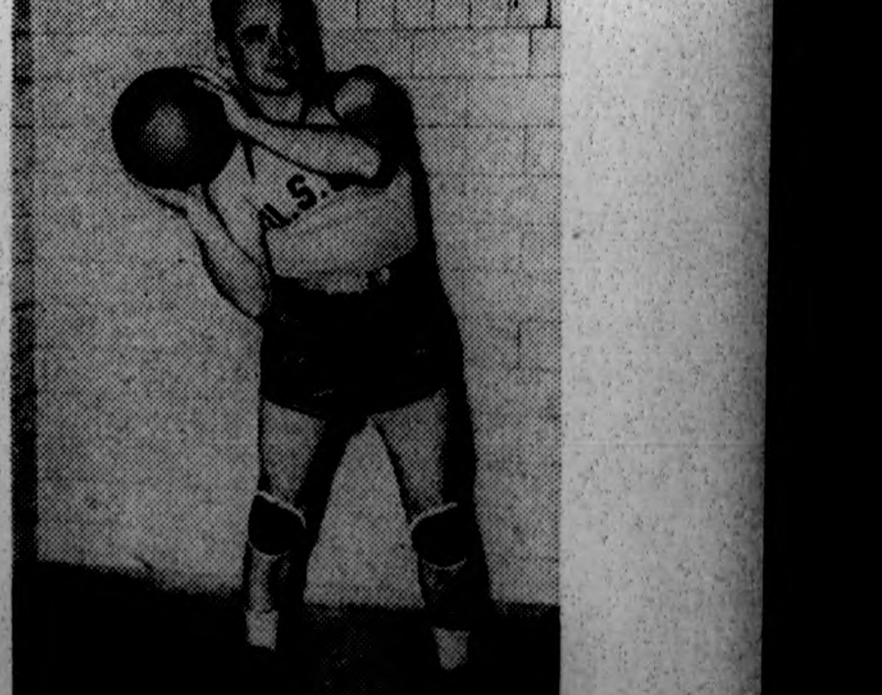
Track Team Wins Mile Relay In Millrose Meet

Villanova's up and coming track team made track history last Saturday night in New York City by copping the famous Millrose Mile. It was the only event in which the Blue and White had entered. This annual event which was won by Villanova two seasons ago is one of the highlights of the indoor track season.

The winning combination which brought home the bacon consisted of Burt Cox, Tom Short, Chuck Harrington and Don Schmidt in that order. Jim Morris, who had run the previous week with the quartet that placed second in the same event in the Inquirer Invitation Meet was unable to run because of a leg injury.

It was an easy win for the trackmen as they were clocked at 3 minutes 35.5 seconds. Rhode Island State placed second and the University of North Carolina was third.

Faces Wildcats



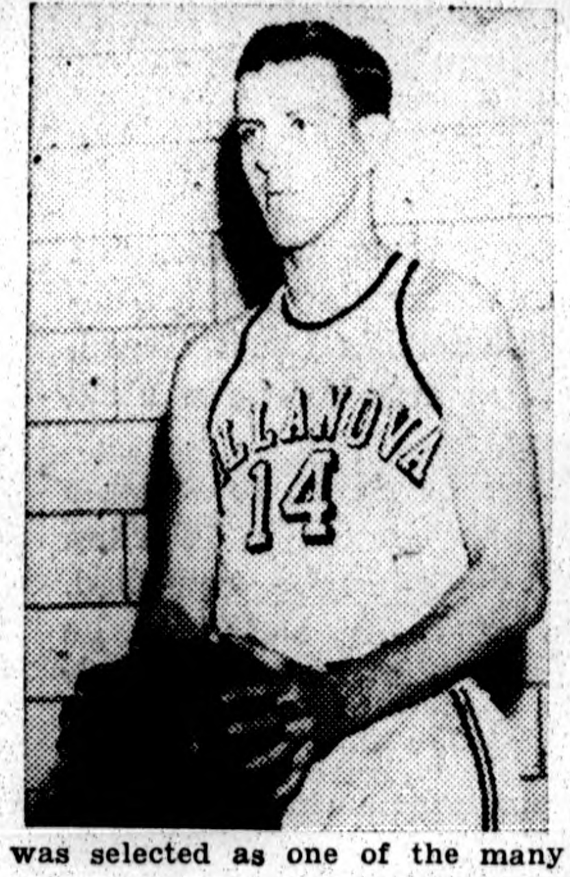
Wozzy Smith, guard on the Philadelphia District Coast Guard five, who has scored 248 points in 20 games this season. Smith has hopes of adding a few more markers against Villanova tomorrow night.

In The Sportlight

By JOE McLAUGHLIN

This week's basketeer, Dick Madigan, Junior Civil Engineering student, who makes his appearance in the "Sportlight" is a member of the varsity quintet who never played the game before coming to Villanova.

Dick is a native of Philadelphia and came to Villanova as a civilian in February, 1943. He chose as his field of study Civil Engineering, and he became a member of the Navy V-12 unit when this college was selected as one of the many Navy College Training schools. As a V-12 student, he was permitted to pursue his Civil Engineering studies.



Madigan graduated from Transfiguration Grammar School in June, 1939, and the following September, matriculated to West Catholic High School in Philadelphia. While in high school he did not engage in varsity sports, but played extensively in intramural athletics.

Coming to Villanova in February, he arrived a little too late for participation with the Blue and White varsity five, thus his basketball ability had to remain dormant for almost a year. When a call was made this year for basketball candidates, Dick answered and his ability was recognized by Coach Al Severance who gave Dick a place on the squad.

However it wasn't until midway in the winter that Dick won a permanent position on the first team. Al Severance, in recognization of his abilities as a dual threat to the opposing teams, awarded Dick this spot with the varsity five.

Madigan is as versitile at guard as he is at forward, and although his attempts at the basket are few and far between, when he does let loose, his shots count. In the Navy game, Dick sparkpluged the team throughout the contest and came off the floor that day with high scoring honors, having racked up 12 points.

For the most part, Dick is used to set up plays, but is always conspicuous by his "plugging" and hard play.

The "silent men" Don White and Bill Ryan certainly held up their end of the conversation last Sat. Night. Maybe our eyes aren't so good but the girl's picture on Bill's desk and his girl at the dance didn't coincide.

We wouldn't have mentioned this but Don's a forceful man.

Paul Miller—the man about town —(Wash. Minn. Phil) was so preoccupied that he couldn't claim the reward offered for the arrest and conviction of his roommate — Schmitty — or maybe it's loyalty — or maybe it was love.

Walt Huber appeared to be the leader of the certain perplexed group who did not heed the old maxim—"speak when spoken to and come when called." Don't forget that other maxim "Out of sight—out of mind" doesn't hold in this column, Walt.

A girl's description of Grostas at the dance, was "He's a terrific jitterbug, extremely handsome and very conceited." Thanks Tubby—it still remains to be seen.

Notably absent but in good hands was W. P. Cooke who went on the assumption that the doggies'll get you if you don't stay out.

Baring injuries—look for our final column next week under the title "Exit Laughing."

Forge lived up to pre-game predictions in the third stanza by rolling up twenty points in rapid succession.

In the final chapter the Main Liners put on a repeat performance of that spirited class of ball exhibited in the opening quarter by matching their adversaries' basket for basket but the advantage was too great as the final surge was of no avail.

Carter Continues

Lee Carter continued his scoring tactics by notching 17 points for the losers. Bud O'Neill was runnerup in this department with 13. Johnny Niemera, former Notre Dame star now playing forward for the Veterans, was high for both teams with 19 points.

This leaves the teams but five more games to play before the playoffs. Austin Hall is in the lead, with Fedigan Hall and the Alumni Civilians tied for second place. Mendel Hall is in fourth place with one win and three losses and the Marines are in the cellar with one win and four losses. To date the schedule has been one of many upsets and many strange things. Eleven Receive Degrees At 7th Wartime Finale

Father McGuire To Present Diplomas Sunday, February 25, Following Baccalaureate Mass

Villanova College will confer bachelor degrees on eleven graduates on Sunday, February 25th, 1945 in the College Chapel at the seventh wartime Commencement Exercises.

The ceremony will be performed with its usual simplicity, combining the Baccalaureate Mass and the awarding of degrees. The presentation of degrees will be made by the Very Reverend Francis X. N. McGuire, O.S.A., President of the College. Father McGuire will also celebrate the Solemn High Mass which precedes the ceremony. He will be assisted by Reverend Edward B. McKee, O.S.A., Vice-President, Deacon, and Reverend Edward M. Dwyer, O.S.A., Dean, Sub-Deacon. The address to the graduates will be delivered by the Reverend Joseph M. Dougherty, O.S.A., Ph.D., Prior of the Villanova Monastry.

This commencement exercise will mark the close of the fifth term under the Naval V-12 Training Program. The sixth term will begin on March 2nd, 1945.

As is usual the attendance at the exercises will be limited to parents and friends of the graduates and to faculty members. No honorary degrees will be conferred. After the exercises, the graduates will be hosts to their parents and friends at a luncheon on the campus.

Many of the members of the graduating class are already enlisted in one of the Armed Services or are about to be inducted therein.

The following are to be degree recipients:

Armando F. Alvarez, Havana, Cuba, Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering;

John Belleti, Philadelphia, Pa., Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering;

Harvey Bresler, Washington, D. C., Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering;

Bernard Dillon, Washington, D.C., Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering;

Francis A. Habenicht, New York City, Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering;

William P. Jones, Springfield, Mass., Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering;

Francis X. McEntee, Jersey City, N. J., Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering;

Frank M. Perna, Yeadon, Pa., Bachelor of Science in Economics;

Joseph F. Perna, Jr., Washington, D.C., Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering;

Luis F. Silva, Cienfuegos, Cuba, Bachelor of Science in Chemistry;

George Stathopoulos, Washington, D.C., Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering.

Villanovans at the Front

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Sykes, Sr., of 204 N. Montpelier Ave., Atlantic City, N. J., have learned through a short wave broadcast from Germany that their son, William Sykes, Jr., who was reported missing over Germany on December 26, is alive and safe.

The announcement added that Lieutenant Sykes was being treated in a German hospital for flesh wounds, and that he expected to be in the institution for the next four or five months.

Mr. and Mrs. Sykes received more than a hundred letters from persons all over the United States and Canada who had heard this announcement concerning their son over the short wave from Germany.

Lieutenant Sykes, ex-43 Science student, was a Mustang Fighter Pilot with the 8th Army Air Force, stationed in England. He had 10 enemy planes to his credit, and had received numerous citations for outstanding performance.

Yankee Doodlers Make A Big Hit With Variety Show

The Yankee Doodle Service Club of Jenkintown hit Villanova College with a bang last Monday night. The various acts of the show were all original and refreshing. The appearance of the girls from Jenkintown highlighted the show. These young ladies have generously given their spare time in order to entertain service men in training at various posts in this vicinity.

"Book of the Month"

Perhaps the biggest hit of the show was Bob Whelan's original musical composition entitled "The Book of the Month." The vocal rendition of the opus was accompanied by staging effects depicting twelve young ladies in various costumes representing the months of the year, and their usual meaning in college life.

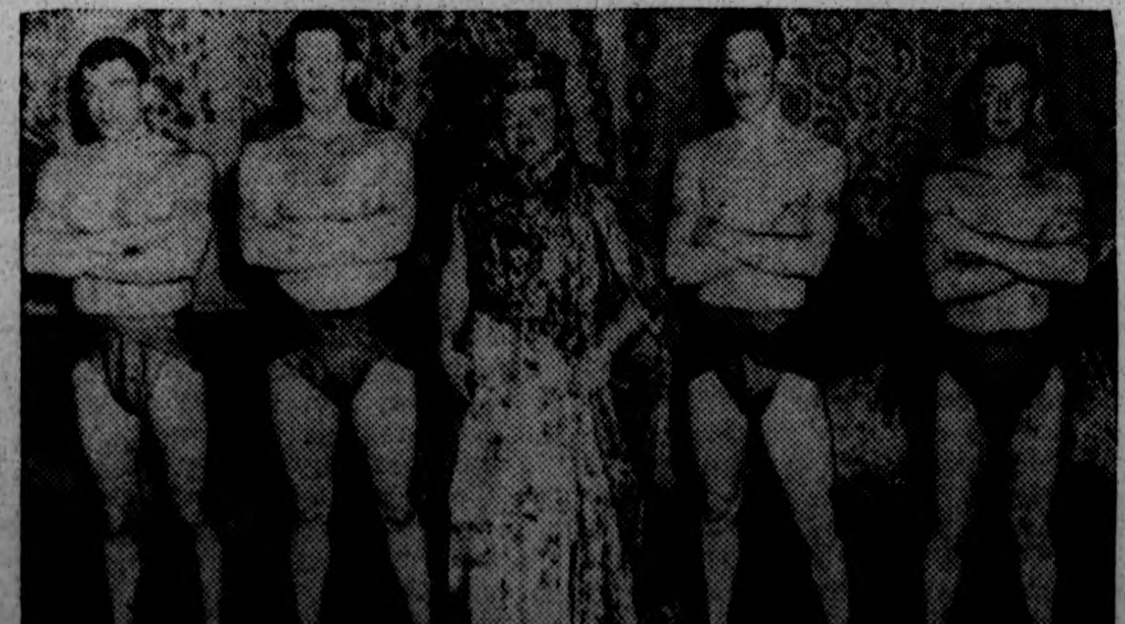
Lending an air of buffoonery to the occasion were the specialty acts rendered by Tony Mammarella A.S., and Charles Cummings, A.S. The "jesters" did a fine job in an original interpretation of an operatic duet.

"In My Harem"

The audience was honored by the presence of a famous international dancer, Miss Alixe Colemann (Pvt. Colman USMCR), who did one of her specialty numbers . . . the famous harem dance. "The boys in the back row" were very amused at the sight of Mr. Colman cavorting on the stage as if he were something out of the Ziegfeld Follies.

The show was a great success and was heartily appreciated by all the members of the V-12 unit who witnessed it.

The Queen And Her Guards



Hank Strauss, Rodger McRae, Vince McPeak, and Bob Austin flank "Queen" Alex Colman during a scene of last week's Yankee Doodle Club presentation at the Field House.

Sgt. John Muir, Frank Cassiano Relate Travels

Both Men True Veterans Of Marine Corps; Have Traveled Widely Throughout Pacific

Make way for a man with an idea. This week's first candidate is Sergeant John C. Muir, quartermaster supply head in Austin Hall. This twenty-five year old West Virginian hails from Beckley. He attended Mount Hope High school in the home town from '33 to '37 and entered the Marines on October 8, 1939.

After basic training at Parris Island he entered the Quartermaster Department there and then was assigned to the newly formed second battalion, fifth regiment of Marines at Quantico. Duty in Cuba, the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico followed and Muir returned to Quantico a corporal. He then helped make the new base at New River in North Carolina and following this came an overseas assignment to Wellington, New Zealand.

Guadalcanal Invasion

With the fourth invasion wave in the invasion of Guadalcanal came the now Sergeant Muir. After the invasion and occupation of the island was completed his unit was sent to Milborne for reorganization.

The next assignment was to back up the Army invasion of New Guinea, followed by the invasion of New Britain; during this campaign he became a Staff Sergeant.

After a rest at Pauleru, from which he emerged a Supply Sergeant, there came the invasion of Pileu and then the return to the States via San Diego; he was immediately sent to Villanova.

Married

Sergeant Muir is married and has a three year old child, Stella Jean. His chief hobbies are music and dramatics and next semester he hopes to organize a dramatic society. In this he can count on the support of the Villanovan.

Next in order is Pvt. Frank A. Cassiano, twenty-three years old, U. S. M. C. R.—organized, Frank graduated from Southeast Catholic High School in Philadelphia in 1938. He was a law investigator for two years and enlisted in the Marine Corps on August 13, 1940.

He was first assigned to Quantico to join the Seventh Artillery Battalion and then went to Parris Island for Artillery training. There followed maneuvers in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, San Juan, and Puerto Rico where he became a Corporal.

Attended Dartmouth

After more maneuvers at Quantico he formed a new Fleet Marine Force at New River and then left Norfolk for Wellington, New Zealand. He had practice landings on the Fiji Islands and then the Invasion of Guadalcanal. Rest at New Caledonia and Brisbane followed and then, San Francisco. Frank had a semester at Dartmouth and came to Villanova last March 1.

He is a camera fiend, or was until equipment became scarce. After the war he may stay in the Marines if he gets a regular commission; one of his first post-war trips will be to Australia.

Belle Air Available

It has been recently announced that copies of the 1944 edition of the Belle Air are still available for all wishing to purchase them. Anyone desiring to obtain a copy of last year's campus publication should see John Millet, A/S., 241 Mendel Hall, or George Siebert, A/S, 332 Mendel Hall.

Anyone who has already made the $1.00 deposit on the book should bring the $4.00 balance and receive a copy of the year book.

NOTICE

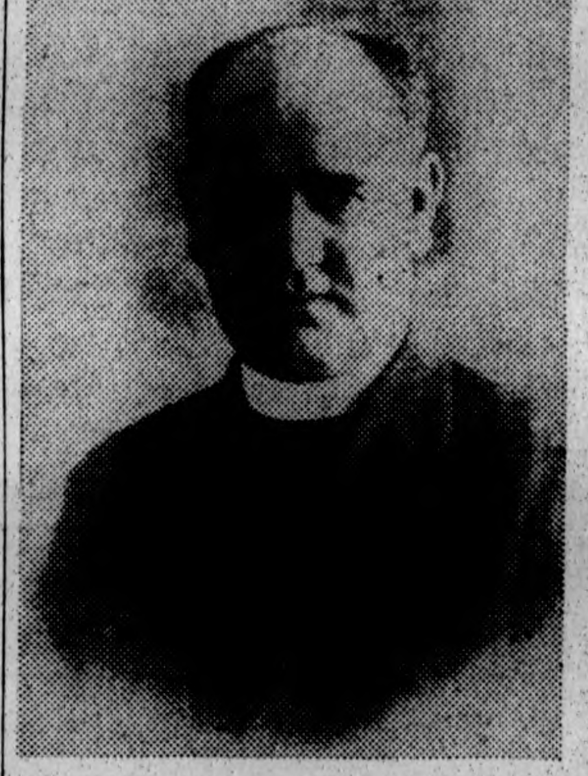
Because the final examinations for the Winter Semester have been scheduled for the week of February 19, there will be no issue of the Villanovan next Tuesday, in order to allow staff members extra time for study.

Very Rev. Francis Driscoll, O.S.A., Dies; Former College President

Father Driscoll Was President of Villanova College From 1920 to 1925; Was an Excellent Athlete and Mathematician

Solemn Requiem Mass was offered this morning for the repose of the soul of the Very Reverend Francis A. Driscoll, O.S.A., one of Villanova's former presidents. Father Driscoll was President of the College from August, 1920, until January, 1925. From here he assumed duties as Headmaster at Cascia Hall in Oklahoma, a position he held until his death last week.

Father Driscoll succeeded Rev. Dean to the presidency at the age of thirty-one, the college's youngest head in modern times. He was a product of the Augustinian Academy at Staten Island—and according to the archives of the college, one of the best athletes that institution ever turned out. He excelled in football, baseball, track, tennis and golf.



Taught Math

Father Driscoll was working for his Master's degree when, in 1911, St. Rita Hall burned down. He graduated the following year and at commencement received the gold medal for English Literature.

He taught mathematics at Villanova and was himself a mathematician of the first order, for years a member of the American Mathematical Society. He held positions as Dean of Men, Dean of the College and Vice-President before accepting the Presidency in August of 1920. It was under his guidance that Alumni Hall was completed and dedicated. Democratic and athletic, he was immensely popular with his students who always called him "Father Frank." Also in his regime the departmental system of curriculum administration was inaugurated and Summer School on the campus began. Both these ideas have continued until the present day.

Fr. Driscoll held three degrees: B. A. from Villanova, M. A. from Villanova and LL.D. from the University of Duquesne.

CORRECTION

In the February 6th issue of the Villanovan it was erroneously stated that the Loyalty Award banquet, honoring Mr. Francis Robinson, of the Class of 1921, was to be held on Tuesday evening, Feb. 6th. Instead, the banquet will be held Feb. 27th at 6:15 P. M. at the Warwick Hotel, 17th and Locust Sts. Reservations may still be made by contacting Mr. Martin McLaughlin, 801 City Hall Annex, Phila., Pa., or the Alumni Secretary, Villanova College.

Briefs Of CAMPUS NEWS

The Phi Kappa Pi is working on a collection of references in engineering subjects. This fraternity will be open for new members after March 1, and there will be a formal initiation in the latter part of March.

There will be a meeting of the Phi Kappa Pi, Villanova's Engineering Fraternity, tonight at 6:00 P. M., in the Engineers' Club in Philadelphia. This is the regular meeting of the fraternity which is usually held on the second Tuesday of every month.

Delta Pi Epsilon also has tentative plans to hold an informal dance next semester, providing, of course, that it does not interfere with plans for either the Senior Ball, to be held on the night of May 11 at the Field House, or the Senior Dinner-Dance, which will probably be held at the Llanerch Country Club toward the end of the semester.

From the Delta Pi Epsilon, news reaches us from President William Barrett, that there is going to be a new publication at Villanova College. It will make its debut on the campus shortly. The title of this new publication will be called (in all fairness to the C&F fraternity) the "Villanova Economist." Plans are also being formulated by these C&F lads for securing a fraternity room in the Commerce and Finance building. Mr. Barrett also told of the statistics laboratory which is now being worked upon by the members of the fraternity. This laboratory will be a boon to all C&F students.

Revised Schedule

The following is the new and revised college calendar for the coming Spring and Summer terms:

Spring Term

March
- 1—Registration (All New Students)
- 2—Classes Begin.
- 29—Easter Recess at 5:30 P. M.

April
- 2—Classes Resume at 8:30 A. M.
- 28—Mid-term.

June
- 19—Term Examinations Begin.
- 23—Term Examinations End.
- 24—Commencement.

Summer Term

July
- 2—Registration (Military).
- 3—Registration (Civilian).
- 4—Classes Begin.

August
- 25—Mid-term.

October
- 16—Term Examination Begin.
- 20—Term Examination End.
- 21—Commencement.

Senior Class Plans Ball For Next May

There will be a short meeting of the entire Senior Class this evening at 6:30 P. M. in Room 215, Mendel Hall. The purpose of this meeting will be to discuss plans connected with the formulation of the Senior Ball.

John Fitzgibbons, President of the Senior Class, announced last week that William E. Farrell, A/S., Civil Engineer, will be Chairman of the Senior Ball Committee.

Consent Given

Through the efforts of the committee and the Faculty of the school, Commander Hannah, USNR, has given his consent to allow the Navy personnel of this station to attend the dance.

The Senior Ball will be held on Friday night, May 11th, in the Field House. It will be a formal affair, the first dance of this type since the Centenial Ball of over two years ago.

Support the Catholic Press

February has been proclaimed as Catholic Press Month. This is the month especially dedicated to the stimulating of interest in the Catholic weeklies and other periodicals which, for all practical purposes, should form the better part of adult education in this country.

Now, more than ever before, the Catholic Press must present itself as one of the most formidable organs of true Christian propaganda. The Catholic editors have done a creditable job in past years, and have now dedicated themselves to the task of strengthening their stand in the future.

But far too many Catholics know little or nothing about their press. They are wont to accept, without reservations, the cold, cut and dried news stories, editorials and comments of the secular press which are often flagrantly biased because of "advertiser pressure."

Diametricaly opposed to the view points from which the news is reported in the dailies is the manner in which the Catholic Press presents the material. To be sure, there is here no bias nor prejudice, despite the fact that all news is released from a Catholic point of view. The fact of the matter is that all the data are given, whole and entire, thus leaving no margin for error or distortion of the news. In editorials and comments, again, as is to be expected, the Catholic theme prevails, but with the intent to interpret all which has gone before in a manner which is not based upon coddling the feelings of the advertisers or readers, but with the aim of presenting the view of the infallible Catholic Church. True, all Catholic news articles, editorials, and comments are not infallible, but the principles and doctrines of these writers are those which God has deigned to give man, and which because of their very nature surpass the basis of thought of the general run of editors and columnists.

But for all the quality of workmanship of the Catholic editors and writers, the members of the Church, indeed, present a paradox to the rest of the world. Those Catholics who are in need of their own press, and all of its educational facilities either are ignorant of it or by-pass it—and this is indeed tragic—because the secular press and various other periodicals are more in fashion with the times.

On the other hand, those Faithful who realize and appreciate the intrinsic value of their own papers, magazines and books are constant subscribers to and readers of the Catholic Press.

Because political fires are burning hotter than ever before in Europe, and the situation which will beset statesmen in the Far East after the war will need accurate reporting and clear interpretations, concise accounts of the news must be based, not on nationalistic feelings or economic tendencies, but upon true Christian laws and principles. The Catholic Press will fulfill these needs to the whole world because it is the only press equipped to do so.

Because of the excellent quality of Catholic literature in existence today, there is no reason that any Catholic home should be without such products of the Catholic Press. Today, as never before, the Catholics of the United States of America need the Catholic Press to guide their thoughts and actions in political and moral affairs.

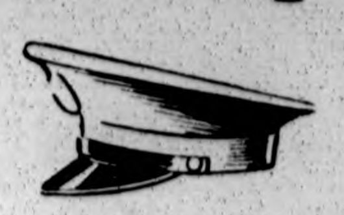
Camp To Campus



By MICHAEL N. FLYNN, A.S.

With an eye to my physical welfare prompted by a letter from Ensign Joe Ringelstein, I feel it appropos to mention the former Gene Krupa of Villanova and some of his buddies down at Fort Pierce Florida.

Joe and Ensign Danny Monahan met Air Corps Lieutenant Ed McGettigan in Palm Beach, and these three members of the Freshman class of '42 proceeded to hold a miniature "Alumni Hall" reunion.

Joe and Danny are about to "part way" after being together since '42. After three semesters in the V-12 here, they attended Notre Dame Midshipman School together. Then, both were assigned to Fort Pierce, from where they will be shipping out soon.

Lt. McGettigan is undergoing advanced training at Boca Raton Field in Florida. He informs us via Father Burke that Seaman 1/c Joe Doras, another "son of Alumni" is on sea duty in the Pacific.

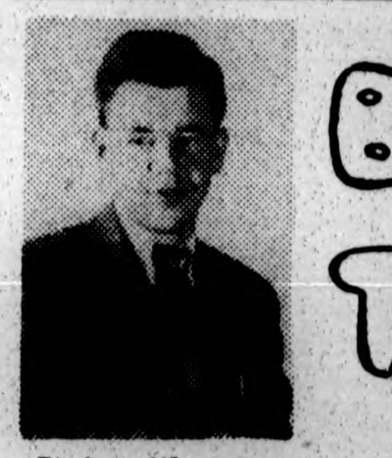
Some of the other men whom Ensign Ringgelstein has met at Fort Pierce are Ensign "Moose" McTighe, Roger Latanza, Paul McAlvane, Hugh Johnson, Bill Begley Seaman 1/c Paul Higgins and Seaman 1/c Tim Brennan.

Tom Nary, has almost completed his R.O.T.C. course at Yale University and should receive his commission this month.

Pvt. Bob Steller, is attached to the Air Corps and is training at Keesler Field, Mississippi.

At Cornell University, Carl Fili has just completed his Midshipman indoctrination course.

I am intebted to Ensign Joe Mihalek's father for the details of a chance meeting in Honolulu between Joe and Ensign Eddie Kolnoski. The former Fedigan roommates met a football game in a crowd of some 35,000 people. Eddie visited Joe aboard the L.S.T. on which Joe is serving and then left for an advanced base.



BEHIND THE 8

It is with tears in our eyes that we write this week's column, for this is the last week that we will be able to put the boys behind the eight ball. Perhaps somewhere in this cruel world there is a poor forsaken soul that is sorry to see us leave, to that optimist goes all our good wishes; to the rest of the world we give a mighty sneer and say that if we could do it over again we would. This column was conceived and issued as part of an atrocious, heinous and diabolical plot designed to disrupt the peaceful and tranquil atmosphere which surrounds our dear campus. We think we have been successful, too, for all during the past semester fellows have shunned us and the weaker sex have screamed every time that they have seen us. Every Tuesday, however, we have had our revenge, for the power of the press is indeed mighty.

Last week was certainly a busy one. Monday night we went to the variety show which was given by the girls from Jenkintown and our own little V-12ers. Many of the fellows in the back row nearly strained themselves trying to get a good look at all the lovely gams that were being displayed on the stage, incidentally does anyone know where we can get a pair of good glasses? After the show was over V. Disantis and J. Bisante entertained us with a bit of "solid jive".

Wednesday night Villanova ended its '44 - '45 basketball season. Although the game was a little disappointing, the fellows nevertheless managed to have fun. Before the game Tom Mantini and Ed White were seen playing basketball on Alumni's court. We hope that they picked up a few pointers while watching the two quintets battle it out, because they could certainly use them.

The blood ran free on Friday night, for that was the night of the boxing matches. After seeing what a rugged sport boxing really is Sy Stock and Jim Plunket have decided to stick to chess. Wise decision.

Sunday afternoon the girls at Rosemont made another attempt to get a man. Yes, you've guessed it, they had another tea dance. Since studies come ahead of social activities we were unable to attend (pretty poor excuse). Naturally no

By JIM DAY

Last in the series of weekly Sportlights featuring the varsity basketball players is Francis "Bud" O'Neill. Although ineligible for thirty days, O'Neill's performance in the few games in which he appeared deserves mention in this column.

Bud is a native of Wilmington, Del. where he attended Smyrna High School. Here he reported for the basketball team in his first year, and after his coach saw him work out, his position on the varsity was cinched for the next three years.

Upon graduation from high school, O'Neill entered the University of Maryland to enter the field of mechanical engineering. His matriculation to college didn't interrupt his basketball, however, as he earned himself the center berth on Maryland's team in his freshman year.

After a year, Bud decided that he should do something for the war effort and enlisted in the Navy on the tenth day of December, 1943. He was put into V-12, to continue his engineering studies and assigned to Villanova in March, 1944. He arrived too late for the basketball season, but when the call for candidates for the football team came out this fall, O'Neill reported as an end, at which position he played in several games this year.

This winter Bud joined the Mendel Hall intramural squad and led his hall to several victories before Al saw him in action and offered him a place on the team. In the first game after joining the team, the rangy center was the number one reserve and saw much action.

He was soon to earn himself a position on the starting five but this proved to be short lived when he was made ineligible right after the Christmas holidays. He kept practicing with the team, however, and after the thirty day period was up he came back with a bang, scoring nineteen points in the first game.

August holding a 5 minute conversation with a dummy in Bogan's sack—it was slightly lopsided . . . the Muhlenburg game in P-coats and "whites" . . .

The best laugh we know of (although you can probably top this) . . . a certain fellow's telephone conversation with the Navy office (by mistake) . . . "This is Mac in New York, . . . I'm restricted, are they havin' any musters? . . . they waited for him at the train station until he arrived back and then sent him on his way." Some of you may not remember all of these memories but some will. Some of you may be loath to recall them, others will never forget. But no matter how you look at it, it has been and will be for the best as can be seen by the old guys—returning with Gold Braid. Villanova has treated us fine, and we'll certainly remember it. (O.K. fellows, it's mushy but think about it it years to come.)

Severance Comments—

— "Their reward is to be found in the knowledge of a task well done."

In preparing a post-season comment on the 1944-1945 basketball team, we are ever mindful that our record will be subjected to close scrutiny by many, with a view to determining how the team compares and performed with excellent aggregations of the past. The extraordinary quality and reflexes of past teams made our work of emulation a most difficult one indeed.

Nevertheless I offer our current aggregation with apologies to no one. For willingness, spirit, and courage in the face of conditions and difficulties, I do not think it will suffer by comparison with past editions of the wooden way at Villanova.

No Mid-Season Tampering

Basketball, as the student of the game realizes, brooks no mid-season tampering. It calls for long hours of conditioning as well as extensive and involved study of modes of operation, split second timing and a fine balance. Teams cannot be organized, disbanded and broken up by successive loss of key men and then be expected to gain the nod of Dame Fortune in hotly contested games.

In spite of the above prevailing conditions it is in order to bestow a word of praise to the members of the team — and I mean to include first starters and practice timber as well—who so untiringly and so loyally sacrificed their time and energies in contributing to the present team.

In the face of all this, as I have said before, they served faithfully

Valley Forge Dominates All-Opponent Team

In perhaps what was the most one-sided election ever held for such a post the Valley Forge General Hospital completely dominated the Villanovan All-Opponent Basketball team. The varsity players gave deserving recognition to their worthy opponents.

Every member of the Medics' first five figured in the voting. Johnny Craddock, Billy Davis, Johnny Niemera, and Stan Szukala annexed first team berths while Harley Graf was chosen for the second team. The only non-Valley Forge man to adorn the first team lineup was Tommy McCollum, of the Coast Guard.

Mules Place Two

Muhlenberg, who defeated the Cats twice this season, placed two men of the second team in the persons of Jim Doran and Dick Whiting. Princeton put one man on the team, Bob Fehl, the remaining member being Jake Earley, of Swarthmore.

Other opponents who figured in the voting were: Adgie Back of the Naval Academy five, Sal Cammarata, of Loyola, Chuck Theisen, of the Mules, Bill Woods, from the Marines. Rider, F. & M., and Bucknell failed to receive a vote.

Bull Misses One

Gallagher's Knockout Over Brandt Feature In Ten-Bout Fight Card

Ungaro Defeats Wilson in Windup; Solis Prevails Over Sondheimer; Two Draws and Five Decisions Complete the Card

By MATT KEARNEY, A.S.

Boxing returned to the Villanova campus after a rather long layoff as Chief Rogalla's boving team staged ten exciting three-round bouts at the Villanova Field House last Friday night. Several distinguished guests who were present included Captain Boller, Commander Scott G. Lamb, Commander Edward Hannah, and the Very Reverend Francis X. N. McGuire, O. S. A. The trainees who attended were kept on their feet all evening as they witnessed twenty-nine thrill-packed rounds of slugfest.

Ed Bobal, of Fedigan, Hall and Allie Blue, of Mendel, started the night with a draw. In the second match, Jimmy "Tiger" Lyons, a 150-pounder from Austin Hall took measure of Byron Johnson, a Marine. The first round of this fight was extremely close, but Lyons pulled ahead in the second and put the bout in the bag for the Blue team in the third.

Plenty Of Excitement

The third match gave the crowd plenty of excitement, as Bud Miller, another Fedigan sailor, really poured it on Don Welles,. Miller won all three rounds but Welles put up a stiff fight. This, combined with Mason Robertson's decision over Joe Casalaro, gave the Blues a 3-0 edge on the Brown team.

In an electric fifth bout, Jimmy Gallagher, a husky Marine trainee, scored a knockout over Jack Brandt. Brandt hit the canvas with 65 seconds gone in the second round. He rallied when the count reached eight but was dealt too shattering a blow to snap out of it. In the sixth match Freddie Gargano and Bill Lamb traded blows for six minutes, and the judges found that Lamb had taken Freddie in the third frame after two tight rounds.

McGuigan Comes Back

In the first round of the seventh bout, Sam Brown opened against Jack McGuigan with a terrifying barrage of blows that left him reeling. But with amazing resiliency, McGuigan came back in the second and third cantos to make the fight a draw. This made the Blue team stand with 4 wins and 2 draws and the Browns with 1 win and 2 draws.

The eighth fight turned out to be just what it had promised. Vince McPeak, a fighting Irishman from Fedigan, amazed the crowd by emerging with an impressive decision over Bull Matas. Vince played the part of the "little man who wasn't there" as he eluded everything that Matas threw, but found his mark quite consistently.

Frankie Solis and Al Sonheimer were next with a fine display of boxing. Both boys really looked fine in their form as well as their punch-trading. From this tangle, Frank Solis came out victor by a slight margin.

Frank has been appearing in Villanova boxing meets for the past three years. Both he and Bill Lamb entered Villanova in 1942 and have been boxing ever since. Solis' last victory occurred in his fight at F. & M. last summer.

Final Event

The final event of the evening pitted little Bobby Wilson of Fedigan against Carl Ungaro, the only civilian on the team. Scrappy Wilson gave husky Ungaro a real run for his money for those three rounds and Carl really had to do some work to tame Wilson and take the close decision.

The end of the matches found the Blue team with 6 wins, 2 draws and 2 losses and the Browns with two wins, 2 draws and 6 losses.

The boys were really punching every minute and gave the spectators plenty of exciting moments. Lieutenant McClintock, Lieutenant Kuffel and Coach Al Severance were the judges. Sergeant Frank Auberton and Specialist Peck Weigle were the timekeepers. Sergeant Lew Christien and Storekeeper Jack O'Leary counted for the knockdowns. The routs were refereed by Chief Rogalla and Chief Zukas was the announcer.

Varsity Closes Season Bowing to Coast Guard

Complete Seventeen-Game Schedule With Six Victories And Eleven Defeats; Guardsmen Prevail In Finale, 46-37

By JOE SULOCK, A. S.

The Villanova College courtmen closed their 1944-45 season by bowing to the Philadelphia District Coast Guard, 46-37, at the Field House, Wednesday night, Feb. 7. The loss was the Cats' eleventh of the campaign, as measured against six victories.

With Captain Tommy McCollam pacing the attack, the visitors started fast and compiled a 22-12 margin as the first period ended. In the second canto McCollam was slightly injured, and retired briefly from the game. Despite his absence, the Guardsmen continued their sharpshooting and compiled a 31-17 edge at the conclusion of the half.

Outscored Opponents

The Main Liners predominated the play in the final two frames, even though they muffed many layups and foul tosses. Led by their fiery captain, Lee Carter, the Cats outscored their opponents 8-5 in the third period.

With Bill Schanberger finding the range from outside, the Main Liners came close to tieing the count as the fourth quarter opened. However, the Guardsmen had the answer to this Villanova thrust in the pivot stabs of rugged Walt Tanana and the set shots of McCollam. The final whistle saw the city service champions annex their nineteenth victory of the season.

McCollam Takes Honors

McCollam easily took high scoring honors for the evening with 21 points. He was followed by teammate Tanana and Carter, each tallying 14 markers. Schanberger contributed six field goals to tab 12 counters.

Austin Crowned Intramural Second Half Champions

Sailors Defeated First Half Champs for Sixth Straight Win; Playoffs This Week

Austin's fast breaking quintet made a clean sweep of the second half of the Intramural League. Their 33-27 win over Alumni last week gives the champs six consecutive victories against no defeats for the second half championship. They will meet Alumni, first half champs, in the playoffs, this week. The schedule has been cancelled due to the fact that no other team is able to take first place.

The Sailors did not coast to their sixth win with easy sailing as the civilians gave them a battle. Each team exchanged baskets throughout the first half with the scoring ending at 18-18. At the start of the second half, however, Austin scored eleven straight points while holding Alumni scoreless. This was too much for Alumni as they turned right around and scored eight straight, keeping the Champs blanked for eight minutes.

Ensuing Battle

This gave the sailors a 29-26 advantage with four minutes to go and victory still in doubt as the hard hitting civilians pressed them. In the next four minutes quite a battle ensued and the Austinites emerged the victor 33-27. Sam Brown led the attack for the winners with 12 points which was high for both teams.

Earlier in the evening Fedigan maintained its number two spot by trouncing the Marines 30-27. The Fediganites managed to stay five or six points in front throughout the first half after which time they led 22-16. In the second half they garnered an even greater margin early in that period. The Marines retaliated late in the game and managed to close the gap to three points when the time ran out. Chick Magner paced the Fedigan

Four Meetings Scheduled For Busy Trackmen

The successful 1945 track team that placed second in the Inquirer Invitation Meet and took first place in the Millrose Mile relay have announced a busy schedule for the next four weeks during which time they will enter in four different meets.

Starting off on February 17 they will journey to New York and compete in the New A. C. games. The following week on February 24 they will enter the A. A. U. Meet. Next on the program will be the L. C. 4 A Meet on March 3. The schedule will be rounded out on March 10 with the Knights of Columbus Meet.

These are highly competitive meets in which Villanova track teams have been entering for many years. Two years ago, when the Wildcats had a red hot squad, they placed their men in nearly all of these meets.

Carter Leads 'Cat Scoring With 149

Sharpshooting Lee Carter carries off the Wildcat basketball scoring honors for this season with a total of 149 points. Taking a count of the season's individual scoring we find him 41 points in front of his nearest rival, Bill Schanberger, who netted 108. The captain and sparkplug of the team scored almost one-fifth of the total 606 points in seventeen games by way of 64 field goals and 21 fouls.

one that was there would give us the low down on what had happened, consequently we are unable to give you the facts. However, if you let your imagination run away with you, you will get a vague idea of what the affair was like.

Three more stars will soon be added to our service flag for three more of the fellows will soon be on their way. Bob Aigner was so disgusted with the date he had a few weeks ago that he has decided that maybe the Army won't be so bad after all. J. J. Foster wants to get into the Navy and shipped overseas immediately. Then he can display his campaign ribbons to a certain Marine on the campus, whom he has been having a lot of trouble with lately. Bill Ward doesn't have any particular reason for leaving except that he wants to get out of the mess he has made of his studies. Out of the frying pan into the fire, we would say.

HERO OF THE WEEK. Our vote for hero of the week goes to Tom Hanratty. Last Friday night while waiting for the trolley Tom noticed that Gamp, the Marines' mascot, was walking along the tracks, dangerously close to the third rail. Tom quickly jumped down on the tracks and lifted Gamp up onto the platform. For this bit of bravery, in preventing Gamp from becoming a hot dog, Tom will hearafter be called "the answer to a doggy's prayer."

Next week will find all the boys working away on their exams. After the exams, however, we can look forward to a nice long vacation, all of five days, so this will be our guiding light during the next hectic week.

Well this looks like it—the last line of the last column. We have had plenty of fun putting you behind the eight ball during the last fourteen weks. Those who were unfortunate enough to have their name appear in this column have been the best of sports, not getting mad at all; to date we have had only four black eyes and two broken noses. And although cliche, nevertheless, we are sincere when we say that we hope you have had as much enjoyment reading this column as we have had writing it.

and heroically. Their reward is to be found in the knowledge of a task well done. This is a sustaining compensation. This group of men can take deep satisfaction in the fact that, although conditions necessary for the painting of a bright picture in the field of basketball were at the lowest ebb in my memory, nevertheless they can ever rejoice in the thought that they helped to perpetuate this sport and keep it alive for teams that will be blessed with more ideal and favorable conditions. This team proved itself worthy of the ideals of our Alma Mater.

Committee Heads Are Chosen For Senior Prom

Dinner Dance Site at Llanerch Country Club; Thomas P. Welch, A.S., in Charge of Social Arrangements

At a meeting of the executive committee of the senior class last Thursday, William E. Farrell A.S., chairman of the senior prom announced the names of those in charge of the various phases of the arrangements. Each will have his own group of men acting under him, and each will be the chairman of his own committee.

Dinner Dance Head

FRANCIS O'CONNOR, A.S.

George C. Hoberg, A.S., is in charge of the procurement of tickets. Joseph J. Gerngross A. S., and Joseph D. Keating A.S., head the group which will do the decorating. Both men agree that the decorations will be very elaborate along the lines of a spring theme.

Band Committee

Robert J. Cramer A. S. and Hubert O'Reilly A.S., are doing their best to contact a band which will do justice to the first formal dance at Villanova in over two years. O'Reilly was chairman of the very successful Winter Hop which took place about a month ago, and Cramer served on the band committee of that dance also.

The publicity department has been placed in the hands of David Ward A.S.

The selection and design of the programs for this dance will be under the supervision of Michael N. Flynn A.S., and William J. Koness. Both of these men have one or two ideas which they hope will make the program more than just an ordinary one.

James P. Fogarty, Senior Day Hop, has been named the chairman of the refreshment committee.

The duration of the dance which was formerly to have been from 9:00 P. M. to 1:00 A. M., has had to be changed in order to conform with the recent 12:00 midnight curfew. As a result, the committees have moved that the music will start at 8:00 P. M. and end at 12:00 midnight.

O'Connor Dinner Dance Chairman

Francis J. O'Connor A. S., chairman of the senior dinner dance, and at the same time the chairman of the executive board, announced that Thomas P. Welsh A. S., will be in charge of all social arrangements for the class of 45's big affair. O'Connor also released for publication the fact that the dinner dance will be held at the Llanerch Country Club.

DANCE BAND

Not only are plans being made, but work is getting under way for this new V-12 Dance Band. All students, civilians or servicemen, are invited to participate in this new musical venture. Pvt. Paul H. Hathaway is the organizer. Anyone who is interested in participating can find him in room 222, Austin Hall. There is a special need for saxes and guitar players.

A.S.C.E. MEETING

A meeting of the A.S.C.E. was held on Thursday afternoon. The meeting was called to order by William Farrell, A.S., the president of the Civil Engineering Society. Several new members were admitted to this society. Nominations were made for vice-president and student council representatives. Elections could not be held since several members were not present. Plans for a plant trip were discussed.

Sgt. Thomas Siani, Ex '45, and S/Sgt. John T. Corkill, '34, Killed in Action

In the last month, word has reached the Alumni Association Secretary, Father Edward McGrath, O.S.A., that two more of the Alumni have made the supreme sacrifice, both in action on the Western Front, three are listed as missing in action, and two have been reported as wounded in action.

KILLED

Thomas S. Siani

Sergeant Thomas S. Siani, ex '45, attached to the infantry, was killed in action somewhere in Belgium on January 7, and has been awarded the Purple Heart posthumously, according to word received by his wife, who, together with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Serverino Siani, lives at 205 S. 21st St., Phila., Pa. Known to his many friends at Villanova as "Subby," Sergeant Siani entered Villanova in September 1941 as a member of the School of Commerce and Finance. He was a member of the varsity football team, and withdrew from Villanova on February 19, 1943, as a member of the Army Enlisted Reserve Corps. While in England he was a member of the Military Police, later transfering to the infantry.

John Corkill '34

Staff Sergeant John T. Corkill, '34, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Corkill, of Mauch Chunk, Pa., and brother of Lieutenant William Corkill '38 was killed in action in Belgium on January 16. Staff Sergeant Corkill graduated from Immaculate Conception High School in Mauch Chunk in 1930, and entered Villanova as an Arts student the same year. He was a member of the Sanctuary Society and Vigilance Committee for two years, a member of the Student Council, and varsity football team for four years, and in his senior year was Editor-in-Chief of the Belle Air. Attached to the infantry, he entered the Army in March, 1942 and spent time at Camp Wheeler and Camp Gordon, going overseas in September, 1944.

PKP Appoints New Committees

For the first time in over a year the Phi Kappa Pi will open its ranks to new members. This announcement was made at the meeting held last week in 214 Mendal, at 12:45. The men elected to the membership committee are Michael Flynn, chairman, Al Dumsa, Jim Shoemaker and Jack Glancy. All those who are interested in joining are cordially invited to attend the meeting scheduled for Wednesday at 12:45 in room 214 Mendel. Membership blanks will be distributed after a short talk on the advantages and history of the frat by Michael Flynn. All who are matriculated in the Engineering curricula are eligible to apply for membership.

Initiations To Be Held

The initiations will be held in traditional Phi Kappa Pi style and are slated for the later part of the month. As usual refreshments will be served and a smoker held in honor of the new members. Those residing on the campus may see Al Dumsa, Alumni; Jim Shoemaker, Fedigan, and Frank O'Connor, Austin for any further information. The Day Hops are referred to Jack Glancy.

Committees Appointed

Beside the membership announcement, various committees were appointed to finish up the Phi Kappa Pi activities for the

WAVE Leaves Campus For Navy Yard Post

By ALBERT ROZENSKY

During the recent vacation the commanding officer of the V-12 Unit here at Villanova received orders from the Naval Bureau of Personnel to the effect that Gertrude M. Jones, Y 3/C of this command was to be transferred to duties elsewhere.. When that order arrived and was carried out, a dual loss was shared by the Navy office and Villanova College. The former was deprived of the services of a most competent and proficient Yeoman, while the latter felt the absence of the magnetic personality Miss Jones so ably displayed on the campus.

GERTRUDE JONES, Y 3/C

To her knowledge, the Jones family of Scranton, Pennsylvania, is no descendant of Captain Jones of "We have only begun to fight" fame, but nevertheless, like their namesake, they are certainly worthy of some commendation, having three sons and a daughter in the Naval Service. Willis, an Ensign aboard a minesweeper, has seen service in Hawaii and Panama, while brother Ralph, a MoM 3/C, is stationed aboard a destroyer escort in parts unknown. David, who also boasts a Yeoman rating, discharges his duties at the Customs House in Philadelphia. Thus, it was practically a foregone conclusion that Sister Gertrude would select the Navy should she choose to enlist. Choose she did; thus in February of 1944, World War II, as far as the Scranton Joneses were concerned, became a private war between them and the Axis.

Miss Jones received her boot training at Hunter College, N. Y. From there, she was transferred to Iowa State University and upon graduation received a Yeoman 3/C rating. Back across the country to her home state came Miss Jones, this time to Philadelphia, but remained there only long enough to procure her orders to Villanova College. Thus, the trainees returning from their mid-semester leaves and the men who arrived from the fleet in July, were greeted by the ever-cheerful countenance of the suave new WAVE, and a very short time had elapsed before Miss Jones had made a host of friends and followers (above all, followand followers.

Since leaving Villanova on February 28 Miss Jones has been stationed at the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

New Semester

HERE, at the beginning of the new term—the sixth under the Navy program—the Villanovan wishes to welcome again the returning students and to offer a special greeting to the new Freshmen. The new student may be disappointed in the lack of adherence at Villanova to the traditional rosy picture of normal college life. Such reaction is experienced throughout the nation. Social functions, athletic participation and traditional activities have been drastically curtailed.

Closer examination, however, will disclose that the energy used in such engagements has not been wasted; it has merely been transferred. The quality of the work today is scholastically superior; the quantity and rate of work has been accelerated; and above all the improvement in the student is expected and demanded.

Colleges and universities, today, have a job and they are performing it grimly and determinedly. The scarcity of qualified workers, at the present time, in all fields is nothing compared to the prospective shortage IF the American College fails in its aims today.

Special need should be paid to the message of the President of the College, Father McGuire, which was printed at the start of the Fall semester. You, whether in the service or a civilian, are here for a purpose. Theoretically, this purpose is to aid American security during the war and in the peace. Practically this purpose is to prepare yourself in the various fields to lead a decent and profitable life.

C. P. LAFERTY.

Peace Again

ON to Berlin! On to Tokio! The orders of the day heard around the world spell doom for the remnants of the now defunct Axis. The time for reckoning has now arrived, the judgment day is at hand for the two foul partners in slaughter. They are now breathing their last breaths of life. They know that the fight is over and that the defenders of civilization have won, yet they continue the fight believing that somehow they might ease the terms of their surrender. However, the term "Unconditional Surrender" is still pounding in their ears, it grows louder day by day, and the torment will not end until we have wiped out the last remaining company on the battlefield. This is the way they want it, this is the way it shall be.

The Allies are now on the last lap of their race, but the tape denoting the finish line has yet to be broken. The race is not yet won, but the tape is now in sight. Now is the time that we must strive harder to reach our goal. Now is the time to put forth the fullest measure of our labors. Now is the time to pray hard for victory.

For the second time in the history of mankind, countries have gathered together to formulate a peace which will protect humanity from the ravages of another world war. This time the issue will not be taken lightly. This time there is a close approach to true sincerity in international intercourse. Let us hope and pray that our boys on the battlefield will bring this war to a successfull military conclusion, and that our statesmen will be guided in formulating a just and lasting peace.

By DICK RANDOLPH and LARRY LYONS

Spring is in the air and we are told by poets that in the spring a young man's fancy again turns to women. We sure hope the poets know what they are talking about for we would like to see the local lads break out in a social rash so that we could fill this column with more than trash. You are probably wondering why we are taking our lives into our hands for another semester. That, in itself, is a long story but we think that you will understand when we say that we don't dare let this column fall into the hands of a stranger, especially one whose name has appeared in the column during the last semester. On other words, we value our reputations more than we value our lives.

All the boys are full of pep after their extended vacation (four days doesn't extend very far does it fellows?) and are ready to trip off their 4.0 averages again this semester. We think that grades for basketball playing should be given out for a great many of the fellows spend the majority of their time on Alumni's court. However, maybe it's just as well that basketball is not graded for some of the fellows would get the same marks that they get in Physics, and believe us when we say "that ain't good."

We would like to thank Bernard Olbrys, for his pains in making that ever so cute drawing of the eight ball that adorns the top of this column. Perhaps there was a motive to his madness, however, we would like to inform you, Bernie, that we do not let our hearts interfere with our copy.

A few weeks ago the boys of the staff gave Joe Heck a going away party, and we think that after that affair Joe would be glad to go away. John Burns and Frank Costa tried to fix the unpopular authors of this column with dates, perhaps we should say they tried to stick us with dates. Knowing the juvenile jokers as we do, we declined their very generous offer. This made our little chums a little mad for they were sure that they had found a way in which to get revenge. Perhaps some other time fellows.

John Humphries spent last Tuesday on the campus. John has just completed boot camp and was home for ten days. He is still the same old Johnny, southern accent and all.

John Buckley was also visiting us last week. His massive frame was likewise covered by the blue of the Navy. John says that it is great but he would rather be back plugging his way through college.

The other day we asked one of the new fellows, J. L. Smith, what he thought of the barber shop on the campus. He promptly replied that he didn't like any barber shops because they are just clip joints.

We went down to see South Catholic play basketball week and we saw South's loyal fan, Charlie Hanlon. Charlie found that college was a little too tough so he has decided to spend all his time following his beloved "Purple Pirates." While we were at the game we saw Charlie's other occupation, Kitty, and frankly we think that he should devote all his time to basketball.

Ed Sweeney is really stooping pretty low for his women these days, for a few weeks ago we saw him at a teen age canteen in Upper Darby. We were chaperones that evening that is how we know he was there. We aren't going to say that the girls were small and young, but Ed looked mighty silly dancing on his knees all evening.

J. McGarry was very happy the other day for he has finally found the girl of his dreams. When we asked him what she was like he replied, "She is only a dairyman's daughter, but oh, what calves she has."

Last Saturday the Rosemont bowling alleys was the site of a rather sad sight, (Whew) for that is the day that the boys went bowling. The boys, Harry Edwards, Larry Fallon; Tom Hanratty; and last but not least, Bob McNamara, bowled some of the lowest scores that we have ever seen. Perhaps if they had been playing golf they would have been way under par, which is good; but as it was they were under par for bowling, which is bad.

We do not wish to bore you any longer so we will be on our way. Don't look for us next week for we will be here again. Until then, Good Hunting!

By THOMAS P. WELCH, A/S

BEYOND a doubt, John Fitzgibbons needs no introduction to the students of Villanova. His enthusiastic leadership has been felt in every branch of college activities, with the exception of Engineering organizations as Fitz is a loyal Commerce and Finance student, having spent no more than one afternoon a week in "Holiday Hall" since he came to Villanova in the fall of 1942.

He brought to this campus a sparkling record of achievements from Upper Darby High School. He was President of the Dramus Club, the school's dramatic society; and vice president of the Choral Club. Jack was also a member of a select group from the latter club, known as the A Capella Chorus, which sang at concerts all over the state.

His biggest boast of his high school career was the Boys Bowling Club which he organized and was President for the two years in which they won the Suburban Championship. For his worthy work on the Student Council and as vice president of the Tribunal, John was given the Distinguished Service Award at Graduation.

To discuss his achievements here at Villanova seems to be the only possible way of writing another sentence, since his name appears at the head of almost every college function; unless, perhaps, we were to tell of his playful jests at local secretaries or to relate some of those odiferous stories from the Republican Club in Norristown that he often brings to meetings. They are unprintable — and no doubt would be censored by the moderator—if he read them.

Thumbing through the socres of pages of the Centennial Issue of the Belle Air one often fails to realize the work entailed on each page; and it was John's loyal assistance to the Moderators that made possible the publication of this, the finest year book in the history of the college.

JOHN FITZGIBBONS

As an able and experienced veteran of work on this Centennial Edition, it was only natural that he should be appointed Editor of the 1944 book which he put out almost single-handedly. With unanimous acclaim for past success, he was made Editor of his own class's Annual.

His creative genius and managing ability gave to Villanova students some of their best dances and entertainment when he served on the student Council, later to become President of the Council in his Senior year. Under Jack's leadership, the Senior class was organized and officers were eletced.

This brings us to the crowning event in his career—his eletcion to the Presidency of the Class of 1945. Displaying typical eagerness, Fitz immediately organized the class and helped conceive the fine social events that the Seniors will sponsor in May and June, the Senior Ball and the Dinner Dance.

In his own environment of the C and F fraternity, the Delta Pi Epsilon, Jack was president for two years. He and his buddies "Babe" Reilly and "Windy" Barrett kept this organization on its feet until the C and F school is replenished with students.

On the side, this same trio are the "odd friends" of Betty in the Cafeteria. Everything but the coffee urn flies when any or all sneak by her; and Dauntless Danny has a special note in his book for our hero. Something must be wrong. Maybe they are jealous, but then they have reason to be.

When 'Omer Smote 'Tis Bloomin' Lyre
He'd 'eard men sing by land and sea
An' what he thought might require
'E went and took—the same as me.

The market-girls and fishermen
The shepherds and the sailors too
They heard old songs turn up again
But kept it quiet same as you.

They knew 'e stole, 'e knew they knowed.
They didn't tell nor make a fuss
But winked at 'Omer down the road
An' 'e winked back the same as us.

OUR FIRST CHAFF:

We demand a public statement in this column by Tom (I told Halm I'd get him) Burger as to his preference between Carol, Jean, and Norma. Not only Lilienfield but a few big blue eyed lassies would like to know the answer. Hence the request.

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD:

It has been one month now since Paul (Jr.) Walsh mailed that missal with the last lines "And will you be my Valentine, if I begin to shave?" Her post Valentine reply was a single Gillette blade. Junior, she certainly has a sharp sense of humor.

Dick (The Chief) Illgen is really cracking the whip over at Fedigan Hall these days and hence it is no wonder that M. A. Fesmire is so brutal to the boys. His is one of the best looking decks in the hall. (Sorry Greg, but we have to print the truth).

Newtown Square is the new Mecca for the Alumni boys; especially for Bill Pease and Dick Eidam. (Fr. Burke, etc., please note and find out the attraction.)

Tanski is currently being drubbed U.S.O. which might stand for "U Sure Operate". The lessons at the Green Mill are being well utilized.

Would it be ethical to tell about Lem Wentling's retest for his strength test. After all he is a fellow "writer", and besides we don't know his final mark anyway.

The newest fairy tale is Burger's explanation of Snowwhite Halm and his Six Blind Dates—Jean I, Joan II, Mary, Joan III, Gloria and Jean II. Joan's "father" was in town the past week end and since love begins at home she had no time for Bill. Next week a 7th will probably have been added.

Recently Tom (Red) Welch was seen helping out the local heat wave by teaching "that girl in the yellow dress" how to dance Virginia style. He was a success if we do say so.

Overheard in a telephone booth (before 8 o'clock) . . . Carl Schneider and White Sonner completing plans for the big dance this Sat. nite. Sounds like a swell time . . . Stan Wagner "just asking the operator what time it is" . . . John Kennedy: "I'm talking to the girl of my Diary" . . . Joe Hinkamp: "I wish I could drive but I'm sorry I can't"—as if he couldn't . . . Joe Casolero fighting with his Spar.

Back The Red Cross

The 1945 Red Cross Fund Drive has begun. Everyone knows how important this instrument of humanity is in time of war. It means hope, faith, and courage to all those who are interned by the enemy, and to those sick and wounded on the battle field. The "Angels of Mercy" are sending out a call for us to support their work. The Navy V-12 Unit at Villanova College, as well as the civilians are asked to do their utmost to support it. It is a noble work, and all should do their best to help the monetary goal over its quota.

Among the papers received by the Exchange Editor last week was the Rider News in which appeared the following column by Ed Curran, "After carefully scanning the Villanovan, the only amusing thing I came across was their choosing an all-opponent basketball team. They forgot to mention a Rider man as a worthy opponent. P. S. We of Rider forget to mention Villanova as a worthwhile workout"

Our sincere regrets to you, Mr. Curran, that we could not name one of your teammates on our All-Opponent team. If any of your men can compete with the talented Valley Forge and Coast Guard players whom we selected we will be glad to rectify the mistake. It seems in your outburst of school spirit which apparently overcame your practicability you possibly might have forgotten that Villanova defeated Rider 46-36 in their second meeting. Amen.

In order to inform our new students and refresh the minds of old students, this college sponsors athletic teams in four major sports, football, basketball, baseball and track. These four major sports are supplemented by softball, swimming, touch football and tennis conducted on an intramural basis. This well rounded program compares with any other college of its size in the country.

During the current term, a student can enroll in any one of three athetic endeavors taking place on the campus at the present time.

Yesterday Coach Oliver commenced his annual spring season football practice. Only forty-nine fellows answered his first call and many more are needed. Don't be reluctant to come out because you might lack previous experience. Last year several players, who had not been associated with the sport in high school, saw appreciable action. Ollie would be glad to have you and you can be sure being given a fair chance to make the squad.

The baseball team is now in their second week of practice with the first game to be held in three weeks. Although the response for baseball has been a little more encouraging than other sports, the team can always put more and better talent to good use. Four weeks is a comparatively short time with which to open the season but we are confident that Father McCarthy will come up with a winner.

At the same time the track team is busy enjoying a highly successful indoor season. Hampered at the very start by the loss of their coach, Father McQuade, and the lack of a suitable place to work out, the boys overcame these obstacles to prove their mettle. Much credit is due to Don Schmmitt and his crew for once again putting Villanova's track team in the limelight.

The soft shoe men have placed in every meet in which they have entered to date. They were, however, confined to two or three events in each meet. There just wasn't anybody to go in these events. As soon as the indoor season is completed, the boys will begin practicing for the outdoor season.

Father McQuade is now back at the helm and is looking for more candidates. Regular practice for the outdoor team will begin next Wednesday at the Field House at 6:30. Men to enter in the field events are especially needed in addition to a few more runners. If you have had any previous experience or feel that you would like to come out for the team come down and report next Wednesday.

Mile Relay Team

Varsity Football Team Inaugurates Spring Practice

The annual spring season football practice got under way yesterday with 49 candidates reporting to Coach Olivar for the first workout of the season This practice followed a meeting held last Thursday night for the candidates.

During last week's meeting Ollie took the names of all the candidates, took a poll on time available for practice, and explained a few fundamentals. As a result of the poll taken it was decided to have practice in the afternoons from four until six o'clock. This was decided on instead of night practice because of the advantage of daylight.

More Men

Ollie stressed the fact that he needs more men and urges the students to come out even though some may be able to practice only two or three nights a week. There are also openings for three more managers.

Of the 49 men reporting, six were veterans of last year's campaign. The rest of the team is made up of incoming Freshmen and recently transferred Naval and Marine trainees.

Holdovers

Holdovers from last year are Vince McPeak, Carl Ungaro, Jim Gallagher, and Bob Fauber, all backfield men; Mason Robertson, end; Don Peterson, guard, and Hank Strauss, center. McPeak and Robertson shared the punting duties in the latter half of last year's schedule.

From Duryea High School, where they lost only one game in two years, comes Joe Bracelnik and Bob Trakamas, both linemen. Since our new players run in pairs, we have Dom Vitacco and Leo Makowski from the undefeated Kulpmont eleven. These two boys have been playing together for three years and should work together nicely in the backfield.

Two Ex-Servicemen

Scranton contributed Charley Comisky, who played in the All-Star game up there last year. Two ex-servicemen out for the team are Vince Palaia and Dave Gereralli. Dave was All-County while playing for his high school in Hornell, N.Y.

From nearby Philadelphia we have two former Catholic League performers in Jim Smith from LaSalle and Gene Alvarez from North Catholic. These boys along with a host of others should make up the nucleus of the new edition of the football team.

I-M Moderators Announce Plans For Semester

Rev. Joseph Kemme, O.S.A., and Rev. Dante L. Girolami, O.S.A., comoderators of intramurals, have announced their plans for the coming semester. The Intramural League will conduct a basketball, touch football, and softball league during the next 15 weeks. Due to semester changes the league was reduced to four teams because the Navy students vacated Mendel Hall.

Basketball got under way last night and will continue until the end of the month. This will be followed by touch football which will continue until mid-semester. The second half of the present semester will be devoted to softball, the most popular of all intramurals.

New Pin Loop Held Initial Match On Sat.

A new bowling league sprung into being last week with the opening matches held on the Rosemont Alleys last Saturday. The Service League plans to stage matches for the next nine weeks.

Last Saturday's results included a 4-0 win by Bucky's Boys over the Marines and the Alley Cats defeated the Holy Rollers 3-1. In the other two matches Lost Cause won 3-1 over the 300 Club while the Pill Rollers and the Paoli Yokels split 2-2.

High average for the week went to Gus Greway, of the Marines, who rolled a 182 for the day. Other bowlers above 200 were Fred Koch, of the Lost Cause team, and Bill Farrell of the 300 Club who bowled 213 and 211 respectively.

This past week the boys bowled with four man clubs but beginning this week they will operate with the conventional five man squad.

The Standings:

	W.	L.
Bucky's Boys	4	0
Alley Cats	3	1
Lost Cause	3	1
Pill Rollers	2	2
Paoli Yokels	2	2
300 Club	1	3

Fifty-five Men Try Out For 1945 Baseball Squad

Head baseball coach Father McCarthy greeted 55 Navy, Marine, and civilian students last week in the initial practice session of the 1945 baseball team last Monday. Practice is being held every night in the Field House at 5:45. This setup will continue until the weather gets a little warmer and then the boys will go out on the field.

Last week's sessions consisted of loosening up exercises, running a few laps, and tossing the ball around. Father McCarthy is mainly interested in getting the stiff arms loosened so that he can start in full swing when the boys take to the field.

Second Season

This is Father McCarthy's second season with the baseball team. Last year he and Al Severance ran the team after Doc Jacobs left and this year he is running it by himself. As yet he is not able to determine the strength of his material.

Of the 55 candidates for the squad, only six played last year. Holdovers are: Dick Naslund, Jim Lafferty, Stan Wagner, Ed. Nolan, Joe Casalaro, and Al Sondheimer. Father is pleased with the rest of his men but is not in a position to determine any starting lineups yet.

K of C Mile Relay Another Triumph For Track Team

Tracksters Turn in 3:33 to Nose Out Nearest Rival; Add to Brilliant Record

Villanova's brilliant mile relay team maintained it's amazing record of placing in every meet, by taking first place in the mile relay event in the Knight of Columbus Meet in New York last Saturday. The successful combination of Cox, Short, Harrington, and Schmitt were clocked at three minutes and 33 seconds to nose out their nearest rival Holy Cross who came in second.

Many Victories

The track team has been bringing home the bacon every week since the Villanovan last went to press. On the 17th they entered the New York A. C. games and annexed second place having been beaten by Holy Cross on whom they turned the trick last Saturday.

On the 24th of February they went into the National A.A.U. meet, this team taking a third place prize after N.Y.U. and Army. Burt Cox also entered the broad jump but failed to place. The following week in the I C 4 A's they experienced a little difficulty.

Bad Break

The Blue and White was running second in back of N. Y. U. who was far ahead of the pack, when all of a sudden they were passed by Army, Dartmouth, and Columbia and had to be content with fifth place.

The same day, Burt Cox took fourth place in the broad jump while Don Schmitt was sixth in the mile.

Next week the track team will go to Camden to enter the Middle Atlantic A. A. U. Meet. In addition to the mile relay team, John Cockcroft and Schmitt will run the mile. Bean, Harrington, and Short will enter the 600 yard dash while Cox will run the fifty.

In The Sportlight

By MATT KEARNEY, A.S.

Swinging the sportlight from the basketball stage around to the cinder tracks, we uncover another one of. Villanova's stalwarts in sports. From Flushing, New York comes lanky Charlie Harrington, a senior Civil Engineer.

Charlie was born in October 13, 1924, in the world's largest city and attended De La Salle High School in New York. While he was at this institution of learning, he was a member of a good cross country team and took part in the quarter-mile run and the mile relay.

In October of 1942, fortune smiled on Villanova as he entered the Civil Engineering School here and became a member of the Freshman track team. At the Penn Relays in the Fall of 1942, Harrington ran with the mile relay team which took third place.

In December of the same year, Charlie was sworn in the United States Navy and stationed here under the V-12 program. However from this time until the Spring of 1944 he did no running for the Wildcats. Upon his return to the cinders, he literally went wild. After running the quarter-mile and mile relay in the Penn Relays, he ran with the team which beat Swarthmore, Muhlenberg, and Lehigh by a good score.

In the Summer of 1944, Charlie's only achievement was running the half-mile run against Princeton. Coming back into the spotlight in the Winter of 1944, Chuck's team garnered a string of honors that made this team one of the greats in Villanova's track history. took first place.

Outside of his track activities, Chuck is a member of the Phi Kappa Fraternity and the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Charlie will graduate in June and will be commissioned soon after. His graduation will be a loss to Villanova's track team, but his fine achievements will not soon be forgotten by the track fans and his team-mates.

At The Front

September 21, 1944, according to word received by his father, Mr. Miles J. Kelleher, of Mahony City, Pa. Private Kelleher entered Villanova as an Arts student in September 1940 and was called to active duty on March 4, 1941. Previous to his arival in England in August of last year, he had served in the Aleutian Islands where he participated in the Kiska Campaign. He was later stationed at Dutch Harbor.

Returning to this country in February 1944, Private Kelleher was sent to Fort Bliss, Texas, where his Anti-Aircraft Battery was broken up and he was transferred to the infantry. He spent only ten days in England before going into action in France.

John Schuyler '39

Sergeant John D. Schuyler, '39, has been reported missing in action somewhere in Belgium since sometime in January, 1945. He was a member of the 68th Tank Battalion, 6th Armored Division, with Lieutenant General Patton's Third Army. Having recently been awarded the Purple Heart, after his tank was destroyed, he recovered and had returned to active duty. Sergeant Schuyler's brother, Richard, '33, is a lieutenant in the Army and is stationed with the 206th T. C., BMTR, Camp Jordan, Johnson, Florida.

Joseph Carbine ex '44

Lieutenant Joseph J. Carbine, ex '44, son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Carbine and brother of Lieutenant Colonel Thomas J. Carbine, '39, and Cadet James T. Carbine, Jr., ex '45, stationed at West Point, has been reported as missing in action following a raid over Germany on February 3, 1945. Co-pilot of a Flying Fortress and attached to an airbase somewhere in England, Lieutenant Carbine has been overseas since September 1944 and had had more than 15 missions over enemy territory to his credit. He entered Villanova in September, 1940 as an Arts student and withdrew from school in February 1943 as a member of the Army Air Corps Reserve. His brother, Thomas, is Commanding Officer of a Mustang Fighter Group, stationed in France, and was recently promoted from Major to his present rank. He was also recently awarded the Air Medal.

WOUNDED

James J. Wynne, ex '46

Private First Class James J. Wynne, ex '46, was wounded in the right thigh by a mortal shell, somewhere in Belgium on January 3, and is at present in a base hospital somewhere in England, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard A. Wynne, of Philadelphia, Pa. He was inducted into the Army on May 7, 1943, and received his basic training at Camp Lee, Va., later being sent to Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburgh, Va., as a member of the ASTP. Following the discontinuance of this program, he was assigned to the infantry and underwent training at Camp Clairbourne, La. Private Wynne has been overseas since October of 1944.

Louis Masciocchi '44

Private Louis A. Masciocchi, who graduated last June from the Commerce and Finance School, has been wounded in action somewhere in France and is now recuperating in an Army Base Hospital in England, according to word received by Father Edwin Grimes, O.S.A., College Chaplin, in a V-mail letter from Private Masciocchi, dated February 2. "I was wounded in France about three weeks ago," he says, "and I am now in a U. S. Hospital in England. The wound is not serious but it will take quite a while to heal." He entered the Army in August, 1944, and following 19 weeks of intensive training in the infantry at Camp Blanding, Fla., was sent immediately to the Western Front. He was overseas hardly more than three weeks when he was injured.

O'Connor Names Committee Heads For Dinner Dance

Closed Senior Affair To Be Held On Saturday Night, June 9; Senior Prom Committees Working Hard

Plans for Villanova's first formal dance in over two years, the Senior Promenade, are now well underway. The dance is scheduled for Friday night, May 11th, in the college Field House. The committee chairmen have been named and are hard at work making plans for the affair. Each chairman now his own committee and these are working independently on their own individual problems.

Dinner Dance

The other big affair, the formal dinner-dance, is being planned for June 9th, a Saturday night. This affair is also coming in for a great deal of consideration from Class of '45. Chairman Francis O'Connor, A.S., has released for publication the names of the other members of his committee. Thomas P. Welch, A.S., will be in charge of all social arrangements. The tickets will come under the supervision of Frank R. Solis, A.S., Treasurer of the class and Donald Reinhardt, A.S.

WILLIAM BARRETT

Robert Cramer, A.S., and Hugh O'Reilly, A. S., will perform the same duties that they do in the prom committee, that of securing a band.

The decorating of the Llanerch Country Club, where the dinner-dance is to be held, will be directed by Richard Madigan, A.S.

Barrett General Chairman

Chairman of the invitations committee is Frank Ronan, while Hugh Hart heads the program committee. Both of these men are civilian engineers, Hart being a chemical engineer and Ronan an electrical engineer.

In order to make sure that these affairs get the full support and cooperation of the class of '45, a coordinating committee has been formed, headed by William E. Barrett, chairman of all senior activities.

The other members of this committee are the two dance chairmen, William E. Farrell, A. S., and Francis J. O'Connor, A. S., and Frank R. Solis, A. S.

Rev. V. A. McQuade Speaks at Malvern

The Reverend Vincent A. McQuade, O.S.A., Ph.D., addressed the regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association of Malvern Preparatory School, held at the school on Wednesday evening, March 14, at 8:30 o'clock.

Father McQuade, who is the liaison member of the faculty of Villanova College for the Army and Navy, discussed the various bills passed by the Congress aiding veterans who desire to complete their high school training and college courses. He also stressed the advantages to be gained by members of the Armed Forces by studying in their spare time.

Modest Marines See Plenty Of Hot Action Overseas

Pvts. Jack Cavey, Ted Cummings and Frank Geleski Follow in True Marine Tradition

Off again, and with dozens of new overseas trainees to cover. First comes Jack Cavey, twenty-three, regular in the USMC. A peace time resident of Oelle, Maryland, Jackson went through Coatesville High school in a town of the same name, graduating in 1941. He entered the Marines on January 10th, 1942.

Guadalcanal Invasion

After basic at Parris Island, and advanced at New River, Cavey was assigned overseas duty as a member of the 1st Batallion, 5th Regiment of the Marine Division. He was in the first invasion of Guadalcanal after which he returned to Melbourne, Australia to receive intensified infantry training and received more of the same on New Guinea.

Invasion of Cape Gloucester and Telesa of the New Britain group followed and then Villanova—via San Francisco.

Baseball Prospect

Jack lists among his hobbies a diversified variety including chess, hunting and fishing, swimming and baseball. He considers going out for the baseball team next semester. He hopes to take Business Administration courses here and base his vocation along those lines.

Marine Engineer

From Plains, Montana comes Theodore L. Cummings, 21 year old reserve trainee. He graduated from the local high school in 1941. He thinks that Villanova is a pretty nice place and hopes to get his degree in Civil Engineering. His principal hobbies are hunting and fishing. In the corps he belonged to the First Engineer Battalion of the First Marine Division, and if you believe him brother, that's the best there is.

He entered the Marine Corps in September of 1942. He received his basic at San Diego and advanced at Camp Elliot, California. Going overseas he received further engineering training at Melbourne Australia and then shipped to the advanced base at Woodlark Island group.

He was in the first invasion group of Gloucester of the New Britain group, and again in the invasion of Pelelieu Island. After time at a rest camp, he flew to San Francisco and after screening tests at Camp Lejeune he was sent to Villanova.

Pennsylvania Boy

Frank Geleskie, USMCR from Shenandoah, Pa., attended West Mahanoy Township high school, from which he graduated in 1940. He entered the Marine Corps on the 31st of March in 1941.

After Parris Island he became sea-going at Portsmouth. There followed guard duty at Newport, Rhode Island, and then Marine Detachment duty in Iceland during the Atlantic crisis. From there he was shifted halfway across the world to the Samoan Islands for Infantry training. He participated in the first invasion wave at Guam which made him a Gunnery Sergeant. Following this he returned to the States and to Villanova.

He hopes to be an Aeronautical Engineer and lists as his principle activities sports and movies.

Trenton Club Meet

The Reverend Francis B. McKee O. S. A., and Football Coach Jordan Olivar recently addressed a meeting of the Trenton Club of Villanova College in Trenton, New Jersey. This was the first meeting of this organization since its activities were curtailed in 1941. Father McKee stated that he is in favor of encouraging more of these meetings and in the reorganization of other societies.

Vice-President Addresses Day-Hops

Sgt. Muir To Reorganize Belle Masque Society

By CHARLES LAFERTY

Proud indeed is the Villanovan to welcome back to the ranks of an active organization, the Belle Masque, senior dramatic society of Villanova College.

The first meeting of the club was held last Friday evening, March 16th, at 6:30 primarily to elect officers and to arrange a schedule. The four officers chosen to guide the organization in its first semester were: President, Dick Henson; vice president, George Scanlan; Secretary-treasurer, Foster Blough, and Stage Property Manager, Bob Austin.

SGT. JOHN MUIR

New Members Invited

The Friday night meetings are to become a regular feature of the group. Of especial interest is next week's meeting to which all prospective members are invited. This invitation embodies also men interested in writing, directing, dance routines and stage hands.

Initiations will also be held at the next session, that's on March 21st in Room 215 Mendel. A special invitation is tendered to really interested civilians.

Organized by Sgt. John Muir

Most of the credit for the re-organization of the Belle Masque must go to Sgt. (QM) John C. Muir, USMC. Muir's marine duties entail charge of all Marine supplies and clothing, transportation of Marine personnel and acting as Navy and Marine mail clerk. He will act in the capacity of an advisor and directer to the thespian group. Also, to assist Muir will be Father Falvey and Bob Whelan. The society, to date, has fifteen charter members.

Naval Battalion Reorganized For This Semester

William Kuzman, varsity football end and honor student has been named battalion commander for the coming semester, and has as adjutants, George Bacsik and Michael Krak, both honor students, it has been published by Lieutenant J. A. McClintock, USNR, Executive Officer of the Villanova College V-12 Naval Unit.

Other appointments in the battalion reorganization have also been posted.

Company Commanders and Assistants: Louis Gregory, John Kennedy, Frank O'Connor, Joseph Dwyer, Louis Cardell.

Platoon Leaders: Allen Curtis, George Clelan, Richard Naslund, John Millet, David Ward, Hugh O'Reilly, Dean Cary, Paul Geckle, Richard Barry.

Chief MA: Richard Illgen, Stanley Wagner, Donald Peterson.

MA's: Charles Fesmire, Richard Luly, Gabriel Lizak, Jack Peters, Alphonse Canuel.

Sheet PO's: Fred Koch, David Marano, John Mester, Robert Goode, Joseph Hinkamp, Charles Carlson, Kenneth Sonner, Vincent Megna, William Souder, William Sparks, Richard Caroll, John Childers.

Mail P. O.: Paul Millar, James Gallagher.

Liberty P. O.'s: Fred Gargano, Donald Reinhardt, Clark Reynolds.

Company Yeoman: George Aulbach.

Company Clerk: Thomas Fitzgibbon.

Color Guard: Emil Matas, Elmer Keith, Walter Lyttle.

Phi Kappa Pi Starts Membership Drive

A membership drive among the new students was announced last Tuesday by the Phi Kappa Pi, Villanova's engineering fraternity.

At the meeting of the fraternity last week, Frank O'Connor, A/S., president of the organization discussed the advantages of joining Phi Kappa Pi, urging all those who are interested in engineering to join because of the contacts which are made in this society. President O'Connor also made mention of the social activities which the officers of the fraternity try to include on Phi Kappa Pi's schedule.

Winding up the meeting, Michael Flynn, A/S., Vice-President, distributed the application forms and pledges and instructed the hopefuls how to complete them. He requested that they be returned in the near future.

President And Vice-President Address Civilians

The Very Reverend Francis X. N. McGuire, O.S.A., President of Villanova College, recently addressed an assemblage of all the civilian students now matriculating here. The talk was given Monday, March 12 in the amphitheater of Mendel Hall. The purpose of the address was to impress upon all the new students the duties which now confront them as college men.

Father McGuire stressed the fact that during this war time period when the entire curricula of the college have been speeded up to meet the requirements of the time, that an extra burden has been placed upon the shoulders of all students, and that this burden must be borne, not only for the sake of learning, but for love of country above all.

"The College is Yours"

"The question has often been asked," said Father McGuire, "Whose college is this anyway? Well, the college was founded in 1843 by the Augustinian Fathers, and has since grown to its present size. The college belongs to you boys, and you should treat it as you would your own property. Your conduct should be one befitting a student of this institution."

Father McGuire also advised the new students as to their duty in reporting the approach of the eighteenth birthday to the Registrar of the college, Father Joseph Boyle. Father Boyle will gladly clear up any difficulties involved in anyone's draft status. It is also the duty of the Registrar to seek for such men, a place suitable for their talents in the armed forces of this nation.

"Christian Gentlemen"

Father McGuire stated that although many of the campus activities have been halted due to interference with wartime programs and accelerated studies, there should be no slackening of spirit with regards to the Alma Mater. Villanova has acquired a good name throughout the years and it is the duty of each and every student to conduct himself like a true Christian Gentleman, so that his character might reflect in part the character of his school.

The Reverend Edward B. McKee O.S.A., vice-president of the college, addressed both the civilian day hops and the civilian resident students, in order to indoctrinate them into the affairs of college life, and to acquaint them with some rules regarding their conduct both on and off the campus. Father McKee also impressed upon the students the need for good deportment and conduct.

Stability In Europe

THE purpose of the present peace conferences now being held throughout the world among the members of the United Nations is to promote stability in Europe with regards to the governments to be set up in enemy territories after the war to insure peace in the future. Of course, this means unselfish compromise among the United Nations in deciding the form of governments which should exist in these countries to benefit the purpose for which we are fighting this present war.

We have recently heard that Russia, one of our allies, and England, the other, are definitely hostile to the government now set up in Spain under the dictatorship of Francisco Franco. Of course, as we all know, this government in Spain has been founded upon the principles of Fascism. In order to protect their interests in this country England and Russia have both been trying to remove Francisco Franco from power in Spain.

We all admit that the present government in Spain is not the best which could have ever come into power in any respect, but it is a stable government, and is performing all the necessary functions required of an active nation. The Fascist regime in Spain is a choice between two evils, that of Communism and that of Fascism.

An item of interest arose in a discussion the other day about the Spanish civil war. A letter written by an Augustinian priest from Spain to America described the terrors and hardships and bloodshed which the so-called Loyalist Army in Spain had inflicted upon harmless civilians. The looting of Church property, the ravaging of the countryside, the wholesale plunder and other atrocities which the Catholic Priest witnessed were all the result of Loyalist action. The Loyalists, of course, were fighting for the Communist party; the so-called rebels, were fighting for the Fascists. Francisco Franco took over the government of Spain after the surrender of the Loyalist Army, but not until the Spanish people had become so weary of war that they vowed that they would not fight again. This is the main reason that the Fascist government remains in power today. The people are too weary of war and hardship to overthrow the one bit of stability in their lives. The people living in Spain deserve some sort of security, and their right to remain neutral in this war cannot be denied them as a nation which is just recovering from the shock of horror at home.

This article is not by any means trying to uphold Fascist government in any form whatsoever, for such governments are founded on principles entirely opposite to the ones for which we are fighting. However, we must realize that since this government now existing is a stable one, and has performed most of its duties satisfactorily, we have no right to tell the people of this nation that they must change right now to another form of government, just to protect the interests of a few.

If we are fighting for the future stability of the world, we must permit this government to remain as it is for a little while at least. When the world returns to normalcy there will be time enough to permit the people to choose the type of government they would like to live under, and to hold general elections supervised by the United Nations to insure a valid vote. Perhaps then we will have true stability in Europe.

By DICK RANDOLPH and LARRY LYONS

How those March winds do blow! This is probably one phrase that we haven't heard much this year, for the month of March is nearly half over and we haven't even had anything that even resembles a breeze. This is rather discouraging to those fellows that like to stand on street corners during the windy month. Cheer up fellows for soon shorts will be the fashion of the day.

Although we didn't have any wind this month we did have Saint Patrick's Day, so what more could we ask for? (besides a ten-day vacation). All the Irish wait patiently for this day, for it is the only day in the year that they can have a wee nip of "the good stuff" without being criticized too keenly.

We were glad to see that Paul Carmichael, who comes from Southern Ireland, didn't forget dear old St. Pat., for he was sporting the greenest tie that we have ever seen. We have always said that there isn't much in a name.

Before we get off the subject of the Irish we would like to give you a brief list of "first Americans":

The first American to shoot a Jap was Mike Murphy.

The first American to sink a Jap battleship was Colin Kelly.

The first American to down a Jap plane was Edwin O'Hara.

The first American to be decorated by F. D. R. was James Powers.

The first American mother to lose five sons was Mrs. T. F. Sullivan.

The first American to get four new tires was Benjamin Levine.

Almost everyone is heartbroken because of the cigarette shortage, that is everyone except Paul Curcillo, who wishes that there were even fewer cigarettes in circulation. Paul's nose cannot stand the delicate aroma of a cool burning Chesterfield. We are just as well pleased, however that he does have such an antipathy for "weeds", for this means he will not try to "mooch" one of those cylinderical tobacco filled objects from us. (Please, note and take the hint, fellows).

After reading last week's column, Bob McNamara came running to us, crying that his golf game has improved immensely. We never saw Bob golf but we repeat that his game must be terrific if his scores are as low as his bowling scores. Bob must really have a case on Margie for every time he sees a girl he tells her that she "looks just like Margie". We wonder . . . ?

Seen around the campus during the past week . . . Joe Borselino getting ready to serve his Uncle's every wish . . . Bob Brennan running around making up his finals. Bob was sick three weeks ago when the finals were given (who wasn't?) therefore he is taking them this week . . . Frank Costa is trying to get his blood pressure down so that he can get into Maritime school. Our advice to you, Frank, is that you ought to see less of that little de-icer of yours, Marian. She doesn't have much effect on some fellows but she certainly does things to you . . . Pete McManus is starting to miss his little chum, Atlas Jorden. We think that Peter misses Donald's charming little automobile, in which he rode all over—more than he misses Donald's wonderful company . . .

Now that Spring is here the boys are migrating to the great outdoors during their free time. The other day, Jim Plunkett was having a catch with Jim McCarry on Mendel Field, using an orange as a ball. Everything was running smoothly until McCarry threw just a little bit too hard . . . oh, well Plunkett had to have that suit cleaned anyway (we listen to Bob Hope, too).

We received a letter from Bill Schmitt the other day and he told us that he was leading a life of ease. He forces himself out of bed at noon, and then he has to loaf around for the rest of the day. It is really a shame the way some fellows have to work, while we do nothing but go to school for six days a week.

Before we forget it we would like to know what a "strosh" is? Everything and everyone on the campus has been called a "Strosh" by the majority of the follows. When you ask them what it means they just shrug their shoulders and say "it's beyond me". Perhaps the boys have made up a new lauguage during their spare time.

Well it's time that we moved this load over for next week there will be another load coming down the road. If any of you want us during the week we will be at our offices at 72635½ Mendel, directly in front of Baily's, the ten big floors of furniture.

Spring Fantasies

By JOE WALTERS, A.S., and LES POWERS, A.S.

BUT REALLY YOU SHOULDN'T

Call J. J. (Pinoccio) Gorman, MacArthur's personal aide because really he wasn't . . . decide to make a long winded call to Corpus Delectable promptly at 7:30 P. M. (Koness please note) . . . refer to Clarence Stoflman as "eager" just because he gets up at 5 A. M. to study . . . use your electric razor while it is yet permissible to play the radio (Barrett shut it off) . . . question Mason Robertson on the making up of the Watch List because it is both fair and square . . . "Comb" your hair in the washroom just before inspection of quarters on Sat. . . .

A NOTE FROM A FORMER FIGUREHEAD:

"Working and running around like mad. Nothing like V.C. No Pie Shop, etc. Give Frs. Burks and O'Leary my love and drop me a card sometime."

Love and kisses,
Dick Tierney.

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK:

Since Tex Smith's girl, Janet, was among those individuals watching the drill Sat. why didn't he introduce her to us?

JUST HEARSAY:

Tom (Rosemont here I come) Burger's only comment; "N. C."

It seems that the G.S.O. dance in Ardmore was quite a success and the boys were charmed by a bevy of Ardmore and vicinity beauties. Ed (I'm gonna buy a paper doll) Grostas was observed trying to find Dollie Graham.

..Dave and Newt Ward had quite a tussle over the same girl with Newt winning the final round.

Louis (Let's take the long way home) Gregory was seen taking his blonde home a little early "in order to escape the 12 o'clock curfew."

Hugh O'Reilly and "Bulb Head" Elliott matched lines and as a consequence O'Reilly and Gloria made the "perfect couple."

DOODLING . . .

It must have been a case of "hail to the conquering heroes" when Schmitt and company returned from the track meet this past week end. At 69th Street some unknown female rushed up to Schmitty with arms outstretched and a salutation of "darling". He swears he did't know her, but Harrington will vouch for the veracity of the above statement.

AND THE $18 QUESTION . . .

Why didn't they play cards on Noah's Ark?

Because Noah sat on the deck. then "Confucius Say;" and now it's "Mr. Anthony . . . " ... ...

Timid boy before his first formal date: I am going to take some girl to a matinee, then a Tea dance, afterwards to dinner, and finally to a formal. Mr. Anthony, what I want to know is: "Should I kiss her goodnight too?"

Answer — No I think you will have done enough for her.

And lest anyone forget that even the editors can get the Shaff. . . Leslie Northern (they call me Northern, but I really come from the South) Powers has been restricted for these two weeks, but a certain little belle at Chez Vous is still awaitin' for him and all his "Southern Comfort." Hope you get out soon Leslie. . .

'CAT CAPERS

By FRANK RONAN and JOE HOFFMAN

To the older Villanovans the title of this column is a familiar one. It probably brings back some nostalgic memories. While we make no claims of being able to equal the calibre of those columns, we will try to approach it as nearly as we can. And so, without further ado, we'll swing right along with the business at hand.

—V—

This job of moving certainly presents its problems in Mechanics. Of course, in the good old days it was no problem at all for the upper-classmen. They furnished the brains and the Frosh furnished the horsepower. Take itfrom those who know. "Windy" Barrett received some suggestions as to how it should be done, among which was this gem: "Shove your junk out the window. It won't do it a bit of harm."

—V—

This week's gag: The Frosh, in the course of registration, was preparing to complete his schedule and was asked which school he was in. Quick as a flash came back the snappy reply, "Villanova College."

—V—

We have at last found a sucessor to Chris Keefer, on the pin-ball machines. "Pete" Pallitto, a new Frosh, was doing pretty well the other night at the drug store. In fact, a little too well as far as Mrs. La Dow was concerned.

—V—

We're wondering how the Frosh are going to react to the rigors of Mendel Hall. Father McQuade is probably twirling his mustache in anticipation. Incidentally, "Babe" Reily and "Windy" Barrett are pondering over the same question.

—V—

Some of the fellows were the guests of the girls at Harcum's St. Patrick's Day Dance. Among others, Al Dumsa, Don Reinhardt, and Bill Koness were there dealing it.

—V—

The popularity of the Conestoga Mill seems to have faded. We can remember when it was a favorite rendezvous. We also remember some very interesting incidents which took place there.

—V—

One of our secret agents has sent us a special report saying that the lassies from Rosemont are planning to hold their Junior Prom on April 28. We have it on very good authority that even Beaver College will be foresaken that evening so that J. P. Merlino can put in an appearance.

—V—

Who pulled that "fowl" trick on Assistant Coach Bob Conway the other evening. Or can be that "Our Bob" really enjoys his feathered friends.

—V—

We are glad to see that "Al the Rosie" is back to his happy high school activities. If you see a cloud of dust heading in the direction of Rosemont, don't worry, it is only Al again.

—V—

Seems as if Joe Sweeney is certainly very interested in the doings at Beaver. Just what is the story, Joe?

—V—

Well, as least the mass migration from Alumni has quieted down the race for the post of Junior Prefect. This must be quite a blow to some of the boys who enjoyed the prestige that went with the office.

—V—

It's good to see some of the old Villanova boys returning to school after being discharged from the Service. To Newt Ward, Hal Varani, Rocco Gianinni and all the others, we extend a hearty welcome.

—V—

We received word that John Burke and Lovey Quinn are now in Northern Italy and have been assigned their own ambulance. We hope all the Italians keep off the road for their own sake.

—V—

Jack Glancey certainly seemed to enjoy the refreshments at the A.I.E.E. meeting last week. Since we were with him, we can vouch for it. Incidentally, the Electricals made a very good showing at the meeting.

—V—

Gene Tigani is keeping the occupants of O'Dwyer Hall in good spirits with his singing. Keep it up, Gene.

—V—

The cigarette shortage becomes more critical every day, but we have yet to see or hear of anyone rolling his own. This accelerated program certainly doesn't give a fellow much spare time.

—V—

Here is an item which should be of interest to some of the surrounding girl's colleges. We have a brand new class of Freshmen who might appreciate a tea dance.

Talking Things Over

Cockroft Fourth; Bean Third in 600; Cox Fourth in 50; Relay Team Second

The Blue and White track team closed its indoor season Saturday night in the winning style which characterized their entire indoor schedule. The Mile Relay team went through the entire series of meets with the distinction of placing in the first five of every relay they entered. The team scored second in the meet with twelve points. Mitchell A. C. was first with fourteen.

Burt Cox started things off by running the 50-yd dash in 5.6 seconds to win first place in the second heat. In the finals he placed fourth. Next up, Bob Bean was first in the second section of the 600-yd. dash with one minute and 21 seconds. In the final, he placed third behind George Guida, former Wildcat trackman now running for Sampson N. T. S. who holds the record for this event, and Gerry McGlinn, a teammate of Guida's.

The climax came in the mile event when speed merchant Don

We feel that several Austin boys feel slighted for our not having publicized their annexation of the Intramural title last semester. We don't blame them for they are deserving of a lot of mention for for their tremendous success. A month elapsed since the last edition and the night the sailors clinched the penannt so we considered it stale news.

Here it is now. After breezing through the second half of the league without a blemish against their record, the Austinites coasted to their first win in the playoffs. In the second game Alumni looked like the probable winner throughout the first half but in the final chapter the sailors put on a scoring spurt that left the civilians helpless and eliminated them from the crown.

What happened to the Ship's Company basketball team? How about it, Chief Zukas? The current intramural schedule will terminate on Wed., March 28. The following Friday night would be a good opportuntiy to stage an exhibition game between the Intramural Champs and the Ship's Company.

Another good stunt would be to give the students a chance to see the faculty in action. There is a lot of good talent over at the monastery that could be formed into a club to be pitted against one of our intramural teams. The faculty game used to command a lot of student interest but was dropped in recent years.

How about getting the ball rolling, Father Kemme? This game along with the Ship's Company game would go to make up a good doubleheader. Invite all the students, get Al Severance to referee, and make it a thrilling finish to the season.

Lee Carter, captain and spark plug of the basketball season just completed, who has since left for Midshipmen School was rewarded two weeks ago by being given honorable mention on the All-State five. Lee, who scored 149 points during the regular season, was high scorer for the Wildcats.

Another little reminder that practice for the outdoor track team will start tomorrow at 6:30 at the Field House. Father McQuade will be on hand to sign up any students who would like to try out for the team.

Fedigan At Top Of Intramural League Standings

Sailors Take Two Games in First Week of Competition; Alumni and Austin Tied for Second Place

By MATT KEARNEY, A.S.

With the Spring term of 1945 now in full swing, the books all issued, the schedules all arranged, the intramural sports program is returning to take up where it left off last semester. Once again Father Kemme and Father Girolami will be the moderators of this welcome enterprise.

For the first part of this term, the basketball league will finish its unfinished business with twelve games between the four competing teams: Fedigan, Austin, Alumni and the Marines.

Four of the twelve basketball games have been played and there are many interesting things manifested this Spring. For instance, Fedigan Hall has come up with a winning team, but definitely. With four varsity men including Bud O'Neill, Joe Costello, Dick Madigan, and Bill Callahan plus Joe Walters and Joe Hinkamp, the west campusers swept their first two games with many thrilling minutes.

Downing their old rivals Austin Hall on Monday night by a 39-30 score, Joe Walters took high scoring honors with 17 points. Joe Dwyer was high for the losers with 9. Then on Tuesday night, paced by Bud O'Niell who ripped the cords for 19 ducats, the Fediganites took the Marines in a 43-39 hair-raiser. With a 39-39 tie in the last two minutes, Joe Costello dropped a set shot and Fedigan went on to win. Gene Maloney, of the Marines, was second high with 12 points.

On Monday night also Alumni took measure of the Marines, 33-23. For the civilians Al Dumsa and Tom Ward had nine points apiece. "Tex" Autry was high scorer of the game with 11 points.

In the fourth game of the week, Austin Hall kept in the running by thumping Alumni 54-41. Ken Sonner continued his scoring ways as he racked up a total of 20 points. Tom Ward was second in that game with 13, which he dropped in a vain attempt against an overwhelming tide.

The Standings:

Fedigan	2	0
Alumni	1	1

Varsity Baseball Team Opens 14 Game Card April 4

Valley Forge Here In Opener; Army And Navy Highlight Schedule; Lehigh, Lafayette, Swarthmore, Penn, Bucknell And Penn State Complete Card

The 1945 Wildcat baseball team will begin a fourteen-game schedule on April 4th with Valley Forge General Hospital. This is only part of the full card which Father McKee has in store for the pastimers as six more games are to be added later in the season.

The schedule marks resumption of relations with West Point, Lehigh, Lafayette, Bucknell, and Penn State. Continuing from last summer, the Wildcats will again meet Annapolis, Penn, Valley Forge, and Swarthmore. Negotiations for several other games will give the Cats every opportunity to show their power on the baseball diamond.

Better Than Average

Army and Navy can be expected to field better than average team and Valley Forge can be counted on to sponsor a team which is hard to beat in any league. The 'Cats are intent upon reaching a decision on opening day against Valley Forge, the team that played two ties in twilight games last summer.

They are also going full guns for Army and Navy after losing to both clubs last season on poor fielding. April will come to a close with games against Lehigh and Lafayette, with little of their potential power known as yet.

From last summer, the Wildcats will again take on the Quakers

Bucky's Boys and Pill Rollers Tie For Bowling Lead

By BILL THOMPSON, A.S.

The second week of the new Service Bowling League got under way last Saturday with the start of the five-man team organization. Saturday's contests resulted in almost a complete turnabout in the standings.

Bucky's Boys, led by Femiano's 201 and Fimbel's 195, took the second game from the Holy Rollers by a large enough margin to split the points and also garner the total pins. The other three matches of the day turned in 4-0 decisions for the winning teams.

Improve Their Standings

The Pill Rollers, by taking four from the Lost Cause, improved their standing three places to tie for the lead. The now third place 300 Club rolled the highest team single and three score so far this season to win for the Paoli Yokels. The Marine team, captained by Gus Greway, had the situation well in hand by overwhelming the Alley Cats the entire three games thereby moving from the cellar to occupy fourth place.

Al Sondheimer rolled 158, 180, and 201 for the day to step into first honors in the averages with 170. In the same department close behind are Chuck Carlson with 167, and Fred Koch with 166, who also holds the high single with 213. The high three is held by Greway from the opening week with 545.

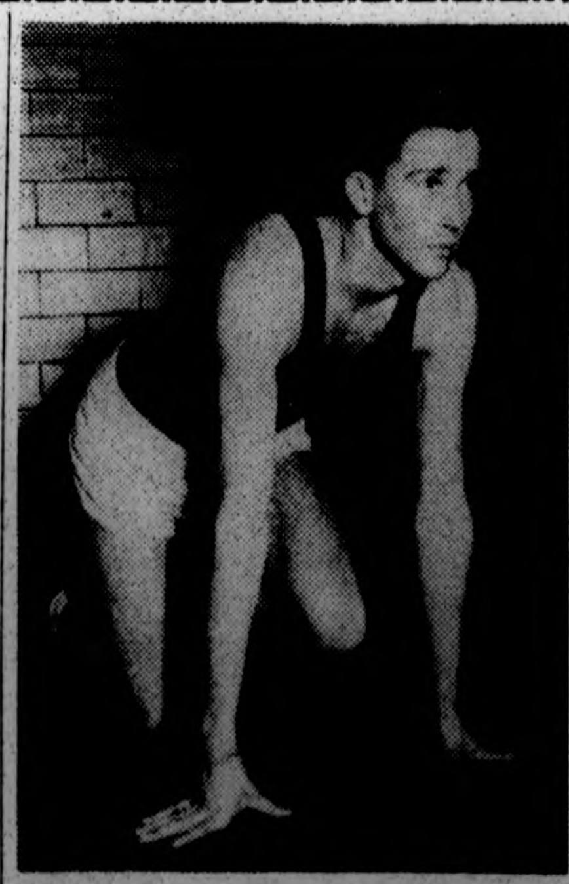
In The Sportlight

By JIM DAY



Some people are said to be born with silver spoons in their mouths, but the man who appears in this week's Sportlight is different from the rest, in that he was born with a pair of track shoes on his feet. He is Tom Short, and this is a misnomer for when the gun is fired at the start of a race, Tom's long legs fly over the cinders.

Tom is a native of Philadelphia, having been born in the Quaker City in February of 1926. He attended Phila. grammar school, and finally when he reached junior high, his talents were recognized and he ran for the high school track team. When he matriculated to Upper Darby High School, the track team was his first dream.

He went out for the team in his freshman year and ran on the Junior Varsity team until his third year when he made the varsity. Besides running for the track team, Tom added a new feather to his cap by running cross country. In his senior year at Upper Darby, he gave up the track team in order to devote more time to his studies, a truly great sacrifice.

Short took the Navy V-12 test that year. He passes the test and was sent to Villanova in July, 1944. His chosen field of study was chemical engineering. When calls were sent out for candidates for the track team, Tom was one of the first to report.

His talents were soon recognized and he was given a berth on the mile relay team, along with Captain Don Schmitt, Chuck Harrington, and Burt Cox. The quartet, of which Short is a member, has placed in every meet to date.

Meet the Boys

By THOMAS P. WELCH, A/S

YOU haven't lived 'til you have been to Wantagh and its great boast, Jones Beach! So says the student who has involved himself in almost every Engineering Organization on the campus, William J. Koness, A.S.

We are a little doubtful as to whether Jones Beach made Wantagh or vice versa, as all we saw of the Great Wantagh, L. I., was its Toonerville Railroad station, Bill's house, a half keg of "coca cola," a dozen Long Island beauties, and the collection-basket at the Mission church in the next town.

WILLIAM KONESS, A.S.

Getting off Bill's ear, though, his home town is really beautiful, and it can be proud of the work their son has done here at Villanova. His brother Bob Koness preceded him and left a great record which Bill has certainly equalled. Bob is now a captain in the Marine Corps and stationed in the South Pacific.

Bill attended Freeport High School near his home town, where he was a letterman in Wrestling. Intramural basketball, girls and Jones Beach took up most of his time here until he came to Villanova in the Fall of 1942. And for the last three years, girls have continued to take up most of his time.

But, unfortunately, Bill doesn't have much time for the fair sex as he enrolled in the Mechanical Engineering School, which is far from a breeze course. As a Freshman, he joined the Navy V-1 Program with many of his classmates and was later transferred to the V-12 in July, 194.

Bill became a "veteran" of Alumni Hall in his Freshman year here. Any old-timer will remember how the Intramural teams from this hall swept the entire league, defeating even the highly touted Seniors in every sport on the campus. Bill helped out on many of these teams and even more-so on unofficial teams that took-on the rest of the school in snow-ball fights, water fights, door bashing, or any other tame sport that Fathers Burke and Dunne didn't know about—at the time. Their motto was, "If the door is locked, break it down. Why knock?"

He joined the Phi Kappa Pi in his Freshman year and has been an active member since; having been Co-chairman of the Decorations Committee with his roommate and buddie, Mike Flynn, for the Winter Hop, the Frat's latest dance success. It was Bill's imaginative genius that created the snow man in the center of the floor that gained such wide praise.

The same pair are members of the Executive Committee of the Senior Class, and Bill Farrell, Chairman of the Senior Ball, recognizing their ability, has named this able pair Co-chairman of the Program Committee. In the more serious vein, Bill now holds the post of Secretary-Treasurer of the Villanova Branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Among his other claims to fame are: Membership in the Sanctuary Society; Sports writer for the 1945 Belle Air; Columnist for the Villanovan for a year as author of "Camp and Campus"—and never missed a deadline in 24 issues; Intramural swimming and football; Phi Kap Bowling league; and the former "Terror of Wantagh" with his little Chevie—vintage, 1934.

SINCE Wantagh isn't big enough to hold all the elite, Michael N. Flynn, A.S. claims the rest must come from Gloucester, New Jersey. We've never seen this borough, however, so we must take Mike at his word. There's no shortage of words either; he talks as much of his home town as Dave Ward does of great West Catholic High School.

Mike came to Villanova in the fall of 1942 and became a citizen of Alumni Hall with a houseful of fellow Frosh. He, like Bill, helped their Intramural teams to victory, especially in baseball, softball, and basketball. He was a charter member of the "Door-bashers" and, as a for-instance, he was famous as "Keeper of the Horn" that nightly kept things lively after lights-out. The moderators never did find it.

He brought all this spirit from Gloucester Catholic High School where he was a leader in school and athletics. He was elected President of his class every year, and was elected President of the Student Government in his Senior year, which is comparable to President of the School. He played varsity, basketball and baseball for two years and was named Captain of the basketball team in his last year there.

Despite all these activities, Norm graduated with the second highest average in his class; an accomplishment of which he is rightfully proud. During his senior year at Gloucester Catholic he was elected Mayor of the Catholic Boys club in his home town which boasts a membership of over 150.

MICHAEL FLYNN, A.S.

As a Freshman at Villanova, Mike was quick to see the advantages of Phi Kappa Pi, the Engineers' Fraternity, and joined its ranks. Last semester he was elected Vice-President of the Frat for this year, and has done much to keep this group the most active organization on the campus. Besides the previously mentioned work he and Bill have done on dance committees both for the Frat and for the Senior Class, Mike is now Chairman of the Membership Committee for the Phi Kap.

He gained much of his valuable experience for dance committee work from his high school days, when Mike was Chairman of the Senior Ball given by the Junior Class each year for their graduating schoolmates. He has been appointed to several committee chairmanships for dances here at Villanova and has carried out his work with typical proficiency.

In his chosen field of Electrical Engineering, Norm hasn't let down at all either scholastically or socially, despite his many other activities on the campus. He is Vice-President of the Student Branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and has been an Honor student every semester.

Like his roommate, Bill Koness, he was transferred from the V-1 to the V-12 in his Sophomore year and as a Sailor continued to play Intramurals, only this time for Mendel Hall. Heavy class work kept Mike from going out for the Varsity Basketball team last year, as men of his ability and experience were in demand.

In the literary light, Mike took up where Bill left off on the Villanovan, and wrote "Camp to Campus" for a semester. He is likewise a member of the Sports Staff of the 1945 Belle Air. Speaking of light, we can't leave without mentioning the light of his love life, a certain Rosemary, and she is well worth mentioning.

and the Garnet from Swarthmore. Foremost in their minds will be revenge for an unmentionable 17-5 defeat on a scorching July day when everything went wrong. Against the Quakers there has always been a keen spirit and promise of good baseball.

Last spring the Main Liners broke even on a home and home series with the Bucknell Bisons because of the superb pitching of one Irishman named Kelly. It is recalled that Kelly was the only man to hold the claw of the Wildcat in check. The Penn State team will run into the locals for the first time in two years as their game last season was cancelled.

Don Schmitt

Schmitt clocked 4.51 to lead the pack. John Cockcroft also helped the team total by taking fourth place in the same event. Following Schmitt's taking the mile, the relay team of Burt Cox, Tom Short, Chuck Harrington, and Captain Schmitt came in second in that event just behind Penn's team and in front of Temple.

This marked the end of the indoor season which started on January 27 with the Inquirer Invitation Meet in which the same relay team took second place. The squad will commence with their outdoor season no April 26 and 27 with the Penn Relays.

NEW OFFICERS

Phil Jakeway, Bill Regil, Roman Paska, and Frank Doorley, all graduates of the School of Engineering, in the last section of the class of '44, received their commissions as ensigns in the United States Naval Reserve last Monday, March 12.

Pvt. Don Barrett Gets Bronze Star For Heroic Act

Marine Private Cited For Heroism on Austin Hall Field Last Saturday; Was Present at Three Major Pacific Engagements

Pvt. Don Barret, USMC, was the recipient of the Bronze Star award last Saturday morning on the drill field at Austin Hall. Barrett received the Bronze Star for heroism under enemy fire, when he rescued two of the wounded membrs of his company under direct fire from enemy machine gunners on Pelelieu Island.

Pvt. Barrett enlisted in the Marine Corps on January 2, 1942, and wears the Order of the Purple Heart, the Presidential Citation, and a Pacific Theater of Operations Campaign Ribbon, with three stars, denoting participation in three major battles and invasions.

Goes Over

Don hails from Catonville, Md., a suburb of Baltimore. As is usual with all "good Marines" Barrett started his training at Parris Island and was then transferred to the Naval Ammunition Depot at Hingham, Mass., where he was promoted to Private First Class. From Hingham, Barrett was transferred to Camp Elliot in San Diego, Calif., from which base he started on his travels to the Pacific.

In November of 1942 his company landed on Guadalcanal, but he and his buddies saw no "main action" on this island. On December 31, Don was stricken with malaria and yellow jaundice and had to be removed from the 'Canal for hospitalization in a New Zealand Hospital. After his recovery, he rejoined his old outfit and went in with the first wave of invasion troops whose objective was Cape Gloucester, on Christmas day, 1943. He participated in the 27 days of fighting in the "bloodiest battle of the Southwest Pacific."

Vacation and Action

After their "sojourn" at Cape Gloucester, he and his company were sent on a well deserved vacation to the Russell Islands where they regrouped and rested before they were ordered into operation again. Then came the battle of Pelelieu where Don distinguished himself in action. One month later, Don was wounded in action and received the Purple Heart. He returnd to the United States on rotation and received a 30 day furlough. He was then transferred to Parris Island as drill instructor.

While serving as a drill instructor at P. I., Don was selected for the Marine College Training Program. He was sent to Camp Lejeune, N .C. in January, 1945 as a College Training Applicant. After successfully passing the screening course at Camp Lejeune he was assigned to the Marine Detachment which he joined on March 1 of this year.

Pvt. Barrett had the distinction of having the entire battalion pass in review as he was reviewing officer of the day.

Plans For Senior Prom Now Under Lively Discussion

Orchestra Will Probably Be Signed in Two Weeks; Distinctive Decorations Promised

Arrangements for the Senior Prom are proceeding on schedule. Though Band Chairmen, Robert Cramer, A.S., and Hugh O'Reilly, A.S., have not yet secured the services of a suitable band, they are in constant contact with the various agencies throughout the city, and will probably sign the orchestra within the next two weeks.

Meanwhile, the other chairmen have arranged their own committees during the past week. Assisting George Hoberg, A.S., in the distribution of tickets are Les Powers, A.S., Villanovan, columnist, and Fredrick Koch, A.S., of Fedigan Hall, and Clark Reynolds, for the Marines. Kenneth Sonner, A.S., and John McClancy, in Austin Hall will lend a hand also. Taking care of the civilians on matters of admission are John Coyne and Frank Costa, for the day-hops, and Joseph Hoffman, for the residents.

Plans for the decorations of the field house are now well underway and Joseph Gerngross, A.S., and Joseph Keating, A.S., co-chairmen have their aides picked. Assisting them are Charles Harrinton, A.S., Raymond Adams, A.S., James Shoemaker, Thomas Welch, A.S., who served as Decorations Chairman for last Fall's Student Council Dance Edward Lasicka and Paul Miller will also lend a hand.

William Koness, A.S., and Michael Flynn, A.S., co-Chairmen of the Program Committee announced yesterday at a meeting of the senior class that they were now in a position to accept all names of those who wish to be put on the patron list.

Former Villanovans Now Commissioned

Robert Rouault, ex-'44, recently received his Naval commission and wings at the Naval Air Training Bases, Pensacola, Florida. Having completed intermediate training, he will be sent to duty either at an instructor's school for further training or at an operational base.

Ensign, Rouault, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rouault, 915 Prince St., Teaneck, N. J., was a student here at Villanova for two and a half years before joining the Navy.

Gallagher an Ensign

Paul Aloysius Gallagher was recently commissioned an Ensign in the Naval Reserve and received his wings as a pilot at the Naval Air Training Base, Pensacola, Florida. Having completed his intermediate training at the "Annapolis of the Air," he will be ordered to duty either at an instructors' school for further training or at an operational base.

William Kelley Killed in Action; "Chuck" Drizen Leads Penetration on Iwo Jima

Private First Class William D. Kelley, ex '45, of Hazleton, Pa., was killed in action while advancing on Cologne, March 4th.

In his Junior year at Villanova, Private Kelley enlisted in the U.S. Army Reserve. After basic training at Camp Wheeler, Va., he was sent to the Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg, Va., where he studied under the ASTP before going overseas in September 1944. He was a member of the Army's famous 84th Division, "The Railsplitters," and served in England, France, Belgium, Holland, and Germany.

Twice Private Kelley was mentioned in front line dispatches, once as a member of a unit of two squads which repulsed a German attack during a raging blizzard, and again as a member of a squad which repulsed an attack by 200 Germans. A war correspondent describing the fighting, wrote that a large factor in deciding the battles was "the superior morale of the Americans," and cited "the performance of Private Kelley and his mates is an example of the courage of American troops."

LT. "CHUCK" DRIZEN

Private Kelley had been awarded the Expert Infantryman's Badge, the Good Conduct Medal, and other citations for proficiency.

"Chuck" Worries Japs

Lieutenant Herman (Chuck) Drizen, ex '44, led his squad of 13 men, cut off from their unit on Iwo Jima, a quarter of a mile inside Japanese lines, in the destruction of three tanks, killing a dozen Japanese soldiers and suffering only one casualty.

Drizen, of 1953 Frankford Ave., in his first attack, was leader of the group which made the deepest penetration of the defense zone east of Iwo's sulphur pits.

Drizen's men dodged from hill to hole, hiding behind blasted tree stumps and rock piles, and had to face not only Japanese fire but also bombing, strafing and rockets from American planes, which could not know that the small group 300 yards ahead of the front lines was a Marine patrol.

Played Basketball

"Chuck" Drizin was known at Villanova College as one of the finest basketball players ever to dribble on the court. "Chuck" played ball with Bob Kelly, Bill Woods, "Major" McDonald, and Joe Lord, on the famous '42-43 basketball squad.

Lieutenant George A. Harris, class of '43, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harris of 361 Prospect Avenue in Bridgeport, Pa., recently arrived in United States Strategic Air Force Station in England. He has received a brief orientation course at this station designed to help him adjust himself in a combat zone.

Lieutenant Harris will soon transfer to his permanent station from which America's fighting planes cover our advances into Germany.

ASME

The student-members of the Villanova branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will attend the annual section meeting this evening. The gathering, to be held in the Engineers Club, is sponsored by the Philadelphia district of the ASME.

The discussion, which will be preceded by a dinner, will feature two speakers from the Pan-American Airways. The topic is the post-war developments in international air transportation, with special reference to Latin America.

A second meeting, to be held tomorrow (Wednesday) night at 6:30 P. M. in Room 215 Mendel, will feature motion pictures dealing with "Heat and Its Control." New members are invited to this meeting where application blanks will be available.

Phi Kappa Pi

Initiations for the new members of the Phi Kappa Pi, campus engineering fraternity, will be held on April 6, it was announced recently by Michael N. Flynn, A.S., Chairman of the Membership Committee. After this formal initiation there will be a smoker for all members in the Mendel Dining Hall.

Flynn also announced that all pledgees, who have not filled out their application blanks as yet, should do so at once and turn in

Four Augustinians Freed From Camp

Four American Augustinian priests, graduates of Villanova College, were among those liberated from the Japanese when the American forces recently entered Santo Tomas University, which had been used by the Japs as an internment camp in Manila, P. I.

The four liberated priests are: the Reverend Alfred J. Monte, O. S. A., the Reverend Henry C. Carr, O. S. A.; the Reverend John V. Casey, O.S.A.; and the Reverend Leo J. McCarthy, O.S.A. At the time of the Pearl Harbor attack they were teaching at the Augustinian College, Iloilo, Cebu Island.

Philadelphians

Father Monte and Father Carr are Philadelphians, the former having left here in the late summer of 1941 and arriving in the Philippines a few weeks before December 7, 1941. Father Carr was assigned to the Philippines in 1939.

Father McCarthy, Boston, Mass., and Father Casey, Lawrence, Mass., left here in 1940. For all four

Musical Comedy To Be Presented By Dramatic Club

By CHARLES LAFERTY

"I Want To Be an Officer," a three-act musical-comedy, about the loves, life and training of a V-12 Marine trainee, will be the first full scale dramatic presentation of the Belle Masque in four years.

The production is to be offered early in May, at a date not yet set. The script is now being prepared by Eddie Scanlon, Charles Cummings and Sgt. Jack Muir. Music, especially written for the occasion by such noted talent as Bob Whelan, Foster Blough, Charlie Cummings, and Muir, will be played by Paul Hathaway and his band. The staging and scenery of the show is in the capable hands of Stage-Manager Bob Austin, costumes as the title implies are unnecessary, and the director is Jack Muir.

Hold Second Meeting

The second meeting of the rejuvenated society was held last Friday night in the Amphitheater. President of the group is Dick Henson, U.S.M.C.R., a first semester junior and a consistent honor-roll man. Other officers include Vice-president George Scanlon, senior; Secretary-Treasurer, Foster W. Blough, Junior; and Stage Manager, Robert Austin, freshman. The remaining thirteen charter members are: G. B. Stockey, R. W. Gleiser, O. P. Anderson, W. C. Lyttle, L. J. Bradley, H. B. Groetzinger, C. B. Cummings, M. Robertson, D. Dolbora, J. D'Erasmo, C. Schneider, J. M. Gallagher, P. H. Hathaway, W. Wentling, and J. Barrett. New members are invited to attend the next meeting on Friday night April 6th in 215 Mndel.

Support Society

The Villanovan strongly urges all students to support the Belle Masque Society by attending its productions and offering any talent towards the success of the shows whether in a writing, acting or musical field. Director Muir describes his co-workers as talented and enthusiastic—these are the only requirements for a successful show.

Augustinians Hold Annual Card Party

The twelfth annual Augustinian Seminary Guild card party and dance will be held in the Villanova College Field House, Tuesday night, May 8th.

Dancing is to start at about 10:30 P.M., and arrangements have been made so members of the V-12 Unit on the campus may attend the affair.

William E. Barrett, John Fitzgibbons, Jasper Chen See are selling tickets for the card party among the student body. Price of the tickets is $1.00.

Holy Week Resolutions

THE fact that the Jews could hail Christ as their King on Palm Sunday, and then clamor for His crucifixion five days later seems incredible to us. But that is precisely what we ourselves do when we receive Him in Holy Eucharist in the morning and in an hour have entirely forgotten about Him for a week, or, unfortunately, sometimes more.

We are not expected to say Divine Office, or read the Psalms every day. We're studying to be engineers and doctors. But we must not forget the primary purpose in life and at Villanova — the salvation of our soul. No one has to be a hermit or shut himself away in a monastery to get to heaven. The illustrious chancellor of England and patron saint of laymen, St. Thomas More, was a married man and a famous lawyer.

We cannot have the happiness of heaven and not make a few sacrifices. Yet how many of us have not done anything at all for Lent? Lent is nearly over, but it is not too late to make a few resolutions for the final week.

Let one of these be the attendance at the Holy Week services. Let another be the reading of some Catholic literature at least for this week, but then continue the resolution throughout the year.

Many of us will be graduates of a Catholic college, and yet not know the answers to a few of the most fundamental things of our religion. We cannot even give reasons for the things that we do. For example, how many of us could defend our religion adequately, in a discussion, if we were called upon to do so? The answer, shameful though it may be, is probably very few. There is only one way to learn our Faith, and that is to study it, and practice it every day of the year.

Another resolution that all of us should make is to receive Communion on Easter Sunday for the boys in the service. We do not know whether or not we will be in their places sometime in the future, and then we will wish to have someone receive Communion for us. We will not be remembered if we do not remember others .

Permanent Peace

WORLD WAR III is on its way, and it is in our attempts at permanent peace that we have made this definite. One of the agreements made at the Yalta Conference was that Russia should have that part of Poland which she demanded. The Atlantic Charter has been effectively discarded by the addition of a few words allowing an Allied nation to take territory from another nation. Churchill excuses this by saying that the Charter was merely an outline.

What right has any nation to the territory of another, any more than one man has a right to the property of another? The nation is built upon the individual, and what is wrong for the individual is wrong for the nation. Russia realizes this. She shows it, because she has not claimed that she is wrong in taking Poland, but rather has tried to show that she is right.

Even aside from the fact that Russia is morally wrong in taking the territory which she demands, she is leading us into war in the same way in which Germany led us to war six years ago. She says that Polish territory has her people in it as the Germans said that Austrian territory had Germans in it. Will Russia stop? The answer is easy if we are willing to learn from experience.

By DICK RANDOLPH and LARRY LYONS

It is about this time every semester that the situation becomes all fouled up, and this semester is no exception. Everything goes along merrily for the first two weeks and then . . . tests. The first physics tests were given last week and like many previous students the new boys learned that physics isn't going to be as easy as they thought. Physics isn't the only subject that has tests for the other Profs are also interested in the "progress" of their pupils. These things called tests are a menace to the happiness of the average Villanova student. Of course there are a few who take tests in stride, but then they never have the fun of cramming two hours before the fatal moment only to be greatly disappointed. Don't be discouraged boys, even we, once flunked a physics test.

Last week we received a brilliant plan from one of the Rosemont's lovelies, suggesting that the boys of Villanova give a tea-dance for the girls of Rosemont. Perhaps this sounds like a good idea to the girls but we think that they had better leave well enough alone. We're sorry girls but we think that you will have to be contented with our coming to your dances.

Speaking of Rosemont and dances we learned that they are having their Junior Prom next month. If there are two lovely females, emphasis on the lovely, that don't have their dates as yet we wish that they would get in touch with us immediately. We're easy to get, girls, all you have to do is whistle.

This School has once again been honored by the presence of a Jerseyite. The newest character hails from the land of glass and mosquitoes. We are referring to John Smith who is awakened bright and early every morning by his favorite rooster, Smitty. However, he sleeps on his late days, on Monday and Tuesday he doesn't get up until 2 A. M. but then if he sleeps late he has to wait until the milk train goes back to Philly. Bill Lane, the Gloucester kid, has been in his glory ever since this fellow from the sands decided to come to Villanova, any one who slanderizes the name of Jersey now has to cope with two of its sons instead of one.

Not only does Jim Drobile ride the Paoli Local to and from school but he spends a little extra time on it ever since he met Helen. Well, Jim, if she is as good as you say a few extra train rides won't matter much.

The sight of the week was R. Garritano flying across the chem lab with his head buried in his hands. No explanation need be given for this incident because at that moment Al Derr was having another of his brain storms with the test tubes, which explains everything. For the information of the boys who have not yet met Al Derr, he is a short, thin fellow, who always carriees an overstuffed brief case. At one time we thought that he carried books in his black satchel but now we are convinced that undernourished Al uses it to carry his lunch.

There is a fellow on the campus with the initials J. B. as in John Burns who disagrees with the viewpoints of this column. Our advice to Mr. Burns, since he cannot change the style in which we write, we suggest that he come out from behind the eight ball.

A new shot has been developed on the Alumni court by none other than Joe (I carry more credits than anyone else) Brogan. We will now try to describe this masterpiece. Joe proceeds in the direction of the other basket, puts the ball between his two hands jumps a mere three feet in the air and throws the ball under his legs in the direction of his own basket, but, it never reaches its destination because it usually is intercepted. That's all right Joe, don't be discouraged. Randolph and Lyons will gladly show you a few tricks of the game in our spare moments.

Evidentally Hugie Fallon hasn't ben keeping "Bunsen" Mazza under close observation lately. It seems that Bunsen has developed a firm love for the movies. Once a week after a gruelling day Bunse pays a visit to a 69tn St. Theatre, always the same one. We have finally found the attraction, he claims it's the good shows but we know better.

Larry Fallon has been making regular visits to Chez Vous. The only thing we object to is that Larry always comes stag, but he never goes home by himself. The truth is he usually meets another fellow from S. T. M.

Once again we are forced to mention Chez Vous, this time due to the extra-curricula work of Tom Hanratty. For the first time in many years Hank has ventured out of no-man's-land and enjoyed himself, the reason for the good time was a little blonde. When we think of Hank dancing it reminds us of the following:

Girl: Hank would you like to sit next dance out?
Hank: I'd love to.
Girl: Thanks . . . Your feet are killing me.

Spring Fantasies

By JOE WALTERS, A.S., and LES POWERS, A.S.

JUST SCATTERED STATEMENTS:

The twang of cupid's bow could be heard at it hit its mark last Sunday afternoon (18th) on Wm. "Twinkle Toes" Callaghan and Joan "Stewy" Steward. When Callaghan went into his song and dance routine with a parasol, the flutter of a feminine heart and the exclamation "Oh Willie you're so cute" could be heard. Later Callaghan confided, "It's love, fellows, love."

Again we find that Bob (I like my women shorter that I am if possible) Wilson has a new female. It must be a case of love but we wonder why she was reading a book in his presence while riding out in the Paoli Local.

Bill Sweeney reminded us to mention that Lou D'Giacomo and Bill Pease were at Kennet Square again this week end for the purpose of seeing Lonnie and Marie.

We heard rumors that Wm. P. Cooke is scouring the Campus for a Gillette razor, as a certain friend of his is bothered by a five o'clock shadow. Anyone who can aid him please oblige.

Bashful Darwin (T. P.) Barrett is heard to have been spurning the attentions of all the girls at the party up Jenkintown way Sat. night . . . "N. C."

JUST ONE QUESTION:

Who were "Dave Marano" and Russ Welch sparring with on the steps of the Franklin Institute last weekend?

JUST SCENES:

Tom Surowicz and Duilo D'albora sitting near the Pike and gazing wistfully toward the outside world . . . reason? . . . restriction.

Doc "George, may I please have my car this week end" Stauffer merely trying to peer out from his watch cap . . . shades of John Dougherty . . . Dick Tanski making ardent love via the old routine of holding hands . . . Danny Redman attempting to teach Jim (Jip) McManus how to shoot with both hands . . . Hank Ward, Buzz Palley, Legs Callaghan and Company "hanging" Bailey . . . Jim Winner helping to straighten Pan-American relations by acting the role of Spanish interpreter between three Latins and three ladies . . . John "Houligan" Murphy falling out for fire drill in bright red pajamas . . . Stan Nabity and Geo Cleland cycling through the campus accompanied by two Bryn Mawr girls . . . Bob Lawlor and Bill Koness with their blonde and brunette respectively, from Rosemont at the Covered Wagon Sat. Night . . . George Hoberg posting his daily letter to Chestnut Hill College . . . Larry O'Dea showing the P. and W. conductor the way to Villanova . . . Roger McRea returning to his old duties . . . your reporters trying to get something on Don Peterson . . . APPLEGATE'S EPIC:

The Pie Shop is filled, the crowd is thick;
You take what you get, there is no pick.
You want a shake, you get a coke.
This is the truth and not a joke.

You sit down to eat with the other crowd,
Then the juke box music echoes loud.
The loud cry of voices will never cease,
There's no chance here of eating in peace.

Some fellows are playing the pinball machine,
It tilted again; tough, old bean.
The voices you hear are as squeaky as mice.
It's some place to eat, take my advice.

'CAT CAPERS

By FRANK RONAN and JOE HOFFMAN

After the recent spell of warm weather many Mendelites are finding that love and flowers are in bloom once more. We just wish that some of the little (and some of the not so little) morons would smarten up. As H. P. would say, "They are strictly high-school."

Deacon Malino is making some big plans for the Easter vacation. According to latest reports, his great Lenten sacrifices will be broken asunder and the wine will flow like water.

Seems mighty strange about that case of poison-ivy that Vince De Santis showed up with. We don't like to cast aspersions, but. . .

Jasper Chen See, the sage of the second floor, has presented us with a sound bit of philosophy, "If satisfied with matters, keep mouth shut."

—V—

That item in the "Rambler" about Ellen receiving the singing telegrams has aroused our interest very much. Maybe that is why H. P. keeps muttering, "Wish I had thought of that."

After two weeks of intensive Senior Religion, Tito tells us he now understands what a bigamist is. He's a fellow who makes the same mistakes twice.

This isn't official yet but the story is that our ex-J. P. is secretly buying stock in a well known candy company. That certainly is one way of cutting down expenses.

This week's gag:

Prof. Oakey: "Well, that's it, isn't it?"

Student: "Gee, you must have work it out before."

We really enjoyed the remark made by one of the physical instructors last Monday concerning their migration to Alumni. "I waxed this floor (in Mendel) and nobodys' going to make me move."

The mystery of the week is the question of how Len Di Giacomo's human triangle will be solved. Of course, we aren't related to Dr. Anthony, Len, but we would advise another of those Florida trips if he happens to be very big.

If anyone has a good method of choking a saxophone player, who insists on giving those evening solos, the entire student body would be grateful. The only sound that we can compare it to is Tony Caruso giving forth in song.

Frank O'Connor doesn't believe in seeing America first. He's going to start with Canada—during the Easter vacation, too. Well, we guess they have some nice scenery up there too.

—V—

It wouldn't be a bad idea for some of the Frosh to read the Student Regulations a little more thoroughly, especially the one about retiring at eleven o'clock. There is also a rule about cutting across the campus. When are you going to wise up, fellows, and realize you aren't in high school any more?

—V—

Hold onto your hats, here we go again. Jack McClancy and Peggy are getting along very nicely.

—V—

Bill Yeager, as well as some other Frosh, has been asking what the best way is to meet some of the Rosemont girls. To tell you the truth, Bill, we sometimes wonder the same thing. Here's a hint though. Ask H.P.

"This paper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova; scholar, athlete, and gentleman . . . Leo Goodreau."

Ever since the fall of 1928, these words have been carried in the masthead of the Villanovan. The story of Leo Goodreau has become somewhat of a legend on the campus. Somewhat the same inscription appears on a plaque at the entrance to Goodreau Stadium, east of the Field House.

Leo entered Villanova in September of 1927. This son of New England enrolled in the Arts School and soon established himself as a scholar. During his sophomore year, he proved his extreme popularity by being elected president of his class. In this year he was also admitted to the Pi Omega Phi Fraternily.

Having a deep fondness for sports, he tried out for the Wildcat eleven, and developed into a very capable quarterback. He did not allow his athletic ambitions to interfere with his studies, however, for he maintained a high average on the class honor roll.

Suddenly, with a brilliant future ahead, catastrophe overtook Leo Goodreau. On Friday afternoon, September 28, 1928, he was severely injured during football practice. The following Tuesday he died of a broken neck. On the eve of his death the attending priest asked Leo if he was afraid to die. He merely smiled and answered, "No, father, I wasn't afraid to live, so why should I be afraid to die?"

Immediately the Pi Omega Phi, the frat which Leo had just recently joined, appointed a committee to erect a memorial to him. A collection was taken among the class and the results were way over their goal. Two years later the

Candidates for Track Hold Daily Practice

The outdoor track team inaugurated their initial practice session last Wednesday night with Coach Rev. V. A. McQuade, O.S.A., greeting the new candidates. About thirty five-sailors, Marines, and civilians answered the first call. Father McQuade is counting on his mile relay team to be his most potent weapon.

The team was strengthened by the services of two Marine trainees who recently transferred from Georgia Tech. They are Billy Williams who throws the javelin, and Jack Bills who hurls the discus.

Father McCarthy Cuts Roster Down To Twenty-four

With the weather growing ever warmer, and the grass growing ever greener, the crack of the ash on the horsehide can be heard every evening from behind the stadium where the 1945 edition of the Villanova baseball team is being whipped into shape.

Father McCarthy has selected 24 men from the original 59 candidates and has had them bearing down daily in an effort to put a top-notch ball club on the field. They take to the field against a strong Valley Forge General Hospital nine, on April 4.

Raring To Go

Around the third baseline, Fr. McCarthy has his proteges ready and raring to go. Among the returning veterans are Joe Casalaro, Stan Wagner, Ed Nolan, and Tom Baxter. From among the new men the coach has been able to select a starting lineup. It goes something like this: Catcher, Eisenhart; Pitchers, Naslund and Wagner; Infield, Bill Koerner, Chuck Rafetto, Johnny Murphy, and Dave Marano; Outfield, Bill Silver, Bobby Dorsch, and Jim Lafferty.

There are also some capable reserves that might make Father McCarthy change his mind. They are: Don Boos, Bob William, who was under contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates, Harry Burdick, Bill Taylor, Jack Heilmann, Ollie Anderson, and Joe Kessler.

Four Practices Away

From here on in the team will be working harder than ever with opening game only four practices away. It is sincerely hoped that the club can count on plenty of support from all branches of the student body at the remaining practices and all the home games.

ATHLETES COMMISSIONED .

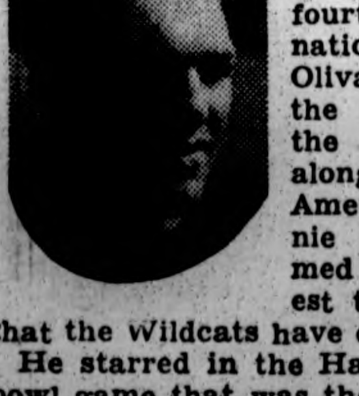
Two former athletes returned to the campus yesterday sporting their newly acquired commissions. Second Lt. Lawrence Schmitt, USMCR, ran the low hurdles for the Blue and White track team last season.

The other half of the duet was Ensign Lyman Whelan who played halfback on the varsity football team during the last two seasons.

Jordan Olivar Prepares For Third Season as Head Coach

By PVT. B. N. SUTTON

No stranger to Villanova sports fans is head Coach Jordan Olivar, but for the benefit of some of us to whom his remarkable record is not quite so well known, "Ollie," is one of Villanova's all time great athletes. He played in the tackle position on the great Wildcat eleven which ranked fourth in the nation in 1937. Olivar called the plays from the line, and along with All-American Johnnie Mellus formed the greatest tackle team that the Wildcats have ever known.



He starred in the Havana, Cuba bowl game that was the first Bowl game the Villanova had ever played in, and incidentally started the intense Auburn-Villanova rivalry.

Ollie has the reputation of being one of the smartest football players that Villanova has ever produced. Both in football, and in his scholastic standings.

Taught History

Even before graduation he began to teach History at Radnor High, and after graduation became a full time Faculty member. He found time however to act as Player-Coach of the Magnolia Athletic Club of the Eastern Pennsylvania Football League. In that year his team won almost all of its games.

In 1940, he moved to Paulsboro, New Jersey, where he became head football Coach. He realized the dream of every Coach by piloting his team to an undefeated, untied season in his first year there.

In 1942 Ollie returned to Philadelphia as Football coach at Roman Catholic High where he relieved an old teammate, Tom Caspar, who joined the armed forces.

Came To Villanova In 1943

Ollie came to Villanova in August 1943 when the Wildcats prospects were the weakest in Villanova football history. However, he put a team together that won 5 and lost 3. In "44" he split the bill winning four and losing four. This reflects much credit on a coach who despite player shortage brought up a winning team.

"Ollie" was one of the most versatile students of his class. He came here in 1943 from Curtis High school, Staten Island, three years after he received his high school diploma. Although he entered college as a member of the Commerce and Finance school, he soon transferred to Education as he decided that he wanted to be a teached. He not only received his degree but was president of his class and ranked first in his graduating class. He was president of the college's Spanish club, and so mastered the Language that he one time gave a full hour and a half lecture on the subject.

The 1938 yearbook gives this sumation of Ollie "He is the most intellectually brilliant football player ever to attend this school, and is type of versatile athlete who is to rarely found.

Varsity Nine Opens Season Against Valley Forge Vets

Medics Bring Star-Studded Lineup Here April 4th; 'Cats Play Host to Lehigh on 7th

By MATT KEARNEY, A.S.

Getting set to run through their schedule, the varsity baseball team will stage the curtain raiser of their 14 game schedule against Valley Forge General Hospital on April 4.

For the convalescent soldiers, it will be the first game, and it will be number one for the Wildcats also. The Valley Forge team looks mighty presentable so far in their first workouts.

Played Semi-Pro

Their infield for the game will probably comprise Stan Roncatti at shortstop. Roncatti played semi-pro ball in Philadelphia before the war and played with former big league stars in Panama. Joe Caputo, catcher for the soldiers, is the property of the Athletics, and is currently on furlough and is training with them at Frederick, Maryland.

Rounding out the infield will be Ralph Nieman former DePaul player, at first; Pete Caruso, St. Francis College man, at second, and Bobby Dillon at third. The starting trio on the picket patrol will probably be Sam Barber, of Hazelton, Pa., "Tony Lazzeri, a little man with a terrific arm although no relation to the other Lazzeri, and Johnny Niemera, erstwhile basketball star with the Forgians this winter.

Right Hander

John Bizila, a fast ball artist will probably take to the mound for the Valley Forge team. He is right-handed and is one of the aces of the team. Captain Baker, the coach, announces that the schedule also includes games with Penn, Ursinus, Franklin & Marshall, Philadelphia Coast Guards and numerous service teams.

Next game on the Wildcats schedule will be on April 7 when the Blue and White entertain Lehigh University at the Villanova diamond. The Engineers are still undecided on their starting lineup and were unable to give us any advanced information on their club.

Fedigan Still At Top Of Intramural League Standings

Sailors Now Have Four Straight; Austin and Alumni Tie for Second; Marines in Cellar

The Fedigan Hall's intramural team won two more games last week thereby taking a firmer grip on first place in the intramural standings. The West Side Sailors' record is seconded by a tie between Austin and Alumni. These two teams each have two games won and two games lost. The Marines are still pulling up in the rear with four losses.

The first game last week saw Austin rack up their second over the Marines 46-19. The Sailors led 15-8 at halftime and tripled this score in the second half while the Marines were only able to double their score against the tight Austin defense. As usual, Ken Sonner kept up his scoring tactics with 18 points. Sonner, incidentally is the league's leading pointmaker.

Combination Hard to Beat

The other half of Monday's twin bill found Fedigan's red hot team rampaging over the Alumni team. With Al Sondheimer and Dick Hinkamp coupled with three varsity veterans, the Red Birds have a combination that is hard to beat. Alumni couldn't beat it however, as they were downed 41-27. Bud O'Neill was high for the evening with 14 markers.

Tuesday night the same team beat Austin 40-25 for Fedigan's fourth win. In this contest Austin put on the best showing of any team against the league leaders to date. Sonner had only nine points, which is unusually low for him while Hinkamp and Joe Walters had 14 apiece for the winners.

Ward High Scorer

In the second game of the evening the Marines went down for the fourth straight defeat 30-17 at the hands of the Alumni Civilians. Although the Civvies only led by five points at intermission, their second half offensive was too much for the failing Leathernecks. Tom Ward, who just joined the Alumni team this semester led his hall with ten points.

GARBARK REJECTED

Mike Garbark, New York Yankees catcher who performed for Villanova back in 1935, was rejected for military service last week. Mike has been playing professional baseball ever since he left Villanova.

He was under contract to the Chicago White Sox while still at Villanova. After graduation he joined the Chicago American League club and remained with them several years until being traded to the New York Yankees.

Pill Rollers Lead Bowling League By Large Margin

As the Service League moved into its third week the Pill Rollers turned out to be the team to watch. By taking four points from Bucky's Boys they moved into first honors with the safe lead of three points. Led by Mike Krak's 203, 215, and 168 for the three games they rolled up a new team single and three score of 842 and 2401 respectively.

The 300 Club split 2—2 with the Alley Cats to jump one place into second honors. Saturday's other split decision put the Marines into the three way tie for third place, and placed the Lost Cause behind the tie by one point. The Holy Rollers took three points from the Paoli Yokels to also move into the tie for third, and left the latter team still in the cellar.

Mike Krak, Captain of the team of the week burned the maple with the highest three game total in two seasons. By his high socre (586) Mike walked away with first honors in the averages with 167, in the single division with 215, and the three with the total mentioned above. Following up in the averages is Al Sondheimer with 166, and Ed Fimbel with 165. In the other departments the scores remain the same as last week.

There will be no match this Saturday because of the Easter Leave.

By THOMAS P. WELCH, A/S

IT'S not uncommon for sailors to have a "girl in every port"; and Hugh O'Reilly puts that saying to shame. But since he is, as yet, a "dry land" sailor, he has changed the phrase to, "A girl in every college." In full, it's Hubert Oliver O'Reilly, A.S., just to solve the first mystery before delving through the pages of his life's log.

Ask him to spell a word or to name a Greek symbol, and you will know for certain that he went to The Prep—St. Joseph's Prep.

HUGH O'REILLY, A.S.

But more important is that his spelling ability gained him a scholarship to that school when he won their Annual Spelling Bee in 1938.

While at The Prep, Hugh put his ability to work in many ways. He was general manager of athletics during all four years; was elected President of his class for two years; was a member of the debating team (the effects of which are felt in every discussion with the lad); and he was given several roles in class plays.

He came to Villanova with the rest of the "Gang" in October, 1942, and enrolled in the school of Electrical Engineering. He wasn't seen much around the campus during his first year, though, as he held down as many jobs outside school as he had courses in school. Came the Navy, however, in July of '43 and "Horp" had to put in a few more hours on the campus.

His enthusiasm for work was still with him and Dave Ward converted him from a banker to a sports writer for the Villanovan. In his Junior year he became Sports Editor and kept up, if not improved, the fine traditions of the newspaper. We are proud to have been an associate of Hugh's on the Villanovan staff, and equally proud of the best volume yet published.

He had joined the Phi Kappa Pi in his Freshman year and last semester he spoke so much of the need for a dance that he picked up the Villanovan one Tuesday to find himself Chairman of the Winter Hop. This dance proved a huge success and he and his committeemen deserve much credit for sponsoring one of the few and successful war-time dances at Villanova.

His ability was well recognized by the class, and, as a member of the Executive Committee for the Senior Class, has recently been appointed Co-Chairman, with Bob Cramer, A.S., of the Orchestra Committee for both the Senior Ball and the Senior Dinner Dance.

The Villanovan didn't end his literary career as he took up sports-writing again for the 1945 Belle Air. The Sanctuary Society has claimed his services for the past five semesters, and he has been a member of th Student Branch of th A.I.E.E. since his Junior year. In the field of Sports he helped Mendel Hall's Intramural teams to victory in basketball, swimming, touch football, and bull throwing.

It's a point for wonderment, however, how Hugh carries out his many jobs around the campus, as otherwise he is notorious for his ability to Fight Off all unwanted work or details.

ALL is peace and quiet (it says here) between Hugh and Dave Ward until the subject of high school affiliations is raised and then the fur flies. Dave is the proud owner of a school ring from West Catholic High School, noted rivals of St. Joseph's, especially in the field of sports, and everything said against "West" must be shouted down—literally.

David V. V. Ward, A.S., is also the owner of one of the longest activities record of any student ever to enter Villanova, and one of the oddest middle names, Van Valzah. Few organization meetings occur on the campus that Dave doesn't attend either in an advisory or executive manner.

Typical of all active college students, Dave led an equally active high school life. He played varsity basketball in his senior year under well-known Coach Bob Dougherty, after three years with intramural teams. He participated in class plays and develped his ability to shoot the—Oh, no. That's too corney. He was a member of the rifle team for two years.

Dave was a classmate of Hugh in his Freshman year at Villanova although they were practically strangers then. He played Intramural basketball in that year and tried to meet as many girls as possible on his daily trips on the P and Whistle. He was transferred from V-1 to V-12 in July of '43 and had to give up his local haunts. He then centered his attentions on C.H.C. but for details, see us or his "buddies"—so called.

Dave was one of the first to break traditions on the Villanovan when he, as Sports Editor, and George Hoberg took over the reins of the school paper in their Sophomore year. This was the first time that engineers, much less Sophs, had anything to do with the publication; but they equalled if not bettered all past records. In recognition of his fine work on the paper, Dave has been appointed Sports Editor of the Belle Air.

His greatest claims to fame, however, are in the field of sports. During his Sophomore and Junior years he played on every Intramural team of Mendel Hall, except the swimming team, and by playing, we mean he was the sparkplug of the team. In this, his senior year, Dave duplicated these efforts but on a larger scale for the Varsity teams.

DAVE WARD, A.S.

He is rightfully proud of his letters in football, baseball and basketball. As a member of Al Severance's five, he showed all the fight that grew with him from high school days, and proved a constant threat to any and all opponents. Incidentally, as a special attraction, he actually sank a foul toss near the end of the season.

Dave is a member of the Executive Committee of the Senior Class and is in charge of publicity for the Senior activities in the offing. He is also a member of the student branch of the A.I.E.E. and the Sanctuary Society.

We could write page after page on these two men as we three were roommates for four and a half semesters and the proud owners of ten square feet entitled 428 Mendel Hall. Some of the more memorable incidents occurred while Frank Solis was the fourth member of the household for three terms. It was a mystery to many how we all lived in the one closet. At least we never had to worry about inspections. With all four of us standing by our bunks there was never room for an inspecting officer—especially not Chief Cherundolo.

The daily bull sessions, the frequent arguments, the crazy incidents, the soundest friendships will long be carried by us—to be renewed in years to come.

priests, it was the first assignment on leaving the seminary.

Lost Seventy Pounds

At present the condition of Father Carr is described as critical, but he is expected to recover. He has been annpinted. He reports that he has lost about seventy pounds. No details of the condition of Father Carr's companions has been made, but it is understood that it is at least satisfactory.

The Provincial, the Very Reverend Mortimer A. Sullivan, O.S.A., has heard from the four liberated priests, either directly or indirectly, and at present is extending efforts toward having them repatriated.

Today it still stands as a material remembrance of one of Villanova's entrants in its own hall of fame. As long as college men can retain a memory of a brave student, both in life and in death, Leo Goodreau will still walk the campus.

President of the Fraternity, Francis J. O'Connor, A.S., at the same time announced that plans are being made for the Annual Senior Banquet at which the Senior Keys will be distributed.

AIEE

On Friday evening, March 23, the American Association of Electrical Engineers assembled in 215 Mendel Hall to hear an address delivered by John Gammell, electrical engineer for the Philadelphia branch of the Allis Chalmers Co. The topic of Mr. Gammell's address was "Post War Prospects for Engineering."

At the conclusion of the talk, Professor Beuche, moderator of the AIEE, took the group to the electronics laboratory where a demonstration of television was given.

This will be the last issue of the Villanovan until after the Easter holidays. The entire Villanovan staff, and the moderator wish all our readers a joyous Easter, with the hope that it will bring the end of the war in Europe, and peace of mind to all concerned.

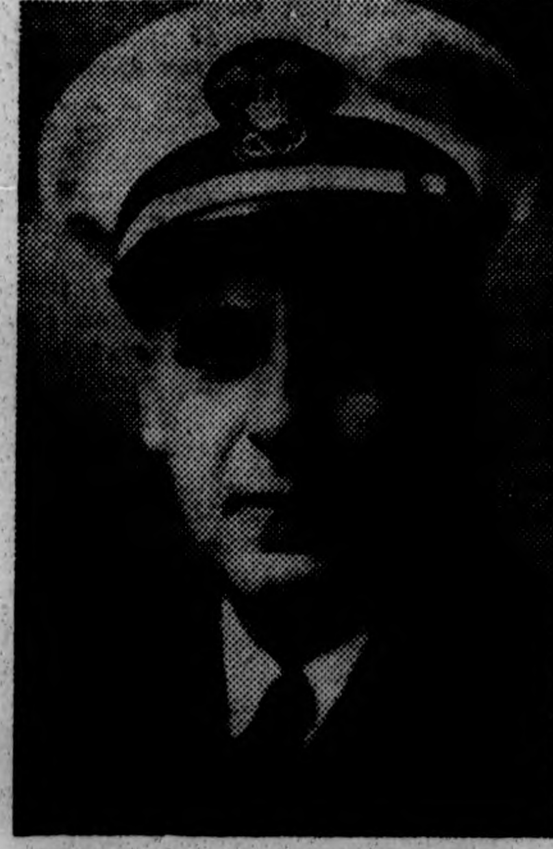
Comdr. Hannah Head Of V-12 Unit Here For 1 Year

Celebrates One Year of Service as Commanding Officer of Naval Unit at Villanova College; V-12 Program To Be Continued

Congratulations are to be extended to Commander Edward Hannah, U.S.N.R., upon the completion of his first full year of duty at Villanova College. The Commander assumed control of the V-12 unit here on March 31, 1944. His first anniversary on the campus preceded closely the announcement by the Navy Department that the Navy V-12 Program at Villanova College, and other Philadelphia-District institutions will continue through the summer months until November 1, when continuance of the program will be discussed.



COMDR. EDW. HANNAH, USNR

Officers on Inspection Tour

Villanova had an unofficial inspection from three Marine officers and one Navy officer last Tuesday, April 3.

The officers of the inspection group were: Colonel Clark W. Thompson, U.S.M.C., Major Gougelmann, U.S.M.C., Major Widdecke, U.S.M.C., and Lieutenant Thomas, U.S.N.R. The inspecting body expressed great pleasure at the educational and organizational training which the battalion was receiving at Villanova.

The officers inspected the quarters of Austin Hall, Fedigan Hall,

Navy Unit Display To Be Held Soon

On Monday, April 16, the Navy men of the Villanova V-12 Unit will open their exhibit in the College Library. They will put on display on this date many interesting things. The main part of the display will be a large service map of the world and on it will be indicated all the bases at which the fleet men of this Unit have been stationed.

Another feature of this activity will be a collection of souvenirs collected by the Navy men during their travels throughout the fighting fronts of the world. Thirdly they will present a group of U.S. Navy Dept. photographs. These pictures are action shots of your Navy at war.

Appropriately the exhibit will be entitled "For God And Country." The display has been sanctioned by Commander Hannah and Lieutenant McClintock and is being compiled under the direction of Apprentice Seamen Merle Feltenberger, Charles S. Fesmire, Frederick J. Koch and William G. Trostle. It will be located in the main part of the library and all are cordially invited.

"Chuck" Drizin, ex-'45, and Pvt. Joseph Bonafiglia Killed in Action on Iwo Jima; Sergeant Schuyler, '39, and Lieutenant Oerth Also Pay Supreme Sacrifice

Lieutenant Herman "Chuck" Drizin, USMCR ex '45 was killed in action on the island of Iwo Jima. The last issue of the Villanovan told how "Chuck" led his squad of 13 men, cut from their unit on Iwo Jima, a quarter of a mile inside Japanese lines, in the destruction of three tanks, killing a dozen Japanese soldiers, and suffering only one casualty. Since then, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Drizin, of 4943 Frankford Ave., Philadelphia, have been advised that Chuck was killed in action on March 6 in that same battle in the heroic struggle for the possession of Iwo Jima. The tragic death of Lt. Drizin comes as a great blow to many of his friends at Villanova who knew him as one of the finest basketball players ever to represent the Blue and White on the court. He was a member of the first contingent of Marine V-12 trainees stationed on the campus, leaving last July for boot training at Parris Island, later receiving his commission as a Second Lieutenant at Quantico, Virginia.

Sgt. Schuyler Killed

Sergent John D. Schuyler of the class of 1939, previously reported as "missing in action," somewhere in Belgium since January 8, is now known to have been killed on that date. He was a member of the Third Army with General Patton, attached to the 68th Tank Battalion, 6th Armored Division. Having been previously wounded when his tank was shot out from under him, Sergeant Schuyler had returned to active duty after having been awarded the Purple Heart. John entered Villanova as a Commerce and Finance student in September of 1935 graduating in 1939. His brother, Richard, of the class of 1933 is a Lieutenant in the Army with the Transportation Corps Board of Fort Monroe, Virginia.

Pvt. Bonafiglia Killed on Iwo

Private Joseph A. Bonafiglia, USMCR, ex '44 has been killed in action. The news of his death came simultaneously with the announcement of Lt. Drizin's death on Iwo Jima. Private Bonafiglia made the supreme sacrifice in the same battle. Joseph entered the Marine Corps in June, 1944, while a senior Chemical Engineering student. He was a member of the Phi Kappa Pi; A.I.Ch.E., and the Mu Alpha Theta and was active in Intramural sports. He is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Bonafiglia, who reside at 2057 Cobbs Creek Blvd., Philadelphia, Pa.

JOSEPH A. BONAFIGLIA

Lt. Oerth Killed

Lieutenant Karl R. Oerth, USMCR ex '45, a Marine Corps pilot, was killed in the Philippines on January 24, 1945, according to word received from his mother, Mrs. Marie Oerth, who resides at 1679 Dyre St., Philadelphia. Karl entered Villanova in September of 1942, as an Engineering student, and withdrew on January 31, 1943.

DPE

President William Barrett has announced the plans for the reorganization of the Delta Pi Epsilon, the Commerce and Finance fraternity of Villanova College. This fraternity has been very active in the past, and the president hopes to re-activate it and make it once more the organization it was in the past. The publication of the fraternity's bulletin will be held off for a little while until the plans for reorganization are completed. At that time, the bulletin's publication will be placed under discussion.

AIEE

The senior engineers in the student branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers are giving a series of lectures as entertainment for the Tuesday evening meetings that are held every two weeks. Each senior is to give a half hour talk on the subject of his final theme.

DRAMATIC SOCIETY

The show "I Want To Be an Officer" will be the first presentation of the revived Belle Masque Society. The curtain will be raised at 8:15 P. M. June 8, under the capable direction of Sergeant John Muir. Sergeant Muir has expressed disappointment in the fact that as up to now no civilian students have volunteed to join the ranks of the Thespians. Sergeant Muir believes that some of the best acting talent in the school is hidden among the ranks of the civilian students.

SANCTUARY SOCIETY

All students who wish to learn how to serve at the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass may report for instruction to Reverend John A. Klekotka, O.S.A., for the new class which will meet Monday, April 16 in the sacristy, after the regular evening chapel services.

A.S.M.E.

A group of A.S.M.E. students will go to Philadelphia on Wednesday, April 11, in order to attend a lecture on helicopter design. The lecture on the functioning of this new type of aircraft will be held at the University of Pennsylvania. It is sponsored by the Junior Organization of the A.S.M.E. group.

Members Needed

Members are now needed to work on the circulation staff of the Villanovan. All those who are interested in this type of work may report to Joseph McLaughlin in the Villanovan Office any time during the week.

Phi Kappa Pi Initiates New Members Into Ranks

President O'Connor and Members of Society Officiate At Jovial "Indoctrination" Training

The initiations for entrance into the Phi Kappa Pi fraternity were held last Friday night. These annual rear-action maneuvers started in earnest about 8:00 P. M. and lasted far into the night. Many gallons of water and many volts of electricity flowed, and many paddles swung at sensitive targets but all was in fun and the evening was really enjoyed by all. The smoker immediately following the initiations capped a very successful affair and proceedings were enacted in typical Villanova tradition.

Concludes With Smoker

The smoker, in the cafeteria, featured good food served by the old members and good talks by several faculty members. First the society president, Frank O'Connor, gave a short introduction, complimenting the new members for their fortitude and expressing pleasure at the expanded size of the fraterity—50 old and 40 new members.

The second speaker was Father McKee, vice-president of the college. He boasted the group to be one of the most active on the campus, and one constantly striving for the retention of the features and traditions of the great pre-war Villanova. He praised it for its success during the difficult days of the war and for the extent of cooperativeness which Phi Kappa Pi has given the administration of the college.

Following this an address was delivered by the moderator of the Phi Kappa Pi fraternity, Father O'Leary. Father said that his policy has been to allow the organization to solve its own problems with as little advice from him as possible. He scorned the war-time materialism in American colleges today, claiming that now was the time to dream of the plans of tomorrow rather than dream tomorrow of what might have been today. Father said that any change is very gradual and what training was received now was permanent in nature. This training, he intimated, was the purpose of the Phi Kappa Pi. Other guests at the initiations were Father Klekotka, Father Burke, and Professors Blanchard and Auth.

Tickets On Sale For Augustinian Guild Card Party

Prizes amounting to $1,000.00 will be awarded at the twelfth annual Augustinian Seminary Card Party and Dance, on Tuesday night, May 8, at the Villanova College Field House.

Tickets for this affair are priced at $1.00, and will make all holders, upon return of the stubs to the Seminary Guild, eligible for the various awards ranging from $50.00 to $500.00. Prizes at the party are being awarded this year through ticket sales instead of by the chance book method of former years because of the paper shortage.

All Urged to Attend

Because the cost of supporting the four Augustinian houses of studies has greately increased, the Reverend John J. Coffey, O.S.A., Director of the Augustinian Seminary Guild, has urged all to lend their support to the success of the card party.

Dance music will be supplied by recording machine. Arrangements have been made through the Navy office so that V-12 trainees on the campus may attend the affair.

NEW OFFICERS

Ensign Robert Malone, USNR, ex '45, recently visited the campus after receiving his commission at Northwestern Midshipman School. Ensign Malone was on his way to Boston, Mass. where he has been ordered to study at the Navy's Supply School at Harvard University.

Ensign Bishop Butler, USNR, is now stationed on the West Coast after finishing at the above mentioned school.

Ensign Joseph Ringlestein, USNR, also of the class of '45, who was graduated from Notre Dame's Midshipman School three months ago is now out of the country on a KA boat.

Addresses Banquet

The Reverend Thomas A. Burke, O.S.A., is scheduled to address a meeting of the Alumni Association of Cathedral High School in Albany, New York. Father Burke will speak on the subject of peace-time conscription at the annual banquet. Father is an alumnus of Cathedral High School.

Support the Peace

THE future of the world is once more at stake. Half of the battle is now almost finished. Tomorrow we will see the termination of the second bloody conflict in almost two decades. Every nation on this earth must once more pull itself out of the filthy quagmire of war and rehabilitate itself in order to claim respect from the other nations of the world. This process of rehabilitation will be a hard and long one, for the war has ruined completely every nation upon which the foot of foreign troops have been set. A completely new beginning must be made, and a new generation must assume the leadership of each nation.

The purpose of the present San Francisco Conference to be held soon is to insure the peace of the world by erecting a Security Council which will function with aims toward that end. The nations of the world today realize that some organization must be erected to safeguard humanity from the ravages of war. Our parents have witnessed two world wide conflicts which occurred in their time, and it is up to our generation to see that we and our children do not witness another war in our time.

The only hope of mankind today is to support the coming conference and to follow all the moves made there by international politicians, and to try hard to look impartially at every issue before any conclusion is reached. This conference must succeed in all its aims, otherwise there can be no more hope left for mankind. We can make it succeed if we discuss among ourselves the issues at stake and support wholeheartedly the organization emerging from these political discussions.

Throughout the course of history man has advanced in the arts and sciences; he has learned to master the water and the sky; he has advanced in knowledge in all things save one — man has failed to achieve a true understanding of human nature, he has failed in his understanding of his fellow man. The main reason for this failure is that the human race still possesses and unconsciously fosters hatred and bigotry. Not many men have really tried to get close to their neighbors and try to understand the differences which separate their thoughts.

The leaders of the nations realize this fact and that is the reason that they are gathering together today to try and erect a permanent organization for the perpetuation of the peace. They realize that the nations of the world need to understand each other much better and that frequent negotiations on various international topics will help each nation to fathom the reasoning of the others. This is the true foundation of future peace. A deeper understanding of our nextdoor neighbors.

The world today is much smaller than it ever was. We all realize this fact, and realize too, that the wars of the future will be the most brutal and destructive things ever conceived by the human mind. Perhaps, in this smallness we can realize the need for understanding and cooperation. In this smallness we may realize some day the complete peace and contentment that mankind is always seeking. Now is the greatest chance we will ever have to do ourselves and future generations a great favor. Let us resolve now to take an active part in discussion and support of the coming world organization. Let us not make the mistake the last generation of Americans did, let us help ourselves to peace.

By DICK RANDOLPH and LARRY LYONS

The paddles were sung, the initiators shouted, the victims screamed in pain, the paddles splintered and broke, and once again the vanquished were shoved on to be walloped over and over again. This was the preliminary workout for the new members of the PKP.

All during that night the following words rang throughout Mendel Hall: Where's the padding? Get in there; Line up; Look out for that wall!; Sit down!; Stand up!; Who told you to sit down?; On your knees!; Bend down!; Assume your positions!; It didn't hurt that much!; You poor frosh! (as he spoke to a senior); Sing!; Stop singing!; Dance!; Jitterbug!; March!; Halt!; Call Cadence!; Not on the right foot!; Watch those steps!; Meet the Prexy, the V.P. (and here the electricity was introduced); Chin yourself, ten times (electricity); You look tired, sit down!; . . .more electricity); Walk to your right (five buckets of water hit you in the face); Who was president in 1932?; What?! You don't know that?; Assume the position!; You broke my paddle!; Go to the infirmary!; and so on throughout the night until we couldn't stand anymore of it.

For the information of the poor boys who don't know what the preceding paragraph is all about, this was just part of the fate of the poor Engineers who were joining the Phi Kappa Pi.

We will attempt to describe just what that was plastered all over everyone. The most irritating mixture was the combination of grease, shredded wheat, stale rolls, egg shells, and corn flakes. Of course sawdust, the coarsest type of mixture available was put in the hair, down the back, and "elsewhere," and the paddles just added the final TOUCH.

WATER CARNIVAL

Joe Miller was the genius who made the lifting, or rather submerging chair, which cooled off the victims considerably. Joe had the assistance of "Little Al" Dumsa.

Jim Fogarty was the boy with the grease mixture, and was also responsible for the bath tub which was a far cry from the usual Saturday night procedure.

DELICACY

The most refreshing drink of the night was given by Jack Glancy and Jerry Mellon, the liquid being nice, fresh, raw unbeaten eggs. If you didn't guess what it was you got another cup full, if you did you got two more.

After the ceremony the center of attraction was Newt Ward's room, where a total of ten fellows huddled into his room to clean up or at least try to and to discuss the gala occasion. Newt requests that the men who used his room kindly come around and clean up the mess that they left.

Bill Boyle returned for a short visit last week. Bill is now working hard in Detroit, both in industry and in social affairs. No, we don't mean he is a waiter but we feel that if Bill isn't in the "400" by now he is in the "High 300" crowd.

Question of the week: "Who belongs to that milk bottle?"

Answer: Censored.

A few of the clowns around here don't seem to realize when they're well off. After some of the things Rosemont has taken from us they still invite us to their coming dance. We should certainly consider ourselves lucky. Let's grow up fellows. We call ourselves men but sometimes we certainly don't justify it.

Seven trips to the P. O. in one day is about six too many, Ralph. After all, the picture can't be that good. Who does she think she is, Hedy herself?

Misery certainly loves company. DeSantis and Baccino have added their "sweet saxophones" to the general bedlam of the third floor. All that is needed now is for Joe Sweeney and Dick Eldam to break forth in song.

To clear up any and all queries about the meaning of "H. P." we hereby serve notice that it means "Horse Power." We should be Al's friends for life.

Congratulations to "Casanova" Reinhardt for finally giving the local girls a break after two long years.

Which reminds us, both Miller and Reinhardt provided each other with no little competition at Easter. After all, "Casanova," Paul did see her first you know.

Chestnut Hill's Junior Prom will be held on Saturday, April 21. Newt Ward and "Babe" Reilly are anxiously looking forward to it as are some others. Here's hoping we have a good representation there and also that there will be no misunderstandings.

The Phi Kap initation certainly proved one thing. "Red Dog" Koerner has no love for water. We used to think that he was allergic only to soap but now we are wondering. And by the way, who ever thought Stan Wagner could be quite so fiendish. Even his eyes lit up like neon tubes when he turned on that water. It was a lot of fun and we have only one regret, that we didn't join sooner. Father O'Leary deserves the thanks of the entire Frat for his fine address at the Smoker.

Our hearts really bled for Tito the other night as we watched him sweat it out at Pete's. Steaks and Manhattans just don't go with a thin wallet, as our young disciple of Tugwell found out.

Advice to Frosh—If you want to attend the Prom, don't make your own vacation schedules. For further particulars see Father McQuade or Ronan.

Spring Fantasies

By LES POWERS, A.S.

The main highlights of the week were the Phi Kappa Pi initiations and the Party at Overbrook.

Considering the party . . . To those gentlemen and engineers among you who might have attended and "could not" the boys wish to say that the hospitality and refreshments proferred by the Palumbo household and the Immaculata girls were excellent. Everyone had a roaring time . . . Walt Huber did take Dot home and missed the last P. and W. . . . Paul Miller did learn that the approach should vary with the woman (Kay Early taught him that). . . Geo. Seibert did prove his worth as a jack of all trades and a dispenser of good service . . . Husky Nolan did take more than his share . . . BUT the chaperones were the best, girls ditto, refreshments ditto (repeated for emphasis) and the party a great success.

Concerning the Phi Kappa Pi initiation, little can be said except that Geo Bascik, Joe Dwyer and company will no doubt be served chow in the Pie Shop from now on, so that they can eat standing at the counter.

We Hear That:

Bill Reed is reported to be receiving persistent phone calls from his "one and only" . . . Rall and an unknown buddy were showing the "women of their choice" the campus Sunday . . . John D'razmo had his own version of Lauren Bacall Saturday night . . . Bill Smith, Bill Nicolay, and Don White are social climbers, as of several weeks ago . . . Frank Taft believes that two stripes make an Ensign. . . . Al Sondheimer was all pepped up and bowled a 264 game at Bryn Mawr Saturday . . . It was really cold in Torello's Sunday when "Blizzard" Marks was expounding on his Temple Med School activities to a Navy Nurse . . . track man Joe Beals got off to a fast start over the week end, but the strain on the homestretch got him and he couldn't finish . . . Jack Hartwell had some mighty important transactions to complete this weekend . . . Ed Grostas has gone to Rosemont to live . . . Joe "Bald Eagle" Kessler has been voted by his fellow senior ME's as the man in their class most likely to recede. When informed of his selection by "Big Oke" O'Connor, Joe stated that he would rather be bald than red headed. It seems as though "Baldy" had his wish. Buck up Joe . . . at least you're not from Brooklyn.

V-12er's Masterpiece:

The following excerpts are taken from a long delayed letter, written by a V-12 ace to "Gina". It is good for a laugh and also for a note of commendation. The author has apparently missed his vocation—he shouldn't go to Anapolis but instead should become a writer . . .

And so from the lips of William, son of William, did issue forth a new resolution, smacking of the tang of sincerety, and many were the strange and wondrous claims which he did make of the volume of correspondence to be issued from his hand.

Call it winter drag, name it maladjustment, blame it all on Wilbur, but the harpoon of snow and sleet pierced his frame and allowed his blood to freeze into cubes of ruby Type B.

So it was that January passed into February, and February was snowed under by March, and lo' March too had blown away. Still no message was worded by the carefree youth. Each night he lay down upon his bed, he promised faithfully to lighten the days of his gal far away.

At last there came the day when that procrastinating son of the clan sat himself down, filled his pen, lit his pipe, and hunted for her picture to inspire his thoughts. In his bureau, between his books, under his blotter, and on the floor, he looked with yearning for her countenance. There was Mary smiling pertly in her Wellesly 'blue-jeans', there was Pat resplendent in her bathing suit, but alas! no Gina.

Never daunted, like Sir Lochinvar of yore, he drew forth his pen and plunged in onto the parchment. The scroll expanded from stem to stern, and William, son of William, became weary with toil, cursed that senseless medium of silent words and phrases, and once more longed to gaze into the beautious eyes of one so charming, to hold the hand of one so dainty, and to caress the very heart of one so enchanting.

Thus once again did William, ditto, almost put out his pipe, let go his pen, and tear that scroll asunder. Before that pen descended, before that pipe burned out, and before that scroll joined the rest unfinished, the gremlin of love whispered in his ear. With renewed spirit the V-12er let flow the briney foam upon the log, and this is what was recorded;

Swim Mentor Gets Second Class Rating

Spec. Weigle Receives Promotion; Weigle and Sgt. Auberton Complete Instructor's Course

During the past week Athletic Specialist Peck Weigle received a promotion from third to second class. This raise in rating came as soon as the alloted time for promotions was up. Behind this promotion can be seen a bit of work, for it was also announced that Spec. Weigle and Sergeant Auberton had just completed a fifteen hour course in new life saving techniques which was given at Temple University for swimming instructors.

Take Instructors' Course

Since their arrival at this unit, both Weigle and Auberton have been in charge of swimming instruction for the trainees. To make available the latest in techniques evolved for swimmers, these two took the three hours of instruction for five weeks on their own time.

A bit of the background of these two men is added for those who are not acquainted with them. Spec. Weigle came here in November from Bainbridge where after a stiff course in water instructor school he received his third class rate.

Born in Carlisle, Pa., he attended college at West Chester State Teachers College and graduated in 1932 with a B.S. in Physical Education. While there, he played basketball and was on the swimming and tumbling teams.

Served on Guadalcanal

The other half of this pair, Sergeant Frank Auberton just came on board a few months ago. Previous to Villanova he spent twenty-nine months in the Pacific where he participated in the landings on Guadalcanal, Peleliu, New Britain, and the Russell Islands, whence he traveled to New Guinea and then to Australia before he was finally sent to the States.

During the course of these many campaigns, he picked up the Presidential Citation and the Purple Heart. Both men have been doing an excellent job as swimming instructors.

Softball League Planned by IM Co-Moderators

In the world of intramural sports, softball comes once more into its own as the local intramural league prepares to swing into operation. It has been announced that the league will start sometime next week as soon as teams have been aligned and a suitable schedule drawn up.

The procedure for this season will probably be the same as that of last year. The softball schedule will be divided up into two halves, and in a final game the winners of both will play off.

No Hit Games

In the league season of last year, Alumni Hall's Pre-Meds swept the title by vanquishing the Marines, who won the first half crown, in the playoff game by the score of 7-5.

Leading the offense for the title winning Alumni-men was their great pitcher, Charlie Waldorff. On different occasions during the season this man turned in hitless or one hit games. It was his fine hurling that continually bottled up opponents and paved the way for his teammates in their headlong rush for the title.

It has been urged that all halls secure their teams and signify their availability to play. The sooner the teams are ready, the sooner a schedule can be assembled and the league gottnn under way.

Thumbed Out

Lehigh's speedy fielding accounted for the stifling of another embryo score as Bob Hertzfeld is nailed at the initial sack while trying to beat out his wallop for a hit in the initial innings of Saturday's game.

Villanova Nine Drops First Two Games to Valley Forge, Lehigh

Hertzfeld's Two Runs Highlight Spirited Opposition as 'Cats Bow to Lehigh 7-3

Villanova's varsity baseball squad lost its second contest of the season when it dropped the Lehigh University tilt on Saturday, on the Main Liners' diamond, 7-3.

Timely hitting behind the four-hit pitching chore of Sam Wilson and four Villanova errors gave Lehigh the final advantage over the Wildcats.

Lehigh took the lead, which it never relinquished, in the first inning, but its heaviest scoring was done in the third and fourth frames when it rolled across three runs in each. Stan Wagner started by walking Buddy Lindholm and Sam Wilson. Then first baseman Mearns walloped a home run to deep center to drive across three.

Larry O'Dea relieved Wagner in the fourth. A walk by O'Dea, errors by Mack Stuart and Bill Koerner and a timely double by Walt Potasky put the final markers across for Lehigh.

Villanova's three runs were made in the sixth, seventh and ninth innings. An infield out, stolen base, pass ball, and outfield fly enabled the Wildcats to score in the sixth. Successive walks, a stolen base, and wild throw added the final run for Villanova before the final out in the ninth inning.

Stan Wagner, Larry O'Dea, and Joe Casalero shared the pitching duties for Villanova, and Lehigh managed seven hits off their combined efforts. Sam Wilson went the entire route for Lehigh. He fanned 13, but allowed five walks.

Sondheimer's 647 Sets New Mark

Al Sondheimer, the spark of the Holy Rollers, rolled three games in Saturday's match that would rank well among the Classic League scorers. By his scores of 230, 153, and 264 he took over the first honors in all the individual divisions, while Fred Koch and Mike Krak complete the monopoly by occupying the second and third places in all divisions.

Through Sondheimer's efforts the Holy Rollers took all four points from the Lost Cause to move into a two-way tie for second place in team standnigs. The Pill Rollers held their position at the top of the league by a three to one victory over the Alley Cats. The 300 Club which has been on the move since the first week of the schedule totaled another of the day's 3-1 decisions over Bucky's Boys, thereby retaining the same spot they held last week.

Instead of the original ten week schedule the league will run only for seven weeks, which will advance the closing match date to April 28. This action was carried out primarily because of the warm weather that has arrived earlier than expected this year. All teams are asked to have a full participation for the remainder of the schedule so that the league may wind up the final week with a successful season behind it.

Servicemen Take Opener 6-4

By MATT KEARNEY, A.S.

Villanova, April 5.—As a result of a parade of errors, the Wildcat varsity nine dropped a "tough one" to the Valley Forge General Hospital baseball team last Wednesday ,6-4, on the Villanova diamond.

Dick Naslund, who starred for Villanova, gave up only three hits in five innings, but walks, hit batters, and errors gave the Wildcats a hard day. The first Valley Forge tallies came when Naslund walked Joe Caputo and hit Ralph Niemann with a pitched ball.

In trying to pick Niemann off second, Naslund overthrew and the runners moved up one. Ronchetti flied out to "Red" Lafferty, with Niemann coming across with the first run. Jack Murphy cut off Lafferty's throw from the outfield and whipped it over to Marano. The peg was wide and Caputo scored also.

Dave Marano opened the season by getting a nice single to center, but he died on first as the next three men were put out.

No Double

In the Forgians' second, Conway walked. Caruso pop-flied to Marano. With one away, Young got on with a single to center field. Brizzila, the pitcher, hit a hard ball to Marano who attempted to turn it into a double-play but Chuck Raffetto failed to hold it and Young scored. The next man, Rascuito, hit a tricky ball to Murphy, who booted it, and another run scored. The soldiers scored two more in the sixth with two walks, a sacrifice and three hits.

In the fourth Villanova drew first blood as Eisenhardt was safe on an error by Ronchetti and moved around to score on two successive wild pitches. The Wildcats struck again in the fifth when Lafferty singled and Ollie Anderson, batting for Naslund, doubled deep into left center field. Anderson scored on another wild pitch by Brazzila.

Adding one more in the ninth with Heilmann, Marano and Murphy all getting hits, the Main Liners had three rallies in the making but all of these were squelched.

Wagner Strong

Wagner, who replaced Naslund in the sixth, looked impressive as he fanned three and allowed only one hit in four innings. He got himself in the hole twice but both times, due to good support and his own twirling, got out unscathed.

The Villanovans outhit the other team with ten knocks to the Valley Forge team's five. Naslund, the starter, was tagged for the loss, while Brazzila, who was relieved by Poppalardo in the fourth, is credited with the win.

Middies vs. 'Cats On Navy Diamond In Away Contest

Blue and White Nine Out To Avenge 8-7 Extra-Inning Defeat of Last Season

The Wildcat nine travels for the first time tomorrow when it will hit the well worn path to Annapolis to tangle with the Middies of the Naval Academy in a game which might be the turning point for Father McCarthy's boys. After losing their first two games, the Blue and White will attempt to get in the win column and Father McCarthy for that purpose held a very rigorous drill last evening.

The 'Cats will be out to avenge an 8-7 extra inning defeat which they suffered at the hands of the "trade school boys" last year. Highlight of that game was the four run homer by football star Dick Hoot who also had a double and a single for the day.

Navy, all powerful in its first three games, will field a well polished team that is ranked as one of the best in the history of the academy. At the hot corner, is Hal Curry, veteran of last season's campaign with, of course, the added experience. Combining to form the Keystone combination are a first and a second year man, Ed Armstrong being the newcomer, and Jay McKie, the old timer.

Adding height and batting skill to the lineup is Bob Hill, who mans the initial sack.

Roaming in the spacious gardens of the Academy field are Jake Jacobus, captain of the nine; Wirt Thayer, and one of those seldom seen hitting pitchers, Andy Frahler.

Squatting behind the platter for the Middies will be the well known place kicking specialist, chunky Vic Finos. Finos played the same position last year and gives the Annapolis pitchers that extra bit of confidence that only comes from experience.

The pitcher will be either Dale Mueller or Conway Taylor. Both of these elbow benders are right handers but Mueller uses a fast ball, whereas Taylor has an assortment of slow bewildering stuff.

Spring Training Begins For 'Cats

A scrimmage between Villanova squads was held last Saturday afternoon, in order to determine the value of new material out for this year's squad. Jordan Olivar, coach, presided with watchful eyes over the men engaged in the contest. Mr. Olivar has learned a great deal about the condition and ability of the squad of the coming year from his vigil.

Judging from the fine results "Ollie" may make it a weekly affair in order to test the endurance and the quality of his men. According to Mr. Olivar, the civilians who are out for the squad showed a definite advantage over the Marine and Naval Trainees.

Those who are out for the team this year show great promise and the team which will enter the gridiron in the Fall, although mostly an inexperienced squad, will be a tough and fighting one. There is plenty of practice and conditioning ahead and the future alone will determine the ability of the various players and the positions for which they are best suited.

By THOMAS P. WELCH, A/S

If there is ever an argument to be settled or a question on any topic to be answered, Mister Milley will invariable be the one to see, as his title "G. K." rightfully stands for his "General Knowledge." John Millet, A.S., has attained his vast store of facts because of his keen interest in everything with which he is associated and his marvelous memory.

A native of Philadelphia, John graduated from one of this city's finest high schools, West Philadelphia Catholic High. He took a commercial course there, and in the extracurricular field, worked on the staff of the school monthly, the "Burr".

After graduating, "The General" worked for two years at General Electric Co. and at the same time attended the evening school at the University of Pennsylvania. This accounts for much of his practical knowledge which most college students ordinarily miss.

Although his high school and evening school days were spent on Commercial and Business courses, John suddenly switched to Mechanical Engineering when he enrolled at Villanova in October of 1942. This registration day was to prove fruitful for Villanova as John has been one of the most active students and has amassed an enviable record in every field of college life.

Most prominent in his career and most illustrative of his recognized ability was his recent election to Secretary of the Senior Class. Already his energies have been felt in the promotion of the Senior Social Activities.

His high school interests in publications budded into exceptional leadership on the staff of every publication on the campus. He was Managing Editor of the Villanovan in his sophomore year and became Photography Editor in the following year. He currently holds the post of Business Manager of the Belle Air.

On his home ground of Engineering and this school's publication, he started to work right from freshman year. For his new cover design for the "Villanova Engineer" John was made Photography Editor. He moved up to Associate Editor the following year, and in his junior year became Co-Editor with Joe Hoffman. He carried on alone in his senior year until work on the publication ceased last semester.

"The General" was elected Secretary Treasurer of the student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers which he joined in his junior year; and this year he was named President. In this position he has done much to keep these student groups active by leading the way with weekly meetings and movies.

He is a member of the Phi Kappa Pi and his position on the "Engineer" gained him a seat on the Student Council. For this group he served as Co-chairman of Decorations for the Blue and White Hop . . . the most sucessful dance in the last two years.

Of course in the field of social activities, John also has much experience, as he has been Ambassador at large for Chestnut Hill College for several semesters. His name was prominent not too long ago in connection with a "Scarlet letter" and a blind date list, but this story is a little complicated. Not as complicated, however, is his recent interest in an alumna of C.H.C. and a sister of his former roommate. 'Nuff said.

and Alumni Hall, and the smaller units such as the Naval infirmary. Also of interest to the guests was the extensive Marine exhibit in the library of Austin Hall.

After the inspection tour, the visitors were served luncheon in the cafeteria and attended a dinner in the office of Father McGuire, the president. At the dinner five other guests were present, Father McKee, vice-president; Father Dwyer, Father Falvey, Commander Hannah, U.S.N.R., and Captain Morgan, U.S.M.C.R.

College Holds Services For Commander-in-Chief

Commemoration of President Roosevelt's Death Held at Field House Last Sunday Morning; Father McGuire Leads Unit in Prayer

At eleven-thirty Sunday morning, simultaneously with the rest of the Navy throughout the world, the Villanova V-12 Unit attended memorial services in the Field House to commemorate the passing of its Commander-in-chief, Franklin Roosevelt.

Conducted with simple dignity, the services were a fitting expression of the honor in which we held him in life, and of the sorrow with which we view his passing. The entire Navy unit, together with many of the residents and faculty, were in attendance.

The invocation opening the program was given by Father F.X.N. McGuire, President of the College, following which Comdr. Edward Hannah, commanding officer at the Villanova unit, read the official Navy Department announcement. Frank O'Connor, A.S., senior engineer, then gave a brief account of the late President's life, citing his life-long interest in the Navy.

Choir Sings

The hymn, "Benedictus" was rendered by the Schola Cantorum, the Augustinian seminary choir, and Father Grimes, College Chaplain, offered a prayer for the repose of the President's soul and for our new president, Mr. Truman. The services were concluded with Taps, during which all stood in silent prayer, deeply moved.

Friday afternoon and Saturday, as the news spread around the campus, many and varied reactions were observed, among which were such comments as the following: "I can't believe it., "It's a tough break for the country, "How did it happen?" etc. Many signs of genuine sorrow were in evidence and few could refrain from making some reverent comment.

Many members of the faculty prefaced their classes with a prayer for the President, or commented upon his untimely passing. Throughout the College signs of mourning are evident. The flag flies at half mast and special prayers were said at all the Sunday Masses. Classes were held as usual, however, and the members of the V-12 Unit went on liberty on Saturday and returned for the memorial services on Sunday.

Sgt. Norbert Longo, ex-'43, Killed on Iwo Jima; Lts. Zamlinsky and Kasky Wounded in Same Battle

Sgt. Norbert R. Longo, ex '43, was killed on Iwo Jima on March 10th, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Val D. Longo, of 902 W. Marshall St., Norristown. He entered Villanova as a Commerce and Finance student in September, 1939, and withdrew in January, 1940, later attending the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. Sgt. Longo's death on Iwo Jima makes him the third Villanovan known to have made the supreme sacrifice in that historic struggle. It has also been revealed that First Lt. "Ziggy" Zamlinsky and Lt. Edward Kasky were wounded on Iwo Jima.

Promoted to Pfc.

Donald J. Duffy, East Liverpool, Ohio, has been promoted to Private First Class in the United States Army Air Corps, according to an announcement received from his commanding officer. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Duffy, 806 Riverview Street, East Liverpool.

Pfc. Duffy entered the service in February 1943, and is now serving in the Hawaiian Islands with the Pacific Division of the Air Transport Command.

Lt. McClintock Leaves Campus For New Post

Commissioned in Navy in 1943; Held Position of Educational Liaison Officer at Penn State

The Navy V-12 Unit of Villanova lost the services of its executive officer Lieutenant James A. McClintock last week.

The former executive officer leaves upon completing, almost to the day, one year's duty here. He was assigned to Villanova on April 16th, 1944, and was officially docked out on April 13th, 1945. Previous to service here he held the position of Educational Liaison Officer at Pennsylvania State College. His next assignment is to another V-12 station as yet unannounced.

Taught At Drew

Before he entered the Navy, Lieutenant McClintock was a faculty member of Brother's College of Drew University from 1930 to 1943. He received his AB in Psychology in 1927 from Willamette University, Salem, Oregon; B.D. from Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, New Jersey, in 1930, an M. A. in Psychology in 1930 from New Yor University and a Ph. D. in Philosophy and Religion in 1943.

He is on leave as Professor of Psychology and Director of Personnel at Drew University. Among the groups in which the Lieutenant was active were the New Jersey Association of Psychology, of which he was President, and the American College Personnel Association, of which he was treasurer.

Commissioned In 1943

Lieutenant McClintock was commissioned in the Navy on April 21st, 1943. He had indoctrination at Columbia University and was stationed at Pennsylvania State College from June 29th, 1943 to April 15, 1944.

In commenting, Commander Hannah expressed great regret at the loss of the former executive officer, citing him as a valuable asset to the personnel at Villanova.

HAENISCH SPEAKS

Dr. Edward L. Haenisch, professor of Chemistry at Villanova delivered a lecture to the Malvern PTA Wednesday April 11. Next Wednesday, Dr. Haenisch will appear before the Science Clubs and the Senior Class of Trinity College, speaking to each respectively on the subjects of "The Kinetics of Elementary Chemistry," and "The Evolution of the Periodic Table."

Senior Ball to Spotlight Popular Young Orchestra

Robert Cramer, Chairman of Band Committee, Announces Contract; Band Recently Featured at New Yorker Hotel for 10 Weeks; Tickets On Sale This Week

Renewal of the Annual Senior Ball on May 12 in the Villanova Field House will feature the music of Boyd Raeburn and his orchestra, it was announced yesterday by Bob Cramer, A.S., and Hugh O'Reilly, A.S., Co-Chairmen of the Band Committee. Dance Chairman Bill Farrell, A.S., also announced that tickets would go on sale late this week.

Raeburn, a comparatively new name in the musical world, has risen to great heights in the recent months playing at hotels and theaters in New York City where he has impressed many with his ability to combine a smooth rhythm section with fine harmonic arrangements, a feat seldom accomplished by new orchestras.

Held Over At New Yorker

His recent billing at the Hotel New Yorker in the Great City started with a two week contract. Due to popular acclaim, Raeburn was held over for eight weeks and is still playing there. Earlier appearances at the Hotel Lincoln and the Strand Theater brought immediate recognition in such leading music magazines as Metronome and Down Beat.

Together with a full sixteen piece orchestra, Raeburn will bring to Villanova two fine vocalists, pretty Marjorie Wood and Dave Allen. The latter sang with Jack Teagarden's Orchestra before the war, was wounded overseas, and has been singing with Raeburn since his discharge.

During recent months Raeburn has been featured several times on

Library Display Shows Scope Of Extension School

The Villanova College Library has assembled a most interesting doll exhibit which went on display Sunday, April 15th, at the first meeting of the Friends of the Villanova College Library. The exhibit, which will remain open to the public until April 22nd, consists of a collection of statuettes, each dressed in the habit of a community of Religious who have attended the Summer School and Extension School of the College since the beginning of those classes twenty-seven years ago.

The project arose out of the Centennial celebration of the College two years ago, which coincided with the twenty-fifth anniversary of the summer school conducted by Villanova. Two years have been spent in collecting and dressing the dolls. The miniature figures are garbed with minute detail to illustrate and explain the symbolism of the dress of the different congregations. A great lesson in Americanism is taught by the collection. The orders of men and women represented have their roots and foundation not only in the United States, but in France, Germany, Austria, Poland, Greece, Ireland, England, Italy, Lithuania, and Canada. Originating in these countries, the congregations are now working together with a single spiritual purpose: to educate Catholic Americans.

The number of communities represented indicates the widespread effect of the work of the Augustinian teachers. The Villanova Summer School began in 1917 informally with two teachers, the late Father Dohan and Father Hickey, present Assistant General of the Augustinians, conducting Normal School courses at Villa Maria and Merion for the Immaculate Heart and the Mercy nuns. So successful was this start that in 1918 a formal course of studies was inaugurated with one hundred nuns in attendance. Essentially a movement to further Catholic teaching in the Archdiocese of Philadelphia, it has grown to include Sisters from far away California, as well as Ohio, Nova Scotia, nothern New York, Massachusetts.

An added feature in the exhibit is the inclusion of three military dolls and a nurse. Nurses in training at Philadelphia Catholic hospitals are taught philosophical courses by the Villanova faculty. The military dolls are: an S.A.T.C. student of the last war, and a V-12 sailor and V-12 marine of this war. When the Villanova Summer School just began, the S.A.T.C. had a unit on the campus, and at the present time, the College is engaged in conducting V-12 education for the U. S. Navy.

The Navy and Marine trainees in the V-12 program at Villanova also have a display consisting of souvenirs obtained by some of the students while they were in the South Pacific theater.

Belle Masque To Start Work On New Production

Ken Sonner, Mason Robertson, Carl Schneider, and Larry Bradley Chosen To Play Feature Roles

The Belle Masque Dramatic Society, developing into one of the most active organizations on the campus, held it's regular weekly meeting last Friday night. The meeting opened up with Foster Blaugh, Larry Bradley, and Gridley Stookey presenting a skit for their initiation.

This was followed by a second skit by Dick Henson and Stookey. Each member must participate in a skit to serve as his intiation. The first one was put on at the previous meeting by Howie Groetzinger, Bob Griesser, Bob Austin, and Lem Wentling.

Work Begins

Serious work on their first production, "I Want to Be an Officer" was begun. Several members tried for some of the leading parts and Ken Sonner was chosen to play the lead part of the boot. His roommate, Joe, will be played by Mason Robertson and his friend, Bill, by Carl Schneider. Larry Bradley will portray the part of the O.D. and Al Dagit the drunk.

A sneak preview found Dick Henson, Hank Scanlon, Matt Kearney, Bob Austin, and Foster Blough scheduled to imitate certain members of our faculty. It was also learned that Foster Blough and C. D. Cummings will do a specialty number which is expected to highlight the evening. The next regular meeting will be held next Friday night at the Field House. Those still wishing to join may report at that time.

Sail On, O Ship of State!

"I AM MORE SORRY for the people of the country and the world than I am for us." This was the first statement of the wife of the greatest statesman and gentleman the world has known in many centuries, when she heard the appalling news that her husband had died in the service of his country.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt gave his all for love of country. Had he been another type of man he may still have been living today in retirement from the burdens of the Presidency of the greatest nation on earth. But he, seeing the need of his country in time of peril, was determined that he could leave the Presidency only when the clouds of crisis had passed, and the rainbow of peace appeared on the horizon. Only now, after his death, when we look back on the constructive works he performed during his terms of office, do we truly appreciate all he has done for the country.

"More sorry for the world," Mrs. Roosevelt said. How true these words are, only the heads of foreign nations know. Franklin Roosevelt during his term as President made his people willing to cooperate with foreign nations not only in waging destructive warfare, but in building a constructive peace. How much the world needed such cooperation and understanding we are just beginning to realize. He was one of the very few men in the world to whom all peoples could turn and see a friend and a benefactor. Throughout all the Allied Nations, deep mourning is being observed for a man who figuratively and actually gave his life to the struggle for world peace.

The death of Mr. Roosevelt came at a time when his abilities could scarcely have been more needed by the people of his own and of all countries. But as always, the undying and invincible spirit of the American people can be relied upon to rise to the seriousness of the occasion and to hold the nation unflinching in the face of tragedy and disaster. We must accept the Divine Will which called our leader to his rest at this crucial time, and trust that this same Divine Will will watch over our nation till final victory is attained.

In this critical period, it is the duty of every American to give every possible support to our new President, Mr. Truman. The days just ahead may well decide the outcome of the war, and it will be no time for defeatism or pessimism. If we face the issue squarely and place our trust and confidence in our leaders and fighting men, we can expect a speedy and successful conclusion of the present war.

One more American has been written into the immortal pages of history, leaving an inspiring record of achievements for his successors to emulate. His name will live forever with those of Washington, Lincoln, and other great Americans as yet unborn.

Humbly and sincerely, then, we pay tribute to a President who was more than a great man, a beloved leader, and a respected executive—to one who was an epitome of all that our country stands for, has worked for, and is fighting for—FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT. May he rest in peace!

We start the column this week in a very humble manner after having been informed by a well known member of the faculty that far from receiving any orchids, this column is in line for a large bunch of scallions. Of course we realize we are not on a par with the Rensselaer News, but, like good whiskey, the Junior Prefect's jokes, and the critic's cigars, we hope to improve with age.

One of the sweetest sights of the week was that of "Red Top" O'Connor strolling through Bryn Mawr with a death grip on the arm of a fair damsel. It looks as if "Red Top" is in training to join the local gendarmerie.

Another thought to sadden the hearts of some of our local Cassanovas is that the January class at the Bryn Mawr Hospital has now started floor duty and therefore the girls are too tired for those "just by chance" meetings in the evening.

Some of the Frosh are getting very anxious to attend Rosemont's Junior Prom. Today is your last chance to get dates, fellows. Apply "Windy" Barrett.

We have been wondering what is in those packages "Windy" Barrett has been mailing so frequently. For awhile we thought it might be his bed, piece by biece. But, since he became President of the Villanova Garden Club, it could be farming implements or watermelon seeds.

This is only a suggestion but we think it only fitting that "Fitz" should take Betty out to dinner. After all, "Fitz", think of all those meals you have chiseled. And to really do a good job, why not ask Danny along too. We are sure Reilly would be willing to split the bill if you are.

We must admit that Father McCarthy made us eat our words for saying that Willie Koerner was our only first baseman. Seems as if now we have none. Incidentally, the baseball team's gain was the softball team's loss.

Our argument to the 11 P. M. curfew:

Early to bed
And early to rise
And Merlino's girl goes out
With some other guys.

If Jack McClancy would only put as much money toward the price of a horse as he does for polish for those boots we feel certain that he could own the horse by now.

Incidentally fellows, it isn't too early to start making plans for our own Ball May 12. We can't say too much on the subject at present, but we can tell you that it will be a smooth affair. All indications show that it will go over with a bang. So you had better ask her now.

Why Boys Leave College

Four boys came to college
To learn good men to be
One was thought to stay out nights
And then there were but three.

Three boys in search of knowledge
With plenty of work to do,
One was fond of "rolling bones"
And now there were but two.

Two boys with a single thought
To stay till the year was done.
One of them flunked Physics
And now there was but one.

One boy sad and lonely
Of bosom friends bereft
He soothed his grief with a can of beer.
And of four not one is left.
St. Anselm Tower

Joe Costello is getting in good shape for the coming softball season. After another six weeks, Joe hopes to be able to get the ball in the general direction of the plate at least.

We hope we haven't slighted anyone by not mentioning any of the social affairs at Immaculata but we just haven't had any news from that direction. If you girls have any dances, weddings, or obituaries you want made public, a card to this column will do the trick.

BEHIND THE 8

By DICK RANDOLPH and LARRY LYONS

Oh, that grand and glorious feeling of sitting down! This time last week we thought that we would never be able to look at another chair, for that Phi Kappa Pi initiation really raised havoc with that part of the body on which we sit. However, all has healed and we are once again our rosy selves.

If anyone happens to go into the Field House these days they will see quite an interesting sight, for they will see Messers Cuppucci and Cucrcilo diligently working out on the punching bags. We don't have any idea why the boys have taken such a sudden interest in boxing, perhaps they don't have any interest in the fight game at all but are merely trying to lose a little weight, at any rate they looked pretty good and we think that they will be future contenders for the heavyweight title. All right let's play another game now.

Frank Costa must also be in the market for losing weight for the other day he was tossing the medicine ball around with Walcory. Frank looked like an airplane for every time he caught the heavy leather covered sphere he would fly through the air and make a perfect three point landing on the "oh-so-hard" canvas. Frank, however, was not discouraged for his ambition is to be big and strong like Walcory.

Although we are a little late we would like to wish Hugh Fallon all the luck in the world on his new undertaking. Hugh left our ranks to join the seminary, and at this present time he is studying at Saint Charles' on City Line and Lancaster Pike. We all are going to miss Hugh but we think that Dick Dalrymple will miss him the most for now he will have to do all his Chemistry by himself. Times are hard all over, Dick.

Perhaps the easiest way to go through college is to be a Civil Engineer. We base our opinion on what we saw last week. It was one of those balmy spring days when all the world seems to stand still, one of these days on which spring fever envelopes our minds and bodies and Jim Plunket was no exception. We saw him lying flat on his back gazing vacantly into the sky. This position would have been all right if it were done on Jim's spare time, but is was done surveying class. That's no way to get the dimensions of Mendel field, Jim.

That exhausts our supply of news for this week but we will be back next week to keep you up to date on the affairs of the "studes." See you then.

Meet the Boys

UNDOUBTEDLY Charles H. Harrington, A.S., is one of the fastest men on the campus. Besides a brilliant track career, he has sped to success in many branches of college activities both at Villanova and at neighboring institutions, where he is noted for his fast starts and flashy finishes.

He hails from the greatest plumbing operation in the world—Flushing, Long Island. Chuck attended De La Salle High School in New York City and took all the honors on the track team, and was elected Vice-President of the senior class.

He carried off five letters in track — three years on the track

Something We Can Do

By Fr. GAVIGAN

On April 25 there will assembled at San Francisco a group of diplomats representing most of the mighty nations of the earth. At that time they will discuss problems concerning the future well-being of the world that most probably will have tremendous effects for many a day to come. Naturally, only a few chosen individuals can represent their respective states, for obvious reasons. The rank and file of the different countries will be represented only indirectly, through their leadrs. Through these leaders, the important decisions must be made.

But does this mean that therefore the conference should be looked upon with passive indifference or callous inattention by the millions of Americans who will have to live out the results of such a conference? Or, more specifically for us, does it mean that the large number of college students in this country, our men of Villanova included, should have merely an academic interest in such momentous proceedings? Certainly not! There is something we can do. It may seem but a drop in the bucket, but enough drops can exert a great influence, for good or for bad. That is why we should give a moment's thought to the question.

For the large number of Villanova men in our country's service who are currently engaged in active duty, their duty is clear — to do their level best to help prosecute our just war by every legitimate means in their power. The magnificent record which our Villanova men in active duty have turned in argues that little need be said on this subject, except a word of praise and encouragement to continue as well as they have begun.

But for those of us who are still engaged in our academic work, here at school, a few practical suggestions can be offered.

1. While the conference approaches, and during is sessions, we can all ask unceasingly of Almighty God that His Spirit of Wisdom will confer upon the delegates the knowledge and love of His justice that alone can insure what we all so eagerly hope for: a just and durable peace.

2. We must do our present work as well as we possibly can. nI whatever field of endeavor we find ourselves, we can and must bend to it with a sincere effort to accomplish every one of our worthy purposes. Remember, war conditions don't last forever, and present forces of stability will mean much in transitional times.

3. We can try to make ourselves intelligently acquainted with the main problems that face these times of ours, so that when our time comes to enter actively into civil and political life, we may bring the aid that comes from an educated outlook, rather than a groping and useless lack of acquaintance with our duties to help restore our beloved country to normalcy.

4. Last, but far from least, we can strive daily to better ourselves by making every effort to come closer to God in our personal lives, no matter what our religious persuasion. Public morality takes its tone from large numbers of instances of individual morality. If enough of us make this sincere effort, it is bound to have a good effect on our surroundings.

This list could be enlarged, but enough has been said already to suggest one general point: this world belongs not only to potentates but to each of us also. Each of us has therefore the duty to help make it a better world.

Spring Fantasies

By LES POWERS, A.S.

Congratulations:

To us, Frank O'Connor's eulogy at the Memorial services was equal to the best we've ever heard, and indeed a fitting tribute to our late, beloved Commander-in-Chief, Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

WE DO NOT KNOW:

. . . where we saw Dick Barry and his "gal that's known as Lou", but it seems that it was in the Ardmore theater on Sunday afternoon . . . whether Byron Borup took one or two girls home last Sat. night. It would have been a difficult decision to make — one an attractive blonde, and the other a dashing brunette . . . where John White was coming from or going to, but SHE was certainly the sparkle in his eye. In all probability he was going to do a little original research for the "Principles of Guidance" class. (Dr. McHugh please note.) . . . whether Chuck Raymond ever completed "the important lab reports", but he forgot them entirely this weekend. The temptations were also too great for us, Chuck; but with SACKrifics permitting, ours will be finished on Wednesday. (Fr. Kropp please note.) . . . what time George Aulbach comes in Sunday mornings, but he seems to know the exact time the last P. and W leaves from 69th Street.

WE DO KNOW:

. . . that Harrington and Hartwell were engineering in the vicinity of Rosemont this past weekend. Building bridges we couldn't burn, eh, boys? . . . that Bob Wilson certainly talked Hank Strauss into a carton of cigarettes, and that the commission was only one pack. The remainder was probably in the Pittsburgh mail by that P. M. . . . that Al Curtis had better stamp the address of his blonde "top secret"—or else . . . that Freddie Gargano's phone call was the cause of a lot of trouble to someone lately. Perhaps we'd better add that we "haven't forgotten" that others were also responsible . . . that John Brandt's letters to Bunny, alias "kitten", alias "light of my life", are causing a just disturbance on the first deck Fedigan . . . that "two is company but three is a lovely crowd"—at least that's the way Bill Reed says it. We saw him the other

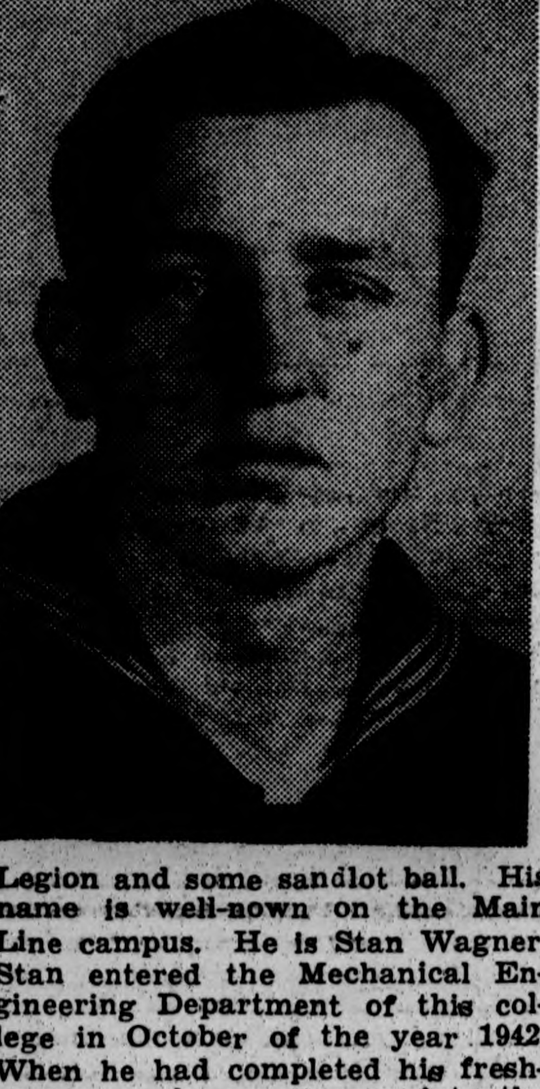
VILLANOVAN SPORTS

In The Sportlight

The Villanovan in this week's sportlight was born on June 11, 1924, in Philadelphia. He attended Saint Joseph's Prep School in that same well-known city. While attending school at the above institution, he unofficially started on his fairly extensive sports career. He went out for the football team and made the squad. A year of hard work passed and the following year this man had worked enough to merit plenty of playing time, before his high school days ended.

While in high school, he played baseball with the American Legion and some sandlot ball. His name is well-nown on the Main Line campus. He is Stan Wagner. Stan entered the Mechanical Engineering Department of this college in October of the year 1942. When he had completed his freshman year, he was sworn into the United States Navy and assigned to Villanova for further college training, under the newly formed Naval V-12 program.



During the next year and a half, Wagner was very active in most of the college affairs. He became a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and also joined the Phi Kappa Pi engineering fraternity.

Likewise during his stay here he took a big part in the intramural sports program, playing football, baseball and basketball for Mendel Hall.

During the Summer term of 1944, Stan's varsity sports days began. He was on the varsity baseball team at this time in the capacity of a pitcher. Although he did not see too much action, the experience he received helped him greatly this year.

This past fall, Stan was a tackle on the varsity football team and although new in College football, saw quite a bit of service. His huge frame made him ideal in this slot on the line.

Currently, Stan is playing ball with the 1945 edition of the Wildcats' baseball nine. He went in in relief of Naslund in the opener and pitched fine ball for the rest of the game, allowing no runs for the last five innings.

Wagner will graduate in June and Villanova will lose another topnotch sportsman. But the football and baseball fans will remember him for his color and his ability.

ATHLETE COMMISSIONED

James Rooney, ex '45, son of Mr. Joseph T. Rooney, of Philadelphia, Pa., was recently commissioned an Ensign in the Naval Reserve and designated a Naval Aviator at the Naval Training Base, Pensacola, Florida.

Having completed his intermediate training at the "Annapolis of the Air," he will be ordered to duty either at an instructor's school for further training or at an operational base.

Prior to entering the Naval service, Ensign Rooney attended Villanova for two years, being a member of the varsity track team. He was an Education student and left school in 1943.

Ex-Villanova Star To Run In Penn Relay Carnival

George Guida To Compete on Two Sampson Teams at Track Meet

George Guida, former Villanova College track star, now at Sampson Naval Training Station, will run on two relay teams in the 51st annual University of Pennsylvania Relay Carnival on April 27 and 28 on Franklin Field.

John D. Semple, CPO of the training station in charge of athletics, has entered teams in the one mile military championship relay and a team in the championship two mile event that is open to both college and military establishments.

Guida is one of the greatest athletes ever to represent Villanova. He holds the world's record for the 250-yard sprint of 24.6, the Middle Atlantic States district record of 30.3 for 300 yards, and the junior national 200 meter record of 20.9 seconds. His 300 yard mark is only a tenth of a seconds slower than the American record held by the late Charles Paddock.

Who will run with Guida in the two events will not be decided until trials are held at Sampson. However, John McGinn, who competed for Roman Catholic High School and St. Joseph's College before entering service is expected to be a member of the team.

Sampson had an exceptionally good indoor season in the mile relay events. In the New York A. C. meet the sailors won handily in less than 3.30. In another meet it finished a close second to the Columbia Midshipman's School rated one of the best in the country.

Injuries Weaken Football Squad's Daily Sessions

The varsity football squad is whipping into shape after it's fourth week of spring practice. Many of the boys, however, are still sidelined with injuries received in the scrimmage the week before last in which the Greens defeated the Whites 6-0.

Lou Gardell, who held down the left end position for the Whites got his knee banged up during the early minutes of the scrimmage and as a result missed several days practice. Dutch Fauber, another ailing White, is still nursing his split nose which he received in the scrimmage. Ollie Anderson, who paired off with Cardell at the terminals, has recovered from his bad shoulder received in recovering a fumble.

Jim Roland, sturdy tackle, who got his shoulder banged up several weeks ago is raring to go again while Vince Trakesmas is still letting his mend awhile. The backfield received another candidate last week when Bob Wilson reported for his first practice.

Ollie gave the boys a rest last Monday after the tough scrimmage with signal drill, followed by dummy scrimmage on Tuesday. With some of the boys improving, he expects to get some more intensive workouts next week. He expressed the fact that those who are out for spring practice will have a decided advantage over those who report for the first time next fall in that they will have grasped most of the fundamentals.

COLUMN after column has been written in eulogy of President Roosevelt. But in the vast heaping of praises to the memory of the late Commander-in-Chief one factor of his greatness seems to have been sadly neglected.

In retrospect, we cannot emphasize too much Mr. Roosevelt's interesting fortitude . . . "guts," if you will. For here was a man, who, laid low by poliomyelitis, could have given up with "the world owes me a living" air, and retired to his home in Hyde Park merely to live out his days.

But Franklin Delano Roosevelt wasn't that type of man. From the very beginning he determined that he would not allow his affliction to thwart his ambitions and desires. All during his bed-ridden and convalescent days Mr. Roosevelt studied from the books of Harvard University's library. One of his chief pursuits was international law, a subject which was to stand him in good stead in later years. He was constantly preparing himself for the task which was before him.

Of course, the story of a man's fight to defeat a crippling disease, such as infantile paralysis, with its years of torture and mental anguish cannot possibly be summed up in a few short and incomplete paragraphs. It takes a bit of imagination and a few moments of contemplation to realize what a gigantic task the late President had taken upon himself. It is only then, when we grasp the cause of his greatness that we will be able to appreciate it.

Taps have sounded for the Commander-in-Chief, and the nation mourns. But there is little reason for us to go into any sort of dissertation concerning his death. The story has been told by the radio and the press until we now know the details of his passing almost from memory.

It is more for us to concentrate on that part of Mr. Roosevelt's life which is not so much in the spotlight. It should be brought more to the fore as a source of inspiration and hope for not only our own personal lives but also for the ideals which mean so much to the entire world and for which the President died.

The sports world has held Mr. Roosevelt up to the country as one of its foremost fans. Sports writers have gone into long details concerning the President's fishing trips and attendance at baseball games. They have delved into his active participation in athletics. "He was an ardent sports enthusiast", they write. Let them now paint in glowing colors the picture of President Roosevelt as the hero he will always be . . . a hero lighting the way to victory and fulfillment through "guts", the essential quality of all great athletes.

Middies' 14-0 Score Gives Villanova Third Straight Loss; Mueller Pitches No-Hitter

Villanova's varsity baseball team was the victim, last Wednesday, of the no-run, no-hit pitching of Midshipman Dale Mueller, of the U. S. Naval Academy.

Three Wildcat hurlers gave up only seven hits, but eight Villanova errors allowed the Midshipmen to score 14 runs.

Mueller had complete control of the game throughout, striking out nine and walking but four. Several times previously during this season he had been on the verge of attaining the ambition of all hurlers. The Villanova contest was his second win within a week.

The Middies scored half of their runs in the first two innings when seven errors were chalked up against the Wildcats.

Naslund Yields Four Hhits

Dick Nasland started the game for Villanova and went six innings on the mound. He yielded only four hits, which included triple and double by Frahler and Thayer respectively.

Stan Wagner hurled the seventh frame and was nicked for homers by Vic Finos, football place-kicking specialist, and "Rabbit" Curry.

Joe Casselaro pitched the eighth inning and retired the side in easy fashion.

The Blue and White nine will have a chance to avenge this crushing defeat later on in the season, sometime during the summer, when it will again travel to the shores of the Severn to take on the Middies.

By that time it is expected that Bill Williams, flashy shortstop, and "Bull" Matas, pitcher, will be in the starting line-up, and the rest of the green squad will be immeasurably improved due to the added experience.

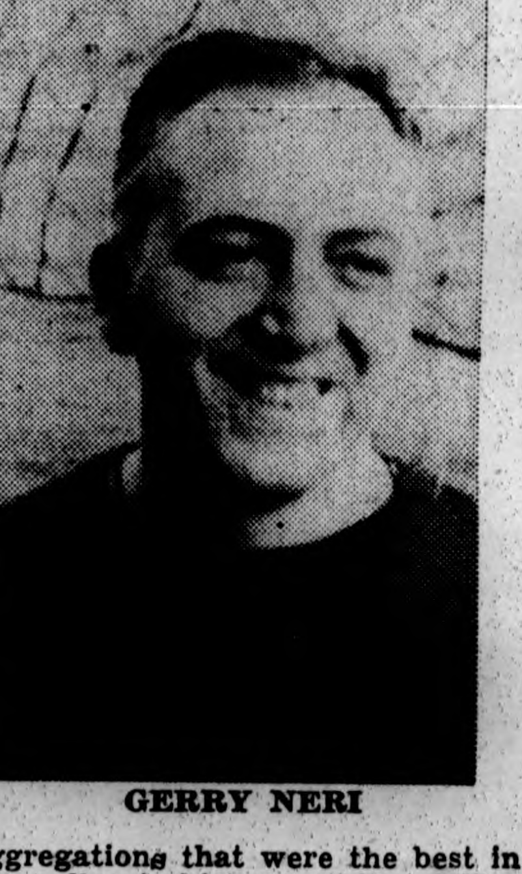
Former Wildcat Assists Olivar With Grid Team

Gerry Neri Was Halfback on 1937, '38, and '39 Villanova Football Team

Jordan Olivar, Villanova football mentor, has a temporary assistant during the spring training season. Gerry Neri, former Villanova halfback, is here to help his old teammate in "getting the boys in shape" for the coming season's contests. Not unlike Ollie, Gerry is a Villanova graduate, having received his Bachelor's degree from the institution in 1939.

Gerry teamed off with Ollie on the 1937 and 1938 Blue and White aggregations that were the best in the college's history. After Ollie's graduation, Neri played another year and completed a three year record in Villanova football history that is an enviable one, to say the least.



GERRY NERI

After leaving Villanova College, Gerry immediately took up the coaching profession. Working with Jordan Olivar seems to be a favorite hobby with Gerry. The two men worked together at Paulsboro, New Jersey High School and also at Roman Catholic High School in Philadelphia. The combination proved very successful at both schools as records reveal.

When Ollie was looking for a man to assist him temporarily in his third season as Villanova's head coach, he called on his old friend Gerry Neri and Gerry accepted the job. This is how he came back to his old Alma Mater, for a while at least. Gerry's joining Ollie temporarily makes the present coaching staff completely comprised of Villanova alumni.

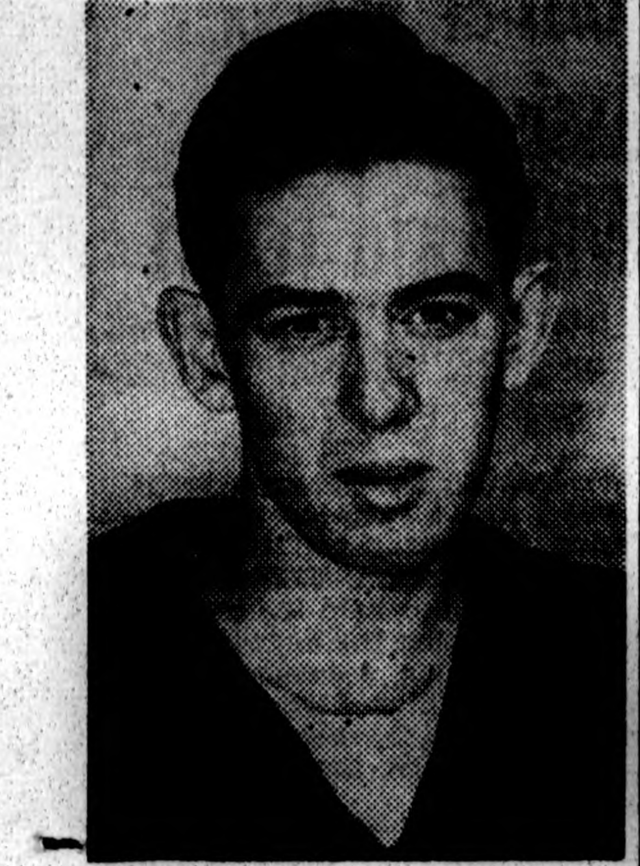
team and two years with the cross country team. In his senior year, he captained the cindermen who won the Catholic School Indoor Championship and the Private School Outdoor Championship of New York City. The cross country team won every dual meet they entered.



CHARLES HARRINGTON, A.S.

Chuck graduated in the Spring of 1942 and headed for Villanova in the following Fall, enrolling in the Civil Engineering School. In his Freshman year he joined the Phi Kappa Pi and was a member of the Frosh track team. This was the start of a brilliant career here for this lanky quarter-miler as the past seasons will demonstrate.

This winter the Villanova relay team has placed in every big indoor meet throughout the East and have never failed to bring home medals for their hard working coach, Fr. McQuade. Chuck usually runs third in the quartet of Cox, Short, Harrington and Schmitt, and these men are now priming for the Penn Relays coming soon.

Chuck was very active for the Phi Kap in his junior year when he was Student Council representative and worked on the Programs for the June Hop. The former post he now holds for the Villanova Branch of the A.S.C.E., which he joined in his junior year. He is currently on the Decorations Committee for the Senior Ball, of which his ever silent and unassuming roommate, Bill Farrell, is chairman.

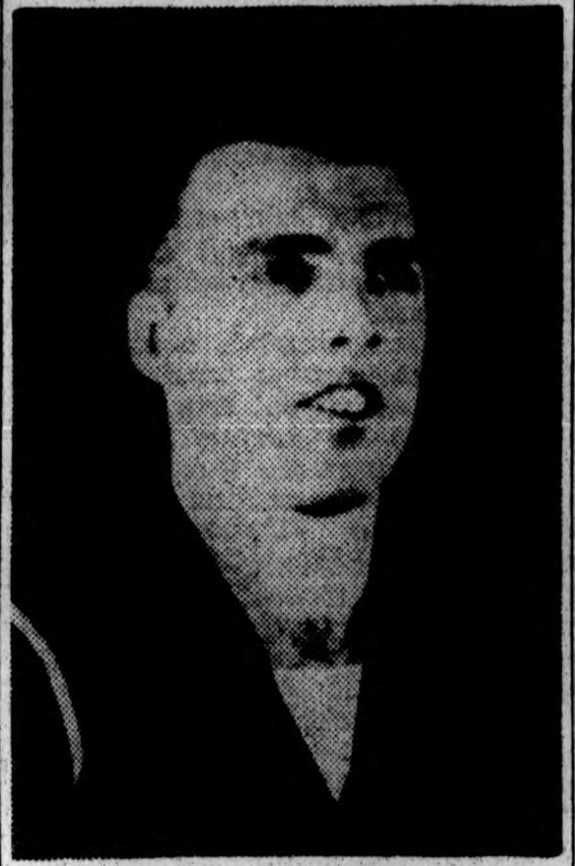
SINCE Bill never says much about himself, we had better start in, as his activities list demands recognition. We hear he's quite a stage man and will act at the drop of a pin—more likely a penny. But this fame is overshadowed by the fact that he hails from Rochester, N. Y. (unquote).

William E. Farrell, A.S., attended the Aquinas Institute of Rochester and was elected Vice-President of his class in his senior year. Here he gained his experience to manage dances (we hope) as the class officers traditionally sponsored the Senior Ball.



WILLIAM FARRELL, A.S.

Bill came to Villanova in the Fall of 1942 and enrolled in the Civil Engineering School. Shortly thereafter he joined the Phi Kappa Pi, later to become Secretary of the Frat in his junior year. During the past winter he has managed the bowling league for the Frat and captained one of the teams himself.

The "Rabbit," as he is so fondly called by his buddies — especially dear Bob Cramer, is now Chairman of the Senior Ball to be held in May and the first Villanova formal for two years. The June Hop in '44 partially owes its success to Bill's efforts on the ticket committee.

On his home ground of engineering he joined the Villanova Branch of the A.S.C.E. last year and was elected president of the group for this year. His nomination for Senior Class officer has placed him on the Executive Committee for the class.

In the field of sports, Bill has been a star in Intramural softball and baseball since his arrival on the Main Line. He played third base first for Alumni Hall, later for Mendel Hall after he was transferred to the Navy

Pfc. Duffy attended Villanova College, and Youngstown College in Youngstown Ohio prior to his entering the service of his country.

At his 5th Air Force B-24 Liberator base somewhere in Italy, M/Sgt. Denis J. McCarthy of 43 E. Main St., Freehold, N. J., recently received a surprise visit from his nephew, Sgt. George O. Gibson, 22, of 21 Murray St., Freehold. It was the first meeting of the two men in more than two years.

Sgt. McCarthy is the adminstrative non-commissioned officer in charge of the operations section of his B-24 group. A graduate of Freehold High School in 1928, he was employed as the purchasing agent for the Marlboro Tool and Manufacturing Co. at the time of his entry into the Army Air Forces on May 20, 1942, at Camp Dix, N. J. He has been overseas for more than a year and is entitled to wear the distinguished Unit Badge and the Good Conduct Medal.

Sgt. Gibson is with a veteran 12th Air Force fighter group and has been overseas for more than two years. At the time of his entry into the Army Air Forces, he was a student at Villanova College. He is entitled to wear the Distinguished Unit Badge with one cluster and the Good Conduct Medal.

Dramatic Club Starts Work On New Production

Father Falvey Takes Over During Absence of Sgt. John Muir; Roles Assigned

Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O.S.A., conducted last week's meeting in the absence of S/Sgt. John C. Muir who was celebrating his wedding anniversary. Eight members of the society put on a skit for their initiation; Ken Sonner, Carl Schneider, John D'Erasmo, Duilio D'Albora, Hank Scanlin, Al Dagit, Mason Robertson, and Tom Surrowicz Surowicz is a new member, having joined last week.

The first rehearsal of the society's initial play was held last Wednesday and all the parts were assigned. At the same time Stage and Property Manager Bob Austin is busy securing the necessary props for the production. He and his two assistants, Howie Groetzinger and Bob Griesser will be busy for the next two weeks constructing the stage effects.

Rehearsals Held

Sgt. Muir plans to hold rehearsals every Wednesday and Friday night from now until the date of the show. At present he is still busy putting the finishing touches on the script. He also announced that there is not a representative group of civilians on the club's roster and would like to see a better showing from them.

Rev. E. J. Carney, Former Villanovan, Now Navy Chaplain

Reverend Edward J. Carney, O.S.A., former Villanova graduate and recently as assistant at St. Mary's parish, Lawrence, Mass. has been commissioned in the United States Naval Reserve as a Chaplain.

Father Carney received his commission as a Lieutenant on March 7th, and received his proceed orders for active duty last week. He has left for Williamsburg, Virginia and will report to William and Mary college to begin six weeks of training in Naval customs and traditions before receiving his assignment.

He graduated from Villanova in 1923, formerly having attended Villanova Preparatory school. His home town is Everett, Mass. Father was very active athletically while studying here and returned once as student counseler and coach of ice-hockey.

Dinner Given

At the testimonial dinner just before Father left for his naval assignment Judge Hurley, in an address stated that Father Carney goes into the Navy not as an ordinary sailor or officer, nor as an Augustinian priest, but as a chaplain to look after the sons of those present and bring them back to this parish in the same moral calibre that they enjoyed when they left. He pointed out that the Catholic priest today is as adventurous as the missionary explorers. From this parish, he said, the new chaplain goes to a greater parish, a parish that is world-wide in its extent.

Attention, Seniors

A representative from Zamsky Studios will be here today between the hours of 11:00 A. M. and 4:00 P. M. to take orders for copies of the Senior portraits. All Seniors must return their proofs whether they wish to obtain pictures or not.

Lt. Frank Buckley, '42, Receives Distinguished Service Cross Posthumously; First Alumnus To Receive High Honor

The Spring Issue of the Alumnus which made its appearance last Monday reveals the fact that Lt. Frank E. Buckley, '42, was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross posthumously and thus becomes the most highly honored Villanova Alumnus of World War II. The presentation was made on March 21st, in the auditorium of the Lakewood High School, Lakewood, New Jersey, where Mrs. Buckley has been a teacher for twenty one years, Frank being her only son. Among those present at the exercise held on that date was Rev. Edwin T. Grimes, O.S.A., College Chaplain, who represented Villanova and gave the Benediction.

LT. FRANK BUCKLEY

Lt. Buckley was killed in action on May 12th, 1944, in the vicinity of Martino, Italy and is buried in the American Cemetery at Carano. The Citation is dated February 21st, 1945 and is signed by the Adjutant General, J. A. Ulio, Major General.

Citation

The citation reads as follows: "For extraordinary heroism in action, on the night of May 11th, 1944. Second Lieutenant Buckley led his platoon in an assault on a German-held bridge, heavily fortified with concrete pillboxes which were protected by a double belt of mines and supported by artillery and mortar fire. Early in the assault he lost the major portion of one squad in a minefield. Ordering his platoon to remain in position, Second Lieutenant Buckley made a personal reconnaissance of a route through the mined area. Returning ho his platoon, he led his men around the minefield and to the foot of a hill. He then led the assault through a heavy artillery and mortar concentration where he succeeded in destroying four pill-boxes and killing or forcing approximately thirty Germans to retreat. The enemy immediately commenced a counter - attack to regain his position. Surrounded and out-numbered, Second Lieutenant Buckley organized his platooon in a defensive position. Calling for artillery and mortar support, he directed the defense, personally killing many Germans before he lost his life. When it became possible to evacuate the dead, approximately fifty dead Germans were found surrounding his platoon's position. Second Lieutenant Buckley's courage, aggressive leadership and self-sacrifice so inspired his company that a subsequent assault in this sector was successful. His heroic performance is exemplary of the finest traditions of the Army of the United States."

Captain Morgan Takes Exec. Post; Sp. Zukas Leaves

Captain Morgan Takes Over Executive Officer's Post Recently Vacated by Lt. McClintock; Chief Zukas Leaves for Active Duty Overseas

Captain Robert L. Morgan, USMCR, a member of the original Ships' Company, has been appointed executive officer of the V-12 Unit here at the college, it has been announced by Comdr. Edward Hannah, commanding officer.

Capt. Morgan has been on the campus since June, 1943 as head of the Marine Detachment, and succeeds to his new post upon the transfer of Lt. James A. McClintock, USNR, former executive officer. He will retain, at least temporarily, his duties as Marine commander.

He was born on October 23, 1919 in Lawrence, Mass., and after attending school in his home city, entered Boston University in 1937, and graduated in 1941 with a bachelor's degree. He started his career in the Marine Corps by enlisting as Private First Class in October, 1941. He entered Officers' Candidate School at Quantico, Va. and after three months' rigorous training was graduated as a Second Lieutenant.

After further schooling at New River, N. C., Lt. Morgan was attached to the famous Fifth Marines and was assigned to the South Pacific War Theater in 1942. He participated in the landing on Tulagi which was taken from the Japs in three days of bitter fighting. Following two weeks service on Tulagi, he was transferred to Guadalcanal and helped defend Henderson Field.

While on Guadalcanal, he contracted malarai and was forced to leave the combat zone and returned to the West Coast to recuperate. He was promoted to First Lieutenant and spent five months in the hospital. He was then assigned to duty at the Boston Navy Yard, and in June of 1943 was made a Captain and sent to Villanova.

Captain Morgan is married and has one child, a girl. He plans to return to his home in Lawrence, Massachusetts after the war.

Chief John F. Zukas, Athletic Specialist, who came to Villanova in October, 1943, has been transferred to a new post as yet unannounced. Chief Zukas was a well-known member of the Navy staff during his stay on the campus, and we wish him good luck in his new assignment.

Chief Zukas is a graduate of Temple University in Philadelphia and coached football for several years at a high school up-state, where he also did some class-room teaching. At Villanova he was an ardent follower of the basketball team.

Final Arrangements for Senior Ball Completed

Advance Sale Of Tickets During Week Indicates Success Of Formal Dance

All Committees Activated After Selection of Boyd Raeburn; "Flowers, Showers, and Bowers" To Be Theme of Decorations

Tickets for the Senior Ball, on the night of May 12, were put on sale last Thursday evening, following the selection of Boyd Raeburn and his orchestra.

The initial sale of the dance invitations, according to George Hoberg, A.S., chairman of this department, "was very gratifying" and pointed to the success of Villanova's first formal dance in over two years.

In addition to the reactivation of the formal social life of the College, the affair promises to be more or less of an alumni reunion, since many of the former students, both civilian and Navy, are expected to be on hand for the big night.

Joseph Keating A.S., and Joseph Gerngross A.S., co-chairmen of the decorations committee have decided that couples dancing to the strains of Boyd Raeburn's orchestra will have a back-drop of "Flowers, Showers and Bowers." Other than this, they and their committee will not let another word pass from their lips concerning the decorations of the Field House which they say will be very elaborate.

For those men who anticipate transportation difficulties, the suggestion has been made that the tried and true horse-and-buggy be used. This, many a former Villanovan will recall, was the main mode of conveyance to the Centennial Ball, in December 1942.

At the time gas rationing was a new experience, and a hard one, but now, with everyone accustomed to the shortage, it is recalled that a good time was had by all who attended using this means.

Boyd Raeburn, modern maestro, although a new comer to the music world, has already made a name for himself in the field of the metronome. His new arrangements of the sweet and hot are more than distinctive and original, they are definitely pleasing to the ear. Boyd Raeburn is classed in the field of the disciples of the "ultra" in methods of harmony and tempo. Although his arrangements of popular tunes are definitely in "the mood moderne," those who have heard him, admit that his style is easy to dance to.

Boyd Raeburn has made a name for himself in the "Big City." Playing to capacity crowds in the ball rooms of the Hotel Lincoln and the Strand Theater, he got immediate recognition in the music world's tabloid, "Downbeat." Along with his sixteen piece orchestra, Raeburn will bring along with him two young vocalists, pretty Marjorie Wood and Dave Allen. Dave Allen was formerly with Jack Teagarden's orchestra before the outbreak of the war.

Raeburn has been featured several times on the Coca-Cola Parade of Spotlight bands on station WFIL. His broadcasts from the Hotel New Yorker every Monday evening at 11:30 are heard over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Tickets for the Formal may be secured in Fedigan Hall from Les Powers, A.S., and Fred Koch, A.S.; Austin Hall — Ken Sonner, A. S., Pvts. Bill Williams and Clark Reynolds; Mendel Hall—Al Dumsa and Joe Hoffman; Day Hop civilians may secure their tickets from John Coyne and Frank Costa.

Main Line Forum Will Begin New Series Shortly

Doctor Stinnes and Distinguished Group Discuss Plans for Renewal of Lectures

Plans for the renewal of lectures featured as "The Main Line Forum" during the early part of this year were discussed last April 14 at a tea held in the home of Doctor Stinnes. The meeting which was presided over by Dr. E. Stinnes was attended by over thirty students from seven colleges and fifteen surrounding high schools. Dr. Stinnes was associated with Mr. B. H. Stone, assistant to the president at Haverford College.

Important Guests Present

Among the guests present at the discussions were Dr. H. Bruening, former Chancellor of Germany in the year 1932, before the rise of the Nazi Party; Mr. F. Nelson of the Curtis Publishing Company and Mr. J. McConnell Jr., a Montgomery County representative in Washington, D. C.

Since these forums were very successful affairs during the Winter months, it was decided that the continuance of such lectures would be beneficial to the students of the various high schools and colleges in the surrounding areas. Subjects of international and domestic importance were discussed at the previous meetings, and after each talk the group was allowed to direct questions to the speaker on the issue at hand.

Get Behind the Prom

The first Villanova formal dance in two years finds ticket sales going at a satisfactory rate to all classes of students except the day-hops. The Dance Committee has worked long and hard to make this affair possible and it is only fair that every student should get behind it and help put it over.

The way some of the brethren have been moaning about the prospect of attending the Prom, one might thing that a formal dance was one of the seven plagues of Egypt. The Committee promises a good time to all, even to those who "can't see any sense in going to a dance." We have heard many comments about the curtailment of college activities made necessary by war-time conditions, but when something comes along, all interest seems to die immediately.

Any student who does not attend the coming dance has absolutely no legitimate excuse to "beef" about College activities. We are not going to give a dissertation on College Spirit — that will come later. We do not think it requires any heroic display of school spirit to come to a dance; we certainly do not think it is something people should be forced into. Accordingly, it seems that there should be either an overwhelming attendance at the dance or else an awe-inspiring silence should pervade the corners of the Pie Shop in the future.

The purpose of the dance, moreover, is not, as some cynics would have it, to put its sponsors in the upper income-tax bracket. The members of the Committee serve without any remuneration whatever; their sole reward is the satisfaction that comes of having done their fellows a good turn. They have exerted every effort to secure as good a band as possible and it is to cover this and other expenses that there is a price on the tickets. The Committee would be only too glad if they could welcome everybody without charge. They are counting on your support to keep the affair out of the red. The past records show that Villanova dances have rarely done more than cover expenses; when they did, some worthy charity was the beneficiary.

In which respect, we might note, it would not be at all a bad idea to extend an occasional word of thanks or appreciation to the members of the Committee. After all, they are your Committee; they are working for you so that you will have a good time. A little word of encouragement will go a long way toward showing them that you are behind them. The purchase of a ticket will go even further. Refreshments, decorations, and the other essentials are under the capable direction of the various members of the Committee who promise all that can be desired. Transportation is convenient and the atmosphere will be the best. What more can one want?

The time for procrastination is past. This is the time for doing. Talk up the affair among your friends; get your date; buy your ticket early; and above all, be there. The response to this affair will in large measure determine whether or not there will be more in the future. It's up to you, boys—Let's go!

Villanova was well represented last week at the performance of "Julius Caesar," presented by the "Jest and Gesture Club" of Rosemont. Unless our memory fails us, it was one of the most gory evenings since Ford's was raided. We just hope that we can get the concession next year to sharpen the swords and daggers. But we do wish to extend our congratulations to the entire cast. They were all exceptionally fine actresses.

We have a little more social news to report today. Immaculata will hold their Junior Prom on May 19 with music supplied by Jack Lewis. The Prom will be the climax of their Junior Week. And for those of you who like to do some long range planning, the Immaculata lassies are planning a tea dance to be held on June 2 at one of the in-town hotels. We are indebted to Jean O'Donnell, Glorya Faustino and Kay Earley for these facts, but we don't know why they were so shy about giving us any news.

—V—

Marion Yeager's impromptu baptism in the Rosemont pool proved one thing very definitely. She is the best sport we have ever seen. Very few could have come up smiling.

The date of the Senior Ball is less than three weeks away. This is our first formal in over two years, so let's roll out what's left of the Villanova Spirit and make it a great success. Tickets are now on sale. For a preview of the music, listen to Boyd Raeburn on Monday nights at 11:30.

We know we are speaking for all the students when we wish Doc Eldam all the luck in the world as he departs from our midst to enter Med. School at St. Louis. It has been our good fortune to get to know Doc very well and we will miss him just as much as Sweeney, Conway, Pease and all his other side-kicks.

—V—

This isn't exactly a paid advertisement but we have been asked by Pat Toohey to announce that she is now in the "bicycle-washing" business. We assure you she does a good job, so if you have any bikes, skates, or pocket-knives you want repaired send them in care of the Tea House, Rosemont.

George Hoberg, Bill Halm, Herb Lamb, John Miller, Windy Barrett and Baby Riley were some of the local representatives at the Chestnut Hill Prom last Saturday night. According to the boys, the dance was a very smooth affair.

With all these hurried trips to Bradley Beach every week-end, we are beginning to think the Deacon's new theme song will be, "Arthur Murray taught me dancing in a hurry."

In case H. P. Dumsa is missing any evening at the soft ball game he can be found with Father Burke receiving some important advice. At least Father Burke thinks that the time has come when Al should know the facts.

The bridge addicts, DiGiacamo, Fleischer, Pease and Sweeney are getting in fine shape for the coming Bridge Party. In case any one breaks a leg in the meantime from the under-the-table signals, Maislin will act as subsitute.

"Red Button" O'Connor was observed enjoying "Julius Caesar" last week. But we wonder just how much attention "Red Button" was paying to Julius. This is just like signing our death warrant but we feel it our duty to report that he left very quietly before the show was over.

Another little scoop about the forthcoming social season is that Phi Kap is planning to hold their annual banquet early in June. It will be open to non-members so it should prove especially attractive to the Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen who will not be able to attend the Senior Dinner Dance.

BEHIND THE 8

By DICK RANDOLPH and LARRY LYONS

This week we would like to dedicate this column, such that it is, to two women who in our estimation are tops. Though they are married we are still very much in love with them. We are referring of course to. . .our mothers.

Although we "don't like girls" we are going to break down and get a pair of dates for the Senior Prom which will be held in May. We think that we are making a wise decision for the dance is really going to be a gala affair. We would like to point out to the fellows that the date has been changed from the eleventh to the twelfth of May. We think that you would look mighty silly dancing all alone on the floor on Friday, however, you wouldn't have to worry about bumping into other couples.

Speaking of social affairs we were informed that the Chestnut Hill girls had a prom last Saturday night. This probably would have gone by without our knowing it, if that is possibe, had it not been for Tom Hanratty. The "Horse" wanted to go so he applied the cat-of-nine-tails to one of the C. H. gals until she consented to take him. Every man has his own technique, but we think that this is going a bit too far. We must admit though that it is effective.

Jim Plunket went home last week end so he could take the physical for the Navy. As yet, we have received no word on the results of his exam.

Bob McNamara was also one of those lucky boys that could take his physical last week. Bob was extremely happy when he learned that he passed. Now if he passes his Eddy Test he will leave for the Navy in the near future. He will probably leave on the day before the Prom. We are sure that Bob is all for that idea.

If anyone knows why Pat Lafferty waits for the 5:30 P. & W. local we wish that they could tell us. When we ask Pat he merely smiles and says that he is going to meet his mother-in-law. If he meets his mother-in-law—then we write a good column. Guess that proves that he doesn't meet Ma.

A great event has occurred on the campus, for John Coyne has finally discarded his flannel shirts. Every day since last November John's enormous shoulders have been covered by a flannel shirt, but now that the spring weather has come John has finally taken off his flannels (shirts). Congratulations John, we always knew that you would finally muster up enough courage to do such an heroic deed.

We were talking to Joe DiRenso the other day and he told us that he had a friend who was a great painter. We were surprised to learn that Joe had a friend, much less one that oiled the easel. Joe also told us that his friend was a portrait painter. He painted "men" and "women" on doors.

Jack Foster is home and he was on the campus, and although we haven't seen him yet we have it from reliable sources that he is looking swell. Jack will enter Radar School in a few weeks.

Frank Hudson writes about his new life but we can't publish all of his comments. Frank mentioned that Pvt. Bob Brennan is stationed in South Carolina.

Freedom Comes First

By Fr. COFFEY

One of the most effective ways for a newspaper or magazine to maintain or increase circulation is to print humorous cartoons. In this era where serious reading is the hobby of a few, comic drawings have a universal appeal. There are, undoubtedly, people who buy such magazines as The New Yorker merely for the sake of looking at the cartoons.

Besides the ability of the cartoonists to keep a nation chuckling during these cheerless days he often serves another purpose. Quite often in a subtle and clever way a cartoonist drives home obvious weaknesses in our moral or social system. He can do this more effectively, at times, than the scholarly man whose business it is to produce heavy tomes. The cartoonist is superficial but into his drawings and a few printed words he can pack a hard wallop.

Only recently in one of our leding magazines a cartoonist called attention to a problem that is quite widespread: the problem of the landlord or apartment owner who forbids his tenants to remain if they have children. Here is how the cartoonist handled his theme: A young husband returning home from work burst into his comfortable apartment to find his wife knitting — of all things — a baby-sized sweater. The young man, bewildered for a moment, soon recovers and breaks into a rage: "What are you trying to do," he says, "break our lease?"

Does not the cartoon described above draw our attention to a modern form of exploitation? Surely there is something wrong with our moral and social system when a landlord can dictate and get away with such terms. By forbidding married couples to live on his premises if they have children he is exploiting their selfishness. The feudal lord dictated because his subjects were penniless; the modern owner dictates not because his tenants have no money, but rather because they have wealth and love ease.

A young couple fairly secure economically, desirous of living away from their respective families, search for an apartment, comfortable and respectable. They luckily find one but they can only lease it on the condition that they move out in the event that God sends children. This is quite a temptation for the young husband and wife, products of a generation pampering itself. Placed, therefore, in the dilemma of having or not having children, they choose the latter. As the years go by they gratify their own desires, evading their responsibility of rearing a family.

Arguments, natural and supernatural, have been raised in behalf of restoring family life to former ideals. Our civilization has been compared to that of ancient Rome, which collapsed because it had no moral fibre. Thoughtful men and women have spoken and written about the happiness of married life spent in an atmosphere of laughing, gay children. But all these pleas for the nation's life, all these warnings against the weakness of our civilization, all these testimonials in behalf of happiness with children will fall on barren soil, unless young men and women check selfish tendencies.

Now is the time for you young men to prepare for that day when you and your wife-to-be meet a man who will welcome you if you promise not to have your child. When that day comes, think enough of your freedom and dignity—saved for you by your fellow-men in this bitter war—to say this to him: "Sorry, mister, but my freedom comes first." He won't understand you if you speak of God and His moral law.

Spring Fantasies

By LES POWERS, A.S.

Hats off to Vince McPeak, Andy Murphy and Frank Taft for dedicating their entire weekend to academic pursuits. To some extent we're sorry that we didn"t do the same.

We know for a fact that, FIGUREtively speaking, Dulio D'Albora had a very heavy date with a Bridgeport Miss just recently. We mention this in connection with D'Albora's KRAKing the whip over our PT weary shoulders the other afternoon.

It seems that justice triumphed B. H. (399 F) Saturday. To the dismay of a "friend" he switched blind dates, but came out very much the loser in the end. Served him right—didn't it, Costello?

Fr. O'Leary's proteges, Billy Williams, Jim Rowland and Bill O'Donnell, did quite well for themselves at a formal party at the Barclay over the weekend. It was expected — considering their personalities and their sponsor.

CAN YOU TOP THIS?

Casanova playboy Bob Lane drinking lime and Coca Cola while sampling Don Juan at the Chestnut Hill dance . . . Frank Solis proving that man is the beast of burden and outdoing Sir Walter Raleigh at the same time. Climatic disturbances . . . you know. Bill Gleysteen dancing on the campus green at Chestnut Hill . . . Tom Short, alias Tom "Small," reciting his versions of "the escapades of a V-12er," and they all centered about Pat R. this past weekend . . . Bill (one "Punch" and I'm out) Lamb also at Chestnut Hill using approach No. 65 . . . Bill McClancy and his Peggy beating the curfew at the Hot Shoppe Sunday morning . . . Don Peterson yodeling for his supper and the floor show at a local house of entertainment . . . B. T. O. Herb Lamb "carrying" three fair damsels home last Saturday nite.

WANTED: Information on or about Eddie Becker.

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK:

Why doesn't Bucky Williams bring his attractive Miss down for the coming Prom? She certainly has the adequate potentialities for being the "belle of the ball."

Baseball Comments

By FR. EDWARD McCARTHY

THREE games: three losses. That record certainly doesn't indicate a very good ball club or hold much encouragement for the future. An analysis of the three games played makes the picture even more black. We could offer very little excuse for losing either to Valley Forge or Lehigh. Both teams were weak, but in both instances we literally handed them the game. The Navy game was somewhat different. We were playing against a much better team, but even then, our type of play was little short of disgraceful.

There are reasons for the situation being what it is, of course, and there are some grounds for hoping for improvement as we go along.

The most obvious weakness of the club is inexperience. Due to ineligibility of more experienced and competent players it has been necessary to use men with little or no previous experience in any organized type of ball. It has also been necessary to use men in positions where they had never played before. The results, as expected, have been disastrous so far, but with time and more practice the team may become somewhat smoother.

Another defect, that has been costly, both in the field and at bat, is the tendency to press on the part of the more experienced players to help make up for the weaknesses of the others. This has been responsible for a number of errors and a team batting average that is entirely too low. With a little more time, this too, may be straightened out.

Looking over the team by positions, we could evaluate it like this. The catching is excellent. Eisenhart fields, throws and handles the pitchers very capably. Wiedenhaefer and Nolan give us sufficient reserves, with Paul coming along very well and making steady improvement in his main weakness, throwing.

The pitching is good. Naslund with proper support, is capable of beating anybody we play. Wagner and O'Dea are coming along and when Wagner has control he is very effective. Casolaro has proven to be an effective relief pitcher and so far has turned in two really fine jobs.

The infield is our weakest point at present. We have Anderson at first, Marano at second, Murphy at short, Hertzfeld at third. This combination is as yet untried but it looks like the best available right now. We may be better a little later on.

The outfield is not strong, but good enough. Its chief weakness so far has been at bat. If the boys loosen up a bit at the plate and begin to hit as they should we will be right in that department.

Looking over the games to come, Army will probably be out of our class. With the exception of that game, we should be able to meet the rest of the clubs on a fairly even basis.

Many Victories Featured Eight Indoor Track Meets

Winning Times Were Posted by Mile Relay Team in K. of C. Millrose Games; Schmitt Scores Victories in Mile Run

During the past indoor season, the Villanova trackmen competed in eight meets and garnered medal positions in every meet. Considering the little practice and time for preparation for the meets, the season might easily be called one of the most successful in the past few years.

First meet of the indoor season was the Inquirer Invitation, held on January 27. Both the mile relay and the distance medley relay team scored. The mile relay team of Cox, Hooper, Harrington and Beals ran second to Penn in the time of 3:38. The medley relay team of Cockroft, Short, Bean and Schmitt took second place behind the speedy New York Pioneer quartet.

The Millrose Games in the Gardens gave the team their first top time race as they led a fast field in the mile relay event to take first place coming in ahead of R.I. State, N. Carolina, and Rochester. Running the individual legs on the team were: Cox, Harrington, Short and Schmitt.

The only scoring member of the team in the Middle Atlantic A. A. U. Polar Bear Meet was miler Don Schmitt as he flashed around in his favorite race in the fast time of 4:35.3 to secure second place.

On February 17th, in the New York A. C. Indoor Games, the mile relay team of Cox, Short, Harrington and Schmitt dropped first place to a quartet from Holy Cross in the time of 3:36.2. The race was lost in the last yard as Schmitt made a desperate attempt to make up the deficit but failed by a close three inches.

The National A. A. U. Championships only netted the Wildcats a third place as the mile relay team pushed winning N. Y. U. and the second place Army all the way in a fast race.

In the I. C. 4A Indoor Championships on March 3rd, the mile relay team dropped from second to fifth place in last yard as Army, Dartmouth and Columbia forged ahead to score the letter positions behind winning N. Y. U. The losing team was composed of Cox, Bean, Harrington and Short. In the same meet, Burt Cox stretched his long legs over 22 ft. 9 in. of sawdust but only earned fourth place in this exceptionally broad jump. In previous indoor meets the winning distance had been much less than his fourth place leap.

The Knights of Columbus [illegible] on March 10th brought home the next first place of the season as the mile relay team of Cox, Short, Harrington and Schmitt raced around in the scoring time of 3:33.6.

Final meet of the season was the Camden Middle Atlantics on March 17th. Don Schmitt took first place in the one mile run and then came back to anchor the mile relay team to a second place behind a fast team from Penn. Third place in the 600 yard run went to Bob Bean as he shared honors with a former Villanovan, George Guida who took first place in the season's record time.

So ended the indoor season and to represent their successes there is now displayed a bulletin board containing 36 medals representing victories in many events on many fields.

It has just been revealed that Don Schmitt, Villanova's fastest miler, has been invited to run in the special invitation mile at the coming Penn Relays in which Gundar Haegg will also run. Inasmuch as Don's fastest time for the mile has been 4:35, he will be given a handicap in this event.

Pill Rollers Take Bowling Loop Lead; Fogerty Rolls 220

In Saturday's match, by winning four points forfeited by the Civilians' team, the Pill Rollers gained a five point lead over all opposition. With only two weeks remaining in the present schedule a five point lead will be hard to overcome in any man's league, although both second place teams will have a chance to take four from the Pill Rollers. The 300 Club and the Holy Rollers are still tied for the second place position as a result of a split decision. These two teams have been within one point of each other since the first week, and the final standings will depend on their performance against the first place team.

The Lost Cause took four from Bucky's Boys which jumped them four whole places from last week's stand in the cellar, and consequently gives them a chance in the final honors. The Paoli Yokels led by "Chuck" Carlson's 205 turned in a 3-1 victory over the Alley Cats, and placed them just one below the Lost Cause in the results.

Jim Fogerty rolled a "sizzling" 220 which put him in line for second money in the high single. Sondheimer remains high man all around followed in the averages by Koch and Thompson, and in the high three by Krak and Koch respectively.

TEAM STANDINGS

	W.	L.
1. Pill Rollers	17	3
2. 300 Club	12	8
3. Holy Rollers	12	8
4. Lost Cause	9	11
5. Paoli Yokels	8	12
6. Civilians	8	12
7. Bucky's Boys	7	13
8. Alley Cats	7	13

TRANSFER "CLIPPER" SMITH

Captain Maurice "Clipper" Smith, USMCR, has been transferred from the Cherry Point, N. C., Marine Air Station, where he coached football last season, to a Marine Special Service school, directed by Colonel E. E. "Swede" Larson, former head coach at the U. S. Naval Academy. Captain Smith was varsity football coach at Villanova from 1936 to 1942.

'Cats To Engage Strong Cadet Nine In West Point Tilt

Army Nine Beat Brooklyn Dodgers in Exhibition Game; Villanova Tries for Second Win of Season

By MATT KEARNEY, A.S.

Villanova's varsity baseball team will play the U.S. Military Academy nine on May 2nd, on the Cadets' home field. Army ranks as one of the leading college baseball clubs in the country, and should provide the Wildcats with their best competition of the season.

Army's coach, Captain Paul Amen, has developed a very formidable squad. An impressive point about this West Point club is that it trimmed the National Leagues' Brooklyn Dodgers, 4-0, in one of the Dodgers' pre-season exhibition games. This win is definitely a feather in the Army's cap.

Although no definite starting line-up has been released as yet by Captain Amen, the team that will take to the field will probably follow in this order: a heavy hitting outfield, with football All-American, Glenn Davis, in left field; Dick McConnell in center; and Steve Puchril in right. Jack Nane, third class cadet, will be ready to sub in the outfield and may, at the last minute, draw a starting assignment.

In the Army infield, many fine ballplayers give Coach Amen a tough job selecting starters. However, Bob Chabot at third looks like the best bet. Team Captain, Cadet Claude Josey, will hold down the shortstop position. Three members of last season's undefeated football squad will round out the infield: Tom Lombardo, quarterback, on second; Ed Rafalko, end, at first base; and Bob St. Onge, end, behind the bat. Jack Cairns may substitute for St. Onge.

Les Sprinkle and Arlie Wagonhurst will be the pitchers from which the starting selections will be made.

This game will be the Army's ninth of the season, and Villanova's fifth. To date, Army boasts better than an .800 average.

For Villanova, Dick Naslund will probably draw the starting assignment as pitcher.

Kasky And Zamlynski Wounded On Iwo Jima

Lieutenant Ed Kasky, USMCR, and Lieutenant Zigmund Zamlynski USMCR, former Blue and White varsity football stars have been wounded in action in Iwo Jima.

Kasky was hit in the right knee by enemy sharpnel on March 5th. He attended Villanova from 1938 until 1942, when he entered the Marine Corps. He was a member of the freshman football squad of 1938 and of the varsity squad for the following three years. He played tackle and was a noted place kicker.

In the interim between graduation and his enlistment in the Marines, Lieutenant Kasky played professional football for a while during the 1942 season with the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Navy Department informed Lieutenant Zamlynski's wife that he had become a casualty during the fighting of February 28. He entered Villanova in 1940 and played fullback on the freshman and varsity squads. He entered the Marine Corps early in 1943 and when called up for active duty was temporarily assigned to Villanova. Later that year he received his commission at Quantico, Va.

LAFAYETTE GAME RAINED OUT

The Villanova-Lafayette baseball contest was cancelled last Saturday on account of rain. Due to schedule difficulties this game will not be made up during this season.

Villanova's next game is with Army, on May 2d, at West Point, N. Y.

Meet the Boys

By THOMAS P. WELCH, A/S

VILLANOVA has one student who certainily should be at the San Francisco Peace Conference. Anyone who can engineer so many blind dates and talk so many of his friends (they were then)into attending the local formal dances, and still walk around with a smile on Monday, should be able to talk Stalin out of Siberia, or Churchill out of a ten cent cigar.

It's quite amazing that Windy Barrett is even walking around, but judging from the reports of the recent Chestnut Hill dance, he must really have some good contacts at the "Hill." One strange note was that Windy fixed up everyone else, yet, come Saturday afternoon and he didn't have a date himself.

WILLIAM BARRETT

He should be familiar with this locality and its inhabitants, however, as he is a native Philadelphian. Windy finally got his full name of William Francis Barrett, Jr., engraved on a diploma from Roman Catholic High School after breezing through a year at La Salle High and St. Joseph's Prep each. At Roman, he was Chairman of the Library, which he claims was a big time job—no doubts.

He blew into Villanova in October of 1942 and started in with a bang on extracurricular activities. We don't believe there is any connection between his nick-name and the course he is taking, but there might well be. Yes, he is a Commerce and Finance student.

Windy's present list of activities would keep even a Finance student busy. The officers of the Senior class recently appointed him General Chairman of Senior Activities. He received this appointment no doubt on the basis of the success of the Financier's Frolic of which he was Chairman.

As President of the Delta Pi Epsilon, the Financiers fraternity, Windy is doing his best to keep the organization on its feet till this school is repopulated. His eagerness since his initiation in his Sophomore year has kept it together so far.

In the literary line, Bill is presently College Editor of the 1945 Belle Air and is on the staff of the Villanovan. The Spanish club has had his membership since his Freshman year. At elections held last semester, he was elected Vice-President of the Student Council.

And yet, he has had time to participate in almost every intramural sport on the campus. His main forte has been the boxing team of which he was a member for his first three years here. Other sports have been Intramural football and baseball, and 150 pound football.

CLOSE running - mate of Windy, both in school activities and as ambassador of good will to neighboring schools, is Sebastian Infanzon, better known by the Spanish nick-name of Tito. As his name might imply, he hails from south of the border—Puerto Rico.

He attended and graduated from Malvern Prep School in nearby Malvern, Pa., after completing part of his high school education in his home town of San Turce. At Malvern, Tito played varsity basketball and baseball, was a member of the Blue and White social club and served with the Sanctuary Society.

He arrived at Villanova in the Fall of 1942 to pursue the same course as Windy, Commerce and Finance. Following this course brought him in contact with the initiation rites of the Delta Pi Epsilon in his Sophomore year.

TITO INFANZON

This Frat was then one of the active societies on the campus, but due to lack of members, its activities have necessarily declined in recent years. Recognizing his ability and remembering his help to keep the frat going, the members elected him Secretary for this year. He was Chairman of a committee for the Financiers' Frolic.

Outstanding in his college career in his recent election by the members of the Senior class to the post of Student Council Representative for the class. Tito is currently working on the business staff of the 1945 Belle Air.

In the field of sports, Tito brought much of his spirit from Malvern. He has starred on civilian teams in softball, baseball and basketball during the past two years.

IM Softball League Material Exhibits Talent

Mendel Hall Takes Lead With Two Wins; Marines and Fedigan Split Two; Austin Loses Two

By MATT KEARNEY, A.S.

Softball this week returned to the campus after a long winter's lay-off. While the games this week are only exhibition games in which the various managers size up their material, the boys are playing "all out" ball on the Mendel field diamonds.

The first game saw the Mendel Hall students down the Austin Hall ball club by a 9-3 score. Bill Koerner was the winning pitcher while Dick Tanski suffered the loss. The civilians got off to a big start with seven runs in the last half of the second. Austin came back with one in the top of the third and two more in the fourth. The civilians garnered two more unneeded runs in the last of the fourth to take an easy win.

In the second game of the same night, Fedigan Hall bowed to the Marines, 9-6. Williams pitched the route for the winners. Wally Huber toiled and yielded eight hits for the losers.

On Friday night the Marines were downed by a fast-moving Mendel nine. Bill Koerner pitched the "civvies" to an 8-5 victory. He gave up but six hits. Bill Williams toed the mound for the losers and was slammed for eleven knocks.

Fedigan Wins Eighth

The final game Friday night was an eight inning thriller which pitted two arch-rivals, Fedigan Hall and Austin Hall against each other. An eighth inning rally which netted four runs for the Fedigan team gave them the much coveted victory. The Austin team behind the twirling of Dick Tanski fell short in the last minute rally which was ended when Joe Costello, Fedigan shortstop, grabbed a pop fly off the bat of Bill Moore. Rodger McCrae, a veteran intramural softballer, was the winner and he went the distance.

For Fedigan Hall, nine runs and seven hits; for Austin, seven runs, six hits.

The standings for the pre-season practice games are as follows:

Mendel	2	0	1.000
Fedigan	1	1	.500
Marines	1	1	.500
Austin	0	2	.000

Father Handran Makes Brief Visit On Campus

Holds Commission of Lieutenant in Chaplain Corps; Has Been in Seven Major Pacific Engagements

Lieutenant Ralph E. Handran, Ch.C., USNR, returned to Villanova for a short while after a long visit to the Pacific Theaters of operations. Lieutenant Handran served as a Catholic Chaplain on an aircraft carrier assigned to duty with Task Force 58. Lieutenant Handran has been in seven major engagements and has seen much of the horrors of war. He wears the Pacific Theater campaign ribbons with four stars denoting his participation in four major engagements. He still has three stars coming to him.

LT. HANDRAN, Ch. C., USNR

Lieutenant Handran was with Task Force 58 when it made its attack on Saipan, and again when it participated in the daring engagement just off the shores of Tokyo itself. Father Handran was also present at the battle for the liberation of the Philippine Islands.

Enters Navy in '43

2nd Lt. Gerald R. McDermott, '45, Missing in B-29 Raid on Tokyo; Lt. William J. Sykes, '42, Liberated, Returns to U. S.

Word has been received by the Alumni Office during the past week that second Lieutenant Gerald R. McDermott, of the Class of '45, is "missing in action" following a B-29 raid on Tokyo from his base somewhere in the Marianas on March 13th. Gerald entered Villanova College in October, 1942, withdrawing in February of '43, as a member of the Army Air Corps Reserve. He trained at Cincinatti, Ohio, Santa Anna, California, and received his gunnery wings at Kingman, Arizona. Last July, he was commissioned as a second lieutenant, bombardier, at Deming, New Mexico. Previous to going overseas, he was stationed at Clovis, New Mexico. Lieutenant McDermott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. McDermott, Sr., who reside at 145 Cliff Ave., Pelham, New York.

Lieutenant Sykes Safe

Shot down and wounded over Germany on Christmas Eve, Lieutenant William J. Sykes, a P-51 fighter pilot, was taken prisoner behind the German lines and was only recently liberated by advancing American forces. Lt. Sykes was injured a second time, when Allied planes bombed the city where he was held prisoner. In a recent letter written to his father, Mr. John Sykes, of Atlantic City, he discloses for the first time, the full details of his final combat mission, and also something of the treatment he received at the hands of his captors. He writes: "I got into a dog fight over Germany, near Nassau. I had just shot down an ME-109, when another got on my tail. He hit me in the left leg with two 20 mm shells which exploded. Another hit the gun sight and blinded me. I had to bail out and God must have done it for me as I only had 1300 feet and couldn't see or know what I was doing. I was taken prisoner but not treated for my wounds. In fact, they wouldn't even give me a piece of my shute to use for a bandage. My thigh was blown off clean to the bone. I was finally put on the butcher table that night at 9:00 o'clock, six hours after I was shot down. This was Christmas eve. Well, I kept getting worse and worse and gan-

Catholic Girls' Concert To Be Presented May 9

Combined Orchestra, Band, Choir and Glee Club Will Present Show for Villanova Students

The annual concert of the Catholic Girls' High Schools will be presented at the Field House next Wednesday evening May 9th, at 8:15. The combined orchestra and glee club is made up of students in the Philadelphia Catholic High Schools and is under the general direction of Dr. Jeno Donath. This is the second time this concert has been presented at Villanova College. Approximately 300 girls will take part in the concert, which will be considerably larger than the one presented last year.

The company is divided into a Symphonic Band, a Symphonic Orchestra, a glee club, under the direction of the Reverend John A. Murray, and a verse-speaking choir, directed by Miss Margaret Mary Kearney. There are approximately 200 voices participating in the verse-speaking choir and the glee club with the remaining 100 students alternating between the Symphonic Band, and Symphonic Orchestra. Various types of musical selections will be presented which will range from the heavy classical concert arrangements to light and modern compositions The entire concert will last two hours and fifteen minutes.

Students Invited

All Villanova students are invited to attend the concert free of charge. Tickets will be sold at the door for all others who wish to attend. This all-girl organization has become very well-known during the past few years and performed last week at the Academy of Music. The program to be presented at the Field House will be essentially the same as that held at the Academy.

This concert is the result of the efforts of Sister Agnes Anita, S.S.J., who is in charge of all arrangements concerning the production. The business arrangements for the affair are under the direction of Sister Inez, S.S.J.

The personnel includes students from John W. Hallahan Catholic Girls' High School, West Catholic Girls' High School, and Little Flower High School for Girls, all diocesan secondary schools of Philadelphia.

Campus Eagerly Awaits Arrival Of Boyd Raeburn For Senior Formal Dance

Ticket Sales Lag at End of Month; Winning of Chicago Band Contest Launched Career of Young Maestro

The date for the Villanova Senior Ball, featuring "Rhythm by Raeburn," is rapidly approaching with all hands on the campus anxiously awaiting the arrival of the talented young maestro and his orchestra. May 12, 1945, is of course the long-awaited day, and the site of the first formal dance in over two years under the Blue and White banners, will be the Field House. The only trouble anticipated is that the decoration committee's versatile chairman, Joe Gerngross says, "You won't recognize the place."

The sale of tickets during the past week has dropped as was expected but with the advent of a new month, the representatives of the dance committee in each hall believe that the sales will pick up again.

Response Disappointing

The past week also brought few letters from Alumni in the Philadelphia area addressed to William Farell A. S., chairman of the affair, requesting tickets. This also has been rather disappointing to the committee who sponsor the affair in the belief that many of the recent graduates would desire to attend this formal dance, the last one having been held in December of 1942.

The main attraction of the night, Boyd Raeburn and his orchestra, is getting more popular with the students. Last Monday night many civilians stayed up till 11:30 for the express purpose of hearing "Rhythm by Raeburn," and from the reports of all who heard him, none was disappointed. This new sensation in the orchestra field has been highlighted recently on many of the Coca-Cola. "Spotlight Bands" Show and as a result, has had many of the men overseas send him fan mail showing him their appreciation of his type of music.

A band contest among college outfits was the event which launched Boyd Raeburn, whose orchestra came here to Villanova College May 12, on a thriving musical career that now finds him heading one of the leading bands in the country.

Raeburn was studying at the Unuiversity of Chicago at the time, and entered his student-recruited band in an open competition at the Hotel Sherman. Boyd's band walked off with top honors and was given a one year contract by

Fourth Mass Kit Given By College

Purchased With Funds Donated by Servicemen, Alumni, and Parents

A Mass kit, paid for by funds accumulated from the contributions of the students on the campus, the parents of former students now in the service, and from the Villanova service men themselves, was recently purchased. The purchase was made through the Chaplains Aid Association, an organization formed to promote the spiritual welfare of our soldiers and sailors.

This is the fourth Mass kit that has been donated by the students of Villanova. It will be given to a Navy chaplain serving in the armed forces of our country.

The kit, which compactly contains everything needed for the celebration of Mass, costs one-hundred and fifty dollars. This kit was given in memory of the forty Villanova students who have made the supreme sacrifice. Inscribed in the chalice that will be used in offering the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass is the inscription: "In Memory of Villanova's War Casualties."

From a letter of appreciation, written to Father Grimes, the college chaplain, by Mrs. Thomas F. Berley, Treasurer of the Chaplains' Aid Association, we read in part: "Thank you so very much for your generous gift of one-hundred and fifty dollars for a Mass kit. It comes at a most opportune time when replacements are being sent to the chaplains overseas."

Fifth Kit to Follow

As soon as a sufficient fund is accumulated a fifth kit will be presented our armed forces. The greater amount of this fund is the part coming from the collection taken up at the students' Mass on Sunday at 10:20 A. M. But since this Mass has been discontinued because of a change in schedule of parish Masses, Father Grimes suggested to the student body that some other plan be devised if we are to continue to aid the chaplains ministering to our service men.

To Give Concert At College May 9th

The combined Orchestra, Band, Glee Club, and Verse-speaking Choir of the Catholic Girls' High School will present a musicale at the Field House next Wednesday night.

Word has been received by the Alumni Office during the past week that second Lieutenant Gerald R. McDermott, of the Class of '45, is "missing in action" following a B-29 raid on Tokyo from his base somewhere in the Marianas on March 13th. Gerald entered Villanova College in October, 1942, withdrawing in February of '43, as a member of the Army Air Corps Reserve. He trained at Cincinatti, Ohio, Santa Anna, California, and received his gunnery wings at Kingman, Arizona. Last July, he was commissioned as a second lieutenant, bombardier, at Deming, New Mexico. Previous to going overseas, he was stationed at Clovis, New Mexico. Lieutenant McDermott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. McDermott, Sr., who reside at 145 Cliff Ave., Pelham, New York.

Lieutenant Sykes Safe

Shot down and wounded over Germany on Christmas Eve, Lieutenant William J. Sykes, a P-51 fighter pilot, was taken prisoner behind the German lines and was only recently liberated by advancing American forces. Lt. Sykes was injured a second time, when Allied planes bombed the city where he was held prisoner. In a recent letter written to his father, Mr. John Sykes, of Atlantic City, he discloses for the first time, the full details of his final combat mission, and also something of the treatment he received at the hands of his captors. He writes: "I got into a dog fight over Germany, near Nassau. I had just shot down an ME-109, when another got on my tail. He hit me in the left leg with two 20 mm shells which exploded. Another hit the gun sight and blinded me. I had to bail out and God must have done it for me as I only had 1300 feet and couldn't see or know what I was doing. I was taken prisoner but not treated for my wounds. In fact, they wouldn't even give me a piece of my shute to use for a bandage. My thigh was blown off clean to the bone. I was finally put on the butcher table that night at 9:00 o'clock, six hours after I was shot down. This was Christmas eve. Well, I kept getting worse and worse and gan-

Catholic Girls' Concert To Be Presented May 9

Combined Orchestra, Band, Choir and Glee Club Will Present Show for Villanova Students

The annual concert of the Catholic Girls' High Schools will be presented at the Field House next Wednesday evening May 9th, at 8:15. The combined orchestra and glee club is made up of students in the Philadelphia Catholic High Schools and is under the general direction of Dr. Jeno Donath. This is the second time this concert has been presented at Villanova College. Approximately 300 girls will take part in the concert, which will be considerably larger than the one presented last year.

The company is divided into a Symphonic Band, a Symphonic Orchestra, a glee club, under the direction of the Reverend John A. Murray, and a verse-speaking choir, directed by Miss Margaret Mary Kearney. There are approximately 200 voices participating in the verse-speaking choir and the glee club with the remaining 100 students alternating between the Symphonic Band, and Symphonic Orchestra. Various types of musical selections will be presented which will range from the heavy classical concert arrangements to light and modern compositions The entire concert will last two hours and fifteen minutes.

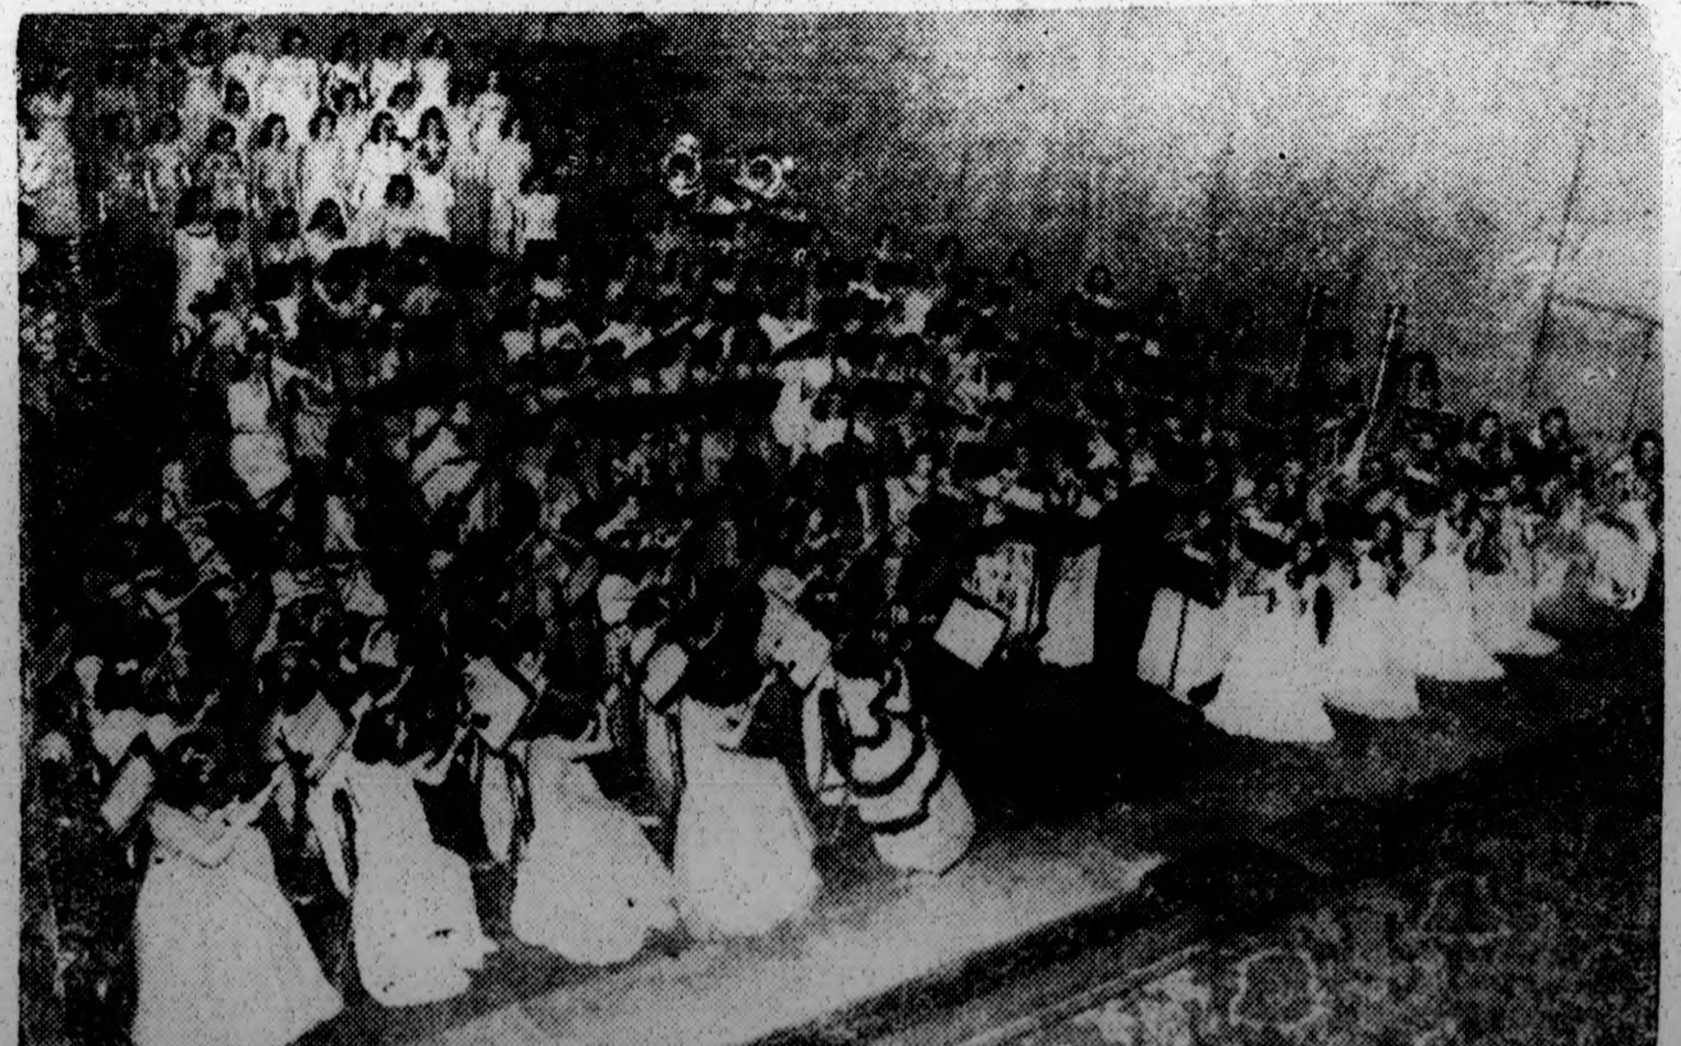
Students Invited

All Villanova students are invited to attend the concert free of charge. Tickets will be sold at the door for all others who wish to attend. This all-girl organization has become very well-known during the past few years and performed last week at the Academy of Music. The program to be presented at the Field House will be essentially the same as that held at the Academy.

This concert is the result of the efforts of Sister Agnes Anita, S.S.J., who is in charge of all arrangements concerning the production. The business arrangements for the affair are under the direction of Sister Inez, S.S.J.

The personnel includes students from John W. Hallahan Catholic Girls' High School, West Catholic Girls' High School, and Little Flower High School for Girls, all diocesan secondary schools of Philadelphia.

To Give Concert At College May 9th



The combined Orchestra, Band, Glee Club, and Verse-speaking Choir of the Catholic Girls' High School will present a musicale at the Field House next Wednesday night.

Campus Eagerly Awaits Arrival Of Boyd Raeburn For Senior Formal Dance

Ticket Sales Lag at End of Month; Winning of Chicago Band Contest Launched Career of Young Maestro

The date for the Villanova Senior Ball, featuring "Rhythm by Raeburn," is rapidly approaching with all hands on the campus anxiously awaiting the arrival of the talented young maestro and his orchestra. May 12, 1945, is of course the long-awaited day, and the site of the first formal dance in over two years under the Blue and White banners, will be the Field House. The only trouble anticipated is that the decoration committee's versatile chairman, Joe Gerngross says, "You won't recognize the place."

The sale of tickets during the past week has dropped as was expected but with the advent of a new month, the representatives of the dance committee in each hall believe that the sales will pick up again.

Response Disappointing

The past week also brought few letters from Alumni in the Philadelphia area addressed to William Farell A. S., chairman of the affair, requesting tickets. This also has been rather disappointing to the committee who sponsor the affair in the belief that many of the recent graduates would desire to attend this formal dance, the last one having been held in December of 1942.

Maestro

BOYD RAEBURN

The main attraction of the night, Boyd Raeburn and his orchestra, is getting more popular with the students. Last Monday night many civilians stayed up till 11:30 for the express purpose of hearing "Rhythm by Raeburn," and from the reports of all who heard him, none was disappointed. This new sensation in the orchestra field has been highlighted recently on many of the Coca-Cola, "Spotlight Bands" Show and as a result, has had many of the men overseas send him fan mail showing him their appreciation of his type of music.

A band contest among college outfits was the event which launched Boyd Raeburn, whose orchestra came here to Villanova College May 12, on a thriving musical career that now finds him heading one of the leading bands in the country.

Raeburn was studying at the Unuiversity of Chicago at the time, and entered his student-recruited band in an open competition at the Hotel Sherman. Boyd's band walked off with top honors and was given a one year contract by

Fourth Mass Kit Given By College

Purchased With Funds Donated by Servicemen, Alumni, and Parents

A Mass kit, paid for by funds accumulated from the contributions of the students on the campus, the parents of former students now in the service, and from the Villanova service men themselves, was recently purchased. The purchase was made through the Chaplains Aid Association, an organization formed to promote the spiritual welfare of our soldiers and sailors.

This is the fourth Mass kit that has been donated by the students of Villanova. It will be given to a Navy chaplain serving in the armed forces of our country.

The kit, which compactly contains everything needed for the celebration of Mass, costs one-hundred and fifty dollars. This kit was given in memory of the forty Villanova students who have made the supreme sacrifice. Inscribed in the chalice that will be used in offering the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass is the inscription: "In Memory of Villanova's War Casualties."

From a letter of appreciation, written to Father Grimes, the college chaplain, by Mrs. Thomas F. Berley, Treasurer of the Chaplains' Aid Association, we read in part: "Thank you so very much for your generous gift of one-hundred and fifty dollars for a Mass kit. It comes at a most opportune time when replacements are being sent to the chaplains overseas."

Fifth Kit to Follow

As soon as a sufficient fund is accumulated a fifth kit will be presented our armed forces. The greater amount of this fund is the part coming from the collection taken up at the students' Mass on Sunday at 10:20 A. M. But since this Mass has been discontinued because of a change in schedule of parish Masses, Father Grimes suggested to the student body that some other plan be devised if we are to continue to aid the chaplains ministering to our service men.

A Christian Peace

There has recently been much pessimistic feeling with regards to the outcome of the present San Francisco Conference. Perhaps the first failure of mankind with the League of Nations experiment is still too fresh in the minds of many of us, and we all tend to be skeptical as to the outcome of this experiment.

The reason for the prevalence of pessimism is probably because of the fact that many people cannot understand why there should be so much disagreement among nations. If nations seek peace, they ask, why can't they just sit down at a conference and make peace? There is a lot more to making peace than just sitting down at a conference table. Making a peace after this conflict involves historical and social problems which have been heaped upon the sore shoulders of Europe for many, many centuries. Geographical factors must be taken into consideration, boundaries must be fought over and compromises made, reparations forced upon the defeated enemy. All these things are involved in the creation of a peace.

However, the San Francisco Conference is not a Peace Conference in any sense of the word. It is only a gathering of men representing the various nations of the world, in order to set up the machinery for keeping peace in Europe for a reasonable length of time. All the men who are attending this conference realize that in their work the human race sees the last of its hope for survival and progress. If this conference works out, and a machinery is set up to the satisfaction of all, we can be assured that there will be peace in the world for a long time to come. Let us all remember that if there were not any differences existing among the various allied nations, there would be no need for calling such a conference into session.

Perhaps one of the most important of all the reasons for the pessimism with regards to the outcome of these sessions resides in the fact that the people in Europe who have seen all the horror and hardship of two great, destructive wars in their lifetimes, have entirely lost faith in their fellow man. They no longer possess a feeling of charity toward their neighbors, but rather a feeling of hatred and revenge. This is very natural. These people have suffered much, and besides that they have been taught to hate and to steal and to seek revenge. They have been taught a doctrine of atheism . . . complete separation from God and acknowledgment of His works . . . complete denial of the existence of their Creator. The governments under which these people of Europe have been forced to live have driven into the minds of their populace that the greatest thing in the world is the nation, that national worship should be their only religion.

It is up to the present conference in San Francisco to set up the machinery of peace. It will be the duty and obligation of the peacemakers to see that this mass paranoia which has swept over Europe be wiped out entirely. Men must again learn to trust their neighbors and to cooperate with them, otherwise there can never again be any hope for peace. The new peace must be based on Christian principles and morals. This is God's command. This is our duty.

Spirit?

The age old theme of school spirit has been the topic of editorials since someone first defined student enthusiasm as an integral part of his scholastic makeup. The first definition, whatever it may have been, must have mentioned student support of school activities, for that in essence, is school spirit. That is the ethereal something which one must possess to be a complete and bonafide member of any student body. That is something which is sadly lacking on the Villanova campus today.

Spirit has been expressed in the words and exhortations of some, as in the instance of team spirit where the student shouts with might and main in an effort to woo Lady Victory for his team; more often it has been expressed in the actions of the student, as in the instances when he supports school activities. He must support ALL school activities. He must support her dances. This is the theme of our complaint and it is directed at the very negligent students of Villanova who find it inconvenient to attend something which is being staged for their benefit.

The coming Senior Ball is the first attempt at revival of a Wildcat spirit which once held all students of this Main Line school in a very complete grasp. It is an attempt by the members of the last peace-time class of Villanova to demonstrate, in a partial manner, the meaning of the old Villanova atmosphere. Attendance at such an affair constitutes a very necessary step in his progress toward evolving a well rounded Villanova man.

Let the need of a renewal of spirit and a desire to attain the best advantages of Villanova supply the impetus necessary to bring one and all to the dance. Come—it is necessary!

Well, here we are, back safe and sound after a swell time at the Rosemont Prom. We just hope every one had as nice a time as we had. From all reports, those pre-dance parties were pretty nice too. Too bad Jack McNamara had to sprain his ankle the night before, but such is life.

We would like to offer a word of advice to Sid Maislin. It pays to be diplomatic if one wishes to retain one's molars. If this seems vague we are sure Ralph will clear up any doubts.

The showing of the track team in the Penn Relays makes us all proud of them. It certainly is good to see the Wildcats right up there with the big boys.

A new loan office has opened in 425 Mendel. Shylock Koerner is now offering loans at the modest interest rate of 200 percent.

We are waiting for Hank Scanlon to give us a good reason for falling asleep at the Chestnut Hill Prom. We are hoping that it was because he was tired. But maybe there was an epidemic of sleeping sickness that night. Windy Barrett was also a victim, giving a snoring solo throughout a good part of the evening.

H. P. Dumsa claims these Sunday morning dates are very reasonable. Of course Al doesnt' carry things too far. He put a dime in the collection instead of the customary nickle.

Joe Kessler has advanced a new theory on the problem of getting rid of an unwanted wife. Of course it is rather radical but Joe figures one bullet is rather cheap so that is one point in favor of his plan.

Bill Koness, Bob Lawler, and Al Dumsa were seen at the Covered Wagon last week. And incidentally their dates were pretty nifty.

No kidding fellows, Boyd Rayburn sounded very good on his late Monday night program the past two weeks. From all indications the tickets are going very fast so be sure to ask the OAO before someone else figures she is his OAO too.

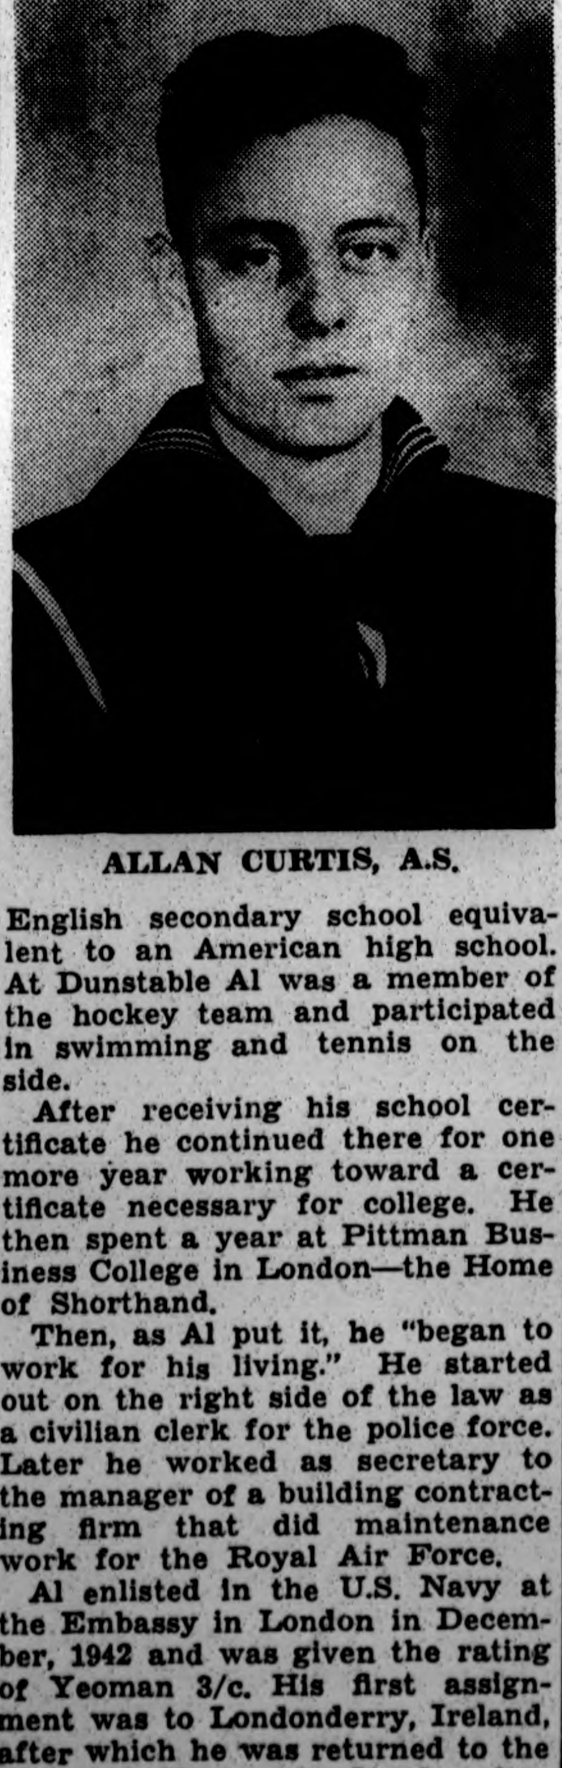
Meet the Boys

By THOMAS P. WELCH, A/S

THIS week we are honored by the presence of two former foreigners. Actually Allen J. Curtis, A.S., has been an American citizen since birth, even though the blessed event occurred in England. But Joseph D. Keating, A.S., must be still a foreigner—he comes from West Pittston, the Keating residence being balanced over an abandoned mine shaft, somewhere in the state of Pennsylvania.

Al was born in London, England, of American parents. The family lated moved to Luton, thirty miles from London, and here he attended Dunstable Grammar School — an English secondary school equivalent to an American high school. At Dunstable Al was a member of the hockey team and participated in swimming and tennis on the side.



ALLAN CURTIS, A.S.

After receiving his school certificate he continued there for one more year working toward a certificate necessary for college. He then spent a year at Pittman Business College in London—the Home of Shorthand.

Then, as Al put it, he "began to work for his living." He started out on the right side of the law as a civilian clerk for the police force. Later he worked as secretary to the manager of a building contracting firm that did maintenance work for the Royal Air Force.

Al enlisted in the U.S. Navy at the Embassy in London in December, 1942 and was given the rating of Yeoman 3/c. His first assignment was to Londonderry, Ireland, after which he was returned to the Embassy. He was in London during the murderous Nazi bombing of Britain's capital. In April, 1943, Al applied for the V-12 Program, was accepted, and began studies here at Villanova in July of the same year.

Al enrolled in the Mechanical Engineering School here at Villanova, and soon began work with the staff of the Villanova Engineer, the bi-monthly publication of the Engineering School. In his junior year he became Managing Editor and was appointed Business Manager in his senior year.

He joined the Villanova Branch of the A.S.M.E. in his junior year. Following his excellent work on the Engineer, Al has been appointed to the business staff of the 1945 Belle Air. In the sportlight, he has been the mainstay of many intramural swimming and tennis teams during the past two years.

No matter how busy his weekdays are, Al always has the weekends reserved for a certain Pat at Rosemont College. Incidentally, yesterday was the first anniversary of their acquaintance, and we hear that she was quite the Belle of the Ball at the local formal last Saturday.

MINER Joe Keating was at the Rosemont dance, too, but on a blind date. Well, it wasn't so blind and it turned out extremely well for Joe. For one contrary opinion see Husky Wally.

Joe attended West Pittston High School and the most beneficial week he spent there was the week the school caved in. He was forced to switch to evening classes and pick up girls all week long. In the line of extras, Joe played the trumpet in the school band and orchestra.

He is quite proud of the fact that he was a delivery boy for the Pittston Gazette for five years. (That sounds good, he probably carried the paper home every night.) For two Summers, between his last two years in high school, Joe worked on a labor gang at the West Pittston Iron Works.

Being quite the "hot" man on a trumpet, Joe was leading man in Monk Anthony's dance band which was heard over all the airways—over all the airways out of West Pittstown. They made their debut at Penn State College and were one hour late in arriving for the dance. In the words of a famous campus celebrity, "They were terrific."

Joe came to Villanova in the Fall of 1942 and enrolled in the Electrical Engineering School. In his in-

Bill Koness was there trying to enter with his hat over his face to protect him from possible photographers — anyways we "think" that's what Bob Lawler told us.

Bob Lane had automobile trouble to his companion's dismay, but his naive manner and native ability smoothed the "difficulty" over.

Bill Callaghan was on the look out for one of his "buddies" who had a "less than five foot two blue eyes of a miss" whom he could dance with and embarrass at the same time . . . just taking advantage of his size.

Bill Farrell, Walt Huber and corsages did arrive safely despite their "Spaghetti" dinners at the Conestoga Mill.

It marked the beginning of the last eight weeks of festivities and fun for the seniors and a preview of semesters to come for the freshmen.

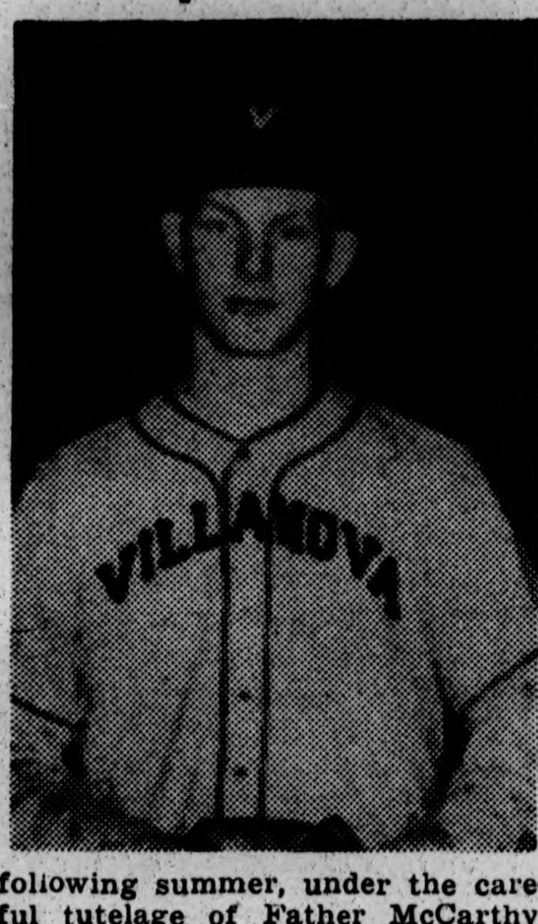
The social lime light is now centered on the Villanova Field House which will furnish the scene for the next gay whirl—and a gay whirl it will be if we look to the above mentioned names as models.

In The Sportlight

This week the Sportlight shines on Dick Nashlund, a pitcher of no mean ability on the Blue and White varsity baseball squad. Dick comes from Oshkosh, Wisconsin, and entered Villanova in March, 1943, as a student in the Pre-Medical Department (Pre-Dental).

He attended high school in Oshkosh for four years, during which time he participated in various sports, emphasizing his preference for baseball, more specifically for pitching. Owing to the fact that his high school had no baseball squad, Dick played ball with the American Legion team.

Upon entering the Navy, Dick was assigned to the Villanova V-12 Unit. He appeared for Spring baseball practice, was selected as a member of the squad, and played in several games that season. The following summer, under the careful tutelage of Father McCarthy, varsity baseball coach, Dick improved rapidly in his pitching skills, due to his eagerness and ability to play ball.



Dick again showed up for this year's squad, and in daily workouts proved that none of his past experiences and training had left him. This afforded him a place on the squad and a position on the team's pitching staff. To date, four games have been played, and Dick has participated in three of them. However, in his first two games, although he pitched brilliantly and skillfully, the breaks were against him, and opposing batters profited therefrom and to their team's advantage. For all that, though, Dick's ability as a pitcher did not wane, rather it improved, and he profited from these setbacks. In the fourth game played last Saturday, he came "home with the bacon." The fact that he allowed only five hits, one earned run, struck out seven men while adding two runs to Villanova's winning score, attests to his outstanding playing in that game and to his baseball skills.

Dick Naslund is, in fact, one of the outstanding baseball players on the squad and one of the best athletes in "the lair of the Wildcats".

SEEN From The SIDELINES

Nick Etten, who played first base for the Wildcats a while back and made himself a sports great by making the big time with the Phillies and the New York Yankees, has continued his hitting ways where he left off last year. He led the American League last year in runs batted in and, to date, is leading the league this year in the same department because of his timely hitting.

Mike Garbark, former Villanova baseball player and now first string catcher for the New York Yankees, has been sidelined during the past few games due to an injury he received during one of the earlier games. His hitting and his fine receiving are greatly missed by this ball club which, until he left, hadn't lost a ball game.

Lafferty Scores First Villanova Run Against Coast Guard

"Reds" Lafferty crosses the plate as a result of Dick Naslund's hit in the fourth inning to start off a Wildcat four-run scoring spree. Coast Guard catcher, Lagos, awaist throw from teammate.

Baseball Comments

By FR. EDWARD McCARTHY
Varsity Baseball Coach

Saturday's game was a well deserved and long hoped for win. Dick Naslund had trouble getting started, allowing two hits and two walks in the first inning. For the rest of the game, however, both the pitching and fielding was very good. Naslund gave up only one run in eight innings, and received errorless support. Offensively the boys played their first good game. Dorsch and Eisenhart, from whom we had expected a great deal at bat, finally came out of their slump and began to hit. We've needed one good day at bat to get started. We got that Saturday, and should be better from now on.

Picking out individuals who played well would be unfair, but the smooth operation of Murphy and Marano around second, and Anderson's improvement at first should be noted. Anderson is still green at first, but is working hard and improving steadily.

We still have to improve in several factors of our play. The main defect is in mental errors that can be costly. On Saturday we sacrificed at least two runs by mistakes of judgment. Experience is the only cure for this defect, and we hope that as we go along these mistakes will become fewer.

The chief value of the win over the Coast Guard was the uplift it gave all of us. It is really difficult to keep a losing ball club fighting and playing alert ball. One win, in a game in which we had to come from behind, will change the whole mental attitude of the boys.

This week we have two tough games to play. Army, perhaps the best college team in the country, will be met at West Point on Wednesday. On Saturday we play Valley Forge Hospital again, in a chance to reverse our loss in the opening game.

As this is written, we don't know who will play for us in the Army game. If we have Matas, Williams,

Wildcats Beat Coast Guard; Garner First Win of Season

Naslund Hurls Five-Hit Ball Game; Villanova Fielding and Batting Show Much Improvement for Best Performance of Season

By ROBERT CONWAY

Led by the brilliant five-hit pitching of Dick Naslund, Villanova won its first ball game of the Spring season by defeating the U. S. Coast Guard, Philadelphia, 6-5, in nine innings last Saturday.

The highlight of the game came in the last half of the eighth inning when Murphy led off and was safe on an error. Bob Dorsch immediately sacrificed him to second. Marano, attempting to catch the infield napping, bunted and was thrown out while Murphy went to third. With two out, the cleanup hitter, Anderson, came to bat, after not getting the ball out of the infield all afternoon, and sent the third pitch, a knuckle ball of McCollon, screaming to deep left field, bringing in what proved to be the winning run.

The game started off with a bang when the Coast Guard came up with four runs in the first inning as a result of a couple of walks, hits by Silber and MacDonald and an error by Hertzfield.

After feeling out the pitcher, Dick Williams, for a couple of innings, the Wildcats struck in the fourth inning, taking advantage of an error and a couple of walks. Timely hitting by Naslund and Marano brought in four runs to tie the socre at that point.

Villanova went ahead for the first time this season in the sixth inning on a walk, an error, and a hit by Bob Dorsch.

In the seventh, the Coast Guard tied it up by a hit batter, a sacrifice, and a long base hit by the Coast Guard star, Silber, to deep left-centerfield.

Although two men got on base in the Coast Guard half of the ninth, Nashlund cooly retired the side for the victory.

As a cold, gusty wind blew over the diamond, the outstanding feature of the game was the brilliant defensive work shown by the Wildcat infield. Quick thinking by shortstop Murphy and catcher "Ike" Eisenhart, saved Naslund in several important instances where a

Villanova Places Third In 2 Events Of U. of P. Relays

Villanova's mile relay team placed third in the Class B College Mile Relay, Burt Cox took fourth pace in the Broad Jump, and Don Schmitt ran fifth in the special mile event, which featured Gunder Haegg, at the Penn Relays last Saturday. In Friday's events, Villanova placed third in the College Medley Relay event.

Burt Cox, Tom Short, Bob Bean and Don Schmitt ran in the Class B College Mile Relay, covering the distance in 3 minutes 29 seconds. They followed Lincoln University and New York University.

Burt Cox did 22 feet 1¼ inches in the Broad Jump behind Eulace Peacock, U. S. Coast Guard, New York; Barney Ewell, Camp Kilmer, N. J.; and Homer Gillis, U. S. Coast Guard, New York.

Mile Run

Don Schmitt, with a 90 yard handicap, immediately trailed Gunder Haegg across the finish line in the Invitation Handicap Mile of the special events, and was fifth in the running. He did the distance in 4 minutes 19 seconds.

This event was publicized as the feature event of the Relay Carnival because of the participation of Gunder Haegg, who was making his last appearance in the United States before returning to his native Sweden.

Chuck Harrington, Tom Short, Bob Bean and Don Schmitt garnered a "show" for Villanova in the Distance Medley Relay event on Friday. They ran the 2½ mile relay in 11 minutes fifteen seconds.

Villanova To Meet Valley Forge Med. 9 In Return Game

Wildcats Out To Avenge Previous Defeat From Hospital Club

By MATT KEARNEY, A.S.

On next Monday the Villanova baseball team will play a return game with the baseball team of Valley Forge General Hospital on the Villanova diamond. The game time is 3:30.

The Valley Forge team beat the Wildcats in the first game of the season for both teams. The score, 6-4, was a little more one-sided than the game, and both teams have come a long since that last meeting.

Captain Baker, the 'Forgians manager, has announced his starting line-up with the exception of the hurling selection. It is the same as it was the last time they were here with the exception of the second baseman. Pete Caruso, who played second since the start of the season, was injured in a recent game and will be replaced by Dillon.

Joe Caputo, veteran baseballer, will again do the receiving. Ralph Niemann will play first base, Dillon, of course, will be on second. Stan Ronchetti will hold down the shortstop post, with "Scooter" Rascuito rounding out the infield on third.

The outfield has Tony Lazzeri in in left. This Lazzeri is no relation to the Lazzeri of New York Yankee fame but is a smooth ball player. The other two of the picket patrol will be Conway in center field and Young in right.

Pitchers Johnny Brizzila and Tony Poppalardo will be on hand to take to the mound against the Wildcats.

The game was originally scheduled to be played on the new field up at Valley Forge and Villanova was to take part in the dedication ceremonies. However the field has not yet been completed and the game was transferred to be played here on May 5th.

Scrimmage Marks End Of Spring Football Practice

The Whites were unable to avenge the one touchdown setback they received in the first scrimmage last Saturday as they played to a scoreless tie in the second inter-squad clash. Captain Don Peterson's white jerseyed team advanced to pay dirt early in the first half but a fumble robbed them of a touchdown.

The Greens took the ball on their own three-yard line on downs and Len Makowski kicked to midfield. From here on in the ball seesawed around the gridiron for the remainder of the first half. Early in the second half, the Whites again threatened to score but the Green's stellar defense repelled the drive. The Greens also set themselves up for a score but lost possession of the ball.

Few Injured

Unlike the first scrimmage, injuries were few. John Peters, tackle for the Whites, got his ear cut and Joe Bracelinik had the wind knocked out of him, but this was the only extent of the day's injuries. The scrimmage closed the spring football practice and the gridders will remain idle until practice begins in the fall.

STATIONED AT HARVARD

Midshipman Jack Corr, Villanova's leading batter of the 1944 team with an average of .376, is now only a few weeks away from a commission. He is currently stationed at Harvard Supply School.

Dramatic Club To Rehearse Parts

With initiations finally complete, the Belle Masque now is settling down to the serious business of producing the play, "I Want To Be an Officer." The script, music and lyrics for the production have been polished off and are in weekly rehearsal. A big job still remains, however for the stage crew with regards to scenery, staging and lighting effects. Very little new material is available with which to construct new sets making the repairing and patching of old sets necessary.

The music department, under Private Paul Hathaway, has been aided greatly by the securing of regular orchestrations from the Navy Special Service Division. The shows' director, Sgt. Jack Muir, sends out a strong appeal for a good piano player with the ability to sight-read music.

Presented June 8

"I Want To Be an Officer," first dramatic presentation at Villanova for several years, is slated for production on Friday, June 8th, curtain time, 8:15 P. M. All members of the Villanova V-12 unit are to be admitted, and complementary tickets will be issued to civilian students at the college; friends and guests will be charged a ten cent admission fee.

"On February 2nd, during another air-raid, the city was blown to hell, and of course I had to be wounded again. Prisoners are not taken to the cellar, but left locked in the room. My room and the hospital was ruined and I received four pieces of bomb in the bad leg, but all in the knee. We will skip what happened after that.

"I was taken further back into Germany, went to a second hospital, where I again took a turn for the worse. They thought I was on my way out, so they sent me to a third hospital, where I was liberated by our soldiers of the Sixth Army. It was a long way back. a restauranteur to play at the World's Fair then under way in the Windy City. The engagement proved the start of a highly successful career for Boyd.

South Dakota Boy

Raeburn hails from South Dakota, where he was born on a little ranch far from the swing lanes. His father played the cornet as a hobby, and a latent musical talent impelled the young boy to study the piano and clarinet. At Chicago University, he led a busy undergraduate life, doing his school work, leading his band, and playing catch on the school's baseball team. Winning that band contest crystallized his ambition to concentrate on music.

Boyd's many network broadcasts on the Coca Cola "Spotlight Bands" program and other broadcasts from the Blue Room of the Hotel Lincoln in New York have made him a national favorite. In Chicago he has been featured at the Chez Paree, the Band Box, where he enjoyed a 13 month stay and the Oriental Theater, where he set a record by playing a return engagement within six weeks. He recently converted to a new style which has propelled him into the top ranks.

Boyd Raeburn's orchestra features Dave Allyn and lovely Margie Wood, vocalists, and Johnny Bothwell, well-known saxophonist. According to Boyd's explanation " . . . the stuff we play is modern classical music applied to swing . . . actually we present new sounds in jazz by introducing extra notes in chords. Mix these up with the adaptation of the Count Basic jump style and you've got 'Rhythm by Raeburn' ".

Before his entrance into the Navy, Father Handran taught both music and American literature here at Villanova. He was the moderator of the college choral society, the band, and the orchestra. He was also the director of the Rosemont-Villanova symphonic band concerts. In addition to his duties on the Villanova campus, Father Handran served as chaplain of Rosemont College from 1940 until his resignation in March of 1943.

A.B. at Villanova

Lieutenant Handran received his A. B. degree at Villanova in 1934, and in June, 1938 he obtained his Master of Music degree at Catholic University. He was ordained in Washington, D. C., where he led the Augustinian Choir until the time of his appointment to Villanova College in 1938.

While on tour of duty in the South Pacific, Father Handran met his old friend and companion Father O'Donnell who is also a chaplain in the Navy. Father O'Donnell was commissioned in a Seabees outfit contemporaneously with Father Handran's appointment.

After his short stay in the United States, Lieutenant Handran will return to duty in the South Pacific Theater of Operations, where his unit will be waiting for his return.

With the chips down, Villanova showed that it is the ball club that everyone expected at the beginning of the season. Now that they have started moving, they will be a hard club to beat. The general feeling of the team is that it is going to even up its record this week with victories over Army and Valley Forge Hospital.

College Alumni Overseas Form Villanova Club

The first overseas club of the Villanova Alumni Association held its first unofficial meeting recently on one of the islands in the Mariana group.

Six graduates of this college have formed the Villanova Club of the Marianas, reports Lieutenant (j.g.) Edmond P. "Budd" Reilley, USNR, in a letter to a Villanovan staff member.

"We met with Father O'Donnell, '27, a Navy Lieutenant, in the officers' club of his activity. In the group were Lieutenant Dan Keating, '41; Lieutenant Richard Monsaert, '41, former manager of the football team; Lieutenant Joe Dorsey, '40; Lieutenant George I. Haggerty, Jr., '40; Father O'Donnell and Yours truly, '35. Father O'Donnell broke out some special foodstuffs from home (anchovies, sardines, smoked turkey and mints.) We had quite a party which was more like a meeting of the ladies' sewnig circle with everybody gabbing and discussing principally Villanova—past and present.

"In the future we hope to meet again with more sons of Alma Mater on the island."

and Boos we'll meet Army on fairly even terms. Predicting a ball game is a pretty idle pastime, but knowing something about both clubs I think the team that gets the better pitching will win. Army will be somewhat better than we are in hitting, but our pitching may be able to even off that advantage.

Valley Forge has an experienced club that makes few mistakes. Otherwise they have no advantage over us, and we hope to take them this time to even off the series.

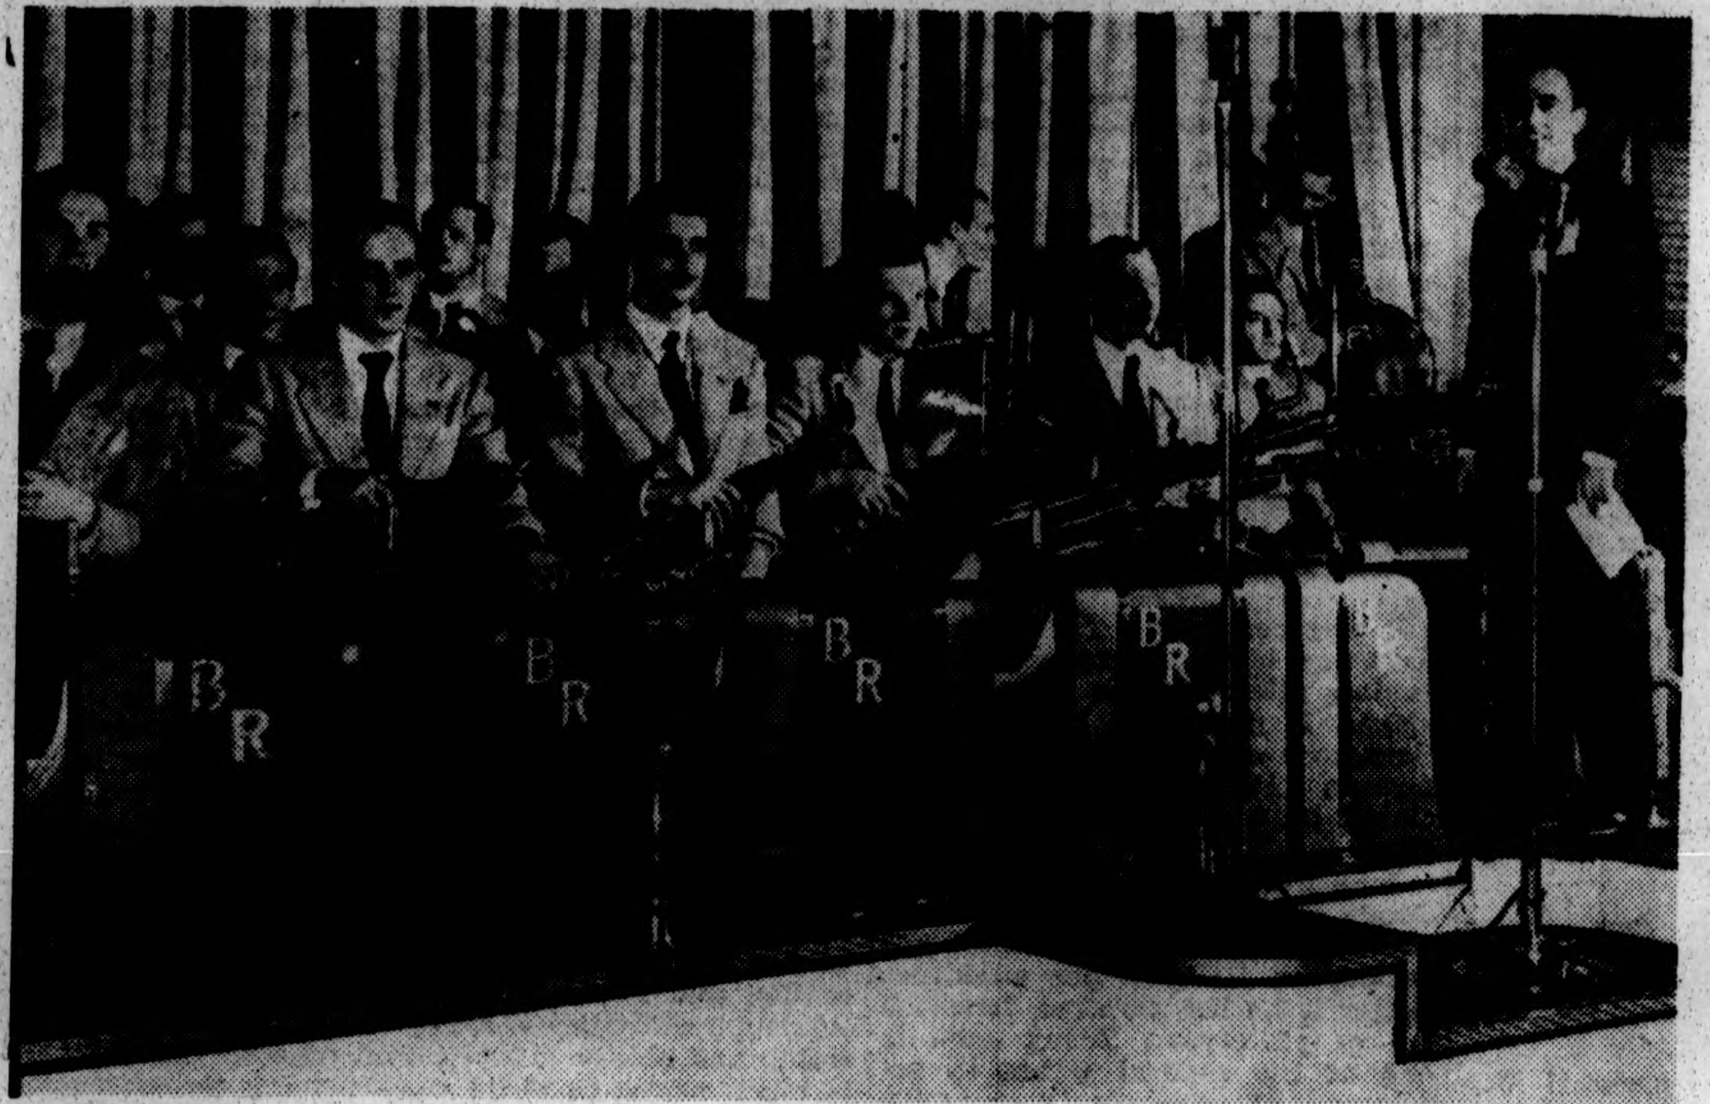
Large Student Turnout To Mark Coming Ball

Music, Maestro, Please!



Boyd Raeburn and his orchestra will make their appearance next Saturday night, May 12, in the Field House to play for the Senior Prom.

Grand March of '45 Class To Highlight Senior Ball

Chairman Farrell Announces Revival of Old Custom; Ticket Sales Increase As Expected; Success Of Formal Dance Assured

With the date for the Senior Ball rapidly approaching, expectations of a delightful evening's entertainment are rising perceptibly. Last week's sale of tickets took the anticipated trend, as a result of which committee members are now resting more easily in their sleep.

The music furnishers, namely Boyd Raeburn and his orchestra, have also been rising steadily in the opinions of the students on the campus after "Rhythm by Raeburn" were heard over radio networks the past few Monday evenings.

Decoration program and refreshment plans are all completed now, and Joseph Keating, A.S., co-chairman of the decorating committee requests "all students who can spare the time, come down to the field house, either Thursday or Friday evenings, or Saturday afternoon, to aid the committee members" in preparing the arrangements.

Original Maestro

Raeburn's music promises to be quite enjoyable to dance to. The young maestro believes in originality and says, "We play a lot of original tunes written by the boys in the band and myself. We also play hit parade tunes but because the public knows these melodies quite well, we inject a lot of our own variations."

The title of some of these tunes is always a pun on the leader's name. Among the more horrible are "Boyd Meets Girl," "The Early Boyd Catches the Worm," "Life Boyd," and "Little Boyd Blues." The titles, though, are unimportant; it's the music that counts, and it's the sort that is attracting attention all over the country.

New Style

Raeburn is not a new bandleader, but his style is just a few months old. He experimented with it for several years while leading a band in the Mid-West. When he had what he wanted, he booked his band into the Blue Room of the Hotel Lincoln in New York City. From here, he moved to the Hotel New Yorker, and has been playing there for the past three months or so.

Raeburn was studying at the University of Chicago when he entered the student band in an open competition at the Hotel Sherman in the Windy City. The group walked off with the top honors, and was given a year's contract by a Chicago restaurateur. This engagement proved the start of a highly successful career for Boyd.

Featured by the Raeburn outfit are two fine vocalists, Dave Allyn and Margie Wood. Dave formerly sang with Jack Teagarten's orchestra before the war. In addition to these, "Rhythms by Raeburn" also affords a fine chance to Johnny Bothwell, one of the best saxophonists in the business, to show off his wares.

SCHOLARSHIP ESTABLISHED

The New Jersey State Licensed Beverage Association has established a $5000 scholarship to Villanova College to be awarded annually in memory of the late William G. Wellhofer, former president of the association.

Mr. Wellhofer was the proprietor of the Greater Pitt, a restaurant and bar located on Tennessee Ave. below Pacific Ave. in Atlantic City.

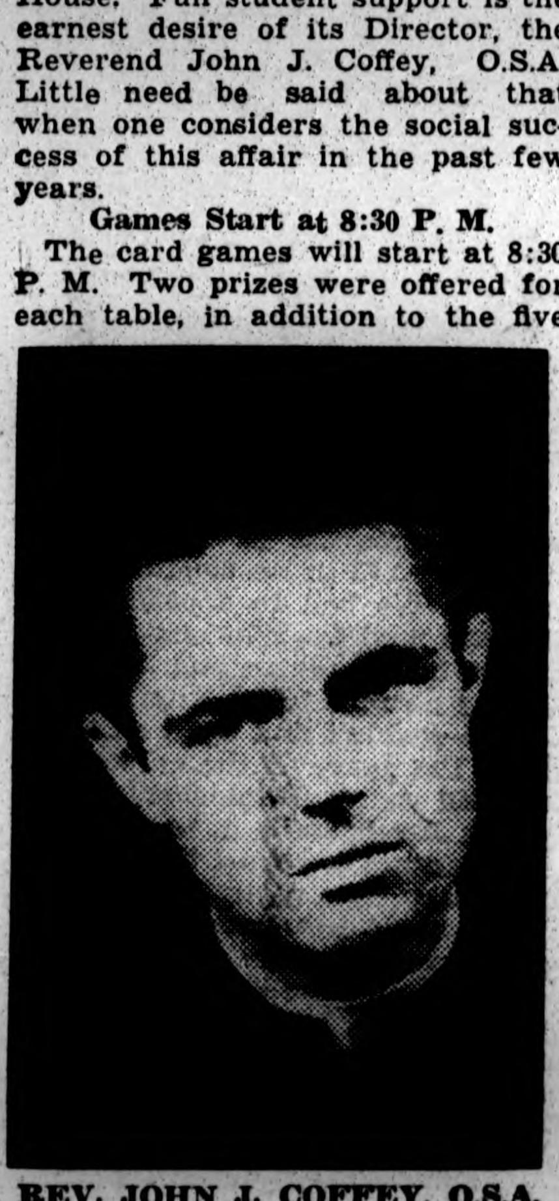
Announcement of the scholarship was made at the annual dinner of the Association in Atlantic City. The first award will be made in 1946 by competitive examination among High School senior in Atlantic City. It will be extended to all schools in the state of New Jersey in subsequent years.

Augustinian Guild Card Party To Be Held This Evening

The annual Card Party and Dance, under the auspices of the Augustinian Seminary Guild, will be held tonight in the Villanova Field House. Full student support is the earnest desire of its Director, the Reverend John J. Coffey, O.S.A. Little need be said about that when one considers the social success of this affair in the past few years.

Games Start at 8:30 P. M.

The card games will start at 8:30 P. M. Two prizes were offered for each table, in addition to the five door prizes ranging for $500 to $50. Of special interest to the student-body will be the dance beginning at 10:00 P. M. Swing and sweet will be furnished by the recently revised "Villanovans." This will mark the first public appearance of the band, under the direction of Pvt. Paul Hathaway, to date.



REV. JOHN J. COFFEY, O.S.A.

This annual card party and dance is the only event which the Seminary Guild sponsors. Its main purpose is identical with the purpose of the Guild itself, namely, to obtain funds for the support of the various houses of study maintained by the Augustinian Order for the training of seminarians.

Both Naval and Marine trainees stationed on the campus will be permitted to attend the affair. The price of admission for them will be thirty-five cents, and Father Coffey hopes to see a representative group there.

CAMP to CAMPUS

By WILLIAM F. BARRETT

Ed Lucas '43, visited the campus last week and related many tales of his adventures in the South Pacific to us. Ed participated in the invasion of Saipan and Leyte. Ed unexpectedly met Marine Lieutenant Ken Breitske '43, on the beachhead at Saipan and they spent several days together reminiscing over their thrilling experiences of their college life.

Ensign Tom McQuade '43, former roommate and buddy of Big Ed, is now stationed at Solomons Branch, Washington, D. C. Both are anticipating a big reunion.

Ensign Frank McGuinn '44, was recently graduated from Annapolis with Hugh Gillespie '44, and both are en route to Florida. Ensign Tom Nary ex '45 writes that he is leaving the West Coast for duty in the Pacific.

Jack "Mother" Guff ex '46, is now in O.C.S. at Quantico, Virginia, and expects to be commissioned shortly. L. Kevin McChesney, S. 1/C, just finished his furlough and is reporting to San Diego for duty, while his brother, Ensign Jack McChesney, just completed his training at Columbia University and is headed for Florida for advance assignment. Lt. Myles Sweeney and Lt. John J. Brown, former roommates and predental students are now stationed at Bainbridge, Maryland. Lieutenant Sweeney went to Georgetown Dental School and Lieutenant Brown went to the University of Maryland. Both independently joined the Navy and finally ended up as roommates at Bainbridge.

Eugene Homan, S 1/c ex '48, was back after finishing boot training at Sampson Naval Training Base. Ed Riley '42 just returned from France aboard a Merchant Ship,

The students' Mass on Mother's Day will be offered for all Villanova Mothers, both living and deceased—the Mothers of our forty gold stars represented on the College Service Flag; Mothers of our boys serving their country both at home and abroad; and the Mothers of our students now on the campus.

This Mass will be celebrated at 8:20 A. M. on Sunday, May 13, by the Rev. Edwin T. Grimes, O.S.A., College Chaplain.

Rev. F. X. Coan, Augustinian, Named Chaplain

Another name has been added to the growing list of Villanova priests who have entered the armed services to serve as chaplains. Rev. Francis X. Coan, O.S.A., who for many years taught in the School of Science at Villanova College, last week reported to Indiantown Gap after completing preliminary training at Fort Devens in Massachusetts.

Taught at Villanova

Fr. Coan is a native of Lawrence, Mass., hometown of many Augustinian priests. He was born there in 1900. In 1919 he was received into the Augustinian Order and was ordained to the priesthood at Villanova in 1926. The following year he was appointed to the faculty of the college, teaching in the School of Science. He remained at Villanova until 1938 when he was appointed to St. Rita High School in Chicago. Later he served at St. Augustine's parish in Philadelphia and at the Augustinian Academy in Staten Island until he entered the Army this year.

All Girl Musicale Will Be Presented Tomorrow Night

Field House To Be Scene of Presentation; Curtain at 8:15 P. M.; All Students Invited

The annual Music Festival of the Catholic Girls' High Schools will be presented tomorrow evening, at 8:15 P. M., in the Villanova Field House.

The company is divided into three groups, a combined Symphonic Orchestra and Symphonic Band under the direction of Jeno Donath; a verse speaking choir directed by Miss Margaret Mary Kearney, and a Combined Glee Club conducted by Reverend John A. Murray. In all over three hundred girls will take part in the concert, which will be considerably larger than the one presented last year.

Personnel

The personnel includes students from Little Flower Catholic Girls High School, John W. Hallahan Catholic Girls High School, Saint Hubert's Catholic Girls High School and West Philadelphia Catholic Girls High School.

Second Time Here

The concert is the result of the efforts of Sister Agnes Anita, S.S.J., who is in charge of all arrangements concerning the production. Business arrangements are in the hands of Sister Inez, S.S.J.

This year's musical, the second one at Villanova, will be larger in extent and scope than last year's production. It was performed at the Academy of Music in Philadelphia about two weeks ago, and during the past years has increased steadily in popularity. Villanova students will be admitted free, others for 75 cents.

The program to be presented at Villanova is as follows:

Symphonic Band, Guglielmo Sabatini, Conductor; Overture to the "Light Cavalry" by F. Von Suppe, Melodies from "Oklahoma" by Richard Rodgers, Russian Sailor's Dance from "The Red Poppy" by Reinhold Gliere, and Rhythms in Rhapsody, arranged by Jeno Donath.

Verse Choir, Miss Margaret Kearney, Director; The Prayer Perfect by James Whitcomb Riley, Elephant Song by Don Blanding, Traffic Cop by Leonard Feeney, S.J., and Retribution, Anonymous.

Glee Club, Reverend John A. Murray, Conductor; Regina Coeli by Ciro Grassi, Love's Old Sweet Song, J. L. Malloy, and Open Thy Heart by George Bizet.

Symphonic Orchestra, Jeno Donath, Conductor; The "Rienzi Overture" by Richard Wagner, "Carmenaries" by George Friml-Donath, "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" by Jerome Kern, "Rhythm Around the World" arranged by Jeno Donath, and "The Voice of Freedom" by Lucien Cailliet.

In addition to his duties on the Villanova campus, Father Handran served as chaplain of Rosemont College from 1940 until his resignation in March of 1943.

A.B. at Villanova

Lieutenant Handran received his A. B. degree at Villanova in 1934, and in June, 1938 he obtained his Master of Music degree at Catholic University. He was ordained in Washington, D. C., where he led the Augustinian Choir until the time of his appointment to Villanova College in 1938.

While on tour of duty in the South Pacific, Father Handran met his old friend and companion Father O'Donnell who is also a chaplain in the Navy. Father O'Donnell was commissioned in a Seabees outfit contemporaneously with Father Handran's appointment.

After his short stay in the United States, Lieutenant Handran will return to duty in the South Pacific Theater of Operations, where his unit will be waiting for his return.

mishap could have cost the ball game.

With the chips down, Villanova showed that it is the ball club that everyone expected at the beginning of the season. Now that they have started moving, they will be a hard club to beat. The general feeling of the team is that it is going to even up its record this week with victories over Army and Valley Forge Hospital.

College Alumni Overseas Form Villanova Club

The first overseas club of the Villanova Alumni Association held its first unofficial meeting recently on one of the islands in the Mariana group.

Six graduates of this college have formed the Villanova Club of the Marianas, reports Lieutenant (j.g.) Edmond P. "Budd" Reiley, USNR, in a letter to a Villanovan staff member.

"We met with Father O'Donnell, '27, a Navy Lieutenant, in the officers' club of his activity. In the group were Lieutenant Dan Keating, '41; Lieutenant Richard Monsaert, '41, former manager of the football team; Lieutenant Joe Dorsey, '40; Lieutenant George I. Haggerty, Jr., '40; Father O'Donnell and Yours truly, '35. Father O'Donnell broke out some special foodstuffs from home (anchovies, sardines, smoked turkey and mints.) We had quite a party which was more like a meeting of the ladies' sewnig circle with everybody gabbing and discussing principally Villanova—past and present.

"In the future we hope to meet again with more sons of Alma Mater on the island."

and Boos we'll meet Army on fairly even terms. Predicting a ball game is a pretty idle pastime, but knowing something about both clubs I think the team that gets the better pitching will win. Army will be somewhat better than we are in hitting, but our pitching may be able to even off that advantage.

Valley Forge has an experienced club that makes few mistakes. Otherwise they have no advantage over us, and we hope to take them this time to even off the series.

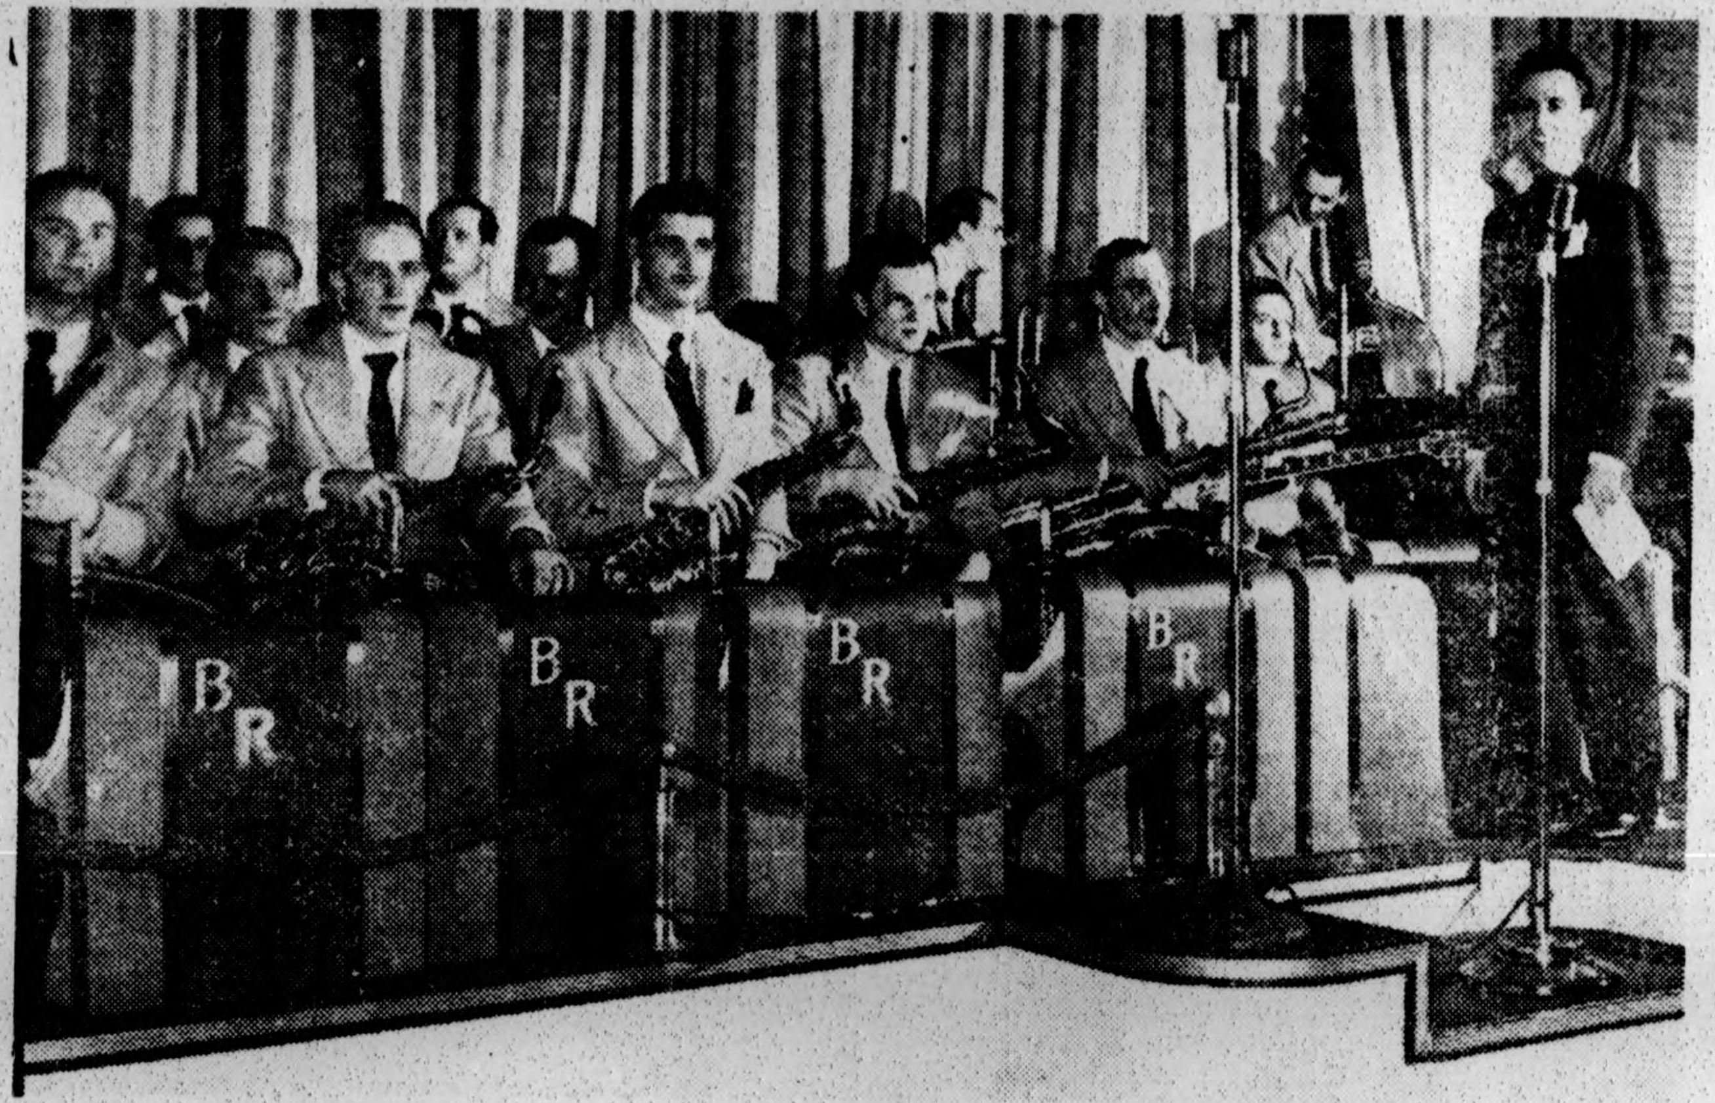
Large Student Turnout To Mark Coming Ball

Music, Maestro, Please!



Boyd Raeburn and his orchestra will make their appearance next Saturday night, May 12, in the Field House to play for the Senior Prom.

Grand March of '45 Class To Highlight Senior Ball

Chairman Farrell Announces Revival of Old Custom; Ticket Sales Increase As Expected; Success Of Formal Dance Assured

With the date for the Senior Ball rapidly approaching, expectations of a delightful evening's entertainment are rising perceptibly. Last week's sale of tickets took the anticipated trend, as a result of which committee members are now resting more easily in their sleep.

The music furnishers, namely Boyd Raeburn and his orchestra, have also been rising steadily in the opinions of the students on the campus after "Rhythm by Raeburn" were heard over radio networks the past few Monday evenings.

Decoration program and refreshment plans are all completed now, and Joseph Keating, A.S., co-chairman of the decorating committee requests "all students who can spare the time, come down to the field house, either Thursday or Friday evenings, or Saturday afternoon, to aid the committee members" in preparing the arrangements.

Original Maestro

Raeburn's music promises to be quite enjoyable to dance to. The young maestro believes in originality and says, "We play a lot of original tunes written by the boys in the band and myself. We also play hit parade tunes but because the public knows these melodies quite well, we inject a lot of our own variations."

The title of some of these tunes is always a pun on the leader's name. Among the more horrible are "Boyd Meets Girl," "The Early Boyd Catches the Worm," "Life Boyd," and "Little Boyd Blues." The titles, though, are unimportant; it's the music that counts, and it's the sort that is attracting attention all over the country.

New Style

Raeburn is not a new bandleader, but his style is just a few months old. He experimented with it for several years while leading a band in the Mid-West. When he had what he wanted, he booked his band into the Blue Room of the Hotel Lincoln in New York City. From here, he moved to the Hotel New Yorker, and has been playing there for the past three months or so.

Raeburn was studying at the University of Chicago when he entered the student band in an open competition at the Hotel Sherman in the Windy City. The group walked off with the top honors, and was given a year's contract by a Chicago restaurateur. This engagement proved the start of a highly successful career for Boyd.

Featured by the Raeburn outfit are two fine vocalists, Dave Allyn and Margie Wood. Dave formerly sang with Jack Teagarten's orchestra before the war. In addition to these, "Rhythms by Raeburn" also affords a fine chance to Johnny Bothwell, one of the best saxophonists in the business, to show off his wares.

All Girl Musicale Will Be Presented Tomorrow Night

Field House To Be Scene of Presentation; Curtain at 8:15 P. M.; All Students Invited

The annual Music Festival of the Catholic Girls' High Schools will be presented tomorrow evening, at 8:15 P. M., in the Villanova Field House.

The company is divided into three groups, a combined Symphonic Orchestra and Symphonic Band under the direction of Jeno Donath; a verse speaking choir directed by Miss Margaret Mary Kearney, and a Combined Glee Club conducted by Reverend John A. Murray. In all over three hundred girls will take part in the concert, which will be considerably larger than the one presented last year.

Personnel

The personnel includes students from Little Flower Catholic Girls High School, John W. Hallahan Catholic Girls High School, Saint Hubert's Catholic Girls High School and West Philadelphia Catholic Girls High School.

Second Time Here

The concert is the result of the efforts of Sister Agnes Anita, S.S.J., who is in charge of all arrangements concerning the production. Business arrangements are in the hands of Sister Inez, S.S.J.

This year's musical, the second one at Villanova, will be larger in extent and scope than last year's production. It was performed at the Academy of Music in Philadelphia about two weeks ago, and during the past years has increased steadily in popularity. Villanova students will be admitted free, others for 75 cents.

The program to be presented at Villanova is as follows:

Symphonic Band, Guglielmo Sabatini, Conductor; Overture to the "Light Cavalry" by F. Von Suppe, Melodies from "Oklahoma" by Richard Rodgers, Russian Sailor's Dance from "The Red Poppy" by Reinhold Gliere, and Rhythms in Rhapsody, arranged by Jeno Donath.

Verse Choir, Miss Margaret Kearney, Director; The Prayer Perfect by James Whitcomb Riley, Elephant Song by Don Blanding, Traffic Cop by Leonard Feeney, S.J., and Retribution, Anonymous.

Glee Club, Reverend John A. Murray, Conductor; Regina Coeli by Ciro Grassi, Love's Old Sweet Song, J. L. Malloy, and Open Thy Heart by George Bizet.

Augustinian Guild Card Party To Be Held This Evening

The annual Card Party and Dance, under the auspices of the Augustinian Seminary Guild, will be held tonight in the Villanova Field House. Full student support is the earnest desire of its Director, the Reverend John J. Coffey, O.S.A. Little need be said about that when one considers the social success of this affair in the past few years.

Games Start at 8:30 P. M.

The card games will start at 8:30 P. M. Two prizes were offered for each table, in addition to the five door prizes ranging for $500 to $50. Of special interest to the student-body will be the dance beginning at 10:00 P. M. Swing and sweet will be furnished by the recently revised "Villanovans." This will mark the first public appearance of the band, under the direction of Pvt. Paul Hathaway, to date.

REV. JOHN J. COFFEY, O.S.A.

This annual card party and dance is the only event which the Seminary Guild sponsors. Its main purpose is identical with the purpose of the Guild itself, namely, to obtain funds for the support of the various houses of study maintained by the Augustinian Order for the training of seminarians.

Both Naval and Marine trainees stationed on the campus will be permitted to attend the affair. The price of admission for them will be thirty-five cents, and Father Coffey hopes to see a representative group there.

CAMP to CAMPUS

By WILLIAM F. BARRETT

Ed Lucas '43, visited the campus last week and related many tales of his adventures in the South Pacific to us. Ed participated in the invasion of Saipan and Leyte. Ed unexpectedly met Marine Lieutenant Ken Breitske '43, on the beachhead at Saipan and they spent several days together reminiscing over their thrilling experiences of their college life.

Ensign Tom McQuade '43, former roommate and buddy of Big Ed, is now stationed at Solomons Branch, Washington, D. C. Both are anticipating a big reunion.

Ensign Frank McGuinn '44, was recently graduated from Annapolis with Hugh Gillespie '44, and both are en route to Florida. Ensign Tom Nary ex '45 writes that he is leaving the West Coast for duty in the Pacific.

Jack "Mother" Guff ex '46, is now in O.C.S. at Quantico, Virginia, and expects to be commissioned shortly. L. Kevin McChesney, S. 1/C, just finished his furlough and is reporting to San Diego for duty, while his brother, Ensign Jack McChesney, just completed his training at Columbia University and is headed for Florida for advance assignment. Lt. Myles Sweeney and Lt. John J. Brown, former roommates and predental students are now stationed at Bainbridge, Maryland. Lieutenant Sweeney went to Georgetown Dental School and Lieutenant Brown went to the University of Maryland. Both independently joined the Navy and finally ended up as roommates at Bainbridge.

Eugene Homan, S 1/c ex '48, was back after finishing boot training at Sampson Naval Training Base. Ed Riley '42 just returned from France aboard a Merchant Ship.

The students' Mass on Mother's Day will be offered for all Villanova Mothers, both living and deceased—the Mothers of our forty gold stars represented on the College Service Flag; Mothers of our boys serving their country both at home and abroad; and the Mothers of our students now on the campus.

This Mass will be celebrated at 8:20 A. M. on Sunday, May 13, by the Rev. Edwin T. Grimes, O.S.A., College Chaplain.

Rev. F. X. Coan, Augustinian, Named Chaplain

Another name has been added to the growing list of Villanova priests who have entered the armed services to serve as chaplains. Rev. Francis X. Coan, O.S.A., who for many years taught in the School of Science at Villanova College, last week reported to Indiantown Gap after completing preliminary training at Fort Devens in Massachusetts.

Taught at Villanova

Fr. Coan is a native of Lawrence, Mass., hometown of many Augustinian priests. He was born there in 1900. In 1919 he was received into the Augustinian Order and was ordained to the priesthood at Villanova in 1926. The following year he was appointed to the faculty of the college, teaching in the School of Science. He remained at Villanova until 1938 when he was appointed to St. Rita High School in Chicago. Later he served at St. Augustine's parish in Philadelphia and at the Augustinian Academy in Staten Island until he entered the Army this year.

S. S. VILLANOVA LAUNCHED

Villanova has another representative on the high seas, in the person of the ten-thousand ton cargo ship, "Villanova Victory," launched recently at a West Coast shipyard.

SCHOLARSHIP ESTABLISHED

The New Jersey State Licensed Beverage Association has established a $5000 scholarship to Villanova College to be awarded annually in memory of the late William G. Wellhofer, former president of the association.

Mr. Wellhofer was the proprietor of the Greater Pitt, a restaurant and bar located on Tennessee Ave. below Pacific Ave. in Atlantic City.

Announcement of the scholarship was made at the annual dinner of the Association in Atlantic City. The first award will be made in 1946 by competitive examination among High School senior in Atlantic City. It will be extended to all schools in the state of New Jersey in subsequent years.

Not Yet

WITH THE announcement of total victory in Europe, we stand at the half-way mark on the road toward peace and world security. There remains the war with Japan, every bit as serious and menacing as the European conflict ever was. We face the prospect of many more months of hard, bitter fighting before we can look upon our task as finished.

More important still, there remains the important and vital problem of securing a just and lasting peace for all the peoples of the world. The San Francisco conference is only the first step in this direction and already it finds itself on uncertain ground. It is a sad commentary upon the sincerity of the oft-expressed desires of our allies for a lasting and equitable peace to find minor squabbles and selfish desires interfering with the great work before the conference.

The outcome of this conference will decide whether History will record the brave men who died in the bloody battles on the road to Berlin as the heroes in bringing the blessings of liberty to all men, or merely as another crop of martyrs on the altar of Mars. We have a sacred duty to these men to see that such is not their fate.

All this is part of the task which we have yet to accomplish. When the day comes when we can include all this under the head of "finished business," we may then celebrate the attainment of complete victory.

We Salute . . .

HOW STRANGE it is that V-E Day should be announced by the victorious Allied armies in Europe, the same week that we Americans celebrate Mothers' Day. What a strange paradox these two days of celebration present!

On the one hand we rejoice at the passing of "blood, sweat, and tears," from part of our human civilization. On the other hand, but somewhat weakly, we pay tribute to our mothers.

How the mothers of the world have suffered during the course of the European war! We need go no farther than our own shores to see this brought to the fore, only too realistically. Those "We regret to inform you" telegrams, which strike terror, fear and undeterminable anxiety into the hearts of the mothers of our fighting men; the banner head-lines which have announced the various Allied victories during the course of the European campaign, but which indicate that behind these victories are a host of dead and wounded.

Let us then salute the brave dames who have spawned our victorious heroes, who have brought these men up in the world with a sense of love of fellow men, of righteousness and Christian dignity. This then is the greatest tribute we can pay to our mothers throughout the world . . . that they have given to the world their sons, nurtured in the simple dignities of home life, who have died to make peace live. The future peace of the world depends upon our mothers of today. If, as it has been so in the American Tradition, they rear their sons with respect for the principles of Christianity, there need no longer be any fear of future wars.

Here is it—the "Big Week". Only four more days until that night of nights. After many long years of waiting, that dream of every college lad and lassie draws near. Soft lights, sweet music, starry skies (we hope) and that one and only in your arms. We really can't be caustic this week but we are going to try our best.

—V—

It looks like a Villanova mass meeting at Harcum Saturday night. It is easy to tell just when pay-day comes around. Everyone has a date the following week-end.

We were glad to hear that Father McFadden has volunteered his services for the circulation department. Don't let those two customers fool you, Father, when it comes time to collect.

At least the West Point trip was not a total loss to Stan Wagner. Stan is now preparing to publish a book, "How To Get Along With a Model in Ten Easy Lessons or Five Hard Ones." And never mind our middle name Stan.

—V—

Don Schmitt is now a confirmed Rosie. Before long we may be able to report he is in a class with "Red Button."

—V—

Shylock Koerner's new theme song: "I Call My Sugar, Candy, Because She Is Built Like a Peanut Cluster".

—V—

This is really important! Joe Gerngross, the decoration chairman for the Prom, has asked for volunteers for Thursday and Friday nights and also Saturday afternoon. How about it fellows? We will need some help so the Gym will be at its best. Either get in touch with Joe or this column and we can giv you definite information.

—V—

Tonight is the night for the card party and dance. Let's have a good turnout fellows for a really worthy cause.

—V—

The enthusiasm that usually goes with a dance, especially a formal, wasn't hitting on all six cylinders so "Ideas, Inc." Barrett decided to put a nickel in it. Wednesday morning it was impossible not to know about the Senior Ball. Windy's motto must have been "One sign for every square yard of wall space" because they were everywhere and we mean just that. About the only place he missed was Brown Prep.

And in case anyone should want a blind date for the Prom see the above mentioned little man.

Tony Caruso headed for Newark like a homing pigeon that was sent for and delayed. How's come, Tony? Could be a Rosemont lassie, could be. Latest odds on the Mendel Handicap:

—V—

Bob Conway has asked us not to mention any of his other dates as he doesn't want the news to become known. Just to show you how we strive to please, we won't say a word about it.

—V—

The annual May procession will be held this afternoon at Rosemont, starting at five o'clock. There is absolutely no truth to the story that Al Dumsa is to be May Queen.

—V—

It was certainly a sad sight last Saturday night to see six E. E. Seniors attempting to fix a record player. It may have been because Gerngross couldn't find the Transformer. (At least that's what he claims he was looking for.)

—V—

John Fitzgibbons, the well known Comic and Frolicker, seems to be showing the effects of those eight periods of Religion per week. No longer is he the carefree, frivolous lad of yesteryear. Today Jack is one of the saddest sights to behold with his mind overflowing with various bits of information.

—V—

We would like to know when the boys from the Playhouse are going to hold their initiation. What are you waiting for? Infanzon to write up a handbook in Spanish?

—V—

We were very pleased to hear that Tom Welch is taking his "wife" Mary to the Prom. That is what we like about Tom, he is such a sweet, lovable goof.

—V—

Well boys, that is all until the Prom. Don't forget, Saturday night, the Field House, one girl (minimum), one ticket (positively). Let's make this the Prom of Proms and really show the past and future Wildcats what the class of '45 can do.

Meet the Boys

By THOMAS P. WELCH, A/S

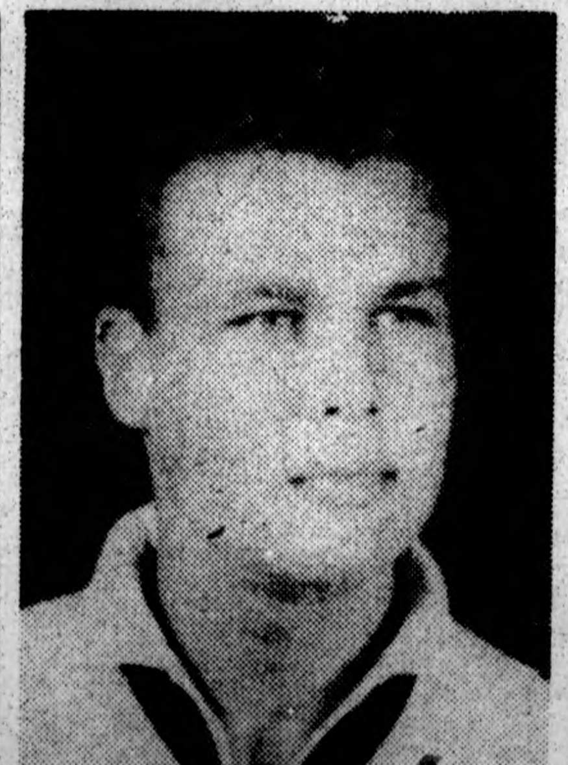
THIS week we present one half of the Senior Class of the Chemical Engineering School in the persons of Robert McKibbin, A.S., and Robert Cramer, A.S. These two, together with Bill Connor, A.S., became notorious several semesters ago as the inhabitants of 251 Mendel — the most often visited room on the campus, especially by inspecting officers.

Bob McKibbin was born in St. Paul, Minnesota, and at the age of eleven, his family piled into their Chevrolet and set sail for Drexel Hill, Pa., where they have since resided. Incidentally, that same famous Chevy will be on display in the parking lot across from the Field House next Saturday night.

After a short sojourn at St. Andrew's Parochial School, Bob proceded to Upper Darby Junior, and later Senior High Schools. At the latter he was a member of the track team, running the mile and the half-mile. In his senior year he was captain of the cross-country team; and in the theatrical line, he played the part of Steve in "George Washington Slept Here".

After a season as a salesman for the Fuller Brush Company, Bob decided a college education might help so he enrolled in the School of Chemical Engineering at Villanova College in October, 1942. In his Freshman year he made several names for himself.

First of all, he joined the Phi Kappa Pi, for which fraternity he was recently chairman of the Initiation Committee. Secondly, he marched with the college band. He usually carried some instrument, but the day the pictures of the band were taken, Bob had no horn. From then on he was known as the vocalist. He could do it, too.



ROBERT C. McKIBBON, A.S.

His final accomplishment in his initial year here was the exhibition of his countenance in every section picture of the class. The main difficulty confronted the Belle Air Editors in giving him a different name under each picture.

Among his other accomplishments, he was columnist for the Villanovan for a semester. He and another character, "Gus" Gillespie, recently commissioned, were the proud authors of MacGill's Folly. The cries from the Villanovan office to "Please put our pictures in this week" often attracted as much attention as their gossip and quips.

In the past he has run the half-mile for the track team and presently he is on the business staff of the 1945 Belle Air and on the committee for social arrangements

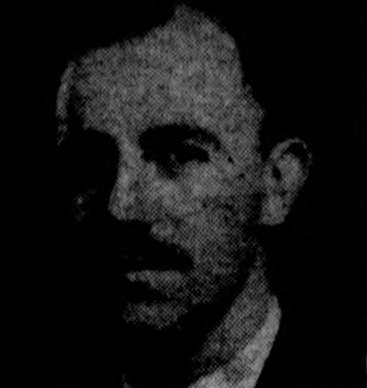
No Spirit Lacking Here



By Dean Morehouse

An editorial in the last issue of the Villanovan decries the lack of college spirit on our campus. In the field of my observation I would take exception to those sentiments.

It has seemed to me, after talking with personnel from other colleges having a Service program, or reading their publications, Villanova, by comparison, has been very fortunate in this respect. It appears that on some campuses, for example, publications are continued with extreme difficulty due to lack of student cooperation. Further, student branch chapters of national societies and other extra-curricular activities survive only with a minimum membership, if at all. Such has not been the case generally in our Engineering School at least. Membership in the ASCE, AIEE and ASME is commensurate with enrollment in their respective fields. Phi Kappa Pi only recently initiated a group of forty-two, which is a commendable figure considering present enrollment in the lower classes.

It has been especially gratifying to note the cooperation of men transferred from other colleges under the Service program. Obviously they had selected their college with the view of attaining a degree from the school of their choice; yet, having been sent elsewhere, they have entered into the campus life of Villanova and supported its activities.

The old saw that one gets out of an experience the equivalent of what he puts into it, holds true for participation in extra-curricular activities. They not only enrich the student's life while in college but they also enhance his prospects for employment when he leaves the campus. To personnel men grades are an index to the student's ability, punctuality, and performance; but his record of extra-curricular activities is a key to his personality, leadership and ability to work with others. Certainly it is much easier to write a convincing recommendation for a man who has made himself known about college than for one who has achieved only a scholastic record. This factor might well be important when seeking employment or advancement.

Often it is in outside activities that students discover latent abilities which, when exercised, pay dividends in later life, whether it be military or civilian. They afford him an opportunity to develop qualities essential to a well-rounded person, able to cooperate with or lead others. To the argument that there is insufficient time for such non-classroom affairs the reply might be another truism, it is the busy man who gets things done.

I would then congratulate those who have seen the value of engaging in and supporting outside activities, and I would encourage the others to seek avenues of interest in addition to their scheduled program, and so pursue it for enjoyment, development and profit.

Spring Fantasies

By LES POWERS, A.S.

This entire column is dedicated to self-explanation and apologies . . . not for things done, but for columns left unfinished. When Chick Magner left, a rather successful partnership was severed. We wrote what we thought was our "Exit Laughing," but I remained. The laughs apparently ceased, so I should have stopped writing the column, but I didn't because I needed it for self-defense. Walters and Powers, the so-called "Goldbrick Twins," remained, but since we both returned to the Campus at 7:55 Sunday evening we were in no condition for the collection of laughs. We had to depend upon Tanski, Scanlon, Callaghan, and Costello and a well-informed group for data on the dates and damsels of the week-end. We had no time to investigate and shaft Eddie Becker. We couldn't find out who Geo. Seibert wasn't taking to the dance — the only engineer not as yet going (Did we say Engineer?). We didn't know the angle on Frank Solis in his role of Sir Walter Raleigh. We forgot to report that White Sonner returned from that Sat. night hayride at 7 P. M. Sunday. We still do not know if it was Stan Nabity and Chick Gregory who turned "chicken" in Ardmore Sunday afternoon. The number 1126 or 1127 has no significance to us in Fedigan — could it be of any importance in Austin? We mistakenly reported of Joe Beals' escapades in Philly suburbs when he wasn't outside of the city proper the entire week-end. We misspelled names repeatedly — didn't we, Surowitz and McManus?

We had to submit to corrections by Chestnut Hill Lassies. We were not appreciated by the Joans and Jeans of Bryn Mawr and Rosemont colleges. We couldn't utilize this column to find out ahead of the school authorities the grades we received in Physiology. Our space in the Villanovan was reduced to a mere 27-40 lines, but we couldn't blame them MUCH. We never printed our "around the clock with a V-12er." Fr. O'Leary flattered us and called us "Winchells with skirts." We don't know how Lizak spent the week-end. We never told Collegeman to let well enough alone, but we're telling him now. (Be our witnesses.)

Therefore, it was at first—"exit Joe" and now it's "exit Les." When the column represents its author and it ceases to have the "traditional punch" it's time to let someone else have a try. I have few regrets and only one last request. We hereby apply to the editors for a two-column spread for a last few words in the final issue of the Villanovan at the close of our last semester. By us I mean Chick Magner, Joe Walters, and yours truly. I hope it will be granted. I think it would be well worth the reading time it would demand.

Baseball Comments

By FR. EDWARD McCARTHY
Varsity Baseball Coach

Two more games to report on this week—and both of them losses. In both of them, however, we played some good ball, showed considerable improvement in some departments of play, and could have won with a few hits at opportune times.

Army beat us, 11-2, but the score is misleading. The game wasn't nearly as onesided as the score would indicate. Fielding conditions were poor and both teams made five errors. Army outhit us nine to five, but the big difference in the score was due mainly to the defensive play of Glenn Davis, Army centerfielder. In two successive innings, once with two on, the other time with three on, Davis retired the side with amazing over-the-shoulder catches of deep drives into right-centerfield.

The most serious loss of the Army game was Orville Anderson, who received a badly sprained ankle. On a light hitting club, Anderson was one of our best hitters, and will be sorely missed in close games.

The Valley Forge game, on Saturday, was the best we have been in so far. The only bad part of it was the fact that we lost, and that was due to an error in judgment on my part.

The pitching on both sides was superb. Naslund allowed only three hits, and one of them was a scratch infield hit that no one could reach. Pappalardo, the Valley Forge left hander, gave up one hit and two walks.

Our defense play was very good. Murphy deserves special commendation for his fielding of a pop foul almost back of home plate. The only expensive lapse was Eisenhart's leaving home plate unguarded with men on second and third. He probably won't make that mistake again.

The two runs that Valley Forge got came when I permitted Naslund to pitch to Lazzeri with two out and men on second and third. The obvious play was to pass Lazzeri, to pitch to the pitcher with an out available at any base. However, since Naslund had been getting by with such little trouble and Lazzeri didn't appear dangerous, I decided to take a chance on him. That mistake cost us two runs and the ball game.

Wildcat Nine Loses To Army and Valley Forge

Meaicas Take Abbreviated Contest, 2-0; Game Called in Seventh

Rain on Saturday afternoon not only caused the Villanova-Valley Forge General Hospital game to be shortened but also cost the Wildcats two innings of play to put themselves back in the winning column. Valley Forge won the contest, 2-0, which was halted during the second half of the seventh.

An error of commission and of ommission spelled the Wildcats defeat, the fifth on the card of six so far played, in the fifth inning when the Medics put across two tallies for the only scores of the day.

Shortstop Ronchetti opened the Valley Forge half of the fifth with a double, and advanced to third on Dillon's single. Lazzeri beat out an infield hit. Don Boos, Wildcat second baseman, scooped up the ball, saw that the play at first was futile and hurled the ball home to head off a run. However, Ike Eisenhart, Villanova catcher, had left the plate open to back up the play at first. Ronchetti and Dillon scored as Boos' throw went unchecked.

Murphy got the lone Villanova hit of the ball game in the fourth inning, a single. However it was to little avail, as he was caught off first while Marano was at bat.

Except for the fatal fifth frame, Dick Naslund hurled no-hit ball for the Wildcats. In all, he allowed three hits. Fred Cappalardo, Medics' hurler, went the entire six innings, giving up but one hit.

The game was originally scheduled to be played at Valley Forge, in conjunction with the opening of a new ball field there, and the Medics retained their home team status despite the switch of playing grounds.

Villanova Falls, 11-2, as Glenn Davis Stars for Cadets; Anderson Injured

On Doubleday Field, at the cradle of Army officers, West Point team beat the Villanova nine by the score of 11-2. Once again the score was more lop-sided than the game and the Wildcats through some quirk of fate could not pull this one out of the fire.

The brilliant defensive play of Plebe Glenn Davis helped the Army hold the Wildcat nine by the tail until the seventh inning when it finally pulled away for two runs on a hit, a walk and some faulty Army infield work. Mr. Davis, the "Flash", threw a monkey wrench into the works and more than robbed Bobby Dorsch and Charley "Ike" Eisenhardt of certain extra base hits. His one-handed stabs in the center field picket patrol snatched potential game-breakers from the score book.

Anderson Hurt

A sad light of the game was the injury in the second inning to the ever dependable Orville Anderson. Andy lined the ball to Army's Chabot at third base. Chabot hurled the throw and it was wild. On another bad throw by an Army man, Anderson went to second and slid into a bad sprain. He was forced to leave the ball game—and when he left the game, the Wildcats lost much of their ferocity. Andy has finally returned to Villanova after spending several days in the West Point Hospital.

Because of his walks and poor fielding behind him, Matas, the pitcher for the Villanovans was in hot water for the first six innings of the fray. It was these breaks that gave the Kaydets such a high score. These runs came in the second frame with three, three in the fifth and one in the sixth canto.

Naslund Relief

In the seventh, Dick Naslund came in, in relief of "Bull" Matas and hurled for the last two innings. Tiring out in the ninth after the first two Army men were out, Naslund allowed four West Point runs to cross the pay plate. These scores came on two walks, two errors and a long double by McConnell.

Leading the soldiers to this victory were Cadets McConnell, Chabot, and Bob St. Onge, erstwhile footballer, who garnered six of the nine Army hits. Davey Marano was the really bright Villanova spot for the afternoon. Dave, who is always a hustler rapped out two solid hits and turned in a flawless game in the field.

This marks the second straight victory of the West Point baseball team over the Wildcats, having won last year's contest, 7-3.

IM Softball League Starts Spring Season

Fedigan and Marines Lead in Standings After First Week; Fleisher Scores First Run of the Year

The ever popular Intramural Softball League got under way last Monday night and after a three game schedule there are two ties in the standings for the week.

The Marines opened the season by defeating Mendel 10-4, while Austin bested their Naval brethren from Fedigan Hall 14-11.

Dan Fleisher, the Civilian backstop, scored the first run of the season on a single by Al Dumsa after receiving a pass from Billy Williams, the Leatherneck flinger. This gave the Mendelians a 1-0 lead which was short lived when the Marines took advantage of the Civilian miscues in the second inning to garner six runs. They added two more in the fourth and another pair in the fifth to take the ball game 10-4.

Excellent Support

On the other field the Austinites outslugged Fedigan for their only win of the week. Righthander Dick Tanski received excellent support at the plate to augment his stellar pitching.

Wednesday night's tilts, which were almost cancelled on account of rain, resulted in wins for Fedigan and Mendel. The Redbirds came from behind to eke out a 9-7 margin over the prevailing Marines. Bob Wilson hit a homer for the winners.

Only Win

The same night Mendel took her only win of the week over Austin with whom they are now tied for third place. The Sailors capitalized on Bill Koerner's wild pitches which set a new record for passed balls. But spirited ball playing allowed the Civilians to take the game, 7-6.

Friday night's encounters were a little more one-sided. The Marines

Villanova To Meet Swarthmore Nine Away Tomorrow

Little Quakers Have Three and Three Record; Wildcats Out for Second Win of Season

Villanova's varsity nine will meet Swarthmore College tomorrow afternoon on the Little Quakers' diamond. This game is the first of a home and home series.

To date, Swarthmore has played six games, winning three and losing three. The Little Quakers burned up the field at the outset of the season by beating Drexel, 5-4, Lafayette, 4-3; and Ursinus, 5-4. Army handed them their first defeat by walloping them, 14-1, and Lehigh took their measure, 7-5. In the Penn contest, last Friday, Swarthmore lost, 7-2.

Coach Robert H. Dunn has on hand material which has made an even showing against the type of competition which Villanova has met and will continue to meet this season.

Same Lineup

For the Wildcat contest, Coach Dunn will probably call on John Murphy for hurling duties, while James Sooter will be on the receiving end of the battery.

The infield will consist of Bill Brodie, first base, Dave Birch, second base, Skelley, third base, and Dinnenback, shortstop.

The outfield will probably be: Holloway, leftfield; Kearcher, centerfield, and Voss, rightfield.

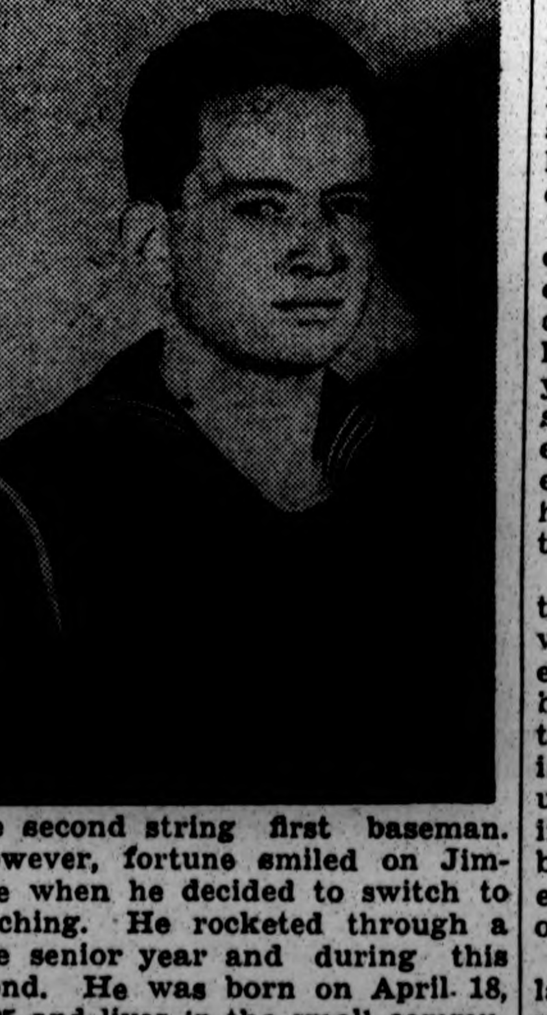
For the Wildcats, no lineup has been announced as yet, but in all probability it will be much the same as that which started last Saturday's Valley Forge General Hospital contest. Matas is expected to get the nod from Father McCarthy for the starting pitching assignment.

In last year's engagements, the Garnet tied the Blue and White in the first two games, and won the third game by the terrific score of 11-4.

In The Sportlight

By MATT KEARNEY, A.S.

The headliner of the Villanova sports world whom we spotlight this week is James Lafferty, A.S. James, who is better known as "Red" because he sports a carrot-top head of hair, is a hustler for the Wildcats on the baseball diamond. He was born on April 18, 1925 and lives in the small community of Kennett Square, Pennsylvania.



Red attended Kennett Square High School where he played baseball for three years. His first two years were uneventful as he sat on the bench most of the time as the second string first baseman. However, fortune smiled on Jimmie when he decided to switch to pitching. He rocketed through a fine senior year and during this time he was given a tryout by the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Played Semi-Pro Ball

During the next summer he played ball with a top semi-pro team in Wilmington, the Bellanca Aircraft team. Jim decided to enter Villanova in October of 1942. He spent a year here as a civilian, after which time he enlisted in the Navy and was stationed here in the V-12 Unit. He enrolled in the Mechanical Engineering course and will graduate in July. He belongs to the ASME and the PKP engineering societies.

His baseball career here is indeed an impressive one. He played as a freshman under "Doc" Jacobs and was very good as a relief hurler this year. In his second year he drew several starting assignments. Trouble broke, however, when last summer he developed a sore arm. As a result of this he is limited to playing the outfield this season.

Lafferty proudly credits all of his tricks and ability to his dad, who was a well-known "spit-ball" pitcher in his earlier days. Jimmie boasts of how his dad taught him to throw the "spitter" and how he is often tempted to slip it in on the umpire in a game when he's pitching. Red admits he'd like to make baseball his career if his arm loosens up and he comes around to his old form.

As acting captain of the 1945 Villanova team, James will bid farewell to his college ball-playing days in June. He has played for the Wildcats for three straight years. He is all for sportsmanship on the field and off and always has a genial Irish smile. The team will miss his plugging spirit, when he moves on to greater things.

Bob played the baritone in the Aquinas band when they won the National Championship among high school symphonic bands in 1940. He played in the school band for four years and also played in a dance band for two years before beating a trail to Villanova in the Fall of 1942.

With such a musical background, he was immediately accepted to play with the Villanovans during his Freshman year. This group unfortunately broke up the next year and he was forced to put all his energies into the College Band for the next 3 years.

His musical knowledge has gained him the position of Chairman or Co-Chairman of the Band Committee for the Phi Kap's June Hop, the Winter Hop, the coming Senior Ball and the Senior Dinner Dance to be held in June. It is due to Bob's efforts that the Seniors have secured Boyd Raeburn and his orchestra to come from New York for the Senior Ball.

Bob has yet to miss a Villanova dance, even though in his freshman year he did go to the affairs as a member of the Villanovans, the college dance band. We don't mean to infer by the above that Bob would have any trouble getting a date for the dances but. . .

NROTC Program To Be Inaugurated On Campus

Information on New Program To Be Released Soon; Villanova One of Two New Schools in State

The Very Rev. Francis X. N. McGuire, O. S. A., president of the college, has been informed by the Navy Department that a unit of the expanded Navy Reserve Officers Training Program is to be stationed at Villanova, beginning on or about November 1, 1945.

According to information released by the Associated Press, the enrollment in the ROTC is being increased from 14,000 to 24,000, and twenty-five new schools are to be added to the program. Villanova is one of the two such schools in Pennsylvania, the other being Penn State College. An ROTC program has been in existence at the University of Pennsylvania for some time. Under the expanded program there will be a total of fifty-two schools participating.

V-12 To Continue

Full details of the program have not yet been released, but a formal announcement is expected within the next few months. The placing of students in the new program is to be handled directly by the Navy Department. As far as is known at present, the V-12 program will be continued after the start of the ROTC with almost the strength it has now.

Arrangements for the transfer of advanced students from the V-12 program to the ROTC, or for their remaining in the former, have not yet been made. Hitherto, those who completed V-12 basic course and who were interested in entering the Naval Reserve as a career, were permitted to express a preference to be transferred to ROTC. It is not yet known whether the completion of the war in Europe will have any effect upon the program.

Drama Club In Dress Rehearsal

The dramatic society was confined to one rehearsal last week, due to the fact that the gym was unavailable for further use. The topic of the meeting which preceded the rehearsal was the club party which will be held June 14 at Overbrook. Howie Groetzinger and Lem Wentling were appointed to take care of arrangements for this affair. Father Falvey was also present at the meeting.

The first dress rehearsal will be next Wednesday night. With only three weeks left, Sgt. Muir has finished making the final changes in the script and is putting much stress on the revised script. Meanwhile, Stage and Prop. Manager Bob Austin, has secured most of the props for the play and should have this task completed in another week.

DPE INITIATIONS

President William F. Barrett announced that the Delta Pi Epsilon will hold its initiation and smoker tomorrow night at 7:00 in the C. & F. building. Pledgees are requested to assemble in the locker room in appropriate clothing. After the initiation there will be a smoker in the Field House with Rev. E. B. McKee, O.S.A., vice-president and Prof. P. J. Dougherty, moderator, among the speakers. Membership cards will be distributed at this time. All members, both old and new, are requested to balance their accounts as soon as possible.

Senior Grand March

When the Senior Grand March had ended the Class of '45 stood at attention and sang the Villanova Alma Mater.

'Villanova Victory' Hits the Waves

Named in honor of Villanova College, the 10,500-ton Victory Ship S.S. Villanova victory was launched on April 27, 1945, by the California Shipbuilding Corp. The ship, which is scheduled to be delivered to the Maritime Commission within a few weeks after the launching ceremony, is the 435th to be launched from the Calship yard on Terminal Island, in the heart of Los Angeles Harbor.

Father Austin Speaks

Representing Villanova at the launching ceremony was the Rev. Thomas B. Austin, O.S.A., of the Class of 1916, pastor of Our Mother of Good Counsel Church, Hollywood, Calif. Fr. Austin spoke briefly, before the launching of the ship, on Villanova, reviewing her One Hundred Years in the interest of education, and her present contribution to the war effort. Besides Fr. Austin, the following members of the Augustinian Order and members of the Villanova Alumni Club of California were present: Rev. John Walsh, '23; Rev. Geo. Conley, '31; Richard L. Schleicker, '29; John Ukleja, '34; Joseph P. Costigan, '35 and Hubert M. Langlois, '23.

Second Ship

This is the second ship named after Villanova College to serve in the Armed Forces. The 136-foot Diesel-powered trawler Villanova, launched at Bath, Maine, in 1937, was taken over by the Navy in 1940 and converted into the minesweeper Bullfinch. For some time after its transferral, the Bullfinch was harbored at York River, near Yorktown, N. Y., and was used as a schoolship.

Card Party And Musicale Set Pace For Social Week

Setting the pace for a hectic week of social activity, the annual Augustinian Seminary Guild Card Party was held last Tuesday, May 8, at the Villanova Field House. The Director of the Seminary Guild, Reverend John J. Coffey, O.S.A., estimated that there were approximately 1700 people present at the affair. This comprised the largest attendance at any of the affairs since their inauguration over twelve years ago.

$1000 Door Prizes

Door prizes amounting to $1000 were awarded to the holders of the lucky ticket numbers. The first prize consisted of $500, the second prize $250, the third prize $125, and the fourth and fifth prizes were $75 and $50 respectively. Two cartons of the precious, non-obtainable commodity of cigarettes were raffled off as special prizes.

After the conclusion of the games and the card playing the dancing commenced. The music for the affair was supplied by Private Paul Hathaway and his newly organized band. The celebration of V-E day also heightened the gaiety of the affair.

Music Festival

The annual Music Festival of the Catholic Girls' High Schools was held the following evening, May 9, at the Field House. The company was divided into three groups, a combined Symphonic Orchestra and Symphonic Band under the direction of Jeno Donath; a verse speaking choir directed by Miss Margaret Mary Kearney, and a Combined Glee Club conducted by

Marine Reporters Here For V-12 Story

Two Marine visitors on the Villanova campus last week were Staff Sergeant Detereille and Technical Sergeant James Hague. Their purpose was to observe and photograph the V-12 Unit stationed here in action.

The data they obtain will be used to publicize the College Training Program to the enlisted men of the Marine Corps. Tech. Sgt. Hague is from the Public Relations Division and Staff Srgt. Detereille is a photographer for "Leatherneck," official mouthpiece of the Marine Corps. Articles on their stay here will appear in "Leatherneck" and the Headquarters Bulletin. The two non-commissioned officers came last Monday a week and left late last week.

Seniors Hail Formal Dance As Most Successful In Years

Work of Decoration Committee Outstanding; Rhythms by Raeburn, Mixture of Sweet and Hot Music, Enjoyed by All

Villanova's Senior Ball, last Saturday night, was the most successful social affair held on the campus in many years. Beyond a doubt, the most outstanding feature of the dance was the work accomplished by the decorations committee.

The motif was a park atmosphere with the usual benches placed around the floor. Along the sides, were park lamps hung from the balcony. The entrance was decorated with a white trellis and fence, on which red and white flowers were hung, interspersed among green vines. At different places along the side of the floor were more white trellises with the same type of decorations, and along the walls, benches were placed at advantageous positions. Behind the band were five white pillars and above these was a sign with the letters in silver on a black background designating the dance as the Senior Ball of 1945.

More Decorations

On the opposite side of the floor two black and silver silhouettes, one of a man, and another of a woman, cover the stairway entrances. The stage was arranged as a lounge, with a big Villanova banner hanging on the curtains.

Over the entrance and the west side of the hall, were more Villanova blue and white banners each of a different type.

The crowd itself was a very colorful one composed of faculty members, former Villanovans (most of them home on leave), and of course the present student body. A very welcome addition to the decorations was the beautiful fashion display provided by the young ladies.

Co-chairmen Joseph Gerngross A.S. and Joseph Keating A.S. of the decorations committee, wish to extend their personal thanks to all who aided in the preparations which were by far the most elaborate of any dance in the past two years.

Committee Extends Thanks

Boyd Raeburn satisfied all present by his arrangements of the sweet and hot side of modern music. His style was a distinctive one, and his interpretation of the popular tunes proved to be very soothing and original.

The dance itself originally scheduled to last from eight-thirty to ewelve was changed at the last

V-E Day Exercises At Villanova Held In College Chapel

Though sobering in its effects, the May 8th V-E exercises at Villanova were a fitting tribute to our armies in Europe, many members of which are former Villanovans.

The exercises, held in the College Chapel, were attended by the entire V-12 unit who paraded from the Muster Field to the Chapel, all civilian students, the office force, college workmen, Navy personnel and many outsiders from the surrounding countryside.

The ceremony opened with the Chaplain's Service Call rendered on the bugle by Pvt. Lyttle, a Marine trainee; then followed a short prayed by Father McKee, the college Vice-president.

Address by Father Grimes

The main address was delivered by Father Grimes, College and Unit Chaplain. Some of the highlights of Father's speech are quoted below: "We rejoice on this day of Victory, but it is a sober and a pensive rejoicing because our victory has been purchased at a great price, with untold bloodshed, suffering and sacrifice. We thank God on this day of victory, Who has given strength to our arms and blessed all our efforts. . . We. . . resolve on this day of victory that our heroic dead will not have died in vain."

Schola Cantorum

Father Grimes then asked the entire congregation to rise for the sounding of Taps. There followed the hymn "Jubilate Deo" sung in four part harmony by the Schola Cantrum of Saint Mary's Hall. The colorful ceremony was concluded with a solemn prayer for peace, the Color call and the National Anthem, with all present joining in the last.

The recessional hymn sung by the choir was one of thanksgiving, "Praise Him." Previous to the exercises the Chapel bells rang for fifteen minutes in thanksgiving.

Everybody enjoys a moment of good-natured friendliness. Such a moment begins at the words Have a Coke. That's why a pause for ice-cold Coca-Cola is greeted with a smile in so many places, on the seas and overseas, just as it is in your home. It's a happy symbol among people who understand the pleasant ways of friendship.

NROTC Program To Be Inaugurated On Campus

Information on New Program To Be Released Soon; Villanova One of Two New Schools in State

The Very Rev. Francis X. N. McGuire, O. S. A., president of the college, has been informed by the Navy Department that a unit of the expanded Navy Reserve Officers Training Program is to be stationed at Villanova, beginning on or about November 1, 1945.

According to information released by the Associated Press, the enrollment in the ROTC is being increased from 14,000 to 24,000, and twenty-five new schools are to be added to the program. Villanova is one of the two such schools in Pennsylvania, the other being Penn State College. An ROTC program has been in existence at the University of Pennsylvania for some time. Under the expanded program there will be a total of fifty-two schools participating.

V-12 To Continue

Full details of the program have not yet been released, but a formal announcement is expected within the next few months. The placing of students in the new program is to be handled directly by the Navy Department. As far as is known at present, the V-12 program will be continued after the start of the ROTC with almost the strength it has now.

Arrangements for the transfer of advanced students from the V-12 program to the ROTC, or for their remaining in the former, have not yet been made. Hitherto, those who completed V-12 basic course and who were interested in entering the Naval Reserve as a career, were permitted to express a preference to be transferred to ROTC. It is not yet known whether the completion of the war in Europe will have any effect upon the program.

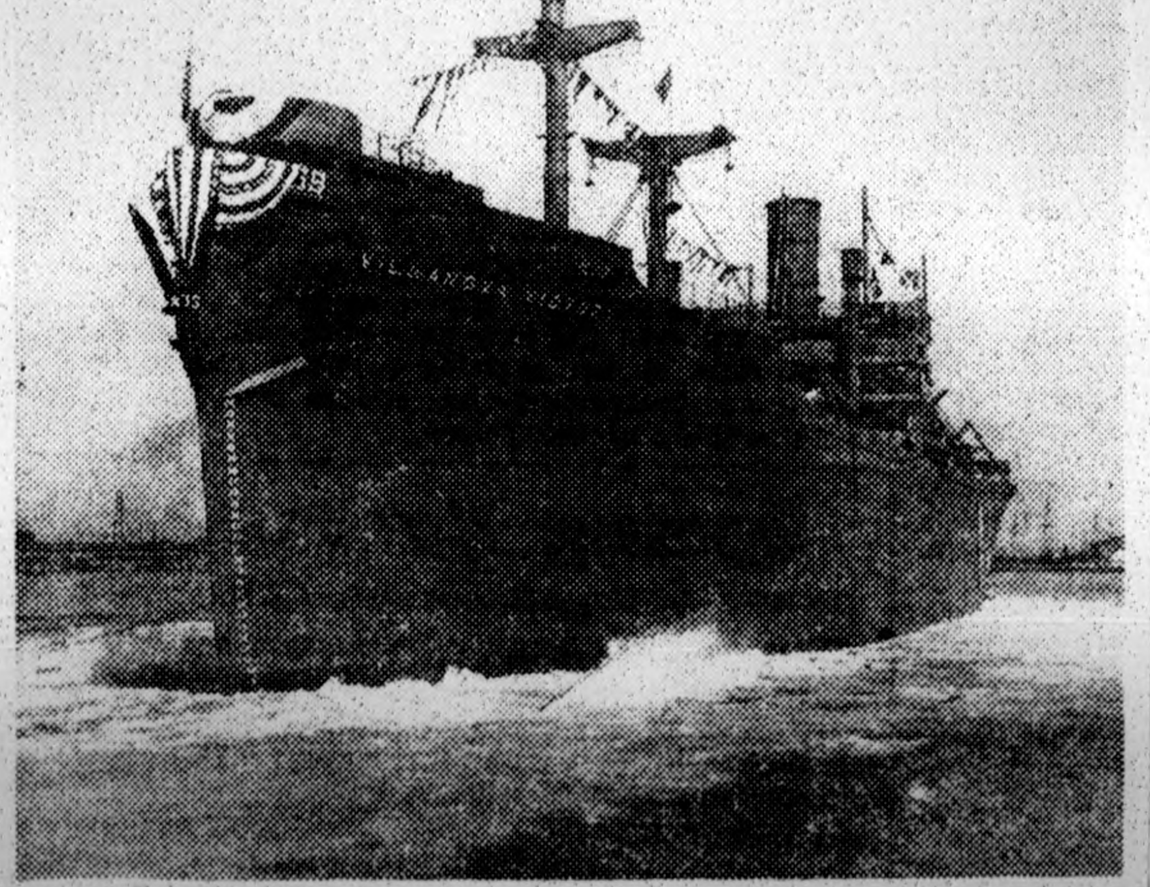
Drama Club In Dress Rehearsal

The dramatic society was confined to one rehearsal last week, due to the fact that the gym was unavailable for further use. The topic of the meeting which preceded the rehearsal was the club party which will be held June 14 at Overbrook. Howie Groetzinger and Lem Wentling were appointed to take care of arrangements for this affair. Father Falvey was also present at the meeting.

The first dress rehearsal will be next Wednesday night. With only three weeks left, Sgt. Muir has finished making the final changes in the script and is putting much stress on the revised script. Meanwhile, Stage and Prop. Manager Bob Austin, has secured most of the props for the play and should have this task completed in another week.

DPE INITIATIONS

President William F. Barrett announced that the Delta Pi Epsilon will hold its initiation and smoker tomorrow night at 7:00 in the C. & F. building. Pledgees are requested to assemble in the locker room in appropriate clothing. After the initiation there will be a smoker in the Field House with Rev. E. B. McKee, O.S.A., vice-president and Prof. P. J. Dougherty, moderator, among the speakers. Membership cards will be distributed at this time. All members, both old and new, are requested to balance their accounts as soon as possible.



'Villanova Victory' Hits the Waves

Named in honor of Villanova College, the 10,500-ton Victory Ship S.S. Villanova victory was launched on April 27, 1945, by the California Shipbuilding Corp. The ship, which is scheduled to be delivered to the Maritime Commission within a few weeks after the launching ceremony, is the 435th to be launched from the Calship yard on Terminal Island, in the heart of Los Angeles Harbor.

Father Austin Speaks

Representing Villanova at the launching ceremony was the Rev. Thomas B. Austin, O.S.A., of the Class of 1916, pastor of Our Mother of Good Counsel Church, Hollywood, Calif. Fr. Austin spoke briefly, before the launching of the ship, on Villanova, reviewing her One Hundred Years in the interest of education, and her present contribution to the war effort. Besides Fr. Austin, the following members of the Augustinian Order and members of the Villanova Alumni Club of California were present: Rev. John Walsh, '23; Rev. Geo. Conley, '31; Richard L. Schleicker, '29; John Ukleja, '34; Joseph P. Costigan, '35 and Hubert M. Langlois, '23.

Second Ship

This is the second ship named after Villanova College to serve in the Armed Forces. The 136-foot Diesel-powered trawler Villanova, launched at Bath, Maine, in 1937, was taken over by the Navy in 1940 and converted into the minesweeper Bullfinch. For some time after its transferral, the Bullfinch was harbored at York River, near Yorktown, N. Y., and was used as a schoolship.

Senior Grand March

When the Senior Grand March had ended the Class of '45 stood at attention and sang the Villanova Alma Mater.

Card Party And Musicale Set Pace For Social Week

Setting the pace for a hectic week of social activity, the annual Augustinian Seminary Guild Card Party was held last Tuesday, May 8, at the Villanova Field House. The Director of the Seminary Guild, Reverend John J. Coffey, O.S.A., estimated that there were approximately 1700 people present at the affair. This comprised the largest attendance at any of the affairs since their inauguration over twelve years ago.

$1000 Door Prizes

Door prizes amounting to $1000 were awarded to the holders of the lucky ticket numbers. The first prize consisted of $500, the second prize $250, the third prize $125, and the fourth and fifth prizes were $75 and $50 respectively. Two cartons of the precious, non-obtainable commodity of cigarettes were raffled off as special prizes.

After the conclusion of the games and the card playing the dancing commenced. The music for the affair was supplied by Private Paul Hathaway and his newly organized band. The celebration of V-E day also heightened the gaiety of the affair.

Music Festival

The annual Music Festival of the Catholic Girls' High Schools was held the following evening, May 9, at the Field House. The company was divided into three groups, a combined Symphonic Orchestra and Symphonic Band under the direction of Jeno Donath; a verse speaking choir directed by Miss Margaret Mary Kearney, and a Combined Glee Club conducted by

Marine Reporters Here For V-12 Story

Two Marine visitors on the Villanova campus last week were Staff Sergeant Detereille and Technical Sergeant James Hague. Their purpose was to observe and photograph the V-12 Unit stationed here in action.

The data they obtain will be used to publicize the College Training Program to the enlisted men of the Marine Corps. Tech. Sgt. Hague is from the Public Relations Division and Staff Srgt. Detereille is a photographer for "Leatherneck," official mouthpiece of the Marine Corps. Articles on their stay here will appear in "Leatherneck" and the Headquarters Bulletin. The two non-commissioned officers came last Monday a week and left late last week.

Seniors Hail Formal Dance As Most Successful In Years

Work of Decoration Committee Outstanding; Rhythms by Raeburn, Mixture of Sweet and Hot Music, Enjoyed by All

Villanova's Senior Ball, last Saturday night, was the most successful social affair held on the campus in many years. Beyond a doubt, the most outstanding feature of the dance was the work accomplished by the decorations committee.

The motif was a park atmosphere with the usual benches placed around the floor. Along the sides, were park lamps hung from the balcony. The entrance was decorated with a white trellis and fence, on which red and white flowers were hung, interspersed among green vines. At different places along the side of the floor were more white trellises with the same type of decorations, and along the walls, benches were placed at advantageous positions. Behind the band were five white pillars and above these was a sign with the letters in silver on a black background designating the dance as the Senior Ball of 1945.

More Decorations

On the opposite side of the floor two black and silver silhouettes, one of a man, and another of a woman, cover the stairway entrances. The stage was arranged as a lounge, with a big Villanova banner hanging on the curtains.

Over the entrance and the west side of the hall, were more Villanova blue and white banners each of a different type.

The crowd itself was a very colorful one composed of faculty members, former Villanovans (most of them home on leave), and of course the present student body. A very welcome addition to the decorations was the beautiful fashion display provided by the young ladies.

Co-chairmen Joseph Gerngross A.S. and Joseph Keating A.S. of the decorations committee, wish to extend their personal thanks to all who aided in the preparations which were by far the most elaborate of any dance in the past two years.

Committee Extends Thanks

Boyd Raeburn satisfied all present by his arrangements of the sweet and hot side of modern music. His style was a distinctive one, and his interpretation of the popular tunes proved to be very soothing and original.

The dance itself originally scheduled to last from eight-thirty to ewelve was changed at the last

V-E Day Exercises At Villanova Held In College Chapel

Though sobering in its effects, the May 8th V-E exercises at Villanova were a fitting tribute to our armies in Europe, many members of which are former Villanovans.

The exercises, held in the College Chapel, were attended by the entire V-12 unit who paraded from the Muster Field to the Chapel, all civilian students, the office force, college workmen, Navy personnel and many outsiders from the surrounding countryside.

The ceremony opened with the Chaplain's Service Call rendered on the bugle by Pvt. Lyttle, a Marine trainee; then followed a short prayed by Father McKee, the college Vice-president.

Address by Father Grimes

The main address was delivered by Father Grimes, College and Unit Chaplain. Some of the highlights of Father's speech are quoted below: "We rejoice on this day of Victory, but it is a sober and a pensive rejoicing because our victory has been purchased at a great price, with untold bloodshed, suffering and sacrifice. We thank God on this day of victory, Who has given strength to our arms and blessed all our efforts . . . We resolve on this day of victory that our heroic dead will not have died in vain."

Schola Cantorum

Father Grimes then asked the entire congregation to rise for the sounding of Taps. There followed the hymn "Jubilate Deo" sung in four part harmony by the Schola Cantrum of Saint Mary's Hall. The colorful ceremony was concluded with a solemn prayer for peace, the Color call and the National Anthem, with all present joining in the last.

The recessional hymn sung by the choir was one of thanksgiving, "Praise Him." Previous to the exercises the Chapel bells rang for fifteen minutes in thanksgiving.

Let's Do It Again

Last Saturday night the old Villanova College spirit returned to the campus after a conspicuous absence. Although past editorials of this newspaper have decried the lack of school spirit at our institution, we now believe that in all justice it is our place to extend hearty congratulations to these students.

We of the VILLANOVAN realize that many of the students now attending our college do not really feel at home. Many of them hail from various sections of our great nation, and, as is only human, they do not particularly care to be far away from their home state. It took some time before all of us were willing to realize this fact, and until then our conception of the character of the men attending our school was not the best. Slowly but surely, through various channels and propaganda we have succeeded in convincing the men attending Villanova that we are willing to do all in our power to help them "get in the swing of college life."

Our efforts have succeeded in their primary ends, the outcome of the 1945 Senior Ball has proved this point beyond any doubt. It seemed as though for the first time in a long while, everyone of us was behind the wheel doing our bit to get the vehicle of school spirit moving. Now that we have got it started we must keep pushing our efforts forward until our vehicle gains momentum.

We would like to congratulate the entire student body on their fine turn-out at the Senior Ball. The greater part of the credit, however must go to the members of the Naval V/12 Unit stationed here at Villanova. We know that it has been a "tough job" for most of our Navy Unit to get adjusted once more to school life. Many of the boys who are here now have been away from educational institutions for a long while. These are the men to whom we addressed our pleas for cooperation and participation in school activities. They have responded gratifyingly to our pleas and have helped us to get things moving in the way of social life.

All of us know that accelerated war time studies do not permit us to have much outside social activity. Besides this hindrance our navy men must also submit to strict Naval discipline which has made our Navy the greatest in the world. Despite these obstacles these men went all out to make this dance a success. Without their support we know it would have been a disappointing failure. The Navy came through again.

We are very happy that we can again publish an editorial of congratulations of the school spirit shown by our student body. We sincerely hope that in the future there will be a long string of successes and that our warm love of Alma Mater will not cool to inactivity again. Now that we know we can do something well our course hereafter is clear. We must do all things well. We must do all things well for Villanova.

'Cat Capers

By FRANK RONAN and JOE HOFFMAN

Well, that night of nights was here and is gone but we doubt if anyone of us will ever forget it. Even the weatherman was on our side. There certainly were a lot of dreamy looks floating around that evening. "Red Button" had that soft glow in his eyes.

—V—

Our congratulations to the Seniors for the fine rendition of the Alma Mater. Well, as least everyone knew the line, "Loyal Sons of Villanova," and we were very strong on "Amen."

—V—

And while we are on the subject of the Alma Mater and the Grand March, we would like to present the leather medal this week to Carl Ungaro for being the first to break in on that "strictly Senior" number.

—V—

The class of '45 was well represented at the Mill, the Ben Franklin, The Bellevue, Pete's, and Frank Facciola's apartment. Especially at the latter. Well at least Frank's neighbors know we were down to visit him.

—V—

It was encouraging to see so many former Wildcats at the Prom. Bob Gruss, Frank Perna, Bill Schurr, and Ed Gallagher were among the many that we ran into in the course of our travels.

—V—

A few sidelights on the dance:

Scene: Merlino's car, Koerner driving, traveling about 50 per down the Lincoln Highway.

Koerner: "Hey Deacon, this car's no good."

Merdlino: "What's the matter with it?"

Koerner: "The steering is hard to control."

Merlino: "You can't kid me, this is a good car. Hey, I smell something burning."

Korner: "Holy smoke, the brakes are on."

—V—

Mendel Hall, with the usual pandemonium that makes a dance a success, came thru in fine style. . . ."Does anyone have an extra pair of suspenders?" . . . "Where's the black shoe polish?" . . . "Hey, that's my shirt you're wearing.". . . . . ."Joe, can I borrow your black shoes tonight?" . . . "I'm to meet her at 6:30, what time is it now?" "6.45."

Riley (who hails from Larchmont, N. Y.): "Hey, Al, did you get my coat from the tailor?"

Al: "Yes, here it is."

Riley: "That doesn't look like mine. (Reading the label) San Juan, Puerto Rico. You got the wrong coat."

P. S. He got his coat in time.

—V—

And here's one that tops almost anything we've heard. About midnight the florist delivered two corsages to the Field House.

—V—

What a car Gene Tigani showed up with on Saturday morning. For the benefit of all and sundry who didn't see it, read this and weep. It was a cream colored Buick convertable club coupe and was about half a block long.

—V—

The Deacon seemed to be floating on air Tuesday night at the Card Party and Dance. He left his table with a hurried remark that he had important business to attend to. The next anyone saw of him he was tripping the light fantastic with Marion of Rosemont.

—V—

H. P. Dumsa certainly missed his chance to rescue the fair damsel in distress on Wednesday night. He was standing nearby when she fainted but, unluckily, wasn't able to reach her in time. Better luck next time, Al.

—V—

After the concert Jim Smith got a date and a car for the Senior Ball in less time than it takes to tell it. When a girl makes up her mind she doesn't waste any time does she, Jim?

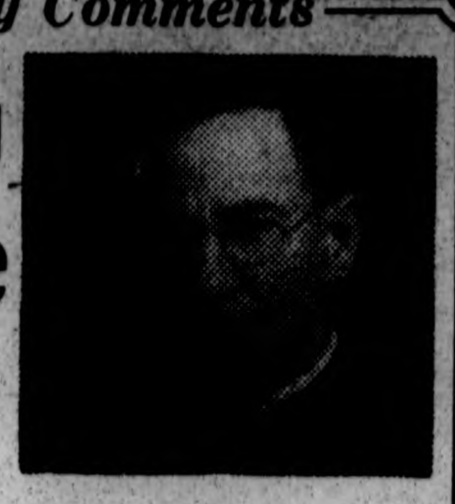
Education Faces The Future



By Fr. BARTLEY

All institutions of higher learning for men, and many for women, have been confronted with problems growing out of the war. Some of these problems, especially that of low enrollments, have not been solved; others have been treated by various expedients with the hope that, when the war ends, more thorough solutions may be found.

While the problems arising from the war have been many and difficult, it would seem that the problems during the transition period will be likewise many and difficult.

In the brief space allotted, it would be impossible even to list the problems that will confront higher institutions of learning. Here, we shall attempt to grapple, in a very sketchy outline, with one — the education of the veteran.

The transition from military to civilian life after World War I was not easy. If history repeats itself the transition after this war will be far more difficult. The number of men is greater, the length of service longer. That the Government recognizes this is clear from the statement of General Hines: "As men and women are discharged from the armed services . . . many persons will experience serious difficulty in readjusting from war to peace." The statement outlines a plan for establishing in each state a veterans' service committee to assist in giving advice as to housing, family programs, education, business or farm problems, and many other matters.

The colleges must play a role in the readjustment of those veterans who come to them for higher education. Here are a few of the problems the colleges must prepare to meet and solve:

First, veterans will have to decide whether to resume their education or to take a job. Each case will be a separate one and many factors, such as previous education and training, age, family condition, length of service, goals and ambition, mental status, to mention a few, will have to be considered. The colleges must be prepared to give the veterans sound and safe counseling.

(a) They must supply clear-cut statements of their plans for the education of veterans.

(b) They must adopt policies relating to the admission of veterans whose education has been delayed or interrupted. Such policies may call for a sharp revision or abandonment of pre-war procedures.

Second, when veterans are admitted to colleges and universities, difficulties affecting academic progress will probably arise. One question will be asked frequently: "Where and how can I finish my education in the shortest time?" Many will not be satisfied with the pre-war rate of progress. On the other hand, many will not be competent to undertake accelerated programs. College counselors will have to advise on the basis of scholastic aptitude tests and the most objective data that can be secured.

Third, ex-service men, in many instances, will have difficulty in making social adjustments. Camp life and campus life are different. The freedom of the campus will be a new experience for many. Older in years and experience than the average Freshman, the veteran may be no more mature socially.

There also will be problems of finance among the veterans. On the high seas and in foreign lands they had more money than they could spend. At college they will have to learn to budget carefully.

Fourth, the colleges will need to expand their health services. Many ex-service men will have been victims of diseases peculiar to tropical regions and to war-ridden areas. Others will have been wounded or injured in service. Still others will suffer from shattered nerves and may have personality problems.

This brief sketch covering only one phase of college life indicates that the colleges will have much to do in the post-war period.

Spring Fantasies

When a column such as this changes hands, there is great speculation among its readers. We hope there won't be too much of this and that our contributions will meet with all the approval which was accorded our predecessor, Les Powers.

BIG BUSINESS

Dick Illgen, ace MAA on third deck Fedigan, is very attached to his "swabs and brooms"; the other day he and Mason Robertson had a wrestling match over one and, despite the efforts of Ray Hooker, Dick managed to retain possession of his broom . . . To everyone's amazement Horace Bernton was seen "airing out" his sack last week; we don't know whether he likes the out-of-doors or his roommate won't sleep with him . . . A merger was effected between Dick Kowes and Pat Boffa, a girl of Chestnut Hill stock, some time ago . . . at least strains of a melody could be heard drifting from his lips that went something like this: "I'm going to make the two of us one . . ."

It seems that Northern L. Powers is in the market for a new music box; considering for whom it is intended, its cost should be double the price of the first one . . . Jim Winner mixed a little business with pleasure at the American Legion Post the other week . . . the result: a date for the Senior Ball . . . and speaking of business . . . do you know that golf is the highest paid sport in the United States today? . . . for all particulars see Cooke, 123 Fedigan . . .

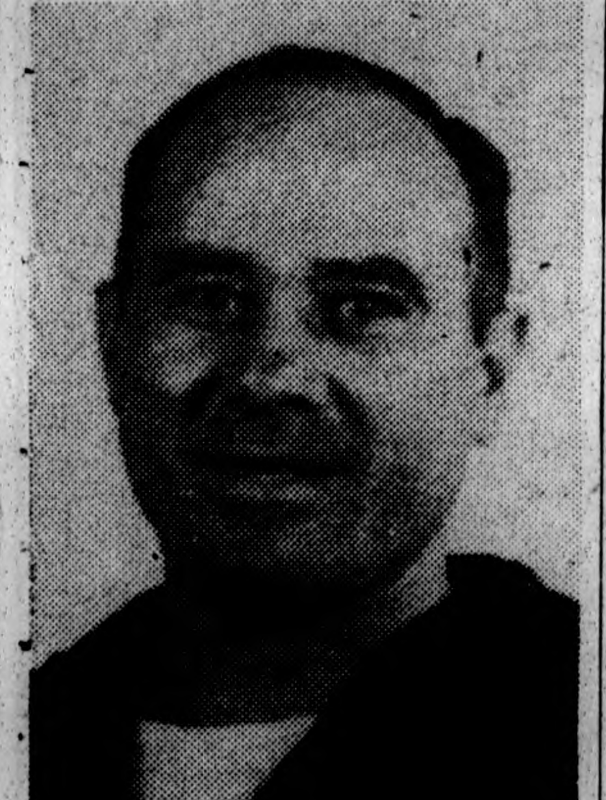
New Specialist Was Four-Letter Man In College

Voted Most Valuable Player At Beckley College; Played Semi-Pro Ball With Home Town Team

By LEM WENTLING

The newest replacement to the ship's company is Specialist 3/c Al Masciantonio. Al, who arrived here last Thursday, replaces Chief Zukas, who was transferred three weeks ago. Like many other members of the Physical Training department, Masciantonio hails from the Keystone State.

He was born in Mount Carmel Township where he attended the local grammar and high school. It was at the latter where his long list of athletic achievements began. A four letter man, he played football, basketball, baseball, and was a member of the track team. He was also a member of the championship P. I. A. A. football team in 1927.



AL MASCIANTONIO, Sp. (A) 3/C

Attended Holy Cross

Upon graduation from high school, the new specialist matriculated in Holy Cross College in Worcester, Mass. He remained there for one year and then transferred to Beckley College in Harrisburg where he also participated in four sports. In his last two years he was voted the most valuable player on the football team.

Al graduated from the Finance School of Beckley College in 1931. The same year he signed a contract to coach at his Alma Mater, Mount Carmel Township High School, in the four sports in which he starred as a student four years previous. His teams were of the highest calibre. Two of his basketball combines copped the intersectional championship. During the summer he furthered his studies at Stroudsburg S.T.C.

Coached Future Stars

Many of the boys to whom Al taught the fundamentals of football later went on to make a name for themselves and thus give their former coach a reason to be proud. Among them were Len Eshmont who starred at Fordham and later with the New York Giants, and John Menapace, Mike Matsko, Len DeConcini and Bill Kellagher, also of Fordham.

Meanwhile, Masciantonio was not remaining idle. He joined the Mount Carmel Wolverines, a semi-pro outfit, putting some of his college experience to good use in their backfield. He also played the infield for a semi-pro baseball team known as th "Cubs" and was a member of several basketball teams.

Sent to P. I. School

Masciantonio's first taste of Navy life came in March, 1944 when he was sent to Bainbridge for boot training. Upon completion of this, he remained at Bainbridge, where he was sent to the Physical Instructor's school. It was after this

Marines Lead IM League; Fedigan Drops to Third

Mendel Civilians and Marines Tie, 9-9, as Darkness Halts Contest; Marines Defeat Fedigan, 14-13, in Season's Heaviest Scoring Game

Intramural softball went into its second week as the Marines pulled away from last week's tie with Fedigan Hall to take the league lead, while the Austin Sailors took over second place.

On Monday night, the Marines and the Mendel civilian team fought inning after inning and when the game had to be called on account of darkness, the score stood at 9 - 9. Billy Williams was on the mound for the Marines and he gave up eight hits while Bill Koerner yielded seven.

The other game on this same evening was the encounter between the old arch-rivals, Fedigan Hall and Austin Hall. Austin Hall won, 7-2, behind the hurling of Carrol Andrews, who gave up eight knocks, and the fine fielding of the Austin team. Femiano was the star of this game, even though the loser, for he held the Austin team to four hits.

Wednesday night there were no games scheduled due to the All-Girls Concert. Getting back into full swing of things on Friday night, however the league had two tight battles, both of which were decided by only one run.

27 Runs Scored In One Contest

Fedigan and the Marines tangled on the No. 1 diamond and the Marines emerged the victors with the football score of 14-13. Lewis pitched the Marines to the victory, but Fedigan got to him for eleven hits before he won. Huber started for Fedigan and was lifted in favor of Dom Femiano later in the game.

Fedigan came close to winning when, in the top half of the ninth, Joe Costello smashed one of Lewis' pitches deep into center field for a home run. Other bright spots in the game were the smooth performance of diminutive Bob Wilson at shortstop and the appearance of Bill Cooke in the Fedigan line-up. Bill turned in a beautiful job of backstopping.

Austin Takes Close One

On the No. 2 diamond, Austin took measure of the Mendel team in another "too close for comfort" game. Austin won, 6-5, with Harry Bombick giving up seven hits. Bill Koerner hurled for the losers and yielded nine hits.

The excitement came in the last half of the ninth, when, with the score tied, and bases loaded, the Austin sailors squeezed across the run that counted. George Bacsik slammed a line drive straight at Tito Infanzon. Tito picked it up

'Cats Take Game From Swarthmore

By ROBERT J. CONWAY

Last Wednesday Villanova defeated the "Little Quakers" of Swarthmore by a 10-5 score on the Garnet field for the second victory of the season.

The 'Cats went off to a fast start when they scored on a walk to Murphy, Marano was hit by Dillenback and a sharp single to left by "Ike" Eisenhart. They scored again in the third on hits by Dorsch and Marano. The Wildcats really came through in the fourth to take advantage of three walks and timely doubles by Murphy and Marano to account for a quartet of runs.

Matas Pitches First Full Game

The Garnet broke into the scoring in their half of the fifth on a walk, a hit and errors by Williams and Silver, to score the first run on the pitching of 'Cat starter Emil "Bull" Matas. "Little Quakers" crossed the plate four times in the last three innings as Matas tired in pitching his first nine inning game since he joined the Marine Corps three years ago.

In the seventh the Wildcat power broke loose and they crossed the plate on successive hits by Eisenhart, a triple by Don Boos, and singles by Lafferty, Matas and Murphy.

Features of the game were the first hits of the season for Lafferty, Boos and Matas and the pitching of Matas in striking out ten men, and allowing but two earned runs.

FIGHTING THE JAPS

Bob Biggins, fast and elusive forward on the All-Star Intramural basketball team of 1942-43, when last heard from, was in the Pacific with a P.T. Boat squadron. Biggins is a Yeoman, third class.

Pill Rollers Take Service Pin Title

By WILLIAM THOMPSON, A.S.

In the concluding week of this season's league the Pill Rollers clinched the title by winning a vital final game from the Holy Rollers.

The 300 Club met the Pill Rollers in one of the decisive matches that were to take place in the final matches on the schedule. The result was a 2-2 decision which gave the Pill Rollers a 3-point lead in the standings. The final week found the first-place team bowling the second place team which means plenty of excitement in any sport.

Holy Rollers Nosed Out

As it turned out the Holy Rollers took the first two games only to be beaten the last game by a strong showing on the part of the Pill Rollers thereby making the latter the league victor. It was reported earlier in the season that the Pill Rollers were the team to watch—they followed this prediction by holding first honors in the league from the second week right through to a successful end. The point difference among the first three teams was very small, showing a close race all the way.

Koch Takes Individual Honors

In the individual honors the final standings are based on the fact that only one prize may be won by any man. The race for first honors in the averages also reached its peak in Saturday's match with Fred Koch beating Al Sondheimer by a total of 3665 to 3664 which is the smallest margin this writer has ever seen. The actual averages come to 174.52 for Koch and 174.49 for Sondheimer. Fimbel holds third place in the averages with 166. In the last game of the season Thompson rolled a 235 to take first place in the singles followed by Fogerty with 220 and Farrell with 211. Krah led the high three with 586 with Carlson's 532 and McRae's 504 following second and third respectively.

This season's league seems to have been the most successful in many because of the amout of prize money that was distributed, and the interest shown by all members of the league.

COMPETITION?

Not to be outdone by other colleges, neighboring Rosemont College has added to its list of extra-curricular activities a softball squad. However, at present, the gals are content to play at the game during P.T. classes.

Villanova To Face Penn And Lehigh Nines This Week

Quakers Have Won Three and Lost One; Wildcats Will Try To Avenge Early Season Engineer Defeat

By ROBERT J. CONWAY

Within the next eight days, the hard hitting Wildcats take on the "Quakers" of Pennsylvania and Lehigh in successive meetings on the baseball diamond.

First to meet the charge of the Wildcats, on next Wednesday will be the "Quakers" when they move into Villanova field for a game at 3.30. Until last Saturday, when they ran into Navy and the mighty Mueller, the "Quakers" were unbeaten in three game, having beaten Drexel, Swarthmore and Lafayette. Wednesday afternoon the 'Cats will see some old faces when Penn takes the field with an infield of Blood at first, Armstrong at second, O'Brien at third and Cecil at shortstop. The outfield will find LeQuear in left, Schider in center and West in right. The battery will be Cwik catching and the right-handed pitching ace John Woebse.

Saturday afternoon in Bethlehem the Wildcats will again meet the Lehigh club that beat them 7-3 in one of the sloppiest ballgames ever played at Villanova. The men from Lehigh are having a better than average season and it is to be expected that they will throw their ace lefthander Sam Wilson against the 'Cats. Other oldtimers to face us will be Buddy Lindholm, and first baseman Bob Means. Since Fr. McCarthy is holding a surprise for Penn no starting pitchers may be given.

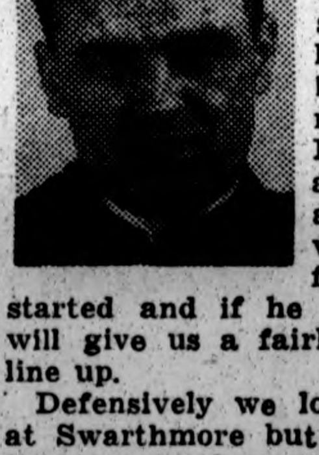
Reviewing last week's game is a pleasant assignment. We finally won another one.

The outstanding feature of the game was our hitting. We collected eleven hits from three Swarthmore pitchers, and most important of all, we hit when it meant runs.



Williams, our best hitter, continued his slump, but he hit the ball every time up and once he shakes his bad luck he will help us very much. Dorsch, Murphy, Morano, Eisenhart, and Boos all hit well. Red Lafferty finally got started and if he continues that will give us a fairly good hitting line up.

Defensively we looked very bad at Swarthmore but were lucky in that most of our errors did not come at critical times. Six errors are entirely too many in any ball game. Murphy had a bad day at third and allowed two very easy rollers to get through him. Boos at second, looked very weak. His most glaring fault was in standing flatfooted watching the shortstop field a double play ball and not even making a motion toward second base. Add to this one boot by Williams and a bad throw by Eisenhart and it all totals a pretty sloppy brand of infield play.

The pitching against Swarthmore was very good. Bull Matas pitched his first nine inning game in three years. He was much better than he was against Army the week before. His fast one was sharper and his curve under better control. He had the game under

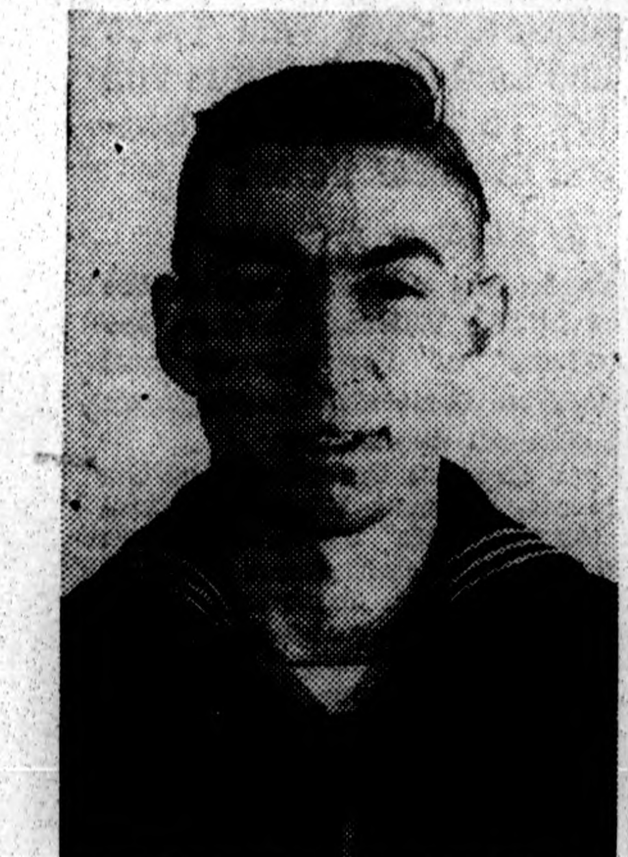
By MATT KEARNEY, A.S.

When graduation time rolls around in June, it will mark the partial disintegration of a top-notch track team, a team which, despite wartime conditions, has kept Villanova's track name high in sports circles.

High School Trackman

Among these fellows, one Bob Bean has long been a bright spot. Bob was born in Erie, Pennsylvania, on November 19, 1923. He spent his high school days attending Erie Academy High School in the same town. While in high school, Bob started the stone rolling toward his future track career. He ran the mile run, the mile relay and the half mile run for the high school track team, and turned in some good performances while he was on the team there.



ROBERT BEAN, A/S

After his high school graduation, Bob entered Gannon College in Erie and completed his Freshman Year there. Bean then joined the United States Navy and was assigned to Villanova College under the Navy College training program. Bob reported to this station in the summer of 1943. However, from that July 1st until the Fall of 1944, Bob spent most of his time settling down to difficult engineering studies and was unable to come out for track until this past Fall.

When he eventually did turn out, Bob lost no time in showing up both in practice and in meets. For the Wildcats he ran the mile relay, the three quarter and the quarter mile run and the half-mile relay. With the team, he placed second in the Inquirer Invitation Meet, third in the Penn Relays, and fifth in the IC 4-A Meet. On his own he ran the 600 yard run in the Middle Atlantic A. A. U., at Camden and took third place for the Villanovans.

An Electrical Engineer

Aside from track, Bob finds time to engage in many extracurricular activities. Bob is a member of the Phi Kappa Pi Fraternity and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. He, of course, is studying electrical engineering and will graduate in June with a BS in Electrical Engineering. Bob also is a member of Navy Band here on the station.

the Reverend John A. Murray. Approximately 300 girls from the local Philadelphia Catholic Girls' High Schools comprised the personnel.

Sabatini and Donath Conduct

Guglielmo Sabatini conducted the selections presented by the Symphonic Band, and Dr. Jeno Donath conducted the Symphonic Orchestra. A vocal solo was sung by Miss Clare Veratti. The selection was Jerome Kern's hit from his musical show "Roberta," "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes."

phase of training that he received the rate that he now holds.

His first assignment was the Naval Air Base at Deland, Florida. His job was to keep the fliers in condition as an instructor with officiating sports as a sideline. Last winter he was assistant coach of the Naval Air Base basketball five which copped the Central Florida N. A. S. League with a record of 18 wins and 4 losses.

From Deland, Al was sent to the Philadelphia Navy Yard Receiving Ship and then assigned here.

minute because of the fact that the curfew was lifted on V-E Day, and Boyd Raeburn and his orchestra consented to play from nine till one o'clock.

Grand March

Highlight of the evening as far as the seniors were concerned was the grand march, terminated by the singing of the Villanova Alma Mater. The march was led by the President of the Class of 1945, John Fitzgibbons and the class officers, followed by the various chairmen of the dance committees.

The dance is now only a memory, but it is a memory that will live long in the minds of many of the Seniors, for which it was the first and maybe last formal dance in their four years at Villanova. Add to this the social success of the affair, the decorations, "Rhythms by Raeburn," and the overall enjoyment experienced by all, and one can see that it was a dance that will be remembered.

control all the way. On the few occasions when he ran into trouble he pitched really beautiful ball under pressure.

Summing the game up the hitting and pitching were very satisfactory. The fielding was very poor. The Saturday before we fielded well and didn't hit. If we can combine the two we should be all right.

Next Wednesday at home we play our first game with Penn. To have any kind of a season that's the game we must win. Penn has a very good ball club. The have good pitchers in Woebse and McCunney and hit and field well. To beat them we will have to play our peak brand of ball. But we can win if the boys support Naslund in the field and at bat with everything they have. Mental lapses and inexcusable errors on easy chances will cost a ball game against a good team. I hope our siege of them is about over.

Time for a get-together...Have a Coke

...or making the party a success
It's easy to plan a date at home when you have frosty bottles of Coca-Cola in the refrigerator. Have a Coke says the hostess, and the affair is off to a flying start. To young or old, this friendly invitation opens the way to better acquaintance, adds zest and enjoyment to entertaining. From Alabama to Oregon, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—a way to make folks feel at home.

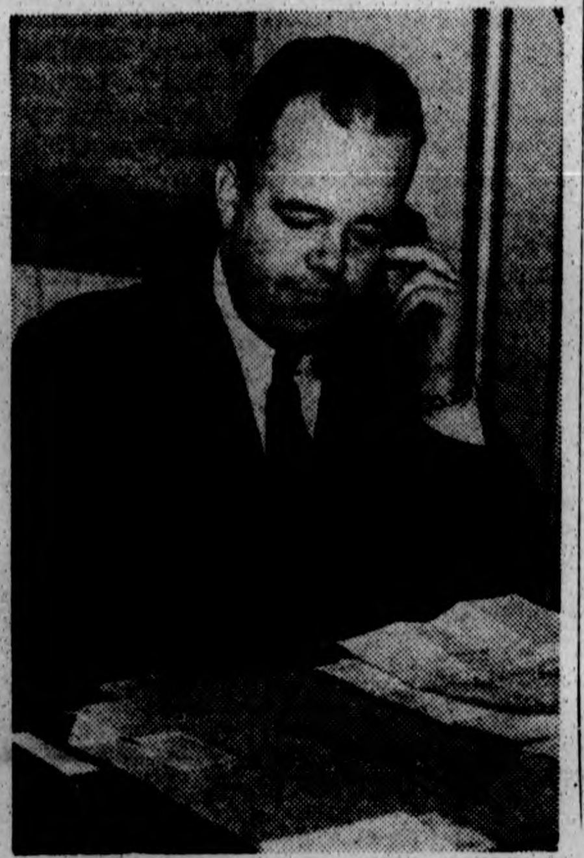
Dramatic Club Promises Lively Stage Production

Rehearsals in Progress; Few Details Yet To Be Arranged For June 8 Presentation

Earnest rehearsals for the coming Belle Masque production, "I Want to Be an Officer," were held last week by the members of the revived society. From this date until the evening of presentation two such rehearsals will be held each week in order to get the players to feel and live their parts. Two men have answered the call for a piano player. Frank Meisel and Jim Managhan reported to practice last Friday evening in order to demonstrate their ability with regards to the eighty-eight keys. Sergeant Muir has announced that he will use both men at the keyboard.



ROBERT WHELAN

Three Key Men Insure Success

Much of the expected success of the show is credited to three key men: Bob Whelan, Ken Sonner, and C. D. Cummings. Robert Whelan, secretary of the Athletic Association, and a man of many talents, especially in the musical field, has written the words to all but one song, and has written the music for all the songs to be used the evening of June 8.

Leading Part

Sonner has the leading part in the story and appears in every scene. He has spent much time in memorizing numerous lines and has proven himself the choice for the part in every respect. Ken, although he is a new hand at this sort of thing, should make a big hit with the audience.

Specialty Number

Trainees and students who witnessed previous musicals presented by the company will no doubt remember C.D. Cummings. C.D., a natural born showman, was very instrumental in drawing up the script along with George Scanlon. During the show Mr. Cummings plays a specialty number with Pvt. Blough that is guaranteed to roll the patrons in the aisles. Bob Austin and Matthew Kearney have the scenery and prop department well under control and the final touches to the scenery are now being made by these men.

Nearly all these men have taken part in the various shows presented on the campus within the past year by the Yankee Doodle Club of Jenkintown, and by doing so gained quite a bit of invaluable experience along these lines.

Secretaries Leave

Miss Miriam Gallagher, custodain of the bookstore, and Miss Margaret Coll, secretary to the Dean of Engineering, resigned their positions on Saturday, May 19. They plan to rest at the seashore during the summer months. Miss Gallagher has been employed at Villanova since June, 1943, while Miss Coll joined the secretarial staff in June, 1944.

Villanovans at the Front

William McDonald, ex '45, was killed in action in Austria, May 1, his fiancee, Miss Elizabeth Butts, of Wynewood, Pa., has learned. This word reached the Villanovan through Miss Butts' sister, Miss Emily Butts.

Mass was offered for the repose of his soul by Father Edwin T. Grimes, O.S.A., College Chaplain.

McDonald was a member of the 11th Armored Division of General George Patton's Third Army. He had participated in the Battle of the Bulge, and met his death while taking part in the final push in Austria, just prior to Germany's surrender.

He was an Arts student, having transferred from Notre Dame, and left Villanova to enlist in the Army after having been here for a year.

Fisher Liberated

Second. Lieutenant Daniel I. Fisher, ex '45, a navigator on a B-24 Liberator bomber, has recently been liberated from a German prisoner of war camp. This word reached his parents through a Red Cross telegram recently.

Lieutenant Fisher was reported "missing in action" on August 22 over Hungary, and his parents were notified of his status as prisoner of war on October 20, 1944. His parents reside at 4535 Devereaux Ave., Phila.

Election Results Announced by E. E. Society

Gerngross, Shoemaker, Kennedy and Williams Take New Posts

The Student Branch of the American Society of Electrical Engineers at Villanova College has elected new officers for the coming semester. The elections were held May 1, at 6:15 P. M. in Room 215 Mendel Hall. George Hoberg, A.S., former chairman of the society, yielded his post to Joseph Gerngross, A.S. Taking over the duties of vice-chairman from Mike Flynn, A.S., is James Shoemaker, A.S. The new scribe of the society will be John Kennedy, A.S., who has taken the position of secretary from Joseph Gerngross, A.S. William Williams, A.S., has been chosen to be the new collector of revenue, replacing the former treasurer of the society, Ray Adams, A.S.

Plan Trips

Tentative plans for a trip to a power plant, a regular feature of the society's trips, and also a trip to the Franklin Institute sometime in the future were discussed by the members.

Hugh O'Reilly, A.S., in keeping with the usual practice of having some senior speak on the recent developments of his thesis, spoke on Frequency Modulation Transmitters, the subject on which he is now working.

Hear GE Speaker

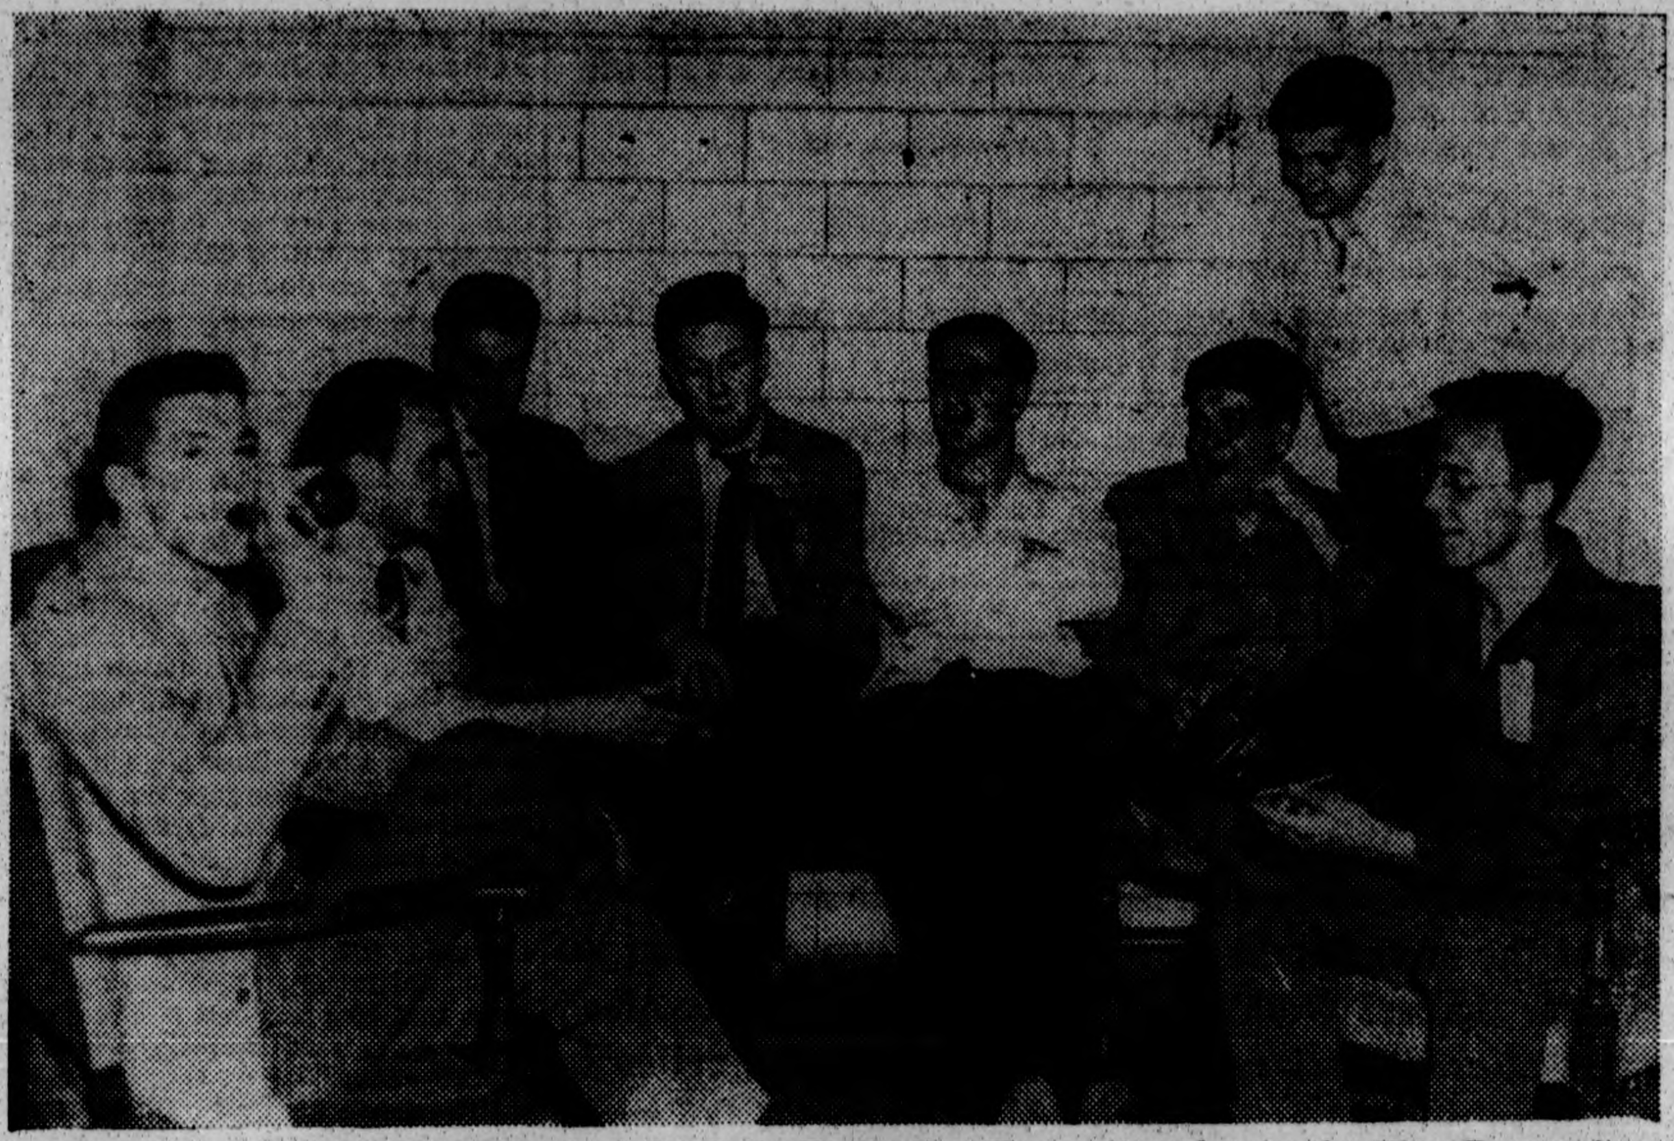
On May 14, at 7:00 P. M., the AIEE held a meeting at the Engineer's Club in Philadelphia. The speaker for the occasion was Mr. Williams of the General Electric Company. Mr. Williams spoke on the Amplidyne, a control device of comparatively recent development. Mr. Williams presented a very good paper on the theory, development and application of this new type motor.

The meeting concluded with the donation of prizes to the members of the society. The receivers of the awards had to earn them by performing some "difficult" feat for the entertainment of the audience.

CONGRATULATIONS

The Villanovan on behalf of the entire student body wishes to extend congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester J. Gorman on the celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary last Saturday, May 19. Mr. and Mrs. Gorman are the parents of William Gorman, professor of Mechanical Engineering, here at Villanova.

After The 'Fun' Was Over



A few of the old and new members of the Delta Pi Epsilon Fraternity relax in the Blue Room after last Wednesday night's ordeal.

Phi Kappa Pi Announces Plans For Dinner-Dance

During the early part of last week the Phi Kappa Pi has announced plans for the annual Dinner Dance. The affair, which will close the fraternity's social season, will be held on June 2, 1945 at Palumbo's Restaurant in downtown Philadelphia.

Besides a full course dinner, entertainment and dancing facilities will be provided for the couples attending the affair. The affair will be a closed one, that is, open only to members of the engineering fraternity. The reason for this action is that the membership of the Phi Kappa Pi now reaches almost one hundred.

Election of Officers Soon

In a speech addressed to the members of the engineering fraternity, president Frank O'Connor advised that all the members begin thinking seriously about the election of new officers who must head the society's affairs in the future. It is highly desirable, he asserted, not to have any confusion or uncertainty in this matter which will complicate the proper functioning of the group. He offered two methods of nomination, one, a steering committee or direct nomination from the floor. The matter will be considered in more detail at the next meeting.

Keys Discussed

The matter of the delay in the senior fraternity men's keys was discussed and an itemized statement will be presented at the next regular gathering. President O'Connor also appointed Joseph Gerngross, A.S., to draw up an amendment to the Phi Kappa Pi constitution which will govern the admission and initiation of new members into the ranks of the society.

Plans Tentative

Although arrangements for the dinner dance are well under way no final agreement has been reached as to definite and final arrangements. Due to the uncertainty which governs the scheduling of all such affairs during these troubled times, all information so far is in the tentative stage.

Final and definite word on the completed preparations are scheduled to be ironed out in a meeting this week of the fraternity.

Delta Pi Epsilon Initiates Thirty-Two New Members

Financiers Make Merry as Pledgees Run the Gauntlet in Annual Initiation

The Delta Pi Epsilon fraternity held its annual initiation and smoker last Wednesday night. The initiation was held in the basement of the Commerce and Finance Building, and the smoker was held later in the evening in the Blue Room of the Field House.

Approximately 35 new members were accepted into the Commerce and Finance School's fraternity at the termination of the initiation ceremonies.

Many "Tortures"

President William Barrett, and other officers of the frat, put each pledgee through a fifteen minute gruelling obstacle course, after having blind-folded them. The usual initiation rigors of the paddle treatment and the "water torture" were in order, as were smears of shaving cream, marshmallow, and shoe polish, used lavishly.

The embyronic DPE brothers came dressed for the occasion, and it was a good thing. After all had been run through the course, the clothes, such as they were, looked a mite bit the worse for the wear.

At the smoker, in the Blue Room, various types of sandwiches, crackers, candies and "coke" were served to the famished frat members. Bull Sessions and pool games helped the new members recover somewhat their composure and equilibrium, which had gone a bit astray during the course of the initiation. Feature of the smoker, however, was the three boxes of "free and unrationed cigarettes for DPE men."

Card Incomplete

President Barrett announced at the meeting that membership cards would be distributed to the members of the frat at a meeting on some future date. Because the date of the affair had been changed several times, due to other campus activities, the cards had not been completed.

The entire affair was run in a typical Vilanova manner, and reflected the best of pre-war traditions of the school and frat. It also served to give notice to all concerned that the Delta Pi Epsilon Fraternity is once again an active organization, and will take its place among the leaders in extra-curricular activities at this institution.

New Strength

With the influx of returning veterans to the college the business school is slowly returning to the former vigor and strength of peacetime behavior. With the new increase it is expected that in the near future, more affairs will bear the sponsorship of the business school fraternity.

Briefs Of CAMPUS NEWS

A.S.M.E.

There was a meeting of the Student Branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers last evening. The meeting was presided over by the President of the society, John Millet, A.S. During the course of the meeting the May edition of the "Mechanical Engineer," monthly publication of the soceity, was distributed to the members.

At the meeting the M.E.'s nominated officers for the coming year from the ranks of those members present. A membership drive has been initiated by the society in order to increase student participation in its affairs. All sophomores, junior, and senior Mechanical Engineers are invited to enter the society and become active members. To date, there are thirty-five members who actively participate in all the affairs of the organization.

International Cooperation

In victory there is sometimes defeat. Today, as the Allied banners wave victoriously over the conquered German peoples, there is a great possibility that we, the victors of the struggle, may go down in serious defeat as we did after the last World War. Bickering among the Allied powers after the last conflict enabled the German nation to arise from political and financial chaos to engulf the world once more in a gigantic struggle. Selfish interests, fostered by the spirit of nationalism, once again came to the fore, and during the political squabbles that ensued, the wily German statesmen saw their chances for creating a new world order of hate from the ashes of defeat.

Such a situation may again present itself, and be capitalized upon once more by German politicians. When the Allied nations sit once more at the peace table and in the security council's chamber they must insure definite protection against the recurrence of another struggle through their negligence. They must realize that the second world conflict was due primarily to their own neglect of duty.

The dangers which present themselves in such instances as the occupation of German territory by the Allied powers, and the settling of territorial controversies, must not cause any crisis which will endanger the structure of permanent peace. The San Fransisco Conference has shown to the nations participating that they must face many differences of opinion before they will be able to reach any definite conclusions. This is perhaps a healthy outlook on matters of international politics. We know that the nations meeting at this conference differ in their national ideologies and political set-ups. This no doubt accounts for the fact that it is hard for these nations to reach immediate agreement on every controversial subject coming to the fore. However, there has been a positive leaning toward cooperation in all matters deserving attention. This encourages all of us who are sometimes sceptical as to the ability of nations to work together whose foundations are based on conflicting ideologies.

Cooperation is possible among all nations, and the sooner the world realizes this the better will be the new international order arising from San Fransisco. Cooperation engenders a warmer sense of respect of nation for nation, group for group. The basis for all future international accord will arise from these meetings.

Before the final agreements are reached, however, there is a long, hard road ahead for all nations. There will be discouraging intervals, during which time the entire peace of the world may be threatened. We must realize these facts, so that when they arise, we, the public, can face them without a great deal of pessimism.

If, however, the victorious powers once more resort to the coddling of selfish interests, and worship of nationalism and isolation, then we can truthfully say that we have lost the war. All the ideals we fought for and which were made sacred by sanguinary sacrifices of our youth on the altar of freedom, will have been in vain, and another conflict will undoubtedly ensue. The Allies must realize that in their hands rests the security of the future generations of mankind. There is no longer any room for selfish interests in this world, our modern society will not permit it. Let us then remember that cooperation is the final hope of our world for a secure peace . . . it is the foundation stone of harmony. In our present victory, there must be success, we cannot again endure defeat.

'Cat Capers

By FRANK RONAN and JOE HOFFMAN

This is being written before we have received any reports on the Immaculata Prom, but from pre-dance talk Villanova was well represented. . . The next big affair will be the Phi Kap banquet at Palumbo's on June 2. This will be a closed affair, open only to members of the Fraternity . . . Chairman Frank O'Connor tells us everything is progressing very well for the Dinner Dance. Maybe we are bragging, but the Class of '45 has to bow to no one as far as staging dances is concerned.

—V—

Listen boys, you are going too far with this music appreciation idea in Mendel. An accordion was O. K., even the first trumpet. We started to get nervous at the addition of saxes but this new fiddle is the end . . . Sad Sack Sulock did some serious figuring on this Army point system for dischargees and came to the conclusion that he owes the government twenty-three points (plus two shoe stamps) . . . We don't know how true it is but we hear Stan Wagner is going to preserve the bat after making that single last week.

—V—

An orchid this week to Mel Racusin for his spirit at the D. P. E. initiation. Mel took all the boys had to offer and still came up smiling . . . Al Bequilard was one of the casualties of the affair, but a little fresh air and a liberal swabbing of iodine fixed him up.

—V—

Be careful boys, those Rosemont measles are spreading. It really brings about a critical situation for Al Curtis and Red Button, not to mention many others . . . We have new odds on the handicap this week. Newt Ward moved ahead as a heavy favorite when Caruso blew his chances on Facciola's front lawn. We regret to say that the Deacon has dropped to 3000 to 1 . . . We wish to say that there was no truth in the recent statement that the Deacon was going to Arthur Murray's for dancing lessons. Mr. Murray refused the case . . . One of the favorite sports lately is going to the Seville on Sunday to watch Koerner hold hands.

And for the benefit of the fourth floor of Mendel, we wish to deny any reports that we are getting our information from the S. S. girl. After all there are some things even we won't stoop to . . . It is beginning to look as though we have a new Deacon in our midst in the person of H. P. Dumsa. What is the idea of all these campaigns H. P.? . . . Another thing we would like to know, why was Ellen Schnieder buying all those small, dim light bulbs? What is the story Ellen? Planning a cosy evening with anyone we know?

—V—

Everyone will be sorry to see Miriam Gallagher and Peggy Coll leave. As far as the student body is concerned it will be a long time before we have two such popular girls in the office . . . Ray Stone made a very pretty picture travelling through Philly the other day in his shorts. About all that stood between Ray and his modesty was a well strung tennis racquet. . . . There seems to be a decided lull on the campus this week. Maybe it is because of all being in dire financial straits after last weekend. Even the Penn game was no morale booster, although the boys made a great late inning spurt that almost turned the tide . . . We hope the track team enjoyed all those hearty meals last weekend in New York. Well boys, you can't have everything you know.

—V—

Those long quiet summer months are starting again. Chestnut Hill closed last week and it won't be long before all our other feminine neighbors start leaving for their summer jobs in the steel mills and salt mines . . . We hear Marion Yeager has a job in the Hartford Brewery, but it is only a rumor. She was in such a sentimental mood at the card party it is hard to believe it is true . . . Well, that is all for this week. Once again, if you have any news, scandal, gossip, or if you just want to knife a friend in the back, just get in touch with us.

Meet the Boys

MEET the money men!

If there be any other reason that the recent Senior Ball was a total success, aside from the hard and loyal work of the Chairmen and committeemen, it was the tight grip the class Treasurer, Frank R. Solis, A.S., held on the strings of the money satchel.

He began his very eventful career at La Salle High School in Philadelphia, where he wrote for the "Wistern," the school paper, and was a member of the rifle team. With the latter group he competed in a South-Eastern Pennsylvania Tournament and gained a four-way tie for first place, only to lose out in the shoot-off. T.S. (tough shooting).

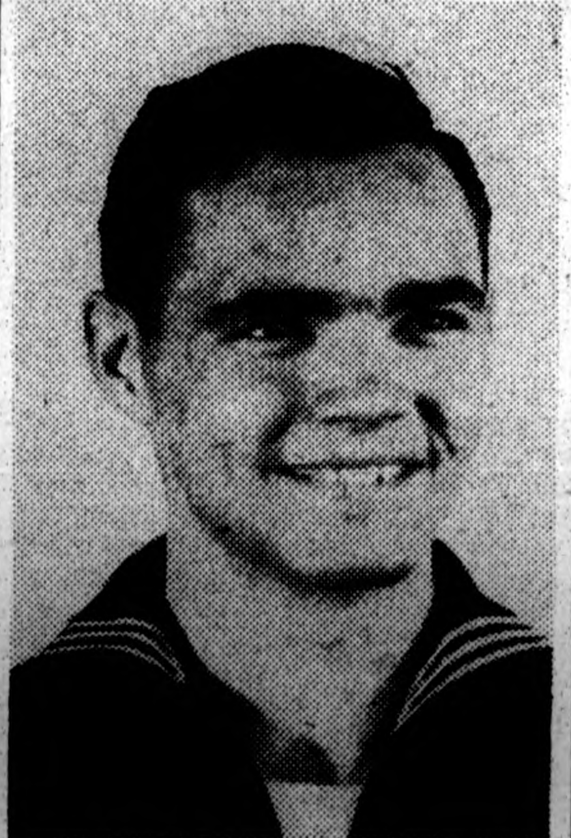
In the summer of 1942, after graduating from La Salle, Frank joined the Merchant Marine and shipped out on the M.S. Permian, a tanker. He started out as a galley boy, but during the course of several cruises progressed to the Officers' mess. The course of his journey took him to many places including Halifax, Vennezuela and Texas. This was his first cruise on his own, since for six years previously, he had accompanied his father, a Captain in the Merchant Marine, on an annual trip to Texas.

He arrived at Villanova in October of '42, very "salty" and very "flush," but with the pleasant memories of having spent 50 bucks in one night in New York when his ship docked there. Frank matriculated in the Electrical Engineering School and started off his college life by joining the Phi Kappa Pi.

He began his pugilistic career the same year by entering the Inquirer A.A. Tournament. Ring fright proved fatal in his first bout, and his opponent's right did it in his seocnd fight. The latter fighter, however, was the only boxer to fight Billy Arnold to a decision—all the rest were kayoed.

Then he turned his attentions to the Intramural league at Villanova and the first season got stuck with Dick Breen, a semi-pro who had too much experience for Frank. He hadn't intended to box the following year but at the last minute couldn't resist the appeal of the ring and battled Marine Private Gridley Stookey to a draw.

This was the ice-breaker Frank needed, for since then he hasn't stepped out of the ring a loser. The next season he fought Bill Lamb, A.S. and won on a decision. A group from here traveled to Franklin and Marshall College to test their gloves and Frank turned in a decision over his opponent named "Dynamo." In his most recent appearance at the Field House, Frank won by a decision over lively Al Sondheimer. In this bout, he wisely changed his style and boxed left-handed—baffling Al who is a true lefty.



FRANK SOLIS, A.S.

He proudly boasts that he was once in the ring with the noted "Sugar" Ray Robinson. How come? He held the flag for the playing of the National Anthem before one of Sugar's fights.

Although boxing has been his major interests at Villanova, he has by no means neglected all other activities. On the staff of the Vil-

Fedigan Tied With Austin Sailors For I-M League Lead

Marines Drop to Third Place From Tie for First; Austin Sailors Score Triple Play; 38 Runs Scored in Civilians-Marines Game

By MATT KEARNEY, A.S.

At the end of the third week of competition the campus intramural league finds Fedigan Hall and Austin Hall Sailors, two famous arch-rivals, neck and neck in a tie for first place. The Marines are in third place and the Mendel Civilians are in a cool last place.

On Monday night the rainy weather cleared up enough to permit Fedigan to pull a 6-5 win over the Mendel Hall. Mike Krak and Roger McRae led the hitting parade with four hits between them. Yielding but six hits, Bill Koerner was the losing pitcher and Rog McRae stole the spotlight as he hurled three hit ball for the victors.

On the same night the Austin sailors picked up a game as they downed the Marines on diamond I. The score was a close 5-2, with Austin getting five runs on six hits off Billy Williams, Marines' twirler. The Marines got their two runs on five hits off Carroll Andrews, who was the winning pitcher.

Season's First Triple Play

The interesting highlight of this game was a triple play, the first of the year, by the Austin Hall Sailors. Red Elsesser grabbed Don Ball's low liner for out one, heaved a perfect strike to home plate where Tommy Baxter tagged the second man out and then Tommy threw down to second where White Sonner put it on the third out. George Bascik rang up the jackpot with a single and a home run for three times at bat.

One Tuesday night, Fedigan moved into the tie for first place as they administered a beautiful shut-

Baseball Comments

By FR. EDWARD McCARTHY
Varsity Baseball Coach

Last week we won one and lost one. In both games we played good ball except for one inning.

The Penn game was close despite the eight run third inning that gave Penn a lead that coudn't be overcome. Penn has a fair team, but one that will win ball games because it can hit and produce runs. It is weak defensively, however, and that weakness can be very costly.

The highlights of the game, from our point of view, were the team's hitting, the relief pitching of Stan Wagner, and the fielding plays turned in by Murphy, Boos, and Marano.

After a weak start we began to hit at Swarthmore and continued it against Penn. We faced a good fast-ball pitcher in Woebse, but outhit Penn, 11 to 10. Dorsch looked particularly good with three smashing singles, while Williams came through with a double and Murphy with a triple.

Stan Wagner did a really fine job again in relief. After retiring the side in the third with only one run for which he was responsible, he pitched five scoreless innings. On the few occasions when he got

Dave Marano, Villanova, beats a hot path down to first as Johnny Blood (48), Penn first sacker, stretches for the ball to quell a Wildcat uprising in the eighth inning of last Wednesday's game. John Woebse, Penn hurler, "sweats out" the play after having fielded the ball.

Wildcat Nine Beats Lehigh and Loses to Pennsylvania

Dick Naslund Fans 12 Lehigh Batters for Third Wildcat Victory of Season

Bunching their five hits of the ball game in the fourth and fifth innings, the Wildcats scored their third win of the season by defeating Lehigh University, 3-1, on Saturday, at Bethlehem.

Dick Naslund, Villanova hurler, went the entire route and gave up five hits also, but these were scattered and allowed the Engineers to score but once. He gave up only three walks, and fanned twelve. At bat, Naslund aided the cause of his victory by pounding out two of his team's five singles.

Two substitutes, Widenhaefer and Silver, broke into the starting Villanova lineup, and Father McCarthy, baseball coach, substantially shifted the lineup of the Penn game of Wednesday.

Eleven Penn Batters Score 11 Runs Off Matas and Wagner in Third

Scoring eight runs in the top half of the third inning, the University of Pennsylvania presented a scorekeeper's nightmare in sending Villanova down to its sixth defeat of the season. Penn took the contest, 10-7, on the Main Liners' diamond.

Eleven Penn batters faced two Villanova pitchers, Matas and Wagner and took advantage of three hits, five walks, two errors, and a passed ball to push across their eight markers. A walk, an error, two singles, four more walks, and a double, in that order, accounted for the Wildcats' defeat. Wagner relieved Matas, with none out and the bases loaded. He struck out two men, and caught Schnider off first to put an end to the scoring spree.

Penn Scores First

The "Quakers" started off the day's scoring in the top half of the first by pushing across a single tally. Schnider singled and advanced all the way to third on an error. He was driven home by Blood's deep fly.

Wildcat bats sounded in the first, third, and seventh innings to give Villanova its seven runs.

In the first, Bob Dorsch singled, advanced to second on Murphy's sacrifice, and got to third when Marano was safe on a Penn error. Bob Williams slammed out a double to drive in both Dorsch and Marano.

Marano Steals Home

Johnny Murphy led off the offensive play for the Wildcats in the third with a triple, and scored when Marano singled. Don Boos got to first as the result of another Penn error. Marano and Boos put on a double steal, and Marano crossed the plate for the fourth Wildcat run of the day.

The combination of singles by Dorsch, Marano, and Eisenhart, with two Penn errors helped to manufacture three runs and to mark one of the high points of Wildcat aggression at the plate this season. Dorsch and Marano led off with successive singles, going to third and second respectively, due to an error directly following Marano's hit. Williams,

Wildcats To Play Bucknell Today

Naslund Starting Hurler Against Bisons in First of Two-Game Series; Opponents Have Won Five of Nine Games This Season

Villanova will travel to Lewisburg this afternoon to meet the University of Bucknell in the first game of a home and home series.

Bucknell, led for the first time by Coach Russell E. Wright, has shown up well under a heavy schedule and has developed into a good, steady fielding and timely hitting ball club. To date, the Bisons have played nine ball games, winning five in beating such teams as U. of Pittsburgh, Lehigh, and Penn State. They have lost to Navy, Franklin and Marshall, Bloomsburg State Teachers, and U. of Pitt.

One Holdover

As is the case in a good percentage of colleges, the Bucknell baseball team is made up of seventeen V-12 students on the twenty man squad. The only holdover from last year is Mike McGuire, A.S., who has been converted into a pitcher by Coach Wright. Leading the defensive cordon in the infield is the left-handed first baseman, Cal Killeen. The other members of the infield include the hard hitting Charles Waggoner and Tom Widger. The outfield boasts of Dick Atherly, Murray Weingarten and Mike Guidos, one of the leading hitters on the club.

The pitching staff has improved steadily and left hander Bill Ellis, of Roselle Park, N. J., has been the pride of the team with his steady, dependable work.

Same Villanova Lineup

The hard hitting Wildcats should have a field day with the short left field fence which provides for a

In The Sportlight

By MATT KEARNEY, A.S.

While the 1945 edition of the Villanova baseball team has had its off games and moments, there are some bright spots to be seen on the Wildcat diamond crew.

One of these is Private Charles Eisenhart, USMCR, who up to this date has turned in performances to be branded as A-1. Charley was born on June 5, 1924 in East Berlin, Pennsylvania. From his Freshman year in high school, Charley turned to the backstopping department and for four years thereafter he did the first-string receiving for East Berlin High School's baseball nine. During his Senior year at East Berlin, he was chosen by the sports writers as catcher on the All-County baseball team.

Three Letter Man

Charley, who also has the nickname "Ike," because of the similarity of his name with the famous general's, graduated from East Berlin in 1942 a three letter man. He attained these through soccer, basketball and baseball.

Ike entered Temple in September of 1942 where he played soccer that same Fall. In the Spring he went out for the baseball team but his college career was cut short as he entered the Marines. He was sent to Parris Island for boot training and from there to Cherry Point. Charley's next assignment was the Radio School at Texas A & M. While he was at these stations, however, his duties kept him from the baseball diamond.

After leaving Texas A & M, Ike was sent to Miramar, California. The next step in his travels was the Villanova campus. Ike was assigned there under the V-12 Program for the Marine Corps and he arrived March 1, 1945.

First String Catcher

Charley lost no time in trying out for the Villanova team, and after he had survived three cuts, the first game found Ike behind the plate. Charley showed top-notch style despite not having caught for a little over three years, and he has not yet relinquished his hold on the first string berth.

Charley is built like a typical catcher and really lays his weight behind the bat when he takes a cut at the ball. He's a lefthanded batter and finds the Villanova diamond ideal with that short right field. Ike continually puts balls over the grandstand in batting practice and has done fairly well for himself in games. His style and build would remind one of the great all-time catcher, Bill Dickey, and Ike's ball-playing resembles Dickey's somewhat.

Charley is a hustler of the first degree and would like to get a job coaching or managing if he can't make big time on his ball playing abilities. Charley is enrolled in the Basic course of study here and Fr. McCarthy hopes to have Ike doing the backstopping on future diamond editions.

Track Squad Enters Local Track Meet

Villanova's medal winning track squad will participate in the Philadelphia Metropolitan Track Meet, at Franklin Field, Friday afternoon, May 25.

Father McQuade, track coach, has announced that the Wildcats have been entered in the mile and two mile relays, the 880, 440, 220 and 100 yard dashes, the 200 low hurdles, 120 high hurdles, javelin throw, shot put, and discus throw events.

The Philadelphia Metropolitan Track Meet is being held this year for the first time, under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania. Participating schools and institutions are from the Philadelphia metropolitan district only.

lanovan he wrote both for the sports and college sections, and is now on the staff of the Belle Air. For two years "Poncho" was Circulation Manager of the Villanova Engineer.

During the past semester, Frank had been elected Treasurer of the Senior Class and Secretary of the Phi Kappa Pi, the local engineering frat. His name also appeared on monthly lists on the bulletin board for liberty as a member of the A.I.E.E. to attend the sectional meeting and the Engineers Club.

On the business end of the Winter Hop, he had charge of tickets and programs, and on the pleasure end of the recent Immaculata Formal he had charge (some say) of Terry. Frank is seriously considering staying in the Navy as a career.

OH if there be any reason that the Seniors didn't have enough money to finance the Senior Ball, it can all be blamed on the ring-commission racket of George Seibert, A.S., Frank's roommate. George acts as campus representative for the jewelers who make the College rings—and it is a racket. Ask the man who owns one, and paid George's fee.

GEORGE SEIBERT, A.S.

Grosse Point, outside of Detroit, Michigan, is his home town and De La Salle High School in Detroit, is his Alma Mater. Here George played on the tennis team and intramurals, was Business Manager of the Senior Play and wrote for the school paper, the "Pilot." He also held several class offices during the four years and was the proud chairman of several successful dances.

He spent his Summers with his main interest—speedboats—up on Lake Michigan until Villanova and then the Navy called him to three continuous years of college study in the Civil Engineering department. He started out as one of the Alumni Hall "boys" and his roommate was the unforgettable "C.J." John Burke — now an ambulance driver in Holland.

At the top of his list of extracurricular activities here at Villanova comes his work on Belle Air as "general manager." Then there is his membership in the A.S.C.E. and his work for the Villanova Engineer. He gained a little more money last semester when his team, the Holy Rollers, won the Phi Kappa Pi Bowling league first prize.

"Stop! Not my WAR BONDS! What do you think this Kleenex is for?"

THE MIGHTY SEVENTH

In keeping with the concerted efforts of the entire nation to put across the present loan to our nation, the Villanovan puts forth the following points concerning the necessity of all Americans to subscribe more than ever.

The coming Seventh War Loan, justly called the "MIGHTY SEVENTH" will be the first of two great War Loans in 1945. In these two drives, we as a nation will raise just about as great a sum as we raised in the three drives of 1944. Half of the total Seventh War Loan goal of $14 billion, has been set as a quota for investment by individuals; of this sum $4 billion has been allotted to "E" bonds, the type of bond most popular with the average American.

The task of meeting the increased goals for individual investment in the Seventh War Loan Drive is great but not insurmountable. The realities of war in the East and the West should spur us on to greater achievement. Their realization should inspire us individually as freedom loving Americans, collectively as a democratic people. We know now that the staggering costs of war will not cease with the fall of Germany, but will continue at a high level until Japan is vanquished—that we have a solemn obligation to clothe, feed and maintain each member of our armed forces until they can be honorably discharged to peaceful pursuits. We know, too, that due to the demands of war our supply of consumers' goods is shrinking, while national wage income is at a peak, a condition which jeopardizes our efforts to control prices and keep the lid down on the cost-of-living. National thrift at this critical juncture will afford our people a backlog of savings to build the foundation of future national economic stability and prosperity. In buying extra bonds in the Seventh, we will be investing at a profit in the soundest enterprise in the world, our own democratic future and the future of our children.

So for our own future security, for the morale of our fighting men and for the consternation of our enemies, let us do our part to put the 7th War Loan over the top.

into difficulty, he litched his way out with real courage and poise.

On Saturday we won a very close one, 3-1, from Lehigh. Each team had five hits. Both pitchers, Wilson for Lehigh, and Naslund for us, had the batters under control most of the afternoon. Naslund was slightly better and deserved the win. Besides allowing only five hits, he gave up only one walk, and fanned twelve.

In an effort to get a little better defense in the outfield, we shifted out lineup considerably. Widenhaefer caught and did a good job behind the bat and the plate. Murphy went from third base to left field and improved the play there considerably. Eisenhart played first without any previous experience there at all and did very well.

The game was close throughout and, next to Naslund's pitching, the win was due to good defensive play. Boos, Eisenhart, Murphy, and Marano turned in good fielding plays when an error could have meant the ball game.

Bob Wilson was airtight in his debut at second and the Fedigan infield was impossible to hit through. Hank Strauss cashed in on Andrews' pitching faults and belted out three singles in three times at bat.

Civilians Beat Marines in Runfest

The last game of the week was on Tuesday night as the Mendelites crushed the Marines with the football score of 25-13. Bill Koerner was the winning pitcher and Bob Hittinger was the loser. Fourteen Priests Recently Ordained In Washington

Augustinians Hold Ordination Sevices at Catholic University; Bishop McNamara Officiates at Ordination

At the recent ordination services of the Augustinian Order which took place at the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in the Catholic University of America, in Washington, D. C., fourteen men of the Augustinian Order were elevated to the priesthood. The ceremony took place on Tuesday, May 22. The officiating Bishop at the exercises was the Most Reverend J. McNamara, Auxiliary Bishop of the Baltimore-Washington diocese.

In the ranks of the fourteen who were ordained, were three former laymen who attended this college. Thy were: Revernd John H. O'Donnel of New Hope, Pennsylvania, Reverend John J. Curran of Wildwood, New Jersey, and Reverend Thomas J. Mahoney of Washington, D. C. Fr. McDonnell was a graduate of the Arts School. Fr. Curran and Fr. Mahoney were both graduates of the Science school. All of them are members of the class of 1939.

Offer First Masses

As is usual, the three newly ordained priests of the Catholic Church, offered their first Solemn High Masses in their own diocese. Fr. McDonnell said his first Mass at New Hope and the College Chaplain, the Reverend Edwin T. Grimes, O.S.A., delivered the sermon.

Fr. Curran celebrated his first Mass at the Church of St. Anne, in Wildwood. The Reverend Joseph M. Dougherty, O.S.A., Prior of the Villanova Monastery, preached the sermon. Fr. Mahoney celebrated his first Mass at St. Joseph's Church in Washington, D. C. The Reverend Daniel P. Falvey, O.S.A., delivered the address at the ceremonies.

College to Hold Memorial Day Mass in Chapel

Mass To Be Celebrated by President F. X. N. McGuire O.S.A.; Letters of Invitation to Guardians of Deceased

Wednesday, May 30, is Memorial Day. A Solemn Requiem Military Mass will be celebrated starting at 10:30 A. M. To encourage all Villanova students to attend this tribute Mass, all class work will be suspended between 10:30 and 11:30 A. M. The Mass will be celebrated by Rev. Francis X. N. McGuire, O.S.A., president of the college; the deacon will be the auxiliary chaplain, Rev. Edwin T. Grimes, O.S.A., and the sub-deacon is to be Rev. Robert McGrath, O.S.A., secretary of the Alumni Association.

Mass Offered

The Mass is being offered for the repose of the souls of the forty-one ex-Villanova students who have been killed in the present war. In conjunction with this theme, special letters of invitation have been sent to the parents or guardians of those deceased. The letters extend a cordial invitation from the President and Administration of the College for parents, relatives or friends to attend the Ceremony. Buffet lunch, in the Monastery dining room, will be served to the special visitors.

After the Mass a Catafalque will be blessed. On it will be both Army and Navy insignia. A Guard of Honor of Marines and Sailors will stand at attention during the ceremony. The Mass will be sung by the Schola Cantorum of St. Mary's Hall. Taps will conclude the tribute. Father Grimes strongly urges all the students to attend and take this opportunity to pray for and give tribute to our dead, in honor of the great price they paid for our freedom.

Villanovans at the Front

First Lieutenant Carl H. Voss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Voss, 6528 North 6th St., Philadelphia, navigator on a B-24 Liberator in the 484th Heavy Bombardment Group, has flown his 35th combat mission in the Mediterranean Theater of Operations.

Since his arrival overseas, Lieutenant Voss has become a veteran of missions against the aricraft factories and oil refineries at Vienna, Austria, and the German industrial installations at Munich and Blechammer.

Awarded D.F.C.

Lieutenant Voss was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for "extraordinary achievement in aerial flight," and holds the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters. He also wears the African-European-Middle East Theatre ribbon with two battle stars, and is authorized to wear the Distinguished Unit Badge with one bronze cluster.

Carl is a graduate of St. Joseph's Prep School, and of Villanova, where he was an active participant in all sports.

D.S.C. to O'Brien

Technical Sergeant Thomas S. O'Brien recently flew his fiftieth combat mission against the Germans before they capitulated to the Allies.

A radio operator-gunner on a 15th Air Force B-24, O'Brien arrived overseas last September and participated in many of the 15th's smashing and historic bombing attacks against German installations throughout Europe. He was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for extraordinary achievement and heroism on a flight over Linz, Austria, when he and the engineer, by their fast thinking and quick action, saved the lives of several of their crew members when their oxygen systems were shot out during a terrific flak barrage over the target area. He has also been awarded the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters for meritorious achievement on aerial flights against the enemy.

Describes Bombings

"Linz and Vienna," said Sgt. O'Brien, "were by far the roughest targets we ever bombed. Every time we'd bomb these places and leave them burning, we'd keep wondering how the Germans could hold out. They took a terrific pounding, and I'm glad I was on the giving end, although we received more than our share of flak from their guns."

Sgt. O'Brien graduated from high school in Wilmington, Del., and attended Villanova College before his entrance into the service.

Dr. Cucinotta Gets Bronze Star

Lt. Salvatore Cucinotta, attached to Camp Bradford, Virginia, as senior clinical medical officer, was awarded the Bronze Star, "for distinguishing himself by meritorious achievement as medical officer assigned to an LCT during the invasion of Italy at Salerno."

The 33-year-old Philadelphian was presented with the award by Capt. Charles F. Erck, USN, commanding officer at the Atlantic Fleet's Amphibious Training Base, Camp Bradford, Va.

The citation reads in part:

Citation

"On the assigned beach at Salerno, Lt. Cucinotta went ashore to attend numerous battle casualties. With complete disregard for his own safety, despite heavy and accurate fire from enemy shore batteries, he remained on the beach, administering expert and timely medical treatment. By his admirable courage and unremitting efforts, in rendering prompt and efficient first aid to many wounded men, he was to a large degree responsible for the probable saving of many lives."

Lt. Cucinotta, who is married to the former Miss Helen Murrin, is a graduate of Villanova College and the University of Pennsylvania Post-Graduate School of Medicine. Before entering the Navy in September, 1942, he maintained a medical practice in Philadelphia.

Senior Dinner Dance To Be Held at Warwick, June 9

Invitations Will Be Distributed Today to Seniors; Dinner Will Begin at 7:30 P. M.; Dancing Begins at 9:00 P. M.

Plans for the Senior Dinner-Dance to be held in the main ballroom of the Warwick Hotel, Saturday evening, June 9, are now nearing completion. Francis J. O'Connor, A.S., Chairman of the affair, announced recently. Invitations will be distributed today and about eighty Seniors are expected to attend.

O'Connor, President of the Phi Kappa Pi, engineering frat, and former President of the Student Council, has been chairman of several previous dances held at Villanova. He was appointed chairman of the Senior Dinner-Dance at the time of the formation of the Executive Committee of the Senior Class.

Sgt. John Muir to Direct New Show

With final curtain only one week from this coming Friday night, the Belle Masque dramatic club is putting on the finishing touches to the first presentation to be given by the newly revised society.

S/Sgt. John C. Muir, USMC, who organized the society eight weeks ago, will direct its first production. The sergeant has a dramatic background which has been a decided asset to the show. While in Junior High School, he took part in most of its plays and upon entering senior high organized the dramatic soceity there.

Took Graduate Work

After graduation, Muir put on plays for the benefit of his parish church in West Virginia and also took a post graduate course in dramatics in high school. His stage activities were somewhat curtailed after his enlistment in the Marine Corps but he still sound some time to pursue his chosen work.

While overseas, the sergeant helped write the song, "South Pacific Jive," one of the numbers to be used in the coming play. He also helped to put on several skits for his company overseas and managed to get his song copyrighted in Australia.

Many Songs to Appear

Other numbers which will appear in the play in addition to "South Pacific Jive," are: "Undress Blues," "I Want to Be an Officer," "If You'd Be So Kind" and "Stand By." Roger McRea, Bill Elliot, George Clelan, and John Brandt make up a quartet which will sing that night.

Cardell Receives Purple Heart

'. . . For wounds received in personal combat against the enemy . . ." Private Louis W. Cardell, USMC, was awarded the Order of the Purple Heart on Saturday, May 26, at an impressive ceremony on Austin Hall field.

Private Cardell was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., November 7, 1922, and celebrated his eighteenth birthday by enlisting in the United States Marine Corps. He started his training at Camp Lejeune, North Carolina.

Long Service Record

Cardell's service record is quite a long one. When he was promoted to Pfc., Lou boarded the USS Hornet and shipped out on a history making cruise. The secret mission of the Hornet was the launching of General Jimmy Doolittle's planes for an attack on Tokyo, April 25, 1942.

From June 3 to June 7, 1942 Private Cardell participated in the Battle of Midway Island. On October 5, 1942 he participated in an attack on Bougainville and Shortland Islands in the northern Solomon Group. On October 11, 1942, his group took part in the attack on Savo and Guadalcanal Island in the southern Solomon Group. On October 26 ,1942, he participated in the battle of Stewart Island of the Solomon Group, and here he was wounded in action.

Commander Edward L. Hannah, USNR, awarded the medal to Private Cardell, while Captain Robert L. Morgan, USMCR, read the citation. The entire V-12 detachment at Villanova College passed in review before the officers, with Private Cardell leading the Marine detachment.

Requiescant In Pace

THE following is a list of the 41 former students of Villanova who have made the supreme sacrifice in the present conflict. A Solemn Military Mass of Requiem will be celebrated tomorrow, Memorial Day, in the College Chapel, for the repose of their souls. Relatives and friends of the deceased, together with the entire student body of Villanova, have been invited to participate in the ceremonies.

Break Not the Faith

"In Flanders fields the poppies grow . . ." Let us pause to remember our dead this Memorial Day. The ghosts of those men who fought and died for the love of their home and country are with us this day. They are watching us closely to see if we will break the faith once more with those who died. The faith has already been broken once, it must not be broken again. We must give rest to the souls of these men forever.

The mothers and fathers of this nation, as well as the families throughout the world, have experienced hardship during this war. All have contributed in some way or another a son, a cousin, a nephew, to the fighting forces. Many of those who contributed have lost their most precious possessions. However, the sacrifices to those who died are very small compared to the benefits immediately secured, and to the benefits our dead hope will be secured in the future.

Our dead cry out in a loud voice, that they should not be left to die as did their fathers, on foreign battlefields, over three decades ago, without some hope of future peace and security in this world. Their silence too, clamors for domestic security, and friendly international relations. These men can see much better than we can, just what is ailing our world today. Their still voices remind us of '19, the fateful year in which our own nation deserted the cause for international peace and union.

The price of winning this war has cost us much in human life and bloodshed. What we have witnessed of destruction through the medium of press and radio makes us shudder at the very thought of such a thing happening again. We cannot survive another world conflict. Our dead know that as well as we. Yet we are willing to go about our daily tasks without giving much thought to these men. Our plans for reconversion, for a "return to normalcy," occupy the minds of all of us during this period.

We have defeated Germany. V-E day has come and gone. How many of us can truthfully say that we have thought seriously about the still unfinished struggle with Japan? Here, we face an enemy more brutal than we have ever encountered in our entire history as a nation. Even German atrocities cannot measure up to some of the true happenings in Japanese prison camps and torture chambers. Our men have taken all the Germans have to offer, and have died nobly and bravely. Now they are on their way to destroy the warped ideologies of Japan to bring total peace once more to the world. We must remember that we have a long struggle ahead of us, and that this is not now the time to slacken any of our efforts in behalf of "unconditional surrender." The Japanese hope that we will soon tire of the Pacific campaign and that we will accept a peace offer of some type or other. Maybe they're right! We failed our dead before, we may do it again!

We must celebrate memorial day this year by keeping in mind that we must fully avenge our dead. We cannot leave them lying on foreign soil without knowing that their homeland will secure that soil so that desecrating feet will no longer trample upon the hallowed graves. We must back our fighting men with all we have. We must give generously to the Seventh War Loan so that they may have materials with which to finish their job. They are willing to complete their task, we must also be willing to complete ours. They have never broken the faith with us, therefore we cannot afford to break the faith with them.

After a week's lay-off social acitivities are starting up once more for a final spurt before graduation. Immaculata is next in line with a tea dance for next Saturday afternoon at the Ben Franklin in town. The price is $1.20 stag and $2.40 a couple (which happens to be two times $1.20). It should be a real nice affair. If anyone is interested get in touch with this column about tickets . . . The next attraction on the card is Phi Kap's banquet the same evening at Palumbo's. But this is strictly a closed affair. . . . . If anyone's one and only is graduating from Rosemont this year we might say that graduation will take place next Monday at 11 A. M. (as if you didn't know).

We believe Newt Ward has found one of the quickest ways to cut down expenses. Last Friday he took steps to lower his annual tooth paste consumption by at least 50%. (Of course it may also diminish his income as a singing teacher). . . . Baldy Curtis was also another victim of fate last week. A piece of iron indirectly aimed by John Millet made Al lock like a "before" ad for the Thomas Hair Specialists. . . . We don't know whether it is a distinction or not but we believe we have more long range critics than any other writers on the staff. The latest to throw brickbats in our direction are Lovey Quenn and Spook Burke from Holland. You would think they would be too busy keeping their fingers in holes in the dikes instead of writing poison letters. Of course it settles one thing. We were never quite sure if Lovely could read or not. . . . H. P. Dumsa has enlightened us in regard to his stand toward girls. "I love them collectively, not individually."

—V—

Yes sir, we have one real live drug store cowboy in our midst. His name is Red Elsesser, podner, and he is a tough hombre. In case you're wondering where he hangs out, it's a certain drug store in Ardmore. Boy those ice cream sodas are rugged. . . . In case anyone has some spare change they can use it for a good cause. Just send roses to "Red Button" O'Connor to place around Mori's picture. Gee, ain't love grand!!! . . . Say Hughie do you suppose Lou had to go home the past two weekends? Of course she probably did. We were just wondering, that's all. . . . . Please won't someone help Don Reinhardt out and get him a date for the Dinner Dance. Now that H.P. has his high school ring back he looks like Diamond Jim with all his jewelry. Just think Al if you could collect rent for letting her wear it you would have a fortune today. In case you didn't see the ring on anyone's finger just ask Al where it was hidden. . . . The Deacon has announced the following schedule for next week: Monday—Kay Schreiber, Tuesday—Jean Carver, Wednesday—Sis Hoffman—Thursday Kay Lenehan, Friday—the S S girl, and on Saturday—Marion Yeager. The Deacon regrets to announce he can accept no more social engagements at this time.

Meet the Boys

By THOMAS P. WELCH, A/S

WHEN we woke Don Reinhardt in his most typical pose he suspected our mission and immediately blurted out that "Aquinas Institute of Rochester is even a better school than West Catholic." He thought that was where we had gone, so it's up to Dave Ward, Bob Lawlor and a few others to defend their Alma Mater.

This, however, put Donald Reinhardt, A.S., in the same class with Bill Farrell and Bob Cramer at the Institute and also buddies from the same town. At A.I.R., Don was active on the Mission Society and on the staff of the year book. He also held the guiding reins for the Spring Hop in his Junior year.

DONALD REINHARDT, A.S.

He owes all his business ability—well he is now treasurer of the Phi Kappa Pa—to his career as newsboy for the Rochester Times Union. He enjoyed this job for two years, mainly because it often entailed helping his customers' daughters with the dishes or sampling their cakes.

He reminded us of Bill Konese when he started talking of Windsor Beach, on Lake Ontario, where he spent his summer vacation time. Bill is still holding out for Jones Beach, but regardless of which is the nicer, any of us would rather be there right now.

He came to Villanova in the Fall of 1942 and became one of the famous men of Alumni Hall's second deck. He was the roommate of the illustrious Carles Dunphy, a character familiar to all oldtimers. He must make a habit of rooming with characters as this semester finds him still living with Stan Wagner after five terms.

His friends from Rochester gave Don a hearty welcome into the Phi Kappa Pi in his Sophomore year, and the Fraternity proved to be the beneficiary as Don was elected Treasurer for his Senior year and has held one of the highest averages in the Bowling league for two seasons.

Don is presently helping Frank Solis, the Class Treasurer, with the collection of Senior dues for the big Dinner Dance coming up June 9. On the staff of the 1945 Belle Air he is writing for the College section. Like most of us, he also dabbled in Intrmural Sports.

Regardless of all he claims to have learned from Dunphy and Wagner, Don mournfully reflects that he hasn't settled down to being a one-woman-man as yet. But he certainly accompanies the nicest material for such an object to all the local dances.

WE had to trace his path through the cinders down on the field before we found the owner of diary No. 2 for today. The track is the favorite hangout of John Cockcroft's, and his record with the track team explains why.

Jack day-hopped to Villanova in his freshman year from his home in North Philadelphia. He probably did so on free passes from the rialroad as he worked for PRR several summers between terms at

New chairman of the Villanova Branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Joseph Gerngross, A.S., has announced that the meeting, which was to be held last Tuesday evening and was postponed, will be held tomorrow in room 214 Mendel Hall at 6:30 P. M.

As has been the policy during the semester, discussions by seniors on their respective thesis topics will be continued. Tomorrow evening Thomas P. Welch, A.S., will present a discussion on "Mercury Power Rectifiers" accompanied by a twenty-minute reel of movies on the topic.

At subsequent meetings of the student group the members will hear discussions by David Ward on the subject of telephone circuits and switchboard connections, George Hoberg on high frequencies, Hugh O'Reilly on oscillators and Ray Adams on radio receivers.

Belle Air

John Fitzgibbons, Editor-in-Chief of the 1945 Belle Air has requested that all staff writers have their copy in by the end of the week at the latest. Copy editors will begin work this week to prepare all material for the printers. All work on the book is hoped to be completed by the end of the semester.

Cox and Schmitt Outstanding Performers of First Metropolitan Philadelphia Intercollegiate Meet; Squad Scores 47 Points in Twelve Events

By JAMES CONATY

With an impressive array of track squads from seven colleges of this district participating in the Metropolitan Philadelphia Intercollegiates, Villanova took second place by scoring 47 points, and produced the individual stars of the twilight meeting. The University of Pennsylvania won the meet, last Friday evening at Franklin Field, with 67½ points.

Wildcat trackmen took five first places, and tied for another, while collecting points in twelve events.

Cox and Schmitt Star

The two men mainly responsible for the stellar Villanova showing were Burt Cox, USMCR, and Don Schmitt, A.S. Cox, who accounted for 17 of his team's 47 points, scored wins in the 100 yard dash, the 220 yard dash, the broad jump, and tied with teammate, Len Autrey, and Temple's Charlie Krug, in the high jump. Schmitt won the mile and two mile events. Len Autrey tied for first place in the pole vault with the University of Pennsylvania's James Mikula.

Supporting Cox and Schmitt were Tom Short, Bob Bean Jack Cockroft, Chuck Harrington, Billy Williams, Danny Redmond, and Jim Breen.

Short Nosed Out

Short took second place in the 440 yard run, being nosed out by Pennsylvania's Duane Rost, at the finish line in one of the most exciting events of the evening.

Third place men were: Bean, in the 880 yard run; Cockroft, in the mile; Harrington, in the 220 low hurdles; and Williams, in the javelin event.

Redmond placed fourth in the mile, trailing teammates Schmitt and Cockroft across the finish line.

Jim Breen took fourth in the 220 low hurdles, and came in fifth in the 120 high hurdles.

Burt Cox and Len Autrey figured in a three way tie with Temple's Charlie Krug for second place in the high jump.

Bucknell Trips Wildcat Nine, 4-0; Will Meet Again

On the first stop of the two day wastern trip, Villanova lost to Bucknell, 4-0, on a gale swept diamond in Lewisburg, Pa.

The game was postponed for three hours because of rain and became the first twilight game of the Wildcat season. When the teams took the field with no batting practice, the fireworks started in the very first inning.

Four Hit Pitching

Wildcat pitcher Emil Matas, pitched brilliant ball for nine innings, striking out every Bucknell man at least once until the total reached twelve and allowing only four hits and one earned run. The rest of the team could not get started and the only hit gathered by the Cats was the fourth inning single by second baseman, Don Boos.

The Bisons started in the first inning getting one run on an error by first baseman Eisenhart, and a double over the short left field wall by Killeen. The earned run came in the fifth on a hit by Styron and a triple to right by McGuire. Bucknell added two more in the eighth on a hit by Bison pitcher, Robetsky, an error by Boss and a double error by left-fielder, Naslund.

Fedigan Hall, this week, moved into undisputed possession of first place in the campus intramural race as a result of their three straight wins. Austin Hall dropped to a lowly last because of three consecutive losses. The Marines and the Mendel Civilian team are tied for second place.

On Monday night, Fedigan started to roll with a rousing 16-2 victory over Austin Hall. Rog McRae's six hit pitching and home runs by Hank Strauss and "Doc" Stauffer made the win a decisive one. Meantime, over on number one diamond the Civilians crushed the Marines, 11-7. Once again Bill Koerner was credited with the win and Bill Williams was given the loss. For Mendel: eleven runs on six hits; for Marines: seven runs on nine hits.

Fedigan Steps Ahead

On Wednesday night the Marines fell victims to the onslaught of Fedigan's fifteen runs and Dom Femiano's four hit pitching. They lost 15-4. This victory moved Fedigan into first place for sure and there they stand with a comfortable percentage. Austin Hall on this same night, fell before a revampel Mendel team, 21-11. Koerner was the winning pitcher and Carroll Andrews was given the loss. The figures on that game: Mendel, eighteen hits, twenty-one runs; Austin Hall, thirteen hits and eleven runs.

End of a Perfect Week

Fedigan topped their hot week's doings on Friday night as they smashed out a 10-4 win over the Mendelites. Femiano gave up seven hits and four runs and was given the win. Fedigan rapped Bill Koerner for thirteen hits and ten runs. Joe Sulock had a perfect evening with four hits for four times at bat. Once again the Marines beat Austin in a close 12-11 contest. Hittinger pitched the victory for the Marines, allowing eleven hits and Andrews toed the mound for the Austin team, yield-

Villanova Nine Loses To Penn State; Coast Guard

Villanova and State Both Use Three Hurlers; Wildcats Collect 14 Hits

Coast Guard Atones for Early Season Defeat; Home Runs Feature Contest

By ROBERT CONWAY

In a game spotted with extra base hits on both sides, Villanova lost to Penn State, last Wednesday, at State College, 12-10.

Led by the unstopable Mr. Tepsic, Penn State collected twelve hits from the three 'Cat pitchers; Naslund, Wagner and Matas, who pitched the two final innings after hurling a complete game the night before. Not to be outdone in the batters box, the Wildcats collected a total of fourteen hits from three State pitchers.

Silver Gets Homer

"Nittany Lion" broke loose in the first inning to score twice on three singles and a triple to right by third baseman, Tepsic. The Wildcats came back in the second to score four times on three singles, a double by Eisenhart, and a triple by Lafferty. Villanova added two more in the third on a single by Weidenhaefer and a home run to deep left by Warren Silver. Still another came across in the fourth on a triple by Williams and a passed ball.

It was just not Naslund's day and in the fourth inning the Nittany Lion chased him, scoring four times on two walks, two singles and the second home run of the day, this time by Hopkins of Penn State. Wagner came in with two out in the fourth and retired the side. However the Catkillers murdered his fast ball and Matas pitched the last two innings.

Lafferty Connects

The Wildcats were not counted out for they scored once in the sixth on hits by Boos and Williams, once again in the eighth on hits by the same two, and one in

In a game featured with home runs, the hard hitting Wildcats lost to the Philadelphia Coast Guard, in Philadelphia, last Saturday, 13-8.

Led by Pastore and Silber, the Coast Guard took off fast, scoring two in the first and five in the second on four singles and two hme runs from the delivery of 'Cat pitcher, Dick Naslund, who beat them at Villanova earlier in the season. Things were quiet until the sixth when the Coast Guard went to town again and scored on two singles and some faulty infield work on the part of the Wildcat nine. Then in the last two innings, three more times pay dirt was reached on home runs by Holden and MacDonald.

Start Rally

The Wildcats showed that they could hit anything that the Coast Guard pitcher, Tom McCollum, could offer, but they did not start until the sixth inning when they were eight runs in the hole. Before the sixth the only long hit came from the bat of Warren Silver, and his triple in the fourth inning was of little avail.

The sixth started with a bang as Lafferty doubled, Williams clouted his first home run of the season over the leftfield wall, then "Ike" Eisenhart singled to center and when Silber let the ball go through his legs "Ike" came all the way home. The pitcher, Naslund, came through in the seventh and clouted another ball over the leftfield fence.

The Wildcat highlight came in the ninth when four men came in on hits by Heilmann, "Limpy" Marano, pinch hitting for Hertzfeld, Naslund, Boos, Lafferty and Eisenhart. Faulty base running by Wagner and a nice catch of Roland's line drive by MacDonald brought the game to a close as rain started.

In The Sportlight

By MATT KEARNEY, A.S.

Outstanding among the leading athletes at Villanova is one David Marano, a Sophomore Civil Engineer enrolled here under the Navy's College Training program, and a smooth and brilliant infielder on Father McCarthy's varsity nine.

Davey was born on December 28, 1924, in Philadelphia. He attended South Philadelphia High School and graduated from this institution in August of 1942. Strangely enough, Dave played no ball for the high school team. However, during this time, he was picking up valuable experience with local sandlot teams. While playing with these teams, Dave relates: "I played every position there is—even pitcher."

His versatility has been manifest to date, as he has played every position in the Villanova infield with equal skill.

A Pacific Veteran

Dave joined the Navy in December of 1942 and took his boot training in Sanford, Florida. His tour of duty then took him to Portsmouth Pharmacist Mate School, Naval Hospital, Memphis, Tennessee, Camp Elliot, San Diego, California, and Camp Pendleton, Oceanside, California.

From here Davey joined the fight against Japan, as a PhM 3/C attached to the Fourth Marine Division. Dave saw action on Kwajeilien Atoll, Roi, and Nomur Islands.

Dave came to Villanova on July 1, 1944. He went out for baseball last summer, and, curiously enough, he didn't make the squad. But a year's rest from the front lines found Davey in top-notch condition.

Leads Villanova in Batting

This year Dave is sparking the Main Liners' attacks, when they are made, and he is currently leading the Wildcat batters with a nice .324 batting average. He has three doubles to his credit and had the rare honor of getting the first Villanova hit of the year during his first time at bat as leadoff man in the opening game. Since then, the way Dave has been doing will be manifested by anyone who has seen air-tight defensive play and his trigger quick ballplaying.

DAVID MARANO, A.S.

Dave says he would like to make baseball his career if he ever gets the big chance that so few get. Since Dave has started every game and played every inning this season until his recent injury in the Bucknell game, it looks like he has a good start on the right road.

Davey is a student, too, as he's been on the Honor Roll ever since he came here last July. He is also a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Villanova Gives 3 Scholarships

Winners of the three Annual Competitive Scholarships awarded at Villanova for 1945 were announced today.

John P. Murphy and Paul A. O'Brien, both of Lancaster Catholic High School, and Francis J. Hood, St. Joseph's Prep. School, Philadelphia, gained the awards. One hundred and seventeen high school seniors from 22 high schools in the East took part in the competition.

Highest score was attained by William Coffey, West Catholic Boys' High School, Philadelphia, who was unable to accept the award because of impending enlistment in the Armed Services.

Each scholarship has a monetary value of $1,000. Three are awarded each year through this Competitive Examination which tests high school achievement in fields of History, English, Science and Social Studies.

Northeast Catholic High School from which he graduated in 1942.

Here Jack played football in his freshman year. His most treasured memory of high school days is the address he presented before the entir student body concerning the outbreak of the war with Japan. Oddly enough the student meeting occurred on December 7 and the topic proved more timely than was anticipated.

He matriculated at Villanova in the School of Electrical Engineering in October of '42 but waited until his Junior year to start his work on school activities. In that eventful year Jack became a member of the student branch of the A. I. E. E. and a staff writer for the Villanovan. .He was appropriately ushered into the Phi Kappa Pi and within a year was elected Sergeant at Arms. This job consists in keeping the roll and caring for the Frat trophies. This year he is helping out on the sports staff of the Belle Air.

Jack's favorite distance on the cinders is the 1-mile, but his name has often appeared on the roster for the 2-mile. In either race Jack has helped the track team to one of their best seasons in many years. Last Friday evening he came in third in the mile, hot on the heels of victorious Don Schmitt. He also finished in the 2-mile.

Jack's picture appeared in the Philadelphia Record this season showing him keeping pace with the highly rated O'Leary of Atlantic City Coast Guard. This was the 1000-yard run and Jack gained a fourth place. In his big Junior year he was third in the 1-mile at Princeton Triangular Meet in which seven college teams participated. He also ran the ¼ mile distance in the Distance Medley Relay at Penn in which the team garnered a second place.

ball to load the bases with one out, but smart playing on the part of Harris and Murphy, the second base combination of the Bisons niped the rally in the bud.

The Villanova nine was hindered by the loss of the dependable John Murphy, who was at the Naval Hospital, in Philadelphia. Further misfortune hit when Dave Marano was injured in the fourth inning trying to get out of the way of an inside pitch. Although he played the rest of the game without complaining, his leg was in such bad shape on Wednesday that he could hardly walk.

Bucknell will invade the Wildcat lair on Saturday for the second of the two game series and will again meet the pitching of hard-luck 'Bull' Matas and the full sedvices of the entire team.

The Wildcat combination expects the return to the lineup of hard-hitting Orville Anderson out since the Army game and the services of John Murphy. With the hitting that has appeared and the promise that it will continue since Bob Williams has found his batting eye, the Bisons will be prepared to meet a different team.

When Bucknell comes in it is to be expected that it will field a combination in the infield of Killeen at first, the second base combination of Harris and Murphy, and at third Bob McDanels. In the outfield will be McGuire, the leading hitter, Trugly and Styron. The same battery that held the Wildcats to one hit, pitcher, Robeatsky, receiver, and Caldwell will probably get the starting assignment.

will begin about 9:00 o'clock and will continue until 12.

The programs for the Dinner-Dance will be in the form of a souvenir and will contain the names of all the members of the Class of '45. Frank Ronan, who has charge of the programs, has announced that a short class history will be included and the Alma Mater will appear on the last page.

Orchestra To Be Signed

An orchestra has not as yet been signed, but Robert Cramer, A.S, and Hugh O'Reilly, A.S., who are in charge of this department express hopees of securing a small band within the next few days. Richard Madigan, A.S., will take care of any decorations in the ballroom which will sonsist of flowers on each table and hnging the school banner.

Frank R. Solis, A.S., Treasurer of the Class, and Donald Reinhardt, A.S., will contact all the Seniors this week to collect final payment of dues. The total cost per senior ammounts to $10, which was collected throughout the semester in the form of monthly dues.

Members of the class will make their own seating arrangements for the dinner several days before the affair. Eeach table seats five couples and lists of all desired groups should be given to Robert McKibbon, A.S., who is assisting with the Social Arrangements.

Rev. Edward Burns Gets Ph.D. Degree

Rev. Edward J. Burns, O.S.A., of the college faculty, received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Catholic University of America at Commencement Exercises held in Washington last Wednesday, May 23. Fr. Burns, who has been teaching in the Sociology department here, majored in Economics. His dissertation, soon to be published, is entiled "Some Financial Trends of Commercial Banks of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, 1915-1941."

Fr. Burns joined the faculty of Villanova College in April of 1944. A native of Torrington, Connecticut, he received his A.B. degree here in 1937 and the M.A. from Catholic University, in 1941. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1940. Prior to his coming to Villanova, he was assigned to the Augustinian College in Washington, D. C.

Fr. Stanford To Be Guest Speaker At Dinner Dance

Former President of Villanova College Will Address Class of '45 at Warwick Hotel; Final Arrangements Complete

Very Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O.S.A., President of the Augustinian College in Washington, D. C., will be guest speaker at the Senior Dinner Dance of the Class of 1945, to be held this Saturday evening, June 9, at the Hotel Warwick in Philadelphia. Francis J. O'Connor, A.S., chairman of the affair, made this announcement after final arrangements for the Dinner Dance were completed last week.

Former President of Villanova College for twelve years, from 1932 to 1944, Fr. Stanford is a leader in the field of education among Catholic and Secular colleges throughout the country. He was an important cog in the inauguration of the Navy V-12 Program and in its inception at Villanova. He is familiar to all the Seniors, since they spent five semesters under his friendly and efficient guidance.

Dr. Burke Invited

Dr. Edward Burke, Ph. D., President of the Villanova Alumni Association, has also been invited to attend the Dinner Dance and to speak to the Seniors concerning this organization. This action will familiarize the potential alumni with the activities of the Alumni Association and aid them in joining.

Among other guests of honor will be Rev. Edwin T. Grimes, O.S.A., Chaplain of the College and Moderator of the Class; Rev. Francis

La Salle College Confers Degree On Fr. McGuire

At the eighty-second Commencement exercises held at La Salle College, the Very Reverend Francis X. N. McGuire was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Father McGuire pursued most of his graduate work in Rome and after seven years of study and religious training he took his doctorate in Sacred Theology at the Pontifical University in the Eternal City in February, 1939.

On his return to the United States, Father McGuire attended Fordham University for additional courses in research in Education. When he returned to Villanova he became a Guidance Officer.

Father McGuire has been President of Villanova College since July 1934, at which time he succeeded the Very Reverend Edward V. Stanford O.S.A. During his

Alumni Who Died In Service Honored In Memorial Mass

Solemn Requiem Mass was offered in the Villanova College Chapel on Memorial Day, Tuesday, May 30th. The Mass was celebrated to honor the forty-one "gold star" Alumni of the college. Parents, relatives and friends of the honored dead, in addition to the college students, trainees, faculty, and employees participated in the services.

The Very Reverend Francis X. McGuire, O.S.A., President of Villanova College was the Celebrant of the Mass; the Reverend Edwin T. Grimes, O.S.A., College and V-12 Unit Chaplain, was Deacon; Reverend Robert E. McGrath, O.S.A., the Alumni Secretary, was Subdeacon.

Catafalque Blessed

At the conclusion of the Mass, a catafalque was blessed. The catafalque was draped with an American flag, and upon the top of the Stars and Stripes rested three officers' caps, representing the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, the services in which the alumni of our college fought. Two Sailors and two Marines from the Navy V-12 formed a guard of honor about the catafalque, during the entire service. Choral music was supplied by the Schola Cantorum of the Augustinian Scholasticate of Saint Mary's Hall.

At the conclusion of the Mass, a sermon was delivered by Reverend John S. O'Leary, O.S.A., Professor of Mathematics at the college. In his own inimitable style, which has made him a popular speaker at Catholic institutions in this area, he spoke of the difficulty of consoling the parents of the deceased men. Father pointed out, during the course of his talk, the staunch character of the men who died for the glory of God and Country.

After the sermon, the Catafalque was blessed by Father McGuire. The singing of the Benedictus and the National Anthem concluded the ceremonies.

Kin and friends of the deceased alumni were in attendance through special invitation of the President of the College and the Administration. Buffet luncheon was served to the special guests in the Monastery following the sermon.

Lt. Moses Bombs Tokyo; Sgt. Bradley Trains Chinese Soldiers; Sgt. Meriwether Gets Air Medal

Lieutenant (j.g.) Francis Moses, USNR, of Route 1, Glen Mills, Pennsylvania, has returned on leave from a flak-filled series of Navy strikes at Jap bases in the Pacific where he piloted a carrier-based Helldiver attacked to Air Group Four.

The 26-year-old Glen Mills airman and his mates were in the thick of the intensive pre-invasion blows which readied the Philippines for recapture by our ground forces.

The flying naval officer attended St. Joseph's Preparatory School, Harrisburg, and Villanova College, where he competed in baseball and boxing. He was commissioned in January, 1943, and prior to his assignment with Air Group Four saw service in the North Atlantic.

Air Group Four's four months of Pacific action was climaxed by its participation in recent raids on Tokio. Its crew also struck tellingly in Manila Bay, Formosa, Leyte, French Indo-China and the Pescadores Islands, destroying more than 200 Jap planes. They sank, or probably sank, five destroyers and two destroyer escorts and damaged 11 other destroyers and five destroyer escorts in addition to their numerous hits on enemy merchant ships.

Bradley In China

Sergeant Vincent D. Bradley, 22, is now with the Chinese Training Center in Yunan Province, after fighting the Japs in Burma where the enemy was put to rout. The Chinese Training Center is the American military mission, largest of its kind in the world, headed by Brig. Gen. John W. Middleton of Chevy Chase, Md., which is teaching the Chinese modern methods of warfare to increase their combat efficiency against the Japanese invaders of China.

Bradley was one of the American soldiers who fought at Myitkyina until the fall of that important Japanese stronghold on August 4th last. His outfit also helped the Chinese in driving the Japs out of North Burma and Yunan Province, China, to make possible the opening of the Stillwell Road from India to China. His outfit received a Presidential citation for it work at Myitkyina.

Sergeant Bradley is a graduate of Balboa H. S., Balboa, Canal Zone, and of Villanova College.

Corporal Louis R. De Palo, of White Plains, New York, serves as physical instructor with a combat engineer group under Major General Charles P. Hall's 11th Corps on Luzon.

Before entering the service De Palo was a student here at Villanova.

Sgt. Meriwether Gets Air Medal

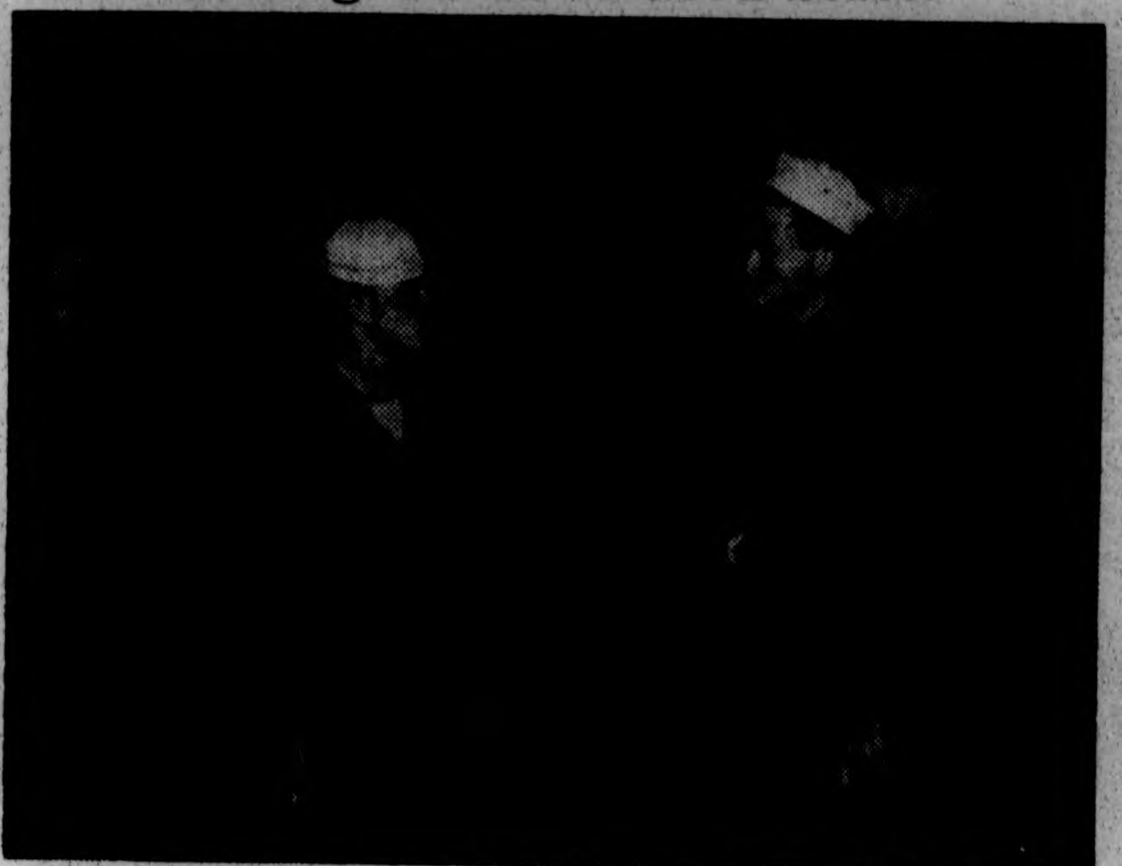
For his meritorious achievement in a bombing attack January 9, 1945, on a German-held railroad bridge near Palazzolo, Italy, Staff Sgt. Robert H. Meriwether, 21, of Drexel Hill, Pa., radio operator gunner on a 12th Air Force B-25 Mitchell bomber, has been awarded the Air Medal.

The award was made by Brig. Gen. Robert D. Knapp, commander of the 57th Bomb Wing, in a presentation ceremony at a Mitchell bomber base.

Since he went overseas in October, 1944, the Drexel Hill radio operator has flown 29 combat missions against targets in Northern Italy. He was a student here at Villanova, until his enlistment in the army in October, 1942.

The B-25 Mitchell group with which Sergeant Meriwether is flying recently rounded out a year of intensive blasting of Italian road and rail communications by helping to seal off the Brenner Pass railway line throughout the entire month of February. This rail link between northern Italy and the Reich was a Nazi lifeline, but successful attacks by Sergeant Meriwether's groups and other 12th Air Force units had strangled it.

Getting Off To A Good Start!



The "Boot" (White Sonner) is looking for Austin Hall when he runs into campus watch (Matt Kearney) who gives him some advice. This scene takes place in the prologue of Friday night's play "I Want To Be An Officer."

'I Want To Be An Officer' To Be Presented Friday

All Invited To First All-Student Production in Several Years; Will Start At 8:30 In Field House

The Belle Masque dramatic society will make its debut this coming Friday night at 8:30 in the Field House when the newly revised club will present its first production, "I Want To Be an Officer." The faculty, trainees, students, and their guests are all invited. Due to expenses involved no charge will be made but a basket will be placed in the lobby to accept donations. Navy and Marine trainees will be given liberty until midnight in order to see their guests home.

The three act musical comedy will portray the life of a naval trainee with the setting right here on the campus. It follows one Apprentice Seaman Burton Oscar Olliver Tolliver, the Third, U. S. N. R., (White Sonner) from the time he reports to Villanova until the end of the same semester.

Looking for Action

The prologue opens up with the hero wandering around the campus looking for Austin Hall when he runs into the roving patrol (Matt Kearney) in front of Mendel Hall. The watch gives the new man a preview on what's before him and some inside dope on what to expect, and sends him on his merry way.

B. O. O. Tolliver, III, finally finds his room and meets his roommate, Joe (Mason Robertson). Joe is an amiable, sympathetic, understanding and energetic fellow who gives his roommate a warm welcome and immediately dubs him the "Boot." Later he meets Bill (Carl Schneider) who is soon to become the boot's best friend.

Girl Fails to Write

The boot has a girl and is interested in letting everybody know it. He is practically in the depths of despair because he has not heard from her and the plot of the play unwinds around the boot's anguish in not hearing from her.

Hilarity reigns when the boot draws his first deck watch. The boys become a little difficult to control in addition to ribbing the boot about his loved one. All the various characters make their appearance including Foster Blough and C. D. Cummings who will do a specialty number. The watch also gets a surprise visit from the O. D. (Larry Bradley).

Quartet Featured

The show will also feature a quartet of John Brandt, Rodger McRea, Bill Elliot, and George Clelan. Dick Henson will also sing several numbers and C. D. Cummings will give a dissertation between acts. It is destined to be a hit you won't want to miss.

Fr. McKee Visits Catholic Schools

During the months of April and May, the Rev. Edward Bernard McKee, O.S.A., Vice President of the College, visited and spoke to the Senior classes of twenty Catholic High Schools on the subject of a "Choice of a Career in Life."

Father McKee stressed the need of serious thought on the matter of a life's career and the fact that such a selection must be made by the student himself. He spoke of the opportunities of realizing one's ambition under war-time conditions and what possibilities the various professions offer during and after the War. The need of a Catholic education in striving for one's ambition and Villanova's place in such plans were explained.

Many Questions Asked

After the talk, many questions were answered regarding the V-12, the NROTC, the ASTP and the G.I. Bill of Rights. A number of prospective students for the College were interviewed.

In connection with Father McKee's talks at the various Catholic High Schools in the vicinity, the registrar's office has announced the beginning of a campaign to increase civilian enrollment at Villanova College in the next year.

Pamphlets Printed

The Office of the Registrar has printed pamphlets and a special edition of the Villanovan in order to attract the interest of prospective college men to Villanova. These pamphlets explain to the high school graduate or the returning veteran the benefits which Villanova College has to offer to them, with respect to a well-rounded education.

Father McKee, during the course of his lectures, visited the following

Philadelphia: Roman Catholic High School, West Catholic High School, Northeast Catholic High School, Southeast Catholic High School, St. Thomas More Catholic High School.

Wilmington, Delaware: Salesianum Catholic High School.

Claymont, Delaware: Archmere Academy.

Chester, Pennsylvania: St. James Catholic High School.

Lancaster, Pennsylvania: Lancas-

Villanova Gives 3 Scholarships

Winners of the three Annual Competitive Scholarships awarded at Villanova for 1945 were announced today.

John P. Murphy and Paul A. O'Brien, both of Lancaster Catholic High School, and Francis J. Hood, St. Joseph's Prep. School, Philadelphia, gained the awards. One hundred and seventeen high school seniors from 22 high schools in the East took part in the competition.

Highest score was attained by William Coffey, West Catholic Boys' High School, Philadelphia, who was unable to accept the award because of impending enlistment in the Armed Services.

Each scholarship has a monetary value of $1,000. Three are awarded each year through this Competitive Examination which tests high school achievement in fields of History, English, Science and Social Studies.

Northeast Catholic High School from which he graduated in 1942.

Here Jack played football in his freshman year. His most treasured memory of high school days is the address he presented before the entir student body concerning the outbreak of the war with Japan. Oddly enough the student meeting occurred on December 7 and the topic proved more timely than was anticipated.

He matriculated at Villanova in the School of Electrical Engineering in October of '42 but waited until his Junior year to start his work on school activities. In that eventful year Jack became a member of the student branch of the A. I. E. E. and a staff writer for the Villanovan. He was appropriately ushered into the Phi Kappa Pi and within a year was elected Sergeant at Arms. This job consists in keeping the roll and caring for the Frat trophies. This year he is helping out on the sports staff of the Belle Air.

Jack's favorite distance on the cinders is the 1-mile, but his name has often appeared on the roster for the 2-mile. In either race Jack has helped the track team to one of their best seasons in many years. Last Friday evening he came in third in the mile, hot on the heels of victorious Don Schmitt. He also finished in the 2-mile.

Jack's picture appeared in the Philadelphia Record this season showing him keeping pace with the highly rated O'Leary of Atlantic City Coast Guard. This was the 1000-yard run and Jack gained a fourth place. In his big Junior year he was third in the 1-mile at Princeton Triangular Meet in which seven college teams participated. He also ran the ¼ mile distance in the Distance Medley Relay at Penn in which the team garnered a second place.

ball to load the bases with one out, but smart playing on the part of Harris and Murphy, the second base combination of the Bisons niped the rally in the bud.

The Villanova nine was hindered by the loss of the dependable John Murphy, who was at the Naval Hospital, in Philadelphia. Further misfortune hit when Dave Marano was injured in the fourth inning trying to get out of the way of an inside pitch. Although he played the rest of the game without complaining, his leg was in such bad shape on Wednesday that he could hardly walk.

Bucknell will invade the Wildcat lair on Saturday for the second of the two game series and will again meet the pitching of hard-luck 'Bull' Matas and the full sedvices of the entire team.

The Wildcat combination expects the return to the lineup of hard-hitting Orville Anderson out since the Army game and the services of John Murphy. With the hitting that has appeared and the promise that it will continue since Bob Williams has found his batting eye, the Bisons will be prepared to meet a different team.

When Bucknell comes in it is to be expected that it will field a combination in the infield of Killeen at first, the second base combination of Harris and Murphy, and at third Bob McDanels. In the outfield will be McGuire, the leading hitter, Trugly and Styron. The same battery that held the Wildcats to one hit, pitcher, Robeatsky, receiver, and Caldwell will probably get the starting assignment.

will begin about 9:00 o'clock and will continue until 12.

The programs for the Dinner-Dance will be in the form of a souvenir and will contain the names of all the members of the Class of '45. Frank Ronan, who has charge of the programs, has announced that a short class history will be included and the Alma Mater will appear on the last page.

Orchestra To Be Signed

An orchestra has not as yet been signed, but Robert Cramer, A.S, and Hugh O'Reilly, A.S., who are in charge of this department express hopees of securing a small band within the next few days. Richard Madigan, A.S., will take care of any decorations in the ballroom which will sonsist of flowers on each table and hnging the school banner.

Frank R. Solis, A.S., Treasurer of the Class, and Donald Reinhardt, A.S., will contact all the Seniors this week to collect final payment of dues. The total cost per senior ammounts to $10, which was collected throughout the semester in the form of monthly dues.

Members of the class will make their own seating arrangements for the dinner several days before the affair. Eeach table seats five couples and lists of all desired groups should be given to Robert McKibbon, A.S., who is assisting with the Social Arrangements.

Rev. Edward Burns Gets Ph.D. Degree

Rev. Edward J. Burns, O.S.A., of the college faculty, received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Catholic University of America at Commencement Exercises held in Washington last Wednesday, May 23. Fr. Burns, who has been teaching in the Sociology department here, majored in Economics. His dissertation, soon to be published, is entitled "Some Financial Trends of Commercial Banks of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, 1915-1941."

Fr. Burns joined the faculty of Villanova College in April of 1944. A native of Torrington, Connecticut, he received his A.B. degree here in 1937 and the M.A. from Catholic University, in 1941. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1940. Prior to his coming to Villanova, he was assigned to the Augustinian College in Washington, D. C.

Fr. Stanford To Be Guest Speaker At Dinner Dance

Former President of Villanova College Will Address Class of '45 at Warwick Hotel; Final Arrangements Complete

Very Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O.S.A., President of the Augustinian College in Washington, D. C., will be guest speaker at the Senior Dinner Dance of the Class of 1945, to be held this Saturday evening, June 9, at the Hotel Warwick in Philadelphia. Francis J. O'Connor, A.S., chairman of the affair, made this announcement after final arrangements for the Dinner Dance were completed last week.

Former President of Villanova College for twelve years, from 1932 to 1944, Fr. Stanford is a leader in the field of education among Catholic and Secular colleges throughout the country. He was an important cog in the inauguration of the Navy V-12 Program and in its inception at Villanova. He is familiar to all the Seniors, since they spent five semesters under his friendly and efficient guidance.

Dr. Burke Invited

Dr. Edward Burke, Ph. D., President of the Villanova Alumni Association, has also been invited to attend the Dinner Dance and to speak to the Seniors concerning this organization. This action will familiarize the potential alumni with the activities of the Alumni Association and aid them in joining.

Among other guests of honor will be Rev. Edwin T. Grimes, O.S.A., Chaplain of the College and Moderator of the Class; Rev. Francis

La Salle College Confers Degree On Fr. McGuire

At the eighty-second Commencement exercises held at La Salle College, the Very Reverend Francis X. N. McGuire was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Father McGuire pursued most of his graduate work in Rome and after seven years of study and religious training he took his doctorate in Sacred Theology at the Pontifical University in the Eternal City in February, 1939.

On his return to the United States, Father McGuire attended Fordham University for additional courses in research in Education. When he returned to Villanova he became a Guidance Officer.

Father McGuire has been President of Villanova College since July 1934, at which time he succeeded the Very Reverend Edward V. Stanford O.S.A. During his

Alumni Who Died In Service Honored In Memorial Mass

Solemn Requiem Mass was offered in the Villanova College Chapel on Memorial Day, Tuesday, May 30th. The Mass was celebrated to honor the forty-one "gold star" Alumni of the college. Parents, relatives and friends of the honored dead, in addition to the college students, trainees, faculty, and employees participated in the services.

The Very Reverend Francis X. McGuire, O.S.A., President of Villanova College was the Celebrant of the Mass; the Reverend Edwin T. Grimes, O.S.A., College and V-12 Unit Chaplain, was Deacon; Reverend Robert E. McGrath, O.S.A., the Alumni Secretary, was Subdeacon.

Catafalque Blessed

At the conclusion of the Mass, a catafalque was blessed. The catafalque was draped with an American flag, and upon the top of the Stars and Stripes rested three officers' caps, representing the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, the services in which the alumni of our college fought. Two Sailors and two Marines from the Navy V-12 formed a guard of honor about the catafalque, during the entire service. Choral music was supplied by the Schola Cantorum of the Augustinian Scholasticate of Saint Mary's Hall.

At the conclusion of the Mass, a sermon was delivered by Reverend John S. O'Leary, O.S.A., Professor of Mathematics at the college. In his own inimitable style, which has made him a popular speaker at Catholic institutions in this area, he spoke of the difficulty of consoling the parents of the deceased men. Father pointed out, during the course of his talk, the staunch character of the men who died for the glory of God and Country.

After the sermon, the Catafalque was blessed by Father McGuire. The singing of the Benedictus and the National Anthem concluded the ceremonies.

Kin and friends of the deceased alumni were in attendance through special invitation of the President of the College and the Administration. Buffet luncheon was served to the special guests in the Monastery following the sermon.

Lt. Moses Bombs Tokyo; Sgt. Bradley Trains Chinese Soldiers; Sgt. Meriwether Gets Air Medal

Lieutenant (j.g.) Francis Moses, USNR, of Route 1, Glen Mills, Pennsylvania, has returned on leave from a flak-filled series of Navy strikes at Jap bases in the Pacific where he piloted a carrier-based Helldiver attacked to Air Group Four.

The 26-year-old Glen Mills airman and his mates were in the thick of the intensive pre-invasion blows which readied the Philippines for recapture by our ground forces.

The flying naval officer attended St. Joseph's Preparatory School, Harrisburg, and Villanova College, where he competed in baseball and boxing. He was commissioned in January, 1943, and prior to his assignment with Air Group Four saw service in the North Atlantic.

Air Group Four's four months of Pacific action was climaxed by its participation in recent raids on Tokio. Its crew also struck tellingly in Manila Bay, Formosa, Leyte, French Indo-China and the Pescadores Islands, destroying more than 200 Jap planes. They sank, or probably sank, five destroyers and two destroyer escorts and damaged 11 other destroyers and five destroyer escorts in addition to their numerous hits on enemy merchant ships.

Bradley In China

Sergeant Vincent D. Bradley, 22, is now with the Chinese Training Center in Yunan Province, after fighting the Japs in Burma where the enemy was put to rout. The Chinese Training Center is the American military mission, largest of its kind in the world, headed by Brig. Gen. John W. Middleton of Chevy Chase, Md., which is teaching the Chinese modern methods of warfare to increase their combat efficiency against the Japanese invaders of China.

Bradley was one of the American soldiers who fought at Myitkyina until the fall of that important Japanese stronghold on August 4th last. His outfit also helped the Chinese in driving the Japs out of North Burma and Yunan Province, China, to make possible the opening of the Stillwell Road from India to China. His outfit received a Presidential citation for it work at Myitkyina.

Sergeant Bradley is a graduate of Balboa H. S., Balboa, Canal Zone, and of Villanova College.

Corporal Louis R. De Palo, of White Plains, New York, serves as physical instructor with a combat engineer group under Major General Charles P. Hall's 11th Corps on Luzon.

Before entering the service De Palo was a student here at Villanova.

Sgt. Meriwether Gets Air Medal

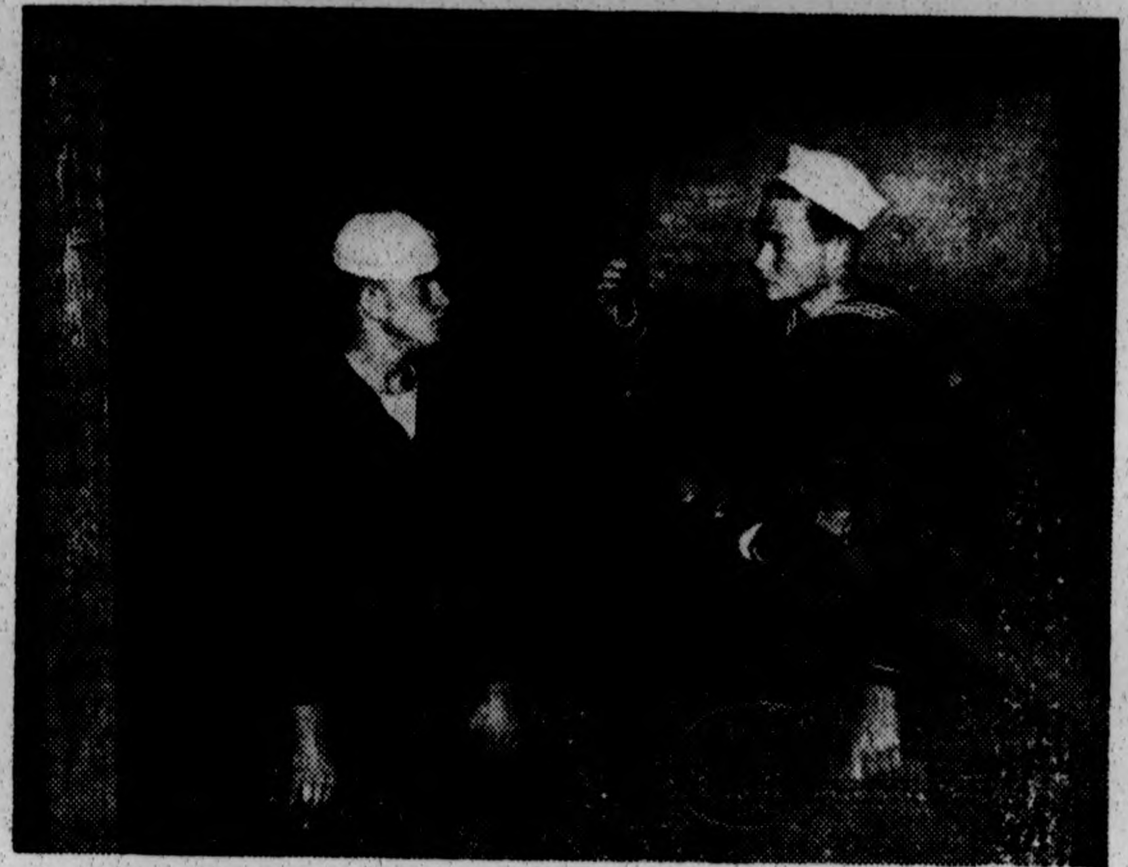
For his meritorious achievement in a bombing attack January 9, 1945, on a German-held railroad bridge near Palazzolo, Italy, Staff Sgt. Robert H. Meriwether, 21, of Drexel Hill, Pa., radio operator gunner on a 12th Air Force B-25 Mitchell bomber, has been awarded the Air Medal.

The award was made by Brig. Gen. Robert D. Knapp, commander of the 57th Bomb Wing, in a presentation ceremony at a Mitchell bomber base.

Since he went overseas in October, 1944, the Drexel Hill radio operator has flown 29 combat missions against targets in Northern Italy. He was a student here at Villanova, until his enlistment in the army in October, 1942.

The B-25 Mitchell group with which Sergeant Meriwether is flying recently rounded out a year of intensive blasting of Italian road and rail communications by helping to seal off the Brenner Pass railway line throughout the entire month of February. This rail link between northern Italy and the Reich was a Nazi lifeline, but successful attacks by Sergeant Meriwether's groups and other 12th Air Force units had strangled it.

Getting Off To A Good Start!



The "Boot" (White Sonner) is looking for Austin Hall when he runs into campus watch (Matt Kearney) who gives him some advice. This scene takes place in the prologue of Friday night's play "I Want To Be An Officer."

'I Want To Be An Officer' To Be Presented Friday

All Invited To First All-Student Production in Several Years; Will Start At 8:30 In Field House

The Belle Masque dramatic society will make its debut this coming Friday night at 8:30 in the Field House when the newly revised club will present its first production, "I Want To Be an Officer." The faculty, trainees, students, and their guests are all invited. Due to expenses involved no charge will be made but a basket will be placed in the lobby to accept donations. Navy and Marine trainees will be given liberty until midnight in order to see their guests home.

The three act musical comedy will portray the life of a naval trainee with the setting right here on the campus. It follows one Apprentice Seaman Burton Oscar Oliver Tolliver, the Third, U. S. N. R., (White Sonner) from the time he reports to Villanova until the end of the same semester.

Looking for Action

The prologue opens up with the hero wandering around the campus looking for Austin Hall when he runs into the roving patrol (Matt Kearney) in front of Mendel Hall. The watch gives the new man a preview on what's before him and some inside dope on what to expect, and sends him on his merry way.

B. O. O. Tolliver, III, finally finds his room and meets his roommate, Joe (Mason Robertson). Joe is an amiable, sympathetic, understanding and energetic fellow who gives his roommate a warm welcome and immediately dubs him the "Boot." Later he meets Bill (Carl Schneider) who is soon to become the boot's best friend.

Girl Fails to Write

The boot has a girl and is interested in letting everybody know it. He is practically in the depths of despair because he has not heard from her and the plot of the play unwinds around the boot's anguish in not hearing from her.

Hilarity reigns when the boot draws his first deck watch. The boys become a little difficult to control in addition to ribbing the boot about his loved one. All the various characters make their appearance including Foster Blough and C. D. Cummings who will do a specialty number. The watch also gets a surprise visit from the O. D. (Larry Bradley).

Quartet Featured

The show will also feature a quartet of John Brandt, Rodger McRea, Bill Elliot, and George Clelan. Dick Henson will also sing several numbers and C. D. Cummings will give a dissertation between acts. It is destined to be a hit you won't want to miss.

Fr. McKee Visits Catholic Schools

During the months of April and May, the Rev. Edward Bernard McKee, O.S.A., Vice President of the College, visited and spoke to the Senior classes of twenty Catholic High Schools on the subject of a "Choice of a Career in Life."

Father McKee stressed the need of serious thought on the matter of a life's career and the fact that such a selection must be made by the student himself. He spoke of the opportunities of realizing one's ambition under war-time conditions and what possibilities the various professions offer during and after the War. The need of a Catholic education in striving for one's ambition and Villanova's place in such plans were explained.

Many Questions Asked

After the talk, many questions were answered regarding the V-12, the NROTC, the ASTP and the G.I. Bill of Rights. A number of prospective students for the College were interviewed.

In connection with Father McKee's talks at the various Catholic High Schools in the vicinity, the registrar's office has announced the beginning of a campaign to increase civilian enrollment at Villanova College in the next year.

Pamphlets Printed

The Office of the Registrar has printed pamphlets and a special edition of the Villanovan in order to attract the interest of prospective college men to Villanova. These pamphlets explain to the high school graduate or the returning veteran the benefits which Villanova College has to offer to them, with respect to a well-rounded education.

Father McKee, during the course of his lectures, visited the following

Philadelphia: Roman Catholic High School, West Catholic High School, Northeast Catholic High School, Southeast Catholic High School, St. Thomas More Catholic High School.

Wilmington, Delaware: Salesianum Catholic High School.

Claymont, Delaware: Archmere Academy.

Chester, Pennsylvania: St. James Catholic High School.

Appeasement Again?

WHEN the final victory has been won, what will have been the cost in human life? Day by day, we read of more war casualties being released by the War Department, and sometimes those releases strike a bitter note in our hearts. Mothers and fathers are stunned at the news that a son has been killed in action, that he has died bravely in defense of his beloved homeland. What has the future to offer this boy who now lies dead on some foreign soil? Will it assure him that his brothers and sisters will not have to suffer the same torments and tortures to which he was subjected?

There are men meeting today in a place called San Francisco. Their primary purpose in meeting is to draw up a charter for a World Peace Organization. However, they have not progressed very far. The war horrors haven't even had time to drift away, yet these men insist on fighting for certain privileges that are easily demonstrated to be unsound in their nature.

The most outstanding among the nations "hard to get along with" is Russia. It seems that Russia has not yet grown up politically and that she refuses to do so. Her recent demand that she and the other big powers have the exclusive right of veto on any subject to be brought under discussion makes the entire conference look like a ridiculous fancy. If such a measure is passed, it means that any dispute which Russia, or any of the other big powers, does not want brought under discussion for fear of losing their interest in the matter or being censured in any way, will be quietly hush-hushed.

What's the use of fighting any war, if such a foolish measure as this is included in the constitution of the Security Council? What's the use of fighting for your liberty when one nation, or even one man, can come out and say that your cause will not be heard and cannot be pleaded?

There must be something behind Russia's demand for such a measure. Perhaps she is planning one day, with her new army composed of 15-year-old boys, to occupy nations of Europe as she pleases, whether these nations give their consent or not! Remember this, too . . . that, if this veto power is granted, the nations under Communistic yoke cannot protest Russia's action in any way, because Russia will just veto the entire measure for a discussion of the matter!

As soon as Russia matures politically, only then can we sit down and talk things over in a sane manner with her; but if she insists on promoting such acts as these, there can no longer be any need for agreement among nations, for if Russia is granted this power, it will be an act of appeasement leading to another world conflict.

Some of the boys should start coming back to earth soon. Rosemont and Harcum held graduation exercises yesterday and all the girls have left. Immaculata's commencement ceremonies will be held tomorrow afternoon. Chestnut Hill beat everyone by starting their vacation several weeks ago. We are now beginning what is generally agreed upon as the longest three months of the year.

—V—

This Week's Gag:

One of Rosemont's newlyweds speaking to the head of the cooking school, "I don't think those biscuits you taught me to bake are very good."

Cooking school: "Why?"

Newlywed: "Well, my husband ate some this morning and sat back and smiled."

Cooking school: "Isn't that what you wanted?"

Newlywed: "Yes, but he's still sitting there smiling."

After running into some last minute snags, the Phi Kappa Pi Fraternity held its annual banquet at Palumbo's on Saturday night. They ran into some trouble with the keys and also with the advisability of a smoker instead of a banquet. However, as usually happens, everything worked out to the advantage of everyone and a very good time was had by all. This marks the end of Frank O'Connor's term as chairman of the Frat and he deserves the thanks of all the members. Without a doubt Frank has greatly improved the organization both in the number of members and in its activity.

—V—

On Saturday night the Class of '45 will stage its Dinner Dance at the Warwick Hotel for members of the class only. Like the Senior Ball, it will be the first of its kind for several years, and as we gaze into our crystal ball it appears likely to be the last for several years. The dinner will start at 7:30, dancing about 9, and will last until 12. Frank O'Connor, Tom Welch, and the inevitable "Windy" Barrett guarantee a very eventful evening.

—V—

From all the latest reports Simpson and Delurey Halls will reopen for business commencing next semester. Whether the Seniors like it or not they will probably have to move out of Mendel. Did we hear someone disapprove? No, we thought not.

—V—

Jack Kobbe and company have the right idea that harmonizing makes for good fellowship but maybe you should learn the tunes first, eh, fellows? We've heard better dog and cat fights than the rendition offered late Friday night.

—V—

After several dances we are reminded of this little poem:

I wish I were a kankaroo
Despite his funny stances
I'd have a place to put the junk
My girl brings to the dances.

—V—

Engineer's Wail:

If I could just eliminate
The urge to e'er procrastinate
I'd enjoy life and laff at fate
'Cause then I'd know I'd graduate.

Meet the Boys

By THOMAS P. WELCH, A/S

BEFORE we open the log book of another fellow-classmate, we would like to take time out for a few paragraphs to straighten out a few items.

This will be our last column. Next week a guest columnist will take our place to interview the last two members of this section of the class of 1945. However, over the course of these thirteen issues this term, we have been able to interview only about half of this group. This was due to the shortage of newspaper space and the lack of time for the author.

This situation was foreseen, however, and it was decided to interview the members of the class who have been more active than others in college acitivities. We by no means intended to slight any classmate, as they all deserve space in the school paper. The fine cooperation evidenced by the Class of 1945 in social enterprises and their work to restore "Ye Olde" college life to Villanova's campus testifies to the wholehearted interest of all its members. We sincerely hope the year book will even up all the scores. And now, to the work at hand . . .

We'd like you to meet a student who is one of the first on our list of active Seniors and one who didn't wait until his last year to begin setting and breaking precedents. This sounds like the same old line as every other week, but let's let his activities speak for themselves.

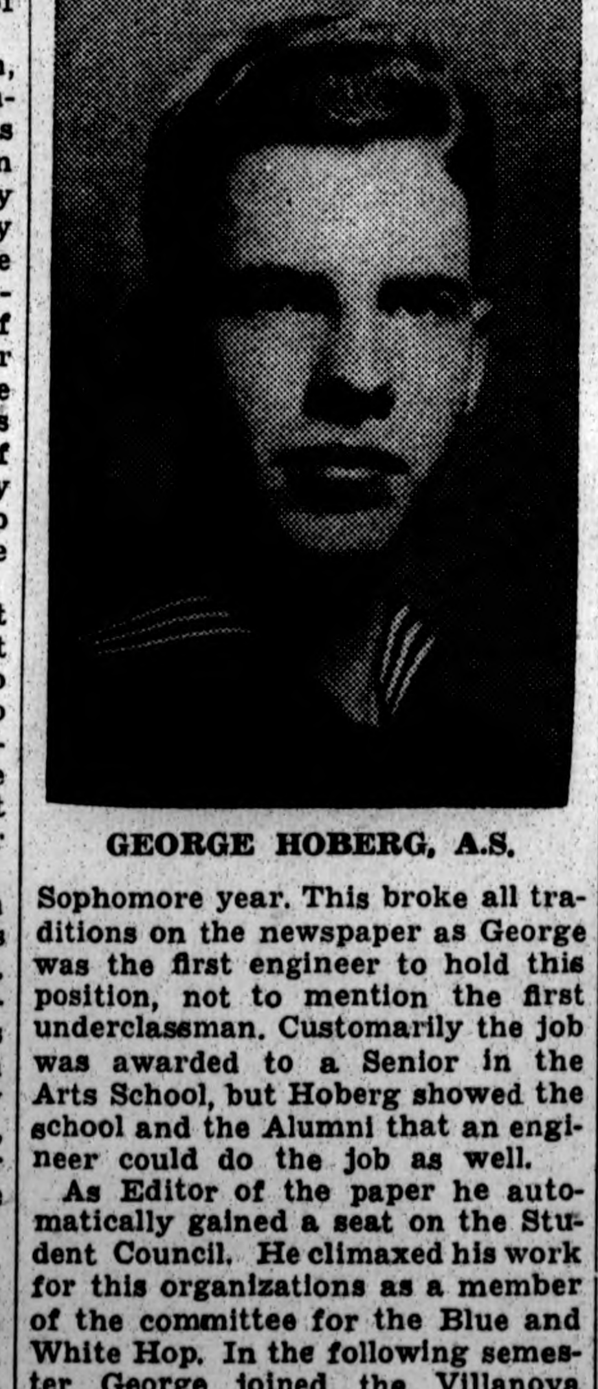
George G. Hoberg, A.S., is an up-Stater from the hills and valleys of Shamokin, Pa. He attended St. Edmund's High School in Shamokin for three years and was elected president of the class in his junior year. Then his family moved to nearby Collegeville, Pa., and George completed his senior year at the Collegeville-Trappe High School.

Much to his disappointment, St. Edmund's had no football team, but his new alma mater did, so George played this varsity sport for Collegeville. He was also Photography Editor of the year book at this latter institution. In the closing weeks of school, George entered and won an essay contest which entitled him to a partial scholarship to Temple University, but he had his cap set for Villanova and declined the offer.

After graduation, in the Summer of '42, he stood guard duty at a Coastal Patrol Base at the C.A.P. —Civil Air Patrol. At this particular time this organization received national praise for its courage and resourcefullness in thwarting the submarine menace in the Atlantic.

George came to Villanova in the Fall of 1942 and registered as a prospective Electrical Engineer. In his initial term he played in the college band, joined the Phi Kappa Pi, Engineering Frat, and became a member of the college staff of the Villanovan.

From his latter post he took the huge jump to Editor-in-Chief in his Sophomore year. This broke all traditions on the newspaper as George was the first engineer to hold this position, not to mention the first underclassman. Customarily the job was awarded to a Senior in the Arts School, but Hoberg showed the school and the Alumni that an engineer could do the job as well.



GEORGE HOBERG, A.S.

As Editor of the paper he automatically gained a seat on the Student Council. He climaxed his work for this organizations as a member of the committee for the Blue and White Hop. In the following semester George joined the Villanova branch of the American Institute of E.E.'s and has been Chairman of the group, by popular vote, for the past year. Under his leadership this student branch has been one of the most active on the campus.

Of recent note was his chairmanship of the ticket committee for tht Senior Ball. He succeeded in getting a greater percentage of the Villanova student body to attend this affair than has been attained in the

He Learned Too Late

By Dr. McHUGH

A secretary of the late and relatively unlamented Mr. Shicklegruber has recently reported that the deceased Adolph "could not have been expected to understand America since he had never travelled beyond the borders of the Greater Reich." We can accept the secretary's theory, I think, and the reasons which he advances. It is beyond reasonable doubt, I believe, that the defunct paperhanger did not understand America. To him we were the "degenerate swine of a decadent democracy wallowing in the muck of our own sensuality"; ideas garnered, no doubt, from the glaring headlines of our syndicated press and from the pictorial emanations of Hollywood.

In many respects Adolf was sadly lacking in experience. He had never heard the sullen whine of the sub-assemblies in Detroit; nor had he even seen the glare of furnaces illuminating the night skies above Pittsburgh and Birmingham. He had never listened to the breath-catching dull boom so frequently heard from the bowls of the earth in northern Pennsylvania; nor the solemn grind of drills cutting away the bituminous in West Virginia. He had never heard the low growl of the Mississippi steamboat docking at New Orleans, nor the thrilling roar of the Broadway Limited plunging into the night. He had never seen the golden farms of Missouri heavy with the harvest, of early September. He had never eaten asparagus picked in California at seven A. M. and cooked in Allentown a few hours later with the California dew still upon it. Little wonder that Adolf could not understand Normandy!

The paperhanger had never visited Plymouth Rock nor contemplated the agonies of that first terrible winter. He had never stood on the hill overlooking Valley Forge and lived again the sufferings of the Continental Army. He had never smacked his thin lips over a bowl of Philadelphia Pepper Pot conceived by Washington and concocted by his chef to help keep the Continental Army warm. Perhaps he had never heard of Lewis and Clark. Certain it is, that he never stood before the Alamo and read in its scarred and battered walls the magnificent story of Dave Crockett and Ben Milano. Perhaps that is why he could not understand Bastogne.

He had never known the thrill of the exile, who, standing at the port rail of the old Mauretania ploughing her way through lower New York harbor, catches the first glimpse of the Bartholdi Statue glistening in the morning sunlight. He had never stood in Independence Hall and gazed upon the bell that had proclaimed "Liberty throughout the Land," nor felt the sublime exaltation of the unforgetable experience. He never visited Monticello nor walked in spirit with the man who wrote "That all men are created equal." Perhaps these are the reasons why he did not understand "lend lease."

He had never walked up Broadway and turned off into a side street to visit St. Malachy's nestling among the theaters off Times Square, nor seen young stenographers and actresses and elderly charwomen attend the six o'clock mass together. He had never seen the crowds attending St. Patrick's not many blocks away.

He had never seen the throngs of vacationists flocking to St. Nicholas' in Atlantic City, on a hot and humid Sunday morning in mid-August. One wonders if Mr. Shicklegruber ever possessed an American quarter-dollar or ever contemplated the inscription thereon — "In God We Trust." Hence, the names of Poling, Fox, Washington and Goode could not be expected to have much meaning for him.

The newspaper reports lead us to believe that now, at last, he has ventured beyond the borders of the Greater Reich and if reports are accurate he made his exit in a blazing and pagen Wagnerian "Gotterdamerung." If so, his lack of travel and experience is no longer a liability.

This week we come to the end of our season. We play Swarthmore at home on Wednesday and Penn away on Saturday. Our record to date is four wins and nine losses. That's a poor record and certainly can't be termed a successful season. If we can win the last two, however, the season won't be a total loss and, all things considered, the boys will deserve a lot of credit for doing as well as they have.

After losing four straight we finally won one Saturday. The story of the Bucknell game is all Stan Wagner. Making his second start of the season, Stan went all the way brilliantly. He was never in a hole and never had to pitch under pressure. In three innings he retired the side on strike-outs and allowed but two scattered hits. His total of fifteen strike-outs was a high for the season.

McGuire, the Bucknell pitcher, also turned in a good game allowing us only four hits. With the help of some loose Bucknell fielding we made them good for three runs and the ball game.

We feel very much the loss of Marano, Murphy, Anderson and Dorsch. Boos is playing with a badly infected finger, and Marano, despite a badly swollen wrenched knee, helped out in the last two games with a pinch hit and an inning in the field. Anderson's ankle is coming around and he may play this week. The willingness of these boys to carry on with painful injuries takes a lot of real courage and certainly deserves a word of appreciation here.

Against Swarthmore and Penn we'll be handicapped by the loss of some of these boys plus the questionable condition of Matas' arm but if we will play the brand of ball we played against Bucknell we can take both of them. We've played both teams before and know their strength. Two more victories would help our season's record no end.

Fr. McQuade Lauds Trackmen; Schmitt, Cox In Local Meet

Villanova completed one of the most successful track seasons in recent years with its fine showing in the Philadelphia Metropolitan Intercollegiates, last week. Father Vincent McQuade, O.S.A., coach of the medal winning team, has expressed his pleasure at the consistantly winning style of the men, and also for the spirit shown by them throughout the past season.

However, some of the team competed, detached from Villanova colors, in the annual Memorial Day Collegiate Track and Field Club meet, for the Shanahan Catholic Club, last Wednesday.

Schmitt A Dual Winner

Don Schmitt, A.S., turned in a dual victory for Shanahan, winning the mile in 4:40.9, and the 880 yard run, in 2:05.6. Burt Cox, USMCR, placed third in the 100 yard dash, and garnered seconds in the 220 yard dash and in the broad jump.

Chief Specialist (A) George Guida, former Wildcat trackman, representing Sampson Naval Training station, took the 100 yard dash in 9.8 seconds, and the 220 yard dash in 22.1 seconds.

LEADING HITTER

Nick Etten, former Wildcat baseball star under Coach "Doc" Jacobs, is now listed among the leading batters of the American League.

Nick broke into the big leagues with the Philadelphia Phillies, and is now playing first base with the New York Yankees.

Villanova Nine Takes Bucknell 3-0 For Fourth Win

Stan Wagner's Pitching Marks Hard-Fought Victory; Fifteen Bison Batters Fan in Home Contest

By LEM WENTLING

The hot and cold Villanova baseball nine romped to its fourth win last Saturday afternoon by beating the Bucknell Bisons 3-0. Revenge was in store for the Bisons who defeated the Blue and White 4-0 earlier in the season in the first game of the home-and-home series. It was the second loss for the Lewisburg clan in as many days as they dropped a 4-1 decision to Penn on Friday.

It was big Stan Wagner who received credit for the victory. Stan hurled top notch ball and fanned fifteen Bucknell stickmen. He went the entire route and gave up but two hits in registering his first shutout of the season.

Scored In First

The Villanova scoring got under way in the first inning with Don Boos, leadoff man, getting a free pass, stealing second and then taking home plate by storm on a wild play. Meanwhile, number two man, Reds Lafferty, received another walk and was singled home by Bob Williams for the second run.

The Main Liners were checked from then until the fourth frame when Jack Heilman took first on a fielder's choice, went to second on a walk issued to Wagner, proceeded to third on an infield out and went home on a passed ball.

Williams Stars

Bob Williams, property of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who appears regularly at the shortstop position for Villanova, stood out both afield and at the plate. Williams had two for three for hitting honors for the day and was the most instrumental in sending Bucknell's Mike McGuire down in defeat.

Both of Bucknell's hits were spread out and unable to produce a tally for the visitors. Specs Atherly, Bison centerfielder, singled in the third inning and Wagner allowed his opposing pitcher, Mike McGuire, a double in the ninth with one out left in the ball game.

Fedigan Takes First Half Lead In I-M League

Beat Austin Sailors in Playoff Game; Head Marines in Second Half Fight

By MATT KEARNEY, A.S.

Fedigan Hall, by virtue of their 7-6 victory over Austin Hall Sailors in the playoff game, copped first place in the first half intramural race. In beautiful baseball weather, the Fedigan team managed to hold their own behind the pitching of Dom Femiano, who was given credit for the win. Carrol Andrews, who hurled for the losers also pitched fine ball, but Fedigan bunched hits by Bill Cooke, Hank Strauss and Rodger McRae to push across the winning tally. Fedigan had seven runs on four hits, while Austin got six runs on ten hits. Thus Fedigan are Champions for the first half.

Pitcher Gets Homer

The second week of the second half saw the Marines beat Mendel Hall on Monday night by 14-7. Billy Williams took to the mound for the Marines and hurled six hit ball. The losing pitcher was Bill Koerner, who gave the Marines their fourteen runs on eleven hits. Williams helped his own cause by collecting three hits for four including a homer in the third.

Meanwhile Fedigan dropped Austin Hall, by a close count of 4-3. McRae hurled for Fedigan and was given the victory. He yielded only six runs. Andrews played the role of the hard-luck pitcher as he gave up only six hits but lost by a run.

On Wednesday, Austin Hall beat Mendel, 8-7. Andrews was the winning pitcher and Koerner was the

Wildcats To Engage Swarthmore And Penn

Swarthmore Contest Will Be Last Home Game Of Season

By ROBERT CONWAY

Villanova, with a crippled ball team, meets Swarthmore tomorrow for the last game to be played on the Wildcat diamond this season. They play the last two games of the Spring schedule without the services of four key men: Dave Marano, on the bench with the injury suffered in the last Bucknell game; John Murphy, still in the hospital; Orville Anderson, still hobbling around after the injury suffered in the Army game; and Bob Dorsch, forced to retire because of studies.

The "Little Quakers" have been having an average season and have improved steadily since the defeat suffered earlier in the season at the hands of the Wildcats. They come into Villanova fresh from victories over Penn, Drexel and Muhlenberg.

Same Starting Team

Wednesday afternoon they will field the exact same team that we played over there early in May. Chasing the flies will be Kaersher, Murphy and Hollaway, who could not be retired in five trips to the plate against 'Cat pitcher "Bull" Matas. The infield will be: Voss at third; Dillenbeck at shortstop; Birch at second; and Steve Brodie at first base. The battery will include Sooter behind the plate and batting fourth in the lineup, and the pitcher will be either Maack or John Murphy.

Father McCarthy, in an effort to field a complete team, will probably start Silver, Heilman and Roland in the outfield, while on the diamond, Hertzfeld will be at third, Williams at short, Boos at second and Lafferty at first. Dependable "Ike" Eisenhart will catch and the pitching will be done by Matas or Naslund.

Penn Has Lost Only To Navy and Swarthmore This Year

By ROBERT CONWAY

The Wildcats travel to River Field to meet the University of Pennsylvania on Saturday for the last game of the not-too-successful Spring season.

Penn has enjoyed a good season thus far, losing only to the Naval Academy and to Swarthmore, in a wild and woolly 10-9 affair, while taking over every other team, including Bucknell, in royal fashion. They beat Villanova here in a 10-7 affair earlier this season when Matas had a bad day and the rest of the team was "off."

Fielding a team that commits few errors and six men who hit like veteran ballplayers, they will try to make it two in a row over the hapless Wildcats. However the return of Anderson and Murphy, for this last game, will put additional fire into the heavy war clubs that have been swinging from the 'Cats in the last few games and this should make it one of the best games of the season.

In the Penn outfield will be Lequer, Schnieder, and O'Brien, who are all hitting over .300.

Experienced Penn Squad

Coach Hendrickson will start the infield having two seasons experience; O'Brien, at third base; Sevier, at shortstop; Armstrong, at second base; and Blood, at first base. The battery will include the ace Penn fastballer, John Woebse, and John Cwik behind the plate.

Villanova, in an attempt to close the season with a victory over Penn, will employ outfield services of Anderson, Heilman, and Silver, in order to bolster Wildcat hitting. The infield will include Murphy, at third, the second base combination of Williams and Boos, and Lafferty at first. The battery will be the same one that started Saturday's Bucknell game.

In The Sportlight

By MATT KEARNEY, A.S.

If there ever was a man who ate, drank and slept baseball, he would have had a hard time trying to keep up with Emil Joseph Matas in his ardor for the game. For all his twenty-three years, "Mat" has followed the sport with a deep and personal interest. Not only has this interest been, mental, but few people have been as all-out and earnest in the great American sport.

"Bull" was well on his way down the long hard road to the Big Time, when he joined the Marines in June of 1942. He had been playing with Patterson, New Jersey, sandlot teams practically since his birth there in August, 1922. One of the teams he played with there was the Passaic Farmers, of which town Mat says: "No one will know where that is."

Cousin of Eddie Mayo

"Bull" claims as his cousin, Eddie Mayo, the second baseman of the Detroit Tigers. Mat holds him up as his idol and his favorite ballplayer. Matas is a colorful ballplayer as well as a personality. He holds one slogan for himself, "A quitter never wins, and a winner never quits." He puts firm faith in this and says that's the way any person has to be who really tries to get what he wants.

A concrete proof that Emil has already started on his way to the Big Show is that he had a tryout with the New York Giants before he enlisted in the Marines. It's truly a coincidence, that ever since he can remember, "Bull" always wanted to play with the Giants, and he still hopes he can. In addition to his sandlot experience, Mat pitched for the famed "House of David" team. Of course, to be eligible for this team he had to grow a beard and most of us wish we could have seen "Bull" with his "growth."

"Bull" says that one of his chief regrets is that the 1945 Villanova team can't win more games for Father McCarthy. "The team is darn good," he says, "but they can't seem to play like a team." Mat came out for baseball after his arrival here on July 1, 1944, but he couldn't compete due to the ruling on first semester men. Again in 1945 Mat turned out, but this time his studies held him from play. However, he pulled his marks up and has finally taken to the mound for Villanova. In the three games he's pitched, he's turned in fine

Five Atlantic Crossings

Mat's tour of duty with the Marines has taken him across the Atlantic five times to such places as Morocco, Oran, Casablanca, Belfast and Gibraltar. He was assigned at one time as part of the Marine contingent aboard the battleship U.S.S. Texas.

"Bull" has not limited his sports to baseball, his first love, but participated in the boxing matches held here not so long ago. He also will sing hill-billy songs to anyone who asks, although lately he has taken a turn to crooning. Mat also wants to be quoted on this: "I really miss Red Nealon. He was one of my best friends." "Bull" sincerely would like to make big league baseball his career, if he has that chance. After that, he really doesn't know what he'd like to do.

Alumni Hall To Be Remodeled Soon

Alterations on Alumni Hall will begin this week; the work is expected to be completed in mid-Summer. While the repairs are being made the non-commissioned officers stationed there will reside in Middleton Hall; this change is temporary, for on July first, these officers will take up quarters in Austin Hall.

Four types of repair work are planned. First, the modernizing of sanitary facilities along lines of Fedigan hall; secondly, the construction of permanent plaster walls to replace the present temporary partitions; thirdly, a fire tower to replace the main stairs. This will be fire-proof, with outlets on each floor. Lastly, extensive painting and minor electrical repairs will be made.

Link Between Past and Present

Alumni Hall, completed in 1874, is the outstnding link between Villanova's past and present. It is the only building which has successfully survived the several major campus fires. The building first housed the entire scholastic body and later served as a freshman dormitory. The last major remodeling of the edifice to its present stucco form was in 1920. Following the remodeling the building was dedicated to the Alumni by the President, Father Francis A. Driscoll.

A final exhibit of the remaining pictures, which are to be presented in the 1945 Belle Air Yearbook, will be displayed on the main bulletin boards of Mendel Hall Wednesday, June 6th. At this time and during the remaining part of the week, staff members will solicit subscriptions from the military student body for the 1945 Belle Air. Staff members, who will represent the various halls are Allen Curtis, 121 Fedigan; George Seibert, 113 Fedigan and John Millet, 325 Austin Hall.

Stanford and Dr. Burke. Dancing will begin immediately thereafter and continue until 12 P. M. Jack Adair's Orchestra has been signed for the Dance. This band is popular locally and has played recently for several months at the Chez Vous in 69th Street.

Contrary to the plan announced last week, invitations will only be presented to Seniors upon completing full payment of their class dues. THIS WEEK'S BIGAMIST

Carol, Joan, Jean, Helen, Ann, Kay, and many others have fallen under the "hidden charms" of our candidate for the BIGAMIST OF THE WEEK. This gentleman, in his three semester stay at Villanova, has wooed, won and lost many gay young hearts in and about Philadelphia. Delta Pi Epsilon to Hold Banquet For All Members

Plans for C. & F. Fraternity Dinner Near Completion; Will Be Held June 14

James P. Riley, chairman of the Delta Pi Epsilon fraternity banquet committee, has announced that the annual frat banquet will be held at the Wayne Hotel, Thursday of this week, at 7:00 P. M. The Delta Pi Epsilon fraternity is the official frat of the Commerce and Finance School.

Father Joseph C. Bartley, O.S.A., Dean of the Commerce and Finance School has been invited to be the special guest of the evening. Francis O'Connor, A.S., President of the Phi Kappa Pi, the Engineering School's fraternity had also been invited to attend the banquet. Professor Patrick J. Dougherty, Faculty Moderator of the fraternity will preside.

JAMES RILEY

Cards Distributed

Due to many delays and war time shortages, the membership cards, which were originally scheduled to be distributed following the annual fraternity initiation some weeks ago, will be given to the new members at the banquet.

Chairman Riley and William F. Barrett, President of the organization, expect an attendance at the dinner of almost the entire membership of the fraternity, despite the fact that arrangements for the affair had to be made on very short notice.

Election May Be Held

Although it is not certain, at this date, elections for the coming year may also be held during the course of the evening, as President Barrett will graduate within two weeks.

Appointments to various committees for plans and coming social events will be also announced at the same time. The fraternity is planning a publication for the Commerce and Finance School, and a Summer informal for the coming semester.

Veterans' Society Elects Officers

To fulfill the need for an organization which would bind the war veterans now attending Villanova College, the Veterans' Club of Villanova was formed. The organization held its first official meeting recently and elected officers for the coming year.

Officers elected were: Harry Edwards, President; Harold Tait, Vice President; William J. Ferguson, Treasurer; John Citola, Secretary; John Sanky, Sergeant-at-Arms; Quentin Montario, Student Council Representative; Chaplain, John Devine; Thomas Ward and Sanford Albert, Executive Committee members.

The purpose of the organization is to enable the veterans of this war to associate in a organization where they can discuss matters such as government pensions, the GI Bill, loans, and other government aids to the veterans. The discussion of these various issues will enable the men to become better acquainted with the benefits this government has supplied for them.

A constitution has been drawn up by the members of the organization. Article II states, "The object of this organization shall be: To foster good fellowship and cooperation among the Veterans of the College, and to assist in advancing the interests of the Veterans and of Villanova." Article III proposes rules for membership. "Eligibility for membership in this organization shall be governed by the following qualifications, including—any person discharged from any of the armed forces of the United States and Allied Nations of World War II under conditions other than dishonorable, who is enrolled in a full time course of study in any of the schools of Villanova College."

Briefs Of CAMPUS NEWS

There will be a meeting of the Delta Pi Epsilon Fraternity this afternoon in Room 214, Mendel Hall, at 1:00 P. M. All members of the fraternity are urgently requested to attend. The main business of the meeting will deal with the fraternity banquet which is to be held this Thursday evening at 7:00 P. M. at the Wayne Hotel.

College Alumni In Annual Reunion

The annual banquet of the Alumni Association of Villanova College was held in the Mirror Room of the Hotel Warwick last Tuesday evening. Some 65 members of the Alumni gathered together to talk over old times, to learn about what was going at Villanova, and to partake of the tasty cuisine of the Hotel Warwick.

Following the dinner came the traditional reports and talks. Mr. Paetrus F. Banmiller, '35, representing the ten-year class, presided as toastmaster. Rev. Edward B. McKee, O.S.A., Vice-President and Acting Athletic Director at Villanova reported on the programs, the enrollment, and the athletic prospect at the College. Rev. Robert E. McGrath, O.S.A., Alumni Secretary-Treasurer reported on the service record and financial status of the Alumni Association. Capt. "Andy" Chisik, football hero at Villanova and Marine hero in the Pacific, said a few words. Very Rev. Mortimer A. Sullivan, O.S.A., Prior Provincial of the Augustine Fathers of this Province, spoke extemporaneously on the high ideals of Villanova education.

Farley Speaks

The principal speaker of the evening, traditionally representing the 25-year class, was Mr. David N. Farley, '20. Mr. Farley recalled the men of the class he represented, then stressed the need for loyalty to the principles learned at Villanova.

Officers Elected

Mr. Banmiller announced the results of the elections of officers in the Association. Dr. Edward Burke was re-elected President of the Association, Mr. Paetrus F. Banmiller, former Registrar at the College, and Mr. John J. Galen, Professor of Civil Engineering at Villanova were elected Vice-Presidents.

Villanovans at the Front

First Lt. Robert P. Schisler, '41, has informed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Schisler of 1421 Ridgeway Place, N.W., Canton, Ohio, that he has been liberated from Stalag-Luft 1 near Barth, Germany. In a letter forwarded to his parents by the Adjutant General's office in Washington, Lt. Schisler wrote: "Am feeling fine. Now in France in American hands. Will be home soon." This is the first message his parents had received from Bob since November, 1944.

A bombardier, Lt. Schisler has been a prisoner of war for the past 27 months. He was shot down in the Mediterranean on Feb. 23, 1943. Two months later his parents learned that he had been picked up while adrift on a raft and taken to a German hospital in Italy, only to be moved when the Allies landed in that country. Sometime later, he managed to escape and lived as a fugitive in the Italian countryside for five months, before being recaptured. He was later transported to Stalag-Luft 1, inside Germany. Lt. Schisler was a member of the air crews cited in February, 1944, for blasting and setting afire an Italian destroyer and disabling another in a battle off the coast of Tunis. He was subsequently awarded the Air Medal for this mission.

An interesting sidelight on Bob Schisler's liberation is the disclosure that Lt. Leo McGrath, brother of Fr. Robert E. McGrath, O.S.A., Alumni Secretary, was also a prisoner in Stalag-Luft 1, and like Lt. Schisler, was liberated and is at present awaiting transportation to the United States.

Seniors At Dinner Dance Addressed By College Alumni

Voted by all the Seniors as the most enjoyable affair they have ever attended while at Villanova, and voted by the Faculty members present as an important step in reviving former College traditions, the Senior Dinner Dance goes down on the books as a complete success.

Seventy-two members of the class of 1945 attended the banquet and heard their former College President, Very Reverend Edward V. Stanford, O.S.A., address them on the true Villanova spirit that they have displayed and on the benefits of keeping the same spirit alive as Alumni. He recalled the large numbers of letters that he receives from former members of the class of '45 who are now in the Service. As Father Stanford had an appointment in Washington the following morning, he had to leave the ballroom shortly after his address.

Mr. Paetrus Banmiller, Vice-President of the Alumni Association, addressed the gathering on the activities of the Organization, and some of the duties requested of the Alumni of the College. He and his wife attended in place of Dr. Burke, President of the Association, who was taken ill last week. Mr. Banmiller, former Registrar of Villanova, also commended the class on the spirit they have displayed in the interest of Villanova.

Master of Ceremonies, Francis O'Connor, A.S., Chairman of the Dance, also called on John Fitzgibbons, Class President, Reverend Edward B. McKee, O.S.A., College Vice-President, and Reverend Edwin T. Grimes, O.S.A., Class Moderator and College Chaplain, for a few words. They each congratulated the committee members and the class and wished them success in the future.

O'Connor then personally thanked the members of the committee for their cooperation in promoting the dance. The dinner was served about 7:50 P. M., and dancing, after the speeches, began at 9:45. Jack Adair's orchestra provided music until midnight.

Forty-Eight Will Receive Degrees at Commencement

Eighth War Time Graduation To Be Held June 24; Bishop Hugh L. Lamb To Celebrate Solemn High Mass Preceding the Ceremony

Villanova College will confer Bachelor degrees on forty-eight graduates on Sunday, June 24th, 1945 in the College Chapel at the eighth wartime Commencement Exercises.

The ceremony will be performed with its usual simplicity, combining the Baccalaureate Mass and the awarding of degrees. The presentation of degrees will be made by the Very Reverend Francis X. N. McGuire, O.S.A., President of the College. His Excellency, Bishop Hugh L. Lamb, D.D., V.G., Auxiliary Bishop of Philadelphia, will celebrate the Solemn High Mass which precedes the ceremony. The address to the graduates will be delivered by the Reverend Gletus A. Benjamin, D.D., Chancellor of the Archdiocese of Philadelphia.

Sixth V-12 Term

The commencement exercises will mark the close of the sixth term under the Naval V-12 Training Program. The seventh term will begin on July 2nd.

As is usual, the attendance at the exercises will be limited to parents and friends of the graduates and to faculty members. No honorary degrees will be conferred. After the exercises, the graduates will be hosts to their parents and friends at a luncheon on the campus.

Mainly Service Men

Many of the members of the graduating class are already enlisted in the Armed Services or are about to be inducted therein.

The following are to be degree recipients:

Bachelor of Engineering: Raymond F. Adams (Electrical), Thomas D. Baxter (Civil), John Bradley, (Mechanical), William E. Connor (Mechanical), Robert L. Cramer (Chemical)), Allen J. Curtis (Mechanical), Joseph A. Dwyer (Mechanical), William E. Farrell (Civil), Charles H. Harrington, (Civil), Robert R. Bean (Electrical), John J. Cockroft (Electrical), Kenneth Dollinger, (Electrical), Dominic Femiano, Electrical).

Michael Flynn, (Electrical), Edward A. Grostas (Electrical), George G. Hoberg (Electrical), Joseph D. Keating (Electrical), William J. Koness (Mechanical), James M. Lafferty (Mechanical), Joseph H. Lamb (Electrical), William A. Lamb (Civil), Edward J. Lasicka (Mechanical), Robert M. Lawlor, (Electrical), John W. McClancy (Civil), Robert C. McKibbon (Chemical, Joseph F. Miller (Mechanical), Paul W. Miller, (Mechanical), John M. Millet (Mechanical), Joseph Morgan (Civil), Andrew J.

Belle Masque Show Makes Big Hit On Friday Nite

With a cast which displayed remarkable ability, an audience which had been warmly contacted, and a setting, cast and music score which had been expertly prepared, the Belle Masque Society last Friday night presented their play, "I Want To Be An Officer."

Starring White Sonner and Dick Henson the play from start to finish exceeded even the wildest hopes of its severest critic, director John Muir. With a plot that was entirely unimportant, the production featured songs and skits which completely captured the "behind the scenes" atmosphere of training at Villanova.

Musical Comedy

The Prologue set this atmosphere, relaxed the audience, and put the musical off to a howling start. The first act, the only one in which any attempt was made at all to sustain a serious plot, was dominated by the skillful maneuvering of Dick Henson. With an ease of manner that displayed veteran talent, he gave a spontaneous naturalness to the whole act, so necessary in a show of this type. The barracks setting was one which could only exist on the sixth deck of Austin Hall.

In the second act, the same Henson's "Undress Blues" skit stopped the show completely. Other skits which made this act the climax of the whole production were: Tom Surowicz's dissertation on the "chow", Dagit's AWOL drunk routine, the Philadelphia sojourn of C. D. Cummings and Foster Blough, and Bradley's imitation of one the Marine non-coms. The final scenes featured such situations as the day before the exams, the day after the exams, impersonations of several professors, and an answer to the question: "Does Boot Tolliver hear from his girl?" Others featured in the cast of 17 were Matt Kearney as the trainee Patrol; Schneider, D'Albora, Breen, and Dagit as assorted trainees; Elliot,

Thanks!

THIS is the last Villanovan of the semester. At this time I would like to thank all the people with whom I have worked for the fine cooperation they have given me. At times, because of the accelerated program now in operation, our staff was hard pressed, but with true college spirit these men came through in the end.

The Villanovan has been the chronicle of Villanova College for a long time. It has been the recorder of the events which have taken place at this institution. It is the perpetuator of Villanova tradition.

Many of you who have come here recently had never heard of Villanova College nor its location. You knew nothing of what you would meet out here. We of the Villanovan staff have tried to give you a bit of the background of the tradition which has made Villanova colorful throughout the years.

Because of the limitations imposed upon most of us by this program now in operation, it has been hard for us to organize or to participate in many of the social events which add richness to college life. However, the recent successes of the Phi Kappa Pi dances and the Senior Ball, the revival of the Belle Masque and other campus societies, point to a rejuvenation of the spirit of Villanova College. There is no doubt that the activities of these organizations will be limited to some extent, but since we have seen the successes achieved by the Phi Kappa Pi and the Delta Pi Epsilon in the field of social activities, I believe that we will not be long in waiting for the rejuvenation of other campus societies.

I would remind all of you who remain here at Villanova, that College life is not all study. You have seen very little of the tradition of Villanova in operation. Perhaps that is one of the reasons that present-day college life may seem distasteful to you. However, if you cooperate as a group you will very shortly achieve the ends toward which many of the men here have been working. You will revive campus activities to such an extent that outside interests will keep you occupied and interested in your college career.

A start has been made and a path has been prepared for you. It is now up to you to make your college careers a pleasant memory. The facilities are at your fingertips—all you need do is ask. The Villanovan is at your service as far as publicizing a campus organization is concerned. We want to perpetuate the tradition of Villanova and to keep it high.

To David Ryan and his staff, I extend my heartiest wishes for a successful publication, one which will see the achievement of all the aims toward which we have worked. May the spirit of Villanova return again soon, and may it be a beacon lighting the way toward a greater future for our beloved Alma Mater.

The day before Rosemont's commencement was a field day for several Villanovans. Al Dumsa seems to have won, hands down, in saying good-bye to the greatest number of girls. Newt Ward and Windy Barrett were right in there pitching too.

—V—

The recently renovated Belle Masque, Villanova's Dramatic Society, threw drama to the winds on Friday night when it presented its first performance, "I Want to be an Officer." This was an original play written by George "Hank" Scanlon, who did a very fine job of portraying life in Villanova's V-12 Unit. Matt Kearney, C. D. Cummings, and Dick Henson, who appeared perfectly at ease on the stage, kept the show moving all evening but the best incident was Larry Bradley's imitation of "Shaky Lew." Congratulations fellows, let's have another play soon.

—V—

Barrett's Banquet, sponsored by the Delta Pi Epsilon Fraternity, the organization of the inhabitants of the Playhouse or, as it is more commonly known, the Comedy and Frolic School, will be held this Thursday evening at the Wayne Hotel. The dinner will begin at 7 o'clock. Since it is for men only, it is hard to say when it will be over.

—V—

The Seniors completed their social activities at Villanova in a blaze of glory on Saturday evening with the Dinner Dance at the Warwick Hotel. The highlight of the program was the address by Father Stanford.

The class of '45 has certainly done its best to reinstate social activities at Villanova; let's hope their efforts were not in vain.

—V—

Progress Note: Charlie Lafferty is still undefeated in Villanova's chess ranks, with notable victories scored over Sam Jordan, Dan Arnold, Joe McLaughlin, and Joe Flynn—Jack Applegate was literally dragged to West Catholic Girls' Prom last Saturday ngiht. Bauman was there, too. . .with Ann!!!—Note to Fitzgibbons: "Bunky" is now done, Jack, so you may use the phone.—Bill Monagle's pretty busy these days. Pics of this, pics of that, playgoers might as well stay away. Bill's still catching up on the prom—The inside odds have it that Joe Hoffman has a 50-50 chance to be the next President of the Phi Kappa Pi Fat. With only two candidates, no wonder.

—V—

This marks the end of the Ronan-Hoffman combination probably to the joy of some. Our aim in this column, as the name implies, was to present the adventures and misadventures of our fellow Vilnovans. If we have slighted anyone or written too much about anyone we sincerely regret it, but our business was news. We have tried to gauge the size of the articles with the same formula as that used on a dress: Long enough to cover the subject but short enough to be interesting.

We would like to take this opportunity to wish good luck and fair weather to the graduating Seniors with whom we had the honor and pleasure of beginning our days at Villanova but the misfortune of not leaving with them. They're the best class of men we have ever known or ever expect to know. So we say, not Adios, but Au Revoir.

Meet the Boys

By HUGH O'REILLY, A.S.

NOT original and not at all good but in the words of the old soothsayer: "all good things must eventually come to an end" we come to the beginning of the end of this column. The well known author of this section finished his final piece of copy last week and left the last issue to a poor substitute. However this is not the time for humility and for those who feel a wee bit miffed, we offer a small measure of solace by revealing that the nature of the forthcoming history is that of two infamous redheads who made their mark by making "Meet the Boys" and so assured the column of a briliant (in the way of color) finish.

The history of the world is marked with many inexplainable but undeniable facts and events, the why and wherefore of which we know nothing. One of the more prominent of these enigmatic facts is the existence of redheads . . . So we reach our beginning for today and present for your consideration one T. P. Welch A.S., redhead, writer, and swimmer who rose from Editor in Chief to the author of Meet the Boys, and his running mate, Francis "Redbuttons" O'Connor, the man who in three years moved from the position of one day principal of Hornell High to his present honorary post of Dean of nearby Rosemont . . . Here the prologue ceases and the tale begins.

FROM the land of Overbrook in the outskirts of Philadelphia sprang this youth who began a scholastic career in Merion's Waldron Academy at the tender age of five and hasn't stopped since. Graduation from Waldron brought to Tom the honor of a scholarship to Malvern Prep and the never fulfilled honor of rendering a piano composition for the distinguished audience. It was a broken arm which cut short a budding musical career.

In Thomas Patrick Francis Joseph Welch Jr., Malvern Prep received a future manager of athletics and honor student. In each of his four years Tom was elected a class officer and in his senior year he was appointed editor of the school year-book. He was on the committees of several dances at the school and during the warm Summer months he was a junior counselor at Camp Braebuf, in Vermont. It was during the Summer following his senior year that he was turned into a farmer and carpenter when he worked on a farm owned by Malvern.

Ah . . . but then he came to Villanova, and on a scholarship at that. It was then that life started. Freshman year was sensibly unmarked by any great occurrence as he merely landed on the honor roll and found out what made the school tick. Sophomore year put a sailor suit on him and put him in room 428 Mendel Hall. From then on life became a glorious succession of honorable positions. He became Copy Editor of the Villanovan a member of the Engineer staff and of the Sanctuary Society. The following year he was appointed Editor in Chief of the Villanovan, which post he filled with great honor. He was co-chairman of the Blue and White Hop last year and for two years was a member of the Student Council. His senior year saw him as Military Editor of the yearbook, member of the senior executive committee, on the decoration committee of the Senior Ball, Social Chairman of the Senior Dinner Dance, joining the Phi Kap, and naming intramural swimming and bowling on the famed "Alley Cats" as his intramural sports activities.

THOMAS WELCH, A.S.

Such an impressive list of activities leaves little room for the many cracks which Tom deserves from your writer, but we can always

Watch The Meanings

By Fr. McNALLY

Years ago we remember reading of a Philadelphia gentleman and his wife making a visit in New York at a home where they were well known. He entered the living room alone. When questioned "Why, where is Marie?" he answered "Oh, Marie is outside cleaning her gums on the mat." Following upon the momentary look of astonishment, there was a hearty and prolonged peal of laughter. The object designated was the humble and lowly rubber overshoe, named "gums" in this particular instance because of the material of which they were made.

Trifling and amusing though this may be, here is the underlying foundation of one of the greatest obstacles to clear thinking in the lives of many of us Americans today—and we have urgent need of clear thinking if the valorous and prolonged endeavors of our ancestors in the preservation of freedom are to arrive at fruition. Because an object or a political party or a system of thought bears a certain name we have the tendency to accept that name as indicative of its real character.

Such are the terms Fascism, Communism, Democracy, Freedom. The first two are commonly accepted as completely divergent and essentially conflicting systems, the military hostility between the two enhancing this false impression. Factually, they are blood brothers, having this essential trait in common: that they are both totalitarian forms of government, perverting the natural order, making man the instrument of man. Their differences are only skin deep.

Both Fascism and Communism deny the freedoms of religion, speech, press, assembly and instruction. Both reject the parliamentary system of government based on competing political parties. They are one party mechanisms, wherein the choice of the voters at the polls is restricted to one set of candidates and the choice of the "legislators" is restricted to approving the decisions of the executive.

Democracy, to us, means the fact, spirit, and principles of government directly by the people collectively. Almost ten years ago Russians called their system "democratic" though it is nonetheless, as completely totalitarian as the worst. Nazism. Hence, we may well look with apprehension upon the practice so prevalent today in the spoken and written word, by radio or press, of lending protection to a system of government that would deny us, as it does its own citizens, all our innate rights and acquired privileges.

Freedom of man, strictly and morally speaking, is the choice of actions that are necessarily connected with a necessary end. Less strictly it includes the choice of ends, intermediary and not necessitated by man's own nature. Yet many take it to mean license. We may not choose an end or a system of government which violates man's nature, denies the God-given rights and privileges of man, enslaves a people. Nor may we reasonably defend it. "Tolerance" of those who promote it directly or indirectly is false — is placating timidity.

Accepting terms or "labels" then, without a knowledge of their full contents is the beclouding factor to clear thinking among us who needs must guard our liberty with eternal vigilance. It is not a matter of mere theory, of splitting hairs over definition. It's a serious, practical matter before, during or after an emergency. Failure to cope with it will result eventually in reducing the ethical, political, economic and religious to purely pragmatic grounds (Utilitarianism or Expediency). Then Extermination.

Many of us know this, have been aware of it for a long time. It is time that more Americans appreciate it.

Baseball Comments

By FR. EDWARD McCARTHY
Varsity Baseball Coach

The task of reviewing this year's baseball season is not entirely an enjoyable one. The record of five wins and ten losses is the poorest made by any Villanova baseball team in a long time.

The record should not be interpreted, however, as an accurate gauge of the ability of the boys who played. While we never fielded a really good college team, we did run into a series of bad breaks that made us look much worse than we actually were. A combination of injuries, sickness, and scholastic difficulties prevented us from reaching peak strength at any time.

Our chief difficulty, however, was inexperience. We had to play too many boys without sufficient background to react properly to situations as they arose, with the result that most of our losses were due to errors, both physical and mental, when they were most costly.

There were some highlights over the course of the season that did partially make up for otherwise drab playing.

The best game we had was Stan Wagner's 3-0 win over Bucknell. In that game Stan gave up but two hits and four walks while striking out fifteen and never permitting a scoring threat.

The 4-3 win over Swarthmore in ten innings was also a thriller. While we played some bad baseball in that one, we came through in the pinches both in the field and at bat.

Despite the fact that they were playing on a losing club, most of the boys hustled and kept trying. Until forced out by sickness, Murphy, along with Williams and Eisenhart, kept life and spirit in the team. A word of appreciation is due also to players like Silver, Hellmann, Hertzfeld, and Weidenhaeffer who, though handicapped by lack of experience, worked hard and helped in some games to put us in the win column.

It was a pretty bad year, but maybe things will be somewhat better before another season rolls around.

Fedigan and Austin Win In I-M Softball Contests

Rain and Campus Stage Production Interrupt Schedule; Postponed Games To Be Played Tonight

By MATTHEW KEARNEY, A.S.

This week only two games were played in the intramural softball schedule. The Fedigan team downed the Marines, 10-9, while the Mendel civilians dropped a game to the Austin team to tie for third place.

Rain prevented Monday night's games and the Belle Masque play prevented Friday night's game. The league standings found Fedigan tightening her grip on first place, after having taken the first half championship, and Mendel dropping into a tie for third place with Austin Hall. The Marines dropped percentage points but remain in second place.

Fedigan Breaks Tie

The Fedigan defeat of the Marines was a tight and hot battle. The score going into the ninth inning was tied 9-9, when the hitting of Fedigan came through. Huber was the winning pitcher.

Poor fielding and tough breaks led to the defeat of the hapless Mendel team by the Austin sailors. Keorner was tagged for the loss to become the chief hard luck pitcher of the second half with four defeats.

SEEN From the Sidelines

Heavy Hitter—Frank Schaff, '35, now playing with the Baltimore Orioles, is listed among the leading hitters of the International League. Schaff played on the 1932, '33, and '34 Villanova nines, and was in the major leagues with Brooklyn and the A's.

* * *

Back in Harness—Mike Garbark, another former Wildcat baseball player, is now back in action with the New York Yankees. Garbark was out for some while this season due to sickness. Teammate Nike Etten, who played under "Doc" Jacobs here, is playing first base and is among the leaders of the American League in batting.

Post-Season Activities — Tom Short and Burt Cox, both members of the Blue and White track team this past season, are running with the Shanahan Catholic Club, of Philadelphia. In the recent Breen-McCracken American Legion Post track meet, Cox came in winner of the 100 yard dash, the broad jump, and placed second in the 220 yard dash. Short won the 220 yard dash and placed second in the 440 yard run.

Honorably Discharged — Whitey Randour, one of the greats in Villanova gridiron history, has recently received an honorable discharge from the Navy. Whitey was an assistant coach and trainer of the outstanding Bainbridge Naval Training Station's football teams of the past few years.

A Hero Recovers — Andy Chisik was in attendance at the Alumni Banquet, June 5th. Andy, who will be remembered among Wildcat football fans as really outstanding in a long line of top-notch Blue and White centers, was introduced to guests as "The Hero of Devil's Island." Captain Chisik is practically entirely recovered from severe wounds received in action in the Pacific and looks well.

Alumni Coaches — Johnny McKenna and Johnny Wysocki, both former Wildcat grid stars and teammates are coaching football at local high schools. McKenna, who was named on the Associated Press All-Eastern team as center in his senior year here, is head mentor at Malvern Prep. Wysocki, All-American end in 1937 and 1938, is tutoring at Upper Merion High School.

Wildcats Lose to Penn And Defeat Swarthmore

Williams Drives In Winning Run in Tenth Inning; Wildcats Score Fifth Victory

Dick Naslund's steady hurling and Billy William's tenth inning double with bases loaded featured the second Wildcat victory of the season over neighboring Swarthmore College, last Wednesday, at Villanova. Earlier this year, Villanova beat the Garnet, 10-5, in the first game of the home-and-home series. The Wildcats repeated the victory performance this time with a 4-3 count.

In the first extra-inning of the Wildcat season, Naslund, aiding his own victory, led off with a single and went to third on Don Boos' ground-rule double. "Reds" Lafferty was intentionally passed. Williams threw the monkey wrench into the Swarthmore strategy when he pounded out his double to drive across the winning score.

Swarthmore Leads Off

Swarthmore scored first in the top half of the sixth when Graczyk singled and went to second on Brodie's sacrifice. Evans, Garnet pitcher, drew a walk. On Holloway's single and a double error, Graczyk and Evans scored. Swarthmore scored again in the eighth when Murphy doubled, stole third, and scored on Williams' error.

In the second half of the sixth, the Wildcats evened up the score, and tied the ball game again in the ninth inning.

Lafferty led off the Villanova attack in the sixth with a double. Williams was safe on an error, and Lafferty advanced to third. Ike Eisenhart's deep double drove in both runs. Williams tied up the contest in the ninth when he sin-

Quakers Use 4 Pitchers In Scoring Victory; Total 27 Hits In Three-Hour Game

By ROBERT J. CONWAY

Pensylvania beat the Wildcats 12-9, in a three hour hitting spree last Saturday, at River Field, in the last game of the Villanova season.

The game was a slugfest, a total of 27 hits being collected off six pitchers. The 'Cats gathered 15 off four Penn hurlers, while the Quakers accounted for 12 off Stan Wagner.

Chase Penn Pitcher

Everything started with a bang when the Wildcats knocked the first pitcher out in the second on two walks and successive singles by Hertzfeld, Lafferty, and Williams, which accounted for the first four counters.

Penn not to be outdone came back in their half of the second and scored six times on two errors, three walks, and two hits.

The 'Cats scored one in the third on a single by Anderson and a double by Heilmann. They finished up the counting with four more in the fourth on two walks and hits by Williams, Weidenhaefer, and Heilmann.

Two Steal Home

Penn tied it up in the seventh when Sevier singled, went to second on a wild pitch, to third on a sacrifice by O'Brien, and then, as Wagner wound up, he slid home safely. In the eighth the Quakers put the game on ice by crossing the plate three times on a walk, an error, a triple by Barnhorst and another steal home, this time by Lequear. On this play 'Ike' Eisenhart received a severe blow in

In The Sportlight

By MATT KEARNEY, A.S.

"For the duration" seems to be the watchword of these troubled times and that is the basis on which Father McCarthy took over the coaching of the Villanovan baseball team in 1944. He has done fine work in keeping Villanova's name high in the collegiate baseball circles. When Spec. "A" left, the college was faced with a team that had been training for several weeks, a full schedule and no coach. Father McCarthy and Al Severance accepted the position on this same "for the duration" clause.

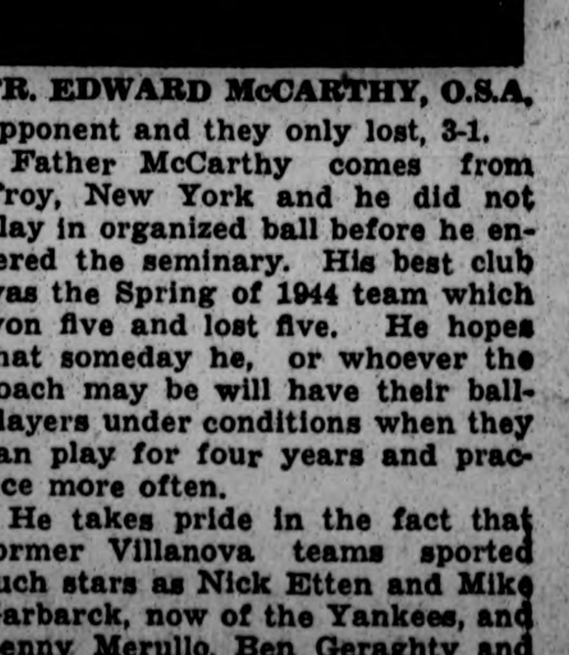
It was hard for Father to recall some of the great former teams and try to put a first-rate ball club on the field with the transfers of military trainees, ineligibility lists and the like. But with his ball club's spirit and his own fine tutoring, he worked miracles.

Enjoys Coaching

Father McCarthy has been associated with Villanova for fifteen years, off and on. He attended the seminary here and was later assigned to the faculty here. He played baseball with the seminary intramural teams and is a good ball player. He enjoys coaching very much and laments the fact that he couldn't have some of his better ball players here for four years under peace time conditions.

Father selects Gordon Mueller, a pitcher with the Spring '44 team and this season's shortstop Bob Williams as the best all around players he has had under him. Both have been under contract with big pro ball clubs. He also speaks very highly of George Warner and Johnny Murphy, shortstops, Charles Eisenhart, catcher, and Jim DiSalvo, center fielder. The boys who have given him the most satisfaction in their development here are Dick Naslund, Stan Wagner, and Al Nieman, two pitchers and a catcher, who, Father says, "really had plenty of fight and developed into good college ballplayers in a short time."

One of the high-lights out of this year was Stan Wagner's game at Bucknell. Regardless of the loss, Stan struck out seventeen batters, and pitched beautiful ball. In this same category, last year's game against Army lives in Father's memory for his boys really showed their stuff aganist a strong opponent and they only lost, 3-1.



FR. EDWARD McCARTHY, O.S.A.

Father McCarthy comes from Troy, New York and he did not play in organized ball before he entered the seminary. His best club was the Spring of 1944 team which won five and lost five. He hopes that someday he, or whoever the coach may be will have their ballplayers under conditions when they can play for four years and practice more often.

He takes pride in the fact that former Villanova teams sported such stars as Nick Etten and Mike Garbarck, now of the Yankees, and Lenny Merullo, Ben Geraghty and Mickey Vernon, who are now in the armed forces.

mention the only real extracurricular activity in his life by name of Mary. We will not mention her last name which is coincidentally the same as his own. Undoubtedly Midshipman's school will get quite a lad when they get T.P., the man with a flair for decorations and the brains for four years of college honor roll.

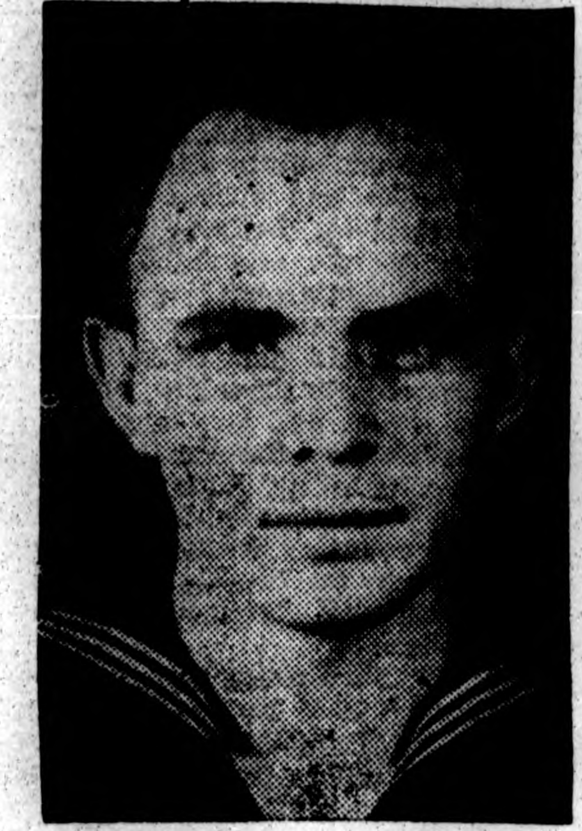
LIKE mad we dash into a drifting tale of the other of this pair of redheads, the Honorable Francis J. O'Connor of Hornell, N. Y. As illustrious member of the Hornell High, "Redbuttons" looks back on two years with the varsity football, on which he played the tackle position, and three years of participation in the field events on the track team for which efforts he also earned his letter. He was vice-chairman of the school's Red Cross unit and co-chairman of the school's Junior Prom, Junior Ball and Senior Ball. He was president of the Student Council from which position he was appointed honorary principal of the school on a day allotted to the students for the running of the school. The debating team gave the necessary impetus for his appointment to represent his school at a junior political convention in which all the schools of the state were represented.



FRANCIS O'CONNOR, A.S.

During the Summer he developed his mighty frame when he worked as a boilermaker's helper during which time he developed his great love for "boilermakers." It took Villanova to bring out the best in dear old "Oak" as he journeyed here in the Fall of '42 to become a member of the famed Alumni Hall, home of champions. The sailor suit came the following Summer and he began. Let's just name some of things: member and later President of the Phi Kap, student council representative, vice president and then finally president; member of the track and football squads; member of the ASME, sanctuary society and managing editor of the Engineer. His senior year found hi mas a member of the senior executive committee, and chairman and toastmaster of the senior dinner dance . . . ah, what a wonderful affair that was. Definitely the redheads were outstanding figures at the affair. Besides being asst. company commander of the Mendel Company, he was appointed Company Commander of Austin Hall Company.

Extracurriculars gave the red-feathered one (few feathers) the titles of citizen of Chestnut Hill, but more importantly Dean of Rosemont, from which institution he procured a lovely little something called Mari, who made the dinner dance the most successful of affairs for the Dean.

Undoubtedly many "drop daid" will accompany the reading of this column by the red one. Small and unimportant though Hornell is, it produced quite an illustrious man even though he is redheaded. Doubtless one could ramble on ad infinitum on these two very representative members of the very wonderful (our opinion) class of '45 but neither space nor your patience will permit and so in a final gesture we thank all for everything and try to quietly bow out of the printed and otherwise picture.

gled, stole second, and crossed the plate on Skelly's error.

Evans Strikes Out Twelve

Team support was the margin of victory for Villanova, as the opposing pitchers were on fairly even terms, though on one count — the strike-out record — Evans far outstrips Naslund. Evans whiffed twelve to Naslund's five.

David I. Ryan Takes Post Of Editor-In-Chief; Matt Kearney, A.S., SportsHead-Next Semester

By PAUL L. CARMICHAEL

Taking over the reins of the editorial post of the Villanovan for the next semester will be David I. (for Ignatius) Ryan. The new editor-in-chief of the college weekly got his "start in life" back in 1923, in Bryn Mawr, as one of the members of a family of ten. Dave has seven brothers and two sisters.

His educational career began upon his entrance to Waldron Academy in Merion Pa. From here he went to St. Joseph's Preparatory School in Phila., from which institution he transferred to Malvern Preparatory School, where he graduated in 1941. During his stay at Malvern, Dave was a member of the football team for two years and acquired two letters for his proficiency in the sport. Besides his activity on the gridiron, Davil I. had literary interests as well, as is evidenced by the fact that he was Co-Editor of both the yearbook . . . The Malverian . . . and the newspaper . . . The Friar's Lantern.

New Editor

DAVID I. RYAN

After his graduation from Malvern, Dave worked for a time for General Electric, the Department of Justice, and for the Evening Bulletin. While serving on the staff of the famous Philadelphia paper he worked under Edmond P. Riley former Editor-in-Chief of the Villanovan. It seems as if one of Riley's proteges has made good.

After his return from an extensive tour of the West, Dave decided that he'd try his hand at coming to Villanova College, and he entered this institution in July 1944. Dave was a member of the staff for one semester, held the post of Managing Editor for one-half semester and took over the job of Sports Editor for another half-semester. Dave has risen to the top post in a very short time, but his past experience in the literary field proves him to be a good choice for the post.

Kearney Sports Head

The job of Sports Editor of the Villanovan happened to be open, since Dave Ryan resigned from the Editor's chair, so we decided that the best man to fill this position was Matthew J. Kearney A.S. Many of you, no doubt, have read and enjoyed Matt's regular weekly feature on the sports page entitled "In the Sportlight."

According to Matt, Jan. 10, 1927, was the day when he first saw the light in Trenton, New Jersey. Matt attended St. Francis Parochial School, and then went on the big time at Trenton Catholic High School. At Trenton Catholic Matt made a name for himself in the field of dramatics. He held leading roles in "Charley's Aunt," "Brewster's Millions," and "Nothing But the Truth." He won the Black Friar's medal for dramatics upon his graduation.

New Sports Head

MATTHEW KEARNEY, A.S.

Matt entered the Navy V-12 Unit at Villanova College as soon as he graduated from Trenton Catholic. He became interested in writing for the Villanovan last October, and editors at that time decided that Matt certainly had a lot of talent in that field, despite the fact that he had never used it before.

Burns Managing Edito

The next man we'd like you to meet is a fellow who travels under the alias of "John Burns." Perhaps that is his real name, we don't know for sure. Be that as it may, John will be the Managing Editor of the Villanovan as next semester rolls around.

Among his other varied activities, John took time out to be born in October, 1926. He attended St. Francis de Sales' Parochial school in Philadelphia, and won a scholarship to St. Joseph's Preparatory School. At St. Joseph's, John was the Managing Editor of the Chronicle, the Prep's yearbook. Upon his graduation John received the medals for Mathematics and Physics along with a scholarship to Villanova College. While at Villanova, John joined the Villanovan staff as a member of the circulation staff, then rose to position of Circulation Manager and during last semester was appointed to the position of Managing Editor.

Retiring Chief

PAUL CARMICHAEL

Paul Carmichael, retiring Editor-in-Chief, has held the position for the past two semesters. Paul leaves Villanova College at the end of this semester to enter the St. Louis University School of Medicine.

the arm and after the game he was taken to the hospital but fortunately the damage was only a very bad bruise.

Villanova made a threat in the ninth when Boos and Lafferty singled, but everything was over after West made a circus catch of Williams' Texas leaguer and threw Boos out as he was trying to get back to second.

Jim Lafferty and Jack Heilmann were the top hitters for Villanova with four and three respectively.

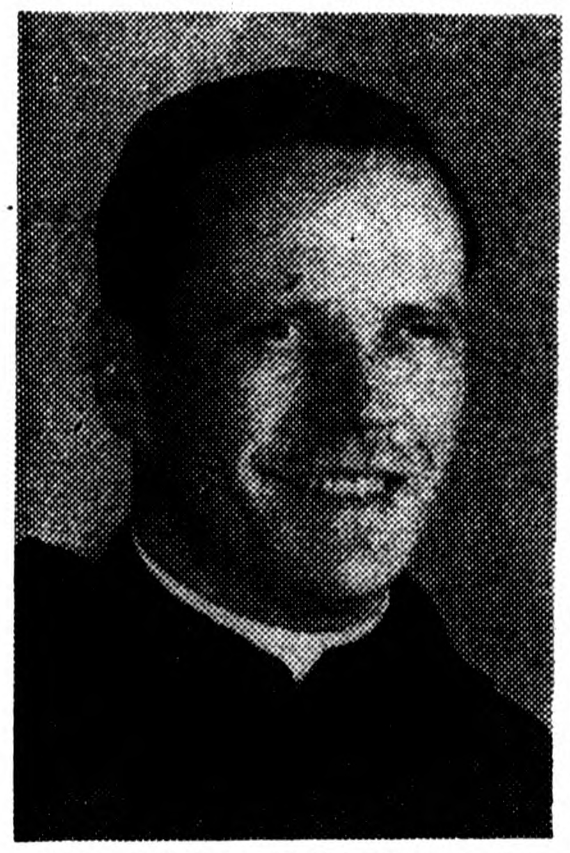
Revival of Orientation Marks Summer Semester

Two New Priests Added To Faculty; 4 Others Here

Frs. Hannon and Maher Added to Faculty; Frs. Wynne, Krupa, Flaherty and Shannon Teaching in College During Summer

The beginning of the new term at Villanova brought many new faces to the campus, not only among the student body, but among the faculty as well. Two priests received appointments to Villanova College, while four more are teaching here during the summer months. The two priests who are appointed to Villanova College are Rev. John P. Maher, O.S.A., S.T.D., and Rev. James E. Hannon, O.S.A.

Fr. Maher comes to Villanova College from the Augustinian College in Washington, where for eight years he was professor of Dogmatic Theology. Born in Shenandoah, Pa., Fr. Maher was received into the Augustinian Order in 1927. He was graduated from Villanova College in 1932. After graduation he went to Rome to study in the Pontifical Gregorian University. While there he was ordained to the Priesthood in 1934. Completing his studies in 1937, Fr. Maher was awarded the coveted degree, Doctor of Sacred Theology. His appointment to the faculty of the Augustinian College followed. Recently Fr. Maher contributed a series of articles to the Catholic Biblical Quarterly. For a number of years he has taught in the Villanova College Summer School. He joins the faculty of the College now as Assistant Professor of Religion.



REV. JOHN P. MAHER, O.S.A.

Fr. Hannon, the second addition to the faculty, was born in Jamestown, Rhode Island, but now calls sunny California his home. He attended St. Ignatius High School in San Francisco. After graduation he entered the Augustinian Order in 1938. He was graduated from Villanova College in 1941. He went to the Augustinian College to study Theology and was ordained in Washington in 1941. He was awarded the degree of Master of Arts in Religious Education at the Catholic University of America this year. Fr. Hannon will be an In-

Former Procurator Receives Army Commission; At Villanova Since 1941

The ranks of Augustinian chaplains were increased last week when Rev. Vincent J. Meaney, O.S.A., was commissioned as a Lieutenant in the United Sates Army. Fr. Meaney has been at Villanova since 1941, serving as Procurator and Sub-Master of Professed in St. Mary's Hall, and as an Instructor in Religion.

REV. VINCENT MEANEY, O.S.A.

Born in Providence, Rhode Island in 1908, Fr. Meaney early migrated to New Hampshire, where he went to high school. He attended Boston College for two years before he entered the Augustinian Order. Coming to the Order in 1933, he was graduated from Villanova College in 1937. He was ordained to the Priesthood in Washington in 1940, and the next year received his appointment to St. Mary's Hall, Villanova.

Waiving for the time being the requirement of Chaplains School, the Army has ordered Fr. Meaney to the Chaplain Officers' Displacement Pool, Hampton Roads, Virginia, to the Port of Embarkation, where he reported on July 10. Fr. Meaney is the twenty-fifth Augustinian priest to enter the armed services of the country as a chaplain during this war.

Phi Kappa Pi Plans Big Semester

Alfred Dumsa, the acting President of the Phi Kappa Pi engineering fraternity, has called a meeting for all members on Thursday, July 19, at 1:00 P. M. All new engineering students and potential members are cordially invited to attend the meeting.

The purpose of the meeting is to install the newly-elected officers. Joseph Gerngross, A/S, will take over as Treasurer along with Frank Ronan, and John Coyne who will assume their positions as Student Council Representative and Sergeant at Arms, respectively. Joseph Hoffman, newly-elected President, has left the campus for the Summer term and will return in the Fall to assume his position. Alfred Dumsa, the new secretary, will be acting President until the vacancy in the Vice-Presidency has been filled.

The frat, which has always had an active life in the past, expects to quickly pick up where it left off last semester. Technical movies, lectures, and if possible, plant trips will be arranged. The frat expects to hold a smoker later in the Summer. The smoker, along with the initiation of the new members, has always been a very enjoyable and successful affair. This and other business will be discussed and all members are urged to attend.

Four New Gold Stars Added To Villanova's Service Flag; Other Casualties Also Listed

Since the last issue of the Villanovan, word has been received by the Alumni Office, that four more of Villanova's fighting men have been killed in action, two on Okinawa, one in England, and one in the Philippines. Total number of casualties to date, 45.

2nd Lt. John A. Bittig, ex'45, USMCR

Coming as as great shock to his former teachers and many friends still on the campus, is the announcement that John A. Bittig was killed in action on June 24th in the final stages of the battle for the possession of Okinawa. On July 3rd, John's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bittig, of 176 Berkeley Ave., Bloomfield, N. J., received a telegram from the War Dept., advising them that John had received a gun-shot wound in chest. This was further confirmed by a letter from a companion of John, who stated that the injury occurred on June 18th. On July 5th, however, John's parents were advised by telegram that John had died on June 24th.

A popular member of the Class of '45, Lt. Bittig entered Villanova as a Commerce and Finance student in September of 1941. In 1943 he enlisted in the Marine Corps Reserve and upon the inauguration of the V-12 program on the Campus in the following July, he became a member of the first Marine Unit stationed on the campus. He left for "boot" training at Parris Island, S. C., in June of last year and received his commission as a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps, the following October. Soon afterwards, he arrived at Camp Pendleton, Calif., from whence he set sail for the Pacific. He was assigned to the Weapons Company of the 5th Marines, First Marine Division, his first battle experience being on Okinawa.

LT. JOHN A. BITTIG

A few days previous to the announcement of Lt. Bittigs' death, the following news release appeared in the local Bloomfield paper, date-lined Okinawa:

"Marine Second Lieutenant John A. Bittig, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bittig of 176 Berkeley Avenue., Bloomfield, N. J., escaped uninjured when the Japs shelled his anti-tank gun platoon's position on the outskirts of Shuri, fortress city of Okinawa.

" 'Eight or ten rounds of heavy artillery shells hit around one of our four guns and two of my men were wounded,, Lieutenant Bittig said.

"His 37mm weapons were dug in on the crest of a hill overlooking Wana draw, where the Japs waged a bitter fight to delay the First Marine Division's advance on the

Frosh Rules Announced; Program To Become More Stringent in Coming Semesters

The campus is once more to be graced by the sight of eager Frosh, complete with dinks and shortened trousers, looking with awe upon their first taste of college life, when the Orientation Committee gets its full rules and regulations into play during the coming semester.

After a lapse of two years, the Orientation Program has once again been inaugurated here in the campus. A committee of sixteen under the chairmanship of Frank Ronan is in charge, with Rev. Thomas A. Burke, O.S.A., as moderator. In the past the committee contained many Sophomores but since the present Sophomore class was not orientated, the Student Council felt that it was only fair to all concerned that the program be governed by the few remaining Juniors and Seniors who have felt the lash of an upper classman's scorn.

The Frosh received a great ally in the form of local weather conditions and the kindness of the soft-hearted committee insofar as they are allowed to dispense with the wearing of coats and caps till the advent of cooler weather.

Since many misunderstandings had to be ironed out the Frosh were for the most part, given only warnings for their misdeeds last week but this week will bring about a much changed program in as much as penalties are concerned. Attendance at evening chapel is being closely watched and offenders will be called before the committee by the end of the week.

So far the Frosh have been addressed by Fr. McKee, Vice President of the School; Fr. Burke, moderator of the Orientation Program; John Fitzgibbins, Senior Class President and Student Council Chairman; Harry Edwards, President of the Veterans Club and John Burns, editor in chief of the Villanovan.

The entire committee is very well pleased with the general attitude

REQUIESCAT IN PACE

Mr. Sylvester J. Gorman, father of Professor Gorman of the engineering department of Villanova, died on June 20 of this year, missing his seventy-eighth birthday by a month. At the time of his demise he was retired from a position as master mechanic for the Reading Railroad.

Mrs. S. J. Gorman's name appeared in The Villanovan recently when he celebrated his Golden Wedding Anniversary.

A Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated for him at the Church of Saint Steven and was attended by Fathers Vrana, Klekotka, and Lunney. He was interred in the cemetery of the Holy Sepulchre.

Drama Club Will Give New Play

With the opening of the new semester, the Dramatic Society held its first meeting last week. Under the direction of the Moderator, Sergeant John C. Muir, plans were made for the forthcoming election of officers. The current president, Richard Henson, read the copy of the club's Constitution for the benefit of the new members. Amendments and revisions were made on this copy and other unfinished business was carried out.

Among other business taken up was the deciding on the play to be given by the Society this semester. Numerous suggestions were made in which several very good plays were considered, and after considerable discussion, the choice was limited to two or three of the best.

Society to Get New Name

At the last meeting of the Society, the business of deciding upon a suitable name for the society was taken up. After many suggestions and explanations, this business was left in a stalemated position. Also at this meeting initiations of the new members were conducted. The initiation was as usual the giving of a short skit or play by the new men.

Sgt. Muir extends to all new men on the campus an invitation to join this club in any capacity. There is need for musicians, stage crewmen and other such members. Admission to the club is simple and all who are interested are invited to attend the meetings on any Friday night in Room 215 Mendel Hall.

Your Cooperation Needed

The revival of the Orientation Committee is a significant sign of the return of some of the old college spirit to the campus, which bodes well for students and the college alike. During the five-semester period in which there were no initiations, spirit on the campus declined to a dangerously low level but at last it is once more on the upswing. Together with the Orientation Committtee, many other campus institutions are again coming into their own to such an extent that the end of this semester may well see extra-curricular life in full swing.

The success of the orientation program, as well as the success of the other campus activities, depends upon the whole-hearted cooperation of the student body. The absence of orientation from the campus for so long a period, together with the fact that most of the upperclassmen have never been orientated, is bound to make it a little difficult at first, but with the exercise of some common sense and good will, the program should run quite smoothly.

Most of the Frosh are taking the rules and regulations in the proper spirit, but as usual, there is a misguided minority who are unable to take the program in the spirit in which it is given. The regulations this semester are very lenient, compared with those of the past, but that does not mean that they are to be taken lightly. The acquisition of a proper outlook on college life is a very important part of college training, and its absence in recent semesters has been all too noticeable.

To the upperclassmen, especially those who have never been orientated themselves, we should like to express a word of caution against abuse of the regulations. Upperclassmen are entitled to, and will get, respect but they are not entitled to homage. The abuse of the regulations by upperclassmen will defeat the whole program and will not be tolerated.

The committee are faced with a very difficult task, and thus far have done a praise-worthy job of handling the problem before them. They are motivated solely by a desire to preserve the old Villanova spirit, and have no grudge against the Frosh. It is well said that to be able to give commands, one must be able to obey them, and if this year's Frosh are to be next year's Committee, they must learn now to exercise the respect which they will expect to receive then.

In past semesters the student body complained of the lack of college activities and campus societies. With the present increase in the activities of school organizations and the promised increase in social activities, there will be no reason to complain of the lack of extracurricular activity.

All these activities, however, can only be successful if the student body gets behind and supports them. Now that there are activities on the campus it is up to the student body to see whether they stay, or die a slow, lingering death.

At the same time, it is necessary to point out that college life is not going to become one round of social activity during the coming semester. We are still operating

'Cat Capers

By FRANK RONAN and JOHN FITZGIBBONS

Well, here we are boys and girls, back once more with all the useless chatter that we could possibly dig up in the space of a week. This term the target will be Fitzgibbons and Ronan, so please aim your bricks carefully gentlemen (?) so no innocent bystanders will be killed.

First of all, we want to state publicly that we will no longer refer to a certain party as "Happy High School" Al. This certain party's initials happen to be Alfred Victor Michael Dumsa. Mail has been received this week from various sections of the hinterland keeping us posted on the whereabouts of some of the boys who "escaped" in June. Joe Hoffman is now a counsellor in a boys' camp in northern New Hampshire, and is already tired from answering one million and one questions. Tito Infanzon, the San Juan haberdasher, sends his love and an empty rum bottle. It looks as if Windy Barrett is making a career of sending out postage-due mail from his Summer residences up and down the Jersey coast.

Now that Bob Conway (minus ring) is back in Simpson, we imagine everything is under control once more. Let's hope no poor Frosh are killed under his iron rule.

And speaking of Frosh, we also hope that a certain group are good athletes because some of those local belles at the Greeks are certainly going to take them over the hurdles before long. That is just a word of warning, Frosh; you will appreciate it later.

The latest report is that Tony Caruso is going to switch from Pre-Med to Kindergarten Teaching so that he can take care of his new-found friend. Come, come Chippy, let's try to find some over fourteen years of age.

If you were at Atlantic City last week-end and thought those bobby-soxers were chasing Van Johnson, you were wrong. It was just those two inseparable buddies, Deacon Merlino and Red Dog Koerner, on the prowl again. Deacon's comment on the week-end was in his usual sly descriptive manner which we do not deem proper to print since we have so many youngsters on the circulation list now. We have also heard that Spook Burke and Lovey Quinn are now on their way to India with the American Field Service.

We were really surprised to see what a difference a wedding could make in Jack Glancey (It wasn't his own). Well, at least in later years, Glance can't say that we didn't try to lead him on the right path. It has been requested that we observe one minute of silence out of respect for that party that was to be held in Washington last week-end. It died a horrible death. We don't know if Newt Ward will ever be himself again.

And to solve a serious question for the Frosh, No, you don't have to wear your button on your pajamas.

Before we close, we would like to add one thing more. Now with all our fair admirers from various other local schools gone for the Summer and our old supply of spies graduated, we are somewhat at loss of news. So if anyone has any news of a social (or un-social) nature, that he thinks would look good in print, send it along to this column.

We assure one and all that all our spies are kept in strict confidence and we never break a trust. (We read that in an old copy of the Inquirer that was wrapped around Glancey's lunch). Well, that is all for this week so until next Tuesday when . . .

Meet the Boys

By GEORGE ELSESSER, A.S. and GEORGE AULBACK, A.S.

NEW term, new faces, and two new dopes writing this column. But seriously, fellows, we hope you like it and will make allowances when you compare it with last year's column by Tom Welch for he was an experienced and capable writer. We may only hope to do half as well.

But let us get to the business at hand. The three men whom we are presenting this week need no introduction and even the frosh will bear us out on this point. So with no further adieu we will go right into their lives and probably come out with only a few bruises and scratches (we hope).

OUR first victim (and we do mean victim) is that Dean of Men from Delurey Hall, Alfred Victor Dumsa. Al hails from Waterbury, Conecticut; the greatest place on earth and if you don't believe us, just ask him. H. P., as Al is known to his friends, first graced Waterbury with his presence on January 14, 1925. He attended St. Joseph's Parochial School in the afore-mentioned town, and then went on to Crosby High School which, incidentally, happens to be in the rolling hills of Connecticut (if we don't get something from the Chamber of Commerce now, we'll give up). At Crosby High, he played a little baseball and basketball and just to keep himself occupied in the evenigs, he worked in a sporting goods store.

AL DUMSA

After graduating from High School, H. P. worked for several months before matriculating at Villanova on February 1, 1943, in the school of Mehanical Engineering. Al was a little quiet his first year here, his only extra-curricular activities being intramural softball, baseball and basketball. However, in Sophomore year, Mister Dumsa began to make a name for himself. He joined the Phi Kappa Pi, of which he is now secretary; and the Sanctuary Society. At present he is Vice-President of the Senior Class, Business Manager of the 1945 Belle Air, and a member of the reincarnated Orientation Committee. Victor has also been a committee member for most of the dances held here since his Sophomore year.

When "Red Buttons" O'Connor left last semester, he appointed H. P. the Custodian of Women at Rosemont College. Besides, Rosemont, he is also a big man with the Harcum girls, but his heart really belongs to Rosemont.

Al desires to find a position with an engineering concern in that great section of the country which he loves so well, New England.

NEXT in line we have another New Englander and also a resident of Delurey Hall in the person of Francis Daniel Ronan.

Frank was born on March 26, 1921 in Lawrence, Massachusetts. While still young, the Ronans

ALMA MATER

When the twilight shadows gather
Out upon the campus green
When the blue and purple night
Comes stealing on the scene;
Loyal sons of Villanova
Sing a hymn of praise
To our dear old ALMA MATER
And our college days.

Villanova, Villanova,
When we leave your shelt'ring walls,
We shall leave an echo ringing
Through your treasured halls;
We will leave an echo ringing
In the silent night
While our memories are singing
Of the Blue and White.

When the last big game is over
And the last roll call is heard
When the oldest pedagogue
Has had his final word
We shall come to ALMA MATER
In our dreams again
With a pray'r for Villanova
And a sweet amen.

FIGHT SONG

I'll sing you a song of college days,
I'll tell you where to go:
Johns Hopkins for your Knowledge,
Cornell to learn to row;
To Harvard for your dandy dudes,
Villanova for your men.
To Bryn Mawr for your pretty girls,
For hard luck, go to Penn.

Hand me down my bonnet,
Hand me down my shawl,
Hand me down my calico dress,
And I'll go to the Calico Ball.

First she gave me honey,
Then she gave me cake,
Then she gave me gingerbread
And sent me out the gate.

As we go marching, and the
Band begins to P-L-A-Y,
You can hear the people shouting:
Villanova's out to win today.

Villanova White,
Villanova Blue,
Villanova, Villanova,
We'll be true to you;

Villanova Blue,
Villanova White,
Villanova, Villanova,
Your'e all right!

Hooray for the Wildcats,
Damn Right!

Briefs Of CAMPUS NEWS

D. P. E.

Delta Pi Epsilon, the Commerce and Finance Fraternity, is planning a very active season during the coming semester. Events scheduled for early in the semester include election of officers, initiation of new members and possibly a smoker.

An important sign of the organization's return to active campus life are the plans for the resumption of the Financier's Frolic, the annual formal dance which was such a big campus event in the past.

The time of the first meeting of the frat has not yet been decided upon but it will be announced in the near future.

A. S. C. E.

The Villanova Student Chapter of The American Society Of Civil Engineers held its first meeting of the semester on Thursday.

Nominations were taken for the various offices and votes were cast.

Richard J. Madigan, A.S., U.S.N.R., former secretary-treasurer of the A.S.C.E. and a star member of last season's basketball team, was elected president.

The vote for Vice-President ended in a tie between Pvt. Burton Cox, U.S.M.C.R., former Vice-President and star trackman, and John W. Coyne, Business Manager of the Villanovan and Master at Arms of Phi Kappa Pi, Villanova's engineer-

Fr. Stanford Gets Honorary Degree

Among the five honorary degrees conferred by the University of Pennsylvania at graduation exercises held on June 28th, in Irvine Auditorium, 34th and Spruce Sts., was Fr. Edward V. Stanford, O.S.A., former President of Villanova, and at present, Rector of the Augustinian College, Washington, D. C.

REV. EDWARD V. STANFORD, O.S.A.

The citation for the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, conferred upon Fr. Stanford, reads in part:

"You have been an officer and member of many public and educational committees, associations, and societies. Recently you have been a member of the committee on the relationship of higher education to the Federal Government of the American Council on Education, and a consultant to the United States Navy, Bureau of Personnel.

"Of holy calling, teaching has been your mission, administration your assignment, until the war made you also the wise adviser of your fellow educators and the trusted counselor of your Government."

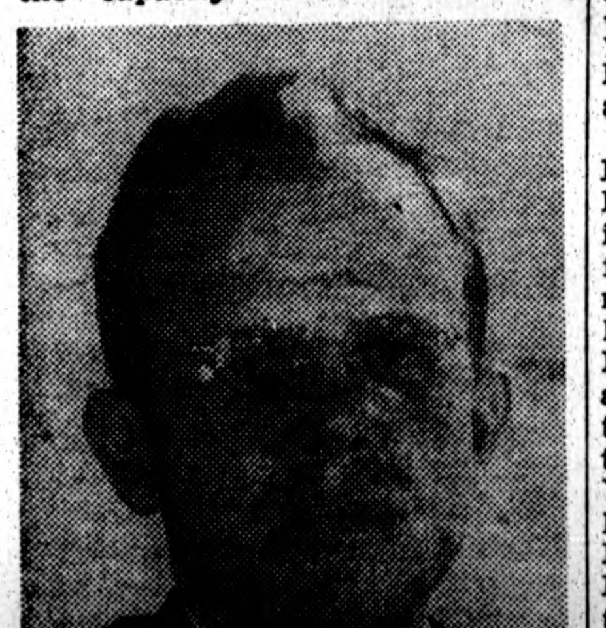
structor in Religion at Villanova.

Of the four priests who are teaching at Villanova for the summer months, one, Rev. William J. Wynne, O.S.A., is on the faculty at the Summer School being held in Rosemont College. Fr. Wynne, who hails from Springfield, Massachusetts, is an Instructor in Library Science.

Rev. William J. Krupa, O.S.A., who is Instructor in Public Speaking, has been appointed to St. Mary's Hall, where he will serve in the capacity of Procurator. Fr. Krupa, a native of Lancaster, Pa., was ordained to the Priesthood in 1944, and received the degree Master of Arts from Catholic University this year.



REV. JAMES E. HANNON, O.S.A.

Rev. Joseph A. Flaherty, O.S.A., instructing in English, is a native Philadelphian. Ordained to the Priesthood in 1943, he won a degree of Master of Arts at Catholic University in Washington and is pursuing further studies at Harvard University during the fall and winter months.

Rev. Albert C. Shannon, O.S.A., instructor in History, was born in Brookville, Pa. He was ordained to the Priesthood in 1944 and received the degree Master of Arts at Catholic University. In the fall he will continue his studies at Columbia University in New York.

ancient Shuri castle, military hub and nerve center of the enemy's line across suorthern Okinawa.

"'We used our guns like sniper rifles,' Bittig said, 'to fire at the Japs in caves inside the draw.'

"The lieutenant also used his guns to shell enemy positions on Hill 57, nicknamed Beehive Hill, the hill to Wana draw, which the Marines captured in a five-hour fight."

As a member of the Villanovan staff, Lt. Bittig inaugurated the popular column FROM CAMP TO CAMPUS bringing news of Villanova's fighting sons on the world's far flung battle front. He was also a member of the C & F fraternity, the Spanish Club, and gave his support to many of the extra-curricular activities of College life.

Pfc. William E. Conroy, Jr., ex'32

A former C & F student, was fatally wounded on Okinawa, May 9th, and died a few hours after being carried from the battlefield. Son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Conroy, of 301 E. Main St., Moorestown N. J., Pfc. Conroy entered Villanova in September, 1928, withdrawing the following February.

PFC. WILLIAM CONROY

He entered the Army on April 2, 1942, and was sent to Fort Jackson, South Carolina and infantry training with the 77th Division. Later he was sent to California for desert training, transferring to Indiantown Gap at the end of this training. From there he was sent to Fort Pickett, Va., from which location he was sent overseas in February of 1944. He was wounded in the Guam invasion, August, 10, 1944, and received the Purple Heart. Later he participated in the Leyte and Iwo Jima invasions and also on a small island in the Ruykyu group.

L. Charles J. Cooke, '38, USNR

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Cooke, 20 Cannon Street, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Lt. Cook was killed instantly on April 24th, somewhere in England, and to quote from the official report: "In the performance of his duty and in the service of his country." Following the Requiem Mass which was said for him, he was buried with full military honors in the military cemetery at Cambridge, England.

Charles entered the service as an Ensign in the Naval Reserve in Detroit, December 24, 1941. He was immediately sent to Chicago and from thence to St. Louis. As a member of the Naval Intelligence he covered the entire state of Missouri and did some work in adjacent states. Later transferred to the Eastern Seaboard, he operated out of Philadelphia and New York City. In November of 1943, he married Miss Mary Hart of Poughkeepsie, going overseas in February 1944. He was assigned to the Port Director's offices at Liverpool, Bristol, Swansea and he assisted in supplying ships with men, supplies and ammunition for the invasion of the Normandy coast. He was the Omaha Beachhead on D-Day. Foregoing a furlough to return to the United States, last February, Lt. Cook preferred to remain in Europe and see the war through to a victorious end.

Charlie entered Villanova as an Arts Student in September 1934, graduating in June of '38. During his stay on the campus, he was a member of the Orientation Committee; Sophomore Cotillion; Music Club; Belle Masque Society and the Intramurals.

Lt. John F. Geraghty, Jr., '37, (M. C.) USN

Attached to an ACORN unit, as flight surgeon, Lt. John F. Geraghty was killed in action, somewhere in the Phillippines on June 24th. No details of John's death are as yet available, except that he was on duty at a bomber strip on Luzon.

Lt. Geraghty entered Villanova in September 1933 as a Pre-medical student, graduating in June of '37. Following his graduation from Jefferson Medical College in 1941, he interned at the Philadelphia General Hospital. He received his commission in the Naval Reserve in July '42 and in the following September was transferred to the regular Navy as a Lieutenant, junior grade. He saw service at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., training as pilot and flight surgeon, until June of '43. He was next assigned to the Seattle Naval Air Station, with flight duty in the Aleutian Islands, leaving for the Philippines in September of last year.

Dr. Geraghty was married to Miss Isabel Carson of Sharon Hill, Pa., on January 24, 1942. Their first child, Brian Carson Geraghty, was born on June 7, 1945. Besides his wife and son, John is survived by his father, John B. Geraghty, of 91 S. Wycombe Ave., Lansdowne, Pa.

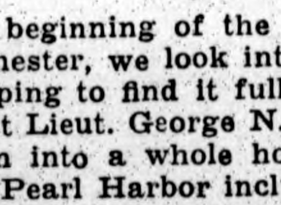
During his student days at Villanova, Lt. Geraghty was a member of the Villanovan staff as Sport's Editor in 1936 and '37. He was center on the Freshman football squad in 1933 and on the 150 lb. team in '35 and '36.

Fr. Edwin Grimes, the College Chaplain, has celebrated Requiem Memorial Mass for each of the deceased during the past week. This is a custom of long standing at Villanova, and Father Grimes points out that Mass has been celebrated in the College Chapel for all Villanovans killed, who are remembered in the prayers of the students as well.

WOUNDED IN ACTION

News has also been received in recent weeks that the following have been wounded in battle. Pfc. Gregory A. D'Angelo, ex '44, with 6th Marine Division, was wounded on Okinawa and has been awarded the Purple Heart. T/5 James A. Kivlin, ex '43, was wounded in Germany and is at present stationed at the Fitzsimmons General Hospital, Denver, Colorado. Lt. Comdr. Gerald McAteer, '33, M. C., USNR, was wounded in action aboard the aircraft carrier USS Hornet in the battle of Santa Cruz in October of '42, in which action the Hornet was sunk. Lt. Comdr. McAteer, is now senior medical officer aboard the USS Chicago. Pfc. John E. Skorka, ex '45, was wounded on March 16, 1945, nine days after crossing the Rhine, during the Remagen Bridgehead. Arriving back in the States on May 5th, he was stationed at the Halloran Hospital, Staten Island, N. Y., later transferring to the Deshon General Hospital, Butler, Pa., where he is at present. Also a patient in the same hospital with John, is Pfc. Loui Mascocchi, '44, who was also wounded in Germany in the early part of the present year.

Camp To Campus



By ROBERT J. CONWAY

With the beginning of the third summer semester, we look into the mailbag, hoping to find it full, and we hear that Lieut. George N. Shahood '45 ran into a whole host of the boys in Pearl Harbor including Jack "the rassler" Donoghue, Bill Gagen, Dick Breen and Leo White. Congratulations to Dom Parrone on graduation from Quartermaster School in Gulfpoint, Miss.

Pre-Med Pvt. Nick Albano Jr. is now Ward-master in a Convalescent hospital in Nuremberg, Germany. Nick was one of the old-timers stationed in Simpson Hall and also one of the Hague clan from Jersey City. Things are buzzing with the arrival of the two bridge fiends of Mendel Hall at Great Lakes, Watch your steps "Sol" Fliesher and Bill Pease. Pvt. Daniel F. Shields, who is now recovering in a hospital near Toul, France, tells us that Norm Schoonover is stationed in the Austrian Alps near Innsbruck.

We are glad to hear from recently promoted First Lieut. Jack R. Sutton who was wounded for the second time on Okinawa and removed to the hospital ship, U.S.S. Solace and taken care of at the Naval Hospital at Tinian. He also says that he was near Bob Nealon the night that Bob was wounded in the battle of Sugar Loaf, and glad to say that the Chaplain was with him when he died. It has also been called to our attention that when the men reached the city of Naha on Okinawa they found two Catholic Churches and a Catholic Japanese Priest.

Summer finds our football hero, Bob David, and the dependable lineman, Frank Eye, in Marine OCS at Quantico. S/C Jimmy Day writes from Manhattan Beach Coast Guard that thanks to his Chem course he has been assigned to the Medical Department there.

Flash! Naval Lieut. Jimmy "Birdlegs" Halpin raised the old school spirit considerably when from Florida he shipped a first class "Wildcat". Although he is still in the baby stage, "Birdlegs" thinks that he would make a good lineman when the team moves into West Point. To date "Wildcat" has dug his teeth into two people.

C. & F. Cpl. Tom Gowen sent pictures of the destruction of the Augustinian College and Convent at Iloilo in the Philippines where four Villanova Priests were teaching at the time of Pearl Harbor. "The damage is the result of poor reconnaissance work by the Guerillas; they reported one of the buildings to be Japanese Headquarters and were ordered to reduce it rather than chance American lives in what could have been another Bastegone."

As we open the last letter in the mail bag we find that Staff Sgt. Dick Franco down on Biak Island in the Netherlands East Indies has no company but natives and insects and too much of the latter. His pet gripe is that when he planted his Victory garden the insects never touched it until the blossoms were all over the place and then they moved in and ate everything but the roots.

New Semester Finds Last Year's Graduates Far Apart

This semester finds many of the former V-12 trainees here at Villanova scattered far and wide about the country.

Most of last term's graduates are now in Midshipmen or Pre-Midshipmen Schools, while most of the Pre-Med students are soon to be in Medical Schools. Villanova is well represented at the various schools and we hope soon to get some correspondence from our former schoolmates.

The following shows the stations to which the boys have been transferred:

Fr. Mc Quade Made Head of Vets' Bureau

Rev. Vincent McQuade, O.S.A., Assistant Professor of Social Sciences here at the College has been named Chairman of the Veterans' Guidance Bureau and Faculty Moderator of the Villanova Veterans' Club.

REV. VINCENT A. McQUADE, O.S.A.

The bureau which Fr. McQuade heads is composed of nine members of the faculty who are in charge of the various aspects of the program. The academic advisers of the bureau are: Rev. Francis Diehl, O.S.A., Assistant Professor of Education and Psychology; Dr. William McHugh, Professor of Education; and Dr. Leo Brown, Assistant Professor of Education.

Rev. Edwin Grimes, O.S.A., the College Chaplain is adviser on religious problems, and Mr. William Henry, Assistant Professor of Business Administration, is adviser on legal problems. Adviser in the field of medical problems is Dr. Paul Loefflad, College Physician, while Mr. John Dever, Controller, is adviser on financial problems.

Fr. McQuade is also moderator of the recently-formed Villanova Veterans Club. The club held elections last month and Harry Edwards was elected President.

The club is planning numerous activities for next semester and all discharged servicemen are invited to join.

Your Cooperation Needed

The revival of the Orientation Committee is a significant sign of the return of some of the old college spirit to the campus, which bodes well for students and the college alike. During the five-semester period in which there were no initiations, spirit on the campus declined to a dangerously low level but at last it is once more on the upswing. Together with the Orientation Committtee, many other campus institutions are again coming into their own to such an extent that the end of this semester may well see extra-curricular life in full swing.

The success of the orientation program, as well as the success of the other campus activities, depends upon the whole-hearted cooperation of the student body. The absence of orientation from the campus for so long a period, together with the fact that most of the upperclassmen have never been orientated, is bound to make it a little difficult at first, but with the exercise of some common sense and good will, the program should run quite smoothly.

Most of the Frosh are taking the rules and regulations in the proper spirit, but as usual, there is a misguided minority who are unable to take the program in the spirit in which it is given. The regulations this semester are very lenient, compared with those of the past, but that does not mean that they are to be taken lightly. The acquisition of a proper outlook on college life is a very important part of college training, and its absence in recent semesters has been all too noticeable.

To the upperclassmen, especially those who have never been orientated themselves, we should like to express a word of caution against abuse of the regulations. Upperclassmen are entitled to, and will get, respect but they are not entitled to homage. The abuse of the regulations by upperclassmen will defeat the whole program and will not be tolerated.

The committee are faced with a very difficult task, and thus far have done a praise-worthy job of handling the problem before them. They are motivated solely by a desire to preserve the old Villanova spirit, and have no grudge against the Frosh. It is well said that to be able to give commands, one must be able to obey them, and if this year's Frosh are to be next year's Committee, they must learn now to exercise the respect which they will expect to receive then.

In past semesters the student body complained of the lack of college activities and campus societies. With the present increase in the activities of school organizations and the promised increase in social activities, there will be no reason to complain of the lack of extracurricular activity.

All these activities, however, can only be successful if the student body gets behind and supports them. Now that there are activities on the campus it is up to the student body to see whether they stay, or die a slow, lingering death.

At the same time, it is necessary to point out that college life is not going to become one round of social activity during the coming semester. We are still operating

'Cat Capers

By FRANK RONAN and JOHN FITZGIBBONS

Well, here we are boys and girls, back once more with all the useless chatter that we could possibly dig up in the space of a week. This term the target will be Fitzgibbons and Ronan, so please aim your bricks carefully gentlemen (?) so no innocent bystanders will be killed.

First of all, we want to state publicly that we will no longer refer to a certain party as "Happy High School" Al. This certain party's initials happen to be Alfred Victor Michael Dumsa. Mail has been received this week from various sections of the hinterland keeping us posted on the whereabouts of some of the boys who "escaped" in June. Joe Hoffman is now a counsellor in a boys' camp in northern New Hampshire, and is already tired from answering one million and one questions. Tito Infanzon, the San Juan haberdasher, sends his love and an empty rum bottle. It looks as if Windy Barrett is making a career of sending out postage-due mail from his Summer residences up and down the Jersey coast.

Now that Bob Conway (minus ring) is back in Simpson, we imagine everything is under control once more. Let's hope no poor Frosh are killed under his iron rule.

And speaking of Frosh, we also hope that a certain group are good athletes because some of those local belles at the Greeks are certainly going to take them over the hurdles before long. That is just a word of warning, Frosh; you will appreciate it later.

The latest report is that Tony Caruso is going to switch from Pre-Med to Kindergarten Teaching so that he can take care of his new-found friend. Come, come Chippy, let's try to find some over fourteen years of age.

If you were at Atlantic City last week-end and thought those bobby-soxers were chasing Van Johnson, you were wrong. It was just those two inseparable buddies, Deacon Merlino and Red Dog Koerner, on the prowl again. Deacon's comment on the week-end was in his usual sly descriptive manner which we do not deem proper to print since we have so many youngsters on the circulation list now. We have also heard that Spook Burke and Lovey Quinn are now on their way to India with the American Field Service.

We were really surprised to see what a difference a wedding could make in Jack Glancey (It wasn't his own). Well, at least in later years, Glance can't say that we didn't try to lead him on the right path. It has been requested that we observe one minute of silence out of respect for that party that was to be held in Washington last week-end. It died a horrible death. We don't know if Newt Ward will ever be himself again.

And to solve a serious question for the Frosh. No, you don't have to wear your button on your pajamas.

Before we close, we would like to add one thing more. Now with all our fair admirers from various other local schools gone for the Summer and our old supply of spies graduated, we are somewhat at loss of news. So if anyone has any news of a social (or un-social) nature, that he thinks would look good in print, send it along to this column.

We assure one and all that all our spies are kept in strict confidence and we never break a trust. (We read that in an old copy of the Inquirer that was wrapped around Glancey's lunch). Well, that is all for this week so until next Tuesday when . . .

Meet the Boys

By GEORGE ELSESSER, A.S. and GEORGE AULBACK, A.S.

NEW term, new faces, and two new dopes writing this column. But seriously, fellows, we hope you like it and will make allowances when you compare it with last year's column by Tom Welch for he was an experienced and capable writer. We may only hope to do half as well.

But let us get to the business at hand. The three men whom we are presenting this week need no introduction and even the frosh will bear us out on this point. So with no further adieu we will go right into their lives and probably come out with only a few bruises and scratches (we hope).

OUR first victim (and we do mean victim) is that Dean of Men from Delurey Hall, Alfred Victor Dumsa. Al hails from Waterbury, Conecticut; the greatest place on earth and if you don't believe us, just ask him. H. P., as Al is known to his friends, first graced Waterbury with his presence on January 14, 1925. He attended St. Joseph's Parochial School in the afore-mentioned town, and then went on to Crosby High School which, incidentally, happens to be in the rolling hills of Connecticut (if we don't get something from the Chamber of Commerce now, we'll give up). At Crosby High, he played a little baseball and basketball and just to keep himself occupied in the evenigs, he worked in a sporting goods store.

AL DUMSA

After graduating from High School, H. P. worked for several months before matriculating at Villanova on February 1, 1943, in the school of Mehanical Engineering. Al was a little quiet his first year here, his only extra-curricular activities being intramural softball, baseball and basketball. However, in Sophomore year, Mister Dumsa began to make a name for himself. He joined the Phi Kappa Pi, of which he is now secretary; and the Sanctuary Society. At present he is Vice-President of the Senior Class, Business Manager of the 1945 Belle Air, and a member of the reincarnated Orientation Committee. Victor has also been a committee member for most of the dances held here since his Sophomore year.

When "Red Buttons" O'Connor left last semester, he appointed H. P. the Custodian of Women at Rosemont College. Besides, Rosemont, he is also a big man with the Harcum girls, but his heart really belongs to Rosemont.

Al desires to find a position with an engineering concern in that great section of the country which he loves so well, New England.

NEXT in line we have another New Englander and also a resident of Delurey Hall in the person of Francis Daniel Ronan.

Frank was born on March 26, 1921 in Lawrence, Massachusetts. While still young, the Ronans

ALMA MATER

When the twilight shadows gather
Out upon the campus green
When the blue and purple night
Comes stealing on the scene;
Loyal sons of Villanova
Sing a hymn of praise
To our dear old ALMA MATER
And our college days.

Villanova, Villanova,
When we leave your shelt'ring walls,
We shall leave an echo ringing
Through your treasured halls;
We will leave an echo ringing
In the silent night
While our memories are singing
Of the Blue and White.

When the last big game is over
And the last roll call is heard
When the oldest pedagogue
Has had his final word
We shall come to ALMA MATER
In our dreams again
With a pray'r for Villanova
And a sweet amen.

FIGHT SONG

I'll sing you a song of college days,
I'll tell you where to go:
Johns Hopkins for your Knowledge,
Cornell to learn to row;
To Harvard for your dandy dudes,
Villanova for your men.
To Bryn Mawr for your pretty girls,
For hard luck, go to Penn.

Hand me down my bonnet,
Hand me down my shawl,
Hand me down my calico dress,
And I'll go to the Calico Ball.

First she gave me honey,
Then she gave me cake,
Then she gave me gingerbread
And sent me out the gate.

As we go marching, and the
Band begins to P-L-A-Y,
You can hear the people shouting:
Villanova's out to win today.

Villanova White,
Villanova Blue,
Villanova, Villanova,
We'll be true to you;

Villanova Blue,
Villanova White,
Villanova, Villanova,
You're all right!

Hooray for the Wildcats,
Damn Right!

D. P. E.

Delta Pi Epsilon, the Commerce and Finance Fraternity, is planning a very active season during the coming semester. Events scheduled for early in the semester include election of officers, initiation of new members and possibly a smoker.

An important sign of the organization's return to active campus life are the plans for the resumption of the Financier's Frolic, the annual formal dance which was such a big campus event in the past.

The time of the first meeting of the frat has not yet been decided upon but it will be announced in the near future.

A. S. C. E.

The Villanova Student Chapter of The American Society Of Civil Engineers held its first meeting of the semester on Thursday.

Nominations were taken for the various offices and votes were cast.

Richard J. Madigan, A.S., U.S.N.R., former secretary-treasurer of the A.S.C.E. and a star member of last season's basketball team, was elected president.

The vote for Vice-President ended in a tie between Pvt. Burton Cox, U.S.M.C.R., former Vice-President and star trackman, and John W. Coyne, Business Manager of the Villanovan and Master at Arms of Phi Kappa Pi, Villanova's engineer-

Fr. Stanford Gets Honorary Degree

Among the five honorary degrees conferred by the University of Pennsylvania at graduation exercises held on June 28th, in Irvine Auditorium, 34th and Spruce Sts., was Fr. Edward V. Stanford, O.S.A., former President of Villanova, and at present, Rector of the Augustinian College, Washington, D. C.

REV. EDWARD V. STANFORD, O.S.A.

The citation for the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, conferred upon Fr. Stanford, reads in part:

"You have been an officer and member of many public and educational committees, associations, and societies. Recently you have been a member of the committee on the relationship of higher education to the Federal Government of the American Council on Education, and a consultant to the United States Navy, Bureau of Personnel.

"Of holy calling, teaching has been your mission, administration your assignment, until the war made you also the wise adviser of your fellow educators and the trusted counselor of your Government."

structor in Religion at Villanova.

Of the four priests who are teaching at Villanova for the summer months, one, Rev. William J. Wynne, O.S.A., is on the faculty at the Summer School being held in Rosemont College. Fr. Wynne, who hails from Springfield, Massachusetts, is an Instructor in Library Science.

Rev. William J. Krupa, O.S.A., who is Instructor in Public Speaking, has been appointed to St. Mary's Hall, where he will serve in the capacity of Procurator. Fr. Krupa, a native of Lancaster, Pa., was ordained to the Priesthood in 1944, and received the degree Master of Arts from Catholic University this year.

REV. JAMES E. HANNON, O.S.A.

Rev. Joseph A. Flaherty, O.S.A., instructing in English, is a native Philadelphian. Ordained to the Priesthood in 1943, he won a degree of Master of Arts at Catholic University in Washington and is pursuing further studies at Harvard University during the fall and winter months.

Rev. Albert C. Shannon, O.S.A., Instructor in History, was born in Brookville, Pa. He was ordained to the Priesthood in 1944 and received the degree Master of Arts at Catholic University. In the fall he will continue his studies at Columbia University in New York.

Villanovans at the Front

ancient Shuri castle, military hub and nerve center of the enemy's line across suorthern Okinawa.

"'We used our guns like sniper rifles,' Bittig said, 'to fire at the Japs in caves inside the draw.'

"The lieutenant also used his guns to shell enemy positions on Hill 57, nicknamed Beehive Hill, the hill to Wana draw, which the Marines captured in a five-hour fight."

As a member of the Villanovan staff, Lt. Bittig inaugurated the popular column FROM CAMP TO CAMPUS bringing news of Villanova's fighting sons on the world's far flung battle front. He was also a member of the C & F fraternity, the Spanish Club, and gave his support to many of the extra-curricular activities of College life.

Pfc. William E. Conroy, Jr., ex'32

A former C & F student, was fatally wounded on Okinawa, May 9th, and died a few hours after being carried from the battlefield. Son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Conroy, of 301 E. Main St., Moorestown N. J., Pfc. Conroy entered Villanova in September, 1928, withdrawing the following February.

PFC. WILLIAM CONROY

He entered the Army on April 2, 1942, and was sent to Fort Jackson, South Carolina and infantry training with the 77th Division. Later he was sent to California for desert training, transferring to Indiantown Gap at the end of this training. From there he was sent to Fort Pickett, Va., from which location he was sent overseas in February of 1944. He was wounded in the Guam invasion, August, 10, 1944, and received the Purple Heart. Later he participated in the Leyte and Iwo Jima invasions and also on a small island in the Ruykyu group.

L. Charles J. Cooke, '38, USNR

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Cooke, 20 Cannon Street, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Lt. Cook was killed instantly on April 24th, somewhere in England, and to quote from the official report: "In the performance of his duty and in the service of his country." Following the Requiem Mass which was said for him, he was buried with full military honors in the military cemetery at Cambridge, England.

Charles entered the service as an Ensign in the Naval Reserve in Detroit, December 24, 1941. He was immediately sent to Chicago and from thence to St. Louis. As a member of the Naval Intelligence he covered the entire state of Missouri and did some work in adjacent states. Later transferred to the Eastern Seaboard, he operated out of Philadelphia and New York City. In November of 1943, he married Miss Mary Hart of Poughkeepsie, going overseas in February 1944. He was assigned to the Port Director's offices at Liverpool, Bristol, Swansea and he assisted in supplying ships with men, supplies and ammunition for the invasion of the Normandy coast. He was the Omaha Beach-head on D-Day. Foregoing a furlough to return to the United States, last February, Lt. Cook preferred to remain in Europe and see the war through to a victorious end.

Charlie entered Villanova as an Arts Student in September 1934, graduating in June of '38. During his stay on the campus, he was a member of the Orientation Committee; Sophomore Cotillion; Music Club; Belle Masque Society and the Intramurals.

Lt. John F. Geraghty, Jr., '37, (M. C.) USN

Attached to an ACORN unit, as flight surgeon, Lt. John F. Geraghty was killed in action, somewhere in the Philippines on June 24th. No details of John's death are as yet available, except that he was on duty on a bomber strip on Luzon.

Lt. Geraghty entered Villanova in September 1933 as a Pre-medical student, graduating in June of '37. Following his graduation from Jefferson Medical College in 1941, he interned at the Philadelphia General Hospital. He received his commission in the Naval Reserve in July '42 and in the following September was transferred to the regular Navy as a Lieutenant, junior grade. He saw service at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., training as pilot and flight surgeon, until June of '43. He was next assigned to the Seattle Naval Air Station, with flight duty in the Aleutian Islands, leaving for the Philippines in September of last year.

Dr. Geraghty was married to Miss Isabel Carson of Sharon Hill, Pa., on January 24, 1942. Their first child, Brian Carson Geraghty, was born on June 7, 1945. Besides his wife and son, John is survived by his father, John B. Geraghty, of 91 S. Wycombe Ave., Lansdowne, Pa.

During his student days at Villanova, Lt. Geraghty was a member of the Villanovan staff as Sport's Editor in 1936 and '37. He was center on the Freshman football squad in 1933 and on the 150 lb. team in '35 and '36.

Fr. Edwin Grimes, the College Chaplain, has celebrated Requiem Memorial Mass for each of the deceased during the past week. This is a custom of long standing at Villanova, and Father Grimes points out that Mass has been celebrated in the College Chapel for all Villanovans killed, who are remembered in the prayers of the students as well.

WOUNDED IN ACTION

News has also been received in recent weeks that the following have been wounded in battle. Pfc. Gregory A. D'Angelo, ex '44, with 6th Marine Division, was wounded on Okinawa and has been awarded the Purple Heart. T/5 James A. Kivlin, ex '43, was wounded in Germany and is at present stationed at the Fitzsimmons General Hospital, Denver, Colorado. Lt. Comdr. Gerald McAteer, '33, M. C., USNR, was wounded in action aboard the aircraft carrier USS Hornet in the battle of Santa Cruz in October of '42, in which action the Hornet was sunk. Lt. Comdr. McAteer, is now senior medical officer aboard the USS Chicago. Pfc. John E. Skorka, ex '45, was wounded on March 16, 1945, nine days after crossing the Rhine, during the Remagen Bridgehead. Arriving back in the States on May 5th, he was stationed at the Halloran Hospital, Staten Island, N. Y., later transferring to the Deshon General Hospital, Butler, Pa., where he is at present. Also a patient in the same hospital with John, is Pfc. Loui Mascocchi, '44, who was also wounded in Germany in the early part of the present year.

Camp To Campus

By ROBERT J. CONWAY

With the beginning of the third summer semester, we look into the mailbag, hoping to find it full, and we hear that Lieut. George N. Shahood '45 ran into a whole host of the boys in Pearl Harbor including Jack "the rassler" Donoghue, Bill Gagen, Dick Breen and Leo White. Congratulations to Dom Parrone on graduation from Quartermaster School in Gulfpoint, Miss.

Pre-Med Pvt. Nick Albano Jr. is now Ward-master in a Convalescent hospital in Nuremberg, Germany. Nick was one of the old-timers stationed in Simpson Hall and also one of the Hague clan from Jersey City. Things are buzzing with the arrival of the two bridge fiends of Mendel Hall at Great Lakes. Watch your steps "Sol" Fliesher and Bill Pease. Pvt. Daniel F. Shields, who is now recovering in a hospital near Toul France, tells us that Norm Schoorover is stationed in the Austrian Alps near Innsbruck.

We are glad to hear from recently promoted First Lieut. Jack R. Sutton who was wounded for the second time on Okinawa and removed to the hospital ship, U.S.S. Solace and taken care of at the Naval Hospital at Tinian. He also says that he was near Bob Nealon the night that Bob was wounded in the battle of Sugar Loaf, and glad to say that the Chaplain was with him when he died. It has also been called to our attention that when the men reached the city of Naha on Okinawa they found two Catholic Churches and a Catholic Japanese Priest.

Summer finds our football hero, Bob David, and the dependable lineman, Frank Eye, in Marine OCS at Quantico. S/C Jimmy Day writes from Manhattan Beach Coast Guard that thanks to his Chem course he has been assigned to the Medical Department there.

Flash! Naval Lieut. Jimmy "Birdlegs" Halpin raised the old school spirit considerably when from Florida he shipped a first class "Wildcat". Although he is still in the baby stage, "Birdlegs" thinks that he would make a good lineman when the team moves into West Point. To date "Wildcat" has dug his teeth into two people.

C. & F. Cpl. Tom Gowen sent pictures of the destruction of the Augustinian College and Convent at Iloilo in the Philippines where four Villanova Priests were teaching at the time of Pearl Harbor. "The damage is the result of poor reconnaissance work by the Guerillas; they reported one of the buildings to be Japanese Headquarters and were ordered to reduce it rather than chance American lives in what could have been another Bastegone."

As we open the last letter in the mail bag we find that Staff Sgt. Dick Franco down on Biak Island in the Netherlands East Indies has no company but natives and insects and too much of the latter. His pet gripe is that when he planted his Victory garden the insects never touched it until the blossoms were all over the place and then they moved in and ate everything but the roots.

New Semester Finds Last Year's Graduates Far Apart

This semester finds many of the former V-12 trainees here at Villanova scattered far and wide about the country.

Most of last term's graduates are now in Midshipmen or Pre-Midshipmen Schools, while most of the Pre-Med students are soon to be in Medical Schools. Villanova is well represented at the various schools and we hope soon to get some correspondence from our former schoolmates.

The following shows the stations to which the boys have been transferred:

Fr. Mc Quade Made Head of Vets' Bureau

Rev. Vincent McQuade, O.S.A., Assistant Professor of Social Sciences here at the College has been named Chairman of the Veterans' Guidance Bureau and Faculty Moderator of the Villanova Veterans' Club.

REV. VINCENT A. McQUADE, O.S.A.

The bureau which Fr. McQuade heads is composed of nine members of the faculty who are in charge of the various aspects of the program. The academic advisers of the bureau are: Rev. Francis Diehl, O.S.A., Assistant Professor of Education and Psychology; Dr. William McHugh, Professor of Education; and Dr. Leo Brown, Assistant Professor of Education.

Rev. Edwin Grimes, O.S.A., the College Chaplain is adviser on religious problems, and Mr. William Henry, Assistant Professor of Business Administration, is adviser on legal problems. Adviser in the field of medical problems is Dr. Paul Loefflad, College Physician, while Mr. John Dever, Controller, is adviser on financial problems.

Fr. McQuade is also moderator of the recently-formed Villanova Veterans Club. The club held elections last month and Harry Edwards was elected President.

The club is planning numerous activities for next semester and all discharged servicemen are invited to join.

moved to Andover, Massachusetts where Francis attended St. Augustine's Parochial School and the story is told that Frank started smoking a pipe in first grade. He next traveled back to his native Lawrence to attend the Central Catholic High where he played a little hockey and did some camera work and writing for the school paper. He graduated from Lawrence Central Catholic in 1939.

Francis matriculated at Boston College in September 1942. After studying for a year at B. C., he decided to change schools, enrolling here at Villanova in March 1944, in the School of Electrical Engineering. He has been a very busy little man. The Phi Kappa Pi, Student Council, A.I.E.E., and newspaper business have taken up most of his free time here. Along with these other activities, Frank has worked on many of the dance committees and various other school activities, being chairman of the orientation committee at the present time.

Mr. Ronan, like Mr. Dumsa is affiliated with the several girls' schools around. However, Frank has a main attractions for Mary from Boston.

Frank desires to secure a position with an engineering company in his beloved New England after completing his course of studies here.

LAST, but by no means least, we present John T. Clancey who hails from the City of Brotherly Love, Philadelphia. Jack first saw the light of day on June 18, 1925. After attending Our Lady of Holy Soul's Parochial School, he went to Roman Catholic High. While at Roman, Glancey wrote for the school paper and magazine.

In the middle of his senior year, John left Roman and matriculated at Villanova in the school of Electrical Engineering. This was in accordance with the three and one-half year education plan devised to permit students to get some college credits before going into the service. Jack has devoted most of his spare time to affairs of the A.I.E.E. and the Phi Kappa Pi since his registration here at Villanova. However, he has never been too busy to give a helping hand at dances. John will also be remembered as a member of the present orientation committee.

Glancey has no definite plans for the future, but he hopes to find a place with an electrical engi[illegible]ering company in or near Phi[illegible]elphia.

Well, that's it, and anyhow you probably didn't get this far so we might just as well say so long.

"Bye George."

"Bye George."

Freshman Rules Announced For Coming Semester

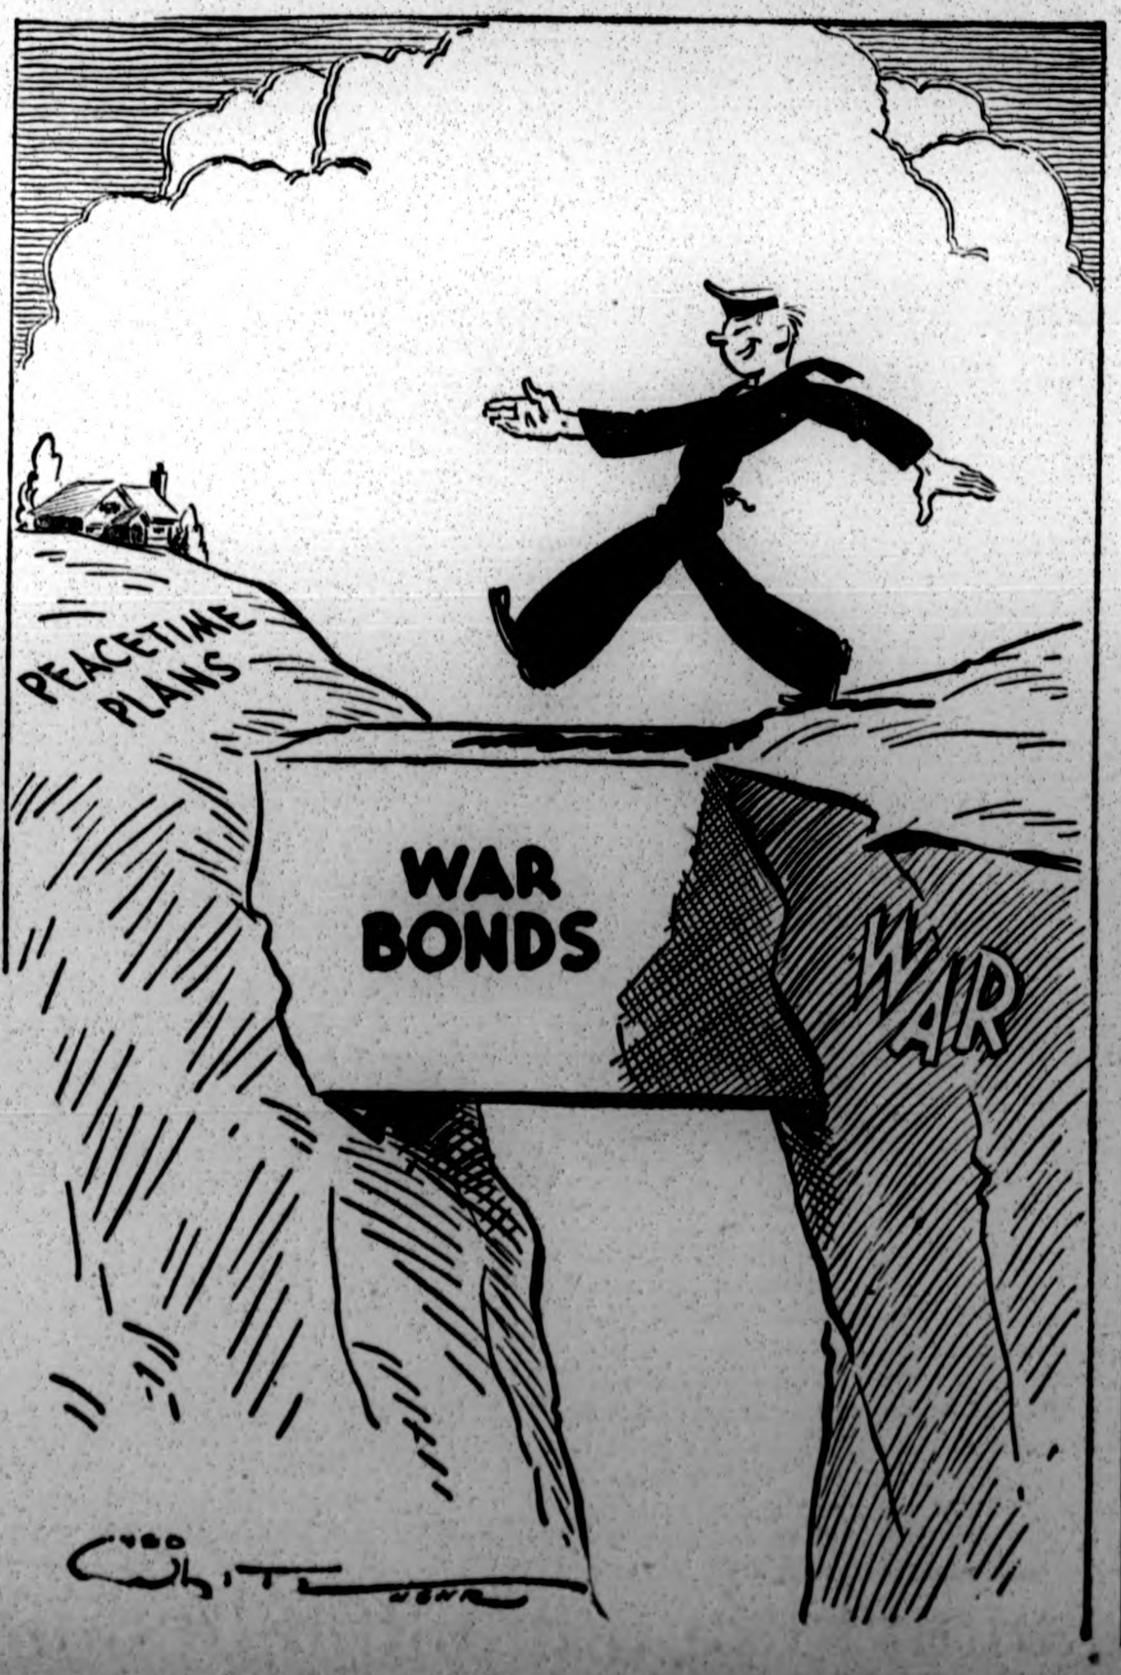
under the accelerated program and serious attention to school work is necessary.

The beginning of a new semester is a good time to take stock of our academic standing. The hot summer months are yet to come, during which time it will be espe[illegible]lly difficult to concentrate on study. First things first, [illegible] in college, work is the first thing.

To the Frosh, then, we would like to advise them to devote their energies first to studies and then to the support of campus activities and organizations and we can assure them that their stay at Villanova will be a happy one.



ATTENTION SERVICEMEN

VILLANOVA COLLEGE PENNSYLVANIA

PURPOSE—The G. I. Veteran is entitled to any level of education for which he can qualify including undergraduate or graduate studies at a college, university, high school or vocational institution. The Veteran may make his own choice of the school, etc., anywhere in the United States.

EXTENT—90 days of active service entitles the Veteran to education or training, or a refresher or retraining course at an approved institution for a period of one year. If he completes the first year satisfactorily, he is entitled in addition to as many years or months of training as he served altogether in active service from September 16, 1940, to the end of the war. If the Veteran's length of service is sufficient and he qualifies otherwise he may have a total of four years of education.

EXPENSES—The Veteran's expense for tuition, fees, books and equipment, up to $500 for each ordinary academic year, will be paid by the government. In addition he will receive $50 a month for subsistence or $75 if he has one or more dependents.

HOW TO APPLY—Application should be made on Veterans Administration Form 1950, which can be obtained, after the Veteran is discharged, from regional offices of the Veterans Administration or from any educational institution.

SPECIAL NOTE—Disabled Veterans are eligible for additional educational services under another Bill.

Fighting Fedigan Again Sweeps I-M League

Femiano Leading Pitcher and Most Valuable Player; Marines Runners-Up With Three All-Stars

By MEL ALPERT, A.S.

The marauding mariners from Fedigan sailed into an easy intramural softball pennant last semester. The Navy aggregation, more affectionately known as the "Alleycats," finished the second half of the Spring season unbeaten and a full three games in front of the second place Marines.

Fedigan started the season with a well balanced outfit and through out the campaign exhibited good, though not sensational, baseball. Probably the salient factor contributing to their impressive string of victories was the team spirit, the college try, the "get out there and win" spirit they displayed in every game. Several of the encounters were hotly contested but the sailors' consistent fielding and timely hitting enabled them, on each occasion, to take the measure of their more erratic opponents.

Femiano Leading Pitcher

Dom Femiano, now at Midshipman's School, was the backbone of the mound staff. He was fast, had good control, and could really bear down when necessary. Bob Wilson was on the receiving end of Dom's fast ball most of the season and played a smart game at second when he was relieved behind the plate. George Hoberg completed three years of errorless ball in the left field spot with Fedigan and is now at Midshipman's School too.

In the play off game which made Fedigan victor in the first half of the tournament, Madigan, brilliant center fielder, made a sensational over the shoulder catch that they are still talking about. It saved the game. Dick is back in his center field spot again this semester with the newly formed Fedigan A team.

The sailors' clean-up spot was filled by Hank Strauss, reliable short fielder, who really did a potent job with the heavy stick. Hank connected for a homer against Austin which most regard as a new record. It disappeared far out in left center and there are plenty of fans who are willing to bet it's still going. Austin's 2-1 Win Opens New Season

By HENRY WARD, A.S.

At the end of the first week of competition, Austin B, sparked by Don Boos' spectacular pitching, leads the Intramural Softball League with two wins and no losses. Austin A team, wtih one win and no losses, is second, followed by Fedigan A, with one win and one loss. Mendel and Del-Si follow far behind.

On Monday night Don Boos pitched Austin B to a 2-1 victory over Dick Madigan's Fedigan A team. Madigan made 3 hits while the victors made 4 safeties. Austin A handed Mendel a 15-5 shellacking as almost the entire Austin lineup scored.

Boos Hurls One-Hitter

Tuesday's and Wednesday's games were cancelled due to inclement weather so Fedigan B team has yet to make its debut. Friday night Boos pitched Austin B to a one hit, 15-0 shutout over Del-Si. Finerty of Del-Si ruined Boos' nohitter by singling in the final inning but it was to no avail as he was left stranded on the bases. Bombick, Anderson, and Williams, with 3 hits and 3 runs apiece, led the Austin attack, which placed their team in first place in the League standings.

Fedigan A defeated Mendel 7-6, in a closely fought encounter on Friday night. Walt Huber was the winning pitcher and was supported brilliantly by Bill Burr at third

With the opening of the summer semester, what had previously promised to be a morbid season for the sports world of Villanova, has completely vanished. A sports program which is quite full and complete has come from out of nowhere. The only thing missing this summer will be the varsity baseball nine.

—V—

Due to the laudable job by Fathers Kemme and Girolami, the intramural softball league will be bigger and better this summer. Austin and Fedigan Halls will have two teams this semester instead of the usual one per hall. Mendel will have their team of Freshmen and Delurey and Simpson Halls have been combined to put a team on the field. Some of the games have already been played at this writing and from what we have seen, a tight race is to be expected.

—V—

Jordan Olivar, our head football coach and his staff appeared all smiles on the opening day by virtue of the fine material which they now have. Navy and Marine transfers plus returning veterans and some Freshmen who played high school ball presented Ollie with the nucleus of what could easily be a banner team for the Wildcats. Ollie intends to start practice in a very few weeks.

—V—

Next on the docket is an affair which has been dormant for some time here at Villanova. Under the able direction of Fred Koch, in conjunction with the Faculty moderators, a tennis tournament has been planned for all hands on the campus, including officers and enlisted men in Ship's Company and the Faculty. A trophy is to be awarded to the winners. This is another

Blue and White Rooters To See Team Twice at Home

Schedule Includes Army, Navy and Tennessee; Boston College and Holy Cross Also Listec

By PVT. LEM WENTLING

After several months of negotiations, Reverend Edward B. McKee, O.S.A., Director of Athletics at Villanova College, has finally completed the varsity football schedule for the next year. Starting off on September 22, the Blue and White are slated to play every week for nine weeks right up to November 17th.

The schedule, one of the toughest faced by the Wildcat gridmen in many years, will be highlighted by Army and Navy, the two top teams of the nation last year, and Tennessee, the Rose Bowl eleven of last season.

Two Home Games

Although there are nine games, Villanova will only be able to see their team in action, at the home field, on two occasions. The Wildcats will entertain Detroit and Sampson. Besides Army, Navy and Tennessee, the locals will call on Marquette, Holy Cross and Boston College.

Bucknell, the most traditional rival, will open the season at Lewisburg. In the past, the Villanova Bucknell game has always been a colorful contest with plenty of thrills. The nineteen game series against the Bisons dates back to 1900. The men from Lewisburg came out on top eleven times while the Wildcats won six and tied two. The last time the Cats won out was in 1943 when they dominated 12-8. Last year the Bisons took their turn and won 27-6.

Villanova will resume relations with Navy after a lapse of twenty-seven years. Navy has won three out of the four times in which the two schools have met. In 1908 the Middies came out in front 30-6. The following year the Villanovans got their revenge with an 11-6 setback. In 1916 and 1917, during World War I, when Navy was the cream of the nation, she trounced the locals 57-7 and 80-3.

Brilliant Victory

Marquette will be meeting a Villanova team for the second time. In their last meeting in 1937 the Cats scored a brilliant victory, 25-7. This coming autumn's contest marks only the fourth time the Main Liners have played against Holy Cross. In the three previous contests, the Crusaders came out on top. In 1922 they beat the Cats 14-0, in 1943 they squeezed out a 12-7 victory and last season they bested us again 26-0.

The Detroit series is a comparatively short one and dates back to 1931. The last meeting was in 1942 when the Cats were victorious 9-0. This gave them a 6-4 edge in the twelve game series which included two ties. The most decisive victory went to the Titans in 1932 when they won 28-12. In 1935 the teams met other twice in the same season and the Blue and White has held the edge from then until 1940.

Only New Team

Tennessee is the only team which the Wildcats have not previously met. This year's game is expected to the first of a future series.

Army is not a newcomer to Villanova's schedules since these two teams have met eleven times since 1908. With the exception of a scoreless tie in 1913, the Cadets have prevailed in all but one of these contests, that being in 1915 when the cats won 16-13.

Wartime Innovation

Sampson is a wartime innovation to the Wildcat roster. They have previously been met twice. In 1943 the Sailors took a 17-7 win. The decisions reversed last year, however, as the Villanovans blocked an all important kick to reward their gallant stand and win the ball game 7-6.

The Boston College games will mark a resumption in relations which were suspended in 1943 when the Beantowners won 6-0. This was another gallant stand in which the winners crossed the goal line in the last minute of a bitterly fought

Burt Cox Wins National Event In New York Meet

Marine Trainee Beats Defender of Hop, Skip, and Jump Title in Recent Contest

Burt Cox, Marine trainee, proved his superiority in the Hop, Skip and Jump event by annexing two National A.A.U. titles on successive days. He took his first title on Friday, June 29, when the only representative of the Blue and White leaped to victory with a jump of forty-four feet, one and one-half inches. In this event he outdistanced the field to win with comparative ease by the margin of a foot.

However, on Saturday, in the Senior championships, Burt had a tough job on his hands to beat Don Barksdale, formed L.S.U. standard-bearer and last year's champion. Barksdale produced a fine effort with a leap of forty-five feet, six and one-half inches and was almost ready to walk away with his second title when Burt's competitive spirit and natural stride showed itself to great advantage and when he hit the white board he sailed to the Senior championship with his best effort in the Hop, Step and Jump so far.

Barksdale, winner of the Penn Relays high jump last year and Hop, Step and Jump titleholder at Franklin Field seemed to be in splendid condition. He high-jumped six feet, three and three-quarter inches, yet his Army conditioning could not help him beat Cox's splendid leap. Cox's jump is all the more surprising because of the little chance he has had to practice. In the few meets in which he has been able to display his natural ability to win, he outshone the rest of the field, but his effort far surpasses all his other feats and marks him as the man to beat in both the broad jump and the hop, step and jump event.

CAMPUS TENNIS TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD EARLY IN AUGUST

By FRED KOCH, A. S.

In order to promote intramural tennis on the campus, a singles tennis tournament will be held on the college courts from August 6 to 10. The tournament will be divided into two classes, A and B. Class A will be for experienced players and Class B will be for those who are only fair at the game. This plan will give all the players on the campus an equal chance at the prizes.

The week of July 30 to August 3 will be set aside in order to seed the players into their respective classes, so they are paired equally for the tournament. The tournament starts August 6 and will end around August 10.

Trophy for Winner

Those who enter will be charged an entry fee of twenty-five cents, which will cover the cost of the prizes. It has been planned to give a trophy to the winner in each class and the money which remains will be divided among the victors in the two classes. The awarding of prizes is still undecided, until it is seen how many entries are forthcoming.

The tournament is open to members of the faculty, officers and NCO's of Ship's Company, civilian students, and Navy and Marine trainees.

Those wishing to enter may do so by printing their name, the class in which they wish to compete, and the day and time they would desire to play, on an entry blank which may be secured at the Villanovan office. It is suggested that two days be specified in case there are too many listed for any particular day. The entries close on July 27. Since there is not too much time remaining, let's get going and make this a really successful tournament.

Divided Palyoff

Seeing the members of the Faculty, the officers and enlisted men of Ship's Company and all College students here are invited to enter the tournament, plans are being formulated to have the winners in each division meet the winner of another division in the playoffs. For instance, the winner of the Students will meet the winner of Ship's Company, and the winner of the Navy and Marine contestants will meet the winner of the Faculty division. The meet will be run in the utmost of fairness and equality. All entrants will be correctly seeded by the board in charge of the tournament.

Track Prospects Good; Cox, Autry, Short Are Back

With promise of a track meet this semester, the tentative squad appears to Father McQuade a promising one although only a few members are tried. No meetings have been held as yet but the squad looms as a track power if the new trainees and freshmen who have had previous track experience will show up.

Again, the backbone of the squad will probably be Burt Cox. His versatility in the dashes, broad jump and high jump was well-proven by his stellar performance in the Metropolitan Philadelphia Intercollegiate Meet and he should prove himself the main cog this semester after sensationally copping two National A.A.U. titles in June.

Beals, Short Back

Helping him to garner points will be Tom Short, who showed great promise as a dash man, 220 and upwards, in several local meets lately. Len Autrey, lanky Texan, will try again to produce five points in both the pole vault and high jump. Danny Redmond and Joe Beals will each fill one of Don Schmitt's large shoes in both the mile and half-mile events. Jimmy Breene, only civilian on last semester's team and former St. Joseph's Prep timber-topper, will compete in the hurdle events.

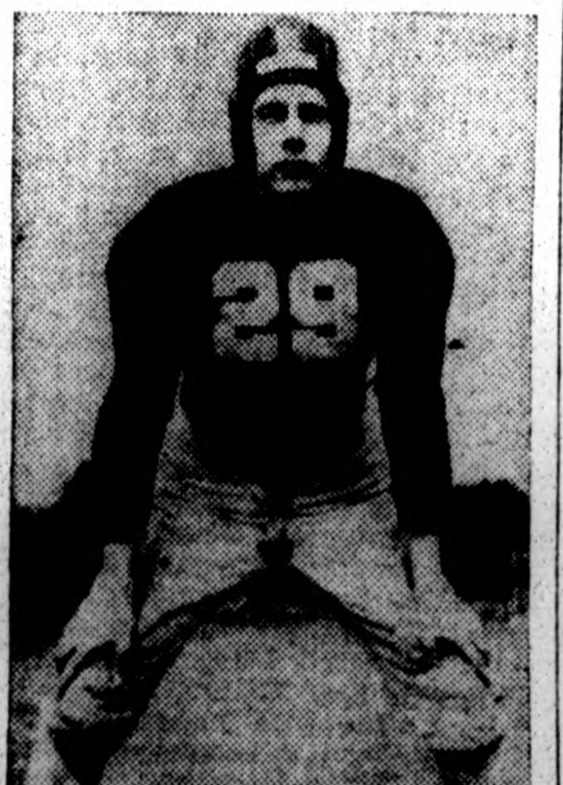
Among the newcomers to Villanova is Jack Glascott, Jr., Marine trainee, who may compete in the hurdle events. He is a former Catholic Leagle titleholder and performed brilliantly for Roman Catholic for three years. He is the son of Jack Glascott, assistant track coach at Penn to the great Lawson Robertson. These and the new freshmen will round out a promising powerhouse.

In The Sportlight

By BOB H. MANSKE

Since the war Villanova's varsity teams have had their ups and downs, but even with these, they have put forth some very outstanding athletes.

One of these is Bucky Williams, who has given Villanova that extra something on the football at all times. Bucky, who has one beautiful love for the good old South, was born on May 6, 1923, in South Boston, Virginia. Right from the beginning of his Freshman year in South Boston High School, Bucky was an active participant in sports. His Freshman year found him wrapped up in football, basketball golf and tennis.



Three Letter Man

When Bucky graduated from South Boston High, he was tabbed as a three letter man. These he attained through football, basketball and tennis.

Williams then entered Virginia Military Institute in September of 1942 where he was a member of the varsity football team. He also took to wrestling during this time. Here at VMI he was under the able guidance of Pooley Hubert, the great All American quarterback from Alabama. It was in 1942 when Bucky answered his country's call by joining the Navy. His next stop was at Bainbridge where he received his boot training. On July 1 of 1943, Bucky was assigned to Villanova under the Navy's recently inaugurated College Training Program.

Fleet and Agile Halfback

Williams, who is now in his last semester, was a first string halfback for the last two seasons. He threw many a scare into the opposition with his terrific line plunging, end runs and smooth ball handling.

After the first few games last Fall, Bucky was one of the leading scorers in the country. However, an injury then sidelined him and he wasn't able to play again that season. This crushed his scoring column. Beyond the shadow of a doubt, he would have stayed right up there in the pay column had it not been for his injury. Regardless of the fact that he did not play the last several games, he was chosen captain of the 1944 Villanova team.

Besides football, Williams has made a name for himself in many other extracurricular activities. Buck has played intramural baseball and basketball. He is an officer in the American Institute of Electrical Engineers Society here and is a member of the Phi Kappa Pa fraternity. He is studying Electrical Engineering and expects to graduate in October with a Bachelor of Science degree in that subject.

It will be with the deepest regret that Villanova says "Hail and farewell" to Bucky in the Fall.

figure to be added to an already fine program of summer sports.

—V—

The Villanova Track team will function again this summer under the tutoring of Father McQuade. Those who were here last semester will remember the noble showing at the various meets of this team last semester. Among the cindermen returning for this season are Burton Cox, Tom Short, Ken Robertson and Joe Beals. Many new men has also responded to the call for candidates and from the Track angle the sports picture seems to be 4.0.

—V—

With a longing still in their hearts for the hard ball diamond, some of the baseball players have started a movement for intramural hardball. Enough men have signed up to date to form three teams. It likewise has been a long time since intramural hardball has been played on Villanova diamonds. Father McKee has given his permission for the arranging of such a schedule, but as yet no action has been taken. There are definitely some top-notch hardball players on the campus who will sit idle all summer if no plans for hardball are made.

—V—

A new personality arrived on the campus last week which startled many people. A live wildcat, the new VILLANOVAN WILDCAT, sent by Corporal Tom Halpin, a former Villanovan student. The mascot is still a kitten, but by the time the football season rolls around, it should be full-grown and mighty ferocious! We all hope that it will inspire an up and coming team to be just as ferocious and place another Villanova eleven along with great football teams.

—V—

As a last note, I would remind the new men and the Frosh to get behind their teams for the simple reason that even the best of teams need all the backing and rooters they can get. Villanova has some fine athletes and its up to you to fight with them in spirit and give them their break.

mander last semester, patrolled the first base area and was another dangerous man with the war club.

Well Rounded Team

The big surprise of the year was Bill Cooke who filled in behind the plate as if he'd been catching all his life. Joe Sulock played the hot corner and made even the impossible ones seem easy. Walt Huber divided his time between the outfield and the mound. He was used principally as a relief hurler and pullled several games out of the fire. Other fine players who rounded out the squad were George Farrel, shortstop; Joe Walters and Joe Costello infielders and Mike Krak, outfield.

After deep deliberation, the Sports Staff of the Villanovan have released their selections for the Intramural Allstar Team. The selections were made on the basis of hitting, fielding and all around good sportsmanship. The team is as follows:

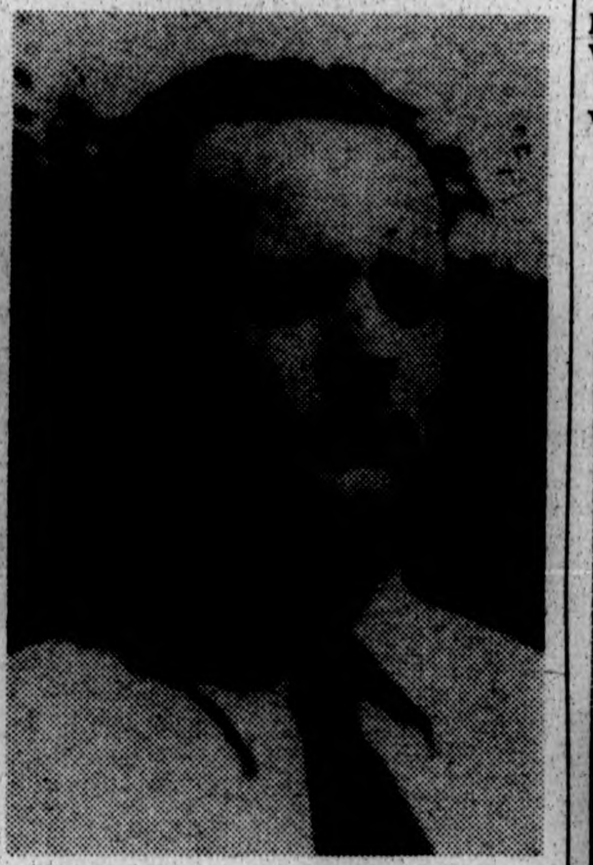
Chief Specialist (A) Hayes Replaces Weigle In Navy PT Department Here

Will Instruct Swimmers With "Athletic Spirit" Motive; Endorses "Buddy System" of Swimming

Direct from Bainbridge Naval Training Center comes our new Chief Specialist (A), Millard C. Hayes. Slated to head the V-12 Physical Training Program, he hopes to develop an "athletic spirit" among the men of the unit by means of competition, placing physical education on a competitive basis. Although he realizes the importance of conditioning, he will not be satisfied with that alone but wishes to augment the main object, conditioning, with this "athletic spirit."

From the Chief Specialist's aim, we turn to his record before he came to Villanova. In Wayland, New York on August 10, 1906, Millard C. Hayes was born. He attended the local high school, Wayland High, and when he graduated in '24, Wayland lost its best athlete for here he earned letters in four sports, football, track, basketball and baseball.

Chief Succeeds —



MILLARD C. HAYES, C Sp A.

Threee Letter Man

After graduation from high school, he attended Dickinson Seminary and Junior College in Williamsport, Pa. Here he took the Arts course and graduated with letters in football, baseball, and track. Next came Carnegie Tech and more glory in both football and basketball. While earning his letters in these sports, he found time to pursue his studies and major in architecture and physical education.

Hayes makes his home in Elmira, N. Y., is married and has two children, Fay, 11, and William 6. Before the war he lived with his wife, Louise, and his occupation for fourteen years was as an officer of the New York State Prison Department.

His position as swimming instructor prompts him to ask that the fellows who use the swimming pool adopt the "buddy" system. Hayes stresses this fact because it is possible for so many accidents to occur when one goes swimming alone, especially if he is not well-versed in the rudiments of swimming and diving.

Replaces Weigle

Chief Hayes comes here as a replacement for Peck Weigle, Sp. A 2/C, who was transferred last week. Weigle has been here for the past eight months with the Physical Training staff. Peck handled many of the swimming classes, and was a member of the inactive Ship's Company basketball team. He formerly played basketball for West Chester State Teachers' College where he was a proficient ballplayer. Weigle came here in November of 1944.

Also affected by this change was Vince Kohler, Sp. A 1/C, who was stationed here for the very short period of two weeks. Vince was not even here long enough to be introduced to you by the Villanovan, and he only handled two or three PT classes. He was transferred along with Weigle.

Lieutenant Kuffel Takes Post Of Executive Officer As Captain Morgan Leaves Base

The new semester finds Lieutenant Stanley Kuffel, USNR, former Athletic Officer of the V-12 Unit, in the post of Executive Officer replacing Captain Robert Morgan, USMCR.

Lieutenant Kuffel comes from the "State of a thousand lakes." He attended several elementary schools due to the fact that his father's job compelled the family to move to several towns. He furthered his education at Technical High School in St. Cloud, Minn. Here he set up an impressive sport record, playing four years of football, baseball and track. Besides having a brilliant sport record he also participated in other activities, namely the school paper and the year book. In his Senior year, he was chosen to be editor of both the school paper and the year book.

In the year 1923, Stanley matriculated to St. Thomas College in St. Paul. Here he continued to show his ability in the Athletic world, in which he had a very good record. During his college days he decided to participate in the rifle club, in which he became a member of the national championship rifle team.

After graduating he returned to St. Cloud to take the position of coach in St. Cloud Cathedral High School. To prove his ability he produced a team that took the state title and on two other occasions were the Northwest Champs. Besides having an excellent baseball team, he had a boxing team that could not be defeated for a period of sixteen years. Incidentally, boxing is Lt. Kuffel's favorite sport.

After having a splendid record, Stanley left St. Cloud to become the superintendent of schools in Browersville, Minn. He remained there for six years, then took a similar job in Dilworth.

In September 1942, Kuffel joined the Navy. He took his boot at Norfolk, Va. After finishing his boot training, he was made a chief specialist. Then he went to Las Cruces, N. M. as instructor, during which time he was commissioned a Lt. (j.g.). Later he was assigned to Muhlenberg College, in Allentown, where he was a Physical Fitness Officer until his arrival here in July 1944.

During his stay at Villanova, he has held many posts, and while he was here, he was promoted to the rank of full Lieutenant.

Captain Robert Morgan, USMCR, member of the Villanova Ship's Company since June of 1943, and former Executive officer, has been assigned to Camp LeJeunne, N. C., for further assignment.

Captain Morgan was also instrumental in the formation of the former Drum and Bugle Corps on the campus and it was his idea and backing that led to the forming of the full military band the Navy and Marines have now formed.

In addition to his work with the band, Captain Morgan was the director of the V-12 Unit's Drilling at the football games at Shibe Park last Fall. It was Captain Morgan who planned and directed the Unit in this special drill.

Navy Group Visits Campus For Inspection

The beginning of this semester found a visiting party from the Bureau of Naval Personnel on the campus. They were here on July 3 and 4 to discuss with the college authorities the various problems connected with the establishment of the N.R.O.T.C. unit at Villanova and also to inspect the facilities of the college.

Members of the party included Captain A. S. Adams, USN (ret.), Special Assistant to the Director of Training, Bureau of Naval Personnel, Commander Scott G. Lamb, USN, Director of Training, Fourth Naval District, Commander Connor, USN, Lieut. Childers, USNR, Lieut. Sturges, USNR, and Lieut. Mothrop, USNR.

Captain Adams gave an address to the Faculty Wednesday, July 4 at 1:00 P. M. after which Father McGuire, President of the College, entertained the group at dinner in the Monastery.

Lts. Miles and Craig Take Over New Duties; Other Changes Made in Personnel

The present semester finds extensive changes in the personnell and organization of the Navy office here at the College. Two new officers have come to this station to teach Naval Science and Lieutenant Kuffel, former Athletic officer, has been named Executive Officer upon the departure of Captain Morgan for another assignment.

The two newcomers who have been added to the officer roster of the college V-12 Program since the last edition of the Villanovan are Lieut. Newton Craig, USNR, and Lieut. Vincent A. Miles, USNR, both of whom are instructors in Naval Science in the V-12 Unit. Both officers have seen considerable active service in the Pacific theater of operations during the past two and one half years.

Lieutenant Miles, who was born Oct. 25, 1912 at Los Angeles, Cal., was stationed at Pearl Harbor as first division officer and assistant gunnery officer on board the USS Regal, a repair ship, when the Japs made their sneak attack on Dec. 7, 1941. The Officer explained his ship suffered considerable damage, having been hit by shell and shrapnel in approximately 275 places.

The West Coast officer is residing with his wife and their two children in Ardmore where they have made their temporary home.

Lieutenant Miles attended schools of Los Angeles and received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Business Administration from the University of Southern California in 1936.

In September of the same year he entered the Navy as Seaman 2/c under the V-5 Navy Program and after preliminary flight training at Long Beach, Cal., received an appointment to Pensacola Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla. He left the air force and returned to Los Angeles where he worked with the Texas Company and as a life underwriter with the Union Central Insurance Co.

He received a reserve commission as an ensign in the USNR in May, 1939 and was called to active duty in April, 1941. Lieutenant Miles took part in moving troops via transport to different sections of the Pacific during the early phases of the war. After 30 months of continuous sea duty, he was returned to the States in December, 1943 to receive additional schooling.

After his return to the United States in 1943, Lieutenant Miles attended the Naval War College at Newport R. I. and then was sent back to the South Pacific. After the battle of Leyte, he was associated with Transport Squadron 15. Returning to this country after his second tour of duty in the Pacific, Lieutenant Miles received his first leave in four years.

He was stationed as an instructor at the University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, N. M., attended the Naval R. O. Instructors School, Williamsburg, Va., and the Firefighter and Damage Control School, Philadelphia, before his transfer to his current post at Villanova.

Lieutenant Craig, who was a practicing attorney prior to his entry into the Navy in April, 1943, hails from Atlanta, Ga., where he attended elementary and secondary schools. He returned to this country June 1 after a 29-month tour of duty in all sections of the Pacific theater. A graduate of the University of North Carolina and the University of Georgia Law School, Lieutenant Craig attended the USNR Midshipman School in New York City in April, 1942.

Lieutenant Craig's mother, Mrs. Newton Craig, lives in Atlanta, Ga. After his midshipman training at New York, Lieutenant Craig was commissioned an ensign in August, 1942 and sent aboard the USS Pinkney, a passenger vessel reconverted for the evacuation of wounded. He served aboard the ship as gunnery officer and senior watch officer.

Lieutenant Craig has seen active duty at Guadalcanal, Iwo Jima, Peliliu Island of the Paul Group and the Leyte and Lingayen campaigns in the Philippines. He was given a two week leave after his arrival in this country from the Pacific and then assigned to his present post at Villanova.

Wedding Bells Sound For Members of Ship's Company

Wedding bells are ringing this week for two campus personalities. Sergeant Charles Dalrymple and Yeoman 3/C Kathleen Dell took their vows Saturday "to love, honor and obey" and will spend their honeymoon and nine-day leaves simultaneously this week at the shore.

The couple were engaged a month ago. Sergeant Dalrymple has been with the Villanova V-12 Unit Ship's Company for eight months, while Miss Dell has been here for ten.

Miss Dell comes from Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, and she met Dalrymple here. As you all recall, their engagement was announced at the play, "I Want To Be An Officer."

The best wishes of the Villanovan and campus personnel go freely and heartily to the newlyweds. Upon their return, Miss Dell will be known as Mrs. Dalrymple.

CAMPUS TENNIS TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD EARLY IN AUGUST

By FRED KOCH, A.S.

In order to promote intramural tennis on the campus, a singles tennis tournament will be held on the college courts from August 6 to 10. The tournament will be divided into two classes, A and B. Class A will be for experienced players and Class B will be for those who are only fair at the game. This plan will give all the players on the campus an equal chance at the prizes.

The week of July 30 to August 3 will be set aside in order to seed the players into their respective classes, so they are paired equally for the tournament. The tournament starts August 6 and will end around August 10.

Trophy for Winner

Those who enter will be charged an entry fee of twenty-five cents, which will cover the cost of the prizes. It has been planned to give a trophy to the winner in each class and the money which remains will be divided among the victors in the two classes. The awarding of prizes is still undecided, until it is seen how many entries are forthcoming.

The tournament is open to members of the faculty, officers and NCO's of Ship's Company, civilian students, and Navy and Marine trainees.

Those wishing to enter may do so by printing their name, the class in which they wish to compete, and the day and time they would desire to play, on an entry blank which may be secured at the Villanovan office. It is suggested that two days be specified in case there are too many listed for any particular day. The entries close on July 27. Since there is not too much time remaining, let's get going and make this a really successful tournament.

Divided Playoff

Seeing the members of the Faculty, the officers and enlisted men of Ship's Company and all College students here are invited to enter the tournament, plans are being formulated to have the winners in each division meet the winner of another division in the playoffs. For instance, the winner of the Students will meet the winner of Ship's Company, and the winner of the Navy and Marine contestants will meet the winner of the Faculty division. The meet will be run in the utmost of fairness and equality. All entrants will be correctly seeded by the board in charge of the tournament.

Track Prospects Good; Cox, Autry, Short Are Back

With promise of a track meet this semester, the tentative squad appears to Father McQuade a promising one although only a few members are tried. No meetings have been held as yet but the squad looms as a track power if the new trainees and freshmen who have had previous track experience will show up.

Again, the backbone of the squad will probably be Burt Cox. His versatility in the dashes, broad jump and high jump was well-proven by his stellar performance in the Metropolitan Philadelphia Intercollegiate Meet and he should prove himself the main cog this semester after sensationally copping two National A.A.U. titles in June.

Beals, Short Back

Helping him to garner points will be Tom Short, who showed great promise as a dash man, 220 and upwards, in several local meets lately. Len Autrey, lanky Texan, will try again to produce five points in both the pole vault and high jump. Danny Redmond and Joe Beals will each fill one of Don Schmitt's large shoes in both the mile and half-mile events. Jimmy Breene, only civilian on last semester's team and former St. Joseph's Prep timber-topper, will compete in the hurdle events.

Among the newcomers to Villanova is Jack Glascott, Jr., Marine trainee, who may compete in the hurdle events. He is a former Catholic Leagle titleholder and performed brilliantly for Roman Catholic for three years. He is the son of Jack Glascott, assistant track coach at Penn to the great Lawson Robertson. These and the new freshmen will round out a promising powerhouse.

figure to be added to an already fine program of summer sports.

—V—

The Villanova Track team will function again this summer under the tutoring of Father McQuade. Those who were here last semester will remember the noble showing at the various meets of this team last semester. Among the cindermen returning for this season are Burton Cox, Tom Short, Ken Robertson and Joe Beals. Many new men has also responded to the call for candidates and from the Track angle the sports picture seems to be 4.0.

—V—

With a longing still in their hearts for the hard ball diamond, some of the baseball players have started a movement for intramural hardball. Enough men have signed up to date to form three teams. It likewise has been a long time since intramural hardball has been played on Villanova diamonds. Father McKee has given his permission for the arranging of such a schedule, but as yet no action has been taken. There are definitely some top-notch hardball players on the campus who will sit idle all summer if no plans for hardball are made.

—V—

A new personality arrived on the campus last week which startled many people. A live wildcat, the new VILLANOVAN WILDCAT, sent by Corporal Tom Halpin, a former Villanovan student. The mascot is still a kitten, but by the time the football season rolls around, it should be full-grown and mighty ferocious! We all hope that it will inspire an up and coming team to be just as ferocious and place another Villanova eleven along with great football teams.

—V—

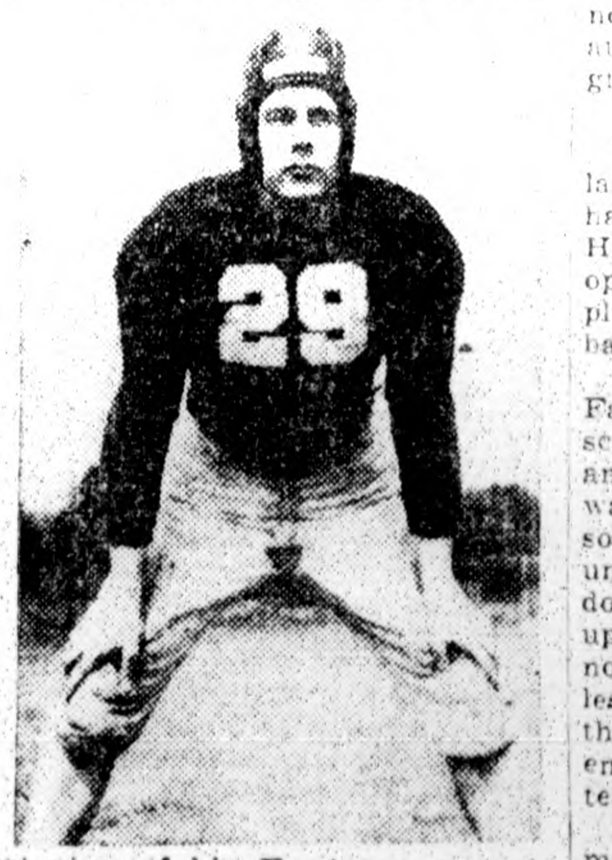
As a last note, I would remind the new men and the Frosh to get behind their teams for the simple reason that even the best of teams need all the backing and rooters they can get. Villanova has some fine athletes and its up to you to fight with them in spirit and give them their break.

In The Sportlight

By BOB H. MANSKE

Since the war Villanova's varsity teams have had their ups and downs, but even with these, they have put forth some very outstanding athletes.

One of these is Bucky Williams, who has given Villanova that extra something on the football at all times. Bucky, who has one beautiful love for the good old South, was born on May 6, 1923, in South Boston, Virginia. Right from the beginning of his Freshman year in South Boston High School, Bucky was an active participant in sports. His Freshman year found him wrapped up in football, basketball golf and tennis.



Three Letter Man

When Bucky graduated from South Boston High, he was tabbed as a three letter man. These he attained through football, basketball and tennis.

Williams then entered Virginia Military Institute in September of 1942 where he was a member of the varsity football team. He also took to wrestling during this time. Here at VMI he was under the able guidance of Pooley Hubert, the great All American quarterback from Alabama. It was in 1942 when Bucky answered his country's call by joining the Navy. His next stop was at Bainbridge where he received his boot training. On July 1 of 1943, Bucky was assigned to Villanova under the Navy's recently inaugurated College Training Program.

Fleet and Agile Halfback

Williams, who is now in his last semester, was a first string halfback for the last two seasons. He threw many a scare into the opposition with his terrific line plunging, end runs and smooth ball handling.

After the first few games last Fall, Bucky was one of the leading scorers in the country. However, an injury then sidelined him and he wasn't able to play again that season. This crushed his scoring column. Beyond the shadow of a doubt, he would have stayed right up there in the pay column had it not been for his injury. Regardless of the fact that he did not play the last several games, he was chosen captain of the 1944 Villanova team.

Besides football, Williams has made a name for himself in many other extracurricular activities. Buck has played intramural baseball and basketball. He is an officer in the American Institute of Electrical Engineers Society here and is a member of the Phi Kappa Pa fraternity. He is studying Electrical Engineering and expects to graduate in October with a Bachelor of Science degree in that subject.

It will be with the deepest regret that Villanova says "Hail and farewell" to Bucky in the Fall.

mander last semester, patrolled the first base area and was another dangerous man with the war club.

Well Rounded Team

The big surprise of the year was Bill Cooke who filled in behind the plate as if he'd been catching all his life. Joe Sulock played the hot corner and made even the impossible ones seem easy. Walt Huber divided his time between the outfield and the mound. He was used principally as a relief hurler and pullled several games out of the fire. Other fine players who rounded out the squad were George Farrel, shortstop; Joe Walters and Joe Costello infielders and Mike Krak, outfield.

After deep deliberation, the Sports Staff of the Villanovan have released their selections for the Intramural Allstar Team. The selections were made on the basis of hitting, fielding and all around good sportsmanship. The team is as follows:

Chief Specialist (A) Hayes Replaces Weigle In Navy PT Department Here

Will Instruct Swimmers With "Athletic Spirit" Motive; Endorses "Buddy System" of Swimming

Direct from Bainbridge Naval Training Center comes our new Chief Specialist (A), Millard C. Hayes. Slated to head the V-12 Physical Training Program, he hopes to develop an "athletic spirit" among the men of the unit by means of competition, placing physical education on a competitive basis. Although he realizes the importance of conditioning, he will not be satisfied with that alone but wishes to augment the main object, conditioning, with this "athletic spirit."

From the Chief Specialist's aim, we turn to his record before he came to Villanova. In Wayland, New York on August 10, 1906, Millard C. Hayes was born. He attended the local high school, Wayland High, and when he graduated in '24, Wayland lost its best athlete for here he earned letters in four sports, football, track, basketball and baseball.

Chief Succeeds —

MILLARD C. HAYES, C Sp A.

Threee Letter Man

After graduation from high school, he attended Dickinson Seminary and Junior College in Williamsport, Pa. Here he took the Arts course and graduated with letters in football, baseball, and track. Next came Carnegie Tech and more glory in both football and basketball. While earning his letters in these sports, he found time to pursue his studies and major in architecture and physical education.

Hayes makes his home in Elmira, N. Y., is married and has two children, Fay, 11, and William 6. Before the war he lived with his wife, Louise, and his occupation for fourteen years was as an officer of the New York State Prison Department.

His position as swimming instructor prompts him to ask that the fellows who use the swimming pool adopt the "buddy" system. Hayes stresses this fact because it is possible for so many accidents to occur when one goes swimming alone, especially if he is not well-versed in the rudiments of swimming and diving.

Replaces Weigle

Chief Hayes comes here as a replacement for Peck Weigle, Sp. A 2/C, who was transferred last week. Weigle has been here for the past eight months with the Physical Training staff. Peck handled many of the swimming classes, and was a member of the inactive Ship's Company basketball team. He formerly played basketball for West Chester State Teachers' College where he was a proficient ballplayer. Weigle came here in November of 1944.

Also affected by this change was Vince Kohler, Sp. A 1/C, who was stationed here for the very short period of two weeks. Vince was not even here long enough to be introduced to you by the Villanovan, and he only handled two or three PT classes. He was transferred along with Weigle.

Lieutenant Kuffel Takes Post Of Executive Officer As Captain Morgan Leaves Base

The new semester finds Lieutenant Stanley Kuffel, USNR, former Athletic Officer of the V-12 Unit, in the post of Executive Officer replacing Captain Robert Morgan, USMCR.

Lieutenant Kuffel comes from the "State of a thousand lakes." He attended several elementary schools due to the fact that his father's job compelled the family to move to several towns. He furthered his education at Technical High School in St. Cloud, Minn. Here he set up an impressive sport record, playing four years of football, baseball and track. Besides having a brilliant sport record he also participated in other activities, namely the school paper and the year book. In his Senior year, he was chosen to be editor of both the school paper and the year book.

In the year 1923, Stanley matriculated to St. Thomas College in St. Paul. Here he continued to show his ability in the Athletic world, in which he had a very good record. During his college days he decided to participate in the rifle club, in which he became a member of the national championship rifle team.

After graduating he returned to St. Cloud to take the position of coach in St. Cloud Cathedral High School. To prove his ability he produced a team that took the state title and on two other occasions were the Northwest Champs. Besides having an excellent baseball team, he had a boxing team that could not be defeated for a period of sixteen years. Incidentally, boxing is Lt. Kuffel's favorite sport.

After having a splendid record, Stanley left St. Cloud to become the superintendent of schools in Browersville, Minn. He remained there for six years, then took a similar job in Dilworth.

In September 1942, Kuffel joined the Navy. He took his boot at Norfolk, Va. After finishing his boot training, he was made a chief specialist. Then he went to Las Cruces, N. M. as instructor, during which time he was commissioned a Lt. (j.g.). Later he was assigned to Muhlenberg College, in Allentown, where he was a Physical Fitness Officer until his arrival here in July 1944.

During his stay at Villanova, he has held many posts, and while he was here, he was promoted to the rank of full Lieutenant.

Captain Robert Morgan, USMCR, member of the Villanova Ship's Company since June of 1943, and former Executive officer, has been assigned to Camp LeJeunne, N. C., for further assignment.

Captain Morgan was also instrumental in the formation of the former Drum and Bugle Corps on the campus and it was his idea and backing that led to the forming of the full military band the Navy and Marines have now formed.

In addition to his work with the band, Captain Morgan was the director of the V-12 Unit's Drilling at the football games at Shibe Park last Fall. It was Captain Morgan who planned and directed the Unit in this special drill.

Navy Group Visits Campus For Inspection

The beginning of this semester found a visiting party from the Bureau of Naval Personnel on the campus. They were here on July 3 and 4 to discuss with the college authorities the various problems connected with the establishment of the N.R.O.T.C. unit at Villanova and also to inspect the facilities of the college.

Members of the party included Captain A. S. Adams, USN (ret.), Special Assistant to the Director of Training, Bureau of Naval Personnel, Commander Scott G. Lamb, USN, Director of Training, Fourth Naval District, Commander Connor, USN, Lieut. Childers, USNR, Lieut. Sturges, USNR, and Lieut. Mothrop, USNR.

Captain Adams gave an address to the Faculty Wednesday, July 4 at 1:00 P. M. after which Father McGuire, President of the College, entertained the group at dinner in the Monastery.

Villanovan To Sponsor Picture-Of-Week Contest

In order to stimulate student interest in campus life and activities, the Villanovan will sponsor, beginning within the next few weeks, a Picture-of-the-Week Contest open to all members of the student body and faculty.

The object of the contest is to secure pictures representative of college life here on the campus. Any picture which helps to bring out any phase of college life, such as activities of campus societies, Navy Unit activities, or general scenes involving students or campus views, will be eligible.

The best picture submitted each week will be published and credit will be given to the person taking the picture. Pictures will be judged by a group of faculty members.

All pictures to be submitted should be brought to the Villanovan office.

Student Council Announces Plan For Organization

John Fitzgibbons, President of the Student Council, has announced that plans are under way for the organization of the classes of 1946 and 1947.

There had been no formal organization of classes since 1942 until the class of 1945 was organized as an experiment last February.

The organization of this class proved quite successful as it enabled them to hold the Senior Ball and the Senior Dinner - Dance. Through these affairs they were able to bring the scholarship fund of the Class of 1945 up over $1,000.

The Class of 1946 (Senior I and Junior I and II) will meet in Room 215 Mendel Hall on Thursday of this week at one o'clock. The Class of 1947 (All Sophomores) will meet next Monday at the same time and place.

of the Frosh and feel that they are proving themselves to be worthy of the name of Villanovans. In only a few cases has some misguided Frosh kept the idea that he is still a high school senior and these cases have been very quickly shown the folly of their ideas.

Meetings will continue to be held at regular intervals. In the near future it is planned to teach the Frosh the various school songs and cheers in order to prepare for the coming football season. It is also planned to have various other officers of the different school activities speak to them and in this way help to orientate them into the ways of Villanova.

From the Sidelines

Cpl. Richard Gray has recently returned from the Pacific theatre of war, after more than a year's tour of duty there. Dickie was a Villanova courtman whom few will forget, as he played fine ball for the Wildcats here a while back. Before entering the service, Grey was head basketball coach at Trenton Catholic Boys' High School and was a member of the Trenton Tigers professional basketball club.

Mike Garbarck, former Villanovan now catching for the New York Yankees, did not always bend his talents toward baseball. Mike saw quite a bit of action as the second string end on the Villanova football team, 1937 edition.

Organization of Classes Begun by Student Council

Junior and Sophomore Officers To Be Elected This Week; Frosh Also Being Organized

The Student Council has begun the complicated task of organizing the various classes in the school, and of providing for the reintroduction of the old system of class activity, it has been announced by John Fitzgibbons, President of the Council.

The class comprising first-half Seniors and all Juniors has been designated as the Class of 1946, and a meeting was held last Thursday to lay the groundwork of organization for this class. Another meeting of the Class of '46 will be held today for the purpose of nominating officers. A similar meeting was held yesterday for the Class of 1947, which includes all Sophomores, to start the organization of this class.

The organization of the Frosh, who form the Class of 1948, is being conducted in conjunction with the activities of the Orientation Committee, and it is planned to hold an election of officers for this class before the end of the semester.

When the task of class organization is complete, the Student Council plans to act in the capacity of a steering committee, supervising the general scheme of college activity, while the actual planning and organization of events will be in the hands of the individual classes. It is expected that the classes, together with the campus societies, will be able to provide a generous supply of school activities during the coming semesters.

One of the first activities scheduled is the revival of the Sophomore Cotillion, which will probably be held in September if plans can be made by the Sophomore class in sufficient time.

The Student Council is also considering several other means of increasing activity on the campus. It has been suggested that something be done toward giving frequent informal dances during the coming semesters, and the Council is investigating this situation.

Elections to fill the vacancies in the Student Council will be held soon, after which further plans will be made.

Together with the organization of the classes, it is proposed to start some sort of organization for the Day-Hops. In the past, there was a Day-Hop fraternity and plans are being considered for the revival of this organization, together with other dormant societies such as Lambda Kappa Delta, the Pre-Med fraternity.

The formation of a Day-Hop organization will permit more unified action by the Day-Hops and will provide for their taking a greater part in intramural sports.

Posts Filled By Phi Kappa Pi

Phi Kappa Pi, the campus engineering fraternity, has completed plans for filling the offices of the society during the coming semester. With Joseph Hoffman, the President-elect, taking the Summer off, and the Vice-President-elect no longer in the school, the society was without an executive department for the coming term.

At a meeting held last Thursday it was decided by a unanimous vote that Alfred Dumsa, the present Secretary be made acting President for the coming semester and that the post of Vice-President remain vacant until October.

ALFRED DUMSA

At that time, Joe Hoffman will take over his duties as President of the society, and the rest of the offices will be filled at that time since the rest of the present officers are graduating at the end of this term.

It was also decided at last Thursday's meeting that a committee should be appointed to see to the obtaining of keys for the Senior members of the organization.

'Fysicist' Finds Fun Farming

Rev. John A. Crawford, O.S.A., Associate Professor of Physics at Villanova, is shown indulging in a bit of Bucolic activity to get away from the routine of teaching everyone's pet subject, Physics. Some of his students wish they could find relief as easily.

(Credit for this week's Picture of the Week goes to Bill Monagle, Villanovan staff photographer, who happened to have his camera handy when he spotted this un-missable shot. Despite appearances, the contest is not "fixed", so let's have some more campus shots.)

Lieutenant Joseph Federowicz Reported Missing in Action; Francis Schneider Returns From Overseas

Lieutenant Joseph A. Federowicz, of the Class of '38, has been reported missing in action off Okinawa since June 16, it has been revealed by the Navy Department.

Lt. Federowicz was a Medical officer in the United States Navy. His wife, Eleanore, and his sixteen-month-old baby, also named Eleanor, live at 1523 Moyamensing Ave., in Philadelphia. He was graduated from Roman Catholic High School and entered Villanova in 1934. After graduating in 1938, he attended Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia.

Dr. Federowicz enlisted in the Navy in June of 1942, and was sent overseas in April, 1944. He has a brother Felix who is in the Army.

Francis J. Schneider, of Sharon Hill, an aviation ordnanceman, second class, has returned from a sixteen-month tour of duty in the Atlantic aboard a Martin Mariner making several search flights for German U-boats and disaster survivors in the South Atlantic area.

Schneider was a turret gunner and his squadron was responsible for locating a German blockade runner a few months ago. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Schneider of 002 School St., Sharon Hill, and attended Villanova before entering the Navy in November, 1942.

Dramatists Hold Officer Elections

Under the direction of the President retiring, Richard Henson, the Villanova Dramatic Society held their elections at the weekly meeting last Friday night.

The voting was close, and in the case of the election of a President a second balloting was necessary. Don Barrett, Marine trainee, was elected to the Presidency. The Vice-President was succeeded by Charles Cummings. Larry Bradley was elected to the Secretary-Treasurer's post. The office of Assistant Director will be carried over until next week's meeting.

The duties of this director, as set forth by the amended Constitution will be to help Sgt. Muir in directing the show. This officer would assume full responsibility for the show and the Club should Sgt. Muir be suddenly transferred.

Plans have finally been settled about the forthcoming show by the aggregation. "Career Angel," a light comedy, was originally selected, but C. D. Cummings announced at the last meeting that he had finished a play of his own. The Club unanimously called off "Carreer Angel" in favor of the play by one of its own men.

Seaman Cummings stated that the plot was complete, but the play still has a few roughnesses which have to be ironed out. The story is a fast moving comedy.

On the docket for next week's meeting is also the discussion about an "Amateur Night" which is to be held here later this semester, and for which plans are now being formulated.

Attention!

In connection with the organization of the classes now being conducted by the Student Council, it is highly important that all members of the various classes be present when officer nominations are held. Note the following times and be sure to attend.

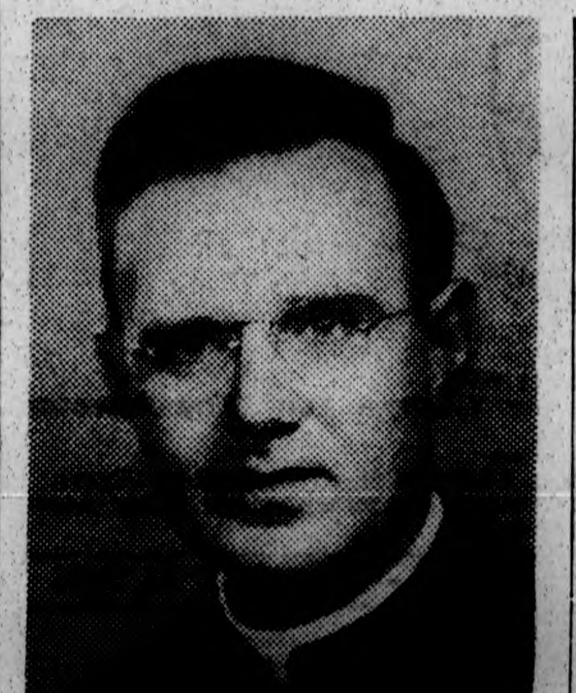
Fr. McGrath Transferred; Fr. Sullivan Alumni Head

Fr. McGrath To Take Up Parish Work in California; Alumni Association Secretary To Be Fr. Robert Sullivan

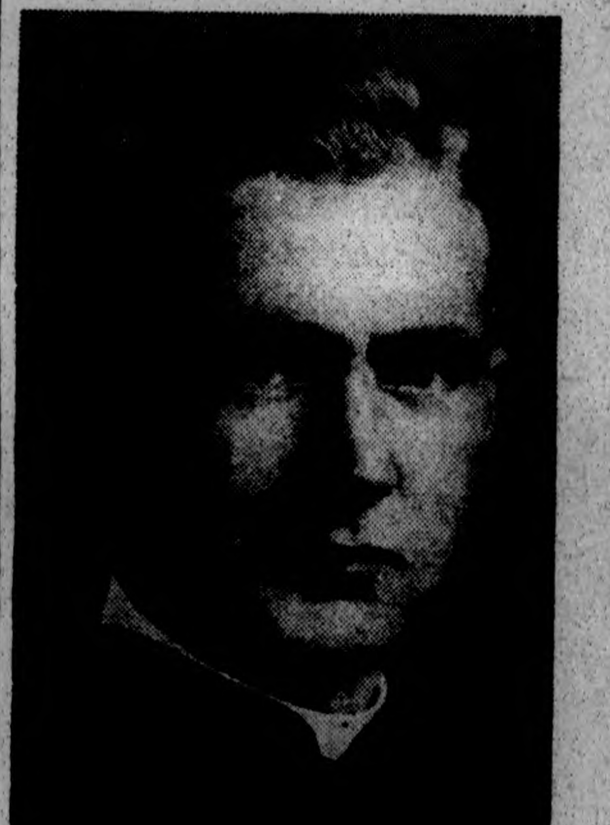
Rev. Robert E. McGrath, instructor in Religion and Secretary-Treasurer of the Villanova Alumni Association, has left the campus to take up parish work at Our Mother of Good Counsel Church, Hollywood, Calif., after having been on the Villanova Faculty since February of 1943.



REV. ROB'T E. McGRATH, O.S.A.

Fr. McGrath, together with his brother, Capt. George D. McGrath, now with the Army Engineers in China, was one of the first students to attend Villanova Prep School in Ojai, Cal. when the school opened in 1924. After graduating from Villanova Prep in 1928, Father joined the Augustinian Order and spent his Novitiate at New Hamburg on the Hudson.

He came to Villanova in September of 1929, and graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1933. Following this, he studied Theology at the Augustinian College in Washington, D. C. Father was ordained to the Priesthood in 1936, after which he went to Catholic University for a course at the Preachers' Institute.



REV. ROB'T M. SULLIVAN, O.S.A.

In 1937, Fr. McGrath was appointed to the Augustinian Mission Band, continuing in this work until his appointment to Villanova in February, 1943. While here he taught Freshman and Sophomore Religion. Along with his teaching duties, Father had a great number of other activities at Villanova, among which were his duties as counsellor of O'Dwyer Hall and confessor to the seminary students in St. Mary's Hall.

Most important of his other duties was his post as Secretary-Treasurer of the Alumni Association, which made him also moderator of the Alumnus, the quarterly publication of the Alumni Association. So extensive has been Father's work in these varied activities that he has been forced to temporarily retire from his college activities for the sake of his health.

The man who succeeds Fr. McGrath in the post of Alumni Secretary, Rev. Robert M. Sullivan, O.S.A., needs no introduction to Villanovans. Fr. Sullivan has become familiar to all through his many and varied activities on the campus. Born in Germantown, Pennsylvania in 1908, Fr. Sullivan entered the Augustinian Order in 1922. He was graduated from Villanova College in 1929 and was ordained to the Priesthood in 1932. In 1933, Catholic University of America awarded him the degree Master of Arts. This was followed by an appointment to teach in St. Augustine High School, San Diego, California.

After three years in California, Fr. Sullivan travelled to England and spent two two years in further

Summer Religious Services Listed By Chaplain's Office

Rev. Edwin T. Grimes, O.S.A., College Chaplain, has announced, in a letter sent to all students living on the campus, the schedule for religious exercises on the campus during this semester. The following is the scheduule as listed:

Daily Mass at 7:00 and 7:30 A. M. The resident students are to attend the 7:30 Mass on Thursday in a body. Students are encouraged to receive Holy Communion at this Mass.

Confession heard daily during Mass and on Wednesday evenings at 6:15 P. M.

Evening Services at 6:15 P. M.

Monday: Benediction.
Tuesday: Prayers for Peace.
Wednesday: Preparation for Confession.
Thursday: Benediction.

Sunday Mass: There is a complete Mass schedule for local residents, but students are urged to attend the 8:20 College Mass.

Father Grimes also pointed out that on the First Friday of every month, Mass is offered for the intention of the student body. All Villanovans in the service are remembered weekly at the Mass on Tuesday morning, and Mass is celebrated every Friday morning for Villanova alumni who have given their lives for their country.

New students on the campus have also been asked to volunteer for the Sanctuary Society and the choir. There will be a meeting this evening at 6:15 for all those who would desire to join either the choir or the Sanctuary Society.

Arrangements have been made by the College Chaplain with the various Protestant churches in Bryn Mawr for the accommodation of Protestant V-12 students. These students are urged to make use of the facilities provided to them for practicing their own faith.

Staff Meeting

There will be an important meeting of the Villanovan staff today in Room 119 Mendel at 1:00 P. M. All staff members and all who desire to work on the paper are urged to attend.

Let's Pull Together

Within the next few weeks the Student Council will get under way a plan of organization for the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior classes. The Council has tried during the past week to put this plan in motion but thus far have met with neglible success.

Meetings of the Junior and Sophomore classes were called last week and the response to them was rather discouraging, a very small proportion of the respective classes putting in an apperance.

This apathetic lack of interest is a very poor start for a season that promises to see the fulfillment of college activity and spirit and does not seem to be in harmony with the desires long voiced by the student body.

According to the outlines worked out by the Student Council, student activities in the future are to be in the hands of the various classes, and the classes, in turn, are to be in the hands of class officers soon to be elected.

It is the election of these officers that is to be the business of the meetings to be held this week. It is to your advantage to be on hand for these meetings and to participate in the elections to insure that the officers of your class will be representatives of the whole class and will carry out your desires.

Nothing can be done in this matter unless you cooperate. You can cooperate by attending the meetings when they are called by the Student Council and by taking an active interest in the elections and other business at hand. The presence of every member of each class is vitally important if these plans are to be carried out with a maximum of satisfaction to all concerned.

The Student Council is composed of your representatives and is trying to fulfill your desires as they see them. The purpose of the organization of classes is to enable you to have a voice in deciding upon school activities. Each class elects a representative to the Council and it is up to you to choose a man who will be able to express your wishes.

The question of activities during the Summer is the problem immediately before the Council at the present time. If there are going to be Summer activities on the campus, no time must be lost if plans are to be put into execution in sufficient time to materialize before the Summer is over.

Last semester the Seniors succeeded in reviving the Senior Ball and it is now up to the Class of 1947 to follow in their footsteps and revive the Sophomore Cotilion.

These are only a few of the old Villanova traditions which were allowed to lapse in recent times but are once more being revived. It is these traditions which do so much to make college life a really distinct and enjoyable memory in later life. We will get the most out of our college careers only if we take advantage of every one of these opportunities presented to us to make our student life more complete.

Such is the situation now facing us. It is up to each and every one of us to pull together and put these plans across.

'Cat Capers

By FRANK RONAN and JOHN FITZGIBBONS

After a steady week of rain we are going to venture out and see if we can dig up any news, (or even Breathless Mahoney, we don't care).

Our first item is really very special. It has just come to our attention that Jerry Mellon has finally taken the first big step that leads one away from happy bachelorhood. Yes that's right, Jerry finally popped the question and Terry nodded yes. Jerry was a nice fellow too. Well "Son" how does it feel to have taken on this new responsibility. But all kidding aside Jerry, although we have not met Miss O'Reilly we hear she is a swell gal and wish to offer you our heartiest congratulations.

And that isn't a swing band Hugh Hart is hearing, its bugles. Seems that Hugh is conducting quite a correspondence with Uncle Sam. Pfc. Hart (as he will be known in the near future) is really looking forward to that physical though. Say Hugh do you really think Bette will show up?

The weather is slowly driving John Coyne mad. After all, when a fellow owns two hats it is quite perplexing to decide on whether it's to be a straw or a felt and then have old Jupe Pluvius cross you up. Why not buy a rubber one, John?

Delurey Hall was dealt a serious blow last Thursday evening when a worm got in the way of Deacon Merlino. That sneaky little worm tripped Dick and as a result the Deacon is now on a well earned vacation . . . Our hats are off to the keeper of the Wildcat. That is one job we would not relish. He is a pretty kitty now but wait till he grows up . . . We were very glad to see Jack McChesney on the campus last week. He has just come up from Miami. Jack also told us that brother Kevin is in the So. Pacific . . . And just in case any of the alumni should happen to read this colum (we can't think of any reason either) we would like to say that Clem Lavin, of the class of 1940, was married last week in Boston.

We have just the man (?) picked to lead the Frosh in the singing of the school songs. This Mendel baritone certainiy spends enough time practicing so this is just a reminder . . ., you had better learn the words.

Can't be that Tony Caruso was just being used as a tool by his young grammar school friends so that said friends could get an introduction to that big tall blonde. Careful Babe, you don't want to go to jail with Chippy, do you? . . . We can't think of anything nicer than seeing the Goldust twins in "Meet The Boys" this week. At this moment we haven't seen the proofs of the column but we doubt if anyone appreciated the trouble the editors went to in trying to find anything printable about those two. We certainly don't have anything that could be used . . . We wish to announce at this time that due to Deacon Merlino's mishap, "The Young Friends of France" will postpone this week's meeting . . . It is too bad the Frosh don't realize when they get a break. They certainly have been given one this past week and they show their appreciation by producing a new crop of wiseguys. Well there are plenty more bushel baskets Frosh, so make your choice . . . The Bill Pease Marching and Chowder Club held their annual picnic last week. A good time was had by all, except a few are still a bit hazy as to just whether they were present or not . . . And if anyone is foolish enough to think that Sinatra is the only one who can cause the fair damsels to keel over, they are very much mistaken. Our spies report that Chippy really puts them out cold . . . By the way, we would still like to get some news from the Day Hops. We have a few items about Hart, Fogarty and Vorani, but if we publish them it will mean that a new writer will be here next week. As H. P. Dumsa would say, we are cognizant of the fact that some things are better left unsaid.

And finally we would like to offer one more word of advice to Red Dog. Please keep away from those 6'3" Amazons at the Shore. What do you think you are one of those average young men?

So once again before we say so long, how about Sophs and Juniors as well as Day Hops giving us some news during the week.

Meet the Boys

By GEORGE ELSESSER, A.S. and GEORGE AULBACK, A.S.

From April 21, 1925 when the first was born, until February 15, 1926, when the other one made his appearance, "it was quiet" says Joe. But then it all began and since then you haven't been able to get them apart (except for the first fourteen or so years of their lives) or keep them quiet, much less get away from their infectious good humor.

Now we will go back and explain. The first to arrive in the world is no other than own own Joseph John Gerngross, and the second, the pride and joy of Bryn Mawr, James Leo Shoemaker Jr. (forget the Jr. and you're done).

These two lads have been going steady since junior year in high school when they discovered that it was love. However, before then they traveled different, though parallel, paths, culminating at LaSalle.

Joe, or was it Jimmie? No. Well anyhow we're pretty sure it was Joe, was born in South Philadelphia where he attended St. Edmond's Parochial School. Walt Huber declares he was there made the man he is now. We won't contest Walter's statement, but we will present the facts, for after seven years at St. Edmond's, J. J. decided to wander and moved to Lawndale, Pa. attending St. William's in said place.

After completing his primary education, Joe was awarded a partial scholarship to LaSalle High School.

Now, if we may, we will go back and pick up James (I'm from Bryn Mawr) Shoemaker's life and thereby get him into high school. Jimmie's primary education was furnished by the Sister's of Mercy at Waldron Academy which he graced with his presence for eight full years. At the end of his eight-year stand, James Leo was awarded a full scholarship to LaSalle for his efforts.

JOSEPH J. GERNGROSS, A.S.

We now have both lives where we want them and they have us where they want us. For it was in LaSalle that everyone's trouble began. You couldn't tell one from the other without a program and to make it even more difficult, they liked it and answered to either name. It was in LaSalle that the names Shoemaker and Gerngross first appeared side by side. They took the same courses, wrote for the same paper, became co-editors of the afore mentioned paper, played on the same intramural teams, participated in the same dramatical activities, and took out the same girls on different nights. These two bold gentlemen even went so far as to become political bosses. Joe ran for the offices and

CAMP TO CAMPUS

By ROBERT J. CONWAY

Here is a new batch of letters and on opening the first one we see that "Easy Going" Andy Virgilio writes that he has been sent to Iceland and the only thing wrong is "NO WOMEN." A note from Ensign Alfred Petrellia, big Intramural man, ex '44, tells us that he is stationed on the battlewagon U.S.S. California and the first person he met was Lieut. Harry A. Kunberger.

Faces around the campus the last week have been many, including Ensign Jack McChesney ex '45, who was home on leave from school in Florida, and Ensign Bill Schurr ex '45 said that he dropped in on his way to the same school in Florida. Seaman 1/C Dick Pettinato sends his regards from Company Headquarters in Oakland California. Seaman 2/C Vince Pica came in on Friday to see some of his class ('47) and told us of being at Sampson, also that he met Jim Plunket, Joe Heck, Eugene Homan and Dick Carli. They asked to be remembered to the rest of the boys. Ensign Francis McGuinn Class of '44 says that he is stationed on the old flattop U.S.S. Saratoga and they have plenty of room to run around, the only difference, says Francis, is the lack of grass.

Bernie Mayer writes that he has been assigned to the U.S.S. Hubbard A.P.D. as Quartermaster striker. Bernie, old Intramural pitcher of some repute, tells that he can now see the other side of the story because the old Pacific "Ain't what she used to be." Pfc. Ed. J. Gross writes from somewhere in the Pacific that he is with the 5th Marines and another Villanovan, Gene O'Donnell, and that on his trip over he met Ensign Sam Siriaco. Lieut. Walter 'Windy' Meserve came through with the information that Lieuts. Pet Herazzo, Carl Haefele, and Leo White took part in the battle of Okinawa and 'Windy' himself is now in a hospital in the South Pacific.

Old football man Lieut. Ziggy Zamlinski was on the campus last

Mom's Battle

The following poem was written by Sgt. William M. Golden, ex '45 and is dedicated by him to his mother and to all the mothers of those in the Armed Forces.

Mom's battle is the toughest one,
'Cause it's the kind that's never done.
It's not a fight with fire and gun,
It's all day wond'ring, "Where's my son?"

It's not a war. It's a fight within.
It's where I'm at and where I've been.
Am I gaining weight? Am I getting thin?
Am I steering clear of hell and sin?

Do I pray to God to see me through
My every day as I used to do?
Am I still the carefree boy she knew?
It's been so long . . . A year, or two.

It's rememb'ring back when I was small
How 'round the house I used to crawl.
And the day that I began to walk,
And later when I learned to talk.

The things I said, the things I did,
When I was nothing but a kid,
It's all these things that haunt Mom's mind.
It's a battle of a different kind.

A day ne'er starts, a day ne'er ends,
That there isn't a prayer that dear Mom sends
To the Heavenly Father up above
That He'll watch o'er her fondest love.

She has no defense against attack.
Just prays to God He'll send me back.
She fights her battle for her son
With prayer, her weapon . . . not a gun.

But I guess that's what a Mom is for,
To guide the son she proudly bore,
Whether he's home or off to war,
A guy can't ask his God for more.

Football Squad Starts Summer Pigskin Drills

Many Experienced Players on Large Summer Squad; Coach Olivar Well Pleased

By JOHN PESHINA

With the publication of the schedule and the issuing of equipment, football is once again the subject of talk on the campus. Practice began last Monday for the Summer season. Seventy-five candidates have been drilling all week under the direction of Jordan Olivar. There are many new faces on the football field, however there are many who have been retained from Spring practice.

Among those we remember are: Gene Alvarez, a fellow who is small but mighty, weighing only 175 lbs. and 5' 8" tall, comes to us from Northeast Catholic H. S. of Phila., where he gained his experience as a capable and alert guard. Northeast, a runner up in the Catholic League of Phila., was tied with LaSalle for second place. Gene was honorably mentioned for the all-Catholic team last year.

Three Northeast Men

Tony Cocco, a teammate of Alvarez, also played three years for Northeast Catholic. Tony, 5' 10" tall, made "All Scholastic" as a guard at Southern High, which team by the way, was city champ. We intend to keep tabs on this young lad as he is of the finest football material yet exhibited on the Villanova gridiron.

Jim Smith, another lad from Philadelphia, attended La Salle High School. Jim weighs 189 lbs. and is 5' 7" and, having 3 years' experience as a guard, looks very promising. He was football captain at La Salle.

Lawless Here

Marine Pvt. Ed Lawless, weighing 175 lbs. and is 5' 10" tall, comes to us from the University of Penn-

Squad of Sixty-six Men Begins Workouts on Field House Gridiron; Prospects Look Good

By HENRY WARD, A.S.

Monday, July 16th, marked the beginning of summer football practice for the Villanova Wildcats. Coach Jordan Olivar reports that he has a 75 man squad and is expecting even more players later this summer.

Returning from last year's squad are five men: Carl Ungaro, Vince McPeak, John Brandt, Mason Robertson, and Bobby Wilson. Coach Olivar also has four or five other players with College or Service football experience plus a large number of ex-High School stars. There are many competent Freshman players and the squad promises to have plenty of fighting spirit, a characteristic which marked the great Villanova teams of the past. Managing the team will be John and Joe Peshina, ably assisted by several Freshmen.

Workouts during the first week were hampered by rain but Coach Olivar has had his boys running through plays, while the backs have been practicing their punting and passing. The blocking and tumbling dummies are not being neglected though, as the boys are rounding into shape. Practice will continue on through the Summer months and right up to the opening game. By this time the team ought to be ready to bowl over all nine opponents, starting with Bucknell on September 22, and ending with Boston College on November 17th.

Contact work has begun and the workouts and practices are growing harder. Plans are being made for scrimmages with other local squads, and if these materialize, the new men will get the experience of playing as a team against an opposing ball club.

New Cat Cuts Capers For Snarling Season

Very few people on the campus today envy Marine Private Bob Austin and Apprentice Seaman Clyde Cobb their job as trainers and care-takers of the newly-acquired Villanova Wildcat. To date, these boys have escaped with little or no trouble.

T/Sgt. Jimmy Halpin sent the cat from Florida at the beginning of the semester. Fr. McKee immediately put the two trainees in charge of him.

Still A Kitten

The cat is of the "bobtail" variety and will grow to be about one or two feet tall. It is still a kitten, but no one should make the mistake of trying to pet this cat because he does not at all act like a kitten of the domestic species.

The fellows built the animal a cage and he is now kept down in the Field House. Every night about six o'clock, the boys take the cat for a walk so he can limber up his muscles. If all plans go as expected, the Wildcat will be taken to the football games this coming season and be beside the team for which it is a mascot.

Freshman Orientation has long become a tradition here on the Villanova Campus, and this orientation is considered to be an essential for the new student with regard for the college life. So also is a form of orientation quite a requisite in the field of college sports

To those of you who don't know as yet, Villanova College is one with a brilliant background of tradition and fame in the Sports world of past and present.

—V—

For the past two or three years, this asset has declined to some extent with the war continually exerting pressure on any sports program planned. Men drafted, ineligibility lists, players transferred, and such heartbreaks are the problem with which the present-day college coach is confronted. But regardless of the final standing of the teams we can by no means overlook those boys who went out and gave their all trying to hold the name of Villanova College high. Pressed by long hours under the accelerated program and short time for practice, these sturdy boys went forward against all obstacles in the great "American Way." To these men, all hands extend a hearty and sincere thanks.

—V—

Ollie and the men here are inclined to think that better days are in sight for the Villanova football eleven. A hard schedule indeed faces the fellows this fall, but a team graced by some of the men of last year's squad, the cream of High School footballers and several transfers who have proven themselves with the other Collegiate clubs should come out with a decent, if not excellent, record.

—V—

Al Severance reports "All's well" in his department, too. Al has had little or no chance to get a good look at what material three semesters has brought him, but from premature glimpses, the Wildcats of 1945-46 should really paint the wooden ways red. A hand, too must be given to those ever faithful managers of last year who will be operating at the same stand this year, Joe Sulock and Walt Huber.

—V—

Tension is mounting as the campus prepares for its first tennis tournament in the past two or three years. Plans are progressing smoothly under the capable leadership of Fred Koch. The seeding arrangements and rules for the matches are to be released and posted this week. From what we can gather, things are going to be O K as far as tennis lovers go this semester.

—V—

Players of the week: Walt Huber, pitcher for the Fedigan A Intramural Softball team, who currently is the leading pitcher in the league by virtue of his three wins and no losses. Walt, who was expected to be merely a relief hurler this summer, not only turned in three brilliant victories for the team, but he won his own game against Austin Hall last week. Walt broke up the extra-inning affair with a smashing single into left field to score the winning tally.

—V—

So until next week when we chatter about bits of the Villanovan World of Sports, we give you keen reminder to not forget to root for and back the boys who are fighting the United States' battle on the four corners of the earth.

Tennis Meet Seeding to Begin Early Next Week

Entries Close on July 27th; Prizes and Awards Plans Near Completion, Koch Announces

By FRED KOCH, A.S.

The tennis tournament entries which were received this week seem to indicate the beginning of a very successful competitive event. It points to the spirit which dominates college activities.

As was previously announced the seeding of the players will begin on July 30 and end August 3. However not all the entrants will be seeded. Only those men, whose class of tennis is not known to the committee, or those who do not know to which class they belong will fall into this category.

Plans for Seeding Complete

In order for a player to be seeded he must play one set of tennis with another player to be seeded and this will determine the class in which he will be placed. This is done to prevent a good player from dominating the class B division when he is a class A player. This procedure will make the tourney fair to all players of the sport.

If the players are not able to meet at the time specified they can get together and choose the time to play their set among themselves.

The tournament will be formed into three classes: class A and B for the civilian students, Navy and Marine trainees, while the third class will be reserved for the faculty and officers and enlisted personel of ship's company. The winner of the class A will meet the winner of the faculty tournament as a closing attraction on the last day of the event.

Prizes To Be Announced

As of this date the prizes to be given are still undecided but they will be announced before the start of the tournament. However you can be sure that they will be worth while and satisfying to the victor.

A schedule will be posted on the civilian bulletin board on July 28

Fedigan B Takes I-M League Lead

By MEL ALPERT

Ol' King Jupiter Pluvius "rained" supreme last week and consequently several of the scheduled IM games were called. But despite the poor condition of the field a few good contests were staged. The Fedigan A vs. Del-Si twilight tilt threatened to develop into a night game as the play went into extra innings. However Huber, Fedigan pitcher, won his own ball game in the last half of the eighth frame by smashing a sharp single to left after Gaskill and Shoemaker each drew a free pass. The totals: for Fedigan six runs on six hits with Huber getting credit for the win. For Del-Si: five runs, six hits and the losing hurler, DiGiacomo.

The other contest Monday night saw Fedigan B take Austin A to the tune of 6 to 2. Naslund pitched for Fedigan and got credit for a win while Burdick was the losing hurler.

Huber Wins

On Wednesday evening Fedigan A returned to the diamond and proved Monday's victory was no accident by taking Austin A to the cleaners by the score of eight to five. Huber, again, was the winning twirler for Fedigan. He is now the league's leading pitcher with three wins and no defeats.

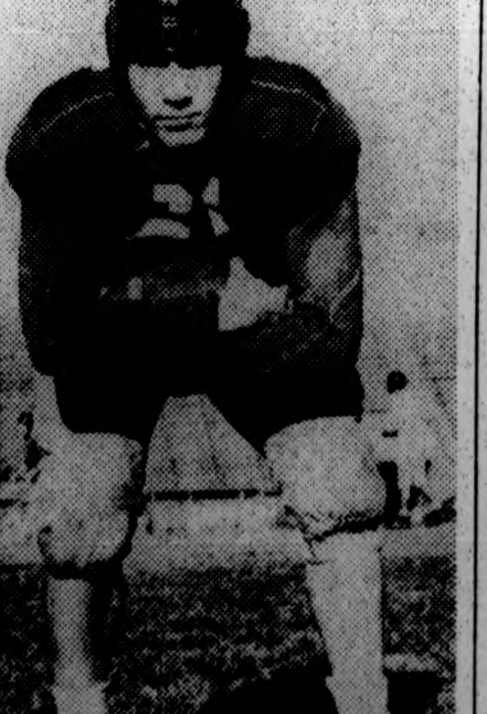
In The Sportlight

When the 1945 football season rolls around this Fall, there will be but a few old faces of the last year edition of the Wildcat Squad. It will be these few fellows who have had past experience under Ollie who are expected to glue the team together into a smooth-working ball club.

On last year's ball team there was a hard-charging halfback who etched his way into the memories of the local football fans, even though he played but half a season. He goes by the name Vincent Joseph McPeak, and should be by this time well known about the campus for his spontaneous wit and humor. A true Pennsylvanian, he was born in Bristol, on January 3, 1927.



Vince played three years of varsity football for the crack St. Joseph Prep's team of 1941, '41 and '43. Mac didn't limit his abilities to the gridiron entirely, but commandeered a position on the Joe's track squad as well for these three years.

All Scholastic In '43

Vince stopped ribbing his roommate long enough to tell us that in addition to being chosen as ALL CATHOLIC with St. Joe's in his junior and senior years, he hit ALL SCHOLASTIC for the Philadelphia area as a senior.

On the canvas, V. J. has done quite well for himself. On his own time Vince did some boxing for the Nicetown Boys Club in Philadelphia. In the bouts out here last Winter, Vince won a decision over his opponent, though out-weighed. Vince is still a member of the boxing team here.

Platoon Leader

Among his other duties here, he was appointed platoon leader this past semester and is currently in charge of Fedigan Hall's third platoon. Enrolled in the Pre-Med course of study, Vince has consistently made the Merit List and still keeps plugging through a tough course.

When Mac reported out for football here last summer, Ollie lamented the fact that he would not be eligible until he was a second half Freshman. Immediately upon his eligiblity, Vince took over one of the half back slots and since then never relinquished it. There is little doubt in the minds of the football fans why Ollie takes such an interest in McPeak. His plugging and fiery brand of football for sixty minutes at a stretch has made him noted in the minds of the Wildcat followers since is appearance here.

Let's Pull Together

Within the next few weeks the Student Council will get under way a plan of organization for the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior classes. The Council has tried during the past week to put this plan in motion but thus far have met with neglible success.

Meetings of the Junior and Sophomore classes were called last week and the response to them was rather discouraging, a very small proportion of the respective classes putting in an apperance.

This apathetic lack of interest is a very poor start for a season that promises to see the fulfillment of college activity and spirit and does not seem to be in harmony with the desires long voiced by the student body.

According to the outlines worked out by the Student Council, student activities in the future are to be in the hands of the various classes, and the classes, in turn, are to be in the hands of class officers soon to be elected.

It is the election of these officers that is to be the business of the meetings to be held this week. It is to your advantage to be on hand for these meetings and to participate in the elections to insure that the officers of your class will be representatives of the whole class and will carry out your desires.

Nothing can be done in this matter unless you cooperate. You can cooperate by attending the meetings when they are called by the Student Council and by taking an active interest in the elections and other business at hand. The presence of every member of each class is vitally important if these plans are to be carried out with a maximum of satisfaction to all concerned.

The Student Council is composed of your representatives and is trying to fulfill your desires as they see them. The purpose of the organization of classes is to enable you to have a voice in deciding upon school activities. Each class elects a representative to the Council and it is up to you to choose a man who will be able to express your wishes.

The question of activities during the Summer is the problem immediately before the Council at the present time. If there are going to be Summer activities on the campus, no time must be lost if plans are to be put into execution in sufficient time to materialize before the Summer is over.

Last semester the Seniors succeeded in reviving the Senior Ball and it is now up to the Class of 1947 to follow in their footsteps and revive the Sophomore Cotilion.

These are only a few of the old Villanova traditions which were allowed to lapse in recent times but are once more being revived. It is these traditions which do so much to make college life a really distinct and enjoyable memory in later life. We will get the most out of our college careers only if we take advantage of every one of these opportunities presented to us to make our student life more complete.

Such is the situation now facing us. It is up to each and every one of us to pull together and put these plans across.

'Cat Capers

By FRANK RONAN and JOHN FITZGIBBONS

After a steady week of rain we are going to venture out and see if we can dig up any news, (or even Breathless Mahoney, we don't care).

Our first item is really very special. It has just come to our attention that Jerry Mellon has finally taken the first big step that leads one away from happy bachelorhood. Yes that's right, Jerry finally popped the question and Terry nodded yes. Jerry was a nice fellow too. Well "Son" how does it feel to have taken on this new responsibility. But all kidding aside Jerry, although we have not met Miss O'Reilly we hear she is a swell gal and wish to offer you our heartiest congratulations.

And that isn't a swing band Hugh Hart is hearing, its bugles. Seems that Hugh is conducting quite a correspondence with Uncle Sam. Pfc. Hart (as he will be known in the near future) is really looking forward to that physical though. Say Hugh do you really think Bette will show up?

The weather is slowly driving John Coyne mad. After all, when a fellow owns two hats it is quite perplexing to decide on whether it's to be a straw or a felt and then have old Jupe Pluvius cross you up. Why not buy a rubber one, John?

Delurey Hall was dealt a serious blow last Thursday evening when a worm got in the way of Deacon Merlino. That sneaky little worm tripped Dick and as a result the Deacon is now on a well earned vacation . . . Our hats are off to the keeper of the Wildcat. That is one job we would not relish. He is a pretty kitty now but wait till he grows up . . . We were very glad to see Jack McChesney on the campus last week. He has just come up from Miami. Jack also told us that brother Kevin is in the So. Pacific . . . And just in case any of the alumni should happen to read this colum (we can't think of any reason either) we would like to say that Clem Lavin, of the class of 1940, was married last week in Boston.

We have just the man (?) picked to lead the Frosh in the singing of the school songs. This Mendel baritone certainly spends enough time practicing so this is just a reminder . . ., you had better learn the words.

Can't be that Tony Caruso was just being used as a tool by his young grammar school friends so that said friends could get an introduction to that big tall blonde. Careful Babe, you don't want to go to jail with Chippy, do you? . . . We can't think of anything nicer than seeing the Goldust twins in "Meet The Boys" this week. At this moment we haven't seen the proofs of the column but we doubt if anyone appreciated the trouble the editors went to in trying to find anything printable about those two. We certainly don't have anything that could be used . . . We wish to announce at this time that due to Deacon Merlino's mishap, "The Young Friends of France" will postpone this week's meeting . . . It is too bad the Frosh don't realize when they get a break. They certainly have been given one this past week and they show their appreciation by producing a new crop of wiseguys. Well there are plenty more bushel baskets Frosh, so make your choice . . . The Bill Pease Marching and Chowder Club held their annual picnic last week. A good time was had by all, except a few are still a bit hazy as to just whether they were present or not . . . And if anyone is foolish enough to think that Sinatra is the only one who can cause the fair damsels to keel over, they are very much mistaken. Our spies report that Chippy really puts them out cold . . . By the way, we would still like to get some news from the Day Hops. We have a few items about Hart, Fogarty and Vorani, but if we publish them it will mean that a new writer will be here next week. As H. P. Dumsa would say, we are cognizant of the fact that some things are better left unsaid.

And finally we would like to offer one more word of advice to Red Dog. Please keep away from those 6'3" Amazons at the Shore. What do you think you are one of those average young men?

So once again before we say so long, how about Sophs and Juniors as well as Day Hops giving us some news during the week.

CAMP TO CAMPUS

By ROBERT J. CONWAY

Here is a new batch of letters and on opening the first one we see that "Easy Going" Andy Virgilio writes that he has been sent to Iceland and the only thing wrong is "NO WOMEN." A note from Ensign Alfred Petrellia, big Intramural man, ex '44, tells us that he is stationed on the battlewagon U.S.S. California and the first person he met was Lieut. Harry A. Kunberger.

Faces around the campus the last week have been many, including Ensign Jack McChesney ex '45, who was home on leave from school in Florida, and Ensign Bill Schurr ex '45 said that he dropped in on his way to the same school in Florida. Seaman 1/C Dick Pettinato sends his regards from Company Headquarters in Oakland California. Seaman 2/C Vince Pica came in on Friday to see some of his class ('47) and told us of being at Sampson, also that he met Jim Plunket, Joe Heck, Eugene Homan and Dick Carli. They asked to be remembered to the rest of the boys. Ensign Francis McGuinn Class of '44 says that he is stationed on the old flattop U.S.S. Saratoga and they have plenty of room to run around, the only difference, says Francis, is the lack of grass.

Bernie Mayer writes that he has been assigned to the U.S.S. Hubbard A.P.D. as Quartermaster striker. Bernie, old Intramural pitcher of some repute, tells that he can now see the other side of the story because the old Pacific "Ain't what she used to be." Pfc. Ed. J. Gross writes from somewhere in the Pacific that he is with the 5th Marines and another Villanovan, Gene O'Donnell, and that on his trip over he met Ensign Sam Siriaco. Lieut. Walter 'Windy' Meserve came through with the information that Lieuts. Pet Herazzo, Carl Haefele, and Leo White took part in the battle of Okinawa and 'Windy' himself is now in a hospital in the South Pacific.

Old football man Lieut. Ziggy Zamlinski was on the campus last

Meet the Boys

By GEORGE ELSESSER, A.S. and GEORGE AULBACK, A.S.

From April 21, 1925 when the first was born, until February 15, 1926, when the other one made his appearance, "it was quiet" says Joe. But then it all began and since then you haven't been able to get them apart (except for the first fourteen or so years of their lives) or keep them quiet, much less get away from their infectious good humor.

Now we will go back and explain. The first to arrive in the world is no other than own own Joseph John Gerngross, and the second, the pride and joy of Bryn Mawr, James Leo Shoemaker Jr. (forget the Jr. and you're done).

These two lads have been going steady since junior year in high school when they discovered that it was love. However, before then they traveled different, though parallel, paths, culminating at La-Salle.

Joe, or was it Jimmie? No. Well anyhow we're pretty sure it was Joe, was born in South Philadelphia where he attended St. Edmond's Parochial School. Walt Huber declares he was there made the man he is now. We won't contest Walter's statement, but we will present the facts, for after seven years at St. Edmond's, J. J. decided to wander and moved to Lawndale, Pa. attending St. William's in said place.

After completing his primary education, Joe was awarded a partial scholarship to LaSalle High School.

Now, if we may, we will go back and pick up James (I'm from Bryn Mawr) Shoemaker's life and thereby get him into high school. Jimmie's primary education was furnished by the Sister's of Mercy at Waldron Academy which he graced with his presence for eight full years. At the end of his eight-year stand, James Leo was awarded a full scholarship to LaSalle for his efforts.

JOSEPH J. GERNGROSS, A.S.

We now have both lives where we want them and they have us where they want us. For it was in LaSalle that everyone's trouble began. You couldn't tell one from the other without a program and to make it even more difficult, they liked it and answered to either name. It was in LaSalle that the names Shoemaker and Gerngross first appeared side by side. They took the same courses, wrote for the same paper, became co-editors of the afore mentioned paper, played on the same intramural teams, participated in the same dramatical activities, and took out the same girls on different nights. These two bold gentlemen even went so far as to become political bosses. Joe ran for the offices and

Mom's Battle

The following poem was written by Sgt. William M. Golden, ex '45 and is dedicated by him to his mother and to all the mothers of those in the Armed Forces.

Mom's battle is the toughest one,
'Cause it's the kind that's never done.
It's not a fight with fire and gun,
It's all day wond'ring, "Where's my son?"

It's not a war. It's a fight within.
It's where I'm at and where I've been.
Am I gaining weight? Am I getting thin?
Am I steering clear of hell and sin?

Do I pray to God to see me through
My every day as I used to do?
Am I still the carefree boy she knew?
It's been so long . . . A year, or two.

It's rememb'ring back when I was small
How 'round the house I used to crawl.
And the day that I began to walk,
And later when I learned to talk.

The things I said, the things I did,
When I was nothing but a kid,
It's all these things that haunt Mom's mind.
It's a battle of a different kind.

A day ne'er starts, a day ne'er ends,
That there isn't a prayer that dear Mom sends
To the Heavenly Father up above
That He'll watch o'er her fondest love.

She has no defense against attack.
Just prays to God He'll send me back.
She fights her battle for her son
With prayer, her weapon . . . not a gun.

But I guess that's what a Mom is for,
To guide the son she proudly bore,
Whether he's home or off to war,
A guy can't ask his God for more.

Football Squad Starts Summer Pigskin Drills

Many Experienced Players on Large Summer Squad; Coach Olivar Well Pleased

By JOHN PESHINA

With the publication of the schedule and the issuing of equipment, football is once again the subject of talk on the campus. Practice began last Monday for the Summer season. Seventy-five candidates have been drilling all week under the direction of Jordan Olivar. There are many new faces on the football field, however there are many who have been retained from Spring practice.

Among those we remember are: Gene Alvarez, a fellow who is small but mighty, weighing only 175 lbs. and 5' 8" tall, comes to us from Northeast Catholic H. S. of Phila., where he gained his experience as a capable and alert guard. Northeast, a runner up in the Catholic League of Phila., was tied with La-Salle for second place. Gene was honorably mentioned for the all-Catholic team last year.

Three Northeast Men

Tony Cocco, a teammate of Alvarez, also played three years for Northeast Catholic. Tony, 5' 10" tall, made "All Scholastic" as a guard at Southern High, which team by the way, was city champ. We intend to keep tabs on this young lad as he is of the finest football material yet exhibited on the Villanova gridiron.

Jim Smith, another lad from Philadelphia, attended La Salle High School. Jim weighs 189 lbs. and is 5' 7" and, having 3 years' experience as a guard, looks very promising. He was football captain at La Salle.

Lawless Here

Marine Pvt. Ed Lawless, weighing 175 lbs. and is 5' 10" tall, comes to us from the University of Penn-

Squad of Sixty-six Men Begins Workouts on Field House Gridiron; Prospects Look Good

By HENRY WARD, A.S.

Monday, July 16th, marked the beginning of summer football practice for the Villanova Wildcats. Coach Jordan Olivar reports that he has a 75 man squad and is expecting even more players later this summer.

Returning from last year's squad are five men: Carl Ungaro, Vince McPeak, John Brandt, Mason Robertson, and Bobby Wilson. Coach Olivar also has four or five other players with College or Service football experience plus a large number of ex-High School stars. There are many competent Freshman players and the squad promises to have plenty of fighting spirit, a characteristic which marked the great Villanova teams of the past. Managing the team will be John and Joe Peshina, ably assisted by several Freshmen.

Workouts during the first week were hampered by rain but Coach Olivar has had his boys running through plays, while the backs have been practicing their punting and passing. The blocking and tumbling dummies are not being neglected though, as the boys are rounding into shape. Practice will continue on through the Summer months and right up to the opening game. By this time the team ought to be ready to bowl over all nine opponents, starting with Bucknell on September 22, and ending with Boston College on November 17th.

Contact work has begun and the workouts and practices are growing harder. Plans are being made for scrimmages with other local squads, and if these materialize, the new men will get the experience of playing as a team against an opposing ball club.

New Cat Cuts Capers For Snarling Season

Very few people on the campus today envy Marine Private Bob Austin and Apprentice Seaman Clyde Cobb their job as trainers and care-takers of the newly-acquired Villanova Wildcat. To date, these boys have escaped with little or no trouble.

T/Sgt. Jimmy Halpin sent the cat from Florida at the beginning of the semester. Fr. McKee immediately put the two trainees in charge of him.

Still A Kitten

The cat is of the "bobtail" variety and will grow to be about one or two feet tall. It is still a kitten, but no one should make the mistake of trying to pet this cat because he does not at all act like a kitten of the domestic species.

The fellows built the animal a cage and he is now kept down in the Field House. Every night about six o'clock, the boys take the cat for a walk so he can limber up his muscles. If all plans go as expected, the Wildcat will be taken to the football games this coming season and be beside the team for which it is a mascot.

Tennis Meet Seeding to Begin Early Next Week

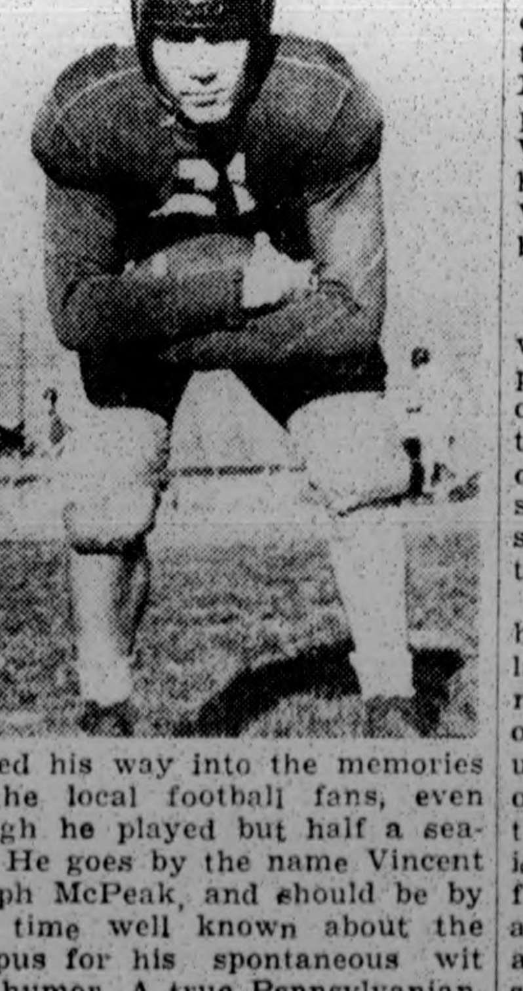
In The Sportlight

When the 1945 football season rolls around this Fall, there will be but a few old faces of the last year edition of the Wildcat Squad. It will be these few fellows who have had past experience under Ollie who are expected to glue the team together into a smooth-working ball club.

On last year's ball team there was a hard-charging halfback who etched his way into the memories of the local football fans, even though he played but half a season. He goes by the name Vincent Joseph McPeak, and should be by this time well known about the campus for his spontaneous wit and humor. A true Pennsylvanian, he was born in Bristol, on January 3, 1927.



Vince played three years of varsity football for the crack St. Joseph Prep's team of 1941, '41 and '43. Mac didn't limit his abilities to the gridiron entirely, but commandeered a position on the Joe's track squad as well for these three years.

All Scholastic In '43

Vince stopped ribbing his roommate long enough to tell us that in addition to being chosen as ALL CATHOLIC with St. Joe's in his junior and senior years, he hit ALL SCHOLASTIC for the Philadelphia area as a senior.

On the canvas, V. J. has done quite well for himself. On his own time Vince did some boxing for the Nicetown Boys Club in Philadelphia. In the bouts out here last Winter, Vince won a decision over his opponent, though out-weighed. Vince is still a member of the boxing team here.

Platoon Leader

Among his other duties here, he was appointed platoon leader this past semester and is currently in charge of Fedigan Hall's third platoon. Enrolled in the Pre-Med course of study, Vince has consistently made the Merit List and still keeps plugging through a tough course.

When Mac reported out for football here last summer, Ollie lamented the fact that he would not be eligible until he was a second half Freshman. Immediately upon his eligiblity, Vince took over one of the half back slots and since then never relinquished it. There is little doubt in the minds of the football fans why Ollie takes such an interest in McPeak. His plugging and fiery brand of football for sixty minutes at a stretch has made him noted in the minds of the Wildcat followers since is appearance here.

Two Marines Get Purple Heart Here

At the Navy V-12 Unit's Saturday inspection the Purple Heart was awarded to Marine Privates Donald J. Barrett and Richard Erickson. Lieutenant Kuffel, the executive officer, read and presented the citation.

Barrett was awarded the Bronze Star Medal just a few weeks ago for bravery in the face of the enemy. The Purple Heart was given to Barrett for wounds received while with the Marines somewhere in the South Pacific theater of war. Don braved enemy gunfire to go out and carry a wounded comrade back to safety.

Barrett lives in Catonsville, Maryland. He is the newly elected president of the Dramatic Society and has been here for the past two semesters.

Erickson received his wound while fighting in the Pacific with the famed 5th Marine Division. He was transferred to Villanova at the beginning of this semester.

SEEN From the Sidelines

Ken Reeher, stellar guard on last year's Villanova basketball team, was commissioned two weeks ago from Notre Dame's Midshipman School. Reeher was one of the starting five for the better part of last year's season. He is currently awaiting assignment to a ship.

Jimmy Shea, a trainee here for the past four semesters, was also commissioned during the past two or three weeks. Jim was a name in the sports world on behalf of his being Washington, D. C., district champion in table tennis. Jimmy is well known in the table tennis circles of the East.

Joe Walters, who paced the Villanova basketball team and led the Philadelphia District scoring column in 1944-45, is now stationed at the Philadelphia Naval Hospital awaiting assignment to a Medical School.

study in his chosen field of endeavor, English.

With the Master of Arts Diploma from Oxford University in hand, he returned to the States in 1938 and was appointed to the faculty of Villanova College.

At Villanova College, Fr. Sullivan has held the post of Assistant Professor of English, but he has not limited his activities to the field of teaching. Together with Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O.S.A., he has been co-Moderator of the Belle Air, yearbook of the College. Until the war put a damper on extra-curricular activities, he was also Moderator of Beta Gamma, the debating society, and Belle Masque, the dramatic society, and Counsellor of the Non-Resident Students. He succeeded Rev. Ralph J. Handran, O.S.A., as Chaplain at Rosemont College when the latter became a Navy Chaplain. A few years ago, Fr. Sullivan was coach of the 150-pound football team.

Bringing all his experience with Villanova boys to bear in his new post as Alumni Secretary, Fr. Sullivan hopes to revitalize the Alumni groups which were rendered dormant by the war.

Jimmie wrote the speeches and took care of the campaign work. The awful part about all this is that they succeeded. Joe was elected Vice-President of his senior class and chariman of the highly respected Student Activities Committee. As a final tribute, Joe gave the valedictory at his graduation.

The combination of J. and J. matriculated at Villanova on February first, 1943, in the School of Electrical Engineering. They were both three-and-one-half-year high school men which meant that they had to pass all of their first term subjects in order to graduate from high school. To prevent the possibility of anything undesirable happening, they settled down to a semester of hard work, diregarding all extra-curricular activities. The result of this was the freshman awards from the school and the Phi Kappa Pi Medal which Joe received.

July 1, 1943 found the two J's again on the Villanova campus. This time they were in Navy whites. Even the Navy didn't separate them, for J. J. roomed in 452 Mendel (along with yours truly, Red) and James resided in 453. But before anyone knew it, J. J. was practically a permanent figure in 452 and thus it remained for four long semesters. Their activities weren't limited by the four walls of that infamous room in Mendel for very long.

JAMES L. SHOEMAKER, A. S.

They began to make themselves known all over the campus in Sophomore year by joining the Phi Kappa Pi and in this organization Joe has become Student Council Representative and Treasurer, and from here on in it is one long list of extra-curricular work. The A.I.E.E. claims Jos as Chairman and Jim as Vice-Chairman; they belong to the Sanctuary Society, the Senior Class Executive committee, and they play for the Fedigan A Softball team. Last semester Joseph was a competant co-chairman of the decorating committee for the Senior Ball and James was responsible for that much too unpublicized Wishing Well. At present time, both boys are writing for the Belle Air and we are sure that the year book will profit by their expended energies.

Mr. Gerngross and Mr. Shoemaker have not been inactive socially because of their many and varied occupations but, on the contrary, they have been around quite a bit. Why, we'll have you know that one Cass has been James's sole occupation over weekends for a long time.

Joe and Jimmy graduate this coming October but their spirit and work will remain in the annals of this institution. We who know them consider their friendship among the greatest of our possessions.

If we have made any mistakes in presenting their lives, we apologize to you, but not to them, for there was a constant undercurrent of talk going on when we interviewed them. It went something like this.

Now you take Lawndale . . .

You take it, I don't want it, but Bryn Mawr now . . .

Come on, George, let's get out of here before they try to tell us that neither place can compare with York.

"Bye George."

"Bye George."

Briefs Of CAMPUS NEWS

Belle Air

All the copy for the 1945 edition of the Belle Air, the college yearbook, has been sent to the printer within the past week, it has been announced by John Fitzgibbons, Editor-in-Chief. The actual publication date is not yet known, but will probably be some time in October before, it is hoped, the close of the present semester.

D. P. E.

Delta Pi Epsilon, the campus Commerce and Finance fraternity, yesterday held a meeting for the nomination and election of officers. Twenty-eight votes were cast and the following officers were elected:

President, John Fitzgibbons.

Vice-President, Edwin Keeler.

Treasurer, Louis DiGiacomo.

Secretary, Gerald DeMuro.

Sergeant-at-Arms, Peter Chaplinsky.

Another meeting will be held in the near future for the purpose of formulating plans for the coming semester. Among the prospects to be considered by the fraternity is the revival of the Financeers' Frolic, annual D.P.E. Dance.

That is the plan for the event so don't wait until the last minute to make out those entry blanks. The deadline for entries is July 27. Let's make the tournament as successful as it promises to be.

Ball was on the mound for Austin.

Del-Si bounded back into the running Friday night with an eight to five triumph over the last place Mendel squad who up to now just haven't been able to get started. Di Giacomo pitched all the way for the winners while Durney toiled for Mendel. Bonnin, Mendel shortstop, deserves special mention for superb play in the field and at bat.

Fedigan B triumphed over Austin B by the score of 9 to 5 to round out the weeks play. Naslund threw 'em for the winning Fedigan club while Boos hurled for Austin.

As a result of last week's play, Fedigan B leads the league with two wins and no losses. Fedigan A is second with three and one. Austin B is third with two wins as opposed to one defeat. Del-Si and Austin A are tied for fourth place with one and two each and Mendel brings up the rear with no wins and three losses.

Student Officers Are Elected By Sophomores

Edwards Made President; Other Offices Go To Redmond, Ward, Brogan and Tait

The Class of 1947 today completed the election of class officers in an election held in Room 215 Mendel. The election of Sophomore officers completes the organization of all classes except the Frosh. Freshman elections will be held in the near future in connection with the Orientation program.

Elected to the post of President was Harry Edwards, Electrical Engineering student. Dan Redmond, A.S., was elected Vice-President while Thomas Ward and Thomas Brogan, both E. E.'s, will serve as Secretary and Treasury respectively. The class will be represented in the Student Council by Harold Tait.

The officers will meet shortly to outline plans for class activities during the coming semester. A general meeting of the class will be held as soon as these plans are formulated. The committee hopes to revive the Sophomore Cotillion, traditional Sophomore dance.

One hundred and two votes were cast in the election and the vote for all offices was very close. There are approximately one hundred and sixty students in the class and the vote cast represents a favorable turnout. The officers will take over their official duties in the near future, and a moderator will be appointed to guide the class.

CAMP to CAMPUS

By ROBERT J. CONWAY

THIS week we are going to set aside the mail for the principal reason that one letter was received on Campus telling how a Villanova man died. John Corkill died in Belgium on January 16, 1945, not in battle but giving aid to a fellow soldier who was in trouble. The following letter was written to John's father by one of John's close friends and expresses so beautifully the last minutes of his life that we are going to quote it in full.

Dear Mr. Corkill:

This is a letter I had hoped I should never have to write. It will be inexpressibly painful for you, but I know you and Mrs. Corkill will want to know the details of John's death. Pride is hollow comfort at best, but whatever comfort there is in it must be yours, for your son died most gallantly, most proudly and unafraid—and in the performance of one of those quietly heroic deeds that are the very essence of heroism.

It was just at dusk the evening of January 16, and he was waiting to talk to me in the company Command Post, a beautiful old farmhouse in Taverneux, Belgium. The company had been advancing all day, and I had just come up from the rear to our Headquarters. John was on the steps as I came in, and went into the CP with me. Something or other had to be attended to at once, and while he was waiting a shell struck in the courtyard outside the building.

One of our men was wounded, and hearing the call for "Aid Man," John rushed outside to help. Two more shells landed almost immediately, killing two men, and a second or two later John ran in and up to the table beside which I was standing. It had all happened so quickly that I had not even realized that he had left the room, or been injured, until he ran up. He leaned his left arm on the table, grasped my hand with his right, and said "They got me! My stomach!" He looked slightly startled, but I was certain the shock prevented any sensation of pain, and it was not until a few seconds later when he began to fall against me that I realized he was wounded.

There were several other men

Capt. Toussaint Officer In Charge Of Marines Here

Attack of Malaria Delays His Arrival; To Teach Marine Corps Organization and Naval Law

Capt. Roger S. Toussaint, USMC, has been assigned to succeed Capt. Robert L. Morgan as Officer-in-Charge of the Marine Detachment at Villanova College. Captain Morgan has been transferred to Camp Lejeune, N. C. The new appointee to the College will act as instructor in Marine Corps Organization and Naval Law and Administration.

Captain Toussaint was assigned to Villanova June 21, but suffered an attack of malaria contracted in the Pacific which hospitalized him for a week. The Marine Corps officer explained he did not know he had the disease until his return to the States and subsequent assignment to this section. He took over his present duties at the College on July 8.

CAPT. R. S. TOUSSAINT, USMC

The new Officer-in-Charge was born May 11, 1918 in Leonard, N. D., the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Toussaint. Captain Toussaint attended schools in Leonard and received his B.S. in Agricultural Economics from North Dakota Agricultural College in 1940. Two years later he received his M.S. degree in Agricultural Economics from Iowa State.

Captain Toussaint entered the Marine Corps on April 7, 1942 and went to Quantico, Va., where he received his commission as second lieutenant. He was stationed for three months at San Diego, Cal., before being assigned to the Pacific theater of war in January, 1943. Captain Toussaint first was sent to Pearl Harbor whence he was transferred to various sections of the South and Southwest Pacific. He saw active duty on Woodland Island off New Guinea, Cape Gloucester, New Britain and Peleliu.

The officer was relieved of his Pacific duties and returned to the States on May 8, 1945. He received his orders to report to Villanova shortly after his arrival from overseas.

Captain Toussaint is the second Marine officer to be stationed here as head of the Marine Detachment. Captain Morgan, his predecessor, was at Villanova since the V-12 program started, also serving as Executive Officer before he left.

Fr. Thomas Burke, O.S.A., Moderator Of Freshman Class

Rev. Thomas A. Burke, O.S.A., was appointed Moderator of the Class of 1948, announced Rev. Edward B. McKee, O.S.A., Vice President of the College. In addition to his duties as Moderator of the present Freshman class, Fr. Burke will serve as Moderator of the Orientation Committee.

Fr. Burke has been at Villanova College since June, 1942, when the accelerated program began. He is well known on the campus as the indefatigable Instructor of Mathematics and Physics. He is Student Counsellor of Alumni Hall, presently inactive while that building is being remodelled.

REV. THOMAS A. BURKE, O.S.A.

A graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute with a degree in Electrical Engineering in 1933, Fr. Burke entered the Augustinian Order in 1936. He was ordained to the Priesthood in 1941. In 1942, he obtained the degree Master of Science from Catholic University of America. His appointment to Villanova College followed.

As moderator of the Class of 1948, Fr. Burke states that he aims to encourage full participation of the members of the Class in campus activities. As soon as members of the Class become sufficiently acquainted with each other elections for Class officers will be held.

DramaClubCompletes Plans For New Show

The Villanova Dramatic Society, in quest of new talent among its members, held their first casting for the new show to be given this semester. Under the watchful eyes of Sergeant John Muir, the club's director, and C. D. Cummings, A.S., author of the new comedy show, members of the club read parts in their best thespian manner in hopes of a spot in the play.

Sergeant Muir has not selected the cast as yet, but a sure bet for the part of a colored houseboy in the current play is Marine trainee Taddei. Others who participated in the reading of parts were "White" Sooner, Larry Bradley, Don Barrett, Jim Breene, Carl Schneider, Al Dagit, and Charley Cummings.

The play is now completely written but Cummings proposes to shift some of the characters. The play takes place in a college "frat house" and pre-war college life in it should provide a great number of laughs for war-time students.

Don Barrett, new president of the group, will head a committee to provide entertainment for the club at its weekly meetings. Such entertainment will consist of skits put on by both old and new members.

Sergeant Muir made another plea for those who wish to join the club and stated that the turnout of dayhops is not only disappointing but probably detrimental to the club. For those who are interested in acting, good fellowship, and a lot of laughs, come around to 215 Mendel any Friday night at 6. Admission is simple and your time will be well-spent.

Koerner Chosen President; Varani, Waters, Conway, and Christensen Hold Other Posts

The first student election of the current semester was held last Thursday at one o'clock in Room 214 Mendel when the Class of 1946 chose the men who are to hold the executive positions during the coming term. This class, which includes first-half Seniors, and first-and second-half Juniors, was the first class to complete election of its officers during the organization program being conducted by the Student Council.

William Koerner, Senoir Mechanical Engineer, was elected President and Harold Varani, also a Senior M. E., will serve as Vice-President. The posts of Secretary and Treasurer will be filled by Harry Waters, Junior Commerce and Finance student and Circulation Manager of the Villanovan, and Robert Conway, Senior C & F student and Villanovan columnist respectively. The representative of the Junior class on the Student Council will be Paul Christensen, A.S., USNR.

Forty-six votes were cast by the Class of '46 in this election, the first held by this class since its matriculation, representing a fairly good turn-out. The class of 1946 will be known as the Junior class until October, when the last of the Class of 1945 will graduate, and then it will become the Senior class, probably with the election of new officers.

The newly-organized class will hold a meeting soon, at which time plans will be made for its class activities, and the officers will take over their administrative duties.

Fr. Casey, OSA, Tells Of Life In Jap Prison Camps

Villanova Graduate Returns After Three Years in Japanese Camps; Honored at Testimonial Dinner

After three years spent in Japanese internment camps, Rev. John V. Casey, O.S.A., has returned to this country, and at a recent testimonial held for him in Lawrence, Mass., told of some of the horrors of these three years.

Fr. Casey was ordained in June 1940 and left in August of the same year for the Philippines. One of the ports of call, he said, was Japan. But little did he realize at that time that within a year and a half he would be a "guest" of the Sons of Heaven. The party finally arrived in Manila on Sept. 3, 1940. A week later, Fr. Casey was sent to Illoilo where he taught school for a year and a half before the war broke out.

Bringing Augustinians to the Philippines, he said, was to his mind the acme of success of the order in its mission of endeavor. The first Catholic priests came to the islands in 1521 in the persons of Augustinians from Spain. They Christianized the whole nation of 16 million people, making it the only Christian nation in the Far East. Today we are reaping the harvest those priests planted four centuries ago.

Father Casey related that it was no surprise when war broke out as they could feel it in the air. The Jap transports were off the coast and it was only a question of when they would strike. The real surprise was the attack on Pearl Harbor. The 986 students at the school packed up and went home. Everyone just waited. That was all they could do as it was impossible to leave the island.

The first sight of the Japs was a group of thirty-six bombers with fighter escorts that came to bomb and strafe the city although no opposition was given. The next time Fr. Casey saw the Japs was after the fall of Bataan. The city of Iloilo was burned to the ground. This city has a normal population of 95,000 people and was very modern in many respects.

After an interview with a Jap officer, the priests, including Fr. Casey were taken to the city's provincial jail. It was 12 by 18 ft. and in this space twenty-two persons slept on the cement floor.

On May 25, 1942, they were brought to a concentration camp and placed under a few Japanese civilians. They remained there for thirteen months under very try-

Drama Club To Hold Auditions

Sergeant John Muir, director of the Villanova Dramatic Society, has announced that there will be try-outs for the society's Amateur Night Revue tomorrow, Wednesday evening at six o'clock in Room 215 Mendel.

The Society plans to give its show before the end of this semester and all who have any interest in dramatics are urged to attend.

Cheer Leaders Are NeededForComing Football Season

As is well-known at this time, the College is in the midst of a movement to renew old traditions which have been dormant during the war. Among other things which have been revived, the subject of again having a cheerleading squad has been a note of keen interest with all hands.

Last Fall of course, the Blue and White rooters had their leaders for the home football encounters. Gordon Evans, who has since been transferred, was the V-12 trainee who was captain and manager of last year's outfit. Gridley Stookey and John Ziesel were also leaders.

This year, Lou DiGiacomo has expressed the desire to help to form a cheer-leading group this semester and lead it, if enough men turn out when the time for try-outs is announced.

DiGiacomo stresses the fact that the cheering of the rooters is not entirely the responsibility of the yell-leaders, but it is up to the student body. He suggests that all Freshmen learn the school songs and cheers for the coming season. On his crew this year also will be the new Wildcat. The authorities anticipate taking the cat to all home games if the circumstances permit.

Library Gift Honors Memory Of J. Bittig

A thoughtful tribute was paid to the memory of John Bittig last week. George Lafferty, a former Summer School student at Villanova, and friend of Bittig, sent to the Villanova College Library a book inscribed "In memory of John Bittig, killed on Okinawa, June 24, 1945." The book is Tar Heel Apostle, describing the life of Rev. Thomas F. Price, a co-founder of the Maryknoll Missionary Fathers. The author is John C. Murret, M.M.

Time Will Tell

Elections seem to be in the air lately. The student body is in the midst of electing class officers, and we have just heard the results of the general elections recently held in Great Britain. The latter results came as somewhat of a surprise to many people who had grown used to the familiar "Big Three" and have seen them go, one by one, until only Premier Stalin is left. He has been joined by our own President Truman and by a British Socialist, Prime Minister Attlee.

The results of this rather wholesale governmental turnover, and its ultimate effects upon our country and upon ourselves as college students, remains to be seen. The results of our own elections, being more near at hand and more closely connected with our activities, will be sooner evident. There are no Socialists or Communists in our executive organization, but there seem to be seeds of cliques and rivalries developing in the class organizations.

This is a very dangerous spirit, and if it is allowed to become serious, the whole plan of class organization will be in vain. The elections are over and the officers, chosen by a democratic process, have been appointed to represent all the students in the class. The time for rivalry is over and it is now the time for cooperation and unified action. The officers will express the wishes of the student body in college affairs and it is up to the students to get behind them and give their unqualified support to all proposals.

It is up to the officers, likewise, to energetically strive to carry out the wishes and desires of their fellow-classmen who have elected them, and to prove themselves worthy of the trust placed in them. They have upon their shoulders a serious responsibility to the students whom they represent. If harmony and cooperation are achieved between the students and their officers, the class organization will function smoothly; if not, all previous work will be in vain.

Time will tell, both in our own elections and in the international picture. The problem before the international organization is the establishment of a just and equitable peace, founded on a policy of equal rights to all nations. Whether they can accomplish this in spite of the traditional greed and rivalry of world powers, remains to be seen.

The problem before our class organizations is the providing of a representative and adequate schedule of activity and group cooperation for their respective classes throughout the school year. Whether they will accomplish their goal likewise remains to be seen.

The only thing that will ensure the success and efficient functioning of the class organizations is full student cooperation. When the majority decides upon a project, it is up to the individuals to give it their support so that there will be no danger of the group's suffering because of the uncooperativeness of a few.

The world organization may fail and it may work; it is up to us to be sure that our organization does work.

Here we are, worn and haggard after a week's diligent search for news. But our results weren't exactly too promising. Outside of the fact that old man Warbucks is still alive and B.O. Plenty received a raw deal, we really don't know too much. Incidentally, we have a warm spot in our heart for B.O. You see we knew him when he was just a little stinker.

Now for a little local news. . . Tony Cocco certainly caused quite a stir in the Greeks last week with his new apparel. Tony will, in the future, be known as Anita . . . And incidentally, the Orientation Committee has some great plans for him in the future.

"Peeping Tom" Ward is the latest wearer of the Delurey Hall Pink Medal. It is awarded when a resident of the Hall is wounded in the line of duty. Seems Newt thought that deep hole was just a shadow. . .Last week's winner, Deacon Merlino, has returned to Bradley Beach to rest up and get his strength back. The Deacon vows he will get revenge on the little worm that tripped him. . .

It seems strange not to run into Fr. McGrath these days. As Al Helwig used to say, the "tall smiling Californian" will be greatly missed around the campus and by the alumni association.

And now news from the children's dept. It is rumored that Chippy Caruso is planning to start a kindergarten in the cellar of Delurey Hall. Seems that he should have plenty of material for it. . .Our scout, "Two Buck" Riley tells us that he has met a few Frosh who have the wrong slant on life. Careful, Frosh, remember we have many more baskets. "Two Buck" has really been a great aid to us as he keeps us posted with items from his varied travels. . .Last week "Red Dog" Koerner once again proved that Barnum was right . . . Our heartiest congratulations to the newly elected officers of the Junior Class and also to the officers of D.P.E. . . . It also came as a great surprise to us that there was no shooting at the latter affair . . .

We would like to offer a little advice to one Frosh. You will find it much more to your own advantage if you will settle your problems yourself instead of going to high authorities. It is all right if you want to be a hermit but if you want to get along with your gang, be smart! . . . And incidentally, we wish to welcome a new bed-fellow to the paper in the person of Francis Ryan. You will find his labors in a neighboring column. It is nice to have someone on which to shove all the woes that come our way.

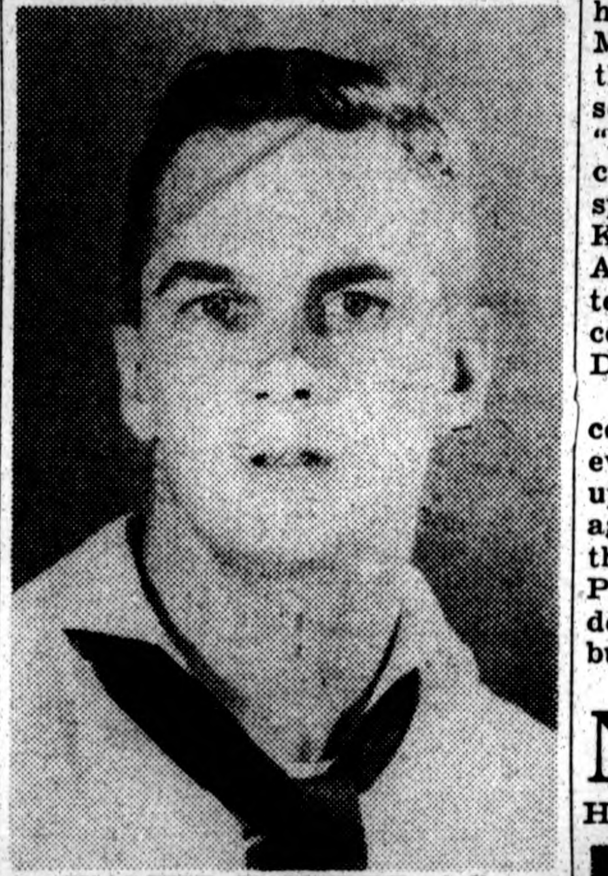
That big tough hombre,, "Hopalong" Dumsa visited the Greeks Saturday night in search of some of his straight shooters. Hopalong was holding all those milk shakes like a real Connecticut cowboy . . . And finally, if this column isn't up to par this week, we hope you will forgive us as Jack Fitzgibbons is ill this week. Come on Fitz hurry up and get back.

Meet the Boys

By GEORGE ELSESSER, A.S. and GEORGE AULBACK, A.S.

SEE what we mean, you can't tell them apart, or can you!! It really was a mistake in last week's edition, so we would like to point out that the Mr. Shoemaker is really Mr. Gerngross and vice-versa; if you can make anything out of this, you are welcome to it, we can't.

This week we bring together two fellows who are so easy to tell apart that there is no possibility of error (If Burns does it again, he's finished.) Although Richard and Walter lack similarity in appearance, they are always thought of as a combination rather than individuals. Some people would say that this has come about by their living together too long.



WALTER T. HUBER, A.S.

First, permit us to introduce the little man with the big personality. He is our own beloved Walter Thomas Huber. Walt hails from that suburb of Villanova, Philadelphia. He was born on September. 8, 1925. He led a normal childhood and at the tender age of six, he enrolled at St. Edmond's Parochial School which institution he attended for eight long years and it is rumored that he learned to read and write there.

In the year 1939 A.D., Walter decided to give Southeast Catholic High School a break by attending their classes. All joking aside, he did a very good job as Southeast. His extra-curricular activities were many, among which may be included for the school paper, debating, dramatics, and managing the business end of the year book. Along with these activities, Walt seems to have found time to study, for he won the Chemistry Medal in Senior year.

At the mid-term of his senior year, Thomas left high school and enrolled here at Villlanova in the school of Civil Engineering. He was a day hop his first semester here and like so many of us, he just sat back and let the other fellows run the place. July 1, 1943 found Walter a resident of Villanova and with a new suit, for now he was in the Navy. He was assigned to that well remembered room (453 Mendel) which also housed Shoemaker, Sulock and Madigan at the same time. About this time, he began to make himself known about the campus. "Penguin," as Walt is affectionately called, accomplished his name spreading by intramurals, Phi Kappa Pi, Sanctuary Society, A.S.C.E., managing the basketball team and by doing a great job as co-chairman for the Senior Dinner Dance last semester.

Walt's immediate future is of course taken up by the Navy; however, after everything is cleared up and we are all back to normal again, he wants to buy a car so that he can commute between Philadelphia and Ocean City and do just enough work to eat and buy gas.

NOW, if we may, we wish to introduce Richard J. Madigan, the big half of the Huber-Madigan Combination. Big

RICHARD J. MADIGAN, A.S.

As another semester begins, we again resume our column writing. We can't just say thtat we are adding to the literary merit of the Villanovan, but we hope we have some readers even if they only be the editors themselves.

ON THE LINE

It seems that all of Austin Hall is awaiting the outcome of Dulio D'Albera's experiment with "Germaniums" . . . remember Dulio that it takes a lot of time for them to "grow up" . . . (Compliments of John D'Erasmo) . . . for those readers who don't know that "little feller" who kept liberty waiting Saturday, he was Bob Wilson, the Company Comdr. himself . . . anyone having information as to Mike Roger's exact age will be gladly received . . . one thing is sure: he certainly "wears" his age well.

Rumor has it that Lee Straub has reverted to carrying his arm in a sling in order to escape the effects of the NEW P.T. (Physical Torture) program . . . Walt (But I was on the mound) Huber better carry a rule book in his pocket from now on so that he can protect his pitching reputation . . . Marino (Catch that step) Augustinelli has a definite attachment to a certain "Al" . . . no doubt she has much more feminity than the name implies . . . Bob Dorsch recently let himself go again, and has become "engaged in entangling alliances" . . . we wish Fauber's hair would soon grow back in, for it has had a devastating effect on Dr. McBeth . . . if anyone sees a picture of "Smokey" Seamen's "model" girl friend, please let us know, for there is a reward . . . Joe Costello (manager of Fedigan's B team) has made the su-

Here and There

By FRANCIS P. RYAN

Well, another new column and another new writer. We don't claim that all our jokes will be original, but we try to steal only the best that come our way from other school papers and our own Pie Shoppe sessions.

Here's the first batch:

There are to me two kinds of guys,
And both of these I do despise.
The first I really like to slam
Is the one who copies my exam.
The other is the dirty skunk
Who covers his and lets me flunk.

I think that I shall never see
A girl refuse a meal that's free
A girl who doesn't wear
A lot of doo-dads in her hair
Girls are made for fools like me
'Cause who on earth could kiss a tree.

* * *

Any girl can be gay in a classy coupe,
In a taxi they all can be jolly
But the girl that's worth while
Is the one who can smile
When you take her home in a trolley.

A little bird sits on a tree;
Now he flies away.
Life is like that—
Here today, gone tomorrow.
And now he scratches himself.
Life is that way.

It's little things that count,
Little minks and little sables
Little pent houses among the gables
Teeny Packards, baby pearls
'Tis the little things, aint it, girls.

How True

They find fault with the editor
The stuff we print is rot;
The paper is as peppy as a cemetery lot
The rag shows rotten management,
The jokes, they say, are stale;
The upperclassmen rail
But when the paper is issued

If someone doesn't get one
You can hear him yell a mile.

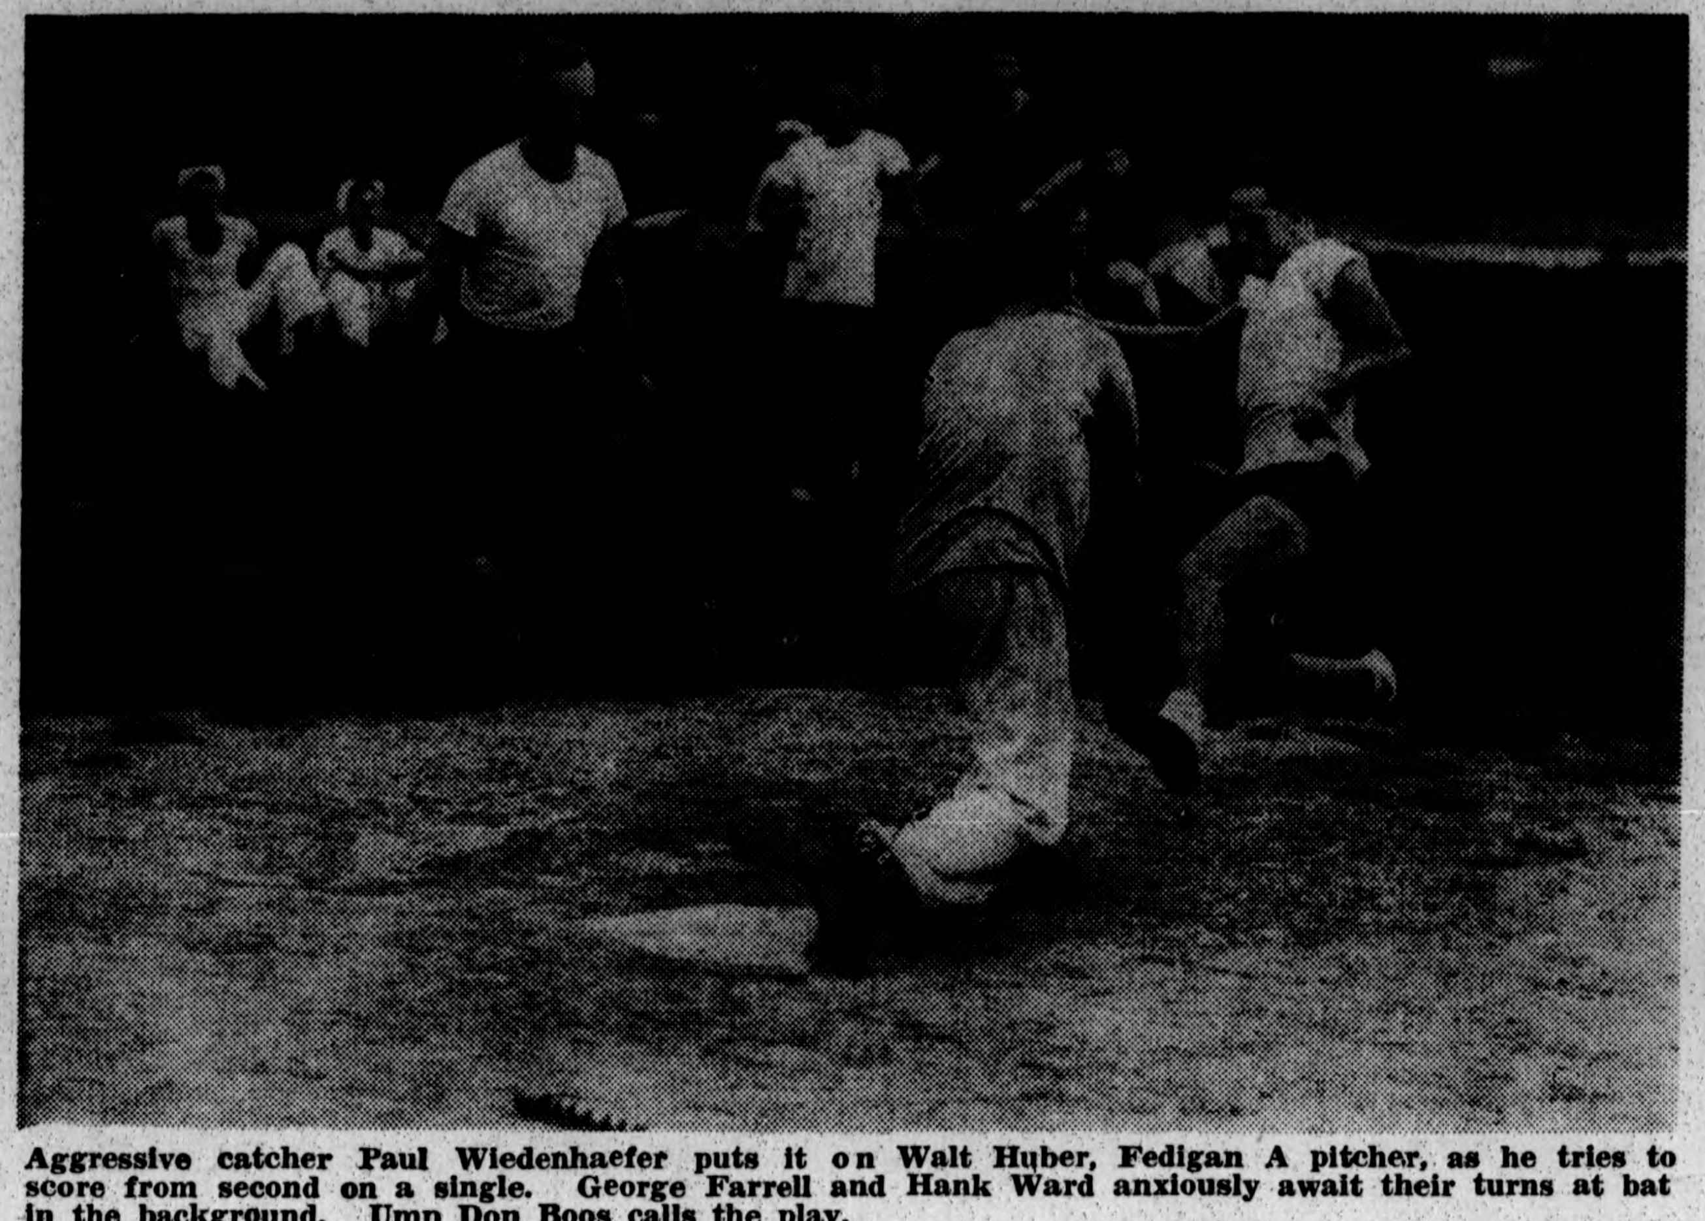
Wiedenhaefer Stops Another Run



Aggressive catcher Paul Wiedenhaefer puts it on Walt Huber, Fedigan A pitcher, as he tries to score from second on a single. George Farrell and Hank Ward anxiously await their turns at bat in the background. Ump Don Boos calls the play.

Fedigan B Takes Two; Increases League Lead

Austin A Threatens Leader by Taking Two While Fedigan A Drops Two; Mendel Upsets Austin B

Smashing out a 10-2 victory over Del-Si on Tuesday night and following this up with a close 2-1 win over Fedigan A Wednesday night, Joe Costello's Fedigan B team ran its streak of consecutive victories to four games. Austin A, with victories over Del-Si and Mendel moved into third place Mendel team upset the highly touted Austin A team, and caused them to lose a chance to move up even though they won two other games during the week.

Dick Naslund limited the Del-Si team to four hits and two runs as the Fedigan B team, led by Joe Costello and Bob Wavrek who had three hits and three runs apiece, smashed out twelve hits and ten runs. The next night Wally Huber limited the Fedigan B team to four hits, but terrific defensive play by Bobby Wilson and Paul Wiedenhafer enabled their team to eke out a 2-1 victory over Fedigan A in one of the hardest fought games of the season.

Craig Stars At Bat

Swamping Mendel 13-3 and Del-Si 15-8, Austin A jumped from fifth to third place in the League Standings. Keith Burdick and Don Ball each registered a victory while Craig, Austin's first baseman, got five hits and four runs in seven trips to the plate during the two games. Johnny Cavey hit into only two double plays while getting one for eight in the two games.

Austin B, by defeating Fedigan A 10-1, behind Don Boos' four hit pitching, and Del-si 4-3, with Hittinger on the mound for the winners, held into second place even though they were upset, 9-5, by Mendel on Tuesday night. Durney was Mendel's pitcher and was ably supported by Pedro Bonnin at shortstop who hit a home run with the bases loaded in the big sixth inning.

PLAYER OF THE WEEK: Paul Wiedenhafer, catcher for the League leading Fedigan B team. Paul showed that his ability as a softball player equals his work with the varsity hardball team of last semester, by nipping three runners at the place in the recent

Wildcat Gridmen Hold Scrimmages

By JOHN PESHINA

With practice running into it's third week, the boys are beginning to get in shape. Having sweated and knocked each other around Goodreau Stadium through almost three weeks of hard training, they are learning the finer points of basic football. Saturday, August 4, there will be an intrasquad scrimmage beginning at 2:00. This will give Coach Olivar an idea of what he has, and what he still has to accomplish. Now, on with some of the boys . . .

Mickey Comisky, 5'11" and 187 lbs, comes to us from Scranton Tech, which was city champ of Scranton. He received 3 years experience as a guard and tackle. Mickey was mentioned on the "All Scholastic" second team for two years.

Joe Brecelnik, 6'3½" and 195 lbs, is an end from Duryea H.S. where he received 4 years experience. Joe has shown Olly what he could do last Spring, when the squad held its Spring practice.

Dave Genneralli, a fullback from Hornell H.S., weighs 195 and 6' tall. Hornell, which is in New York, was the county champ, and it was here he received 4 years experience and was chosen on the "all county" team for 3 straight years. Dave has proven his ability as a hard plunging fullback in the intrasquad scrimmage last Spring.

Jerry DeMuro, from Northeast Catholic, having 3 years experience at center, weighs 175 lbs and is 5'11" tall. Jerry is a great defensive player and a swell sportsman.

It's time again we dug into our our dusty pages of history and from among the volumes covered with cobwebs, pull out and dust dust off the big volume entitled Leo Goodreau. This story has been told many times, even to the fellows here but a few months, but the tragic and heroic beauty to the tale makes it worth worth repeating a thousand times again.

Leo Goodreau was an Arts student here in 1928. In the short time he was here he attained the high-standing reputation of a brilliant student. He had become well-liked by all the fellows and he was blessed with an uncrushable school spirit. As a sophomore he was not only taken into the Pi Omega Phi fraternity, but he was crowned with the honor of the year, the President of the Sophomore class.

In the Fall of his sophomore year, Goodreau went out for the Villanova football team. He had always had an intense interest in sports. With consistent hard Work, Leo rounded out into an agile and capable quarterback, with much to look forward to with regards to football.

Tragedy struck, on a bright Fall afternoon, when Leo was critically injured in a football practice. On that fateful Friday, September 28, 1928, Leo Goodreau saw his last of Villanova. He passed on to his eternal reward the following Tuesday.

On the night before he died, a Catholic priest was there to administer the last Sacraments. The priest asked Leo if he was afraid to die. Goodreau's lips parted and he uttered, "No, Father, I wasn't afraid to live, why should I be afraid to die?"

Well, there it is. The story of one of Villanova's most remembered athletes, although he never got a chance to play for the Blue and White. The stadium below the

Big Tennis Tourney To Open On August Sixth

Entries Extended To August First; Keen Interest Shown by Students; Seeding Now Underway

By FRED KOCH, A.S.

Plans for the tennis tournament are progressing very well and the entries received to date indicate the success of the event. More than forty entries were filled out by the students and it is expected that the faculty will have a good turnout for their part of the tourney. The tournament will start on August 6 and continue until a winner is determined in each class.

Seeding of the players got underway yesterday and will continue all this week. The players being seeded will play only one set and the schedule for the seedings will be found on the civilian bulletin board.

Many Good Entrants

Many fine tennis players are entered in the various classes. Among the faculty are Father Vrana, Father McKee, Lt. N. Craig, Mr. Oakey and Father Burke. Father Burke is really determined to show his skill at the game and promises to give a hard battle to all his opponents.

Several of the students entering the class A division are: James Riley, P. C. Butler, U.S.M.C., and R. L Welsh, A.S. Among the class B entries, we have, H. Ward, J. Hinkamp and J. Dzwonczyk.

Entrance Date Extended

Entries to the tournament will be held open until August 1 to enable the late entries to be included. Those who enter late will be seeded before the start of the tournament. Many fellows have failed to enter because they feel that they must be exceptionally good players. That is the wrong opinion. The reason for forming the two classes was to give all a chance to participate. If you are one of those fellows get your entry blank in for class B competition. The more players the more enjoyment the tournament will give to all.

The rules which will govern the tourney are published below and

Track Squad Runs Time Trials For Old And New Men

On Thursday night, July 26, members of the Blue and White winged-foot squad began earnest practice in preparation for the Princeton Meet, which is less than a month away. The track team is pointing for this meet, which is to be held in Princetons' Palmer Stadium on August 18. Because it is the only meet scheduled for the Wildcats this summer, they wish to make as good a track showing as in the previous semester.

Time trials were held for those who had been practicing the week before and the results were as follows: Danny Redmond led the milers home without much opposition and, in the 440, Joe Costello produced the best time but not without a fight from George Aulbach. In the only other events, Burt Cox and Tom Short shared honors in the 100-yard dash and in the 220-yard dash Short showed his heels to the rest of the field in a manner indicative of a coming champion.

Men in Good Form

Jack Glascott and Leroy Colllegeman did their timber-topping without the aid of a watch and showed that their form and balance was of the best. Vince Megna performed with the shot, while Joe Neitzke

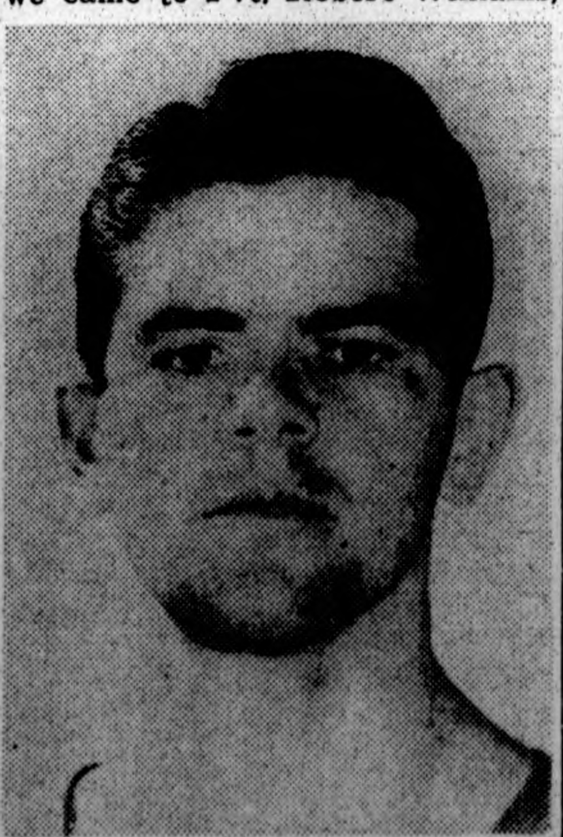
In The Sportlight

By BOB MANSKE

The baseball season for Villanova is over and it didn't turn out to be a record-breaking one; however, we would like to leaf our way through the pages and give some well-deserved credit to some of the ball players who made up the valiant club.

We poured over the pages till we came to Pvt. Robert Williams,



BOBBY WILLIAMS

USMCR, who, while on the club, proved himself to be one of the most valuable players who donned the Cats' uniform last season.

Bob, before he joined the Marines in December, 1943, was going up the ladder of success in baseball. Bob has been playing baseball wherever he could get a game going ever since he was born in Maryland in November, 1924. His family moved to New York when he was a young boy and here he attended Brooklyn Tech. for two years where he played shortstop on the varsity nine. Later he moved to Cumberland, Maryland, and attended Allegheny High, where he also played shortstop on the varsity squad. At Allegheny, he also earned himself a letter in varsity football.

Major League Player

When the 1943 baseball season started, Bob was playing with Hornell, in the Pony League. This league operates in Pennsylvania, New York and Ontario. At once, the Big League scouts termed him a major league shortstop. The lucky club to secure his services was the Pittsburgh Pirates. Bob admits that this was one of the biggest thrills he has ever experienced.

He admitted that the season that the Blue and White just finished wasn't too good. "We had a darned good team, but we made mistakes at the wrong time," was his comment on the season. He also added that Father McCarthy was one of the best coaches that he ever played under. Bob won't be around next season because he moves out in February. This will be a great loss to Villanova.

National Defense League

Bob, who is still owned by the Pirates, was put on the National Defense League roster and will return to the Pirates after the war. Parris Island was the site at which he received his boot training and he was stationed there in an MP Unit, guarding prisoners. Our sincerest best wishes go to Bob for success in his baseball career.

Stakes and moved to West Philadelphia where Dick attended Transfiguration Parochial School. He participated in intramurals and was secretary of his class while at West. The urge for further education called Dick away from High School in the middle of his senior year and on February 1, 1943 he enrolled in the School of Civil Engineering here at Villanova.

He day-hopped his first semester, but in July, Dick came to live on the campus under the auspices of the Navy and, as was mentioned before, he was a member of that unforgettable quartet which roomed in 453 Mendel. Richard has become a well known figure on the campus through Intramural and Varsity sports. He is a member of the Sanctuary Society and A.S.C.E., of which he was Secretary-Treasurer and is now President. Dick was also co-chairman of the decorating committee for the aforementioned Senior Dinner Dance. As for the social end, Mr. Madigan finds time to spend most of his weekends with Joan.

If you want to listen to a good argument, just go to 208 Fedigan which is the present residence of Huber and Madigan and all that will greet your ears will be the constant differences in opinion as to the merits of West Catholic and Southeast Catholic. But, if you prefer to take a trouncing, just ring in a few football teams and these two guys will stick together like two peas in a pod.

Well, that's —30— for this week, so it is adios until next Tuesday.

"By George,"

After Hours

By LeROY COLLEGEMAN, A.S.

Well here we are back at the same old stand after a layoff of several months. It's good to be back and hear the "noises of a newspaper" while you're composing (?); the roar of the presses, the whir of machinery, and the Great John J. Burns shouting, "I gotta have that column soon, and keep it clean."

Summertime . . .

And de libin' is easy . . . especially with so many terrific parties being given for the boys . . . There was the McDonnell shindig down in Ardmore that will be remembered long by all present for the quality and quantity of women, "liquid refreshment" and food . . . Highlights of the evening there were the tricky dance steps of John Childers and Dutch Fauber, who stayed over to have breakfast with the Macs . . . Don Barrett's way with Ann, Joe Neitzke's complete lack of timing, and Eric Green's guardianship of the kitchen . . . Others in on a real good thing were Hank Ward, Joe Gastrock and Paul Hult who weren't around much Hashmark Bradley, Jo Brehmer, Jack "where's my wife" Glascott, Howie Groetzinger and others.

Out west on the Main line (in or near Bryn Mawr) several intrepid sailors dared the elements to hold a picnic . . . while not many details are available it was learned that Bob Lane, Steve Vrachopoulos, Bill Bailey and Hank Scanlon were the ringleaders in this bit of derrin-do . . .

And Wintertime . . .

This past Winter a lot of our present trainees were up at the "Berg" so it would be only fair to mention a couple of the couple's that come to eye since they came here a month ago. . .there's Jack Gaskill and Betty, "Gus" Agostinelli and Alice, Len Riccio and Lena and Gourley and Otto. . .we may not have an outdoor pool here boys, but just wait until Rosemont opens . . .

They're not in the right order but they fit better this way . . . Evening time, usually associated with either softball games or with coming back to school on Sunday . . . Tony Cocco noted Sunday evening along with Bill Elliot at that haven for work worn sailors, the stage Door Canteen, with Eleanor and Elaine, respectfully and respectively . . . Walt Huber and Joe Costello seen with some unindentified witch en route to "that place" . . . they dropped her in Liggett's after she showed evidence of wanting something to eat, namely a hot fudge sundae . . . Bill Reed and Cy Korneff arriving, green and puffing, like in guerilla drill, at one minute to eight in the Navy Office . . . close but no cigar . . .

And Mornin' time . . .

"Go away, it can't be 0620 yet . . . is it raining out? maybe we won't have to go out." But not on Sunday morning . . . on the Sabbath the big question is . . . shall we stay up for the 6:30 Mass, or get up for the eleven o'clock . . . with these thoughts in mind we slowly face into oblivion for another week . . . "and looking back we can see the native of this novel community (that place) going to their beds for a few hours of well earned rest . . . may they rest well so that they will be able to do toil on the morrow."

Field House was erected in his memory, and there large crowds jammed to see some of the most memorable games in Villanova's football history.

To the old men who are reading this story for the second or even the third time, we publish it as a reminder of the courageous and strong character of this man who found bravery in the face of death. To the new men, we publish it as a true and impressive story in the history of the College. May the spirit of Leo Goodreau live on forever and become an inspiration to all who walk the campus of Villanova in the future.

1—Players must wear smooth bottom tennis shoes.

2—Players must wear tops while on the tennis courts.

3—Try to be on time for your matches and if it is impossible to play, notify F. J. Koch, Room 108 Fedigan Hall in time so that the opponent can be advised.

4—In case a player cannot play at the scheduled time he should so arrange it with his opponent to play the match at their convenience.

5—All changes in match schedules should be reported, stating the day and time the match will be played.

6—The changes of match playing should be brought to the Villanovan Office and placed in a box provided for that purpose.

7—Any player who does not appear for his scheduled match will automatically forfeit the game to his opponent.

8—Score cards will be obtained in the Villanovan Office, and when the match is completed, these cards should be filled out by the players and deposited in the box in that office.

9—Players will be their own judges and scorekeepers except in the quarter-finals, semi-finals, and finals, at which games referees will be provided.

10—The winner of the match must win two out of three sets.

present, and a young Belgian girl—a Red Cross volunteer. We gently let John lie down on the floor, and gave him a syrette of morphine, although as I said I am sure he felt no pain. He died very quietly within five minutes. I hope you will find comfort in the fact that the village priest was called and arrived almost at once. He asked me to tell you that John received all proper rites — he especially asked me to tell you this. I personally wrapped a blanket around him, and not long after the ambulance arrived. Unfortunately I can give you no details as to the place of burial, but doubtless that information will reach you in time.

I know how bitterly painful all this must be for you, and I am sorry from my heart that it must be so. It must seem unfitting, but I canot avoid telling you what a real loss all John's friends have felt. He had many of them, and I have always been proud that I could call myself one of them. I am grateful that I could be with him at such a time, but it must always remain one of the bitterest moments of my life.

There is nothing I can say. But if or when I return may I come to see you? Meanwhile, you and Mrs. Corkill know you have my deepest sympathy.

Most faithfully yours,
Franklin Brewer.

ing conditions. In June of 1943, the internees were taken to the Santo Tomas camp in Manila. There were 3,000 people already there but in comparison to the other camps, Fr. Casey said it was like a country club. This camp was run by the Japanese Diplomatic Corps until the tide turned on the Japs in December of 1943. The camp was then placed under the Army command and all facilities were closed. Nothing was too nasty or too mean to be done to the people. It was at this time that bowing to the Japs was instituted.

In July 1944, the camp was placed under the meanest of all the commanders. Then in September 555 American planes came over and it was truly a beautiful sight to these prisoners. The internees knew that the Americans had landed on Leyte on October 15 and excitedly followed their progress. On Christmas Eve, a solemn high Mass was celebrated and one American flyer came over the camp and dropped an American Christmas card.

On Jan. 9 the Americans landed 292 kilometers away on Lingayen Gulf and in the first part of February, word reached the camp that the Americans were but 25 miles away. Later that same day, three tanks came roaring up the road to the camp with their guns blazing. On March 3 the city was finally secured. Repatriation started almost immediately. Fr. Casey shipped out on April 10 and arrived in San Francisco on May 15. At present, Fr. Casey is in Lawrence, Mass., visiting his parents and friends.

The copy for this edition has been sent to the printers recently and it is expected that the book will be issued in October. The price for the book is set at five dollars per copy except to those who have paid activities fees. Those who place orders are required to make a deposit of one dollar at the time of ordering, the rest being due on delivery. Fr. Falvey warns that no extra copies will be printed, and unless orders are placed now, it will be impossible to obtain a copy of this year's book.

The Belle Air, carrying the record of student activities from the day of entrance to the day of graduation, has won high awards in competition with other yearbooks. Photographs of campus personalities and activities are a prominent feature of the book. The book this year will be printed partly by letterpress and partly by offset.

There will be a meeting of all students desiring to join the staff of the 1946 Belle Air Yearbook on Monday, August 13, 1945 at one o'clock in the Belle Air Office. The office is located on the second floor of Mendel Hall, Room 235. Any students wishing to join who can not attend on that day may leave their name and the type of work they desire to do on a piece of paper at the office.

Drama Club Drops Amateur Night Plans

Due to a special muster and the Band meeting this past Friday night, the regular meeting of the Villanova Dramatic Society was not held. However, Sergeant John C. Muir, moderator of the club, has announced that the Amateur Night originally scheduled for late in August has been cancelled.

The reason for this cancellation is the fact that there would be involved too many complications to take a chance on the success of the show. The turnout for this crossed-off production was plentiful and good. This talent is being held in reserve for a later date when the club hopes to put on such an attraction.

Rehearsals for the forthcoming play started this week and intensive work is being done to present another Dramatic Club hit. Eugene Miller, A.S., a Navy man from Fedigan Hall has been cast in the leading role. Miller was transferred here from Muhlenberg this past semester and immediately upon his arrival here he joined the Drama Society. Others in the cast include: White Sonner, Larry Bradley, Don Barrett, Al Dagit, Jimmy Breene, C. D. Cummings, Jim Taddei and Carl Schneider.

The club is as yet still open for new members and one and all are welcome to attend the meetings on Friday nights in room 215 Mendel.

Conference On Rural Life Held At Rosemont

Conferees Hear Monsignor Ligutti Speak on Purpose of Rural Life Organization

The annual institute of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference was held on Friday, August 3 at Rosemont College in conjunction wtih the Summer School at Villanova College.

The audience, comprising members of the various teaching Sisterhoods and faculty members of both colleges, listened to a discussion of the growth and development as well as the aims of the Rural Life Conference, ably presented by the Rev. William J. Gibbons, S.J., of the "America" staff.

Four aims of the Conference are:

1. To care for the underprivileged Catholics living on the land by providing educational and cultural advantages, besides looking after their spiritual welfare.

2. To keep on the land Catholics who are now on the land, rather than to have them seek the dubious opportunities the cities are supposed to offer.

3. To settle more Catholics on the land, either as full-time farmers or as part-time farmers in a decentralized industrial economy.

4. To convert the non-Catholics now on the land, since there are some 70,000,000 Americans who belong to no church, and who haven't been baptised.

The Right Rev. Monsignor Luigi G. Ligutti, executive secretary of the Conference was introduced by the chairman of the institute, Rev. Anthony L. Ostheimer, Ph.D. In his most interesting and thought-provoking discussion, Msgr. Ligutti concerned himself for the most part with our educational problems as they concern urban and rural populations.

School standards must be re-examined in the lights of the needs of the community, Monsignor Ligutti insisted. We must study our expenditures in money and talent together with the purposes and results of our educational efforts. Actually, he continued, we are not educating the Catholics of tomorrow, but rather a relatively small professional group, doomed to extinction in the "graveyard of America," the area north of the Mason-Dixon Line and east of the Ohio River.

Just what is "higher education?" Do we teach intellectual and practical virtues? . . . straight thinking and acting virtuously? How efficient are our schools? Is the development of personality the aim of our educational system? These are just some of the pertinent questions which the Monsignor asked his hearers.

Virtue and virtuous living should be the aim of our curriculum. The nobility of physical labor must be stressed, as well as a knowledge of Credit Unions and Cooperatives as ways of releasing our people from the bondage of loan sharks, and of encouraging thrift and mutual assistance.

"Americans are recreationally bankrupt!" was the startling statement of the Monsignor who has travelled the countryside from one end to the other. Our schools must teach the knowledge and value of true recreation.

Monsignor Ligutti ended his talk with an ardent plea for real family life, family-ownership of homes, light, air and space for decent living, and the opportunity to live and make a living within a reasonable distance from home.

Father Ostheimer then introduced Mr. Paul Sacco of the Catholic Institutional Co-operative, who briefly presented the purposes and accomplishments of this group which now comprises 85 members, mostly religious institutes.

The afternoon session was divided into two sessions; the first, in which small groups met to discuss the talks of the morning session and to evoke problems. These latter were then presented in the general discussion session at 2:30 o'clock.

Villanovans at the Front

Word has reached the Villanovan Office that Sgt. Edward Maginnis, Class of 1924, has received the Bronze Star for "Meritorious Service."

Sgt. Maginnis participated in the campaigns at Metz, Saurlautern, and in the Ruhr Pocket. He is now at the "Tophat" Staging Area, Antwerp, Belgium, awaiting shipment to the United States under the Army Redeployment Program.

We can chalk up at least one Jap to Private Mike Lingenfelter, a Villanova Alumnus, from W. Linn St., Belfonte.

Private Lingfelter was informed of the Jap's whereabouts by some Filipino guerillas. He and one of the guerillas surrounded the house that held their prey, a Captain, and then charged into the place, so surprising the Jap that he surrendered immediately.

Private Lingfelter is a veteran of the Admiralty Islands, New Guinea, Leyte and Luzon campaigns, and holds the Philippines Liberation Medal with two bronze stars and the Good Conduct Medal.

CAMP to CAMPUS

By ROBERT J. CONWAY

The mail is stacked high this week and the old bag was groaning from wear when it gave out the information that John "Lovey" Quinn '44 and C. John Burke '44 with the American Field Service in England expected to come home when they received their orders to move. They send their regards from the point of transfer 'the Burma theatre' saying that of all places in the world there is nothing that compares with 'Scenic Burma.' Congratulations to Tom Baxter now at Camp Endicott on the announcement of his engagement to Miss Mildred Richey, and to S 1/ Pat Reagan '45 on his graduation from Radio school at Gulfport, Mississippi.

Some of the boys were back for a visit in the last few days, among them were Pvt. Pat Coletta ex '47 who said that he soon hopes to be back and when he arrives he will join the Business school on the campus. Pfc. Louis Slater came in for a visit on the end of his 30-day leave on return from Europe with the famous 87th Infantry. It was understood that he has been recommended for the Bronze Star. Lieut. Tom Quigley from the 14th Air Force, formerly the famous Flying Tigers in the CBI theatre returned to the calm of the campus after taking the big C 47 Transport over the famed hump.

Gazing back into the mailbag we find that S /C Dom Verssagi ex '45 is stationed at the Navy Pier in the 'Windy City' and finds Chicago nice but he would much rather find himself in the confines of old O' Dwyer Hall. Cpl. Bill Lielethal writes from Germany that he also misses the old gang including 'the cigar leading Fr. Burke around.' He also says that he has been training with the Track Team and that in a Division Meet held on the tenth of July he won the Discus throw. He is now in a training camp in southern Germany within sight of the Alps and on the banks of the Danube River.

Ensign Ken Reeher writes from Fort Schuyler that everything is fine and he imparts the following information: John Coyle, Charlie Johnson, and Ray 'I want to be a football hero,' Willie are now on active sea duty after finishing at Fort Schuyler and Mamarilla is stationed at Sampson. Ensign Dick Sigg has been sent to Underwater Demolition School after graduating from Notre Dame. Ken ran into the following boys who were sent to Schuyler after graduation from Columbia: P. Hare, Frank Kempf, E. Dahl, Bill Wallis and Bill Scharn-

Ninety-two To Receive Summer Session Degrees

Fr. McGuire To Celebrate Baccalaureate Mass; Degrees To Be Conferred By Fr. Bartley at Rosemont

The Twenty-Eighth Annual Commencement Exercises of the Summer Session of Villanova College will be held this Saturday morning, August 11, in the Immaculate Conception Chapel of Rosemont College. The exercises will begin at 9:00 A. M. with a Missa Cantata to be sung by Very Rev. Francis X. N. McGuire, O.S.A., President of the College. A total of 92 candidates will be presented with degrees by Rev. Joseph C. Bartley, O. S. A., Dean of the Summer Session. The Address to the graduates will be given by Fr. McGuire. Music for the Mass and Commencement Exercises will be sung by the Augustinian Scholastic Choir of Villanova.

Of the ninety-two candidates for degrees, eighty-four are religious Sisters, and four are Brothers. One priest and three lay women complete the list. The Degree of Master of Arts will be presented to thirty-seven of the candidates. One will receive the Master of Science Degree in Biology and one the Master of Science in Physics. Forty-three Bachelor of Science in Education Degrees will be awarded, while there are five candidates for the Bachelor of Science in Library Science, one for the Bachelor of Science in Nursing, and four for the Bachelor of Arts Degree.

Fifty Religious Communities Represented

The total enrollment in the Summer Session this year amounted to 1105 students. Fifty different Religious communities are represented in this number. At Rosemont College 394 were enrolled in the Summer Session, while 194 students attended the sessions held in Hallahan High School in Philadelphia. The remainder attended sessions held in various convents in this vicinity.

This Summer marks the third time the Summer Session was held on the Rosemont Campus. Prior to the accelerated program at Villanova College, the Summer Session was always conducted on the Villanova Campus. In 1943 the dormitory and classroom facilities of the Villanova Campus were completely taken over by Navy V-12 and other civilian students, and the Summer Session moved to the Rosemont Campus.

Phi Kappa Pi To Make Member Drive This Month

The PKP, now in the process of amalgamation after the graduation of the majority of its officers and members from the ranks of the upperclassmen, has appointed a committee to organize prospective new members from the ranks of the Engineers who entered Villanova this July. These members are to be on a temporary membership basis until initiations are held next semester but will be permitted to enjoy all the privileges accorded members till that time.

At a meeting last week members of the committee appointed to undertake this task from Fedigan were: J. Shoemaker, W. Huber, and G. Scanlon. C. Korneff, G. Basick and G. Elsesser will canvas Austin, and F. Ronan, W. Koerner, and J. Feeney will cover Delurey, Simpson and Mendel. To cover the Dayhops are J. Mellon, J. Bauman, R. Figgs and J. Brogan.

Plans were also made for a smoker to be held early in September at which it is planned to acquaint new members with the workings of the frat and to introduce them to the "old-timers" of the organization. Jack Glancey, a Senior Chemical Engineer, was made the acting secretary succeeding Al Dumsa who held that post before he was made acting president during Joe Hoffman's absence.

VISIT CAMPUS

Ensign Joseph Doyle and Ensign John Coyle recently paid the campus a visit. They both were stationed here during the last Summer semester. Both were just commissioned from USNR Midshipman School and are currently awaiting assignment to further duty.

Picture of the Week

'Ye Olde Pie Shoppe'

One of the old Villanova institutions which has changed the least is the Pie Shop. Here a group of the boys is shown getting that last-minute snack before class. Probably the bell has already rung, but it doesn't seem to be causing these eager students any worry.

(This week's picture was taken by Manuel Labour, campus character, who happened to be impressed by the homey atmosphere of the place. We are waiting to hear from more students with interesting campus shots.)

Why Is A College?

One of the most desirable and perhaps most important benefits to be derived from a college education is the development of a cultured outlook on life. Important as are the other mental and technical facilities imparted by higher education, the perfecting of the ability to live and think as a human being stands out the most truly valuable asset of an educated man.

The degree of an individual's culture is most commonly and probably most accurately measured by his behavior toward his fellow men. The mode of man's behavior toward his fellow men has come to be known as manners or etiquette. It comprises mainly the little details that come up in human relations, the 'little things' which are so important.

On a campus where men live among men with little regard to the finer details of social courtesy, one is apt to forget that such things do exist and are still important. The only way to insure against complete loss of the cultural niceties to which we have been accustomed, is to continue to exercise them in our campus life.

The Villanova 'Hello Habit' was designed to help preserve these customs and to insure that Villanova men will be more than technicians or scientists, but will be human beings as well. This habit, like so many others, has somewhat deteriorated during recent times.

One of the Freshman Regulations recently announced is directed at the revival of this habit. This does not apply to Freshmen alone but may well be observed by all the students. It takes just a little bit of effort to give the other fellow a cheerful greeting, but when this is made a habit, it not only helps to relieve the monotony of school routine, but also has a definitely worthwhile and permanent effect upon our life in general.

Those who think that such things are something to be reserved for more appropriate places are apt to find that if they are not cultivated constantly in daily life, they will be very hard to put in practice when the occasion arises. The 'Hello Habit' is only one of the ways in which we can inject a little courtesy into our dealings with our fellow students. The exercise of a little consideration for the other fellow in all our activities will go a long way toward making things go easier for all concerned.

The 'Hello Habit' seems to be taking hold, but there are still a few misanthropes who can't seem to see the value of acting like the rest of the crowd. It won't hurt you to give a greeting or show a little courtesy toward your fellows and it will make the day run a little smoother for both of you.

This much we can do in our daily life to aid toward the acquirement of an innate sense of courtesy which is so rare today. Our behavior off the campus should likewise reflect the fact that we have more than a technical education but are also aware of some of the more important aspects of social behavior.

and JOHN FITZGIBBONS

Well here we are with all the news of the week. Attended a swell party last Saturday night at Dave Ryan's in Wayne. It was like a Rosie reunion with Joanne O'Brien, Ann Sapone and Eleanor Lockwood, and June Cousens from Immaculata. But we would like to know just who invited Moon Mullins? The next party will be held in the Wayne police station. Red Dog Koerner and Al Dumsa were also there. Hopalong gave a very sweet rendition of "College Days" and yours truly learned that it is best to find out just who is related to whom before making any "faux pas" in the future.

And we would also like to know how Fr. Sullivan gets his news so fast . . . And that spectacle you saw walking about the campus on Sunday afternoon was Bob Conway and his very nice one and only . . . Since we are talking about "one and only's" Lennie certainly has Joe Sweeney running around in circles . . . And still more news from Simpson, will Matt Pastell please tell us what that girl finds to write in those two daily letters. There must be a lot of news in Tarrytown . . . Hank Scanlon and Don Schmucker seemed to have a pretty good time in Wayne Saturday nite according to reports. See boys, steady attendence at Martin's pays good dividends.

We have been asked to make a special announcement. All "straight-shooters" are asked to attend the showing of "Gentle Annie" Tuesday evening at the Seville. Hopalong Dumsa will give out the deputy sheriff badges to all presenting two Wheaties box tops. Will all members please leave their spurs at home.

Tom Hitchell '44, visited us last Saturday. Other visitors were George Hoberg, Jim Day, Pat Coletta and Tom Quigley. Tom expects to be back at school in November . . . And at this time we would like to congratulate all members of last month's graduating class who were sworn in as midshipmen last week at Columbia . . . In case you would care for some new neckties we hear that some really nice ones can be purchased in the Ben Franklin dining room for $1.75. At least Aurelio Baccino thought it was reasonable . . . And now a little crusading; how about all residents trying to look like gentlemen on Sunday A. M. (even if its hurts) and wear coats and ties. We have heard on very good authority if this isn't done voluntarily, if will be enforced by the school . . . Delurey Hall was the scene last Wednesday evening of a party in honor of Fr. Gildea's 25th (?) birthday. Everyone had a swell time except Fr. Grimes who kept wishing he was moderator in such a nice hall. (Well that certainly will bring the column some fan mail.) After the party, "Yard Bird" Ward gave an interesting talk on the "Rigors of Army Life." It's amazing what these frosh will listen to . . .

The Pink Medal this week goes to "Two-Buck" Riley. Two-Buck has suffered severely at the hands of a cruel fate. Oh well, maybe he will be a little guy, Riley and if not you have at least the satisfaction of knowing he is a Villanovan . . . Saw Hal Varani at the shore the other day with Sadie Ginsburg. Is she really your aunt, Hal?

Miracles of miracles, we finally heard that Bill Bradley ran for the P. and W. Even the conductor was surprised. For witnesses we have Ciotola and Ferguson to prove this unbelievable feat. Our congratulations to that frosh who took our hint of a few weeks ago and has proven to us that he is the type of fellow we originally thought he was. Nice going frosh . . . Those two old men of Delurey Hall, John Ciotola and Bill Ferguson are certainly having maid trouble. Looks like John will have to bring his better half out here to take care of the housekeeping duties on the third floor.

And finally good luck to all the new officers of the Sophomore Class. We only have one regret. We were sorry that two such good candidates were running for the office of President, thereby depriving the class of the service of one of them. But we are sure that Harry Edwards realizes that he has a great guy in the person of Fred Koch, a true Villanovan in every sense of the word, to help him in any class activities.

Meet the Boys

By GEORGE ELSESSER, A.S. and GEORGE AULBACK, A.S.

YOU'VE heard about that infamous tree which grew, you know where. Well, we have one that will top it. We know the guy who made the jernt famous. Myles Francis Connors, Jr. was born September 15, 1925 in Flatbush and he yelled so loud that people for miles around heard him and thus Flatbush was first noticed by the folks living west of the Brooklyn Bridge.

After such a brilliant start, it was only right that Myles should lend his talents to the various states, so the Connors family made a tour of the Middle Atlantic States, finally ending in Garden City, Long Island. Our little history maker had reached the age of five about the time the family had settled down and he just couldn't wait until he could go to school and annoy the teachers.

On a bright sunny day in early September in the year of Our Lord, 1931, M. F. entered Garden City Public School and the teachers just sighed and resigned themselves to their fate. For the next eight years, these poor teachers, all except the pretty ones, lived in fear, for who could tame the young celebrity. In 1939, they all sighed again and there was joy in the air, for Myles had gone on to high school. The high school was none other than Garden City High School and here Francis assumed a new attitude. He was the perfect little gentleman, never causing anyone any trouble. There was a reason for this change in Monsier Connors, the school was co-ed, he was 14, and the birds sang, flowers grew, and so on. However, in February 1943, Myles tore himself away from his beautiful little world and came to Villanova.

He matriculated here in the school of Civil Engineering. Francois was a resident student, living on the third deck (it was floor then) under the capable guidance of Fathers McQuade and Kropp. Again, like most of us, he spent a quiet first semester.

July 1, 1943, saw Myles in Navy whites on the campus of Villanova. He was assigned to the fourth deck of Mendel Hall this time. A few days after his arrival on the fourth deck, his room was designated "Republican Headquarters." Besides taking care of all political matters, Myles worked on the Villanovan and became an active member of the A.S.C.E.

MYLES F. CONNORS, A.S.

Tex, (you guess where he picked up this nickname), has taken it rather easy on the girls in this neck of the woods for he has a one and only who answers to the name of Jean in that great metropolis, Garden City.

Mr. Connors figures that the Japs along with the Navy have taken care of his immediate future but he wishes to warn H. P. Dumsa that

A. S. M. E.

The A.S.M.E. has chosen Mr. George H. Auth, Assistant Professor of Mechanical Engineering, as its new Honorary Chairman. Mr. Auth promises to make the society as active as possible.

Within the next two weeks the society will hold its first joint meeting of old and new members. At this meeting a moving picture will be shown explaining the various construction and uses of valves. A lecturer will be on hand to point out the features of the picture.

Mr. Auth will start the meeting with a short talk on the advantages of membership in the student branch of the A.S.M.E.

Opening of Tennis Meet To Be Held Tomorrow Night

Six P. M. Curtain Time for Biggest Tourney Here in Several Years; Many Noted Entries

Due to the unexpected rainy weather that has been making these days miserable and hard on the whites, the opening of the tennis tournament has been changed to August 8. This three day delay is needed to enable the seedings to proceed in order that all the players will be placed in their proper classes.

The pairings will be posted on the civilian bulletin board and this should be consulted by students who are entered in the tournament. This will enable the tourney to run more smoothly and make it more enjoyable to the players.

At last the prizes to be given to the winners can be announced. Medals will be given to the winner and the runner up in each division. These medals will be placed on display as soon as they are received. There will be a difference in design in the medals to be awarded the victors in the two divsiions.

Schedule on Bulletin Board

In order to keep the tourney running on an even keel, the players should play their matches at the scheduled time. If this is not possible, the players should choose a time as close to the scheduled time as possible.

Since most of the entries received were in the class B division, those players will be the first to start play. The first and second rounds will be played in this division before the other classes start so that all the classes will finish about the same time.

The most important thing is to cooperate and constantly consult the bulletin board as to the date you should play and get in touch with your opponent. As a double check, a score card will be given to one of the players. The card should be brought to the Villanovan office and deposited in the box which is set aside for this purpose.

The Villanova students are invited to attend these matches and I'm sure you will see some of the finest tennis played on the campus in some time.

Your cooperation will be appreciated and the tourney's success depends on you. This tournament should be successful and start once again the fine college spirit which has been shown in the past.

Famed New Villanova Cat Now In Search Of Name

Mascot Gaining Far-Reaching Fame and Poses for Photographers; Season Pass Award for Best Name

By RUSS WELCH, A.S.

It isn't easy to appease a cat, especially a Wildcat. Villanova's newly acquired mascot seems completely disinterested toward the turmoil it has effected by its appearance on the campus. Photographers were received with growls of discontent. The syndicated article carried in the New York Times and sent across the continent on the wires of the Associated Press did not bring the slightest trace of satisfaction to the Wildcat.

However, looking at the problem from the mascot's angle, one can easily understand his position. To begin with, his reception committee displayed little enthusiasm on his arrival at the College. Fr. McKee, College athletic Moderator, bearing in mind the difficulty of obtaining experienced nursemaids, was a little hesitant in accepting the Wildcat. The question was easily settled, however, when the delivery man pronounced the memorable words: "Boss, you're keepin' him; I just ain't takin' him back." Meanwhile the "felis catus" set astounded by such unbelievable dispute; never in his eight weeks of life had he experienced such a disdainful reference to his character. Why, it would have been a corruption of his good NAME — had he had a name.

This, alas, is the mournful chapter in the life of our mascot. Up to this date, the College's pride is just an anonymous Wildcat; his "persona" is as yet no more individualistic than the lowly alley-act. Why shouldn't he be irritable?

Recently the mail of the College's Reverend Moderator of Athletics has been heaped with letters from all over the country offering choices for the new mascot's name. Characteristic of the American spirit, numerous catchy names have been submitted. It was also noted how so many Villanova fans selected significant names in honor of former Villanova football stars such as "Clipper," "Basca" and "Barney." One of the most popular selections was "Villan" and derivatives of the same, such as the stately title of "Count Villan II," which turns back the pages of College History to fifteen years ago when another Wildcat thrilled the fans of Villanova by parading the gridiron. "Hal-Cat" was appropriately suggested by one fan, in gratiture to the donor, S/Sgt. James E. Halpin, alumnus and former football manager. It would to folly to attempt citing all the names submitted. Just keep them coming! A season' s pass to the Villanova home games is offered for the winning name. The name best suited will be chosen by the Wildcat nursery Staff.

Rain Postpones Week's Intra-M's

Once again the torrential rains put a halt to the Intramural Softball schedule for this past week. Monday and Tuesday night's games were called on account of wet grounds and the remaining contests were held up by drenching rainstorms.

With the advent of clear weather ahead, for a while anyway, Father Kemme and Father Girolami announced that the schedule will continue next week as planned. The games which were not played this week will not be played off.

Rain again threatens the first two days of this week's schedule and intramural softballers are itching to get back at the struggle for the League championship. Some of the varsity baseballers of this past Spring are shining their way through the intramural teams in order to keep busy and they enjoy it, too.

Fedigan B still remains in the league lead and the standings are given below.

PLAYER OF THE WEEK: Bill Burr, of Fedigan B, who, although there were no games this past week, has been playing air-tight ball for his team all throughout the season. Bill, who was transferred here from Muhlenberg, has been in a large part responsible for Fedigan B keeping a tight hold on first place.

Blues Defeat Whites In Intra-Squad Contest

Wildcats Meet Penn in Scrimmage Here Last Friday; Team Looks Good in Intrasquad Tilt

By HENRY WARD A.S.

The first days of hot, sunny weather in almost three weeks found Villanova's varsity football squad in action on Goodreau Stadium field. Friday afternoon, amid temperature ranging in the eighties, the Blue and White team scrimmaged the University of Pennsylvania and on Saturday the squad was divided into two teams, the Blues and Whites, and another game was played.

No score was kept in the scrimmage game but it was noted that the Villanova squad, with only two weeks practice, showed plenty of fight against a much more experienced Penn team. Many of the veterans of Spring practice looked very good and the newcomers showed a lot of promise. The team is fast rounding into shape.

Williams Looks Good

Jimmy Smith looked very good at his guard position in the scrimmage. He recovered a Penn fumble and was constantly breaking up the line plunges which came in his direction. Gene Alvarez also showed a lot of promise at guard. Schlencher and Ed Gonglefski looked good on defense as did Bucky Williams, last years team captain, who intercepted one pass and broke up another. Chick Welde got off two good punts and did some fine broken field running. Carstens made two nice catches while playing end and also did some fine defensive work.

Saturday's intra-squad game gave all the boys a chance to show their ability. The Blue squad, coached by Jordan Olivar defeated Gerry Neri's White-clad team by the close score of 6 to 0. For the Blue team Dom Vitacco, who scored the only touchdown, Carl Unaro, Frank Geleskie, Oroski, Doherty, Rodkey, Carstens, and Schlencher showed a lot of promise. Doherty's defensive play, coupled with the fine running of Frank Geleskie, gave the Blue

From the seventy-odd candidates much new and promising material has asserted itself, while almost equally as much improvement has been shown from the spring practice holdovers. Although not world beaters, the boys show promise of banding together into a representative Villanova football squad — one worthy of the name.

John Appleton from Olney High in North Philadelphia is a fullback. He weighs 185 lbs. and is 6 ft. tall. John has three years under his belt. He was selected "All Conference" and was chosen also on the "All Public" second team.

Another lad from Philadelphia is Fred Graziani, a veteran of this war. Fred is 5' 10" tall and 170 lbs., a halfback from North Catholic.

Marine Pvt. John Childers, 5' 8" and 175 lbs. comes to us from the South. He played center for East Bank High School, Chesapeake, West Virginia, for three years. John was chosen All Southern, and he participated in the Annual North and South game.

Marine Pvt. John Peters—5' 8" and 210 lbs., played for Wilson High School in Easton, Penna. for three years. Wilson High was the Lehigh Valley Champ for the years '39 and '40. Although John was a candidate for football at Penn State College, he was not able to participate in any of the games.

Jim Feeney, a tackle for three years at Lincoln High School in Jersey City, weighs 180 lbs. and is 5' 11" tall. Jim's teams were highly victorious in the last three years, as they've taken championships each year.

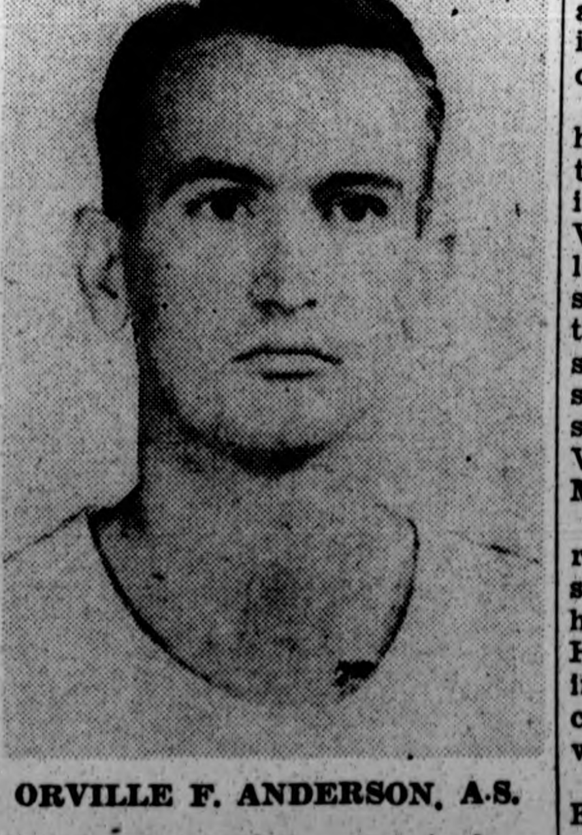
Marine Pvt. Hugh Britton, 5'11" and 170 lbs., a halfback with 3 years experience at St. Joseph H.S. in Metuchen, N. J., also one year at Carnegie Tech. "Brit," being 3 years in the service, played ball for the Marine Guard Battalion in Washington. A light but very fast halfback, he has plenty of stamina.

In The Sportlight

By BOB MANSKE

This week's write up, as last week's will be devoted to a member of this year's varsity baseball team. As we have said before this years varsity nine was a little on the hard luck side, but it was studded with some great ball players and individual players.

Orville F. Anderson is one of these players. Andy or Ollie, whichever you prefer, was truly a valuable man on this year's club. He could manipulate at either first base or in the greens of the outfield. The outfield, namely left, was his true position but when Father McCarthy found that he was minus a first sacker, Andy came to his aid and proved himself a worthy selection.



ORVILLE F. ANDERSON, A.S.

SEMI PRO BALL PLAYER

Andy, who is known around the diamond and school as a quiet, modest fellow, spent his earliest days in Loop City, Nebraska. The high school he attended there was minus a baseball team but this didn't stop him in the least. He started playing American Legion ball when he was in high school and through his ablility, he soon advanced to playing Semi Pro ball in the Ban Johnson League, which operates in and around Nebraska.

Anderson, who now makes his home in Washington, D. C., joined the Navy in July, 1943. He was immediately assigned to the Navy's V-12 program at Dartmouth College, in the State of New Hampshire. In his two semesters there, the baseball team wasn't operating, so he didn't have an opportunity to show his wares. He was then assigned to the Navy program at Villanova in March 1944.

MECHANICAL ENGINEER

Andy will graduate this February. He has also played two semesters of intramural soft ball here with the sailors from Austin Hall. His finest statement of this interview was that "Austin B will cop the intramural league title with room to spare."

Anderson is studying Mechanical Engineering and expects to graduate with a Bachelor of Science degree in that subject. He is also a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

The baseball team and Father McCarthy will certainly miss Andy this Spring, and so will his fellow students.

Home Game With Sampson Naval Base Is Canceled

Villanova's football team lost an opponent two days ago when the Sampson Naval Training Station game was cancelled. The game was originally scheduled to be played on Saturday, November 10.

Reverend Edward B. McKee is now trying to book another team for the Wildcats on that date. So far it is still an open date. If no game is scheduled for that date, it will cut Villanova's schedule to eight games. The first game, of course, being played with Bucknell Bisons at Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, on September 24.

Coach Jordan Olivar is bearing down now in his daily workouts with the squad in preparation for what promises to be one of the toughest schedules for a long time on the roster of the Blue and White. The team is shaping up very quickly and should be in top form for the opening game with Bucknell.

Old Timers Look Good

A factor which makes Olivar especially happy is the manner in which his veterans of last year are performing. Speedy and hard-charging Vince McPeak from Bristol, Pennsylvania, who turned in some smooth performances for Ollie during the 1944 season, is now playing quarterback and is improving steadily. Bucky Williams, team captain of last year, and husky Army veteran Carl Ungaro, are likewise giving Coach Olivar much to rave about.

The flanks are studded with two other varsity men of last year. Bob Wilson and Mason Robertson have both reported for practice within the past two weeks and are getting into shape with an eye cast forward to big meetings with Army, Navy, Tennessee, Boston College, Detroit and Holy Cross, among others.

Pigskin fans from all over are watching eagerly the progress being made by this team from out the Main Line way as less than six weeks stand between today and the opening game.

WOUNDED IN COMBAT

Sergeant Mike Breen, formerly of Ship's Company here, was wounded in combat with the Marines on Okinawa. Breen was stationed here from July of 1943 to January of 1945.

Spring Mill Bridge To Be Repaired

During the recent heavy rains, the bridge on Spring Mill Road across the Pennsylvania Railroad at the northwest corner of the campus has been partially undermined and is in need of repair.

Plans have been made for the repair of the foundations and the grading and resurfacing of the approaches. Work is expected to start in the near future, weather permitting.

Phila. Museum Presents Naval Aviation Display

The Franklin Institute, at 20th and the Parkway in Philadelphia, has recently opened a display of Naval Aviation training devices and weapons. The display includes many action exhibits, in which the visitor is allowed to operate the device for himself and test his skill.

Included in the exhibit are many hitherto secret devices, such as the famed Norden bombsight, and apparatus to simulate actual flight conditions, complete with sound effects.

The Museum is open every day except Mondays, and admission is free to men in service.

Civil Service Commission Needs Engineers

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced the need for mechanical and aeronautical engineers in Government service. Most of these positions are in Washington, D. C., and there are various requirements.

Among the types of work for which mechanical engineers are needed, are ordnance engineering, experimental and improvement work on guns, rockets, rocket launches, fire control apparatus, etc.

Full details and qualifying requirements may be obtained from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

after the war he has designs on little old Connecticut.

"OH, what is so rare as a day in July, especially the tenth?" For it was on this day, in the year 1925, in the western section of the City of Brotherly Love, that Anthony Francis Cocco drew his first breath and another Villanovan was born. After a normal childhood, Tony started at the Cassidy Grammar School in 1931, and from then on, he became quite a musician. For, while in grammar school he held first chair in the violin section of the school orchestra. (Anthony claims that it was quite an orchestra.) At first it looked as though Rubinoff's successor had been found, but A.F. just shook his head much to the disappointment of many and laid his violin aside.

ANTHONY F. COCCO, A.S.

In 1937, Tony entered Shoemaker Junior High School and from here he went to Overbrook High School in 1940. It was here in high school that Anthony decided to swap his violin for a clarinet and so he took his turn on this new instrument. His efforts were rewarded by receiving a position in the school band. As Tony puts it, "We could play anything and we usually did." It was from here that he graduated in January, 1943.

Come February 1, 1943 we met Mr. Cocco in the time hallowed corridors of Mendel Hall, standing outside the registrar's office. And so, he matriculated at Villanova and was enrolled in the School of Civil Engineering. Tony had started working for his degree long before he thought of Villanova. As a small child, he liked to watch his father (who is a contractor) at work with his men on a construction job. He would stand and watch them work for hours. This work fascinated Anthony and inside there was kindled a love for Civil Engineering.

On July 1, 1943, Mr. Cocco changed his title to Apprentice Seaman Cocco and donned the Navy uniform. Tony has been an active member of the Phi Kappa Pi, the A.S.C.E. and an Associate member of the well remembered "453" club.

After the war, Anthony is planning on getting married, practicing Civil Engineering and settling in the beautiful hills around Germantown.

That's all until the third day of next week, Au Revoir.

Phi Kappa Pi and Delta Pi Epsilon To Meet In Softball

Here's a piece of sports news which shows a developing spirit of rivalry between the campus organizations. This past week the PKP fraternity challenged the DPE fraternity to a softball game and suggested that a game between the winner of this tilt and a faculty team be staged. Al Dumsa, who manages the PKP squad has been trying to get just such an affair going for quite some time.

The above games, if played, would in no way be connected with the intramural softball league. We all admire the sporting spirit of this well-known fraternity and hope that their manager will have a reasonable degree of success in his endeavors.

It would prove to be, we are sure, a series with quite some interest not only to those concerned but to all of the student body. The faculty boasts of some fine softballers and would, no doubt, give the opposition no mean competition. With a high hope built up, we all will look forward to the materialization of this scheme.

From the Sidelines

Ensign Tony Mammarella recently returned to visit the Villanova campus after receiving his commission from Fort Schuyler Midshipmen School. Tony was a sparkplug of the Fedigan Hall intramural basketball team here last winter. He has been assigned to Sampson Naval Training Station.

Ensign Charles Froelicher, stalwart with the Villanova varsity basketball team last Winter, was recently commissioned from Midshipman School at Northwestern University in Illinois. "Chuck" is now awaiting assignment.

If the Chicago Cubs continue their present blazing pace in the National League, Villanova stands to have one of her alumni a contender in the World Series of 1945. Lenny Merullo, who played for the 'Cats in 1937, is doing his bit to keep this fast-moving outfit on top.

berger. Glad to report that Bill Dulaney has received his commission and is now stationed in San Diego.

It has been brought to our attention that Lieut. E. J. McCune, who became an Air Cadet while still at Villanova is now with the Pennsylvania contingent of the "Guerrilla" squadron of the 23rd Fighter Group "Flying Tigers" of Maj. Gen. C. L. Chennault in China. Dick Tanski HA 1/C is at Norfolk awaiting shipment on a new destroyer with the Atlantic Fleet. Midshipman Ed Lukas '44 has reported to Columbia after seeing service in Palau, Leyte, Lingayen Gulf and Lapaz. Last in the file we see that Pvt. Bill Barber ex '46 is now stationed at the Field Team Detachment, U. S. Strategic Bomb Survey in France. Once again the bag lacks further information and as a result that is all for this week.

team a little too much power for their opponents.

White Backfield Stars

The starting backfield of the White team, Vince McPeak at quarter, Dave Generalli at full back, and Bucky Williams and Romeo Capriotti at the half back positions, looked like the best combination on the field, but their line wasn't able to keep the boys in blue from breaking up one play after another. On defense they stopped many of the Blue team's backs from breaking away for touchdowns. Capriotti and McPeak looked like the two best defensive backs on the field. Dave Generalli reminded us of Bob David as he plunged through the center of the line or smothered one of the opposing backs who came through line heading for a possible score.

Chick Welde also looked impressive in the contest as his punting and running constantly got the White team out of tight spots. Ferry and Rodkey made several fine defensive plays while working in the Blue front line. Oroski and Ed Gonglefski held the center of the line together and opened up many large holes for their backs to plow through.

College Building Program to Begin Shortly

Sophomore Cotillion To Be Held This Semester

Fred Koch, A.S., Made Chairman of Dance; Committees To Be Chosen Shortly for Traditional Affair

The Executive Committee of the Class of 1947, in conjunction with the Student Council, has started plans in motion for the Summer's main social event, the traditional Sophomore Cotillion, Harry Edwards, Sophomore class president, has announced. The dance will be an informal one, and will be held before the end of the present semester.

At a meeting held yesterday, first steps were taken toward the organization of the various committees who will supervise the affair. Fred Koch, A.S., at present directing the campus tennis tourney, has been named chairman of the affair, and the chairmen of the various committees will be named within the next week.

This will be the first activity undertaken by the recently-organized Sophomore class, and is the first activity projected for this semester by any of the campus organizations. No date has as yet been decided upon, but the committee promises that it will take take place either in late September or early October.

Keen interest has been expressed in this coming dance and high hopes are entertained by the committee for its success. The success of the recent Senior Ball is another reason for expecting this affair to be successful. Committees to canvass the student body will be organized shortly after which more definite plans can be made.

The Committee hopes to be able to announce a definite date within a very short time. The dance will be held in the Field House which will, as usual, be appropriately decorated.

ASME Promises Active Program

The ASME, always an active organization, has lost no time in preparing for an extensive program this fall. So far they have already had one meeting. Prof. George Auth, Assistant Professor of Mechanical Engineering, and honorary Chairman, spoke on The Advantages of a Student A.S.M.E. The meeting was a success as the turnout was most gratifying.

The next scheduled entertainment will be a speech by a Philadelphia plant engineer. At this gathering motion pictures will be shown to illustrate the topic. As these plans are only in the embryonic stage, the topic has not yet been chosen nor is the identity of the speaker certain. When the plans are more definite all engineers will be included in the invitation, as well as the students of engineering schools of the nearby colleges.

Very soon will commence a series of lectures held by the parent A.S.M.E., which the student members are invited to attend. These lectures will be held in Philadelphia. A list of the various topics will be forthcoming.

Drive for New Members

Because this society, like all of the rest, has felt the pinch of departing seniors, the A.S.M.E. is commencing a drive for new members. These are desired particularly from among the Frosh Mechanical Engineers. Those who are interested should get in touch with George Bacsik, Tom Carrigg, or H. N. Bombick.

There is to be a photograph taken of the members of the society which will be printed along with a report by the publicity committee in the A.S.M.E. magazine. A notice will be posted as to when these pictures will be taken.

Phi Kap Members To Be Addressed By Fr. Klekotka

The Phi Kappa Pi, Engineering Fraternity, will hold a meeting on Wednesday at 12:45 in Room 214 Mendel for all potential members. The Reverend John A. Klekotka will address the prospective members as to the benefits to be derived from the fraternity.

Fr. Klekotka, who is the moderator of the Villanovan, was president of the fraternity in his undergraduate days. Fr. Klekotka, who is well known on the campus, is an instructor in Mathematics and Physics. All Engineering students desiring to become members of the fraternity should attend this meeting as application blanks will be distributed.

Scripts Distributed For Drama Club Play

As we move to the midway mark of the semester, Sgt. John Muir promises that the play will be in readiness for its opening date. No meeting was held on the regularly scheduled night, August 3, but Don Barrett, new president of the club, called a special meeting on Wednesday, August 8, at which the distribution of scripts took place to the members of the club who gained parts in C. D. Cummings' new production.

Sgt. Muir, director of the club, wants to swing into action with rehearsals as soon as possible and he has already realized this in part with a steady drill of the society's thespians in the first act of this semester's comedy

With the outlook of the new play still bright, it seems that new trainees will play a large part, not only in the new show, but also in the development of the rapidly expanding society. Still, to be a complete organization in every sense of the word the Villanova Dramatic Society needs the full support of all campus organizations and the support of every student.

This support could probably be accomplished if the society could add a few new members to its ranks. Any new members would be welcome to the club and can join any Friday night at 6:00 P. M. in room 215 Mendel.

Mass Schedule

Father Edwin T. Grimes, O.S.A., College Chaplain, has announced the schedule of Masses in the College Chapel on Wednesday, August 15, the Feast of the Assumption and a holyday of obligation.

Masses, arranged so that all students, Day-hops as well as Residents, may attend Mass without interfering with class, will be at 6:00, 6:30, 7:00, 7:30, 8:25 and 9:00.

Confessions will be held in the College Chapel this evening at 6:15 and during the Masses tomorrow.

CAMP to CAMPUS

By ROBERT J. CONWAY

Things around the campus were fairly lively this week with the arrival of Lieut. Bill Geagan who told us of meeting Dick Reidy at OCS in Quantico and Lieut. Gregory D'Angelo on Okinawa before Greg was wounded. While riding in a staff car he saw our former football star, Capt. 'Bull' Neiman, on Okinawa where he was in command of a Rocket Gun detachment. Last year's basketball spark. Ensign 'Chuck' Froelicker was in for a visit after just graduating from Notre Dame.

George Seibert and Bill Farrell came in on a visit from Fort Schuyler and said that in true Villanova spirit, the boys were holding the Fort. From Tom Welch we hear that 'Far above Cayuga's waters' Dave Saponaire and Stan 'I can pitch faster than Feller' Wagner are having a hard time keeping the slogan All's Well in working condition.

Now to get into the mailbag which shows very little this week except the dead leaves of the campus, we are glad to hear from Joe C. 'for character' Pesce, ex '44 that he is now stationed with the 16th Infantry still somewhere in Germany. Joe writes that he is still thinking of the old school as the chow call is a very pleasant thing to hear everyday, as it was when he graced the rooms of old Good Counsel. A branch school will soon be opened in China writes Cpl. Hank Boruta after he heard of all the former grads now in that land.

Hank is with an aviation battalion and is at the present time working on the Chinese W.P.A. When he wrote he said that he was waiting for or sweating out the monsoons with his shovel close at hand ready for the moment the rains stopped. Congratulations are in order this week to Lieut. John M. Kerns who is now in a replacement draft awaiting assignment. Glad to hear that Lieut. Joe Barnes is still rapidly moving along and is now stationed in San Francisco. Lieut. Neil F. Deigan U.S.M.C.R. class '43 received his commission the hard way during the battle of Iwo Jima and is in very good health despite the terrific hardships that he has undergone. That is the end of the line for this week and it is hoped that in the near future all men will be in Separation Centers.

We are glad to hear that Herb Lamb, Jack Cockroft, and Joe Morgan are now in Great Lakes and awaiting reassignment. To quote the boys, the situation there is standard and all is well.

Other men visiting the campus were Lieut. (jg) Art Koerner '42 who stopped in while on his way from Pearl Harbor to the Naval Service Washington. Paul Miller came in from Fort Schuyler and looks like he was poured into his well fitting uniform. He says that the course is tough but he hopes to come through successfully.

Staff Meeting

There will be an important meeting of the Villanovan staff tomorrow, Wednesday, at 12:45 in the Villanovan office, provided classes are in session.

All staff members as well as all desiring to work on the paper, are urged to attend. We are particularly in need of writers, and all those interested should attend this meeting.

To Erect NROTC Armory and Chem. Eng. Building

Armory Building To House Department of Naval Science

Work on Chemical Engineering Building Ready To Start

Two new buildings are soon to be constructed on the Villanova campus, announced Rev. Francis X. N. McGuire, O.S.A., president of the College, on Saturday last. The two buildings are an Armory and a Chemical Engineering building. It is expected that ground will be broken for the Chemical Engineering building in six weeks. The Armory is still in the planning stage, but is expected to be under construction before the end of the year.

The Armory Building will house the classrooms, laboratories, and Administrative offices of the Department of Naval Science. This new department will be incorporated into the Academic body of Villanova College beginning November 1, 1945, in conjunction with the Naval Reserve Officers' Training program as previously announced.

The Armory Building will consist of a large hall, the armory proper, which will house various items of ordnance and a Navigation Bridge. In addition to the Armory proper, the building will include a Small Arms Range, a library and conference room, six offices and four classrooms.

The plans for the Armory are being drawn up by Henry D. Dagit, architect from Philadelphia. The plans so far call for a building two stories high, one-hundred and sixty-two feet in length and seventy-seven feet wide. The building will probably be located parallel with Spring Mill Road and north of Fedigan Hall. Like the Chemical Engineering Building, it is expected that Foxcroft stone will be used on the Armory.

The new building program marks the first building to be done on the campus since 1934 when the Monastery was completed. Since that time, however, Simpson Hall, O'Dwyer Hall and Delurey Hall and the Navy Sick Bay were acquired by purchase and converted for use by the College.

The plans for the Chemical Engineering Building were begun almost two years ago. These plans are now completed and the specifications are being drawn up. When the specifications are completed and contracts awarded, the work will begin on the building. According to present plans, the building will be situated in the area facing Lancaster Avenue between Simpson and O'Dwyer Halls. It is hoped that it will be completed and ready for occupancy by the Spring of 1946.

The purpose of this new Chemical Engineering Building is to house laboratories, classrooms, administrative offices, and storage space. At the present time the Chemical Engineering laboratories are located in various places in Mendel Hall. The new building will bring these laboratories into one group and will provide more modern and expansive facilities for these laboratories.

The plans for the building were drawn up by architects Arthur Des Rosiers and Charles J. Sullivan, both of Detroit, Michigan. The cost of the architects' drawings of the building is the contribution of Mr. Cyril Burke, of the Class of 1917. A son of Mr. Burke, Thomas Burke, is presently enrolled at Villanova in the Engineering School.

Part of the cost of the building will be met by a bequest from the estate of the late Murtha P. Quinn. Mr. Quinn was a member of the Advisory Council of the College.

The building is to be two stories high and will be seventy-six feet in length, with a width of fifty-four feet. It is planned to build the building with Foxcroft stone, such as is used in Fedigan Hall and the Commerce and Finance Building. The priorities for materials and the permission to build have already been obtained from the War Production Board, and Fr. McGuire estimated that work could begin on the building in six weeks time.

College Plans Made For V-J Day

The announcement of the end of the war with Japan will be observed at Villanova with appropriate ceremnies, it has been announced by Rev. F. X. N. McGuire, O.S.A., President of the College. The ceremonies will be held in the College Chapel, as close to the time of the announcement of victory as possible, although no definite time has been set.

The observance will be similar to that held on V-E Day, May 8. The services will open with the Chaplain's Service Call, sounded by a Marine bugler following which Rev. Edwin T. Grimes, O.S.A., College Chaplain, will give the invocation. There will then be a short address and comment on the significance of the occasion by Fr. McGuire.

Fr. Grimes will then offer a solemn prayer of thanksgiving after which the congregation will observe a minute of silent prayer. The sounding of Taps and the singing of the National Anthem by the assembly will conclude the program. Singing during the ceremony will be rendered by the Schola Cantorum, the Augustinian Seminary Choir.

If a National Holiday is proclaimed, classes will be dismissed but this is contingent upon an announcement by the President. If the announcement is made before noon the observance will probably take place the same day, otherwise it will be observed on the day following.

College Band Priming For Football Season

Since March of 1944, the campus has seen the gradual development of the Navy V-12 Unit's band from a minute Drum and Bugle Corps to its present size. It has been a great addition to the military scenes about the campus. Boasting of thirty-seven members, now, they play for the Inspections and Reviews held on Austin Drill Field.

The band first started to function as a band in September of 1944, when, under the direction of Captain Morgan and Private Don Rugan, they marched and played for the drills held between the halves of the football games. It then had about twenty eight members.

Now under the direction of Al Masciantonio, Sp. 3/C, the band has enlarged to its present size and is now planning to give a concert in the near future. It has been enlarging its repertoire for a long period of time and now has a most complete selection of numbers.

Apprentice Seaman C. D. Cummings and Private R. Smith are the trainee directors of the outfit.

At Last!

The imminence of the official announcement of total victory in the war with Japan is at the same time a very joyous and a very sober occasion. More than three years of a hard and bitter war made this announcement possible. Three years filled with sorrow, anxiety, disappointment and worry for the people of our nation. Three years of seeing those near and dear to us go marching off, perhaps never to return.

But now, by the grace of God, those long years are all but over. We now face not the task of waging a destructive war, but the more important and more difficult task of building a lasting peace. Our enemies have been brought to submission by the mightiest array of military might ever assembled. They, together with all the peoples of the earth, must now be brought to live in peace and harmony in a new world society.

The day is indeed one of joy in that it brings to a close the most terrifying war yet waged at a time when some of its worst terrors were about to be unleashed. But, in our joy over our deliverance from these, we must not forget the solemn and sober side of the situation. Thousands of American boys, your friends and mine, fellows we went to school with, fought with, and played with, lie buried on foreign soil, victims of war's ruthless purge.

These boys will never see the joyous celebration of a V-J Day; will never hear the welcoming cries of those whom they loved rush out to greet them as they once more approach their native shore. It is to them that we owe much of the happiness we feel today. Indeed, the occasion is a solemn and sober one. The first point in our V-J Day celebration ought to be a few moments of silent prayer for those who did not come back.

No matter when the official announcement from the President may come, it will be none too soon for a world that has been waiting for just this announcement through some of the darkest days of man's history. Our enemies particularly, and some of our allies, also, have borne the brunt of civilian sufferings in this war. We ourselves have been spared this, which is something to be sincerely thankful for.

Let us, then, celebrate the day with this two-fold idea in mind. We have reached the end of a long and bitter struggle. We have been successful in that struggle. We have achieved a victory over those ideas and philosophies which were contrary to our own. The war is over and victory is ours.

But it is ours at a great and heavy price, a price such as no previous war has cost us. It is up to us, and to our statesmen, to see that this price was well spent. That this war will see the end of all wars and the perfecting of a world society where all men will live in peace and harmony.

Another week, another column. Well here we go. First of all we wonder just how far Joe Costello's ego was deflated after that recent weekend in Ocean City. It seems that Mary and Blanche really slapped Mr. Costello and Mr. Huber down a peg. And just when we were beginning to think they were real Romeos . . . In case anyone is interested, next weekend is when Jack Glancey will make that trip to Wildwood to see "Jelly Bean." Let's hope a certain prof. whose initials are H. S. B. won't bother Glance with any trivial matters in E. E. this week as he has too much on his mind . . .

Big question in all engineers' minds is just who is that dude, Hart, trying to impress, coming to class looking like an add for Esquire . . . It was a combined Villanova-Rosie reunion at Abie's last Saturday. Mike Flynn, Don Schmidt were down from Columbia, Paul Miller, from Ft. Schuyler and H. P. Dumsa from Rosemont . . . Read in the Inquirer last week (plug for the local news agency) that the Mill was fined a tidy little sum for overcharging on their drinks. But there is no truth to the story that Windy Barrett was out there for a refund when he heard of it . . .

Glad to see that the Soph class officers are making plans for the Sophomore Cotillion. The committees will probably be announced in a few days. Class President Harry Edwards is working with the Student Council on the preliminary plans . . .

Hint to the sport writers—Why let your enthusiasm run away with you when writing about the past few scrimmages? What's the matter, are you afraid to hurt some prima-donna's feelings. . .

Now for some news from the playboy department (C and F) . . . We hear that Quentin Montonario and John Sankey are having a field day down in C. and F. And here is another mysterious problem that is bothering us. Why does Bill Bradley keep his girl's picture hidden behind the door? . . . John "Old-man" Ciotola has offered an ultimatum of unconditional surrender to the maids. However, John's one demand of clean sheets at least once a month was rejected, so you can expect to see atom bombs flying in Room 10 Delurey Hall . . . If you want to see something really funny get a glimpse of Bill Ferguson, mathematics expert (if the numbers are below ten) working a problem by means of a slide rule. After watching this for a while, Deacon Merlino giving a speech in French and Jim Riley practically stabbing himself with a compass doing Stat., we are beginning to admire the great patience of Fr. Bartley, Dean of C. and F. Well this should hold the playboys for another week . . .

The Pink Medal goes to Fr. Gildea this week. We have a lot of respect for anyone who is trapped and has to listen to Newt Ward sing but when someone asks for it, and in French at that, they are just plain fool-hardy . . . If Windy Barrett reads this column we want him to know that the initial "N" stands for Nicholas. Well that mystery is settled . . .

It would be very interesting to know just what happened to our editor down at the shore over the weekend. He has been wandering around in a daze muttering to himself ever since he got back. Well, he can't say we didn't tell him that women are treacherous creatures.

If anyone has nothing to do some weekend why not get in touch with Rocky Gianinni and go for a cruise on his yacht. Rocky really became indignant when we acted dubious the other day . . . For all "straight shooters" we wish to announce that the Rosies will be back in just 48 more days. This fact came to light recently when we saw H. P. shining his shoes for the first time in three months. The next sure sign will be when he presses his pants on or about Sept. 18th . . . Let's hope that the Athletic Association doesn't go broke giving away all those free passes for naming the Wildcat. Well at least the winner won't have to worry about being out of the house too many Saturday afternoons.

Well, dear readers, (all three of you) that is about all for this week. Having made a few more enemies we shall rest on our laurels 'till the next Frosh meeting when no doubt we shall add a few more to the list.

Meet the Boys

By GEORGE ELSESSER, A.S. and GEORGE AULBACK, A.S.

THERE has been a lot of talk about this new gadget they call, "the Atomic Bomb." So we decided to keep up with the times by presenting two thirds of the senior chemical engineering department.

One third of the department answers to the name of James Peter Fogerty. Jim began his career on June 16, 1925 in Southwest Philadelphia. He led a normal life and at the tender age of six entered St. Clement's Parochial School. After eight years, James graduated with top honors. He next traveled to West Catholic High School where he participated in intramural sports and held a spot on the varsity bowling team. At the end of three and a half years, West lost Jacques, for he came to Villanova and enrolled in the School of Chemical Engineering.

Since the first day of February, 1943, James has been seen regularly on the P and W, commuting between Philadelphia and Villanova. Though the travelling has taken up much of Peter's time, he has still been able to devote many of his valuable minutes to extracurricular activities. He was captain of the Freshman softball team which took the Day Hop Championship in the Spring of 1943 and ever since then he has been looking for another team to duplicate the feat. He has also been a member of an intramural team every season.

Mr. Fogerty will long be remembered by the present members of the Phi Kappa Pi, especially those who were the victims of the last initiation, for his brilliant grease and cornflake job along with his infamous bos'n's chair. Another activity requiring some of his time is the A.S.Ch.E., of which he is now vice-president. Last semester the Senior Ball took up some of Jim's precious seconds by making him chairman of the refreshment committee.

During the week, Villanova takes Jimmie but Saturday and Sunday finds him at the side of one Madeline. However, even Madeline's time is sometime taken up by other activities for Petter is an Assistant Scoutmaster of a local troop and occasionally he takes them on Sunday afternoon hikes.

When James was questioned about his future his only reply was, "I'll have nothing to do with any kind of work, especially engineering, except Chemical Engineering."

THE other third of our combination is Hugh Francis Hart who makes his home in that peaceful section of Philadelphia known as Germantown.

Hugh made his first public appearance May 3, 1925. By 1930 his mother could no longer tolerate his pranks so he was sent to kindergarten to keep him out of mischief. The following year Hugh started school at St. Francis of Assisi Parochial School. In fifth grade he transferred to Norwood Academy. After graduating from grade school, Hugh took a competitive examination and won a partial scholarship to Malvern Prep. Francis claims he really had a swell time at the Prep even

The Atomic Bomb

By Fr. CRAWFORD

The announcement by President Truman on August sixth that an atomic bomb had been dropped on a large Japanese city started people of all classes asking questions about the nature of this new weapon of war. Here, briefly, are answers to some of these questions. Perhaps a quick glance backward at the old will enable us to better grasp the significance of the new. Many of the forms of energy with which we are familiar might be classified by calling them molecular energy. By this term we understand that when the forces which hold the components of a molecule together are released, vast quantities of work become available. In many instances this energy is released by means of heat which produces a high temperature, or by means of an electric current which breaks the bonds which hold the atoms of a molecule together. This is the sort of thing that happens when fuel is burned, when TNT is exploded, when an electric cell is used to produce current.

Like the molecule, the atom is also made up of parts, electrons, protons, neutrons. The forces, electrical, gravitational, or magnetic, which bind these constituents together to form an atom, are much greater than the corresponding forces in molecules. Consequently, when these forces are released, so as to allow the atom to fly apart, enormously greater quantities of work become available than in the case of molecules.

Atomic energy has long been available, ever since the discovery of radio-activity. Whenever radium, or any of its allied elements, gives off energy, the cause or source of the energy is an atomic disintegration. We have known for many years that the quantity of energy thus available is very great. For example, a one million volt X-ray tube is needed to produce as much energy as can be obtained from a few milligrams of radium.

The chief difficulty in connection with atomic energy supplied to us by nature in radioactive substances is the almost complete lack of control. When an atom of radium explodes, there is no way for us to tell beforehand which atom will explode, or when. It appears that the principal discovery that has been made recently, and that makes the atomic bomb a practical weapon, is how to control and release the energy of the atom. This discovery is at present being kept secret and will probably remain so until the war is over, and perhaps for a long time after.

There are several questions that we might ask regarding atomic bombs and atomic fuel. One very important question is: How much does it cost to produce this kind of energy? Undoubtedly the present cost is enormous, so that commercial and industrial applications will not be practical at present. But we may be sure that the scientific genius and teamwork that produced the first atomic bomb will soon find a cheap and easy means of making this energy available for many uses.

Another question that will frequently be asked is: To what uses can such energy be put? There are many applications, such as fuel for heating as well as for locomotion. Jet propelled airplanes, powered by this fuel, will no doubt exceed in speed our wildest imaginings. One rather unusual and surprising use to which I feel certain atomic fuel will be put is for the propulsion of interplanetary rocket ships. Our present knowledge of rocket-propelled vehicles covers all phases of interplanetary travel except for a sufficiently light fuel. With the harnessing of atomic energy, it may not be long before weekend trips to the moon will be as commonplace as trips to the shore now are.

I would like to thank Thomas J. Coyle for the poem that he submitted. It is well worth printing. How about some contributions from the rest of you fellows?

THE CURE

When shall we once again
Know peace of mind?
When shall this battle cease
And get behind?

When shall the skies above
Be clear of fires,
And cities once again
Push up their spires?

When shall our noble youth
No longer die
From wounds received
In Freedom's deathless cry? . . .

Our victory in war
Will hold the answer;
God's victory in peace
Will heal the cancer.

Navy Unit Learns the Ropes Under New Swimming Plan

Chief Hayes and Sgt. Aubertin Include Rope Climbing, Life Raft, and Life Saving in Expanded Program

By RUSS WELSH, A.S.

There is a little of the artist in everyone. No matter how rapidly a man progresses in the accomplishment of a goal, he must at some time stop for an instant, step back, and admire his achievements. Remember when, on entering the swimming pool, you would see a diving board, a tower, and a pool full of water. That was O. K. then, but things have been changed, progress has been made.

Step into Villanova's swimming pool now, and an arrangement similar to the riggings of a circus halt you dead in your tracks. Cargo net, Jacob ladders, knotted lines dropped from the beams, life raft, a slightly sagging line stretched from one beam of the overhead to another, signs carrying the command "touch here" and "use the buddy system, two in the pool at all times." It sends a chill down your spine, but that's progress. For many, jumping off the tower used to carry with it a fear for swimming classes. Now, the only difficulty presented by the tower is getting on top of it; jumping down is a relaxation. It's no longer a swimming class, it's aquatic warfare.

Let's take a look at the author of these recent changes, Chief Hayes. Although quite a recent gift to Villanova, the chief knows and is known by all the trainees. He likes to refer to himself as an "old man," but his aggressive spirit and desire to be helpful to all the trainees—as his healthful lecture to Austin Hall exemplified—banishes such a misnomer from our thoughts. Chief Hayes laid down the purpose of the new program aptly when he said, "I'm not trying to make Champion swimmers out of you, I want you to learn to help yourself in the water and be able to help others." Think of that when you go from beam to beam, it may help.

Chief Hayes has contrived a definite program which he is following. His non-swimmers—those unable to swim the length of the pool—have diminished to two individuals, and

Tennis Meet Opens Under Cloudy Sky

Due to the wet weather that has stopped most of the intramural sports on the campus, the tennis tournament got off to a rather slow start. However the tournament will start off in full swing this week, with the first and second round of the class B matches being held.

Last night was a big night in the tournament which filled nearly all the college courts and narrowed the class B division to only fifteen players. The results of the playing is posted on the civilian bulletin board. While witnessing the matches it became evident that the class B division is a wide open race and will probably end up in a hard fought contest.

Sonner and Hergenrother advanced to the next round by forfeits from Gargano and Halm.

It is well for these men entered in the tourney to constantly consult the bulletin board to familiarize themselves with the rules governing the event.

The sun has given Fred Koch and his committee a fair break as we have had a limited number of clouds for the past week. The courts are in the best of shape and the meet is now in full swing.

The trophy medals are now on display in the Mendel bulletin board and are well worth fighting for. They number four in all, one for the winner in each class and one for the runner-up in both class B and A. They are made with imprints of tennis racquets on the face with room for the winner's name to be engraved on the back. The ribbons are of familiar colors, Blue and White.

Fedigan A Moves Back Into League Lead During Week

Huber's 6 Wins and Burr's Play at Third Boost Team To Top

Eager to regain the stride of the game, the intramural teams blazed into action again this week, and Fedigan A moved into a close first place. The league had almost beaten the rain, but the still had one cancellation and that was Monday's cancelled games.

On Tuesday, however, Austin A decided to try mud-packed fields to take on the Del-Si aggregation. Austin bogged down under the smooth elbowing of lanky Bill Keorner and succumbed to a 9-5 beating. Jack Lewis hurled for Austin but had a comparatively bad night and lost the encounter.

On Wednesday, after two full days of solid Old Sol, the league race tightened up as the teams took to fast fields and put forth fine performances. Del-Si busted Austin B's hurler Hittinger all over the lot and wound up on the top end of a high 13-8 score. The high score came as a result of their smashing Hittinger and his club for five runs in the first inning and garnering seven tallies in the fifth frame.

Fedigan A Moves Up

On this same night, Fedigan A started a march which terminated Friday night with their holding the first place position. They won over lowly Mendel by a 7-6 count. The game was on edge in the final inning when Mendel scored three runs, but Fedigan rallied and Walt Huber, dependable hurler, put out the fire. Durney, Mendel pitcher, was given the loss, although he looked fairly good throughout the game.

On Friday night, a single contest was played in the twilight which saw Fedigan B literally hit out of the league lead. Austin A, behind the fine twirling of Don Ball, subdued the team 6-2. Dick Naslund, former varsity hurler, found trouble and was rapped with the loss. Fedigan B went into the fourth inning leading 1-0, but Austin A's hitting caught up to Naslund as they punched across four runs and went on to win.

PLAYER OF THE WEEK: Gridley Stookey, Marine member of Austin A outfield, who came through in good form to help his team knock Fedigan B out of the League lead Friday night. His three spectacular catches in left field were enough to make him famous for the week, but he also chipped in with two hits for three times at bat. This is Stookey's second year in the Intramural League.

Veterans Shine in O. B.

As has been manifested in this past half a season in both the American and National League, the boys who have returned from the service of their country have lost little and gained much during their "all too long stay" from Organized Baseball. First class examples are old Charlie "Red Ruffing" who won his first three games in over two yearsf or the New York Yankees, and Al Benton, of the Detroit Tigers, who is burning up the league with his hurling. Another prominent example is a man from up Boston Red Sox way, Dave Ferris, who at this writing has nineteen wins under his belt.

Fedigan B	4	2	.667

Wildcat Eleven Bearing Down for Coming Season

McPeak, Ungaro and Capriotti Look Exceptionally Good; Many Coal Crackers To Spark This Year's Team

As football practice goes into its fourth week, Coach Jordan Olivar has the boys scrimmaging every night in order to iron out the kinks which have turned up so far. The backfield candidates are already in fine shape and showing plenty of fight on the field. Two veterans from last year's squad, Vince McPeak and Carl Ungaro, and Romeo Capriotti, recently discharged from the Army, are setting a tough pace for the other boys to follow.

This year, as in past years, there will be many boys from the Coal Regions on the squad. Two of the brighter looking prospects from this area are Ed and Joe Gonglefski. Ed and Joe, who are cousins, played Center and End, respectively, for Swoyerville High School for three seasons. Both boys are big, Ed weighing 190 lbs. and standing 6'2" tall, while Joe weighs 170 lbs. and is 6' tall. Joe also has quite a reputation as a basketball player.

Lenny Makowski, a quarterback, played two years for Kulpmont High School. During his senior year there, the team was unbeaten in all of its ten games. Lenny, who carries 175 lbs. on his 5'11" frame, shows good punting form and played a fine game in the recent intrasquad scrimmage. Bill Demidovich also played at Kulpmont, but he was there before Lenny's time. He has just come to us after serving in the Armed Forces. At Kulpmont he played guard and tackle, and after graduating he got two more years experience at Albright College.

Heaviest Man On The Squad

The heaviest man on the team, Dan Marshalick, is also from the coal country. This 6'1", 240 lb. tackle played four years for Coal Township High School, near Shamokin, Pa. Danny is fast moving and able to take care of himself in the line. From nearby Shamokin High School we obtained Dom Vitacco, a halfback with three years experience. Dom is only 5'9" tall but weighs 165 lbs. and is a good broken field runner.

One of the better linemen on the team is Ted Oraski. At Hanover

Time Trials Again Run; Transfers Help Make Picture Bright for Fr. McQuade

By JAMES BREENE

Father McQuade's squad underwent heavy drills this past week in preparation for the coming meet with Old Nassau which is to be held on Saturday, August 18, at Palmer Stadium, Princeton, N. J.

The track squad's drills have consisted of time trials on Wednesday and Friday evenings at 6:30 P. M. and individual practice on other days of the week.

In Good Shape

The squad seems to be well-rounded by now and the addition of Dick Henson in the distance department should prove valuable. Henson outclassed the field in one of the more recent time trials. He won his specialty, the two mile run, without any trouble. His closest competitor, "Chuck" Butler, finished far in the rear.

As usual, Burt Cox and Tom Short held held the spotlight in the dashes. They promise to be Villanova's biggest hope in the coming week. In the hurdles, Jack Glascott should prove a point-winner and two other Marines are expected to come through in their respective events: Len Autrey in the high jump and Joe Neitzke in the pole vault.

Stadium Has Track History

Palmer Stadium, by way of diversion, has seen many famous American trackmen perform. Among others, who have in the past run in the Princeton Invitation

In The Sportlight

By BOB MANSKE

Veterans seem to be the highlights in sports these days as they return to star after being in the service of the United States. Like every other sporting institution, Villanova hails the return of the veterans from every branch of the service.

This week we turn the sportlight on an Army veteran who goes by the name of Carl G. Ungaro. Even though he played but the last three games of the last year schedule, he has made a lasting name for himself in the minds of the Villanova '44 fans. Carl, who by this time is known as the social butterfly of the campus (remember the senior prom), was born in Frankford, Philadelphia on May 31, 1921.

Carl played two years of varsity football at Northeast Catholic High School with the All City championship team of '37 and '38. While on the squad there at Northeast he played with Frankie Reagen, who obtained an All American slot in 1941, while playing with Penn.

Army Veteran

After finishing high school Carl entered La Salle College in Philadelphia. He attended there for two years and in his second year earned himself a berth on the varsity football team. In all probability he would have made the squad in his first year but at that time the freshman rule on participating in sports was in effect.

Then on January 3, 1942, Carl entered the United States Army. He took his basic training at Camp Wheeler, Georgia. After sixteen months in the service Carl was given an honorable discharge.

After his discharge Carl entered the Fall term at Villanova in November 1944. There were many happy people when Carl reported for the team upon his entrance. Immediately he proved to Ollie that he was first string material with his terrific running and plunging. Another aspect which drew his coaches' attention was his everlasting spirit when his team was either losing or winning. Also Carl has proven himself a worthy man on the boxing team here at Villanova.

When the revived orientation program was undertaken this semester Carl was immediately recognized as a valuable man because of his understanding nature and because of his able handling of "wise guys"; therefore he was made a committee member. Carl, who thinks the prospects of this year's club are much better than last year's, is also a member of the Veterans Organization, and has been named to various Social committees during his stay here.

Carl is taking an Educational course making History his major subject. On the other hand he also has a burning zeal for the modern languages, namely Spanish. After completing his course here at Villanova, Carl hopes to become a football coach or something along that line.

NOSTALGIA . . . LOOKING BACK

Remember when: everyone had to undergo an inspection by a chief before going on liberty . . . when PT meant free play FOUR days a week and exercise one . . . when classes began at 8:00 and ran so that no one ever knew when the next class would begin . . . and the fifth period free gave you only ten minutes to eat lunch which was a blow then with menus of Liver AND bacon, no stew and other goodies to eat . . . when there was no noon day muster for the military . . . when we only shined the tips of our shoes . . . when Yascha Yavitch was teaching ME subjects in a typical Sam Goldwyn lingo . . . What means heat engines? etc. . . . When Doc Drenick made things look so simple in Physics and Calculus . . . when liberty was up at 2400 Sunday night, BUT a deficiency meant a WHOLE weekend restriction . . . when a military study hall was operated on Sat. afternoons for the "men on the green merit list" . . . when we didn't march to a band, just one drum in the middle of Mendel field . . . when the sailors watched the Marines change the guard on the coldest day we've ever had here. . . when there were no regular study hours in the evening . . . when Mendel Hall had both civilians on the second deck and the watch always made a mistake and there was heck to pay . . . when there were no head or hall details but the college provided people to do those chores . . . when a powerful Marine team ruled the diamond winning 20 straight for an undefeated season . . . when swimming meets were regular events . . . when khakis were uniform of the day for all engineers . . . when the demerit system was in effect . . . when the Hut was open for social events on Sat. for restricted men . . . when fourth deck Mendel marched for two hours on a hot Sat. afternoon for "skylarking after taps . . ." that's all behind us now . . . never to be regained perhaps but in the years to come we'll look back on those days too and have the same sort of nostalgic memories . . .

College Class Ring Finds Its Owner By Alumni Office

The mail box in the Alumni office tells a very interesting story of the travels of a Villanova class ring, of the class of 1938. The office was instrumental in seeing that the lost ring was returned to its owner. On the second of July, the office received a letter from Albert Thomas, a resident of Langhorne, who told of his finding a class ring in front of his house.

The letter described the ring, and said that the letters engraved inside were A. J. C. Inspection of the Alumni files showed that the only member of the Class of '38 with those initials were Aloysius J. Carroll, of Philadelphia.

The Alumni office communicated with Mr. Carroll and told him of his ring's being found. This took place in August seventh, and on the eleventh, a letter was in the office from Mr. Carroll telling of the loss of his ring, and thanking Fr. Robert M. Sullivan, Alumni Secretary, for his help in locating it.

Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never climbed into a short sheeted bed
Had his shirt tied up by a stump-headed cuss
And softly went to bed with narry a fuss.
If there breathes such a man, he is surely a nut
His heart is all aflutter and his brain's in a rut,
He takes all these jokes with a good natured grin
And floors the darn prankster with a right to the chin.

He Often Wondered

An Army sergeant was moving up on the front, when he spotted a colored buck private huddled in a foxhole, shivering and and shaking for all he was worth.

"What's the trouble?" inquired the sarge.

"Boss, I'm scared to death of all these hyar bullets 'azinging pas' ma haid!" was the reply.

"Now look, nothing's going to hit you unless it has your name on it!" consoled the veteran sarge. "Now get a move on!"

Time passed and about three hours later he ran across the same private in a different foxhole. He became rather angry at this as all sergeants do and said:

"Look here, didn't I tell you no bullet is going to hit you unless it has your name on it? What's the matter now?"

"Ah know, boss, but suppose one comes over that says 'To whom it may concern?' "

Well, He Tried

A young fellow who loved civilian life quite a bit was trying to avoid the "well-known call" by feigning poor sight. His banner line came when the doctor asked him to read a chart on the wall.

He's now stationed in Camp Kilmer, New Jersey.

though he did have to go to classes. Frank did rather well in sports at the Prep, playing J. V. football, baseball, basketball, softball. He was a a member of the swimming and track teams. In senior year he was a member of the varsity football team. Other extracurricular activities also took up some of Hugh's time for he was President of the Sanctuary Society, Assistant Editor of the school paper and Literary Editor of the Year Book.

After graduating from the Prep, Francis took another competitive exam and won a partial scholarship to Villanova and thus another man found himself on his way to Villanova.

The first of October 1942 found Monsieur Hart matriculating here in the school of Chemical Engineering. He has been a good student and a good man to have working on extra-curricular activities. Hugh is a dayhop and therefore has little time for anything other than school but somehow he has managed to get more ads for the Belle Air than any other member of the business staff. The A.S.Ch.E. has taken up some of his time and at present he is president of said society. Last semester's dinner dance also asked him for assistance with the programs.

Hart has not forsaken sports here at Villanova for he has played intramural softball, baseball and basketball every season. He is at present Sports Editor of the Germantown Courier.

After graduation, Hugh wants to work for Crown Can Company in Philadelphia as a metallurgist. He made no comment when asked about the woman situation at the present time.

That's it for now, see you Tuesday.

October 6 Date Set For Sophomore Cotillion

Committees To Be Appointed This Week; Dance To Be Held Before End of Present Term

Harry Edwards, President of the Class of '47, and Fred Koch, A.S., general chairman of the dance committee, have announced October 6 as the date for the annual Sophomore Cotillion. It has been decided that this date will provide the best opportunity for all the students to attend with a minimum of interference with school affairs and other activities.

Plans are now underway for the appointment of the various necessary committees and a meeting is being held today to take care of this matter. It is planned to canvass the student body prior to the start of negotiations for a band, so that the committee will know where they stand.

To Be Enjoyable Affair

In the past, the Sophomore Cotillion has been known as one of the most really enjoyable dances on the campus, and it is the plan of the present Sophomore class to see that this year's affair lives up to the reputation of previous ones. Good student cooperation is expected which will ensure the success of the activity.

John Fitzgibbons, President of the Student Council, has promised that body's wholehearted support in putting the Soph Cotillion over. This is the first social activity of the summer, and the first affair sponsored by any of the recently-organized classes. Its success will light the way to more frequent affairs of a similar nature.

The Dance Committee hopes to be able to announce more definite

1946 Belle Air Editor Selected

Father Daniel P. Falvey and Robert A. Sullivan, O.S.A., have announced tentative plans for the publication of the 1946 Belle Air, the college yearbook. This year's edition of the Belle Air is now on the press, and it is expected that it will be published in early October.

JOHN SELFRIDGE

John Selfridge, Junior Education student, has been chosen to edit the 1946 edition. John matriculated at Villanova after his discharge from the Army, having previously attended College in Wisconsin. He has been active in school and class affairs. The staff will include mainly new men with Selfridge, Edwards, Keller, and Hanratty the only holdovers.

As in the past years Fathers Falvey and Sullivan will be the moderators. Both of these men have a great deal of interest in the book and as a result of their active cooperation with the students the Belle Air has always maintained a high standard of copy.

Ens. Frederick J. Gerngross, former student at Villanova, and brother of Joe Gerngross, USNR, who is now attending school here, has been reported missing in action. Fred was serving on the cruiser Indianapolis when it went down with 100% casualties.

ENS. FRED GERNGROSS, USNR

Fred matriculated at Villanova during his junior year and graduated in February of 1943. He studied Mechanical Engineering and was active in extracurricular activities, acting as editor of the Engineer and was a member of the A.S.M.E. and P.K.P.

The Indianapolis was lost on July 30 and ironically its sinking was announced simultaneously with the announcement of the surrender of Japan.

Band Holds Impromptu Parade on Austin Field; Local Fire Apparatus Participates

Villanova went all out in celebrating the end of the war with Japan last Tuesday evening. As soon as the news was received, the sounding of the College Chapel bell made the news known to all on the campus. It was but a matter of minutes before the entire resident student body congregated to talk over the situation and start to celebrate.

The first thought was one of prayer and thanksgiving, and practically everyone visited the Chapel for a few moments of earnest prayer in thanksgiving for the ending of hostilities and in memory of their friends and relatives overseas. People from many of the surrounding communities likewise hastened to the College Chapel to offer up their prayers.

Band Stages Parade

Following this, the members of the band lost no time in gathering up their instruments and staging an impromptu parade on Austin field. All members of the unit soon joined in and the demonstration continued for some time. Local residents, many of whom had come to the chapel to pray, also joined in the celebration.

One of the most spectacular incidents in the proceedings was the arrival of a fire truck from one of the neighboring communities which drove up on Austin field and added the sound of its bell to the already noisy demonstration. Several other vehicles made the rounds of the College roads, taking many of the students for short joy-rides.

Heavy Traffic

Lancaster Pike was alive with more traffic than it had seen since the beginning of the war, and the sound of tooting horns and cheering people became almost defening as the evening wore on. Chapel Services Mark V-J Day

The ending of the war with Japan was observed in the College Chapel with a memorial Mass on Thursday morning and a thanksgiving service last Thursday afternoon. The Solemn High Mass, celebrated at nine o'clock Thursday morning, was for the intention of all members of the parish of St. Thomas of Villanova who are in the armed forces and particularly for those who made the supreme sacrifice on behalf of their country.

The College service, which took place at 1:15 Thursday afternoon, was one of thanksgiving for the granting of peace and of commemoration for Villanova men in the armed forces. All students, civilian and V-12, attended, as well as members of the faculty and ship's company.

The program was opened with the Chaplain's Service Call, following which the invocation was given by Rev. Edwin T. Grimes, College Chaplain. Rev. F. X. N. McGuire, President of the College, then addressed the congregation, recalling the effect the war had upon Villanova and stressing the necessity of continued application to our tasks in order to ensure the winning of the peace.

A solemn prayer of thanksgiving was then offered by Father Grimes, and the congregation stood in silent prayer as Taps were sounded. The program was concluded with the singing of the National Anthem by the assembly.

Hymns during the course of the service were rendered by the Schola Cantorum, the Augustinian Seminary Choir. Classes were held as usual on Thursday and the students returned to the classrooms at the conclusion of the program. The Chapel was open all day Wednesday for the convenience of those who wished to offer private prayers.

College Class Ring Finds Its Owner By Alumni Office

The mail box in the Alumni office tells a very interesting story of the travels of a Villanova class ring, of the class of 1938. The office was instrumental in seeing that the lost ring was returned to its owner. On the second of July, the office received a letter from Albert Thomas, a resident of Langhorne, who told of his finding a class ring in front of his house.

The letter described the ring, and said that the letters engraved inside were A. J. C. Inspection of the Alumni files showed that the only member of the Class of '38 with those initials were Aloysius J. Carroll, of Philadelphia.

The Alumni office communicated with Mr. Carroll and told him of his ring's being found. This took place in August seventh, and on the eleventh, a letter was in the office from Mr. Carroll telling of the loss of his ring, and thanking Fr. Robert M. Sullivan, Alumni Secretary, for his help in locating it.

He Often Wondered

An Army sergeant was moving up on the front, when he spotted a colored buck private huddled in a foxhole, shivering and and shaking for all he was worth.

"What's the trouble?" inquired the sarge.

"Boss, I'm scared to death of all these hyar bullets 'azinging pas' ma haid!" was the reply.

"Now look, nothing's going to hit you unless it has your name on it!" consoled the veteran sarge. "Now get a move on!"

Time passed and about three hours later he ran across the same private in a different foxhole. He became rather angry at this as all sergeants do and said:

"Look here, didn't I tell you no bullet is going to hit you unless it has your name on it? What's the matter now?"

"Ah know, boss, but suppose one comes over that says 'To whom it may concern?'"

though he did have to go to classes. Frank did rather well in sports at the Prep, playing J. V. football, baseball, basketball, softball. He was a a member of the swimming and track teams. In senior year he was a member of the varsity football team. Other extra-curricular activities also took up some of Hugh's time for he was President of the Sanctuary Society, Assistant Editor of the school paper and Literary Editor of the Year Book.

After graduating from the Prep, Francis took another competitive exam and won a partial scholarship to Villanova and thus another man found himself on his way to Villanova.

The first of October 1942 found Monsieur Hart matriculating here in the school of Chemical Engineering. He has been a good student and a good man to have working on extra-curricular activities. Hugh is a dayhop and therefore has little time for anything other than school but somehow he has managed to get more ads for the Belle Air than any other member of the business staff. The A.S.Ch.E. has taken up some of his time and at present he is president of said society. Last semester's dinner dance also asked him for assistance with the programs.

Hart has not forsaken sports here at Villanova for he has played intramural softball, baseball and basketball every season. He is at present Sports Editor of the Germantown Courier.

After graduation, Hugh wants to work for Crown Can Company in Philadelphia as a metallurgist. He made no comment when asked about the woman situation at the present time.

That's it for now, see you Tuesday.

TUESDAY - - - - - AUGUST 21, 1945

One Week Ago

As this paper was being written, only a week ago, our country was in the midst of a war against a powerful enemy, and all the resources of the nation were concentrated upon the successful prosecution of that war. Today we find ourselves in the position of the conquering power, the war is at last over and the victory is ours.

As we look back over the past week and recall the momentous events which have transpired during that week, last Tuesday seems a long time ago. Our whole outlook on the world situation has been altered since then. We no longer have the threats and the horrors of war hanging over us, but we are now looking along the bright road toward peace.

But we must not be led by this change in the world situation into thinking that our task is completed. The problem of the building of a just and lasting peace is still before us. We must not allow the enthusiasm of victory to carry us to the point of taking revenge upon our enemies. The establishment of the peace will be neither easy nor simple. It will require all the ingenuity and all the honesty of our statesmen to ensure that the peace will be both stable and just.

It is interesting to speculate at this time as to what the result of the cessation of hostilities will be upon us as college students. We have become accustomed to college life in a war-time atmosphere. That life has been, of necessity, greatly different from the college life of normal times. Just how soon and to what extent the war's end will effect our college life, we have yet to see.

We, of course, recognize that studies are the primary objective in college, but nevertheless the social side of campus life is not to be forgotten. Now that it is again possible to indulge in such activity, let us hope that it will be only a matter of time before it again becomes the common thing.

The accelerated program has left very little time for the "trimmings" of college life. The accent was upon scholastic accomplishment and all other phases of activity were relegated to a subordinate position. How long the accelerated program will remain in force is not definitely known, but it will probably be eliminated at the first opportunity.

The restoration of pre-war privileges and regulations is likewise a subject upon which little is definitely known at present. The restoration of pre-war customs and traditions is already underway and is meeting with a fair degree of success. The sooner the full peacetime program is reinstated, the better it will be for all concerned.

The necessity for many wartime expedients has now passed, and there is no sensible reason for their continuance. The college is slowly but surely beginning to take on some of the aspects of its pre-war days. The day is at hand when Villanova will once more be the Villanova of old. That day we are anxiously awaiting.

'Cat Capers

By FRANK RONAN
and JOHN FITZGIBBONS

As a result of some of the "morning after" effects felt on the campus last Wednesday we present the following verse. If the shoe fits anyone in particular wear it.

NEVER AGAIN

No more will I give my poor mother grey hair
Nor no more will I look with a vacant stare
At glasses and glasses of beer in a row
Wondering just where in the world they all go.

No more will I sit on a stool at the bar
Wondering if I'm able to drive home the car
Nor no more will I walk up to the bar and yell "More!"
And then turn around and fall flat on the floor.

No more will I wonder if when
I go home
The bed will stay put or start in to roam
No more will I wonder if the beer will stay down
Or if perhaps I had better take a walk around town.

No, I'm through with whiskey and cocktails and beer
And henceforth I'll walk in the house without fear
And I'll sit there munching an ice cream cone,
Sober, and healthy, but sadly alone.

We doubt if anyone who was present in Philly on last Tuesday night will ever forget it. Even the Deacon got into the spirit of things by making a few flying tackles on Market St. . . . But the prize scene was that of Newt Ward leading the 86th Division through 69th St. Even the "screaming meanies" did not trouble him. . .

It was nice to see Miriam Gallagher and Peggy Coll, formerly of the bookstore and engineering office respectively, back from the shore last Tuesday. Both are looking very brown and very lovely. Peggy pulled a surprise by announcing that she is engaged to Marine Ted Bolender of Haverford. They are to be married come October. Our best wishes to you, Peggy, and may you both be very happy! . . .

And we would also like to correct a mistake in last week's column. Rosemont will be back in 39 more days. This mistake had H. P. Dumsa really upset so we hasten to correct it. . .This week we bid adieu to Chippy Caruso for the remainder of the semester. Hope you will be back and raring to go in November Doc . . . A very nice barn dance was held last week in the backwoods of Newtown Sq. It was the liveliest affair since the Embalmers' Union, Local 106, held their convention. After promoting this affair we begin to understand why Caruso is leaving . . . Red Dog Koerner must have had some time in New York last week. We wish we could describe his actions outside of the Glen Island Casino but you know how the censors are. It even affected his appetite. Just think what Shylock will be like when Harcum comes back. . .

It certainly was too bad that Jim Riley did not have more strength at the Suburban last Sat. nite. He missed the opportunity of a life time. . .And if Eileen Gillispie would get in touch with us, we feel sure that we could have a lot to talk about. Why not give us the news Eileen instead of letting it out at Martin's Dam . . . H. P. Dumsa has announced that no definite commitments will be made till Rosemont comes back. . .Another mystery has been solved. We finally found out why Riley buys so many combs.

The pink medal this week goes to that social lion, H. P. Dumsa. H. P. was the victim last Thursday night at the barn dance, of a very bad bite on the lip. At this time we have narrowed down the suspects to two parties, a nasty little bumble bee, and the other party who does not wish her name divulged.

Having used up all our daggers for this week, we will say so-long until next week.

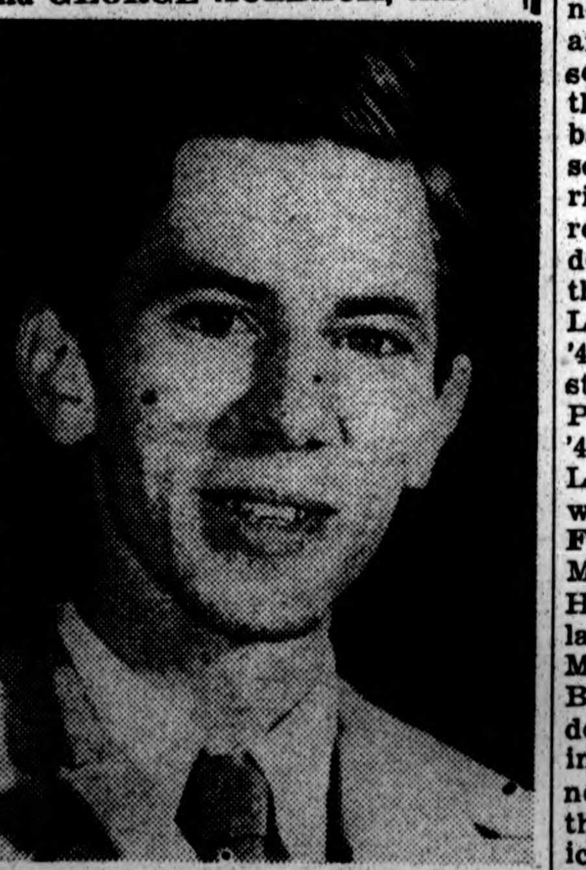
Meet the Boys

By GEORGE ELSESSER, A.S. and GEORGE AULBACK, A.S.

WITH the cessation of hostilities in the Pacific, a new era of peace is born. May this peace into which the world is entering prove to be a lasting one. The orators, statesmen, journalists and all other persons of public notice have and will continue to expound their theories on the present peace so we just had to put in our word. Now we shall get back to the matters at hand.

October 3, 1925 proved to be a fruitful day for Conshohocken, Pa. for on that day John William Coyne was born in said town. John had a normal childhood. In 1931 St. Matthews Parochial School claimed him and in 1939 graduated him. Came the fall of 1939 and John was taken into St. Matthews High School where he proved to be a scholar for he graduated as an honor student. Young Abe, as he is often called, developed an interest in tractors while in high school and to this day, the drive shaft, etc. keep him busy for he seems to be very good at breaking them.

On February 1, 1943 John William enrolled at Villanova in the school of Civil Engineering. Since then he has become a well known figure on the campus for he has proved to be a good worker as well as a good student and consequently many of the extra-curricular activities have made demands on his time. Besides his morning and evening rides between Conshohocken and Villanova, Young Abe has found time to become Subscription Manager, Business Manager and Circulation Manager of the Villanovan. These were not all held at the same time of course but John managed to spread them out over four years. John is also an active member of the A.S.C.E. and Phi Kappa Pi, being Sergeant at Arms of the latter society at the present time. Dances may also be included among John's accomplishments at Villanova for he was committeeman for the Winter Hop, the Harvest Dance and the Senior Ball.



JOHN W. COYNE

Our boy John has but one failing, women, he'll have nothing to do with them. Every Senior Civil will tell you that from time to time we take John out and give him a little talk on the finer points of the fairer sex but he has remained more or less a mysogynist. However we haven't given-up yet, John, and if you learn the Polock Hop as you intend to do we may be able to change your mind.

Mr. Coyne would like to obtain a position with a construction company in or around Philadelphia

Behind The Eight Ball

By HARRY EDWARDS and HANK HANRATTY

It's a bird! It's a plane! No, it's just another "Wildcat" in pursuit of a girl along Market Street. Good old V.J. Day in the city of brotherly love. We happened to be there and here's the story:

(Being quite busy ourselves on the above mentioned night we were unable to observe everything that happened. Thus we will trust to our imagination to fill in where our memory fails us.)

With the blowing of the first horn last Tuesday night many did not know just what to do. However, "Doc" Hart, veteran of many previous New Years Eve campaigns, appeared on the scene with everythings from a war club to a bear trap. Assisting him was ex-Villanovan, Jim Donahue. Together, they set up a road block at the Reyburn Plaza and very few girls were fortunate enough not to meet them.

But, of course, not all of the Villanova boys were quite as efficient. Jack Glancey and Larry Fallon, two rookies in such situations, spent several hours observing the tactics of Hart and his associates. However, it did not take long before they were in full chase. When seen later in the night (how late we shall not mention) an ambulance had backed up to Fallon and "the men in the white coats" were packing him in. Just then, Glancey shouted "That's not blood; that's lipstick!" Jack very much later in the night had a hard time finding his way home. However, one fine maiden by the name of "Jellybean" swept up his remains and escorted him safely to his destiny. Joe Brogan started out with the expedition. However, one kiss on the cheek sent Joe romping home to his mother's protection.

Mystery surrounds the whereabouts of Roland Higgs and Tony Mullen. To say they left their books

After the celebrating has died a little and the car has a tank full of gas we once again turn to the old mail bag. Perhaps now that the Navy is releasing its surplus goods someone will donate a new mailbag to this column. The first morsel of news comes from the Navy by way of Bainbridge where A/S Bill Pease ex '46 writes that one day the C. P. O. came through looking for college men and when Bill told this chief that he was from Villanova, they became as friendly as an A/S and a Chief could be. It seems that this Chief is G. M. Duke, the captain of the 1940 "Wildcat" basketball team. From reliable sources we understand that Marine Pvt. Jim Skane has finally reached OCS after having turned down a chance for a Commission in the Army. It is good to hear that Lieut. J. Gordon Brosmer Class of '41 has for the past two years been stationed in Hawaii with the 701st. Port Company. Mike Cruise ex '44 received his commission as 2nd Lieutenant in the Marine Corps last week. Congratulations Mike! Ens. Francis X. Quinn '44, and Margaret Mary Quinn walked up the aisle of Holy Child Church in Philadelphia last Saturday and became Mr. and Mrs. Quinn. Congratulations and Best Wishes; Ens. Quinn has been doing sub chaser duty, now working out of Cape May. S/C Cl "Sonney" Stock writes from Bainbridge that he is continuing his Pre-Medical training thanks to the Navy and expects to be in for at least another eighteen months.

Our next section will be entitled "Reunion in the South Pacific." Lieut Dick Breen ex '45 writes that he has met at least fifteen Villanova boys and every time they meet there are great celebrations. He says that the Officer's Recreation Club on Saipan might easily be called the "Crossroads of the Pacific." To quote Dick, at one gathering there were Dick Ryan, Bob Fitten, Dick Flaherty, Bob Barrett, Jack McGowan, Leo Noll, Ralph Cahill and George Beuchart. From somewhere in the South Pacific Pfc. Eugene F. O'Donnel says that he has been in touch with Bill Craen by telephone and has also had a good old-fashioned "Pow-Wow" with Bob O'Sullivan. Also in his section are Kasky, Gross, Bob

Passing Parade

After six years of hopes, fears, hard work, bitter bloodshed and saddened spirit, the American people emerged victoriously from the yoke of the world's worst war. Yes, the news which was broadcast to the United States last Tuesday was welcomed with mingled emotions, inexpendable joy and happiness for the most part. The city and country folks alike raised their voice in solemn prayer and thanksgiving to God for the Delivery of our nation from this great era of tragedy and, in wild cheers and great celebration for the fact that most of us can return to the living in the American way of peace and happiness.

A large part of the nation's populace, upon the reception of the long-waited news, bowed their heads in prayer for those who will never walk with us again, but whose indominable spirit and ultimate sacrifice made possible this brilliant and joyous hour of victory. The honor and credit for this triumph must first go to the mustered might of the United States and the Allies. The Army, Navy and Marine Corps of this country and our late Commander-in-chief, Franklin Delano Roosevelt. The American industries and the American home likewise were producers of this battle won.

After the solemn hour of the announcement, the people of the United States, one and all went about varied activities as outlets to their extreme joy. Cities and towns all over had their streets jammed to capacity in little or no time at all. War plants and other places of business immediately closed for a two day holiday. Showers of torn paper and confetti were in abundance as all humanity rejoiced. Sports events slated for these days enjoyed their largest attendance since the beginning of the war. The shore and other resorts were literally "mobbed" by vacationers. Automobiles became long lines on the roads all over the country as gas rationing was lifted.

Sports, above all, deserve honor for a job well-done. After giving their leading figures to the "biggest fight" they carried on in an exemplary manner. They made the men overseas feel that with sports, America was still America, and they bolstered "home front" morale when things seemed almost impossible. They only now begin to reap their reward. They are to enjoy very shortly, the return of their "stars" in great numbers. Big,

Fine Form Shown In First Round of Tennis Meet

Butler, Stanley, Lyttle and Schmucker Among Winners of Opening Matches; Medals on Display

Tennis tournament Director Fred Koch announced this week that the tournament is now in full swing after a two week delay due to incessant rains. All first round matches have been played and the second round matches will be completed by the end of the week.

The Class A players so far have proved very impressive. One of the best matches played on the Villanova courts in years found Bob Sheddon defeating Russ Welsh last week. Sheddon came from behind to win 2-6, 6-4, 9-7, in the longest match played so far. The entire 34 games were action packed and kept the spectators guessing from beginning to end. Percy Butler won his opening match 6-1, 6-3, from another Marine Trainee, Joe Neitzke. Butler was forced to 16 deuces before he could win the final game of the match from his opponent who wouldn't ease up at all.

Charles Stanley, Fedigan Sailor, looked very impressive in his 6-3, 6-1 victory over Bill Space. Stanley showed a very good service and should move up in the tournament. Walt Lyttle coasted to an easy 6-1, 6-1 victory over Bob Henegar, but Gaffney was forced to the limit in beating Charley Fesmire in a 6-2, 7-5 match. On Friday night, John Dorsavage eked out a close vic-

Fedigan B Takes League Title As First Half Ends

Villanova's Intramural Softball League wound up its first-half schedule last week with Joe Costello's Fedigan B team copping the championship. Finishing with a 5-2 record, the Sailors barely nosed out the Austin A team, which had a 6-3 total. Persistent rains plagued the schedule and caused the cancelling of 18 of the 45 scheduled games.

Fedigan A dropped out of second place as they lost to Austin, A, 8-5, on Tuesday night. The game was halted in the sixth inning when the Japanese surrender was announced by President Truman. The final game of the season, Fedigan B versus Austin B, which was to have been played on Wednesday night, was cancelled because of the V-J Day liberty granted to the servicemen.

Many Outstanding Players

The first-half season produced many fine games. One of the best of these was Fedigan B's 2-1 victory over Fedigan A on July 25. The game featured fine pitching by Walt Huber and Dick Naslund, and the terrific defensive play of catcher Paul Wiedenhafer.

Among the outstanding players during the first-half were Wiedenhafer, Wilson and Marano of Fedigan B, Eisenhart, Stookey, Ball and Craig of Austin A, Huber, Burr,

'Cat Gridmen To Enjoy Layoff

Football intrasquad scrimmage seems to be the headlight of every week. Last week, the scrimmage proved to be much better than the previous ones, however there is still much improvement to be made.

Saturday, August 18 was the final practice session for the summer. A vacation was granted to the squad. Practices will be resumed in the very near future. Plans have been laid for a schedule of both afternoon and evening practices. This will give the boys an advantage that the squad of the past few years did not have. Now on with the boys:

William Doherty, 157 lbs. and 5'8" tall, a back from Archmere Academy, Wilmington, Delaware. He played for Archmere for four years, in his last year he received honorable mention for "All State." Although Bill is a small lad, he has a brilliant mind and will give plenty of competition to all those who will oppose him. Bill is also an excellent basketball player. Trainees Here Toughen In Planned PT Periods

Boxing, Wrestling, Tumbling and Various Other Activities Comprise Unit's Physical Program Here

By RUSS WELCH, A.S.

During the last six or seven months, the Navy V-12 Unit's physical training classes have been developing into a smooth-working and efficient atmosphere. Little time is lost preparing for class. One man is designated from each group each week to muster his men and have them ready for the day's activity. The groups are made up in such a way that each has swimming one day, boxing another, grass drill another, and so on throughout the week.

Under apt instructors of physical training, the fellows are put through their paces each day with variety being a keynote. One day will find them engaged in the learning of the art of self-defense not only in an offensive sense but also learning the ability to take it on the chin once in a while. These attributes are covered by the boxing and wrestling classes which are held every week.

Another phase of this training is the conditioning and co-ordinating of muscles. During the calesthenics periods, every muscle is brought into play. These also serve the purpose of keeping the men fit for the strength tests which are given twice a semester.

Grass drill, or more commonly known as "guerilla drill" comprises another angle in this program. This activity consists of the toughening up of the men on running, elephant and duck walking, carrying other men in competitive races and other such exercises. As a supplement to this daily forty minute work-out, the morning exercises also help to keep the boys "in the pink" of condition.

The accomplishments of this department were evidenced last week again by the results of the

Wildcat Trackmen Place Second In 1st Summer Meet

Cindermen Win Seven Events; Cox Takes Three, Kreiser Two as Mainliners Sparkle in Win

In the first track meet this semester, the Villanova track squad took a good second place in the Princeton meet Saturday. Princeton took first place and the Wildcats ran second with a total score of 44½ points. This was just twenty-one behind the winners. The third place team trailed far behind.

The Wildcat trackmen won the mile, 220 dash, the hundred yard dash and the 440. They also placed in several other events. This marks the cindermen's return to their old 1944 form and Father McQuade is well pleased.

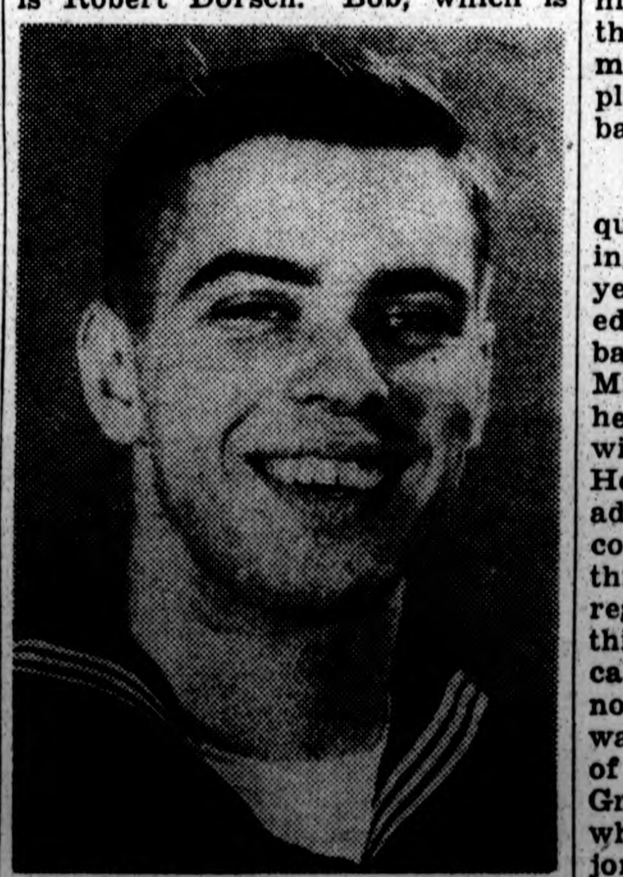
In The Sportlight

By BOB MANSKE

While Villanova's baseball season is still fresh in our minds we would like to submit one of the men who made up this hard fighting nine, for the praise and glory he so richly deserves.

The young man in the sportlight is Robert Dorsch. Bob, which is the preferred nickname was one of last year's keen fielders, usually roamed around in center, but when the occasion presented itself he moved into the infield. Besides being a better than average fielder, he also proved that he was no slouch at the plate. Those hard hit line drives of his will long be remembered by the opposition's pitchers.



High School Player

Bob came into this world on September 15, 1925 in Muskegan, Michigan. He entered Muskegan Heights High School in this same town. He attended here three years and from his freshmen days proved he was really varsity material for the baseball team.

His last year of schooling was spent at Stony Brook Prep School which is located in Long Island. Here once again he proved himself a worthy man for Stony's nine. In his one year there he gained fame throughout Long Island. Bob also made the football team there and played a full season at quarterback.

Semi Pro Ballplayer

While in Muskegan, Bob made quite a name for himself by playing American Legion ball for three years. When only fifteen he started playing with an independent ball club that played in and around Michigan. Bob didn't stop at this, he soon advanced to playing ball with a club in an industrial league. Here he was playing with men well advanced in years and experience compared to him, but even with this disadvantage he played in the regular lineup. The all stars of this league then formed a team called Tri City, that played top notch pro clubs. Right in there was Bob playing first string. One of the teams they played was the Great Lakes Naval Training Base which has beaten many of the major league teams and which also is made up of major leaguers in the service. So you can see Bob has really earned himself a place in baseball.

In July, 1944 Bob joined the Navy and was immediately sent to Villanova's Navy V-12 program. Bob in his stay here didn't limit his talents only to the varsity, but also played intramural ball. He is currently playing with the high flying Fedigan team. Enrolled in the Pre Medical course here Bob has kept up his marks in this tough course.

Bob shall be here for next season and should turn out to be one of the top players on the team.

Casey and Dick Condon. At Guam he writes you will find Junior Devlin, Doug Boyd, and Ken Brietzske. Pfc. Jack Donoghue writes that he had a long "Bull Session" with Joe McCarthy about the good old days at Villanova. Jack also reminds us that George Shahood is now with the 3rd Marine Division.

Note to all Doc Hartman's History students: On August 14, 1945 (V-J Day to some) Doctor Hartman was presented with a 7 lb., 5 oz. baby girl by his wife. They are going to call her Eileen Mary.

Pfc. Mike Cheppe writes from Alaska that he expects a furlough early next year but that since V-E Day the War Department circulated a message to the effect that there would be no furloughs until the transportation situation is eased up. We hope that perhaps now after V-J Day poor Mike will be able to get back to the States since the transportation problem should wear itself out. We hear from Sampson that Jim Plunkett is on his Boot leave, Dick Dalrymple, Eugene Mazza and Jim McCarry have been in touch with Dick Carll. Word has also reached us that Vince De Santis is now in the Army and is stationed at Fort Dix.

Visitors around the Campus the last week included Cpl. Bill Franko ex '43, now stationed at Aberdeen Proving Grounds. Bill was former photo editor of the Villanovan and the Belle Air. Bill has been working on all forms of rockets and he says that the rockets were of untold aid in lowering the casualties on the landings. Officer Candidate Alex "the shape of the football field." Coleman said Hello and if there is any difference, maybe he gained about 25 ozs. Also among the visitors was Ted Baehr on furlough from Europe where he met Joe McFarland in Wurtzburg in Germany.

Once again we come to the end of the line, close the mailbag, put the cover on the typewriter and say Adios.

asked if she would like to try the part. Marnie agreed to try out.

She was presented to the club and after she read the part, it was agreed that she was what the club had been searching for. Besides her already apparent beauty, Miss Richardson shows very marked talent which will probably make the new show a decided hit. Marnie will play the part of "Coreen" in C. D. Cummings' new comedy.

The club's meeting, held last Tuesday night, was interrupted by the joyous peal of the Chapel bells, denoting Japan's surrender. Before this occurred, Sgt. Muir, director of the club, ran through the first act with scripts. This week, rehearsal of the first act will again take place with as little aid from the script as possible.

The society's regular meeting was held Friday night. At the meeting, Sgt. Muir discussed the need for organization if the club wishes to continue its activities. At present, the club has hardly any members who are not taking an active part in the show. The need for new members is great and at the next regular meeting Don Barrett will appoint committees to take charge of the situation.

The following day, Wednesday, was declared a holiday and classes were suspended. Members of the V-12 unit were given liberty until twelve o'clock Wednesday night and the resident students were permitted to leave the campus. ANOTHER Villanovan, Gerard Lawrence Mellon, saw the light of day on June 10, 1925 in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. At the age of two, his family moved to Norwood, Pennsylvania and here is where he has made his home ever since.

In 1931, Jerry entered St. Gabriel's Parochial School and for the next eight years he ruled with an iron hand. Finally, in 1939, the teachers heaved a sigh of relief for Gerard entered St. Joseph Preparatory School. Here is where Larry started to make a name for himself. He excelled in intramural basketball, football, baseball and track. He finally went out for the varsity football team and made it.

GERARD L. MELLON

Also, during his stay at the Prep, Jerry participated in various other extra-curricular activities.

On February, 1943, it was Villanova's gain and the Prep's loss for Mr. Mellon matriculated at Villanova in the School of Civil Engineering. Since that time, he has carried on in the same capacity that made him well known at the Prep. Although he has not participated in any of the varsity sports, he has been active in the various intramural sports. In his Sophomore year, Gerard joined A.S.C.E. and the Phi Kappa Pi. He will be long remembered for his active part in the Phi Kappa Pi's initiations which were held last semester.

Jerry has been a day-hop ever since he entered Villanova but this has not stopped him from taking part in many of the extra-curricular activities. At the present time he is a member of the Orientation Committee which has been responsible for those Frosh carrying the baskets around on the campus. Lawrence can also be remembered for his undying efforts on several dance committees.

After graduation, Jerry is planning on securing a job with a construction company here in the East. One more step and he will go off the deep end for just recently Gerard announced his engagement to a very lovely girl, known as Terry. Good luck, Jerry.

That's all for this week fellows, see you next week.

at basketball than as a football player.

Elmer Kreiser, an end, 6'2" and 210 lbs. He is exceptionally good as a defensive player and a pass receiver. Tiny, as all the boys call him, comes from Columbia High School, Columbia, Pa. Elmer was the co-captain of his team, he had an excellent record for 4 four years, as a football player. Elmer plays basketball also, he played on an undefeated team in his senior year. Kreiser was chosen "All City" and "All County" for football and basketball. He is quite a sportsman.

More Philadelphians

Charlie McIntyre, a guard, weighs 180 and 5'9" tall, from Central High School, Phila. . . . Joe Mikolaitis, 183 lbs. and 6' end from South Catholic High School, Phila. . . . Thomas Donnelly, 5'8" tall and 157 lbs. a running guard from La Salle High School . . . Joe Sullivan a veteran of this year, weighing 175 lbs. and 5'10" tall, is a halfback from Simon Gratz High School . . . Marine Pvt. John Glasscoot, an end from Roman Catholic High School, weighing 168 lbs. and 6' tall. He was honorable mention for the "All Catholic" team. John is also quite a star on the cinders. He is at the present time working out with the track team.

Carl Ungaro, a holdover from last year's squad, weighing 190 lbs. and 5'9" tall, a back from LaSalle high school. Carl was the only civilian on the team last year. He is a veteran of this war. . .Charles Welde, 5'11" and 165 lbs. a halfback from St. Thomas More of Phila. Chick is a ball toter to be watched, as he proved exceptionally good the last few scrimmages.

Jr., Villanova's old stand-by, took first place in the 100 yard dash, the 220 event and the broad jump.

Tom Short, lanky Philadelphian, had to overtake the field to win the 440. Off to a fairly bad start, Tom did some brilliant running to pull into the lead and break the cord for another Villanova first. Elmer Kreiser also took a first place in shot put and discus for the Wildcats. Kreiser is likewise a new man with the squad.

Also prominent among the bright spots are Len Autry and Joe Beals. Autry tied for a third place in the high jump and Beals took firsts and seconds in several running events. Autry, who comes from down Texas way, shows fine form and plenty of promise whenever he performs. In all the meets to date he hasn't failed to place.

Daughter Born To Dr. Hartman

At 7 P. M. last Tuesday President Truman announced the end of the Japanese war whereby the enemy agreed to our peace terms. Sixteen hours previously on the same day a great event occurred for Doctor Harold F. Hartman, associate Professor of Social Sciences at the college, for a seven pound five ounce daughter was born to Mrs. Hartman in the Misericordia Hospital, Philadelphia.

The doctor's new daughter, named Eileen Mary, was born at 3 A. M. The doctor and Mrs. Hartman reside in Woodmere Park, Brookline, Pa. Both mother and daughter are doing nicely at the hospital, the beaming father announced.

tory over Jim Moonan of Delurey Hall. The scores for the three sets were 2-6, 6-2 and 6-3, which snows that it was no easy victory for Dorsavage.

Class B players have been very inactive so far, but this week should produce many interesting matches. Most of the first round matches ended in forefeits, but no more are expected now. Don Schmucker took an easy 6-0, 6-2 victory from Austin Hall's John White in the only Class B match played so far.

All second round matches must be played by the end of this week. Opponents in these matches will be listed on the Mendel Bulletin Board and it is necessary that you get in touch with your opponent sometime this week. Score sheets will be filled out and turned into Fred Koch in Room 108 Fedigan Hall by Saturday at the latest. These Score sheets can be picked up in his room anytime during the week.

new plans are made for the post-war World of Sports.

An item which deserves notice here also is the athletic field constructed by the men of B Battery, 66th Armored Field Artillary, and dedicated to Nick Basca, former Villanovan, who was killed last November near Obrecht, France. The field is titled "Nick Basca Memorial Field" and is situated in Pfeffenhausen, Germany. The people there have promised to keep and preserve this field in honor and memory of one of Villanova's own greats.

Deceleration Of Courses Promised By Fr. McGuire

To Return To Peacetime Schedule as Soon as Practicable; All Legal Holidays To Be Observed

At a meeting of the factulty held before the Labor Day holiday, Rev. Francis X. N. McGuire, O.S.A., President, announced that plans for deceleration of the college courses are being investigated. Fr. McGuire named Rev. Edward M. Dwyer, O.S.A., chairman of the committee appointed to study deceleration plans. The other members of the committee are Mr. J. Stanley Morehouse, Mr. Leo H. Schaefer, Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, O.S.A., Dr. John A. McClain, Rev. James A. Donnellon, O.S.A., and Rev. Joseph I. Boyle, O.S.A.

It was stated that the courses would revert to peacetime normal as soon as possible, and it is hoped that the deceleration may be accomplished by next Summer. To do this, however, some provision must be made for students who will not have completed the second semester of their class and will not be ready to begin the first term of the next class in the Fall. Fr. Dwyer expects that the committee will soon find some workable solution to this problem so that the normal Summer vacation period may return next June.

Fr. McGuire further announced that the school would celebrate all the legal holidays through the next year.

CAMP to CAMPUS

By ROBERT J. CONWAY

Once again we look forward to the mail bag with considerable interest as some one was kind enough to send us a bright new one that the Army has never used.

Naturally we were glad to hear that our good friend Father McGrath arrived safely at his new destination in Hollywood, but the good news was that S 2/C Vince Pica stopped in to see him. Father McGrath writes that he would be more than pleased to see any of the old Villanovans that were on the West Coast. For the benefit of those men his address is;

Rev. Robert E. McGrath O.S.A.
Good Counsel Rectory
Dracena Drive & Ambrose Ave.
Hollywood, California.

S 1/C Jack 'extra base hit' Hellman writes from Great Lakes that he will soon be in Radio Tech. School and that his main desire is to roam the outfield again under the able tutorship of Coach Fr. McCarthy. The next mail comes from the U.S.C.G. station at Groton Conn. from which Jimmy Day writes that he is going to school again and thinks that the Conn. county is the ideal place to settle down and raise a family. Pfc. Bill Barker ex '46, writes from London that he is enjoying a good furlough while awaiting reassignment. He remarks that "New York was never like this."

From Hawaii comes the word that another of the baseball team, Al Sondheimer, ex '45, is enjoying the sights and a daily visit to the ocean 'on the beaches of Waikiki.' We are glad to hear that on Wednesday down at Quantico five former Villanova V-12 students will receive the commissions. They are Frank Cassiano, Tom Fogliani, 'Tank' Cunningham, 'Red' McGuigan, and 'Chuck' Boetler. Our

Veterans' Club To Hold Smoker And Initiation

The Villanova Veterans' Club has made plans to hold its first annual initiation and smoker in the Blue Room of the Field House on Wednesday, Sept. 19. This is the first social event to be held by the Vets' Club, and it is intended to get the veterans acquainted with one another and to stimulate interest in the society.

Plans for the affair are under the direction of a committee headed by Thomas Ward and an entertaining evening is promised for all. Permanent membership cards will be distributed to all members at the smoker by Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, O.S.A., faculty moderator of the organization.

Meeting This Week

There will be a meeting on Thursday, September 13, at 12:55 in Room 202 Mendel for all returned servicemen to discuss the Constitution and By-laws of the organization and to make plans for the smoker and initiation. All veterans are urged to attend this important meeting.

Weekly Music Seminar Revived By Dr. Haenisch

The music seminar, one of the pre-war institutions which has been missed by the students, is once more returning to the scene of campus life. Wednesday, in room 404 of Mendel Hall, a small group of students welcomed the return of the lunch-time classics. We are indebted to Doctor Haenisch for the revival of the seminar. It has been through his interest that Beethoven is once more on speaking terms with Villanova.

The few who were there had received the knowledge by word of mouth, and perhaps this is the reason that the turnout was so small. The program was excellent. The entire Fourth Sonata by Beethoven was played and the Hungarian Fantasie for piano and orchestra by Liszt was begun but interrupted by the bell.

Before the war the music seminar was a popular institution and two rooms in Simpson Hall were furnished and used for the lunch-time gatherings. It is earnestly hoped that the seminar will be well received by the students and that it will once more become a permanent fixture around the campus. An invitation is extended to all those who are interested, both service men and civilians, to attend these concerts. They will be held for the present in Room 404 Mendel every Wednesday at 12:45.

The program will be determined by the requests of the students. Next Wednesday the First Symphony of Brahms will be played.

Drama Club Sets Date for Production

The Villanova Dramatic Society, under the direction of Sgt. John Muir, has announced October 12 as the date for their latest production. Original plans called for its presentation on October 5, but since this is the night before the Sophomore Cotillion, it was decided to move the date back a week.

The play will be an original production written by C. D. Cummings and will star Miss Marnie Richardson. Sgt. Muir will be on hand to direct the play which will be his last official act as moderator of the club, due to his impending discharge. As yet, no new moderator for the society has been found.

Within the last two weeks news has been received on the Campus of the death of four more former Villanova students, bringing the total to forty-nine.

The four men: Lieut. Joseph A. Federowicz, Class of 1938; Staff Sergeant Arthur E. Bove, ex-1941; Lieut. (j.g.) Joseph J. Kozlowski, Class of 1939, and John J. Boyle, ex-1945. The announcement of their deaths was made in the Chapel at Evening Service by the Rev. E. T. Grimes, O.S.A., and everyone was asked to remember the men in their prayers. Father Grimes also said Mass on August 30, 31 and September 1 and 2 for the four men in the following order: Federowicz, Bove, Boyle and Kozlowski.

Lieut. Joseph A. Federowicz was first reported missing on June 16, off the island of Okinawa and then, on August 18, the War Department notified his wife that he was dead. Joe was a member of the Naval Medical Corps. He was graduated from Roman Catholic High School, Villanova College and Jefferson Medical School. He enlisted in June of 1942 and was first sent overseas in April of 1944. In Villanova Joe was a member of the 150 lb. football team and around the school he was recognized as a dependable student and a good friend to all.

Staff Sergeant Arthur E. Bove was killed in the Ryukyus Islands on the thirtieth of July. Sgt. Bove was in the Air Corps. He was a graduate of Southeast Catholic High School, where he was the captain of the football team in 1937. He enlisted in June of 1942 and was shipped overseas last February.

Sergeant Bove was a radioman and gunner on a Liberator bomber that was shot down over the Ruykyus Islands.

John J. Boyle entered Villanova in 1941 and left in 1942 to enter the Army Air Corps. He was shot down over France in June 1944 while on his fiftieth mission. He was reported missing for one year and in June 1945 the War Department presumed that he was dead.

Lieut. (j.g.) Koslowski was killed when he accidentally fell from the sixth floor of the Hotel Stewart in San Francisco. Joe graduated from the Medical Department of Villanova with the Class of 1939, a B.S. in Biology. His next step was Temple University School of Dentistry and he graduated from there in October 1943. He received his commission in the Dental Corps and on July 25 he reported to Treasure Island. He was to be ship's dentist on board the USS Bexar. He had just returned from the shakedown cruise the day before the unfortunate accident.

Alumnus Working On Ph. D. At Md.

John O'Neill Van Hook, B.S. in Chemistry, 1941, visited the college last Thursday. Neill has spent the four years since his graduation from Villanova at the University of Maryland. During his first two years at College Park he spent one half of his time as a laboratory assistant and instructor and the other half working for his Ph.D. in chemistry.

During the past two years he has spent practically all his time working on synthetic antimalarials for the Committee of Medical Research, a branch of the Office of Scientific Research and Development. Neill says he has prepared quite a few new drugs of sulfa, plasmochim and atabrine types, and has done no work at all on the atomic bomb. He has just passed the preliminary exams for the doctorate and expects to receive it next June after the completion of his dissertation.

During his four years at Villanova Neill was always an honor student and a member of the Band.

Tickets Now On Sale For First Dance of Season

Philadelphia Orchestra Chosen For October 6 Affair; Final Arrangements Now Being Made By Sophomore Class

Fred Koch, A.S., chairman of the Sophomore Class dance committee, has announced that the Sophomore Cotillion will feature the music of Chuck Gordon and his orchestra. This announcement completes preliminary arrangements for the affair which is to be held Saturday night, October 6. Tickets are now on sale and the Committee is expecting an enthusiastic student response.

Tickets On Sale

The price of the tickets is three dollars and they are obtainable from all members of the ticket committee. Students are urged to purchase their tickets as soon as possible so that the committee can make arrangements early. This is the first social activity of the college during the Summer, and it is expected that it will be a big sucess.

Harry Edwards, President of the Class of 1947, has announced that members are still needed on some of the committees and members of the Sophomore Class are encouraged to volunteer their services. The securing of the band was handled by the committee headed by Russ Welsh, A.S., who is acting as general chairman while Fred Koch is in the hospital. The committee believe they have found a band which will provide an enjoyable evening's entertainment for all.

Chuck Gordon has had his share of replacement problems, but he has done all right in getting some of the men found in his band today.

Both Sweet and Hot

The band plays good music that is both sweet and hot, depending on the mood of the song and the dancers. Whips up the hit parade leaders in smooth style and applies the heavy rhythmic beats to the standards and stompers, with the result that it satisfies all types of dancers.

Instrumentation takes in four saxes, with blend and body rarely heard in bands today; two trumpets, two trombones, piano, bass and drums. Brass section is augmented by Gordon's own trumpet, stepping back to play along with the boys after a trip down front to apply the personal touch in announcing each selection and giving the downbeat.

Excellent Sax Section

Making good use of his excellent sax section, band is pitched around the organ-quality blend of reeds and trombones. And the arrangements by pianist Bill Fairbanks are on the youthful side and ever bright.

Although ensemble playing is emphasized, there are plenty of instrumental sidelights to apply the hot spark. Particularly in the trumpeting of sixteen-year-old Rod Rodney and tenor sax phrasings of (Penny) Pendleton, formerly of Benny Goodman and Jack Teagarden aggregations.

Capable Vocalists

Vocal qualities are also in high order. Rosalind Stuart, a familiar radio voice, gives excellent account of the lyrical content of the popular tunes, particularly the ballads. And for the romantic songs, sax man Freddy Wilkinson suits the fancy of the fair sex.

Gordon keeps the band's tonal qualities well modulated, never blasting or distorting, and being rich in dancing appeal makes the band one of America's outstanding attractions.

ATTENDS MEETING

Rev. Joseph C. Bartley, O.S.A., attended a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Catholic Economic Association, which was held Saturday, September 8, in Washington, D. C. Fr. Bartley is a member of the Executive Committee of the association which was formed in December 1941.

Phi Kap, D. P. E. Plan Smokers

Phi Kappa Pi to Hold Smoker Friday Night; D. P. E. to Hold Initiations

Phi Kappa Pi will hold a smoker for all present and prospective members this Friday evening in the Blue Room of the Field House at 8:30 P. M. All those interested should contact Al Dumsa, Phi Kap President.

The Delta Pi Epsilon Fraternity which was one of the most active societies on the campus in pre-war days, is making plans to revive the activities of bygone days.

Plans for the initiation of new members will be made in a meeting to be held Wednesday, September 12, at 2:45 P. M. in Room 215 Mendel Hall. Following initiations, there will be a smoker for old and new members. The initiations will take place as usual in the basement of the Commerce and Finance Building and the smoker in the Blue Room of the Field House. A time which will be suitable to all members of the fraternity will be selected at this meeting.

Financier's Frolic

The Financier's Frolic will also be a topic of discussion. This dance has always been one of major social activities at Villanova. Committees for the Frolic, initiations, and other events will be appointed at the meeting by the president, John Fitzgibbons.

Every member is requested to attend this meeting and join in the discussion of the forthcoming activities.

Let's Have Some Pep!

The date of the Sophomore Cotillion is now less than one month away and as yet, ticket sales have not come up to the expectations of the committee. The Class of 1947 has been counting on early ticket sales to enable them to meet their preliminary expenses but the turnout to date has been somewhat disappointing.

The Soph Cotillion is the first, and from the looks of things, the only major social event of the summer semester. There is therefore no reason why it should not be a great success, and the dance committee have certainly done their share to insure this. The rest is up to the students and on them will depend the ultimate success of the affair.

The opening of the football season is less than two weeks away and here again we see a lack of interest and enthusiasm. The fact that only two of our games are at home should not be allowed to discourage loyal rooters from supporting their team. Transportation restrictions have been lifted and it requires only the voice of the student body to organize a rooting group to follow the team.

In the past, Villanova spirit has been something of which to be proud and it is up to us to see that it is that once more. Rallies, game trips and the like do not materialize out of nowhere; they must be planned and organized by the students. We have the assurance of the college administration that they are behind the students in any project they want to put over; but we do not have the will of the student body.

No amount of talking will have any effect in putting these propositions in motion; what we need is action. That action must come from the student body, and when it does, then campus life will really get into the swing again. Your class representative on the Student Council is the man to express your wishes in these matters. Let him know what you want and the Student Council will give it to you.

The football team and the Sophomore Cotillion are the two campus activities that need your support at present. If you get behind them and show your interest, the road will be open to start new activities. Let the Student Council know your wishes with regard to the football schedule, and buy your tickets for the Soph Cotillion early and you will be doing your part to get things rolling again. It's up to you.

Since this column has not gone to press in the past two weeks we have spent a great deal of our time trying to solve many mysteries. Maybe some of you people can help us out. That is those of you who can read. Our first problem is just why does Newt Ward's girl always want to go home so early when on a date? She must be allergic to that booming baritone voice.

Our next problem is just where H. P. Dumsa's spelling teacher received his degree. He sounds like a Temple man as that is the only place that we know of that spells journalism with a "G."

And just how did Jim Riley become a casualty last week? Come come Jim, don't tell us a fish bit you. And now let's go down to Mongrel Manor. Just when did the Peshina "boys" think they grew out of the milk-shake stage? We also would like to know who gave Jim Conaty a building wrecker's permit? But one of our real problems from Simpson is that we often wonder if Joe Kane knows what is going on during those frequent conversations in Spanish? Is Dick Tracy falling for Breathless Mahoney? Who makes those fancy menus for the cafeteria? Did Hart steal his own car for the insurance? And did Racusin put the idea in his head? How did Manske get that name of "stinker"? Is Jack Powers. making a big play for Emma? Or is he just trying out Bill Jameson and Johnny Leo?

Is it true that Ciotola plans to stay at Villanova for a whole week soon? Will the Deacon ever win at sweep? When will the Deacon ever learn to play sweep? Will Red Dog Koerner talk himself out this time? Why does Bertran draw the line at 15 years of age? Will D.P.E. ever show a little life? When will Fr. Grimes get rid of those ash can covers that are such a danger at the wrong hour? What will Dumsa do when he's three hundred miles away from Rosemont?

If any one can answer any of these riddles we wish they would let us know. For the one answering the most correctly we will present a prize consisting of a two hour tour of the Rosemont Campus conducted by Mother Dumsa, Dean of Women at Rosemont.

Sorry to see Sandy Albert leave our midst. Good luck Sandy. The Vets' Club will hold a smoker on Sept. 19 in the Blue Room. It will be for members and prospective members only. Phi Kappa Pi will hold a smoker in the C. and F. auditorium Friday evening. Entertainment will consist of movies and talks and refreshments will be served. This also will be a closed affair.

Plans seem to be progressing very satisfactorily for the Sophomore Cotillion. We have only one criticism to make and that is a minor one. The posters do not seem to come up to the regular Villanova standard, but a successful dance will certainly erase this. The Senior Class is planning a get-together to be held before graduation but plans are still in the tentative stage. More will be announced on this next week. No more news this week. So until next week we will say so long.

Meet the Boys

By GEORGE ELSESSER, A.S. and GEORGE AULBACK, A.S.

WELL, midterms are over.

Say Buddy, how'd you make out?

Yeah! that's what I say, midterms are over.

Sure, I heard you the first time, but how did you do?

George, can't you take a hint? Keep quiet.

But really we hope you hit them fellows.

And now for the gentlemen of the week. The first answers to the name of Edward Joseph Costello. Joe is responsible for making March 21, 1925 an historical date for, on said date he said the first word in public, a big long yell. This great event took place in that city known for its historical events, Philadelphia. It was in this same city that Joe led a normal childhood and, at the tender age of five and a half years, entered Little Flower Parochial School. At Little Flower he made quite a name for himself, in fact, he was the best known pupil there, for never a day went by that he didn't stay after school and write something four or five hundred times.

EDWARD J. COSTELLO, A.S.

After eight long years, he said goodbye to Little Flower with tear-rimmed eyes and the following Fall he entered St. Joseph's Prep after a lengthy discussion in which every member of the Costello family took part and assured him that it would not look good if he went to Little Flower High School. But, all in all, he did finally decide that the Prep was all right and he became an active member of the institution. Joe played intramural sports and was a member of the varsity track team, as well as a business man for the yearbook. He graduated from the Prep in 1942.

After graduation, Joe went to work at the Eastern Regional Research Laboratory. Here he became interested in Chemistry, this led to his matriculation at Villanova in the School of Science with Chemistry as a major. He day-hopped it between Philly and Villanova his first semester here but July 1943 found him a resident with a new white suit commonly known as Navy Whites. He was billeted in 451 Mendel Hall but he spent most of his time in that ill-fated room, 453. Costello has had an active life here on the campus, he has played intramural sports and was a member of last season's varsity basketball team. He is also a member of the Sanctuary Society and a good man to have on a dance committee. At present he is looking

It is generally agreed that modern newspapers, except those subsidized by millionaires and totalitarian governments, cannot survive without benefit of advertising. A necessity of a closely related kind has recently begun to assert itself in the field of American journalism. Apparently newspapers in all parts of our country do not even dare to exist without the assistance of a selection of clumnists.

Of curse, this situation has its precedents. More than two centuries ago, Addison and Steele gave their readers a mixture of information and advice. Moreover, they emphasized the second element. They had no news services to draw upon, and inevitably their comments on London manners and poses outweighed gossipy reports on the misbehavior of younger sons and irresponsible gentlemen of wealth. A bit later Goldsmith lectured his contemporaries in print and recommended various improvements in English life. All three men did their tasks very well. They had wholesome viewpoints; they had humor and good taste; they argued with logic and conviction.

So much for basic precedent. Entirely modern are such developments as the newsapers dependence upon columnists to fill a sizable part of their daily issues and, second, the almost unlimited number of interests to which the columnists appeal. The space given to columnists varies in bulk, it is true, but an estimated average places it between a half-page and a full one of solid print. By all standards this represents a substantial portion of the newspaper's contents. The variety, too, of today's columns is a formidable, almost shocking, thing. The reader has a choice in most towns of movie chit chat, of Walter Winchell's hysterical, small boy bubblings, of Westbrook Pegler's masterly satire, of Samuel Grafton's doleful, pompous warnings, of Drew Pearson's endless dissatisfaction, of the first-class conclusions of George Sokolsky's adult, informed mind. Thus columnists perform most of the activities of ordinary written and oral expression; they forecast, they censure, they threaten, they confuse and mislead, they clarify, and they stimulate.

Fundamentally the value of columnists and the profit with which they may be read depend on their competency. The forecasters offer the thinnest and least reliable support since they deal in prophecy, a pastime for which some little fluency in writing is no more qualification than that possessed by Greek oracles or gypsy women. Some write well and justify their presence in type because of a peculiar aptitude for composition. If he provided nothing more, Pegler would merit reading. because of his artistry and invective, a power which he exercises with all the devastation of a Jonathan Swift.

Among our indisputably literate columnists are Walter Lippman, Arthur Krock, George Sokolsky, and Mrs. Anne O'Hare McCormick. They have educational background which is, after all, compounded of such useful ingredients as knowledge whereof they speak, a sense of responsibility, an ability to see the complexities of a national or international problem, and, finally, that perspective which is called historical. It is one of the most ironic things in life that a commentator like Ralph Page who writes all the obvious things which an intelligent reader has already anticipated should appear beside a thoughtful analyst like Sokolsky or David Lawrence who suggest what is not likely to occur to even the reasonably well informed. But surely one should avoid the cocksureness and intolerance of many columnists. Every man with vigor to his own tastes in this jolly old democracy of ours. If quality alone counted, column writing would soon become as extinct as professional falconry. Even Winchell has dependents, one understands, and who would, if he could, deny him a livelihood?

Yet on one rather important point all columnists do give a pleasant savor to the newspaper business. They add a personal touch to an institution which, when impersonal, can be stodgy and cold. The editorial, for example, is and has always been a bloodless, aloof, misty statement. The columnist is at least positive. Yesterday's report that Berliners like American journalism much more than British or Russian may have a very curious significance. The columnist has, for better or worse, changed the American newspaper; so far as one knows, he has no counterpart in Britain or Russia.

BEHIND THE 8

By HARRY EDWARDS and HANK HANRATTY

Labor Day has passed. Good ol' Labor Day! Recovery from the shock of having a holiday was quick. Bags were packed; ferries were crowded; trains were jammed; double cuts were as plentiful as telephone numbers in Doc Hart's little black books. Villanova was on the march. Even J. J. Burns was prepared for a busy weekend. It took him two trips to school to carry his books home.

Navy, Marine Discharges Cut P. T. Staff In Half

Chiefs Hayes and Rogalla, Sergeant Aubertin Earn Their Discharges; Rogalla Signs Contract To Play for Eagles

Villanova's Physical Training Department was greatly men were given discharges on the new Navy point system weakened during the past two weeks when two of its key and a third instructor applied for his release under the Marine Corps regulations.

One of the first to leave was Chief Specialist Millard C. Hayes, USNR, the newest enlisted man in Ship's Company. Chief Hayes was here only nine weeks, but in that time a new swimming program was set up and the P. T. workouts were revised. The new system he set up favored competitive sports and fostered a lot of fighting spirit.

Stationed on USS Rogers

After attending Chief's School at Norfolk, he was assigned to Sampson where he trained new recruits. The Chief, who enlisted in November of 1942, then went to Bainbridge Naval Training Station to serve for 13 months on the physical Instructors School staff. Navy red tape prevented him from getting any sea duty until January of 1945 when he was assigned to the USS Rogers, a Destroyer which is now at Tokyo with Admiral Halsey.

Orders finally came through transferring him back to Bainbridge where he studied swimming instruction under Adolf Kiefer, National swimming champion. Chief Hayes arrived at Villanova at the beginning of this semester and was put in charge of the new swimming program. He was also made chief inspecting officer of Navy and Marine barracks and has done a lot toward establishing order in the two halls.

To Live in Wayland, N. Y.

Before joining the Navy he spent fourteen years with the New York State Prison Department where he was a recreation director and personnel worker. His post-war plans include taking charge of a gasoline concern in Wayland, N. Y., which he has owned for eleven years. The Chief is married and has two children, an eleven-year-old daughter and a six-year-old son. He wishes the best of luck to all the boys here and also wishes to thank them for the splendid cooperation they have shown him in his short stay here. During his nine weeks on the campus he has made many friends and has seen the morale of the boys greatly improved.

Invaded Guadalcanal

Sgt. Frank J. Aubertin, USMC, has applied for his discharge and is now awaiting further word from the Navy Department. Born April 30, 1921, the Sergeant has been in the Marine Corps for three years and eight months.

He received his boot training at Parris Island and was then attached to A Company, First Battalion, First Marines, First Division at New River. His outfit shipped out from San Francisco in the Spring of 1942 and was sent to Wellington, New Zealand. There they received further training and on August 7, 1942, they invaded Guadalcanal Island, the first enemy territory captured in this war. The Sergeant, then Corporal, spent four and a half months on Guadalcanal and during this time his outfit was under constant enemy bombardment. He went from there to New Hebrides, then to Brisbane, and finally to Melbourne, Australia, for a well-earned rest. By this time he had his Sergeant's stripes.

Will Return to Atlantic City

He received further training at Goodenough Island, New Guinea, and then went to Finschafen, New Guinea. The Sergeant landed on Cape Gloucester, New Britain, on December 26, 1943, and was there for four months of rugged fighting. Aubertin's outfit was moved to Pavuvu Island in the Russell Islands for reorganization and then back to Guadalcanal. They invaded Peleliu Island, Palau Group, on September 15th and were there until the Island was secured on October 4th. Then they returned to Pavuvu Island from which they sailed back to the U.S. Sgt. Aubertin received a 30-day leave and reported to Villanova on December 29, 1944. At Villanova he has been a swimming and P. T. instructor and a great Sports fan.

Before the war he spent two years with the British Purchasing Commission as Stock Supervisor in their Washington offices. His home is in Atlantic City, N. J., and he hopes to return there as a member of the local Police Force. His one regret about returning to civilian life is that now he will have to go to work.

Stationed at Newport

Chief Specialist John F. Rogalla, USNR, who received his discharge two weeks ago, was stationd at Villanova for the last sixteen months. He enlisted in the Navy in December, 1941, and got his chief's rating at Norfolk. After being stationed at Melville and Newport, R. I., for over a year, he was sent to Franklin and Marshall College when the V-12 program was originated in June, 1943. At F. & M. the Chief served as an athletic instructor and helped coach the varsity football squad. Here at Villanova he was in charge of the P. T. instructors and acted as coach for the boxing team. The Chief helped Coach Jordan Olivar with the football team last season and was instruct-

Fedigan B Wins Three In Week

Dick Naslund Stars on the Mound as Fedigan B Takes the League Lead

The campus intramurals league blazed back into action during the past two weeks with as exciting games as one would expect to see during the last weeks of a pennant race. Fedigan B is on top at least for the time being, but Austin B is hot on their heels.

The first game of the second half saw up-and-coming Mendel ten take a 17-7 decision from Del-Si. Big Lou Di Giacomo was the losing hurler, with Durney going on to win for the old building team. The line score: Mendel 15 runs on 9 hits with Del-Si getting their 5 runs on 8 hits. The second game on this same evening found the first half champs, Fedigan B, taking Don Boos's hurling on the chin for a tight 4-3 loss. Harry Bombick was injured in the sixth inning of this game and was forced to retire. He returned to action, however, on the following night.

Huber Shuts Out Austin A

On Tuesday night, the big feature was little Walt Huber's decisive 4-0 shutout hurled against the Austin A outfit. The game proceeded under close running with the players nearly coming to blows about several close decisions. Jack Lewis, ace Marine hurler, took the defeat, which was the first shutout of the season. Huber yielded only four measly hits, while Fedigan took every advantage and scored once for every hit. Austin B won their game that night as they dished out another set-back to Mendel Hall. Don Boos once again led his team from the mound with some tight hurling.

Wednesday night found things still going strong, as Austin A dropped Mendel for their second loss in a row, while Dick Naslund hurled the Fedigan B to a 4-3 count over Lou DiGiacomo and his Del-Si boys. The league rested on the liberty night after opening in a blaze of glory.

On Friday Don Boos and his men steamed ahead once more to drop Fedigan A, 4-2. Austin had 10 hits and 4 runs while Fedigan garnered 6 hits and their 2 runs. Huber suffered the loss. Likewise the league closened up on Fedigan B's win over Austin A on this same night. Monday's games were called on account of the Labor Day Holiday.

Naslund Wins Three

Tuesday, Fedigan B began to pull out in the race as Dick Naslund hurled fine ball to down Mendel by a humbling 19-11 count. Moskal was the losing pitcher yielding 14 hits. Naslund took the victory giving up 10 hits. Fedigan A dropped

Tennis Semifinals To Be Played This Week

Tournament Nears Completion as Competition Stiffens; Sheddon, Class A Player, Beats Welsh and Lyttle; Fr. Boyle Wins Opening Match in Faculty Division

Dark horse Dick Sheddon, with two smashing victories over highly rated opponents entered the semi-finals of the tournament this week, sending Russ Welsh and Walt Lyttle down to defeat after three torrid sets. Dick has not been on the courts for over three years but he is certainly giving a fine account of himself in his first tournament. Sheddon has his hardest job when he plays Jim Riley in the semi-finals this week. In another match in the class A group John Dorsavage was defeated by Gaffney 6-2, 1-6, 6-2. This match was hard fought although the score does not indicate it. Percy Butler was Gaffney's next opponent and this match proved to be an exciting one. With Butler leading 5-0 in the second set, Gaffney made a beautiful attempt to tie the score, bringing it up to 5-4, 40-15. However, he weakened here and Butler managed to squeeze out a victory, 6-3, 6-4. In the second set match point was played 24 times. Butler plays Horace Bernton in the semi-finals next week. Bernton advanced to the semis when Janton, his opponent in the quarter-finals, was forced to default due to an injury to his foot.

In the class B group Henry Ward advanced to the semi-finals with a win over Don Schmucker by the score of 6-1, 6-2. Ward has been playing very good tennis and looks as though he may take top honors in this group. His next match will be against Harry Bombick, who defeated Tom Ferry, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3. Ferry was the victor over Al Dagit in a sizzling match in which Tom's smashing serves and deep forehand drives were too much for Al to handle. The score was 6-1, 6-2. McCafferty advanced to the semi-finals with a hard earned victory over Liberi 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Faculty Start Playing

The faculty started its tournament last week and with only four entries it should be concluded this week. Fr. Boyle triumphed over Fr. Kemme by the score of 6-2, 6-2. This match was another one in

Football Team Ends Vacation

Squad Scrimmages With Penn and Swarthmore as Many Servicemen and Veterans Impress Coach Olivar

After a short vacation the Villanova Wildcats resumed practice last week. During the past two weeks the team scrimmaged the Swarthmore and Penn teams. This years' schedule gets underway in less than three weeks and Coach Jordan Olivar reports that his boys are now in good shape and are ready for a successful season.

Certain to be one of the standout players on this year's team is Romeo Capriotti, a shifty halfback who was recently discharged from the Army. "Cap" played for three years with Frankford High School in Philadelphia and was chosen on the All-City and All-Scholastic teams in his senior year. He matriculated to West Chester State Teachers College and played for one year there before joining the Army. At West Chester he received Honorable Mention on the All-State team. While serving with the 5th Army in Italy he was awarded the Silver Star and the Purple Heart for his actions. In practice he has looked very good and should earn a first team berth.

Rodkey Looks Good

One of the better linemen on the squad is Thomas Rodkey, a Navy V-12 student recently transferred here from Muhlenberg College

In The Sportlight

By BOB MANSKE

With the football season only two weeks off, it is only natural to devote this column to one of the men who is going to make up the team.

This young man is James Smith. Smitty, as he is commonly known to his fellow-classmates, is one of this year's stellar linemen.

High School Player

Smitty came into this world September 10, 1927 in the city of Brotherly Love, Philadelphia, and he still lives there, in the section called Northwood.

When September, 1941, rolled around, Smitty enrolled in La Salle High School. In his freshman year there Jimmy decided to try out for football and, even though he was only a freshman, he made the varsity as a tackle. He stayed on the varsity for four years and played first string during his last two seasons.

In his senior year at La Salle Smitty was chosen co-captain of the team by his teammates. For the four years that Smitty played there the team ended up in the first division even though it was pitted against schools with much larger enrollments.

All-Catholic

Also in his senior year in high school Smitty was chosen first string tackle on the All-Catholic team of Philadelphia. In his junior year he was given honorable mention on the All-Catholic team.

Smitty entered Villanova March 1, 1945, leaving high school after three and a half years. He reported for Spring practice and was switched from tackle to guard. In this Summer's practice he has shown by no little means that he is first string material for the varsity. In the two scrimmages against Pennsylvania and Swarthmore, Smitty showed that he could really take as much as he gives.

JAMES E. SMITH

Against Penn he played like an inspired man and nobody will forget that fumble he recovered in the opening minutes of the game.

Jim is taking a Commerce and Finance Course here and hopes to major in accounting. Smitty has been an honor student since he entered here and this is an accomplishment, when you consider that most of his time is taken up by football. He is also a member of the Delta Pi Epsilon fraternity.

Let's Have Some Pep!

The date of the Sophomore Cotillion is now less than one month away and as yet, ticket sales have not come up to the expectations of the committee. The Class of 1947 has been counting on early ticket sales to enable them to meet their preliminary expenses but the turnout to date has been somewhat disappointing.

The Soph Cotillion is the first, and from the looks of things, the only major social event of the summer semester. There is therefore no reason why it should not be a great success, and the dance committee have certainly done their share to insure this. The rest is up to the students and on them will depend the ultimate success of the affair.

The opening of the football season is less than two weeks away and here again we see a lack of interest and enthusiasm. The fact that only two of our games are at home should not be allowed to discourage loyal rooters from supporting their team. Transportation restrictions have been lifted and it requires only the voice of the student body to organize a rooting group to follow the team.

In the past, Villanova spirit has been something of which to be proud and it is up to us to see that it is that once more. Rallies, game trips and the like do not materialize out of nowhere; they must be planned and organized by the students. We have the assurance of the college administration that they are behind the students in any project they want to put over; but we do not have the will of the student body.

No amount of talking will have any effect in putting these propositions in motion; what we need is action. That action must come from the student body, and when it does, then campus life will really get into the swing again. Your class representative on the Student Council is the man to express your wishes in these matters. Let him know what you want and the Student Council will give it to you.

The football team and the Sophomore Cotillion are the two campus activities that need your support at present. If you get behind them and show your interest, the road will be open to start new activities. Let the Student Council know your wishes with regard to the football schedule, and buy your tickets for the Soph Cotillion early and you will be doing your part to get things rolling again. It's up to you.

Since this column has not gone to press in the past two weeks we have spent a great deal of our time trying to solve many mysteries. Maybe some of you people can help us out. That is those of you who can read. Our first problem is just why does Newt Ward's girl always want to go home so early when on a date? She must be allergic to that booming baritone voice.

Our next problem is just where H. P. Dumsa's spelling teacher received his degree. He sounds like a Temple man as that is the only place that we know of that spells journalism with a "G."

And just how did Jim Riley become a casualty last week? Come come Jim, don't tell us a fish bit you. And now let's go down to Mongrel Manor. Just when did the Peshina "boys" think they grew out of the milk-shake stage? We also would like to know who gave Jim Conaty a building wrecker's permit? But one of our real problems from Simpson is that we often wonder if Joe Kane knows what is going on during those frequent conversations in Spanish? Is Dick Tracy falling for Breathless Mahoney? Who makes those fancy menus for the cafeteria? Did Hart steal his own car for the insurance? And did Racusin put the idea in his head? How did Manske get that name of "stinker"? Is Jack Powers making a big play for Emma? Or is he just trying out Bill Jameson and Johnny Leo?

Is it true that Ciotola plans to stay at Villanova for a whole week soon? Will the Deacon ever win at sweep? When will the Deacon ever learn to play sweep? Will Red Dog Koerner talk himself out this time? Why does Bertran draw the line at 15 years of age? Will D.P.E. ever show a little life? When will Fr. Grimes get rid of those ash can covers that are such a danger at the wrong hour? What will Dumsa do when he's three hundred miles away from Rosemont?

If any one can answer any of these riddles we wish they would let us know. For the one answering the most correctly we will present a prize consisting of a two hour tour of the Rosemont Campus conducted by Mother Dumsa, Dean of Women at Rosemont.

Sorry to see Sandy Albert leave our midst. Good luck Sandy. The Vets' Club will hold a smoker on Sept. 19 in the Blue Room. It will be for members and prospective members only. Phi Kappa Pi will hold a smoker in the C. and F. auditorium Friday evening. Entertainment will consist of movies and talks and refreshments will be served. This also will be a closed affair.

Plans seem to be progressing very satisfactorily for the Sophomore Cotillion. We have only one criticism to make and that is a minor one. The posters do not seem to come up to the regular Villanova standard, but a successful dance will certainly erase this. The Senior Class is planning a get-together to be held before graduation but plans are still in the tentative stage. More will be announced on this next week. No more news this week. So until next week we will say so long.

Meet the Boys

By GEORGE ELSESSER, A.S. and GEORGE AULBACK, A.S.

WELL, midterms are over. Say Buddy, how'd you make out?

Yeah! that's what I say, midterms are over.

Sure, I heard you the first time, but how did you do?

George, can't you take a hint? Keep quiet.

But really we hope you hit them fellows.

And now for the gentlemen of the week. The first answers to the name of Edward Joseph Costello. Joe is responsible for making March 21, 1925 an historical date for, on said date he said the first word in public, a big long yell. This great event took place in that city known for its historical events, Philadelphia. It was in this same city that Joe led a normal childhood and, at the tender age of five and a half years, entered Little Flower Parochial School. At Little Flower he made quite a name for himself, in fact, he was the best known pupil there, for never a day went by that he didn't stay after school and write something four or five hundred times.

EDWARD J. COSTELLO, A.S.

After eight long years, he said goodbye to Little Flower with tear-rimmed eyes and the following Fall he entered St. Joseph's Prep after a lengthy discussion in which every member of the Costello family took part and assured him that it would not look good if he went to Little Flower High School. But, all in all, he did finally decide that the Prep was all right and he became an active member of the institution. Joe played intramural sports and was a member of the varsity track team, as well as a business man for the yearbook. He graduated from the Prep in 1942.

After graduation, Joe went to work at the Eastern Regional Research Laboratory. Here he became interested in Chemistry, this led to his matriculation at Villanova in the School of Science with Chemistry as a major. He day-hopped it between Philly and Villanova his first semester here but July 1943 found him a resident with a new white suit commonly known as Navy Whites. He was billeted in 451 Mendel Hall but he spent most of his time in that ill-fated room, 453. Costello has had an active life here on the campus, he has played intramural sports and was a member of last season's varsity basketball team. He is also a member of the Sanctuary Society and a good man to have on a dance committee. At present he is looking

Views On Columns

By FR. McSHEA

It is generally agreed that modern newspapers, except those subsidized by millionaires and totalitarian governments, cannot survive without benefit of advertising. A necessity of a closely related kind has recently begun to assert itself in the field of American journalism. Apparently newspapers in all parts of our country do not even dare to exist without the assistance of a selection of clumnists.

Of curse, this situation has its precedents. More than two centuries ago, Addison and Steele gave their readers a mixture of information and advice. Moreover, they emphasized the second element. They had no news services to draw upon, and inevitably their comments on London manners and poses outweighed gossipy reports on the misbehavior of younger sons and irresponsible gentlemen of wealth. A bit later Goldsmith lectured his contemporaries in print and recommended various improvements in English life. All three men did their tasks very well. They had wholesome viewpoints; they had humor and good taste; they argued with logic and conviction.

So much for basic precedent. Entirely modern are such developments as the newsapers dependence upon columnists to fill a sizable part of their daily issues and, second, the almost unlimited number of interests to which the columnists appeal. The space given to columnists varies in bulk, it is true, but an estimated average places it between a half-page and a full one of solid print. By all standards this represents a substantial portion of the newspaper's contents. The variety, too, of today's columns is a formidable, almost shocking, thing. The reader has a choice in most towns of movie chit chat, of Walter Winchell's hysterical, small boy bubblings, of Westbrook Pegler's masterly satire, of Samuel Grafton's doleful, pompous warnings, of Drew Pearson's endless dissatisfaction, of the first-class conclusions of George Sokolsky's adult, informed mind. Thus columnists perform most of the activities of ordinary written and oral expression; they forecast, they censure, they threaten, they confuse and mislead, they clarify, and they stimulate.

Fundamentally the value of columnists and the profit with which they may be read depend on their competency. The forecasters offer the thinnest and least reliable support since they deal in prophecy, a pastime for which some little fluency in writing is no more qualification than that possessed by Greek oracles or gypsy women. Some write well and justify their presence in type because of a peculiar aptitude for composition. If he provided nothing more, Pegler would merit reading because of his artistry and invective, a power which he exercises with all the devastation of a Jonathan Swift.

Among our indisputably literate columnists are Walter Lippman, Arthur Krock, George Sokolsky, and Mrs. Anne O'Hare McCormick. They have educational background which is, after all, compounded of such useful ingredients as knowledge whereof they speak, a sense of responsibility, an ability to see the complexities of a national or international problem, and, finally, that perspective which is called historical. It is one of the most ironic things in life that a commentator like Ralph Page who writes all the obvious things which an intelligent reader has already anticipated should appear beside a thoughtful analyst like Sokolsky or David Lawrence who suggest what is not likely to occur to even the reasonably well informed. But surely one should avoid the cocksureness and intolerance of many columnists. Every man with vigor to his own tastes in this jolly old democracy of ours. If quality alone counted, column writing would soon become as extinct as professional falconry. Even Winchell has dependents, one understands, and who would, if he could, deny him a livelihood?

Yet on one rather important point all columnists do give a pleasant savor to the newspaper business. They add a personal touch to an institution which, when impersonal, can be stodgy and cold. The editorial, for example, is and has always been a bloodless, aloof, misty statement. The columnist is at least positive. Yesterday's report that Berliners like American journalism much more than British or Russian may have a very curious significance. The columnist has, for better or worse, changed the American newspaper; so far as one knows, he has no counterpart in Britain or Russia.

Harry Bombick was injured in the sixth inning of this game and was forced to retire. He returned to action, however, on the following night.

Huber Shuts Out Austin A

On Tuesday night, the big feature was little Walt Huber's decisive 4-0 shutout hurled against the Austin A outfit. The game proceeded under close running with the players nearly coming to blows about several close decisions. Jack Lewis, ace Marine hurler, took the defeat, which was the first shutout of the season. Huber yielded only four measly hits, while Fedigan took every advantage and scored once for every hit. Austin B won their game that night as they dished out another set-back to Mendel Hall. Don Boos once again led his team from the mound with some tight hurling.

Wednesday night found things still going strong, as Austin A dropped Mendel for their second loss in a row, while Dick Naslund hurled the Fedigan B to a 4-3 count over Lou DiGiacomo and his Del-Si boys. The league rested on the liberty night after opening in a blaze of glory.

On Friday Don Boos and his men steamed ahead once more to drop Fedigan A, 4-2. Austin had 10 hits and 4 runs while Fedigan garnered 6 hits and their 2 runs. Huber suffered the loss. Likewise the league closened up on Fedigan B's win over Austin A on this same night. Monday's games were called on account of the Labor Day Holiday.

Naslund Wins Three

Tuesday, Fedigan B began to pull out in the race as Dick Naslund hurled fine ball to down Mendel by a humbling 19-11 count. Moskal was the losing pitcher yielding 14 hits, Naslund took the victory giving up 10 hits, Fedigan A dropped

Tennis Semifinals To Be Played This Week

Tournament Nears Completion as Competition Stiffens; Sheddon, Class A Player, Beats Welsh and Lyttle; Fr. Boyle Wins Opening Match in Faculty Division

Dark horse Dick Sheddon, with two smashing victories over highly rated opponents entered the semi-finals of the tournament this week, sending Russ Welsh and Walt Lyttle down to defeat after three torrid sets. Dick has not been on the courts for over three years but he is certainly giving a fine account of himself in his first tournament. Sheddon has his hardest job when he plays Jim Riley in the semi-finals this week. In another match in the class A group John Dorsavage was defeated by Gaffney 6-2, 1-6, 6-2. This match was hard fought although the score does not indicate it. Percy Butler was Gaffney's next opponent and this match proved to be an exciting one. With Butler leading 5-0 in the second set, Gaffney made a beautiful attempt to tie the score, bringing it up to 5-4, 40-15. However, he weakened here and Butler managed to squeeze out a victory, 6-3, 6-4. In the second set match point was played 24 times. Butler plays Horace Bernton in the semi-finals next week. Bernton advanced to the semis when Janton, his opponent in the quarter-finals, was forced to default due to an injury to his foot.

In the class B group Henry Ward advanced to the semi-finals with a win over Don Schmucker by the score of 6-1, 6-2. Ward has been playing very good tennis and looks as though he may take top honors in this group. His next match will be against Harry Bombick, who defeated Tom Ferry, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3. Ferry was the victor over Al Dagit in a sizzling match in which Tom's smashing serves and deep forehand drives were too much for Al to handle. The score was 6-1, 6-2. McCafferty advanced to the semi-finals with a hard earned victory over Liberi 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Faculty Start Playing

The faculty started its tournament last week and with only four entries it should be concluded this week. Fr. Boyle triumphed over Fr. Kemme by the score of 6-2, 6-2. This match was another one in

Football Team Ends Vacation

Squad Scrimmages With Penn and Swarthmore as Many Servicemen and Veterans Impress Coach Olivar

After a short vacation the Villanova Wildcats resumed practice last week. During the past two weeks the team scrimmaged the Swarthmore and Penn teams. This years' schedule gets underway in less than three weeks and Coach Jordan Olivar reports that his boys are now in good shape and are ready for a successful season.

Certain to be one of the standout players on this year's team is Romeo Capriotti, a shifty halfback who was recently discharged from the Army. "Cap" played for three years with Frankford High School in Philadelphia and was chosen on the All-City and All-Scholastic teams in his senior year. He matriculated to West Chester State Teachers College and played for one year there before joining the Army. At West Chester he received Honorable Mention on the All-State team. While serving with the 5th Army in Italy he was awarded the Silver Star and the Purple Heart for his actions. In practice he has looked very good and should earn a first team berth.

Rodkey Looks Good

One of the better linemen on the squad is Thomas Rodkey, a Navy V-12 student recently transferred here from Muhlenberg College

In The Sportlight

By BOB MANSKE

With the football season only two weeks off, it is only natural to devote this column to one of the men who is going to make up the team.

This young man is James Smith. Smitty, as he is commonly known to his fellow-classmates, is one of this year's stellar linemen.

High School Player

Smitty came into this world September 10, 1927 in the city of Brotherly Love, Philadelphia, and he still lives there, in the section called Northwood.

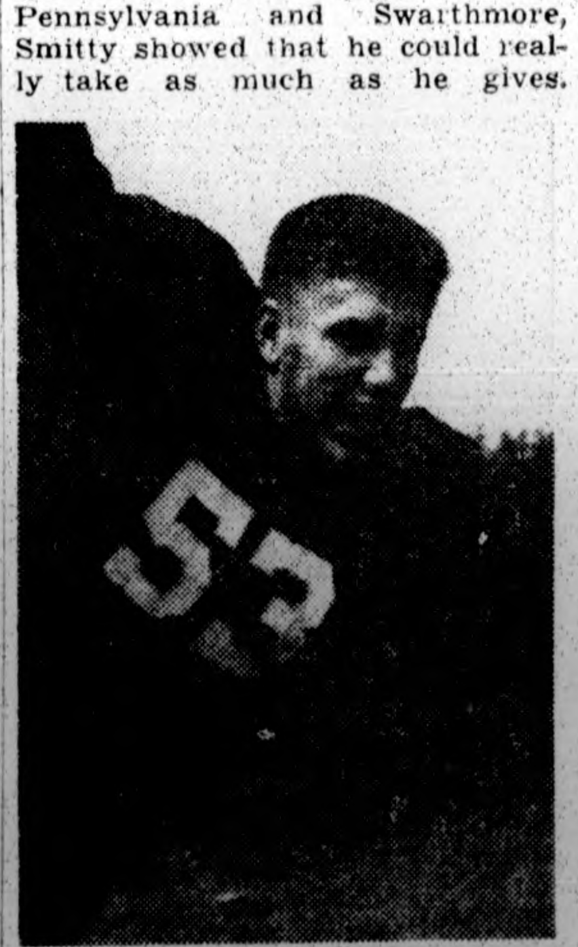
When September, 1941, rolled around, Smitty enrolled in La Salle High School. In his freshman year there Jimmy decided to try out for football and, even though he was only a freshman, he made the varsity as a tackle. He stayed on the varsity for four years and played first string during his last two seasons.

In his senior year at La Salle Smitty was chosen co-captain of the team by his teammates. For the four years that Smitty played there the team ended up in the first division even though it was pitted against schools with much larger enrollments.

All-Catholic

Also in his senior year in high school Smitty was chosen first string tackle on the All-Catholic team of Philadelphia. In his junior year he was given honorable mention on the All-Catholic team.

Smitty entered Villanova March 1, 1945, leaving high school after three and a half years. He reported for Spring practice and was switched from tackle to guard. In this Summer's practice he has shown by no little means that he is first string material for the varsity. In the two scrimmages against Pennsylvania and Swarthmore, Smitty showed that he could really take as much as he gives.



JAMES E. SMITH

Against Penn he played like an inspired man and nobody will forget that fumble he recovered in the opening minutes of the game.

Jim is taking a Commerce and Finance Course here and hopes to major in accounting. Smitty has been an honor student since he entered here and this is an accomplishment, when you consider that most of his time is taken up by football. He is also a member of the Delta Pi Epsilon fraternity.

references from New River report that Lem Wentling and Tom Fitzgibbon will soon be wearing civilian clothes again.

Visitors flocked over the campus during the last couple of days and the most popular word in use seemed to the 'Discharge.' Anthony Mannino '44, said that he has just finished school at Bellevue Station in Washington, D. C. with a rate of Radio Tech. 3rd, and is on furlough while awaiting further orders. He is also looking forward to a discharge.

Private 'Red' Hohenwater, looking like something out of the Charles Atlas book, said that he hopes to be back again in the near future to continue where he left off. From the Navy's 'Little Engineer', Jack Wilson '44 comes the word that he has left Washington and is on his way to Heaven Knows, because he doesn't. Sgt. Jim Roland of the baseball team also paid a short visit and said that his plans for the future were very vague. From Jim comes the news that Childers, Keith Scanlon and 'Peepsight' O'Donnell are still together and causing many people to have many more gray hairs at their present post. Thus we come to the end of the line once more.

where he played on last year's varsity. He stands 5'10" and weighs 195 lbs. Tom got his High School experience at Woodward High School in Houtzdale, near Altoona, Pa.

Mason Robertson, a veteran from last year's team, is also a Navy V-12 trainee here. The 6 ft., 175 lb. end comes from Easton, Pa., where he played for Easton High School. Another standout on the line is John Leadem, a tackle from Trenton, N. J. Johnny played on the Trenton Catholic team that won the State Championship last year. He is 6' tall and tips the scales at 210 lbs. In his senior year he was picked for the All-State team.

Ralph Moerschbacher, USMCR, will be one of the better reserves on the team. His 170 lbs. are spread on a 5'11" frame and he is a better than average guard. Roy Schleicher, another Marine, played end and fullback for Statington High School, Walnutport, Pa., for four years. In his senior year he captained the football, basketball, and baseball teams and was chosen on the All-League team for each of these sports.

Born and raised near Scranton, Pa., Rogallo went to the University of Scranton on a football scholarship and then moved on to the Pro football ranks. He played with New York and Jersey City Giants and was at one time the property of the Cleveland Rams. He was recently signed to play this season with the Philadelphia Eagles. Before the war he fought as a wrestler and boxer in the Eastern States. He is married and has a three year old daughter.

Del-Si again by a 14-9 score. Huber rung up the victory and really spaced the 3 hits he gave up. DiGiacomo was tagged with the loss as the Fedigan boys lit into his Sunday pitches by getting 10 hits.

DiGiacomo stepped to the mound again on Wednesday night and took another one-two to the face as he was greeted with an 11-hit barrage from the Austin A team, who won 8-5. Silver pitched the win giving up 12 hits. In a crucial game over on the other diamond, Fedigan A bowed low to King for the Night Dick Naslund. Nas had them eating out of his hand by giving them only 6 hits and a big 0 in the scoring column. Huber was handed the loss, but yielded only 4 hits for 7 runs.

The Fedigan A—Fedigan B

The second game of series was played Friday night and once again it was Naslund all the way. He gave Fedigan A 4 hits and 2 runs on this night, while his team hammered Huber for 10 hits and 8 runs. The B team racked up two double-plays in this game.

Louie!

Then again, it might have been the reports from Lou DiGiacomo and Joe Sullivan who had made the journey the previous weekend. By the way, Rah-Rah, you put in a long day at the beach. What were you doing, recruiting for the cheerleading squad?

Who cares why they were there? The fact is that they were there . . . and we happened to be there too. Which may be either good or bad.

First to arrive on the scene was Joe Jascula. However, not much happened to Joe. He followed a schedule previously arranged by the "little lady." Although he did manage to get an afternoon off to go down to the beach to read a book on Public Laws. Did Joe read the book? He certainly did! Poor Joe!

Carl Ungaro once again played "Lone Ranger." Maybe the girl he was with on Saturday night was Tonto. Carl claimed that the girls at the shore wouldn't bother with him but the borrowed handkerchief he returned looked something like the Russian flag. Hi-Ho Silver! Away!

Glancey please note! It might be well for you to watch your step. Competition is growing keener every day. Don Barton was seen doing the town with none other than "Jelly Bean." Then again it might be better if Don watched his step. Jack is on the Orientation Committee. Perhaps a stroll with "Jelly Bean" might be worth carrying your books in a bushel basket for a month.

Also on the scene was Bob Placey who still hasn't caught up on his sleeping. Walt Huber and Joe Costello tore themselves away from the Watson residence in Ocean City to spend all of the weekend looking for a room. Tony Cocco took advantage of the poor unsuspecting girls to brush up on his dancing for the coming Soph Cotillion. It might be well for all the Frosh to do likewise because the Dumpsa Blind Date Bureau is stacked with all best local talent. Who knows, maybe if something exciting enough happens to you while you are there, your name might appear in "Behind the Eight Ball." We print everything short of a murder.

for a band for the coming Senior Dinner Dance.

Joe figures that his immediate future is taken care of but he would like to get a job in chemistry when he again dons sport coat and gabs.

THE second gentleman of the week is Joseph Michael Sulock who was born in South Philadelphia on June 15, 1925. In 1931, Joe started school at St. Monica's Parochial School. When asked what he did while in grade school, his reply was, "What did you do?", to which we replied, "Went to school," and Joseph quickly retaliated with, "Ditto." In 1939, after completing grammar school, Sulock attended Southeast Catholic High School. It was here that Joe really took an active part in extra-curricular activities. He was a member of the Dramatic Club and Debating Society, played on various intramural teams, was the Feature Editor for the school paper in his Junior year; in his Senior became Sports Editor of the publication, just to mention a few of the various activities that highlighted in high-school days.

On February 1, 1943, Joseph matriculated at Villanova in the School of Electrical Engineering. Like the majority of the class, he had only three and a half years of high school. During his first semester he was a day-hop but on July 1, 1943, Joe was seen strolling around the campus in the uniform of the United States Navy. It was at this time that Joseph became a member of that well known room in Mendel Hall, "453". He continued with his interest in extra-curricular activities after his arrival on the campus by writing for the Villanovan for two semesters, playing on the varsity baseball team for two seasons, joining the Sanctuary Society, managing the basketball team, belonging to the A.I.E.E., giving a helping hand on various dance committees, and also taking an active part in intramural sports. Joe can best be remembered for his column in the Villanovan that brought out the dark secrets of the week.

Mr. Sulock had only one answer in reply to the question about the future and that was, "Become a civilian." He expects to practice Electrical Engineering when he returns to that life of freedom as a civilian.

Well, George, only 47 more days to G-Day. The time sure is rolling along and by the way that is all the time for this week. So long till next week, fellows.

"'Bye George,"
"'Bye George."

ENGAGED

Word comes to us from Fort Schuyler, N. Y., that Henry M. Strauss, former V-12 trainee here, is engaged and will be married sometime after he gets his commission in November.

which the score does not indicate how close the battle was. Both participants exhibited fine form, but it was Father Boyle's continuously driving game that brought about his well earned victory. Lt. Craig and Mr. Oakey had yet to play their match when the paper went to press. This postponement was due to Lt. Craig's illness.

There were several matches played two weeks ago which as yet have not been written up. The highlights of these matches were Jim Riley's fine showing against Chuck Stanley whom he bested by a score of 7-5, 6-1. Dorsavage, before his encounter with Gaffney, had eliminated Jim Moonan in a very tough contest 2-6, 6-2, 6-3. Wally McCalla forced Percy Butler to play some of his best tennis this season in order to beat him. Wally was continuously running the score to deuce and was never willing to give up a point without a fight. The score of the match was 6-4, 7-5, with the second set taking well over an hour to be played.

Tournament in Semi-finals

With the tournament entering its finals stages it was necessary to choose referees for the semi-finals and finals. Those selected were Father McKee, Walt Lyttle, Russ Welsh, and Wally McCalla. Father McKee and Russ will handle the finals while Walt and Wally will take care of the semis. It is hoped that when the time comes for these matches to be played off there will be a sizable audience, for the matches should be well worth watching. As a closing act for the tennis season the winner of the class A group will play the winner of the Faculty Tournament. This also will be a match worth watching.

The entrants in the tournament should realize that the tennis season will soon be drawing to a close and that they should play their matches more promptly than in the past. It will be up to the players to get in touch with their opponents and schedule their matches as soon as their names appear on the tennis chart.

Final Arrangements Made For Sophomore Cotillion

Ticket Committee Reports Progress; Interest High As Dance Date Draws Near

Arrangements for the Sophomore Cotillion to be held in the Field House October 6 are practically complete it was announced last week by Russ Welsh, A.S., acting chairman of the dance committee. The affair, featuring the music of Chuck Gordon and his orchestra, will be informal, and will be the only major social event of the summer season.

The decoration committee is now active and is planning appropriate decorations for the evening. The ticket committee reports favorable progress which indicates the probable success of the dance. The price of the tickets is three dollars and they are obtainable from all members of the ticket committee.

The committee is confident that the music of Chuck Gordon will provide an enjoyable evening's entertainment, and arrangements are being made to have the band play the school songs during the course of the evening.

Born in Lancaster

Chuck Gordon was born in Lancaster, Pennsylvania twenty-seven years ago, a descendant of the famous French Colonel Charles Gordinier whose forces aided the colonists in their fight for Independence. It was not until 1860 that the name of Gordinier was changed to the thoroughly American name of Gordon.

Chuck was educated at the Lancaster High School and it was at that time he formed his first dance orchestra and started his career by playing in various cities throughout Pennsylvania. He would travel 100 miles and upwards to play a single engagement and then back to the classroom the following day.

Following his graduation from High School, Chuck entered the Music School of West Chester State Teachers' College and upon graduation received a scholarship for an advanced course of music at Temple University in Philadelphia. At the same time he was pursuing his academic course, his hobby and source of financial aid was his orchestra.

CHUCK GORDON

Triple Threat Man

We read of the triple threat men of the gridiron. . .well. . .in musical terms, Chuck Gordon is just that and more. He plays trombone and trumpet equally well. . .handles the vocals and arranges for the orchestra. Chuck calls himself a trumpeter but if the occasion demands, he can play any instrument in the band.

His greatest pride today are the musicians that he has surrounded himself with. That this pride is justified is evidenced by the daily increase in popularity of the orchestra. In addition to fine dance music, Chuck features a balanced show within the band. The vocal department is well taken care of by Freddy Wilkinson and lovely Rosalind Stuart.

Plays in Vicinity

Some of the more famous places that Chuck Gordon and his orchestra have played are Hamid's Million Dollar Pier, Atlantic City;

D. P. E. Smoker And Initiation Thursday Night

Financiers to Initiate New Members and Make Plans for Annual Dance

Delta Pi Epsilon, the campus Commerce and Finance fraternity, will hold its annual smoker this Thursday evening in the Blue Room of the Field House at 8:30 P. M. This gala occasion will feature the initiation of new members, always a big event in the frat's activities.

Those who attended last semester's initiation remember it as a truly outstanding event. The fraternity promises that this semester's affair will be no exception. The initiation will take place in the Auditorium and the other mysterious reaches of what the Engineers term the "Playhouse."

Another activity on the D.P.E.'s agenda is the revival of the Financier's Frolic, annual D.P.E. dance. John Fitzgibbons, president of the frat, promises that plans for this affair will be put in motion as soon as possible. This will also be discussed at the smoker Thursday night.

Naval Mechanics Class Visits Yard

Last Tuesday the Naval Machines class, led by Mr. Joseph C. Greyson, Instructor in Naval Machines, made a trip to the Philadelphia Navy Yard to inspect the cruiser U.S.S. Montcaclm. This ship is a heavy cruiser of 13,000 tons displacement. The class, also accompanied by Lieut. Newton Craig, U.S.N.R., had the opportunity to inspect the entire ship including the turbines, boilers, the radar stations including he utltra secret I.C.C., or Inner Communication Control, the fire control, the driving gear; in fact, everything on the ship that might be of interest to the engineer.

Mr. Greyson announced that the class will take more trips of this nature in future weeks. A trip is already scheduled for next Tuesday to inspect an aircraft carrier, the name of which was not yet divulged. Other trips planned for the class include visits to a destroyer, a large submarine, and perhaps a battleship. The class was unanimous in declaring the trip of last week one of the most instructive days they have spent.

President Names Dept. Heads

Sixteen Faculty Members Receive Official Appointments

Rev. Francis X. N. McGuire, O.S.A., president of the College, has formally announced the members of the faculty who will serve as heads of their various departments. This announcement is intended as a clarification of the organization of these departments, some of which have had no formal head during the period of accelerated program.

In general, the men named have functioned in their respective capacities without formal appointment. The appointments are effective immediately and expire January 30, 1947. The head of the Department of Naval Science, which which will be established upon the inauguration of the Naval ROTC, will be a Navy Captain who will be appointed on or before November 1.

The Academic Chairmen of the various departments are as follows: Department of English, Gilbert Macbeth; Department of Religion, Rev. John P. Maher, O.S.A.; Department of Modern Languages, Rev. Thomas F. Gilligan, O.S.A.; Department of Physics, Rev. John H. Crawford, O.S.A.; Department of History and Political Science, Harold F. Hartman.

Department of Classics, Rev. Thomas A. Kiley, O.S.A.; Department of Philosophy, Rev. Richard J. McNally, O.S.A.; Department of Biology, Rev. Joseph M. Dougherty, O.S.A.; Department of Education, William H. McHugh; Department of Chemistry, Edward L. Haenisch; Department of Mathematics, Emil Amelotti; Department of Mechanical Engineering, J. Stanley Morehouse.

Department of Civil Engineering, John A. Oakey; Department of Electral Engineering, Harry S. Bueche; Department of Economics and Business Administration, Rev. Joseph C. Bartley, O.S.A.; Department of Library Science, Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O.S.A.

Drama Club To Hold Rehearsals

The Villanova Dramatic Society, in preparation for C. D. Cummings' new comedy, "Up in Charley's Room," has stepped up its weekly rehearsals to three a week. The rehearsals have been held on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday under the joint direction of Sgt. John Muir and C. D. Cummings, A.S.

It has been necessary to hold these extra rehearsals both because of the length of the play and because of the comparatively few members of the cast. Despite a change in several parts, Cummings has whipped into shape an excellent play with an accent on characterization.

The outstanding performers, so far, have proved to be Dave English in the part of "Murph," the colored houseboy, and Larry Bradley, who will play the part of "Jack," one of the boys at the "frat" house. Bradley, with his Down-East aversion for r's and his methods in the art of phone-calling, should prove as sensational as in his last term characterization of "Shaky Lew."

All other players are hard at work, mostly inspired by the example set by Miss Richardson, the feminine lead. Bob Austin will again give us scenery comparable to his work in "I Want To Be An Officer."

The date of the production has been set for Friday evening, October 12, and the scene will be the Villanova Field House. This is the second show put on by the newly revived dramatic society under the direction of Sgt. John C. Muir. Last semester's production, "I Want To Be an Officer," was well received by all who attended and the new production is said to be just as good.

Buses Chartered to Take Rooters to Annapolis

Student Council Organizes Trip to Navy Game; Reservations Now Being Made

The Student Council has made arrangements to charter buses to convey a rooting section to the Navy game, it was announced last week by John Fitzgibbons, President of the Council. The lifting of the war-time restrictions on bus travel after V-J Day has made this possible.

The trip to Annapolis is the only one contemplated by the Student Council at the present time, but if there is sufficient student interest, other trips may be planned.

The buses will leave the College at 9:30 A. M. and 11:00 A. M., and will arrive at Annapolis in plenty of time to see the campus before the game. There will be a special rooting section for Villanova rooters and students are asked to sit in this section.

The round-trip fare will be $3.80, a substantial reduction from the regular rate. Students are advised to bring a lunch to eat on the way down, as no stops will be made. There will be a three or four hour lay-over in Annapolis after the game, following which the buses wil return both to Philadelphia and to the campus.

In order that the Council will know how many buses will be needed, students are asked to make their reservations as soon as possible. Student Council representatives will canvass all the halls every night up to Wednesday, and Day-Hop representatives will accept reservations up to Wednesday afternoon.

Reservations may be made on the buses for any friends of the students desiring to attend the game. The times of departure will make it possible for all students to attend the game without interference with classes. The more students who attend, the more enjoyable will be the trip, and the more support will be given the team.

CAMP to CAMPUS

By ROBERT J. CONWAY

With the uneven division of the mail this week, it has been decided to refer to it as the reunion of the Class of '45. The most common thing to be found in all the letters was the surprise at hearing of the death of Lieut. John Bittig '45. All expressed their sympathy and many requested Masses to be said by the Chaplain at Villanova.

Pfc. Bob Fitten Marine ex '45 writes and we quote: "One day in July Ensigns Bob Barrett and Bill Flaherty came ashore here to find me at the Fleet recreation center. In the middle of our session, who came along but Marine Leo White and a minute later Dick Breen. Another '45er down the road a piece is Lou Lopez, who is the assistant to the Chaplain. Carl Yeager joined this outfit recently and I see him quite often." Bob is now completely recovered and we are glad to report that he has been discharged from the hospital.

From another '45er, Army Cpl. Eugene F. Hannon writes that he is now stationed at Camp Bowie, Texas after arriving home from Germany. The '45-ers enter the picture again with the news from Pfc. Roger Reardon that he met Frankie Harrington '32 and Gene Sebastian '44 in the South Pacific. Speaking of the Villanova Victory Ship, he says, "A good name was given a good ship in a good state." Of course, Roge comes from 'Rainy California'. S 1/C Thomas F. Hitchell Sp. "T" is traveling in Victoria, British Columbia, in Canada.

The men of '45 also met in the Philippines, writes ensign Bill Bitler. He met Ensign Al Petralia at an Officers' Camp somewhere in those Islands. Two days later Bill Walsh walked in. That afternoon they borrowed a Jeep and went looking for Sam Cannon and John Bombrick. They also met Frankie Desmond and the whole gang had lunch together. Marine Pfc. Carl Yeager writes that he has been transferred to the 2nd Division where he met Classmate Bob Fittin. He tells us that his tent is within 50 feet of the ocean and the sound of the breakers put him to sleep at night. The last of the '45 men this week, Pfc. Ed Fanelli, is at St. Germaine in France and is awaiting transfer to Wresbaden in Germany.

Now that the Class of '45 is finished we are glad to see that there is still plenty of correspondence to be recognized. Sgt. Ed J. Reardon, former Villanova writer, is now at Cryptographer in the Army Airways Communication System stationed at La Senea Air Base in Oran, North Africa. With the arrival of this information from North Africa, the only place not heard from is Australia.

Pfc. Jimmey Bradley. writes from Bremerhaven, the only American port in Germany, "I am in Medical Dispensary and every once in a while I go on one of the Liberty ships in the harbor and find out how the States are and usually eat things we have not seen in almost two years. Sgt. Donald McDonald is at the Douglas Army Air Field in Arizona and he is

Phi Kap Smoker Acclaimed a Big Success

Phi Kappa Pi, the most active frat on the campus, came through last Friday night with another successful affair. The occasion was the smoker that was planned by the members as one of the big affairs of the semester's activities. It was well attended by both the old members and by the pledges who are to be received into the fold at the beginning of the Fall semester.

The main event of the evening was the talk that Dr. Haenisch, head of the Chemistry Department, delivered on the much discussed subject of "Atomic Energy" and in particular on its application to the Atomic Bomb. Dr. Haenisch drew many interesting analogies that made much simpler the understanding of the difficulties that were encountered in previous experiments and enumerated several methods in which these difficulties may have been overcome.

After this talk refreshments were served and the new members were given an opportunity to meet the men who have been running the frat for the past semester and they also had some interesting discussions on the facts that they had just absorbed on the subject of atomic energy.

The members then reconvened in the auditorium where Fr. Vrana presented several pictures on the news and sports highlights of the year and also a news reel that is being produced on the history of V-12 at Villanova during the war.

Among the guests present were Dean Morehouse, Dr. Haenisch, Prof. Planchard, Fr. Klekotka, Fr. Jenkins and Fr. Vrana, all members of the faculty of the School of Engineering.

Al Dumsa, President of the frat, announced a favorable turnout of prospective members at the smoker. The organization does not plan to hold initiations this semester, but the pledges will probably face their indoctrination in the Fall.

Why an Editorial?

It is probable that no part of a modern newspaper is more neglected than the editorial. The competition of the sensational news on the front page, the sports page, the comics, and the features appealing to special groups, is frequently great enough to turn many away from the editorial page.

Even those who do seek to read the editorial page concentrate most of their attention upon the syndicated columns and other features with rarely a glance at the real editorial.

Perhaps the reason for this behavior and the blame for it, if we intend to affix blame, lies with the nation's editors and their editorial policies. The editorial was a device that was used originally as a means for putting the weight of public opinion behind an issue that the editor believed worthy of public notice and action.

Protected by the cherished American principle of freedom of the press, he had an opportunity to mold public opinion on an issue when he thought the occasion worthy of it. Gradually, through the habit of years, the editorial came to be an expected part of the newspaper, whether it was called for or not.

Thus an institution that was invented to serve a real need gradually degenerated to a point where it was just a routine part of the paper, another space to be filled with whatever came to mind. More seriously still, it became the tool of unscrupulous editors in promoting the desires of political and other pressure groups.

It is not surprising, then, that the public, accustomed through long experience to read in the editorials material that a time-pressed and sometimes not-too-critical editor has regarded as "filler," are not inclined to devote much of a busy day to perusal of the editorial column.

The daily editorial as an institution is too well established to be dispensed with at this point, though it is a fact that an occasional editorial when really needed would have a much more profound effect on public opinion than the endless succession of pointless editorials which we find in our daily newspaper.

The state to which it has come however, is an evidence of an unwholesome journalistic attitude. If we can not depend upon our newspaper editors to direct the power of the press into worthwhile channels, we are faced with a twofold evil. Not only do they fail to be of immediate service to their readers, but they are jeopardizing the integrity of the American press as an institution, and are paving the way for that journalistic disinterest which leads to a controlled press.

But editorials will continue to be printed, one after the other, in their seemingly endless stream, and they will continue to be disregarded by the reading public. Someday when the intelligent and forceful comment of the editorial page is vitally needed, its force will be lacking and it will fall upon deaf ears. It may or may not happen, but it is a definite and a serious possibility.

The Phi Kap Smoker held last Friday night certainly proved successful in every sense of the word. Dr. Haenisch gave a very interesting talk on Atomic Energy. There is one thing we must say about Dr. Haenisch. He is one of the most interesting speakers that we have have ever heard. The way he can translate a complex statement into a clear precise one is indeed an art. An orchid should also go to Fr. Vrana, who made the evening very enjoyable with movies. And, by the way, didn't you think the refreshment committee did a great job? Oh, well, someone has to give us a boost.

Don Schmidt was a recent visitor on the campus and brought greetings from all the boys at Columbia. Al Hurthford also dropped in. Al is working in the Phila. Navy Yard in the Electrical Engineering Dept.

How about everyone showing some real spirit and getting behind the team for the Navy game? We imagine quite a few will go to the Bucknell game on their own initiative, but the Student Council has made arrangements so we can all show the team that we are behind them. If you aren't going by private car, why not sign up and go in one of the buses that are to be chartered? The price is very reasonable and there should be a good time for all. Get in touch right away with Jack Fitzgibbons or yours truly for reservations.

We doubt if Jim Fogarty, Jack Glancy and the other Day-Hops will be in too much of a hurry to visit the campus at night again for a while. At least they had a chance to test Delurey hospitality . . . Hal Varani claims that from now on he is going to insist on baked beans and boiled potatoes for breakfast. If he thinks that is good, he should try our combined omelet and hot dogs . . . Just what is it that attracts Tom Burke and Al O'Brien to the Greeks? Tom, you certainly aren't following in the footsteps of your brother, Spook . . . We are glad to hear that Riley and Dorasavage did not act like those other "college boys" in that drug store in Bridgeport . . .

Miss Chestnut Hill didn't do so hot in that election, even though she had a good press agent . . . For the next three weeks Jack Fitzgibbons will have to take complete blame for this column, so please aim your tomatoes carefully . . . Deacon Merlino claims that was the best twenty cents that he ever spent the other night . . . But one of our main worries is just how Mother Dumsa is going to treat his one and only in Forrest Hills now that Rosemont is opening. Mother was recently quoted as saying, "I love them all collectively."

It was a pleasure to see the technicolor show that John Coyne put on Friday nite. After smoking his first three cigarettes he turned very nice shades of pink, green, and purple. Just think what would happen with a cigar.

We must say Red Dog Koerner certainly has picked an appropriate theme song . . . Incidentally, Bob Conway's girl has been heard humming "Serenade to a Jerk." We aren't quite sure yet of the significance, but!!! — Wayne is certainly becoming quite a gathering place these past few weeks. And it isn't Dave Ryan who is the big attraction.

Just when is Simpson Hall planning to have that house party? They better hurry up, as all the grammar school girls will be busy now and won't be able to come out evenings.

Latest reports are that the cook in the cafeteria is going to be tried as a war criminal. We hope to be impartial, but we will gladly donate a rope and help build the scaffold.

We are sorry that the column this week is so brief, but the authors are celebrating "the holidays."

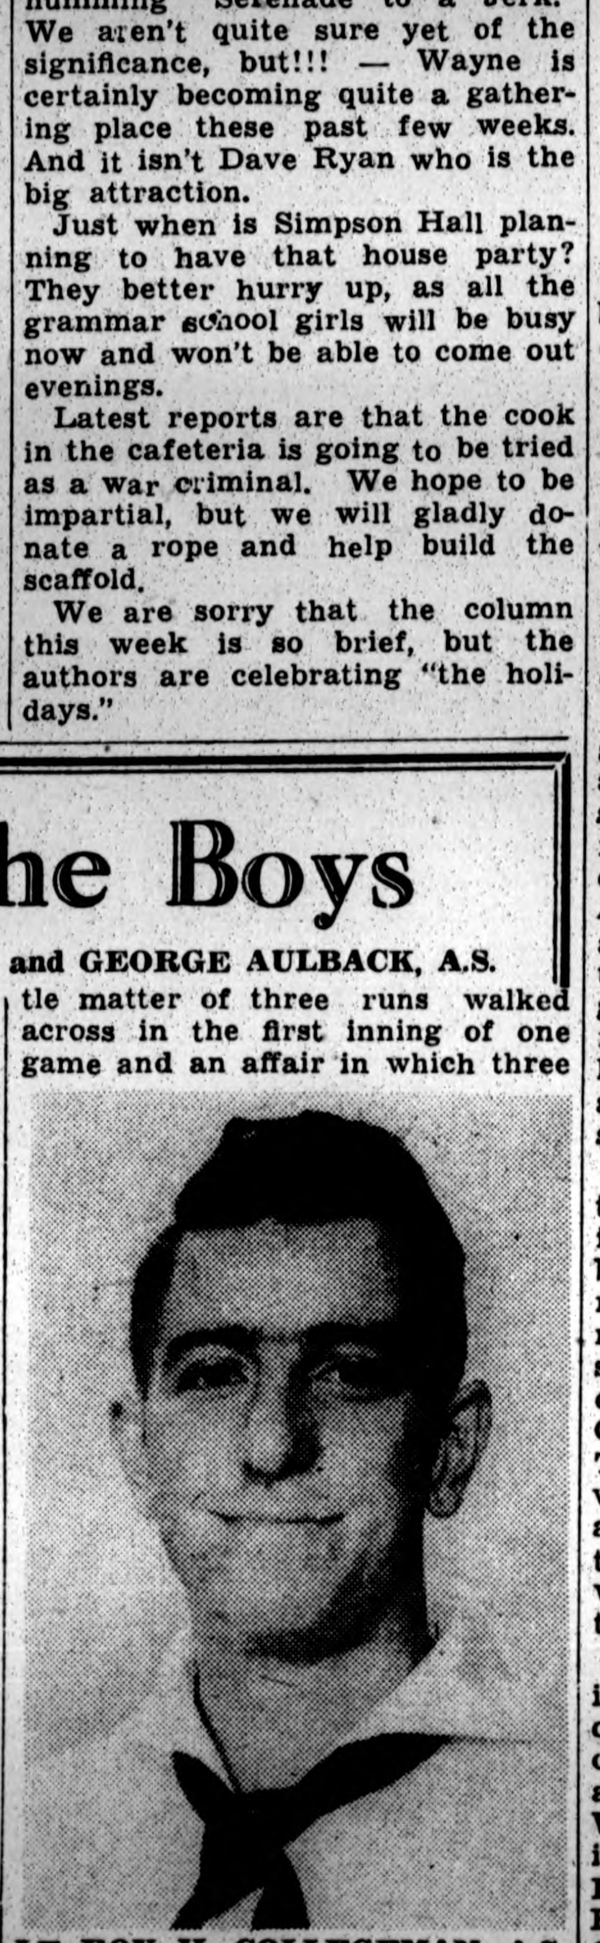
Meet the Boys

By GEORGE ELSESSER, A.S. and GEORGE AULBACK, A.S.

WITH Summer nearly over, the various schools in the neighborhood which feature feminine pulchritude will be convening. This we are told brings out the best in our Villanova gentlemen for what with Tea Dances, etc., how can there be any thought of anything other than the best of conduct? But away with these trivial matters, we are to introduce two men of the old school, two men who have had experience with these things and therefore be there any among you who may have any further questions, we direct you to the men of the week, LeRoy Collegeman and Richard Merlino.

LeRoy H. Collegeman hails from Washington, D. C., where he was born on the windy morn of March 8, 1925. After taking the neighborhood apart piece for piece for six years, Lee was enrolled in Janney Grade School. From this institution of learning, LeRoy journeyed to McFarland Junior High where he developed a liking for the fairer sex. After graduating from McFarland, Roy travelled on to Theodore Roosevelt High School where he advanced his knowledge of the finer things in life among which was that inevitable factor known as women. But he also found time to write for the school paper, and participate in dramatics and track.

February 1943 found Lee out of school and after considering the situation he decided that he was too young to work. This led to his matriculation at Catholic University in Washington, D. C. After one semester at Catholic U., LeRoy was called to Villanova by the Navy V-12 program. Roy has written for the Villanovan every term that he has been here. He has also been very active in intramurals, having had not too good a time this current season for if our memory serves us correctly there was a little matter of three runs walked across in the first inning of one game and an affair in which three men were walked in the first inning the following night.



LE ROY H. COLLEGEMAN, A.S.

Lee was a member of this past season's track team and ran the 200 low hurdles at Princeton. He is a member of the A.S.C.E. and an advocate of all that is social in nature. LeRoy is interested in getting a job in South America after completing his course of studies here. May we say in passing, "Good Luck."

BEHIND THE 8

By HARRY EDWARDS and HANK HANRATTY

As the ground hog forecasts the beginning of spring, Villanova's own "Hal" Varani has officially opened the fall season. This reasonable facsimile of a "race track tout" is probably working hard for a position as a model on Esquire's staff. We have been informed (from reliable sources, of course) that Hal's supply of fall rags will put even Waters in the background.

Yes, you heard us! The fall season is officially opened. Labarrere and Bequillard are raising squirrels so that they will have at least one fur coat between them for the coming Boston College game and Al Derr is even thinking of getting a haircut. Under the impetus of the coming Soph Cotillion, the beginning of football season, and the reopening of the girls' colleges, Villanova is dressing itself in full array for the coming social season.

Although the local girls have returned to their respective colleges, it is probable that they will not be seen for awhile. They intend to remain in hiding until news reaches them that John Coyne has signed up a date for the coming dance. (Soph Cotillion, Oct. 6 — Chuck Gordon and his orchestra). To any Frosh who might not know who John is, be on hand at the dance and witness his original version of the Conshohocken shuffle. There will be no necessity for anyone to point him out.

On the other hand, will Coyne's influence overpower the operations of the personality kids of the campus: Koerner, Dumsa, Conway, and Ronan at the local colleges? While Koerner is leading socialite in the eyes of the Harcum girls, Dumsa is top man at Rosemont. However, Conway, the idol of the frosh of Simpson, has a different story to tell. Tom has taken it upon himself to arrange dates for all his admirers. He is even planning a tea party for his boys at the hall. Gee, Tom, is this going to be a closed affair? If not, how can we become members of Papa Conway's little angels?

The field at Immaculata seems to be dominated by one man, "Lacey" Ronan. However, "Lacey" will not be able to give the girls his full attention this season. Although this seems impossible, Frank is concentrating his efforts on a lass named "Mo." We are sure that this bit of news will break a good many hearts and probably cause mass suicide at Immaculata. Mo had better hire a bodyguard.

If she does get one we hope that she will tell us where she got him. Maybe we'll need one too.

Tennis Finals This Friday; Fr. Boyle to Play Mr. Oakey

Jim Riley Plays Dick Sheddon in Semifinal Match; Winner to Play Percy Butler or Horace Bernton; Bob Velte Wins 6-4, 6-0; Mr. Oakey Defeats Lt. Craig, 6-2, 6-0

This week proved a slight let-down to the tempo that the tournament has been proceeding under, as it was only possible to have two matches played off.

In Group B, Bob Velte advanced to the semi-finals with a victory over Hergenrother, 6-4, 6-0. Velte was able to mix his game considerably, with a combination of long base line drives and a series of short chop shots. After the first set Velte was complete master of the court and although Hergenrother played a hard game he was unable to match the superior playing of his opponent. Velte meets McCafferty in one half of the B group semi-finals next Wednesday while Henry Ward takes on Harry Bombick in the other.

No matches were played in the A group due to minor injuries to two of the contestants. Jim Riley cut his foot and as his opponent, Dick Sheddon, did not wish to advance by default the match has been scheduled for next Tuesday. Horace Bernton will meet Percy Butler Wednesday to complete the semi-finals in A group. Butler was slightly injured in an auto accident over Labor Day weekend and as Bernton expressed the same feelings as Sheddon, the match originally scheduled for last Friday, was postponed until tomorrow.

SEEN From the Sidelines

The Philadelphia Eagles — Green Bay Packers game last Thursday night found Eddie Michaels, former Villanova star lineman, and Johnny Rogalla, until recently a Navy Chief here, playing terrific defensive games for the Eagles. This is Michael's sixth season with the Eagles and Rogalla's first.

This week's game at Bucknell will mark the first time since 1936 that Villanova has played there. The three games played since then have all been at Shibe Park. This will be the twentieth game of a series that shows 11 wins for the Bisons, 6 wins for the Wildcats and 2 ties. Last year's game resulted in a 27-6 victory for Bucknell.

Basketball practice started here yesterday at 3:30 P. M. Coach Al Severance reports that he has a large squad out for the team.

With football and baseball both fighting for the headlines, Philadelphia gained prominence last week. Dick Fowler's no-hit, no-run game for the Athletics and the 90,000 fans at the Packers-Eagles game put Philadelphia in the limelight.

Starting Lineup for Opening Game

The following are the tentative starting lineups for the Villanova-Bucknell game this Saturday at Lewisburg, Pa.

VILLANOVA	Position	BUCKNELL
Robertson, M.	Left End	Rutan
Gonglefski, E.	Center	Stefl
Woolford, S.	Right Guard	Caldwell
Comiskey, C.	Right Tackle	Messersmith
Cocco, A.	Right End	Williams
Doherty, J.	Quarterback	Moore
Welde, C.	Halfback	McKay
Capriotti, R.	Halfback	Hall
Hunter, A.	Fullback	Allen

Included on the Villanova squad are the following linemen: Alvarez, Brecelnik, Carstens, Demidovich, Demuro, Deverill, Donnelly, Feeney, Glascott, J. Gonglefski, Leadem, Marshalick, McDonald, McIntyre, Mikolaitis, Moerschbacher, Oroski, Peters, Riley, Scarcelli, Schleicher, Sheahan, C. Smith, Sekerchak.

The following are backfield reserves: Appleton Britton, Generalli, Graziani, Lawless, Makowski, McKnight, McPeak, Sparks, Sullivan, Ungaro, Vitacco, Williams, Kaczynski.

With the Summer Intramural Season almost at a close a few words should be said about our intramural Directors. Fr. Kemme and Fr. Girolami have devoted all their evenings throughout the summer to helping the boys have a swell time playing softball. It is hoped that the cold weather will hold off long enough to permit them to start a Touch Football League.

Intramurals mean more to school spirit than Varsity sports because it is through them that everyone gets a chance to show his ability and fighting spirit. The two Fathers have always been willing to coöperate when any of the boys wanted to start a game during their free hours.

We hope that the Alumni Hall gym will be in shape for intramural basketball this winter, and also that it will be heated. The Varsity has taken many of its best players from the intramural ranks. One example of this is Frank "Bud" O'Neill, who starred at center for the Wildcats last year. He went to Coach Severance's team straight from the Mendel Hall intramural outfit.

Now that the start of the football season is only four days away, it's time we thought about school spirit. In the past couple of seasons the team has been playing before altogether too many empty seats at their home games. The boys play hard and there's no reason why we shouldn't be behind them. There are only two home games this year, and that is all the more reason why we should cheer them on.

Villanova faces their toughest schedule in years this season and the won-lost column might not look so good, but we know that this will be the best Wildcat eleven to take the field for several years. If they have our support the team will make a good showing against all opponents.

• • •

The Football team lost one of their best Freshman prospects in many years when Elmer Krieser, first string end, left for the Army last week. During summer practice he was outstanding and Coach Olivar was depending on him to bolster the light forward wall.

Football Season Starts At Bucknell Saturday

Revised Schedule Has Boston College Playing Here on November 10; Eight Game Schedule Includes Two Games at Shibe Park, Six Games Away

Villanova College's 1945 football schedule gets underway this Saturday at Lewisburg, Pa., with the Wildcats visiting the Bucknell Bisons. Coach Jordan Olivar's 49-man squad is now in top condition and ready to take to the field for the opening kickoff at 2:30 P. M. on Saturday.

Villanova's starting lineup has only one holdover from last year's squad. He is Mason Robertson, left end, a Naval trainee here. Bucknell's team features nine players from last year's squad on this year's first string. All of the linemen plus two of the backs received some experience last season. In their opening game, Bucknell defeated the University of Scranton, 20-6. The game was played last Wednesday night at Mt. Carmel, Pa. They displayed a lot of reserve strength and should prove a tough match for our boys.

Boston College Game Here

The Villanova - Boston College game, originally scheduled for November 18 at Boston, has been moved back to November 10 at Shibe Park due to the cancelling of our game with Sampson Naval Training Station. This leaves us with an eight game schedule, of which two games are to be played at home. The other home game is with Detroit University on Sunday, October 21, at 2:00 P. M.

This year's revised schedule is as follows:

Sept.
22—Buckell Universiay
29—U. S. Naval Academy

Oct.
7—Marquette University
14—Holy Cross College
21—Detroit University
27—Tennessee University

Nov.
3—U. S. Military Academy
10—Boston College

Fedigan B Holds Big Lead Near End

This week will bring to an end the Summer Intramural season with the Fedigan B team in undisputed first place. After winning the first half with a 5-2 record they now sport a 7-1 total with only one game to play this week.

Last week, Tuesday's and Friday's games were rained out, spoiling the Austin A team's last chance to catch the League leaders.

Naslund Wins Seventh

On Monday night Fedigan B eked out a close 1-0 verdict over Austin B. This victory made up for their one loss so far, a 4-3 defeat at the hands of the Austin team in the opening game of the second half.

Wednesday night found Dick Naslund winning his seventh consecutive game, an 18-0 slaughter of the hapless Del-Si team. In the other two games Mendel defeated Del-Si by a 13-7 score and then lost to Austin A in a 4-3 game.

League Standings

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Fedigan B	7	1	.875
Austin A	4	2	.667
Austin B	3	2	.600
Fedigan A	2	3	.400
Mendel	2	4	.333
Del-Si	0	6	.000

In The Sportlight

By BOB MANSKE

Once again this column will be devoted to football. This week we have in the sportlight a veteran of the war. I should say a hero of this war.

This young man is Romeo J. Capriotti who was born in Pittsburgh. However "Cap" moved to Frankford in the City of Brother Love, Philadelphia, in his early years.

"Cap" entered Frankford High School back in the year 1939 and played quarterback on the varsity squad for three years. There he really made quite a name for himself by being chosen on the All-Public and All-Scholastic teams for three years straight. In 1940 "Cap" was also chosen All-State in recognition of his marvelous work on the city championship team which Frankford had been that year.

All-State

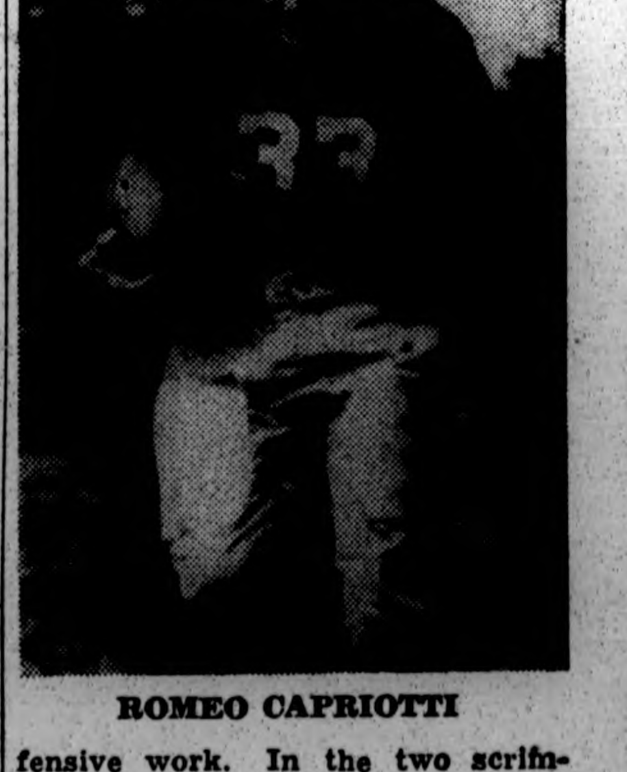
After graduating from high school "Cap" entered West Chester State Teachers College. Here he played a full season in the backfield and for his outstanding work was named to the College All-State team in Pennsylvania.

Then "Cap's" brilliant football career was interrupted when he entered the Army March 1, 1943. He received his basic training at Camp Wheeler, Georgia and then he took an active part in the African, Sicilian, and Italian campaigns.

While serving with the 5th Army in Italy he was awarded the Silver Star. This he attained by wiping out a German machine gun nest right after escaping from a German prison camp in which he had been imprisoned for a while. He also received the Purple Heart, having been wounded three times.

Rough and Ready

After seventeen months overseas "Cap" was given an honorable discharge in November 1944. He entered Villanova in this Summer semester and immediately reported for football and from the very start proved that he was the "rough and ready for anything" type. "Cap" is certain to be one of the standout players on this year's team with his very shifty running, good sideline kicking, and his excellent defensive work. In the two scrimmages which Villanova has had with outside competition. "Cap" has become known for his "never say die" spirit.



ROMEO CAPRIOTTI

In his spare time "Cap" has played a lot of baseball with Llanerch in the Main Line League. He has also fought numerous fights and has proven himself to be a top notch boxer.

"Cap" here at Villanova is taking an Education course and he someday aspires to be a football coach.

years there he entered Tuckahoe High School. Richard remained here till his Sophomore year when his family moved to Asbury Park. Dick continued his schooling at Asbury Public High School and from there he was graduated in 1942.

In October of 1942, Villanova was proud to claim him as one of its own. In the beginning, the "Deacon," (as he is known to all of his friends) was rather undecided as to what he wanted to choose as a major. He finally decided to become a lawyer and proceeded to take Pre-Law. Dick is one of the few civilian students in the class and he has also been a resident on the campus since enrolling.

RICHARD E. MERLINO

At the present time the Deacon has his troubles. There is some controversy with H. P. Dumsa as to who is to have the title of "Dean of Women" at the country club down the road known as Rosemont College. The title was passed on to H.P. by "Red Buttons" O'Connor when he graduated last June. From the way things look now it will be up to the girls to decide when they arrive this week.

While here at V.C., the Deacon has been quite active in intramural sports, having played baseball, softball and coached basketball. He is also a member of the Lambda Kappa Delta and the Delta Pi Epsilon of which he is the Sergeant at Arms. Dick is also the terror of the Frosh as he is on the Orientation Committee.

The Deacon claims to be the top man in his class down at the Comic and Frolic School but when he tries to convince John "Fitz" Fitzgibbons of the fact, there ensues quite an argument.

After graduating, Dick plans to go to Fordham Law School to get his degree in law. He is rather undecided as to where he will practice but he wishes to tell Bill Koener that his door will always be open to him.

With this we put another week behind us and consequently another in front of us. To be exact there are just 34 more days left so times a'wastin'. Got to get moving to see you next week.

'Bye George.
'Bye George.

pressive in the victories that gained them the finals. Mr. Oakey defeated Lt. Craig, 6-2, 6-0, in their semifinal match last week.

With the tournament drawing to a close we hope that the weather will hold long enough to make the matches not only fast but interesting. The weather has been the main cause for so much delay in the running of the tournament, so if "Old Sol" will give us a break we should be able to wind things up this week. In closing, here is wishing the finalists the best of luck, and may the best man win.

"ZERO" HOUR
By THOMAS J. COLE

A quiet evening?
The noisy insects interrupt.
A thought of how
Next weekend will be spent.
A radio that blares
And stabs the ears
With news of what
Goes on around the earth.
My thoughts are hampered;
